Dee Walker of Westland enjoyed the schools' winter vacation break by taking sons, James, 8, and Steve, 9, to the Garden City Civic Arena for open skating. Classes in the Wayne-Westland and Livonia school districts resumed Monday.

Resident gets probation in sexual conduct case

A 53-year-old Westland man was sentenced Tuesday to five years probation after pleading guilty to 10 counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

John Shippy will also undergo psychiatric treatment, according to the terms of the sentence imposed by Detroit Recorder Judge David Kerwin.

He was also banned from moving back to a Westland townhouse complex where he had lived and worked and where the incidents took place. He was forced to move from the complex last fall as part of the bond guidelines set by 18th District Judge Gail McKnight.

The charges against Shippy stemmed from sexual assaults against two neighborhood children.

Second degree criminal sexual conduct prohibits persons from engaging in sexual contact with juveniles, among other circumstances.

Shippy, who pleaded innocent to the charges at his arraignment, changed his plea last month to guilty in a pretrial hearing before the judge. He had waived a preliminary examination in 18th District Court.

Shippy was arrested in November after one of the children, a 5-year-old girl, told her parents about the assaults, police said.

A second girl, now 10, was also a victim of sexual assaults on at least five occasions dating back to 1984, police said.

Shippy had contact with the victims while doing maintenance work in the townhouse complex, police said. Townhouse residents sometimes asked Shippy to look after their children while they ran errands, according to the mother of one of the victims.

2nd review planned of computer proposal

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Westland city council members will once again study a proposal for computerizing the police and fire departments, despite questions on how the city will pay for the $450,000 project.

A similar proposal was rejected by the council three years ago.

The proposed computer system was outlined to council members in a study session Monday night. It will take four-to-six weeks to work out contracts for final council approval.

Councilman Kent Herbert, who didn't attend the meeting but relayed his opinions through a memo to the council, appeared to be dead-set against the proposal.

"No way will I support spending anywhere near $500,000 for a public safety computer system," the memo said. "Anybody who proposes something like this has rocks in his head."

Other councilmen also had concerns.

"I believe the system is desirable, but my concern is funding and budgeting," said Charles Pickering.

Thomas Artley said he would consider the proposal "if I can see evidence of solid funding."

THE COMPUTER package was put together by a nine-member Public Safety Steering Committee. Serving on the committee were the city's police and fire chiefs, several top police and fire administrators, two city officials and two consultants from the accounting firm of Plante and Moran.

The proposed IBM system would include a $64,000 processor, 24 work station terminals, 14 personal computers and 19 printers. The proposal also calls for nearly $80,000 worth of support equipment (disk, tape drive and modems) and will require some $160,000 in software. Training and implementation assistance, at a cost of $41,000, is included in the package.

Maintenance costs, which are in addition to the overall package, are expected to be $27,000 annually.

The administration has proposed funding the project out of the city's capital improvements program. The program has $78,000 available to use as a down payment and the rest of the project cost would be financed

Griffin pledges restraint in guiding city finances

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Mayor Charles Griffin pledged Tuesday to continue the conservative fiscal policies that he said have paved the way for Westland's "return to respectability as a community."

Griffin cited lower millage rates, increased residential construction and growth in property values, and the city's booming retail district during his annual State of the City address before the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

The mayor also informally disclosed his intentions to run for a second term this fall.

"I must confess I'm looking forward to continuing the policies of this administration — on into the '90s," the mayor said near the conclusion of the 25-minute speech.

Although the mayor didn't list a top priority for the coming year — as he has in past State of the City speeches — he did mention at least one new project in the planning stages for 1989.

HE SAID the recreation department is looking at a pilot project for a Summer Youth Program. The program would be regionalized, with activities in four city parks — Corrao, Stottmeyer, Jaycee and Central City Park.

The administration is also reviewing the needs of the Westland Sports Arena, in an effort to make it more competitive, Griffin said.

Griffin also mentioned the William P. Holliday nature preserve in the speech, which was the subject of controversy for much of last year after the mayor revealed a plan to convert a portion of the park into a municipal golf course.

He called the park a "community asset" and said the parks and recreation department would, within budget limits, "assist those volunteers (from local environmental groups) in their efforts to maintain this preserve in a clean and safe condition for citizens to use."

