Shoppers mourn loss of Crowley's

Shoppers at the Crowley's store liked its convenience and values, but the company is having financial problems. The planned closing will leave the retail strip with two vacancies in a six-unit center.

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Local shoppers said they are "distressed" or just plain disappointed at the planned closing of the Crowley's store on Ford and Wildwood.

One woman, Eleanor Collins of Westland, even bought a basket of "bright yellow tulips to remind me of the store."

She also displayed her Crowley's "frequent shopper" discount card which entitles her to $10 gift certificates to demonstrate her patronage of the store.

The store, in the Wildwood Plaza, was also very convenient, said Collins, a retired Wayne-Westland school district teacher.

Her husband, James, a former Nankin Mills school board member, added that he is also unhappy about the planned closing because it leaves fast-food restaurants without any top stores.

Another shopper, Garden City's Judy Patterson, accompanying her granddaughter, said she is "very disappointed" about the planned closing, scheduled for late next month.

Mrs. Patterson liked Crowley's because it was close to her home and she prefers to shop at nearby businesses.

They were among shoppers in the store to take advantage of discounts offered by Crowley's to sell as much inventory as possible before the doors close late next month.

Scott Veldhuis, the city of Westland's economic development director, said Crowley's opened its Westland store in 1986 with the help of a $2 million loan approved by the city's economic development corporation. But he noted that the EDC was mere-

Seasonal message delivered

'Injured' seniors: A sobering message was given high school seniors as Terri Clark has simulated blood sprayed on her "senior prom gown" by a makeup artist as part of the mock accident at Wayne Memorial High School.

Seniors get sobering message

Local high school seniors received a visible message this month: Don't get killed by a drinking driver during the annual prom and graduation season which opened this month.

To make the point perfectly clear, the Students Against Drunk Drivers (SADD) chapter at Wayne Memorial High School staged a "fatal" auto accident involving students attending the senior prom.

"Be careful on prom night" was the basic message relayed to students at an assembly and the mock accident which followed, said principal Ronald Stratton. "Know who you're riding with and don't ride with drivers who have been drinking."

The SADD chapter had plenty of help for the demonstration from the city of Wayne police and fire departments as well as the Palace Theater Company, a private, non-profit organization which provided theater paint and special effects to make the accident look more realistic.

■ Other classmates were either "killed" or "injured" in the crash.

The theater group, whose primary purpose is to raise money for the restoration of the historic Palace Theater in downtown Wayne, also was in the audience for the "accident" scene, in the school's Glenwood parking lot.

Schools urged to keep sixth hour, sports

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Livonia school district residents made two points at a budget public hearing:

■ Don't cut the sixth hour next year for middle and high school students.

■ Don't cut varsity athletics.

"You can't cut the sixth hour," said David Marshall. "Competition for jobs is getting tougher. If we can't give our kids a good high school education, they won't get a good college education.

"I've been waiting eight years for my kid to get to high school to play varsity sports, and now you're telling me he can't play. I'm not happy."

The two cuts are just a small part of $12 million in program and staff cuts that could take place next year under a worst-case scenario put together by the administration. Under this scenario, the district, which serves the northern section of Westland, issued layoff notices last week to 231 teachers.

The administration also has put together a best-case scenario wherein cuts could be limited to $3 million if Proposal A passes on June 2. This scenario restores both the sixth hour and varsity sports.

Debate tonight

At 6:30 tonight (Monday), the school board begins three nights of debate on both the administration's proposed budget and on whether to endorse Proposal A.

Fewer than 200 residents attended Wednesday's public hearing, substantially less than the number who attended last year's hearing when the district began its first year of major program cuts.

Sandi Doyle said the low attendance was due to "total disgust," not to apathy.

"People think the school board will do what it wants to do, regardless of what we say," Doyle said.

The district must adopt its budget

PLACES & FACES

Special athletes

Two Westland athletes, Erika Benjamin and Andy Siwarski, will compete in the 15th annual Michigan Victory Games, to be held May 20-23 at Mt. Pleasant, for athletes with disabilities. Winners will advance to the U.S. National Games set for Hartford, Conn., in June. Benjamin, 27, set the world's record in bicycling last summer at the Paralympics in Barcelona, Spain. The Michigan events will be on the Central Michigan Univeristy campus.

Play ball!

The Westland Youth Athletic Association opened its season Saturday morning for more than 850 boys and girls in the softball, baseball and T-ball leagues. Keith DeMolay, YAA spokesman, said the number of players is 150 more than last year. The opening day ceremony was held at Central City Park fields.

Top senior

Marguerite Michalak, 81 years young, has been the Westland Friendship Center's senior of the month for May. A Westland resident for 49 years, she is a retired Wayne-Westland teacher who was at the former Cady School for 20 years. She has been a daily participant at the Friendship Center for 13 years and is a member of the center's kitchen band, travel group and the Hawaiian exercise dance class. Sylvia Wiacek-Kozorosky, senior resources department director, said Mrs. Michalak was nominated by her peers.

Hudson's finest

J. L. Hudson's honored its high-performance employees at a recognition ceremony recently. In all, 127 were cited. From the Westland store, the honorees and their departments were Rita Graziotti, gift registry sales consultant; Margaret Horn, young men's area manager; Sandra Kasem, visual presentation supervisor; Anna Miles, men's sales consultant; Jane Smith, restaurant waitperson; Vladimir Stchekine, furniture sales consultant, and Helen Whitfield, women's shoes sales consultant.

Right to Life honors mother

BY ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

Many may believe the traditional American family is dead but don't tell the Clos family of Westland.

Mary Ann Clos has spent the last 27 years rearing a traditional family. The mother of nine was selected as the 1993 Mother of the Year by Right to Life-Lifespan organization.

Clos received three nominations for the award. The first was submitted by her husband, Lawrence, and his was the winning nomination. Her daughter Amy Watts also nominated Clos as did the Right to Life-Lifespan chapter at St. Mary's Church in Wayne.

"I feel pleased," said Clos during an interview in her home last week. "Initially, human nature tells you a lot of people do a lot of things and deserve this recognition and you wonder 'Why me?' And you want to be a little embarassed.

"I'm pleased because it's another way my husband says he loves me and he appreciates me and is dedicated to our life together. And with my daughter, it's nice when your kids grow up they think you were OK."

She and her husband are 1965 graduates from Wayne High School who first met in their 10th grade English class. They married in their sophomore year of college at Eastern Michigan University. Both graduated with Mrs. Clos getting a home economics degree.

"We beat the odds," said Clos. "Neither of us ever dated anyone else" and the marriage worked.

They had their first child a year after they were married, and after the second child was born, her husband went to war. She taught night school for a year and a half when her husband was in Vietnam.

She admits people look at her strangely when they learn she has nine children. And she is often asked why an educated couple would have so many children and how they came up with so many names.

"I say how many friends do you have, how many people do you know, they have different names."

Happy at home

She's happy in the decision she made and the life she lives. As a stay at home mom, she acknowledges she can't always buy for her children everything their friends have. But to Clos, who has tried to teach her children not to be materialistic, there are things more important a mom can do than bring in a few extra dollars each week.

"I think it's real important for a mom to be home," said Clos. "In this day and age it's difficult to provide for your family. I'm very fortunate my husband has a good job. It's important to me to be here when my kids come in the door and call 'mom' or to be here if I'm needed, or they want a snack.

"What I'm doing is a real important job. It's very fulfilling. I have no great desires to push a time clock at this time. Nobody could pay me enough money (to equal) the feelings of appreciation and being needed I have at home and have from my kids."

On the surface her life may look like an episode of "Leave It to Beaver," but Clos has taken the bad with the good.

"We're open to the gift of life," said Clos, who admits her attitude wasn't always this way.

"We decided that each son we had would have Lawrence for a middle name, as part of their father's name, and all the girls would have Ann, as part of my name."

When their fourth child was born 17 years ago, it was the first time her husband was in the delivery room with her. The plan was to name a boy Jeffrey Lawrence. Her second son was born with birth defects.

"Larry had to come and tell me. He said 'He is a real special gift from God, he will have a hard time and I want him to have my name to help pave the way.' And that's why we named him Larry II, all the rest of the boys have Lawrence for a middle name."

Obstacles overcome

Realizing their child had birth defects both frightened and created an awareness for the Closes.

Mother of the Year: Mary Ann Clos won Mother of the Year honors from the Right to Life-Lifespan organization this year after her husband, Lawrence, nominated her for the award.

"You go through life thinking everything is perfect, and it's not. We decided to have another baby right away and I miscarried, that was painful. Then we decided to let go, and whatever God gave us, we were open to the gift of life."

Clos gets her motivation and fulfilment from the feeling of being needed by her children and husband.

In addition to caring for her family, Clos is active in her church, has worked as a volunteer with the American Cancer Society. Currently she spends time working with the Right to Life Wee Care program. She and Watts sort donated items for mothers to be and create layettes for babies of mothers who choose to give birth.

Like any parent, Clos said there are many times when she feels like pulling her hair out, just because she's at home doesn't mean there are no tribulations.

"You just learn when to react to and when not to react. I don't yell if a glass of milk is spilled, it's just cleaned up. I don't get mad often, but when I do, the kids know it's serious."

Doing the right thing

To Clos, the award is an affirmation that she is doing the right thing. "The life I'm living is right and the recognition is a shot in the arm. By being and doing for other people I've gained recogniton. Some honor and credit goes to (my family) for being there, providing the opportunity for me to share my life with them."

Her children range in age from 3½ to 25. And although she said the thought of going back to work has crossed her mind, it won't be until she's finished rearing her family.

New post master promises efficiency

BY ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

With 27 years of service in the Postal Service, and experience in both mail room operations and administration, Florence Richardson has taken over as post master of the Westland post office.

Richardson's duties are to oversee the operation of the facility on Wayne Road which serves Westland, Canton and Wayne.

In her new position, Richardson enjoys meeting with the public, something she didn't have the opportunity to do in her previous positions.

She has no immediate plans for changes, but said she has some goals.

"For my customers and employees I have an open door policy," said Richardson. "I try to repond to my customers in a timely fashion. There are days I'm in meetings all day and my secretary lets them know I'm not available, but I'll get back to them because I want to resolve their problem —if they have a problem — as quickly as possible."

She plans to go out once a week and randomly talk with a customer to see how they feel the operation is going at the post office.

Her goal is to provide adequate and timely service to the customers.

She began her career as a mail clerk in 1966 in Baltimore, Md. Although it was a repetitive job with lousy hours (5:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m.), she and her co-workers kept their minds active with brain teasers. "We'd play a game and scramble words," Richardson reminisced as she sat in her new office. "We'd guess a word and come up with a word like 'output' and then come up with words from that word."

In 1971, Richardson moved into adminstration and became a position as payroll clerk in the finance department in Baltimore.

Two years later she moved into the budget department and was the only female there from 1973-74. She said it was fun, but there were plenty of long hours. During her tenure in the budget department, she took several assignments out of town, including a two-year stay in Philadelphia as accounting assistant from 1982-83, and as acting director of finance in Charlotte, NC from 1986-87.

Florence Richardson

Richardson was promoted to controller for the Detroit division in 1987. She came to Westland in December.

The new postmaster has many funny memories from her years working at the post office. When she was the budget department manager, she had three people working for her. The department was computerized and this particular day they were supposed to be off the computer by 5 p.m.

At 4 p.m., a crisis developed because a relatively new employee hadn't started his daily entries. Richardson had to keep the whole department there until the work was done. One employee came to her with a problem about staying that day. "She told me she had a hair appointment and had to go. I told her she could go home with me and I'd fix her hair," recalls Richardson. "We worked until 1 a.m. and any time we'd remember that we'd start to laugh.

Another co-worker missed an out of town class reunion, but no one left until the work was done. "We all worked together to get the job done."

Richardson, 50, lives in Southfield with Aldrow, her husband of 29 years and three children, Thant, Linnard and Kelsy.

Area seniors win scholarship

Three Livonia school district seniors — Cynthia Hintz, Jen Turbiak and David Watson Jr. — have been named recipients of the 1993 James P. Carli Memorial Scholarship.

The scholarship of $500 each was presented to the three seniors May 3 by the board of education.

The scholarship honors previous superintendent James Carli, who died unexpectedly in late 1988. A school spokesman said scholarship winners possess the same characteristics possessed by Carli, including honesty, a positive attitude, service and loyalty to school, and sincerity.

The district serves the northern section of Westland.

Hintz, a Franklin High student, plans to attend college to study either pre-law, business, economics or psychology. She has been accepted by Michigan State, Western Michigan, Central Michigan and the University of Michigan.

Watson, a Churchill High student, plans to study forensic science at Michigan State University.

Turbiak, a Stevenson High student, is undecided about her major, but wants to attend St. Mary's College of Notre Dame.

SourceClub brings out area's bargain hunters

BY ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

Crowds came by the hundreds Wednesday morning to check out the new Meijer SourceClub.

The huge warehouse, owned by Meijer's Inc. in Grand Rapids, offers everything from cereal to computers at warehouse prices in the new structure on Warren Road at Newburgh, Westland.

People came from throughout western Wayne County to check out products and prices. Many were comparing prices between the Meijer owned warehouse club to the Kmart owned PACE warehouse around the block.

Meijer executives were on hand to direct shoppers where they needed to go and vendors were demonstating products for the grand opening.

Company executives were excited about the opening of the fourth warehouse-type facility in Michigan, and stressed the importance of a Michigan-based company providing jobs in the state.

Westland's Randy Dawley was roaming the facility having a look around on his first visit to a SourceClub. He is a member of PACE warehouse, located a mile away, and said he plans to join SourceClub.

"It looks nice," said Dawley. "My wife and I are shopping around and we've seen a lot of things. I didn't expect to see things like video cameras."

Roger Morahan of Plymouth had just returned from Arizona where he spent the winter and decided to come in and check it out.

"I wanted to find out what it was," said Morahan. "I just saw the grand opening (sign) and I wondered what SourceClub is. When I saw Meijers on the sign, I came in because I was going to Meijer's anyway."