Griffin used much of the speech to outline his administration's accomplishments in the three years since his November 1985 election. He said the major goals met by the adminis-

Community now classroom for adult educator

By Nechama Bakst
special writer

Chris Babler graded his last report card five years ago.

That was the year the man who had spent his life working with teenagers, as coach, teacher and associate high school principal, was promoted to director of Garden City's growing adult community education program, based at Cambridge Center.

When Michael Wilmot, promoted to school superintendent in 1983, asked Babler, then Garden City High School associate principal, to accept the position as director, Babler says he protested: "Mike, I don't know anything about adult education."

Wilmot nevertheless gave him the job, and he hasn't failed the superintendent, who, in a recent letter to Babler, praised him for the superior job he's been doing.

THE PROGRAM'S goal is to "provide an education and high school completion to people who didn't complete high school for one reason or another." It also provides personal enrichment classes.

"We have a recruitment program, and we try to serve the community" by reaching as many people as we can, he said.

Babler, a 58-year-old Westland resident, views his work as "the most exciting thing I've ever done."

And that is saying something, considering Babler's experiences with high school-age boys, including those he worked with during his years as director of education at Starr Commonwealth for Boys at Albion, Mich., a school for emotionally disturbed youngsters.

HE TELLS some hair-raising tales of those days:

One "nice-looking kid" he got out of jail, crying, promised him, "Don't worry, Mr. Babler, I'm never going to get into trouble again."

That night the boy was caught robbing a service station.

Another student, 6 feet, 4 inches tall and weighing 240 pounds, was in great demand for the football team.

"He comes to football practice three days and gets picked up for armed robbery," Babler recalled.

But in his job in adult education, Babler says he can be "creative and innovative and start new programs."

ONE EXAMPLE is the Marquette Center, which opened Sept. 10, primarily in response to a demand for career training.

He enjoys the interaction with people, although there are problems. It's a little bit better than with the teenagers though.

"At least here you don't have to suspend them."

Although Babler no longer works with youngsters, he's still strongly involved in the drive to teach people to read.

One student, who is currently in his second year in the adult ed program, was in Babler's high-school class 20 years ago.

The man, a painter at General Motors, graduated from high school reading at a fifth- or sixth-grade level, Babler said.

"HE'S BEEN very successful as a painter, but if he could read certain words above his reading level, he would be promoted."

Although he feels fortunate in his current job, Babler looks back with pride at his years as a teacher and associate principal.

"The nicest part about being in education is the fact that you did have some part in the way people turned out," he said.

"I was a tough bastard then," he admitted, laughing, but contends that in large part that's why he was successful.

BABLER says he was tough with his six children, too, five of whom have college degrees.

"I never let up on 'em." But he never had "one minute's trouble with them," either.

One reason for that might be that his children would come along with him when he was coaching.

Babler says he spent 20 years as a coach and was so involved in it, "you really thought I would never get out of it."

He had two "undefeated" basketball teams, he says. His 1969-1970 team won 24 times and then lost in the semifinals to Pontiac Central High School.

His 1976 team won 22 times.

Babler said he has no awards, just his three sons and three daughters who include a teacher, a bank branch manager, a personnel manager, a commercial salesman and an electrical engineer. He also has five grandchildren.

His wife, Janice, teaches kindergarten at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Westland, where Babler is chairman of the congregation.

over five years, said Mike Gorman, the city's finance director and a member of the steering committee.

"This will bring us truly into the 20th Century as far as law enforcement is concerned," Mayor Charles Griffin said, after the study session. Romulus and the City of Wayne already have almost identical systems on line, he said.

"YOU'RE TALKING about something that will create a lot safer environment for everybody out there," said Robert Perry, the city's fire marshal.

The system — which will serve as an adjunct to the Enhanced 9-1-1 emergency telephone system scheduled to go on line early next year — is designed to increase police and fire-fighting efficiency and improve patrol officer safety, said David Jeup, representing the accounting firm of Plante and Moran.

— Councilman Kent Herbert

Police dispatchers will be able to use computer terminals to alert officers to potentially hazardous situations. Information stored in the computer will include details from any previous calls to that address and whether there are certain types of firearms registered there.

Such information is currently stored in traditional files and isn't always readily available to dispatchers, said police Lt. Robbin Crosby, a steering committee member. "Now, when the records bureau closes at 5 p.m., there's no way to access that kind of information," he said.