The Westland facility is the fourth SourceClub Meijer has opened in Michigan. The company plans to open another facility in Livonia this summer, across from the Meijer store in Northville.

"We hoped that this would be the first," said Hank Meijer, co-chairman of the company's executive board.

Meijer, a former Observer Newspapers reporter, was searching the new store for clothes and admitted his wardrobe came from SourceClub, except the sport coat which came from Meijer's.

The move into warehouse-type facilities was made by Meijer Inc. last year because it's the fastest growing part of retail business, said Earl Holton, Meijer president.

Meijer executives selected the Warren-Newburgh site, across the street from the Westland Meijer store for two reasons. The parcel was large and available and there was plenty of traffic in the area.

Ming Tandoc of Canton came to compare prices with PACE to see where she could get the best deals. With a cartload of merchandise, her hopes were to find one place to shop for all her needs.

"Some things are cheaper, some are not," said Tandoc. "In the end, I'm breaking even. I don't want to waste time (going to different stores) My time is kind of consumed. I want to go to one place and buy everything."

Terri Cavanaugh of Plymouth was also comparing prices at SourceClub with PACE. "I wanted to check it out. So far, the computer section is nicer than PACE, but I'm here to compare prices."

SourceClub is open to both customers and businesses. Jim Connell of Westland joined the club last week when Meijer Inc. came to his place of employment with membership applications.

"It's much more orderly than PACE, at least so far, it's new," said Connell who was shopping for supplies for work. He shopping for home items for his wife.

SourceClub membership is open to individuals and businesses. Cost is $20 for each with one primary membership card and an additional secondary membership card. Additional cards for household members or employees are $10.

Mayor honors helpers

Food for thought: Before the recognition program was held, volunteers lined up for food.

Mayor Robert Thomas hosted the first recognition dinner Wednesday night in the Westland Friendship Center for more than 200 people who serve on 26 municipal boards and commissions.

County Executive Edward McNamara was the guest speaker for the event, which was paid for with private donations.

Thomas thanked the commission and board members for giving of their time and energy over the years. The people honored bring energy and experience to their roles, which makes running the city easier, the mayor said.

"Without the help of these dedicated people, Westland would not enjoy the reputation it has achieved of being a very progressive city and a wonderful place to live," he said.

A mayoral spokesman said he plans to repeat the program and possibly expand it for local service organizations.

The recognition committee cited five businesses for their donations. The five are Able Rental, Corkscrew Party Store, Leright's, Maria's Bakery and Painter and Ruthenberg.

Robbery suspects face trial

■ John Davis and Erin Mertke both waived their right to a preliminary hearing.

Two suspects in an April 15 armed robbery at the Speedway gas station on Merriman at Van Born, in Westland, waived their right to a preliminary hearing Thursday in 18th District Court.

John Davis, 40, of Westland and Erin Mertke, 21, of Ypsilanti both waived their rights to a preliminary hearing in separate appearances before District Judge C. Charles Bokos. The two were bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on May 20.

According to police records, Davis has a long police record and has been to prison seven times. This was the first criminal offense for Mertke.

School plans birthday party

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

Lincoln Elementary School is planning a gala birthday party next week.

The school, which serves the western half of the Norwayne neighborhood, will mark its 50th anniversary the week of May 17-21 with activities or events scheduled for each day.

Resource room teacher Jan Tomlinson, chair of the school committee planning the birthday week, said the highlight will be a birthday dinner on Wednesday night, May 19 in the school, on Grand Traverse between Venoy and Wildwood.

"Theme of the birthday week will be 'Past, Present and Future,' " Tomlinson said.

The school was built in 1943 with an addition opened in 1967. The school's first students were children of parents who moved into the temporary" housing for new employees at the new Willow Run bomber plant in Ypsilanti. The estimated 1,100 housing units, built by the federal government in a rush to provide housing for bomber plant workers, sold the buildings, mostly duplexes, to private owners in the late 1950s.

The birthday week, Tomlinson said, will start with a staff breakfast at 8 a.m. Monday, May 17, in the school. During the day, students will decorate classroom doors with a birthday theme.

"Community cake day" will be observed the next day with cake served to students at lunch time. Parents and school employees will be served between 1-2:45 p.m.. There will be display boards in the gym, made up of old photos and materials relating to the school's history.

On Wednesday, May 19, students and employees will take part in a " '50s Day" with each grade level planning its own activity, program or event, Tomlinson said.

An estimated 75 persons, including the school's first teacher, Elizabeth Boyd, have been invited to the birthday dinner that evening.

Among those to take part will be state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, who was a PTO president at Jefferson School, which serves the eastern half of the Norwayne neighborhood.

John Glenn High School students, directed by drama teacher Simonne Grzesik, will perform as clowns in the production of "Planet of Perfectly Awful People" for students and parents.

The Westland store closing is the latest development in the company's heavy financial losses in recent years. The company is planning to obtain a $8 million loan after suffering heavy losses in recent years.

The closing comes at a time when area shoppers are moving to stores which offer discounts. In late 1987, Pace Warehouse, Target and other retailers opened in Westland with Meijer opening its doors in the spring of 1990. Just last week, Meijer opened its SourceClub membership business on Warren Road at Newburgh.

When Crowley's shuts its Westland location next month, it will leave the company with 10 stores in the Detroit area and Flint.

■ The Westland store closing is the latest development in the company's heavy financial losses in recent years.

The company said it will help employees at the Wildwood Plaza location transfer to other Crowley's stores.

At its peak, there were six businesses in the plaza. When Crowley's closes its doors in late June, four retailers will remain: Farmer Jack supermarket, which last month completed a multimillion renovation; Minnesota Fabrics, Frank's Nursery, and Maple Drugs.

The building to be vacated by Crowley's was first built in 1965 as a Topps discount store. When Topps went out of business, Naum's catalog retailer, moved in before it shut its doors a year later.

by June 30. If Proposal A fails in the June 2 special election, the board has scheduled meetings for June 7, 8, 9 and 15 to make the budget final.

Trustee Joe Laura told residents that whatever was said at the hearing about Proposal A, they should not view it "either as a threat or an incentive to vote for" the proposal.

Suzanne Clulow, a school board candidate, gave the board three options to consider: adopt an incentive package to get teachers to retire; sell the district's unused land; and endorse Proposal A.

Cutting the sixth hour, said Cindy Boyd, would make it harder for graduates to get into a good college.

If the sixth hour is cut, administrators have said the number of credits needed to graduate must be reduced.

Jeanne Franczak called cutting the sixth hour "unthinkable."

Keep varsity sports, said Bob Catanzarite, and let parent groups administer and pay for them.

Because children need to come to school "ready to learn," Joan Bryan urged the district not to cut back on such support programs as SAFE.

Mary Duluk questioned if politics influenced cuts recommended for popular, highly visible student programs.

"I hope you're not doing this to get us to pass a millage," Duluk said. "I deeply resent you playing politics with my kid's education."

■ 'I deeply resent you playing politics with my kid's education.'

Mary Duluk

Becky Morr, a SAFE teacher at Tyler who has not been pinkslipped, called the six staff cuts in the SAFE program scary.

"Experts tell us early intervention is necessary," Morr said. "We see disruptive behaviors. We live in a culture where parents find it difficult to say no to kids, yet we hope kids say no to peers and pressures. What expense will there be to schools, to families, if we don't have SAFE?"

Julie Noble, a SAFE teacher, also urged keeping the program so that youngsters can develop both socially and emotionally.

Jonathan Mezzadri, a student, called the loss of the sixth hour "intensely devastating."

Ronald Smaldone criticized the district for not putting the amount of dollars saved next to proposed cuts on the list sent home to parents.

"There's a 4-percent cut in transportation. Does that mean K-6 kids must walk to school?" he asked. "When you send this sheet out, explain how much the cuts are worth."

At a time when educators should be looking at new ways to educate so graduates can compete, the district is falling backward, said Geri Goff.

The loss of varsity sports will do "more harm than good," said Stevenson student Kristyn Sobier.

Ed Gautzer called Proposal A "probably the best, most realistic compromise" school districts will get from Lansing.

If Proposal A fails, trustee Sue Thompson said the district will continue to back and campaign for passage of the O/K proposal.

Because it is federally subsidized, the trustees reassured ROTC students that their program will not be cut.

Steve Naumcheff, former president of the Livonia Education Education, urged the district to not discount what happened in Kalkaska. Kalkaska closed earlier this year rather than face cuts.

"We need leadership, the courage to take on the state if necessary," Naumcheff said. "I wish you would dig in your heels."

Dan Leonard, who recently dropped out of high school, called cutting the sixth hour "a big mistake."

Whatever cuts are made, they should be fair, said Carlo Arciero.

"You have a duty to make sure the people who you serve believe that this is a true, fair process and that the cuts are fair," Arciero said.

If Proposal A fails, the trustees reassured residents there would be time before September to hold a special election for a millage request.

Pastor: Post office shooting victim a 'fighter'

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

Sandra Brandstatter will recover from Thursday's Dearborn Post Office shooting because she knows how to fight back, said her pastor.

"She's very feisty," said the Rev. William Lindholm of Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran Church in Livonia.

"Emotionally, she's a fighter. In fact, the whole family is like that."

Brandstatter, 32, grew up in Redford Township and has lived with husband Mark the past four years in Livonia's Brookwood Estates subdivision, off Six Mile between Middlebelt and Merriman.

The couple has a 6-month-old son, Mark Jr.

Neighbors mostly kept quiet Friday at the family's request, saying only that their "fingers were crossed" for a full, speedy recovery.

"We intend to respect their privacy and we are honoring that wish," said Dennis Kropinak.

Jody Kirsch, Brookwood Estates Homeowners Association president, said the association likely will do something for the family.

Police said Brandstatter was shot once in the back and twice in the head by Larry Jasion, who she reportedly beat out for a promotion several weeks ago.

Jasion, 45, shot two other employees — one who died and one, a Livonia man, who was wounded — before killing himself.

Brandstatter remained in critical condition Friday at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, although a staff doctor said she is improving.

"She's out of the woods with respect to her heart rate and blood pressure, which had been quite unstable before today," said Dr. Paul Haydon.

But said there was still no movement in her legs.

"It's difficult to know how that will progress. She hasn't been able to speak very clearly, and we'll have to bring in some physical therapists when she can," Haydon said.

Livonia resident Bruce Plumb, 43, suffered gunshot wounds to his back. Plumb is a motor vehicle supervisor and was Jasion's immediate supervisor.

Haydon said Plumb was "ready to be released" Friday afternoon.

Plumb moved to Livonia from Melvindale when he remarried in 1992.

Lindholm, at the hospital Friday, said Brandstatter's family had been attending church regularly for 20 years.

State adoption guide books target ethnic, religious groups

The first in a series of guidebooks to assist communities in supporting adoptive families has been published by the state Department of Mental Health.

The first guidebook, "Let's Celebrate Adoption — A Guide for the Jewish Community," was written by Carolyn Flanders McPherson of East Lansing.

Copies are available through Spaulding for Children, a Southfield-based organization which is a national resource center on adoption.

"We have been working actively for a number of years to support adoption programs," said James K. Haveman Jr., state mental health director.

"We are aware of a large number of children, many with emotional or developmental problems, who have been adopted by Michigan families," said Haveman. "We also know there are a number of families and single people who are interested in adoption.

"The new series of guidebooks on adoption, written particularly for members of different religious or cultural groups, should help to clarify adoption issues and provide helpful tips about how all of us can assist adoptive families," said Haveman.

McPherson said the finished work represents the collaboration of more than 30 Jewish leaders in Michigan. "The result is testimony to the spirit of cooperation, bridging views of diverse members of the Jewish community: observant orthodox Jews, conservative, reform and secular Jews participated in the project.

"We really tried to overcome prejudices that people have about adoption," said McPherson. "All of the new guidebooks will be very specific about what people can do to support adoption, to help families."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 19, 1993, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. DST, at the Board Room, the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1993 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of .0558 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1992.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1993 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1992 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated two percent (2%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

SHOPPING CENTERED

LINDA BACHRACK

Eyeing the sun can be expensive

Until now, I assumed that most sunglass shoppers were alike in their annual quest for the suitable frame. In the past few weeks, the department stores have miraculously transformed walls and display cases into receptacles for hundreds of styles of summer eyewear. (What took up all that space before?)

Anyway, for years I have muddled through pair after pair of sunglasses, staring in those tiny little mirrors and pushing inconveniently-placed price tags away from my nose. I assumed most everyone followed this routine, trying and discarding, becoming increasingly frustrated as each new silhouette began to look just like the last.

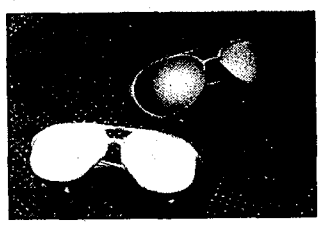
Boy, was I mistaken. There are legions of you to whom sunglass shopping is hardly routine. You look for much more than a flattering color and shape. You are knowledgeable about ultraviolet rays, blueblockers and photochromes, and moreover, you are brand loyal and specific as to which frame you prefer.

Let me share with my peers, the not-so-savvy sunglass consumers, some of the knowledge I have gained through researching this column.

About those Revos

It all started with my son Marc, a Michigan State student. He informed me that he planned to spend what amounted to most of his life savings on a pair of Revo sunglasses. "Expensive, but the best," he explained.

So I ventured into SunVision at Twelve Oaks Mall where store manager Sue Cherry gave me a quick seminar on shades. According to Cherry, Revos are hugely popular, but for good reason. Originally designed by NASA, Revos eliminate all UV rays while, at the same time, enhancing clarity of color. "They're the most functional lens made," she said.