Other capabilities will include the ability to alert a dispatcher to a potentially hazardous situation, Jeup said. A timer can be set to go off after a certain interval if an officer on a traffic stop hasn't radioed the station, he said.

The fire department will have immediate access to information on previous calls to the location, location layout, where fire hydrants are located and special medical needs of residents.

"Although portable computers for police vehicles aren't part of the proposed project, they could be added at a later time, Jeup said.

tration include the elimination of political in-fighting; a return of stability to the city and its government; and completion of the downtown business district.

"IMAGE AND stability — in my mind — are the components you must have to enhance, maintain and attract quality residential, commercial and industrial developers to a community," Griffin said.

The mayor cited a three-year growth rate of nearly 22 percent in the city's total state equalized valuation (property values). The figure increased from $660 million in 1986 to $760 million last year. He said projected figures for 1989 indicated a 9-percent increase, to $830 million.

At the same time, Griffin said the city's millage rate decreased from 17.99 mills in 1986 to 15.98 mills last year. He projected another decrease for 1989, to 15.12 mills. At the same time, the city's property tax base increased.

"The reduction in millage rates shows fiscal restraint on the part of the executive and legislative branches of government, and it shows what can be done in a cooperative governmental atmosphere," Griffin said.

He praised the work of Jim Carli, the Livonia superintendent, who died last month on his 48th birthday.

A GUNMAN escaped with between $261 and $361 after a holdup at the Amoco gas station, 8008 Middlebelt, Saturday night, police said.

An employee told police a man walked into the station at 8:16 p.m., greeted her and walked over to the cooler where he took a bottle of Pepsi. As she prepared to make change for the Pepsi, the man pulled a small, automatic handgun from his jacket and demanded she turn over the contents of the register and a nearby cash drawer, the employee said.

The employee told police she handed the gunman $200-$300 from the register and $61 from the cash drawer.

The gunman fled the station on foot and got into a brown or black, two-door car driven by another man, the employee said.

The employee described the gunman as a black male, about 6 feet 4 inches tall, 220 pounds, with short hair shaved on the sides. He was wearing a green army jacket, black T-shirt, blue jeans, tennis shoes and black leather gloves, the employee said.

The employee wasn't able to describe the accomplice driving the car.

Student wins BMX trophies

Victor Ineson, an eighth grader at Emerson Middle School and Westland resident, returned from Columbus, Ohio, during the holiday break with two trophies in BMX racing.

Victor, who has earned several trophies including a first place at the Michigan State Fair, last year placed third in Michigan in total points in the 13 novice class.

As a result, he was invited to Columbus to compete in the President's Cup Race on Dec. 27 and the War of the Stars Christmas Classic race on Dec. 29. He placed second in both races.

Victor, who is in his first year of BMX racing, usually races and practices at Waterford Oaks.

IRS adds programs at its Livonia office to assist taxpayers

The Internal Revenue Service has expanded its taxpayer assistance programs at its Livonia office and throughout the state.

The IRS's toll-free telephone assistance for federal income tax questions will be available from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays and from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays, said IRS district director John Hummel.

Beginning Jan. 21 telephone assistance will be available from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each Saturday and 1-5 p.m. each Sunday.

The toll-free number is 1-800-424-1040.

The IRS office at 37405 Ann Arbor Road at Newburgh, Livonia, will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Jan. 21, Feb. 18, March 18, and April 15.

On April 17 only the Livonia office will remain open until the last taxpayer has been assisted.

Tax information also is available through a pre-recorded system called TELETAX, said Hummel, which provides information on more than 150 topics 24-hours daily by calling 1-800-554-4477.

A special phone number, 1-800-424-3676, provided for ordering IRS forms and publications is available from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Rec league serves up volleyball

Captain Kurt Horton of Horton Tree Co. keeps his eye on the ball.

AN ESTIMATED 160 men and women compete in court every Monday — but it has nothing to do with criminal or civil law disputes.

They are part of the Garden City parks and recreation department's coed volleyball league, open to non-residents, which has its games in the Burger Center gym, part of a former junior high school on Beechwood and Dillon.

Westland's recreation department used to have a coed league but now only as a women's league which plays 7-10 Thursday nights at Bailey Recreation Center.