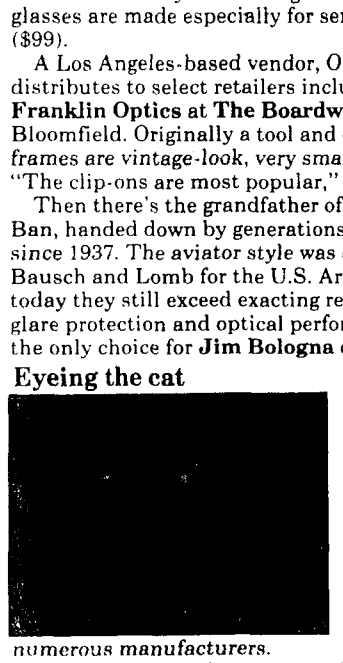
They also feature a blueblocker that cuts through blue light, eliminating fog and haze, and the new polarized lens cuts glare on the water. The updated styling make them a No. 1 choice for the college set. But they'll set you back a hefty sum, $160-$275. We picture the Revo "aviator." In a considerate attempt to comfort me, Cherry added, "but they're made to last a lifetime."

Not everyone covets Revo sunglasses. Smaller, retro-styled classic frames are "in" and many of the manufacturers offer tempting versions. Serengeti's optically ground lenses are photochromic (they darken and lighten), relaxing the eye ($140). Vuarnet has a loyal following. And Maui Jim glasses are made especially for sensitive eyes ($99).

A Los Angeles-based vendor, Oliver Peoples, distributes to select retailers including Steven Franklin Optics at The Boardwalk in West Bloomfield. Originally a tool and die company, its frames are vintage-look, very small and very hip. "The clip-ons are most popular," said Franklin.

Then there's the grandfather of classic, the Ray-Ban, handed down by generations of devotees since 1937. The aviator style was developed by Bausch and Lomb for the U.S. Army Corps and today they still exceed exacting requirements for glare protection and optical performance. They're the only choice for Jim Bologna of Grosse Pointe.

Eyeing the cat



Jason Christopoulous prefers the Ray-Ban "Wayfarer," "because they'll never go out of style."And we picture the "cat," another classic copied by numerous manufacturers.

Christopoulous also owns a pair of trendy "M Frame" Oakleys, an ultra- contemporary, updated sporting look worn by major league baseball players. SunVision stocks the Oakley "Blades" ($110) and "Razor Blades" ($100), as well as "Frog Skins," "Mumbos" and the new "Sub-Zeros" for the tennis playing, BMW set ($40-$135).

Sue Cherry calls the Oakleys "a cut above." They're the lightest frame on the market and feature a plutonite lens.

Be aware that the most inexpensive frames offer only 60 percent UV protection and no warranty. But if you're looking to make a statement, go for the Mickey Mouse glasses with the flip-up shades ($19.95) or join Zana Roy at Banana Annas in Birmingham. "They have the coolest black cat-eyes."

Nordstrom's news welcomed

After 25 years of cornfields and Christmas trees, the northeast corner lot at Big Beaver and Coolidge in Troy will finally get a permanent tenant . . . and the community couldn't be happier. Hello! Somerset North.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

When developer Nathan Forbes addressed the Fashion Group of Detroit a few weeks ago, he was asked about the long-brewing plans for Somerset North, a.k.a. Somerset II, a.k.a. the empty lot across the street from the Somerset Collection.

He grinned and said something about 1996, but refused to speculate on possible tenants, admitting only that that's his specialty — bringing special retailers to the Detroit market.

Then someone let the cat out of the shopping bag. Rumors were published that Nordstrom's is coming . . . that Hudson's wanted to be close to the new action.

Thursday morning, the retail media applauded enthusiastically when the rumors were confirmed at a press conference and the architectural drawings were on display.

Somerset II will open in the summer of 1996 and will be connected to the Somerset Collection by a climate controlled aerial walkway. There will be three levels of shopping in an architectural style that matches Somerset South. Hudson's will anchor the east end, Nordstrom's the west end. In between, 410,000 square feet of additional retail space are up for rent, as are two restaurants and a performing arts stage.

3,500 new jobs

Groundbreaking will begin next spring, Forbes promised, and more than 3,500 new jobs will be created within the new mall.

Troy Mayor Jeanne Stine received a kiss from developer Maury Cohen after their speeches. Smiles and handshakes criss-crossed the rotunda.

Elsewhere in the mall, sales consultants were discussing the news.

"Lots of new retail positions coming to town," a Saks Fifth Avenue employee said. "This will put us seasoned professionals in a good bargaining position. The skyway will move shoppers through both centers. Hopefully, nearby office workers will be more likely to leave their buildings and shop, walk and eat lunch here."

Her associate wasn't so upbeat.

"All these department stores will divide up the shoppers," she said. "If you divide the shoppers, you divide the profits."

Dennis Coury just bought a new home in the tony Somerset North Estates subdivision, where his yard backs up to the proposed new shopping center.

"The windows in my family room look out on a view of the Somerset Collection and Big Beaver Road — my cityscape, I call it," said Coury. "You'd pay big bucks for a place with a view like this in Chicago or New York. I don't want to see another Oakland Mall built on this site.

"I'm trusting the Frankel people to build a center with attention to architectural detail, landscaping and aesthetics," he continued. "If there's

Classes link kids to international pals

■ 'Computer literacy is an absolute necessity for our children. Futurekids programs help children build a strong foundation of fundamental learning skills, attitudes and knowledge — tools that can truly empower their lives.'

A new kind of shop has opened in downtown Plymouth with the aim of putting local kids in touch with their counterparts in Japan, Ireland and Mexico — via computer.

Futurekids, in the Westchester Mall at 550 Forest, is a computer school for children 3 to 13 years. Futurekids offers classes, summer camps and field trips designed to help kids master the computer.

Plymouth's location is one of 1,200 Futurekid "schools" around the world. The corporation is headquartered in California. Locally, it's owned by Karen and Hiro Ota of Plymouth.

Karen, former manager of the University of Michigan's Child Development Center in Dearborn, said she was attracted to the company because she "recognized the need."

"Computer literacy is an absolute necessity for our children," she said. "Our programs help children build a strong foundation of fundamental learning skills, attitudes and knowledge — tools that can truly empower their lives now and in the future."

Futurekid classes are small. Each group has four children and two computers. The educational components are built around age-appropriate computer science. Each child has time to interact with the computer and work at his own level.

Skills taught include: keyboard, word processing, computer-assisted math and reading, logical thinking, communications, graphics and design, desktop publishing, data base management, environmental simulation and animation. Elementary robotics is also introduced.

Futurekids plans to incorporate a worldwide electronic bulletin board in its curriculum. This will enable children to communicate with other children in more than a thousand cities around the globe.

Sherrie Neaton, coordinates on-location visits for Futurekids to preschools and kindergartens in the area. She said the company hopes to expand with satellite offices in Farmington Hills, Livonia, Southfield and Ann Arbor.

"Sure, computer classes are offered in the schools," she said. "But like gym class, there's no extra time to develop skills, move ahead if you're able, or do your own thing. Our classes have a four-to-one student teacher ratio so individual coaching and instruction is specialized."

Classes cost between $50 and $100 per month and are held on a weekly basis according to the age of the student. For the wee folk, a Mommy and Me program is available. Students work on IBM PC-compatible computers. Each computer has a color printer.

Classes are forming and inquiries are welcome. Call Futurekids at 459-8822 for more information.

Lawmakers 'whittle away' Prop A, senator says

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Gov. John Engler's promise that local school districts wouldn't lose money if Proposal A passes June 2 may have a $10 million leak.

"Take this money off, and you whittle away at things people think are in Proposal A," warned Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, as the Senate stripped out money for several area school districts.

"This makes it more difficult to pass Proposal A," agreed Sen. Jim Berryman, D-Adrian. "Our credibility is at stake."

Proposal A is the elaborate constitutional amendment that would give a cut in school operating taxes, take 2 cents more in sales taxes and guarantee every district $4,800 per pupil. Says Engler's campaign literature: "Every school district will receive a 3 percent increase."

"No they're not," said Berryman.

"If we keep rapping people on the knuckles, I'm going to pull off (supporting Proposal A)," said Bouchard.

What they lose

The Senate rejected a Bouchard amendment to the school aid bill that would implement Proposal A. The action will cost Farmington and Walled Lake school districts $1 million each next year alone and more in later years.

Other losers: Avondale, $289,000; Birmingham, $733,000; South Lyon, $441,000; Novi, $411,000; Whitmore Lake, $106,000; and Bloomfield Hills, $289,000.

"I wouldn't lose a whole lot of sleep over these districts," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, an advocate of pulling funds away from what he considers wealthy districts.

Here's how they'll lose it:

Bouchard Wednesday won passage of his amendment to the $1.1 billion school aid bill that would base 1994 state aid on current year spending.

The Senate Thursday recalled the bill, removed Bouchard's amendment on a 30-7 vote and based state aid on current tax revenue. The difference: The affected districts had declined to levy all their authorized property tax millage to balance their budgets. Instead, they dipped into their bank accounts to meet expenses. Thus, their taxes were lower than their spending.

"We're penalized for being fiscally conservative," said Bouchard.

"You're punishing those people for not levying the full amount. They're not all rich school districts," agreed Berryman.

"It's $10 million we don't have," said DeGrow.

How they voted

Area senators voting yes: Bouchard, Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Voting no: Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Absent: William Faust, D-Westland.

Eight Republicans and six Democrats supported the Bouchard amendment while 15 Republicans and six Democrats opposed it. Among the opponents was Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing.

House agrees

The battle was briefer in the House, where the Bouchard amendment was offered by Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford. The roll call was counted. Speaker pro tem Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, saw a blizzard of red (no) lights on the tally board and declared it defeated.

The House passed the bill 98-0 and sent it to the Olds Tower across the street for Engler's signature.

Freshman Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, had a thumbprint on the new bill. Her amendment to cut teacher retraining funds from $2 million to $1 million was rejected by the House but added in the Senate and retained in the final bill.

"There used to be five subjects for teacher retraining. They got $3.8 million," said Whyman. "But four of those subjects were moved to another area of the budget. There was only one remaining.

"The funds were cut to $2 million, but the program should have been funded at $800,000. I thought I was being generous in offering $1 million."

Whyman also won an amendment to a library bill limiting voter-approved millage levies to 10 years. "Conceivably it could have been forever," she said.

going to be a parking structure, I hope they locate it on the east end of the mall, facing other commercial enterprises, not facing the homes along this street." Shoppers interviewed at Somerset Mall and Oakland Mall said they welcome Nordstrom's — one even waved her Nordstrom's charge card.

Competition for Hudson's

"Nordstrom's will give Hudson's a run for the money," said Judy Collins of Grosse Pointe. "My family shops at Nordstrom's whenever we travel. Their service is wonderful. You can't always find help at Hudson's when you need it."

"I think it's great, just great that Nordstrom's is coming to Detroit," said Alice Baker of Birmingham. "There will be more jobs created, more values for shoppers, the competition will keep other stores on their toes."

Joe Rivard, director of operations for Jacobson's in Birmingham, agreed.

"We welcome good competition," he said when asked if he was worried about losing customers to Nordstrom's. "Competition makes everyone do better. It's good for the community,"

Sue Sorenson, spokeswoman for Dayton-Hudson in Minneapolis, had this to say.

"We welcome Nordstrom's, too," she said. "Competition is good for everybody. In Minneapolis and Chicago we are already in the same malls with Nordstrom's. In some stores our sales are higher than Nordstrom's."

Hudson's president Dennis Toffolo reaffirmed the importance of Hudson's Oakland Mall store, less than three miles away.

"There will be very little customer transfer to this new store from other Hudson locations," he said. "The Somerset location just gets us closer to our customers and that's the number-one concern in our customer surveys — convenience."

S'craft taps day-care operator to share wisdom with students

BY MARY RODRIQUE
STAFF WRITER

Anyone thinking of opening a day care center could gain a wealth of professional insight from Eartha DeYampert.

Forget the official credentials the mother of three has — an educational degree in child development and a family day care specialist with the child care coordinating council of Detroit/Wayne County.

She has been everything from den mother for a Boy Scout troop to a licensed home day-care provider in charge of 12 children.

"You must possess a real commitment, love and concern for kids and be willing to take criticism," says DeYampert, who named her day care operation Three Bears after her own three children.

DeYampert will teach two courses this month at Schoolcraft Community College focusing on child care. Should I Start An In-Home Day Care? is a half day seminar scheduled Saturday, May 22. From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., students will learn to realistically evaluate options in this growing field. Licensing, as well as business and legal aspects, record keeping, pricing and advertising will be covered. (To register, call 462-4400.)

"The biggest thing is learning to share your space with the public," said DeYampert. "This is not babysitting. You have to be organized, have a program, learn to keep records, pay taxes."

DeYampert got started with Three Bears in 1982.

"I had young children of my own at the time. And I admired the person in charge of the program my children were in. I thought, 'I can do this.' "

Her business sailed smoothly through most of the '80s. DeYampert's children are now ages 17, 14 and 12.

Two years ago DeYampert approached Schoolcraft about teaching courses geared to day care providers. She has taught similar classes elsewhere.

Competency In Child Care is a five-week program beginning May 17. Each Monday from 7 to 10:10 p.m., this course will cover material for those already providing day care.

"Issues include health, safety and nutrition," she said. "We will also discuss working with families from multi-cultural backgrounds, working with single parents, with special needs children, with teenaged parents.

Market strives to be no mere party store

BY CHERYL VATCHER
SPECIAL WRITER

Vintage Wine and Deli Market is celebrating its first anniversary this spring.

The market on Ann Arbor Trail west of Middlebelt recently expanded to include its own pizzeria.

"We are very unique," said E. J. Jonna, owner. "We are a small quality market. We decided to remodel it last year from a basic party store."

He stressed that the business, which serves nearby neighborhoods in Westland, Garden City and Livonia, strives for high quality and fresh pizzas.

"Most pizzas are frozen," he said. "Our dough is made fresh every day, and instead of limited amounts of toppings, we put on extras."

They also cater to graduation and corporate parties.

Another expansion that adds to the market's uniqueness is its line of Iowa and Nebraska beef.

Handling the meat department is the former butcher of Standard Meat Markets in Garden City.

He'll do "cuts" for customers. If a patron wants to know about different recipes, Tom will pass them on.