A department spokeswoman said a walleyball league — in which players compete with a volleyball on a racquetball court — may start soon.

is Bill Deyonker, 29, whose girl friend, Diane Aldea, is a teammate.

They play for Horton's Tree Co. of Garden City.

CHATTING about the team and the league during a game, Deyonker commented — "that volleyball is a good thing to do together and is very exciting" as a sport.

In the league are 14 teams with eight players each.

The Horton team has made substantial progress since last season, Deyonker said, climbing from near the bottom to fifth place.

One reason is that the team has been together for the past five years.

Recreation supervisor Tim Whitson said that the coed volleyball sport began about six years and has grown in popularity.

"We started with four teams and now have 14," he said. "We can take only two more teams because of gym space."

There have been no discipline problems with numerous boy friend-girl friend combinations and married couples playing on teams.

For those who like to watch the action, the league opens at 6:30 p.m. Mondays with each match being about 45 minutes.

Putting art on ice good move for Plymouth show

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The decision of Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular organizers to consolidate displays downtown and to hold some carvings in anticipation of bad weather paid big dividends when soaring temperatures and thunderstorms pounded the show last Saturday.

Statues stored at Midwest Ice Corp. in Detroit — just in case — were placed on stands along Main, Pennington, Ann Arbor Trail and Forest earlier this week to replace those that had melted.

"As it turns out, it was a good move," said Scott Lorenz, co-chairman of the event, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel and normally one not prone to understatement.

The seventh annual ice spectacular officially runs through Sunday if the weather cooperates.

In addition to fresh sculptures along city sidewalks, students from Monroe Community College and the Plymouth-Canton schools were to produce major displays in Kellogg Park this week.

PARTS OF existing displays in the park were saved by covering them with tarpaulins during the height of Saturday's storm, Lorenz said.

"We'll have people go through, touch up a few things, rebuild a few things," he added.

Thousands of spectators are expected to pour into town this week-end for the extravaganza. And they should have plenty to see.

Nearly a dozen three-man teams are expected to compete in the five-block carving competition beginning at about 7 p.m. Friday in Kellogg Park, Lorenz said.

More than 60 professional chefs have entered the individual carving competition at 9 a.m. Saturday at

The Gathering across from Kellogg Park.

"I'm expecting some very, very good pieces of art, no doubt," Lorenz said.

There's no charge for spectators.

BE AWARE that traffic will be detoured around Kellogg Park Saturday and Sunday and that the Main-Ann Arbor Trail and Main-Penniman intersections will be barricaded both days.

Lorenz said he was stunned at the number of people wandering downtown Saturday during the storm.

"There were 3,000 people walking around... with thunder and lightning. I couldn't believe it, either," he said.

"It was a wild weekend," Lorenz said. "Lightning and thunder on Saturday. Minus 20 wind chill on Sunday. People will go to all ends to see fine art, I guess."

ALS of Michigan going to bat for patients, families

By Jackie Klein
staff writer

The "Iron Horse" of baseball fell to amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a disease that struck with such force that it dragged down even Lou Gehrig.

Since his death at the age of 37, many have fought the battle of ALS, commonly known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

"Every family is its own story of courage," says Dean La Douceur, executive director of the ALS of Michigan administrative office in Southfield. "The patient lives with the progressive paralysis. But all family members are affected."

Their loving support makes the difference in the person's ability to move, speak, eat and even breathe. We call this "making the most of every moment."

ALS OF MICHIGAN provides support groups and individual counseling for patients and caregivers. It also supplies medical equipment and money for research at the Harry J. Hoenselaar ALS Clinic in Henry Ford Hospital.

"We're tracking about 200 patients, and we expect to lose one-third this year," La Douceur says. "We don't notice an appreciable increase in the numbers of people afflicted with the neuromuscular disease. But the ability to diagnose the disease has improved."

ALS is about four times more common than muscular dystrophy and about equal in prevalence to multiple sclerosis. The cause and cure of the disease are unknown.

More men than women contract ALS, usually age 55-60. About 5-10 percent of patients have a hereditary form of the disease. The average lifespan is three to five years, but some live much longer.

La Douceur stresses the important role of the family and ALS of Michigan.