E.J. says that since he and brother Vince went into business in 1984, they always wanted a complete market.

"We wanted it to be a full service for our customers so that they could buy all they needed here," he said.

"We wanted this to be a friendly shop. We even take orders out to the cars," he said.

E.J., who has a teaching degree, said he loves people and the retail party store business.

He helps in every department, and is in charge of the grocery and meats departments.

As best sellers in the meat department, is porterhouse steaks and pork chops. He feels that they beat the pants off of supermarkets in this department.

There are 20 other employees. About two thirds are full-time and from the neighborhood area. The store also has deliveries for handicapped persons.

They take pride in the weddings they cater.

"We do complete beveraging. We deliver to them and provide more of service than others. We provide literature on how to set up the parties, such as how many glasses per keg," he said.

"We are real professionals. We don't oversell our customers," he said.

He knows most of the customers by their first names.

"Customers are first. We have a large selection of items. We have quality and keep the prices down," he said.

Older brother and partner Vince takes care of the beverages, weddings, and the finances.

"This consists of bringing in new products like wines," he said.

"We are a full service market; people get good service. I help people choose their wines. I have taken classes on them," he said.

He also dreamed of having this kind of market all along.

"We had a dream of what we wanted to reach farther on down the road," he said.

He works an average of six days a week, sometimes seven.

In a recent week, he handled about 15 weddings, twice the normal business.

They stay at the parties until it ends, making sure they don't run out of anything.

"It's service that you get nowhere else," he said.

The store has 7,000 square feet, almost triple its previous size.

"I think that the size is correct for the personal touch, and offering a good variety," he said.

"We also have you-bake-it pizza. The customer can take it out of here and bake it at home. It's a full pizza and it's not frozen. Some people call an hour in advance because they know we sell them quickly. Sometimes 400 can go out in a week," he said.

"I really enjoy weddings and taking care of the customers," he said.

Vince is 32, married, and the father of a daughter, 2. E.J., 29, plans to marry in July.

Blood drive worker honored

There is an angel among the blood drive coordinators at the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region.

Gabrielle (Gubby) Daniels earned her wings when she took over as blood drive coordinator at Westland's Divine Savior Catholic Church last year.

Daniels, a resident of Plymouth, was one of more than 350 coordinators honored at a recent blood drive coordinators recognition ceremony.

Divine Savior Church has seen a dramatic increase in collections since Daniels has been the coordinator, Kochan said.

At her first drive in the fall of 1992, Daniels did so well recruiting parish members, 85 pints of blood were donated, much higher than the goal of 65 and nearly triple last fall's campaign.

The church now sponsors two blood drives a year and was proud to report that at its last drive in March, more than 100 pints of blood were collected.

"Gubby is one of the region's finest coordinators," said Richard Folsom, regional representative for American Red Cross/Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region. "She leaves no detail untouched."

Daniels, a retired secretary, describes herself as a goal-oriented person, making every effort to top her previous achievements.

People or groups interested in organizing a blood drive may call 494-2746.

POINTS OF VIEW

Fun starts when Mother Nature pulls the plug

Cars were running out of gas conveniently near Spike's Keg O' Nails tavern in Grayling, and the locals were draining their lawn mowers and selling a couple of gallons for $10, while barmaids were pouring gallons of beer by candlelight. The reason: The power went out.

It was a scene from TV's "Northern Exposure." There were fishermen at the bar, which was lit by candles. My oldest kid was flirting with a barmaid, not for love, but for food. The grill was shut down and she was the keeper of the nacho chips. It worked.

I had a few anxious minutes. No, I wasn't out of gas. It was a question of whether the beer would stay cold through a three-hour power outage. But such worries disappeared when I realized I could switch to Jim Beam, an action for which I needed no prompting.

The television was off and the guy next to me at the bar sat playing solitaire. He was from West Bloomfield and had run out of gas. He later paid a local $12 for a couple of gallons. And we accuse the Arabs of price gouging.

Life without TV was a delight. It saved me from the weekend coverage of the gays and lesbians marching in Washington, D.C. When it comes to deciding between homophobia and supporting gay and lesbian causes, I'll take fly fishing for trout.

That's why I was sitting at the bar. Last weekend was the opening season for trout fishing in our state. Yes, there's the stereotype of the fisherman doing more to put a dent in the beer supply than in the numbers of trout. But then again, there are reasons for stereotypes.

My sons and I took refuge in Spike's after a day on the AuSable River that started with temperatures in the 30s and a few patches of snow in the woods, and ended at about 7 p.m., when we fished through what we later discovered was a tornado.

JEFF COUNTS

■ There were fishermen at the bar, which was lit by candles. My oldest kid was flirting with a barmaid, not for love, but for food. The grill was shut down and she was the keeper of the nacho chips. It worked.

We headed to the south branch when the temperature hit about 60. It stayed that way for about two minutes before the hail-bearing storm came along. My kid asked: "Is the sun supposed to come out in the middle of a storm?" A barmaid at Spike's later assured me that when the sun acts in such a manner, you are in the middle of a tornado, but at the time I was blissfully ignorant.

I did have the fatherly concern to tell the kid not to touch his metal reel when the lightning was striking. I didn't want to see another kid at risk, as the do-gooders and social workers now call it.

Those folks even have a new campaign going aimed at social drinking. They contend social drinkers may overcorrect their children. Most kids I know could stand some overcorrection.

Not wanting my kid to be at risk of being overcorrected, I wasn't heading to Spike's, but ended up there anyway. The entire town of Grayling was without power when we arrived, and the folks at Spike's left a candle in the window.

Others followed the beacon, and by 9 p.m. the place was filled and I did switch to Jim Beam so as to save the cold beer for others. Power outages do call for certain personal sacrifices.

Then about 9:30 p.m., Hank Williams Jr. started singing again on the jukebox, the TV came back on, and the beer coolers went back into action.

But some how it just wasn't as much fun as before.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer newspapers and is at risk of having an addiction to fly fishing, but is having trouble quitting because his sons are co-dependent. He can be reached at 459-2700.

Suffering no motive for state's speedy action

It was a little over a year ago when I received a fax from my friend, Shelly. In keeping with Shelly's morbid sense of humor and apparent dislike of me, the fax was a gift certificate good for a complimentary visit from Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

The scratchy reproduction was quickly circulated throughout the office, drawing all sorts of chuckles and comments. We all felt the idea was in very poor taste, and we all wished we had thought of it first.

Jack Kevorkian had become something of a local celebrity for his part in the budding controversy surrounding assisted suicide. Kevorkian's notoriety made for easy pickin's for the local comedy crowd. His seemingly transitory fame had even propelled him to the point where his name had become a verb: To Kevorkian someone or something was to put a quick end to it. The macabre comedy was fueled by the circus-like atmosphere of the new coverage of Kevorkian's actions.

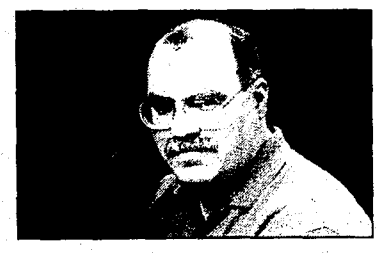
After a few months, and a few more assisted suicides, the humorous novelty wore off, leaving only the ugly controversy over this hotly disputed issue.

Oakland County prosecutor Richard Thompson became the primary opponent of Kevorkian's efforts. Thompson's well-publicized battles with Kevorkian's attorney, Geoffrey Fieger, were often punctuated by name-calling and mutual contempt.

Soon after, this became a full-blown three-ring circus when those frolicsome folks in Lansing — our governor and our Legislature — got into the act by hastily passing a bill making assisted suicide against the law in Michigan.

Our elected officials seldom act this quickly on anything, but with Michigan becoming known as The Suicide State fast action had to be taken to relieve the high anxiety over at the chamber of commerce. There's no time for the customary gridlock when your image is on the line.

All the legal and political wrangling seemed to be directed at Kevorkian rather than the issue of having the right to die. The rights of suffering people had little to do with the speedy legislative footwork.



GARY BELANGER

■ Our elected officials seldom act this quickly on anything, but with Michigan becoming known as The Suicide State fast action had to be taken to relieve the high anxiety over at the chamber of commerce. There's no time for the customary gridlock when your image is on the line.

Admittedly, Kevorkian is not a very embraceable man. He is unpretentious to the point of appearing eccentric. His gaunt appearance and clinical demeanor do not fit the stereotype of the kindly old doctor. He is clearly a man on a mission, but only he knows for sure if it is a mission of selfless mercy or self-aggrandizement.

Frankly, the man and his methods matter very little. What matters most is the concept for which he stands: the right of a terminally ill individual to end his or her own life as an alternative to suffering the physical and emotional agony of waiting for death to come on its own. Without a doubt, that right needs to be framed by responsible legal guidelines, but it must remain a viable option for those whose condition allows no other chance of relief.

When our pets become aged and irreversibly ill, we end their suffering by having them "put to sleep." It is the humane thing to do. Yet we are forced to deny that humanity to our loved ones when they face a death which is certain in every respect except the day and the hour of its arrival.

I've seen people suffer in agony no animal would ever be forced to endure. I've seen family members, friends and total strangers decline to the point that their vital statistics were the only discernible measure of life. I've stood next to a hospital bed and begged God to bring a merciful end to the ravaged shell lying before me. I doubt those righteous individuals who oppose assisted suicide have had the same experience.

This issue is not about Jack Kevorkian, nor is it about knee-jerk politics or playing God. It is not about narrow-minded, short-sighted legislation or insensitive office humor. It is about each of us having the right to die when that is all there is left to do.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Momma's cooking impossible to beat

Honest to gosh, I've been planning to write this column for the past year. As luck would have it, it's surfacing the day after Mother's Day.

I pride myself for my punctuality, so even if this comes off like a belated Mother's Day story, rest assured that the facts are true and in my opinion apply 365 days a year.

A funny thing happens when you write a column and get your picture in the paper 52 weeks a year. One of the perks of this job is that I frequently get stopped by readers at the grocery store, the deli or at a restaurant who say "hi" and comment on my columns.

I also get regular and Voice Mail, not to mention hundreds of "here, try my favorite recipe for . . ." postcards and letters. And if there's one question or comment that comes to mind, ya'll ask about my momma. Understandably so, since I probably mention her more than any other source.

Well folks, momma's doing fine. I mentioned to her that I would be writing this about her and asked if I could mention her name and offer a little background.

She darn near chocked on a jelly filled Dunkin' Donut when I asked. So I won't get into anything personal other than explain to you the influence she's had on me, and offer the information she's shared.

The truth

Let it be known that I don't actually call her "momma." As long as I can remember, it's always been "ma" and she's called me "Lee." Momma called Grandma Lory "ma" and I can remember Grandma Lory calling Mimmy LeFleur "ma."

Momma is the Janes Gang matriarchal cook. Nobody cooks better than momma and no one has ever tried.

Not to say that Aunt Phyllis' potato salad isn't the best I've ever tasted or that my older sister Rosie's cherry cobbler gives me goose bumps, but when it comes to cooking, momma beats 'em both hands down.

Momma's tools

What amazes me is that she can do this with the same set of pots and pans she received as a wedding gift 55 years ago. I bring her Cuisinarts, Trident cutlery, exotic herbs, breadmakers, Calphalon cookware and the latest gadgets.

She smiles, mumbles a thanks, tries them and then they end up covered with doilies on the steps leading to the upstairs. I'm a good cook, but I need my tools. She's a better cook and relies on what she has.

I read cookbooks the way she reads the Michigan Catholic newspaper. The kids talked her into a self-cleaning oven about five years ago. Last week I stopped by to visit and found her on her hands and knees in the kitchen cleaning the oven by hand. Dad was in the basement scrubbing the oven racks in the laundry tub.

When asked her why she doesn't just "flip the switch" she replied that "you gotta get down and wipe it out anyway, so what's the difference?"

Cooking secrets

When it comes to cooking, the lady has no peers. I spend 12 hours cooking down a Bordelaise sauce and offer her a taste and she says it tastes like her beef gravy with mashed up carrots and onions in it.

Momma's idea of a fancy restaurant is the Friday fish fry at the local Dom Polski hall. She loves McDonald's Quarter Pounders, Wendy's chili and Sander's Hot Fudge Cream Puffs, yet she can bake a pan of pork chops so tender that they fall off the bone and beg to be eaten with lots of bread to soak up the luscious juices.

Her biscuits could bring Colonel Sander's to his knees, not to say anything about her infamous German Chocolate Cake that she now makes only for my birthday.

What's her secret, you ask? I asked her and her pat response was "it's not what you have, it's what you do with what you got."

I'll pass along her recipe for biscuits that I "borrowed" from the old recipe box with a worn out picture of the Mackinac Bridge on it but it won't taste like her's. Momma would never use a fork to cut in the fat — she'd use her fingers.

She would never cut them with a biscuit cutter — she'd use her favorite glass dipped in flour. She'd never use a $20 air cushioned baking pan like mine, but instead the one she won at Cousin Janice's wedding shower 23 years ago and, lastly, she'd never bake them in an oven that was cleaned by tossing a switch.

She knitted me a potholder a few years back and for some odd reason, it's the only one that feels good. I wonder why. I love you, ma.

Shake salt habit FOR HEALTHIER DIET

■ May is National High Blood Pressure Month. Cut back on salt, and processed foods to lower your risk of developing high blood pressure.

BY ANNE LEHMANN
SPECIAL WRITER

For everything there is a season including high blood pressure. May is National High Blood Pressure Month, a time to think about the silent killer which afflicts 61 million Americans annually, almost half of whom do not even know they have it.

What is particularly insidious about this problem is that there are no overt symptoms, and when left undetected and untreated, high blood pressure can be life threatening.

According to the American Heart Association, which has an office in Lathrup Village, "high blood pressure in adults is a consistently elevated blood pressure of 140 mm Hg (millimeters of mercury) systolic and/or 90 mm Hg diastolic or higher."

Factors which increase the risk of a person developing high blood pressure include heredity, race (blacks are more likely to develop the problem than whites), sex (males are at a higher risk than women), age, obesity, heavy alcohol consumption, use of oral contraceptives and a sedentary lifestyle.

According to the American Heart Association, those with high blood pressure, or hypertension, are at greater for developing heart attacks, congestive heart failure, stroke, atherosclerosis, blood clots and kidney disease.

Although this sounds ominous, the fact is that high blood pressure can be controlled with medical supervision

• One of the things to remember is that salt tastes saltier than foods cooked or processed with salt. Potato chips taste saltier, but contain less sodium than cottage cheese.

• Low sodium doesn't mean healthy. People on a low sodium diet usually have to lose weight as well so the fat and caloric content become important considerations as well.

• Although potato chips are lower in sodium than cottage cheese, the nutritional density - high in protein, low in calories - makes cottage cheese a better choice.

WINNER DINNER

BETSY BRETHEN

Recently I read an article that said American women are taking great pride in the accomplishments of Hillary Rodham Clinton. Smart, competent and career-oriented, Clinton, like so many of us, is a wife and mother who juggles many different responsibilities and roles.

Statistics which show our society has changed, especially for women, are quite revealing. In 1973, 45 percent of married women worked outside their homes; in 1991, 75 percent of mothers with children between the ages of 6 and 13 were working outside their homes.

With more and more women bringing home the bacon, and then having to cook it, recipes that are easy, imaginative and nutritious best fit the needs of the career-minded women of the 1990s.

Although she's not in the public spotlight, this week's Winner Dinner Winner, Kathy Gallizzi of Farmington Hills, works every bit as hard as the First Lady at keeping the many different facets of her life balanced and running smoothly.

Married to John and the mother of Michael, Gallizzi works as a pharmacy technician with her husband, a pharmacist, at Russell's Pharmacy in the Fisher Building in Detroit.

She became a certified catechist three years ago, and teaches catechism once a week to first graders at St. Colette's in Livonia. She loves to cook and credits her grandmothers,

PASTA WITH VEGETABLES, GARLIC AND OIL

1 pound spaghetti
¾ cup olive oil
2 or more cloves garlic, peeled, smashed
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup broccoli florets, (can substitute frozen)
1 cup carrot slices, (can substitute frozen)
1 cup cauliflower, (can substitute frozen)
Salt and pepper to taste
Red pepper flakes to taste (optional)

Microwave vegetables until tender. Drain and set aside. Bring a large pot of salted water to a rapid boil. Prepare spaghetti according to package directions and drain.

Heat olive oil and garlic in a small saucepan for 1 to 2 minutes or until garlic begins to color. Be careful not to burn.

Pour olive oil and garlic on spaghetti, add salt and pepper. Toss in vegetables and cheese, making sure all are coated with sauce. Transfer to warmed plate and serve.

Serves 4 to 6 people.

CAESAR SALAD

1 head romaine lettuce, washed and torn into pieces
2 to 3 garlic cloves minced and smashed
1 teaspoon anchovy paste
Juice of ½ lemon
¼ teaspoon Dijon style mustard
Dash Worchestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
black pepper to taste
1 can (15-ounces) hearts of palm, sliced
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
¼ cup olive oil
⅛ cup red wine vinegar
1 cup croutons

Mince and mash garlic. Add anchovy pasty in a bowl along with lemon, salt, pepper, Worcestshire sauce, Dijon mustard, olive oil and vinegar.

Mix well. Add ⅓ of the cheese to the dressing. Save the rest for the romaine.

Add dressing to salad along with hearts of palm and croutons adding the rest of the cheese. Toss and serve.

Serves 4 to 6.

Serve this pasta entree with a loaf of Italian bread. For dessert, Kathy Gallizzi suggests Gelato — Italian ice cream or ice.

in conjunction with good eating and exercise habits.

"The best way to control high blood pressure is to avoid it in the first place," said Debra Finkelstein of West Bloomfield, a registered dietitian who was recently named Dietitian of the Year by the Michigan Dietetics Association. "The way to do that is to lower the amount of sodium in one's diet."

It sounds simple enough, but the fact is that as salt-loving Americans, we consume 10 to 15 times more sodium per day than the 3,000 mg the American Heart Association deems acceptable. Besides the sodium which occurs naturally in food, we are a population with a penchant for fast and processed foods and hands which reach almost reflexively for the salt shaker when we sit down to meals.

Why do we love salt so much? "It's an acquired taste," said Finkelstein who works at the Women's Health and Wellness Centre in Farmington Hills. "Working moms, for example, depend on such childhood staples as macaroni and cheese, processed cheese and meats, fast foods, without realizing how alarmingly high in sodium these foods are."

Kids learn to love salt early and continue to seek that flavor as they get older. It is a problem, however, that can be remedied quite easily.

"Cut back on salt gradually and learn to use other natural flavor enhancers like herb mixtures and lemon juice," said Finkelstein. "The truth is cutting back on salt let's you experience the natural flavors of food."

Also, the American Heart Association recommends losing weight. Typically an elevated blood pressure comes down significantly when a person loses weight.

Although people think of the salt shaker as the main culprit in high blood pressure, the fact is that processed foods pose an even greater pitfall.

"Canned vegetables and soups, processed cheese, things we typically think of as healthy are in fact laden with salt," said Dr. Muriel Wagner, a registered dietitian with a Southfield practice. "Even frozen vegetables are packaged with added salt."

Salt is inexpensive, freezes well and gives people a taste they like so manufacturers use it. It is therefore up to the consumer to be wary and read labels.

"Stay away from foods which list more than 140 mg. of sodium per serving on the food label," said Wagner. There are so many wonderful low sodium alternatives on the market today that lowering one's sodium doesn't have to make a person feel compromised.

For example Wagner brings along a bottle of low sodium soy sauce when she goes out for Chinese food. "I ask the cook to prepare my meal with it. There really are simple solutions if you plan ahead," she says.

Finally, every diet needs to incorporate a wide variety of tasty and healthful foods. Low salt doesn't meal low taste. In fact, with a little creativity, those with high blood pressure can learn to eliminate salt and still eat a diet that is rich in flavor and nutrition.

one from Poland, and the other from Italy, for teaching her how to cook many diffrent ethnic dishes.

Even though Italian was spoken to her since a very early age, she has been formally studying language for four years at Oakland Community College. She is hoping to go to Italy someday to meet and visit her many aunts and uncles who live there.

Gallizzi continues to support her alma mater, St. Joseph's College in Collegeville, Ind. by organizing fund-raising dinners and soliciting donations from alumni as well as other sources.

In this month that brings national attention to high blood pressure, Gallizzi said she does everything that doctors recommend including avoiding red meat, eating a low fat diet, getting regular exercise, and has reflected in today's Winner Dinner, cooking with lots of garlic which has long had the reputation of being a weapon against heart disease.

Thank you Kathy Gallizzi for sharing your recipes with us.

Tips for reducing sodium

Here are some quick tips from the American Heart Association.

- Make use of herbs and spices instead of salt.
- Salt can be reduced or eliminated unless the recipe calls for yeast.
- Use reduced or no salt varieties of canned soups, vegetables and other processed foods.

Do not add salt to boiling water when cooking pasta, rice, vegetables and cereals.

Use onion and garlic flakes or powder in lieu of onion and garlic salt.

Drain and rinse canned tuna, sardines and salmon

Handle foods carefully at salad bar

"The Food and Nutrition Hotline has received many calls lately regarding the safety of eating at salad bars in restaurants," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland Cooperative Extension Service.

Salad bars provide a variety of nutritious fresh fruits and vegetables. However, careful handling by both employees and patrons is needed to help keep the salad bars safe.

The salad bar needs to be kept both "cold and clean." Usually, the staff will be attentive to keeping the salad bar tidy. "If you notice that the area is not clean or is not kept cold, notify the manager," said Treitman.

Guests at a restaurant can do a lot to help keep the salad bar appetizing and safe. "Probably the best thing guests can do is to follow safe food practices, and teach their children to do the same. There's nothing worse than watching a child left alone at the salad bar to ruin your appetite for a refill."

Follow these tips to help keep the salad bar safe for everyone!

- Teach children good safe food habits before they are allowed to go to a salad bar and accompany them.
- Take a clean plate for each refill.
- Always use the salad serving utensils provided and return them to the proper container.
- Never touch food with fingers.

If you have other food safety or food and nutrition questions — call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, 858-0904.

Join McDonald's in celebrating Big Mac's 25th birthday

KEELY WYGONIK

Happy Birthday Big Mac, and a special thanks to Paul Hammer and all the folks at the McDonald's on Farmington Road in Livonia who made some Big Macs for us to enjoy on the big day — May 7. McDonald's is honoring the 25th anniversary of its number-one selling large sandwich with Big Mac values. During the Big Mac Silver Anniversary, customers who buy one Big Mac can get a second Big Mac for 25 cents.

The sandwich was created in 1968 by Jim Delligatti at the McDonald's franchise in Pittsburgh. The original selling price was 49 cents, excluding tax.

■ Take time for breakfast. Recent research suggests that eating a good breakfast not only enhances your ability to concentrate and do physical work in the morning hours, but also may help you maintain or lose weight.

Well nourished 9 to 11 year-olds made fewer errors in problem solving when they ate breakfast than when they skipped it. Children who skipped breakfast ate more heavily later in the day and were more likely to be obese than children who regularly ate breakfast.

Both high school age and adult breakfast skippers were more likely to have high blood cholesterol levels than regular breakfast eaters.

The barbecue is a benefit with all free will donations going to Scampi, a summer camp in Oakland County for special needs children with all types of disabilities.

Everyone is welcome to come and sample Word of Mouth Products including two new flavors of barbecue sauce, the Veggy Pasta Sauce and the new — "Call it Complete Seasoning."

They will be grilling homemade sausages, chicken and ribs. Last year the company raised about $1,500. This year they hope to double it.

Perk up your meals with nutritious dried fruits

LITE SUCCESS

FLORINE MARK

Remember that little box of raisins your mother would pack in your school lunch? Well, raisins aren't just for lunches anymore! Dried fruits are wonderful sources of potassium and iron, as well as fiber.

We already know they're great in cookies, cakes, and breads, but they're also fabulous as part of every meal, from start to finish.

Raisin-Onion Sauce is a tasty, versatile sauce. It can either be served warm over poultry or ham, or refrigerated and served as a salad dressing. In main dishes, like Chicken in Creamy Fruit Sauce, raisins perk up the taste with a touch of sweetness. Instead of plain rice, try Fruited Rice with Cinnamon.

You'll love this deliciously different combination. It is important, however, to keep in mind that dried fruits are also high in calories — so reduce the serving size when comparing to regular fruit.

As you try these raisin recipes, follow my tip for preventing the dried fruit from sticking to the knife while dicing — spray the knife blade with nonstick cooking spray. Now, how's that for "raisin" your raisin awareness?

RAISIN-ONION SAUCE

½ cup diced onion
¼ cup golden raisins
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon vegetable oil
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon each rice vinegar, Dijon-style mustard, and honey

In small microwavable mixing bowl combine onion, raisins, and oil and stir to combine; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High (100 percent) for 4 minutes, until raisins are plumped, stirring once halfway through cooking.

Transfer mixture to blender container; add remaining ingredients and process until smooth. Return mixture to microwavable bowl; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High for 2 minutes, until flavors blend. Makes 4 Servings (about ¼ cup each)

Each serving provides: ¼ Vegetable, 1 Fat, ½ Fruit, 15 Optional Calories. Per serving: 95 calories, 5 g fat

Substitute missing ingredients

LOIS THIELEKE

There is nothing more frustrating than to get all ready to do some baking and realize that one of the ingredients is "missing." You were sure you had it on hand, but no such luck. Before you run out to the store, here are some emergency substitutions that could be used in a pinch.

To make your own half and half for a recipe, use seven-eights cup of milk plus one-half tablespoon butter to equal one cup. One cup of heavy cream is made by mixing three-fourths cup milk plus one-third cup butter. Use this only when a recipe calls for heavy cream in cooking or baking, as this will not whip.

Sour cream can be made by using three tablespoons melted butter plus seven-eights cup sour milk or seven-eights cup buttermilk plus 3 tablespoons melted butter equal one cup. Don't use this making a dip, but for baking purposes it will work. Puree' cottage cheese in the blender with a little yogurt or skim milk to make a low-fat version of sour cream.

Cream cheese can be made by blending one cup low-fat cottage cheese with ¼ cup margarine to equal one cup. One cup of skim milk plus two tablespoons melted butter will equal one cup whole milk. (Think about that butter next time you reach for a glass of whole milk.) Low-fat plain yogurt can replace an equal amount of buttermilk in any recipe.

If your milk is just starting to turn sour, sweeten by adding a pinch of baking soda.

Oil substitutes

When substituting vegetable oil for a solid vegetable shortening, butter or margarine, use one-third less. Use two teaspoons of oil to replace one tablespoon of hard shortening. For a perfect product, don't substitute oil for a solid shortening. Instead, find a recipe that has been tested using oil. It is not recommended substituting light or extra light margarine for regular margarine in cakes or cookies.

The water content is very different so you would have to change the proportion of the other ingredients to make up for the added water. Regular margarine is about 15 percent water, light is 40 percent and extra light can be as much as 58 percent. This really changes a recipe proportion.

Dried herbs can be substituted for fresh ones, use about one-third the amount called for in the recipe. One tablespoon instant minced onions, rehydrated equals one small fresh onion. Three teaspoons chopped fresh parsley will substitute nicely for one teaspoon dried. One-eighth teaspoon garlic powder is equal to one small clove. If your dried herbs are more than a year old they have probably lost their fragrance so you may want to increase the amount used.

You can make your own fresh garlic salt by slicing three cloves of peeled garlic into an empty shaker, then fill the shaker with salt. Shake into salads, soups, vegetables, meats or whatever. When the garlic dries out, just replace it with fresh slices, it will keep for a long time.

Plain unpopped popcorn loses moisture and will not pop when it starts to dry out. There isn't enough water inside the kernel to expand from heat to make it pop. Popcorn that dries out won't pop. When you notice that a number of kernels in the pan aren't popping you'll need to re-condition it. Put about three cups of popcorn in a quart jar, pour one tablespoon of water into the jar, and put the lid on tightly.