"Spouses in the same situation support one another. They need information on the patient's progress and care, and they have a thirst for knowledge about research. Family members want to understand legal issues involved in the terminal stages of a patient's life. We provide this."

NORY SMITH, support group facilitator and volunteer coordinator, said the organization hopes to start a home-care program. ALS of Michigan has three different support groups available for patients and families, one in Southfield.

"Sometimes caregivers are overwhelmed with their heavy and devastating responsibilities," she said. "People who are adjusting to the death of an ALS patient also are dealing with a massive change. They need to talk to someone in order to sort out their feelings. They made need individual counseling."

Most of the ALS patients La Douceur and Smith are involved with maintain a positive attitude. The disease is a magnifying glass of the victims' personalities, Smith and La Douceur agree.

"ALS is frustrating because we don't know where it comes from. Researchers are attacking the genetic form, hoping to identify patterns in non-inherited ALS."

The organization raises money through annual golf outings and award banquets. Other funds are donated by corporations and individuals.

Winter Wonderland pageant set

Contestants are being sought for the Miss Winter Wonderland Pageant to be held 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21.

The pageant is open to single women 16-23 years old.

As Miss Winter Wonderland, the winner will have the opportunity to model in fashion shows, obtain photos for her portfolio, appear in Wonderland Mall advertisements and represent Wonderland at special events within the mall and community.

THE 1989 winner also will receive a $100 Wonderland Mall gift certificate, a color TV, crown, trophy, banner, flowers, and eligibility to enter the State Fair Queen of Queens Pageant.

The 1988 Miss Winter Wonderland captured the Queen of Queens title and received several additional prizes.

Second through fifth places will be awarded trophies, gift certificates, and flowers.

Private auditions will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19. Check in at the information booth upon arrival for directions to the audition room. Contestants will be judged on their talent routine and private interview.

Bring a cassette tape with you to record your performance.

Ten semifinalists will be selected to compete on stage in the mall on Jan. 21. All previous points will be discarded and the semifinalists will have an equal opportunity to capture the title.

ON FINAL competition night, the points of the following three categories will be added to determine the winner: talent (30 possible points); modeling (50 possible points); interview (20 possible points).

Each contestant will be required to perform a talent routine of up to two minutes long with points deducted for overtime. If a cassette tape is needed, it must be rewound and turned in upon arrival at the mall on the day of the pageant. Print your name on the cassette.

Each contestant must model an evening gown of their choice.

Each contestant also will be interviewed on stage in their evening gown. Questions will be based on information submitted on the application.

All applications are due to Wonderland by Tuesday, Jan. 17.

The mall is located at Plymouth Road at Middlebelt in Livonia.

Local legislators share in PACs generosity

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Western Wayne's incumbent state legislators were PAC men and women when it came to financing their November re-election campaigns, with teachers, doctors and the National Rifle Association among the most frequent contributors.

More than 75 political action committees contributed to western Wayne candidates, with the average contribution $350, but challengers rarely shared in PAC generosity.

Only Jeanne Stempien, a challenger for the Plymouth-area 37th District seat, received contributions from more than one PAC, according to available state election reports.

ALL INCUMBENTS — Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia; Justine Barnes, D-Westland; John Bennett, D-Redford Township; William Keith, D-Garden City; James Kosteva, D-Canton Township and Gerald Law, R-Plymouth — retained their seats.

Each received multiple PAC contributions. Among the more generous contributors:

- The Michigan Education Association. The state's largest teacher's union contributed $1,500 to Barnes, $1,000 to Bennett, $1,000 to Keith and $750 to Kosteva through its MEA-PAC. The MEA Public Affairs Council contributed $1,000 to Law.

- Hospitals and doctors. The Hospital Association PAC contributed $500 to Law, $250 to Keith and $200 to Barnes. The Michigan Doctor's PAC contributed $500 to Law and $600 to Kosteva.

- The National Rifle Association. The NRA Political Victory Fund-

Michigan gave matching $250 contributions to Barnes, Bennett, Keith and Law and a $200 contribution to Kosteva.

Education-related contributions weren't limited to the MEA. Among other PACs, the Michigan Organization of Private Vocational Schools gave $300 to Bankes and $500 to Keith. Both are members of the state House Education Committee.