Shake the jar every five or 10 minutes, until the popcorn has absorbed all the water. Leave the jar capped tightly on the shelf for a couple days, after that the popcorn should pop perfectly. For long term storage, refrigerate or freeze the popcorn so it will not dry out.

Choclate substiutes

Milk chocolate cannot be substituted for other chocolates in recipes. It is made from chocolate liquor, milkfat, milk solids and the rest sugar. The same goes for instant hot cocoa mix, it is a mix of sugar and dry milk solids and does not made a good substitution for regular cocoa.

Substituting chocolate syrup for other chocolate in baking is also not recommended for a good product. To replace one-ounce of unsweetened chocolate, use one-fourth cup of cocoa mixed with two teaspoons of any kind of shortening. For semisweet chocolate you'll need one-ounce of unsweetened chocolate plus four teaspoons sugar.

Before you throw up your hands in disgust because of a missing ingredients, look through your cupboards and see what substitution can be made used. Cookbooks also have substitution suggestions to help make the perfect food product.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Her artwork lights night

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Artist Maria Ruedinger manipulates neon and hotly-colored paint into electric wall sculpture. Subdued lighting created by the artwork sets the mood for anything but a quiet evening at home.

"I love the way neon looks, the colors, the way it looks at night," Ruedinger said. "Most of my pieces are for the bedroom because you can turn off all the lights. Neon sets a mood to it."

Ruedinger fabricates the metal canvas and bends the glass for the abstract works of light in her commercial sign shop, IDMN (Innovative Design Manufacturing and Neon) in Plymouth's Old Village.

"It's a fun medium to work in," she said. "Depending on the color of glass and colors surrounding it, the color of the neon changes according to the other colors you're using. It's not a flat medium. It jumps out at you."

A line of green, yellow and blue neon shoots like an arrow across an untitled abstract, playing off the blue spheres and flat planes of color on the metal canvas.

"Because neon is liquid light, your eye is going to focus on the neon. I like the painting and neon to work together. They play off each other."

Ruedinger became interested in the medium after earning a liberal arts degree from the University of Michigan in 1985.

"My parents were going to give me a trip to Europe after graduation. With the job market so tight, I asked to learn a trade instead."

Six weeks of apprenticeship with Freddy Elliott of Neon Stuff in Kansas provided her with the basics of blowing glass. She spent the next three months honing the craft in Los Angeles at Hollywood Neon.

"It's a different medium — blowing glass with a hose instead of on the end of a blow pipe. The glass used in neon comes four feet long already blown in a tube. We take it from there and manipulate it."

In 1986 Ruedinger returned to Michigan, setting up her own shop, Accent Neon in Ann Arbor. Working between the two flames of a ribbon burner and a crossfire torch with a blow hose clenched between her teeth, Ruedinger's enthusiasm for neon flowed naturally.

"I get enthralled in neon . . . the whole idea of manipulating light to make it say something to you," Ruedinger said. "Every piece of neon has to be bent up by hand. The high lead content means it doesn't have to be annealed like furnace-worked glass because it doesn't shatter when it cools."

The high-energy painting contrasting the mellow light of neon takes shape as a sketch.

"You just start drawing. You come up with 10 concepts before you hit on one that will say something to you."

Two years of welding courses at Washtenaw Community College prepared Ruedinger for the next step, fabricating the metal that serves as canvas.

"I make up the box and get that primed, then I start painting. I use sign painter's paint. The reason I work in metal is because neon's high voltage so it's highly combustible. It needs a transformer to run . . . 110 volts isn't enough."

Ruedinger adds texture to the pieces by applying the enamel-based paints first — "I like to throw lacquer over it. You get a chemical reaction."

Her work remains in a state of flux.

"For an artist you're always evolving. There's always changes even from the sketch, but the concept is there."

Goal setters: Psycho Cafe — Dan Monroe (from left), Bruce Kudanian, Adam Reed, Scott Spencer and Joe Race — are focused on two things: being the best local rock band and signing the best record deal.

Psycho Cafe: Menu for success

Psycho Cafe has but two career goals musically: to be the biggest local band and sign the best record deal. Big goals, but the band is accomplishing them with the help of producer Gary Spaniola.

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

Bands always establish career goals which usually dissolve faster than the band's unity.

Psycho Cafe is no different than other bands.

It is a five-member rock band which has established two distinct goals: to be the "biggest local band" and to "sign the best record deal."

What keeps Psycho Cafe on track and a step ahead of others is the fact that it has the backing that other bands can only dream about — Gary Spaniola.

The name may not sound familiar offhand, but Spaniola won the outstanding producer award at the second annual Motor City Music Awards, held at the State Theater in Detroit in April.

Spaniola has worked with other local and national acts, such as the Romantics, Ready for the World, Bitter Sweet Alley, and the "Beverly Hills Cop" soundtrack.

It was no easy task getting Spaniola on Cafe's side. Actually, it took persistence and patience.

"We had sent him three to four tapes over the last year and he hated us," said drummer Joe Race.

■ STREET BEATS

The tapes were primarily live cuts. It wasn't until the group provided a cassette recorded on four-track equipment that Spaniola heard the band's potential. Spaniola decided to produce the band's three-track self-titled release on Baltic Records.

The group is now working with Spaniola for a larger record deal.

Besides a solid contract, the members also feel they are accomplishing their first goal now that Detroit's Z-Rock, WDZR, has picked up one of their songs. Detroit's Z-Rock, a national radio station broadcasting from Dallas to 22 affiliates, has picked up the song "Black Cat" on local rotation.

Other local radio stations have played the group's material in the past, but the commercial success has caught the group off guard.

"We didn't know we were on the air," said guitarist Bruce Kudanian about mate Duffy Monroe. "We were driving in my car and I heard it . . . It was great they played one of our songs."

"It was just sort of cool to hear it on a normal format," Monroe added.

Normal format is not exactly what the members have in mind with their energetic and at times abstract rock.

"I don't think we sound like any other band in Detroit," Race said. "It's ear-catching, but I'd say it's moody."

The mix spawns from the member's backgrounds and their writing abilities, bassist Scott Spencer said.

■ 'We had sent him (producer Gary Spaniola) three to four tapes over the last year and he hated us.'

Joe Race
drummer

The band collaborates as a unit, each member presenting ideas and others either feeding off them or throwing them out, which has left bruised feelings behind.

"I don't think any one of us can write a total Psycho Cafe song," said Spencer. "You have to come to practice with an open mind."

"We can write for any band," Race said. "We can write for Jane's Addiction . . . or Whitesnake, but we have to keep focused."

Psycho Cafe will perform June 3 and 6 at the Ritz, 10½ Mile and Gratiot in Roseville (call 778-8150) and on June 10 at the Studio Lounge, 6921 N. Wayne Road, Westland (Call 729-2540).

Bam Boom puts art in reach of bands

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Climbing the ladder of the local music industry, Glynn Scanlan learned that presentation weighs just as much as talent with record company reps and fans.

So Scanlan, now the drummer and vocalist for the band the Junk Monkeys, started working on that theory early.

"The first tape I ever did in high school, I Xeroxed them (the tape cover) off," said the graduate of Livonia Franklin High School.

Realizing how hard it is for bands to have affordable artwork done, Scanlan hooked up with graphic artist Amy Griffiths a year ago to create the Dearborn-based Bam Boom Graphics and Productions.

"There was nobody doing it at the time," Scanlan said about his and Griffiths' decision to start the company. "I just said, 'I like to do this and with my brains and you know how to work with the computer . . . Let's do it.'"

Changing: Tommy Chong has found there's still laughter after parting with Cheech Marin, his partner in the '70s.

Chong: Comedy without Cheech

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

While Tommy Chong is no longer half of the successful comedy duo Cheech and Chong, he is still a very funny man.

And yes, drugs admittedly still play a key part in Chong's life — and humor. Counter to any governmental statistics or claims, Chong believes that drugs, particularly marijuana, are more popular now than they were when he and Cheech Marin made a name for themselves with their "Up in Smoke" brand of humor.

"In the '70s, it was just the musicians, the students and the Deadheads," Chong said in a recent interview, alluding to the legions of fanatical Grateful Dead fans. "Garcia and the boys are still the highest-grossing band in the world. Look at their audiences. They're not saying no, that's for sure."

Chong believes that the benefits of smoking marijuana outweigh the harm and that people now smoke it in the privacy of their own homes and offices to relieve stress.

"There is no reason that it shouldn't be legalized, except political correctness," Chong said. "Pot dealers' biggest customers are lawyers. They're hip. They work hard, and they like to relax. It can make a bad deal great."

Wearing that political incorrectness on his sleeve is the reason Chong cites for his success in comedy and film. It also led to the break with his former partner — now part of the cast of "Golden Palace," the old "Golden Girls" series as revived by CBS.

"Cheech and I fell out because he wanted to go the straight route," Chong said. "There's no animosity. It was just creative differences. He went a route that I would never go, and I went the route that he was tired of going. That was the end of that."

As a comedy duo, few could rival the success of Cheech and Chong during the '70s and early '80s. It all started when Chong, a native of Edmonton, Alberta, had an improvisational group in Vancouver, working out of his brother's nightclub. Marin saw the group perform. Chong knew Marin was an actor and asked if he would be interested in joining.

He did, starting the partnership that produced classic comedy albums featuring famous bits like "Santa Claus and His Old Lady" and "Basketball Jones" and hit films like "Up in Smoke," "Things Are Though All Over" and "Still Smokin'." Some of the duo's recordings have been recently been reissued on compact disc and remain strong sellers.

"We have to sue to get all the royalties," Chong said with a laugh, "but the albums still sell really well. Our stuff is timeless. The '70s have come right back but I don't see anyone pulling out any Flip Wilson records."

As a result of this '70s revival, Chong now is out on tour about half of every month, playing larger comedy clubs. Despite the lack of his old partner, there is no evidence that Chong has missed a comedic step.

"My act is the Tommy Chong attitude that people love to see," he said. "I may trot out some of the old characters now and then and do some bits. The act changes every night, but overall it keeps getting better and better."

Tommy Chong will appear Tuesday at Chaplin's West, 16890 Telegraph Road, Detroit. Call 533-8866 for reservations.

'Chocolate' serves up emotional feast

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

"Like Water for Chocolate," currently at the Maple, is a sensual Mexican feast set around the early part of this century where tradition stands in the way of true love. Not the newest idea granted, but its spicy and fantastical handling makes it unforgettable.

Tita (Lumi Cavazos) and Pedro (Marco Leonardi) fall madly in love at first sight. But because she is the youngest of three daughters, Tita may never marry. Instead, according to Mexican tradition, she must care for her widowed mother on the family's ranch until the elder woman dies.

Pedro, in what he thinks is a perfectly acceptable solution, marries Tita's sister Rosaura so he can remain near his true love. Mama Elena (Regina Torme), no angel herself when it comes to marital fidelity, warns the young lovers that she recognizes their plan.

The film compares with the 1987 Danish hit "Babette's Feast" because again we have a repressed woman whose strength is channeled through magical meals. During preparation of Rosaura's wedding cake, Tita's teardrops fall into the batter, causing guests who eat the cake to sink into a deep depression.

Later, as Tita's passion for her brother-in-law grows, her quail in rose petal sauce acts as an aphrodisiac and sends the diners to different parts of the ranch to satisfy their passions. Gertrudis, the middle sister, runs naked into the woods where a soldier gallops by and whisks her away on horseback.

Literary critics call it "magical realism" as it is found in Latin American movies, books and paintings. The spirit of Gabriel Garcia Marquez, author of "Love in the Time of Cholera" and "A Hundred Years of Solitude," haunts this bold blend of fantasy and reality.

Adapted by Laura Esquivel from her best-selling novel, this is also unabashedly a woman's movie. While Pedro and Tita's love remains central to the story, it's the relationships of the women that stand out.

Leonardi's Pedro, after all, is a stiff. Tita, who has sacrificed so much, who has all the passion, finally asks him in desperation, "Why didn't you just steal me away from the start?"

While Cavazos' Tita simmers quietly, Torme's Elena grows more tyrannical as her clutch over the family weakens. When Gertrudis runs away to become a prostitute and Rosaura and Pedro move off the ranch, Elena's mistreatment of Tita nearly drives the girl to madness.

Not all of the ingredients come together in "Like Water for Chocolate." The musical score, though at times lush, is also surprisingly pedestrian.

The narrative device — in which the story is recalled by Tita's great niece who still prepares the family recipes — is obvious and more than a bit trite. It might, however, explain those bizarre moments, since the story has apparently passed down through generations.

Though it doesn't go overboard with color (it uses a palette of deep textured browns), the movie is packed with metaphors and visual symbols. Esquivel and director Alfonso Arau set the movie on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande at a time when revolutionaries, along with Tita, make painful and often deadly breaks from tradition.

Some of their past music clients include the Junk Monkeys, Scanlan's former band Orange Roughies, Happy Accidents, Bent Lucy, Earth Circus, 3-D Invisibles, Strange Bedfellows and Tempermill and Soundcamp studios. The group's company expands beyond music, however. They've also worked with Cinderella's Attic, U.A.W., Sam's Jam, Gardner-White Furniture, Beverly Hills Racquet and Health Club and First Optometry Eye Care Centers.

Bam Boom offers a variety of services including photography, typsetting, business cards, fliers, promotional packages, CD and LP covers and posters.

"There's no end to what we can do," Scanlan said.

Scanlan admits he also hooked up with Griffiths, who has also played in bands, to secure his financial future.

"Playin' in bands is fabulous but I don't see any yachts in my future," he said with a laugh. The Junk Monkeys, signed to Metal Blade records in California, currently have scored a hit with the single "Bliss" from the album of the same name.

Through Scanlan's musical know how, he and Griffiths were able to get a lot of work through word of mouth.

"Being in the industry as long as I have, I know a lot of people," Scanlan said.

Griffiths and Scanlan have dabbled in art since they were youngsters. Scanlan accrued his art knowledge not by schooling but by "messin' around with fliers, posters, (and) art." Griffiths, who formerly worked at an advertising agency, took her first art classes in college.

With the vast knowledge that each has, Griffiths and Scanlan feel their business relationship compliments one another.

"We fill in all the gaps where the other's lacking," Griffiths said.

Art

Lines lead the eye upward to the lyrical neon of "The Seahorse." Painted fluid shapes echo the rhythm of the light.

"I like curves. With neon you can manipulate the light," Ruedinger said. "I don't decide on the neon until it's done. Sometimes the color changes, here or there. Sometimes I will paint it out so the light will stop."Mikki Ludwig of Ypsilanti has one of Ruedinger's artworks displayed in her bedroom.

"I think it's very creative," Ludwig said. "It's very abstract. I've always loved glass and neon's a neat lighting source. It's a mood changer."

Franklin coaching moves

Dan Kennedy has resigned as varsity boys basketball coach at Livonia Franklin High after just one season, according to school athletic director Dan Freeman.

The former University of Detroit captain, who could not be reached for comment on Friday, reportedly has signed a contract to play professional basketball in Germany. He joins another U-D basketball alumnus, ex-Redford Catholic Central High standout Greg Wendt, in the German pro ranks.

Dan Kennedy

Kennedy, 26, became the youngest head coach in Observerland last season after just one year as a junior varsity coach at Redford Bishop Borgess High.

The Patriots finished 9-13 overall in Kennedy's inaugural season.

"For me it's bittersweet," Freeman said. "I'm happy for Dan because it's a great opportunity for him, but it's a sad time for Franklin High School because we're losing a quality young man, somebody the players could relate to. They respected not only him, but the way he taught the game.

"It's going to be difficult to find someone of his caliber to replace him. The opportunity is a once-in-a-lifetime thing for the young man. It's an opportunity he should explore."

■ Freeman also announced last week that varsity boys soccer coach Frantz Lamarre's contract will not be renewed. Both the boys soccer and basketball jobs will be posted shortly (within the school district), according to the Franklin athletic director.

Lamarre went 40-31-10 in five years with the Patriots. His 1992 team finished 13-3-3 (best in school history) while gaining a co-championship with Farmington in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Freeman declined to comment on the specifics surrounding Lamarre's dismissal other than to say, "We have not be able to contact or locate him."

Attempts by the Observer to reach Lamarre were unsuccessful. His home phone number is no longer in service. Freeman said that Lamarre, a native of Haiti, is no longer employed by Peterson Spring Co. of Southfield where he worked the past 12 years as a draftsman.

Observerland champs repeat

■ Redford Catholic Central held off an inspired Plymouth Canton team to regain the Observerland Boys Track Relays title.

High-wire act: Carl Olszewski cleared 6 feet, 4 inches to lead all individuals in the high jump during Saturday's 23rd running of the Observerland Boys Track Relays, held at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

McKeon's Law, not Murphy's Law, ultimately won out Saturday during the 23rd running of the Observerland Boys Track Relays at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

Heavy favorite Redford Catholic Central overcame some bad luck and a determined effort by Plymouth Canton to win its second consecutive championship. It was CC's third Observerland title overall.

Led by senior Eric McKeon, the Shamrocks scored a team-high 83 points, but needed a victory in the meet's final event, the 1,600-meter relay, to earn the first-place trophy. Canton wound up second overall with 75 points, while neighbor Plymouth Salem gained third with 67. See statistical summary.

With Canton trailing by only two points, 73-71, heading into the final event, CC had to finish two spots ahead of the Chiefs to clinch the team title.

McKeon, CC's do-it-all performer, made sure by anchoring a first-place (3:30.3) 1,600 effort. Others on the foursome were Marc Eden, Brandon Dalziel and Chris O'Keefe. Canton, spurred the gutsy effort of Kevin Gudeth, closed the gap on the final leg, but wound up fourth (3:32.4).

"I was trying to save myself to start, pick it up on the backstretch and go for it on the straightaway," said McKeon, who also won the open 100-mete. dash (11.1) and was a member of the victorious distance medley squad. "I knew the meet was on the line, but I didn't get nervous. When I run, I just go. I try and block everything out."

Livonia Stevenson led the meet coming out of the field events with 26 points, while Canton was second with 24. CC and Westland John Glenn were third and fourth, respectively, with 21 and 20.

Things, however, started to go sour when Eden, CC's No. 1 hurdler and one of the best in the area, crashed and burned in the 110-meter highs. His fall resulted in zero points. He was, however, able to compete in his remaining events.

The Shamrocks also muffed a baton exchange in the 800-meter relay, not to mention that key distance performers Damon Harris and Joe Leo could not make the meet because of injuries.

"I had to start making switches in the middle of the meet," CC coach Tony Magni said. "It seemed like everything that could possibly go wrong did. If Eden had gone down, I don't think we could have won it. He came back good. He ran real well."

Canton showed consistency throughout afternoon and evening for its best showing since 1986. The Chiefs placed in every event with the exception of the open 100, pole vault and open 1,600.

"I think our sprinters came out and surprised a few people," Canton coach Bob Richardson said. "We took a second in the 800 relay and a fourth in the 400 relay with season bests in both.

"And we knew we'd be close with the distance kids or just behind CC."

Dave Yack, Shawn McNamara, Todd Smith and Jeff Keith (4:27.0 split) teamed up for a win in the 6,400 relay (18:36.1). The Chiefs also overhauled CC in the 3,200 relay as Justin McClain, Matt Demey, Keith and Gudeth (2:01.0 split) were clocked in 8:16.3.

"This was the best day of the year so far," Richardson said. "John Martin came through in the hurdles and sprints. He was in four events, and that's a heavy day.

"Our weightmen (shot put and discus) came through with a second and fourth. And our high-jumpers picked up a second where we had hoped for a fourth."

Plymouth Salem, meanwhile, came on strong to overtake Northville for third in the team standings.

"I'm very pleasantly surprised," Salem coach Geoff Baker said. "We had a tough week — Tuesday (dual meet loss to Canton), Thursday (loss to Farmington) and Saturday. They surprised me, but they worked hard."

Senior Don Johnson was Salem's workhorse.

He was a member of the Rocks' victorious 400, shuttle hurdle and long jump relay teams. Johnson also went 14.9 to finish third in the 110 highs.

Southfield-Lathrup's Maurice Wilson edged Farmington Harrison's Don Bryant to tie a meet record with a time of 14.7. (Wilson and Bryant now share the Observerland mark with Paul Bialowicz of Redford Bishop Borgess, Mike White of Plymouth Salem and Jason Belaire of Livonia Churchill.)

But the man who eventually tipped the scales in CC's favor was McKeon.

"He'll run anything," Magni said. "He would have run the four-mile (6,400-meter) relay. He doesn't question anything. He knew where we needed him.

"He'll always do something to win for the team."

Ladywood romps past non-league opponents

Livonia Ladywood won a pair of non-conference soccer matches last week in convincing style.

On Friday, the Blazers defeated visiting Livonia Franklin, 7-1, behind Amy Yeager's hat trick. Val Adzima added two goals, while Jamie Colliton and Maura Dugan found the net once. Kelli Kavanaugh recorded three assists.

Ladywood, which led at the half 2-0, improved to 6-2-1 over.

The Patriots, who slipped to 3-6, received their only goal from Lenay Truchan.

Ladywood also had a strong second half in Wednesday's 5-0 shutout at Redford Thurston. After leading 1-0 at the half, the Blazers scored four times to put the game away.

The Blazers broke up a scoreless game with one minute left in the first half when Adzima scored off a pass from Kelli Colliton. Melissa Krantz opened the scoring in the second half after being set up by Yeager.

The score was 3-0 after a Jamie Colliton goal. Susan O'Neill recorded an assist. Tracy Prybylski later scored with an assist going to Kelli Colliton.

■ SOCCER

Jamie Colliton closed out the scoring with an unassisted goal.

Liz Gunn recorded her third shutout in the nets for Ladywood.

■ CANTON 7, STEVENSON 1: In what might have been a preview of the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association championship game, Plymouth Canton left no doubt which team should be the favorite.

In a rematch of last year's WLAA final in girls soccer Wednesday, the Chiefs trounced visiting Livonia Stevenson 7-1.

"We really played tough," Canton coach Don Smith said. "We were really sticking the ball and hit good shots."

The Chiefs, who defeated Stevenson 1-0 to win the WLAA title last year, are 9-0-1 overall. The Spartans are 5-3.

Leah Hutko and Melissa Tomei (one assist) scored two goals each for No. 2-ranked Canton. Mandy Salin and Julie Majewski contributed a goal and an assist apiece.

Becky Cifaldi accounted for the remaining goal. Angie Page had two assists, Amy Westerhold and Alyson Noune one each.

Michele Brach scored the lone goal for the No. 10 Spartans, who were without injured goalkeeper Karen Groulx.

Canton can win the Western Division again if it wins or ties at No. 3 Northville tonight. Stevenson (5-3) is the frontrunner to win the Lakes Division.

The WLAA final will be played Wednesday, May 19, at the Western Division site.

■ ROCHESTER 2, CHURCHILL 1: Livonia Churchill fell to 6-2-2 overall after falling Friday to the host Falcons in the non-leaguer.

All the scoring occurred in the first half.

Freshman Marie Spaccarotella struck first for the Chargers on an assist from Andrea Zawislak.

On Wednesday, Churchill booted visiting Farmington Harrison in a WLAA-Western Division encounter, 11-1.

Spaccarotella scored four times for the winners. Erin Stacheraki added two goals and two assists, while Aimee Cousino contributed a goal and three assists.

Kerri Verardi, Andrea and Michelle Zawislak also tallied goals for the Chargers.

FRANKLIN 5, FARMINGTON 2: Lenay Truchan's hat trick paced Livonia Franklin's win Wednesday against the host Falcons.

The Patriots, who led 3-1 at the half, also got goals from Sue Getsolan and Erin Craig.

Final chapter

Crusaders fall short in NAIA bid, 2-1

Madonna University's women's softball team gave Northwood Institute all it could handle in Friday's NAIA District 23 playoff championship game before finally calling it a season.

Northwood scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning and held off a seventh-inning rally by Madonna to win the District 23 championship, 2-1, at Concordia College.

Madonna, which won two of its first three games in the double-elimination tournament, ended the season at 18-26 overall.

The Crusaders had just one error in the final loss, three in the last three tournament games.

"We've been playing over errors all year long," MU coach Dave Racer said. "We played very well in the tournament, and I'm very proud of them.

"Three errors in the last three games really made a difference, and we got great pitching from Dawn Terrasi. They're a running team, and we shut down their running game."

Terrasi, a junior, allowed seven hits, no walks and struck out one. Northwood scored its two runs with three straight hits (a single, double and single) with two outs in the fourth inning.

The Crusaders' only run came with two out in the seventh.

Michelle Birchmeier (Redford Thurston) began the rally with a walk. Lynda Weichel's single sent Birchmeier to third. Birchmeier came home after an error by Northwood's second baseman on a grounder by Hughana Wilkie.

Northwood ended the threat by striking out MU's leadoff hitter, Megan Armstong, with Weichel on second and Wilkie on first.

MU will lose two players, pitcher Kristen Wasil (Garden City) and Armstrong, to graduation.

"They were both team players," Racer said. "Megan's been with us three years and is a competitor. Kristen had a great attitude. It's going to be hard to replace that."

A tough start

The tournament started Thursday in a manner Racer had hoped to avoid. The Crusaders committed four errors, which led to six unearned runs, in an 8-4 loss to first-place Siena Heights.

Madonna scored a run in the second on Birchmeier's single, and got three in the fifth, two coming home on Kim Supron's single.

It wasn't enough to overcome the Saints. They pushed across four runs in the first off Terrasi, three of them unearned. They added three more in the third and another in the fifth. Robyn Humes got the win, throttling the Crusaders on just five hits.

Defense was Racer's biggest worry entering the tournament. In the second game, Madonna found it.

Racer takes credit for a large part of it. Birchmeier, a natural outfielder, had struggled at shortstop most of the season. It was her error that led to Siena Heights' four-run first inning in the first game.

Racer switched Birchmeier to center field for the second game and she excelled. Armstrong came in from the outfield to play short.

Madonna did not commit an error in the second game and had just one in the third game. The Crusaders eliminated second-seed Aquinas with a 7-1 victory, then knocked top-seed Siena Heights from the tourney with a 4-3 win in Thursday's last game.

They broke a 1-1 tie against Aquinas with a three-run fourth inning, two scoring on Birchmeier's double, then iced it with a three-run seventh, hammering 1992 district player of the year Jodi Borowicz for 10 hits en route. Jill Burt and Tracy Parenti each had two hits, Burt knocking in two runs and Parenti one.

Terrasi tossed a four-hitter, walking just one, to get the win.

In the win over Siena Heights, Wasil kept the Crusaders in the game with a solid pitching performance. She gave up just five hits and two walks to get the win. Shannon Bezau pitched for the Saints and took the loss. She subbed for Humes, an all-district pick who was injured playing first base in Siena Heights' second-game loss to Northwood.

Madonna trailed 2-0 going into the fifth. The Crusaders got two in that inning to tie it — Supron doubled and scored on Burt's double, and Parenti singled in Burt.

They got the game-winning runs in the seventh. Birchmeier walked to start the rally and scored the go-ahead run on Jennifer Pinter's triple. Pinter crossed the plate on Megan Armstrong's fly out.

Burt led Madonna with three hits.

Chargers lose pitching duel

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

When pitchers like Kelly Holmes and Karen Jose go head-to-head, you expect a low-scoring, suspenseful softball game like the one played Thursday at Livonia Churchill.

It was high school softball at its best as Holmes and her Plymouth Canton teammates eked out a 2-1 victory in nine innings over Jose and the Chargers.

The win gives the No. 2-ranked Chiefs (10-2) the early advantage in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association at 4-0. Churchill is 3-1 and 6-2.