Health industry contributions weren't limited to MD's and hospitals, either. The Michigan Optometric PAC gave matching $400 contributions to Barnes and Law. The Michigan Ophthalmology PAC gave $200 each to the same candidates. Barnes and Law also received $200 each from the Pharmacy PAC. Both are members of the Public Health Committee.

Most PACs played no party favorites. Not surprisingly, however, union PACs opened their wallets only for Democrats.

The UAW of Wayne County PAC contributed $2,000 to Barnes, $1,000 each to Keith and Kosteva, $1,800 to Stempien and $800 to Matthew Abel who unsuccessfully challenged Bankes.

Barnes also received $200 from the Michigan AFL-CIO. Stempien received contributions from the United Steelworkers of America and Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502.

UTILITIES AND lending institutions were bi-partisan in their giving.

Consumers Power employees contributed $1,000 and $500 respectively to Democrats Kosteva and Keith and $750 to Republican Law.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas

PAC gave $300 to Bennett.

The Michigan Bell PAC gave $200 each to Keith and Law. The AT&T PAC contributed $250 to Kosteva. Kosteva also received $150 from the Telephone Association of Michigan.

Among lending institutions, the Michigan Credit Union gave $3,000 to Keith, and $100 each to Barnes and Bennett.

Bank PACs were equally generous: Bennett, chairman of the Corporations and Finance Committee, received $500 from the Michigan Bank PAC and $300 from the Manufacturers National Bank PAC $300.

The Manufacturers PAC also gave $100 to Law. Keith received $500 from the Comerica Bank PAC; Kosteva received $200 from the same source.

The automotive industry also made its political presence felt, as did the state's insurance industry.

Bennett received $1,000 from the Detroit Auto Dealers, $1,000, Law and Kosteva received $400 each from the Chrysler PAC. Law also received $250, and Kosteva $200, from the Ford Motor Co. Civic Action Fund, while Keith received $100 from the General Motors Civic Improvement Program.

Among insurance PACs, Life Underwriters contributed $200 each to Barnes and Keith and Michigan Insurance Agents contributed $250 to Law.

Other politicians also shared from their own campaign funds.

The John Dingell for Congress committee opened its coffers to Barnes, Keith and Kosteva. Each received $250 from the powerful Trenton Democrat.

Stempien received $100 from the Committee to Elect (U.S. Rep.) William Ford and $100 from McNamara's Band, a group formed on behalf of Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce PAC contributed $300 to Kosteva and $200 each to Keith and Law.

Other PACs that gave to more than one area candidate included:

- The Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers PAC, $500 each to Keith and Law.

- BPAC, representing Michigan home builders, $1,000 to Bennett, $600 to Law, $300 Bankes.

- Michigan Trial Lawyers PAC, $1,025 to Stempien, a Livonia-based attorney, $400 each to Barnes, Keith and Kosteva.

- RPAC, representing state realtors, $1,000 to Bennett, $500 to Keith.

- The Political Responsibility Committee of Michigan CPA's, $300 each to Kosteva and Law.

Spending varied widely in House races

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

All of the area's incumbent state House members won re-election, but for some the cost of victory was higher than for others.

Election spending for incumbents was as high as $36,000 and as low as $8,000 in area races. All outspent their foes. (For a look at campaign financing, see related story.)

John Bennett, D-Redford Township, spent the most according to election files. Bennett's campaign spent $36,230, easily outspending Republican and Libertarian Party challengers in the 34th District race.

Brady Walker, a tool maker with a Livonia firm, spent $4,800 in his unsuccessful GOP bid. While Bennett received money from 10 political action committees, as well as from private individuals, Walker's fund raising appeared limited to professional contacts and friends.

Election spending for incumbents was as high as $36,000 and as low as $8,000 in area races.

Libertarian challenger John J. Tatar said he wasn't filing a campaign spending report because he spent no money on his campaign. The district includes Redford and a section of eastern Livonia.

SPENDING LEVELS were closer in other races.

Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, spent

$8,449 and Livonia attorney Matthew Abel $7,100 in the 35th District race. The district covers most of Livonia.

Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, spent $10,827 and Schoolcraft College trustee Jeanne Stempien $9,858 in the 36th District race. The district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and a section of eastern Canton Township.

Rep. William Keith, D-Garden

City, spent $7,101 in the 33rd District race. GOP challenger Harold