The game was scoreless through eight innings as the pitchers dominated. Holmes (19) and Jose (12) combined for 31 strikeouts and issued two walks each.

Canton had five hits and the Chargers' three. The Chiefs made one error, Churchill three.

"I think both coaches knew we had the two best pitchers in the area, and both are going to keep them in the game," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "It's just a matter of which team is going to make a mistake first."

The Chiefs eventually got their break in the ninth inning, scoring both runs on an error.

Lisa Nicastri singled and Tina Schafer walked, and both advanced on a sacrifice by Holmes.

On a failed bunt attempt, Karrie Drinkhahn (running for Nicastri) was caught between third base and home plate. When the throw went to third, she headed for home. The third baseman threw over the catcher's head, allowing both runs to score.

Churchill got its run in the bottom of the ninth. Chrissy Daly reached base because of an error on her bunt and scored on a two-out, infield single by Stacey Fields.

"To get two (runs) off Holmes is tough," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "The kids were sort of down after going all that way and letting them score, but they came out in the last inning and still went after them."

The Chiefs had four hits in the first three innings, but Jose didn't allow another until the ninth. She went seven innings before walking a batter, too.

"Karen was up to the cause today," Hardwidge said. "I thought she was as strong at the end as she was at the beginning."

Churchill's only threat in regulation play came in the fourth when it had runners at second and third with one out. Holmes struck out the next two.

Jose collected two hits, Fields the other. Rowe, Kate Strahan, Dani Mortiere and Holmes also had Canton hits.

The teams play again May 19 at Canton and will more than likely meet in post-season tournament play, too. The Chiefs beat Churchill in a regional game last year, 7-1.

Hardwidge thought the same of her team's play Thursday, calling it "our best effort of the year. We haven't been real pleased in the last week, and today had to be nothing but a boost to our program.

"We are nothing but proud of these girls. We had a few scattered errors, but we came up with the big defensive play when we needed to."

Blazers snap Marlins once again in doubleheader

Livonia Ladywood swept a pair Friday from host Farmington Hills Mercy behind back-to-back one hitters by Mary Jo Kelly.

The senior right-hander struck out eight and walked none in the Blazers' opening-game 3-0 win; Kelly (10-6) struck out eight and walked four in Ladywood's 8-1 romp in the nightcap.

The victories kept Ladywood atop the Catholic League's Central Division with an 8-0 record. The Blazers are 10-6-1 overall. Mercy fell to 2-12 overall and 1-7 in the league.

Melissa Campeau went 2-4 with an RBI for the winners. Teammate Lisa Rozum added a hit and knocked in one, while Kelly ripped a triple and later scored.

The Marlins' Debbie Dziekan scattered five hits over seven innings while striking out three and walking three.

Ladywood broke open a scoreless second game in the fifth inning with an eight-run rally. The Blazers scored five of their runs with two outs.

Kelly and Campeau each had a hit and two RBI, while Jennifer Charnley and Christy Soter knocked in two runs apiece. Rozum scored twice in the fifth.

■ FRANKLIN 9, W.L. WESTERN 7: Despite committing five errors and almost blowing a five-run lead Thursday, the visiting Patriots held on for the win.

With the victory, Franklin evened its record in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association at 2-2 and are 9-9 overall. The Warriors are 1-3 in the division.

Michelle Averill tossed seven innings of eight-hit ball, while walking three and striking out two.

The Patriots ripped 11 hits. Becca Bloch, Jaclyn Deane and Tammy Schaeffer each went 2-3 with an RBI. Amanda Hosko added two RBI and scored twice.

■ SALEM 13, STEVENSON 3: Despite being outhit 8-7 Thursday, Plymouth Salem took advantage of 10 Livonia Stevenson errors to record the WLAA-Lakes Division home victory.

The Rocks (3-1 Lakes) took a 9-0 lead in the third and ended the game on a mercy rule by scoring four times in the bottom of the sixth.

Jenny Garvey struck out three and walked only one to earn the victory. Marie Wilson took the loss for the Spartans (1-10, 0-4).

Dawn Morrocco went 2-3 while Jenny Coleman added a hit for Salem.

Melissa Blank paced the Stevenson attack by going 3-3, with one steal, one run and one RBI. Rachel Allor and Michelle Greger each ripped two hits.

■ GLENN 5, FARMINGTON 3: Westland John Glenn held on for the WLAA-Lakes Division victory Thursday behind the four-hit pitching of Lynn Little.

Little (5-6) struck out 12 and walked eight and stopped a Farmington rally in the seventh inning.

The Rockets jumped to a 4-0 lead after three innings and scored again in the sixth after a Kelly Klene triple scored Norma Hogg from first. Jamie Cook added two hits for Glenn.

Suzanne Carlson took the loss, as she scattered five hits and walked only one. Sara Thomas had two hits for the Falcons.

Glenn improved to 7-6 overall and 2-2 in the division. Farmington slipped to 4-7 and 1-3.

■ C'VILLE 21, LUTHERAN WEST 3: Livonia Clarenceville used 25 walks Wednesday to run up the football-like score in Metro Conference action.

Detroit Lutheran West (1-6 overall) jumped out to a 3-0 lead in its portion of the first but the Trojans scored 10 times in the bottom of the inning. Clarenceville (2-5) scored nine more times in the third and twice in the fourth of the mercy-shortened game.

Jenny Adams went the distance for the victory. Adams walked two and struck out two. Wendy Roy and Melissa Ufford each scored four times for Clarenceville. The Trojans only needed three hits — two were by Roy.

■ HARPER WOODS 8, LUTH. WESTLAND 6: After falling behind 8-1 Friday, Lutheran High Westland's comeback hopes fell short in its Metro Conference game.

The Pioneers erupted for four runs in the first and added four more over the next two innings. The Warriors scored four of their own in the sixth to close the margin.

Shannon Wasil, a senior right-hander, started and was relieved in the third. Wasil struck out two, walked one and gave up two earned runs. The Warriors committed seven errors.

Erin Cicero, Amy Gentz and Brenda Cicero each had two hits for Westland. Amy Sieloff had a three-run double in the Warriors' sixth.

Senior Jenny Reitloff notched the win for the Pioneers (7-5 overall and 6-1 in the conference).

Zebras can't tame speedy Tigers

Wayne Memorial turned in several outstanding performances Thursday, but host Belleville had all the answers, gaining an 80½-56½ boys track victory over the Zebras.

Wayne is now 5-1 overall and 4-1 in the Wolverine A League.

The Zebras posted numerous personal bests on the day, like Ron McClellan's 10.85 clocking in the 100-meter dash, but he settled for second.

Wayne's Leland Heath threw a personal best 43 feet, 5¼ inches in the shot put, but Belleville's Al Barnett's toss went 55-7.

Churchill's Rutherford 'on'

Mark Rutherford's four-hit shutout was a work of art in Livonia Churchill 2-0 baseball victory Thursday at Plymouth Canton.

The senior right-hander, bound for Eastern Michigan University, ran his overall record to 4-0. He struck out three and walked only one as Churchill sits atop the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division with a 3-1 record.

Churchill is 7-2 overall, while Canton falls to 9-8 and 2-2.

Canton mounted its only threat in the sixth, loading the bases on a double by Adam Gilles, a walk and an infield error. But Rutherford got Ryan Fordham to fly out to end the inning.

"Mark was in control the whole game," Churchill coach Herb Osterland said. "He didn't throw many pitches. I wouldn't trade him for anyone."

Rutherford also helped his own cause with two hits and two runs scored. Jason Carter also drove in a run in the fourth inning.

Gilles had two of Canton's four hits.

Craig Benedict, the losing pitcher, scattered five hits in seven innings. He struck out six and walked one.

"It was a was a beautiful game, less than two hours," Osterland said. "It was a good high school baseball game. In key situations, both teams made the plays."

■ GLENN 11, FARMINGTON 0: Westland John Glenn (12-2, 4-0) continued its winning ways Thursday, invoking the 10-run mercy rule after six innings with a WLAA-Lakes Division victory over the host Falcons (6-11, 1-3).

Junior pitcher Bryan Besco upped his record to 5-0 on a five-hitter. He struck out seven and walked only one.

Aaron Scheffer had a big afternoon at the plate, going 4-for-5 with two RBI and two runs scored. Besco added three hits and an RBI, while Mike Bint went 2-for-3 with three RBI. Jarrod Hura contributed three RBI, including a two-run single. Jeromey Cosby also knocked in a run.

■ FRANKLIN 6, W.L. WESTERN 5: Reliever Dennis Madden, a junior right-hander, discarded the catching gear to pick up the victory Thursday in Livonia Franklin's (1-3, 5-10) WLAA-Western Division triumph over visiting Walled Lake Western (7-7, 2-2).

Starting pitcher Kevin Crumley worked the first five innings before giving way to Madden, who hurled two scoreless innings.

Josh Reynolds led a 13-hit Patriot attack, going 3-for-4 with a double and one RBI. Matt Fournier, John Worden and Richard Longsdorf collected two hits apiece for the winners.

Pinch-hitter Phil Biga also came through with an RBI single to break a 3-3 deadlock.

On Wednesay, Franklin beat visiting Dearborn Fordson in a non-leaguer at Ford Field, 2-0.

Winning pitcher Brian Crumley, a sophomore, scattered five hits. He walked one and fanned five.

Madden had an RBI triple in the first. He also singled and later scored in the sixth on Reynolds' sacrifice fly.

Franklin has now shut out all three Dearborn public schools.

■ SALEM 11, STEVENSON 2: Nirav Kher's complete game three-hitter carried Plymouth Salem (8-9, 2-2) to the WLAA-Lakes Division win Thursday at Livonia Stevenson (2-8, 1-3).

Brad Morgan, who worked 5⅓ innings for Stevenson, suffered the loss.

Eric Stryker led Salem's offensive attack, going 2-for-4 with three RBI. Bryan Zarosely added two hits and four stolen bases.

■ MONROE 9-3, WAYNE 8-7: The Trojans, Wolverine A League leaders, scored three times in the top of the sixth inning Friday to beat host Wayne Memorial in the opener, 9-8, gaining a split of the double-header.

Senior left-hander Tadd Kempainen was tagged with the loss.

Starting pitcher Jeremy Cox had two hits and three RBI in a losing cause. Bill Romej and and Jeremy Treppa added two hits apiece.

Kempainen (3-3) won the nightcap, tossing a six-hitter in a 7-3 Wayne victory. He struck out seven and walked only three.

Dave Hemry was Wayne's top hitter, going 4-for-4 with three RBI. Cox added three hits and scored a pair of runs, while Romej and Chris Moore each collected two hits.

■ CLARENCVILLE 4-4, LIGGETT 0-9: The Trojans split a Metro Conference doubleheader with visiting Grosse Pointe University-Liggett Friday, but only the first game counts in the league standings.

Mark Juncaj pitched a three-hitter and struck out 10 for Clarenceville (7-2 Metro, 8-7 overall) in the opener.

Liggett's Steve Best had a no-hitter for 5⅔ innings. He eventually gave up four hits. He struck out two and walked none.

All four Clarenceville runs were scored in the sixth inning and were unearned.

Ali Nehmeh broke up the no-hit bid with a single in the sixth, and Ryan McEwen had the key hit of the inning — a two-run single.

Robbie Ashton was the losing pitcher in the nightcap, allowing five runs on nine hits and three walks over four innings.

Nehmeh had two hits and one RBI, and Carl Holston doubled and scored a run for the Trojans. Liggett is 7-2-1 overall.

On Wednesday, Farmington won a non-league game at Clarenceville, 5-1.

Dave Schall went the distance on the mound for the Falcons, while Steve Parks also pitched a complete game for the Trojans. Both struck out four and walked one.

Juncaj and McEwen had two hits apiece for the Trojans (8-7).

REDFORD CC 10-12, U-D 0-0: Redford Catholic Central has won nine of its last 10 games after sweeping the University of Detroit-Jesuit Thursday at Capitol Park.

The Shamrocks, who are 17-7 overall, moved into first place in the Catholic League Central Division with a 7-3 record. Both wins over U-D Jesuit were called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

Junior left-hander Dave Susalla improved to 3-2 as a starter with a two-hitter in Game 1. Susalla struck out two and walked none.

John Raasch came off the bench to deliver a pair of singles and one RBI for the Shamrocks. Jeff Gutt had a double, walk and one RBI.

Andy Kummer picked up the win in Game 2, throwing four innings of one-hit ball. Kummer also struck out five and walked two before Aaron Babicz threw one inning without allowing a hit and striking out two.

Brian Hicks hit a grand slam homer in the fourth inning and also delivered a fielder's choice RBI in the first for the Shamrocks. Babicz had a two-run homer and Juan Sanchez drove in a run with a triple.

Madonna splits finale

The Madonna University baseball team finished its regular season with a shutout and by being shut out Friday.

Shaun Hayward scattered three hits in the Crusaders' 2-0 victory over Wayne State. Hayward (5-0) struck out four and walked two while going the distance.

Rich Roy knocked in the first Madonna run with a RBI single in the first. Bill Terski added an insurance run with a RBI single in the sixth.

Madonna only managed three hits in its next game, a 9-0 loss to St. Xavier. Jeff Kugelman (5-2) surrendered six runs on nine hits in his five inning stint. Kugelman was the first of three Madonna pitchers.

On Thursday, Madonna swept a pair from Adrian. Rich Roy (1-1) was the winning pitcher in the Crusaders' 10-1 romp in the first game.

Roy, who allowed four hits, got plenty of help with an 11-hit Madonna attack.

Jim Solak ripped his ninth home run of the year and scored three times. Scott Anderson and T.C. Raptis added two hits and two runs each while Hayward had two hits and two RBI. Joe Brusseau chipped in with a hit and knocked in two runs.

Roy's two-run homer in the second game lifted Madonna to a 6-3 victory. Brusseau went 2-3 backing the pitching of Tad Dennis, who scattered nine hits.

Madonna opens the NAIA District 23 playoffs at noon Thursday against Tri-State University at Aquinas College. The Crusaders are the top seed.
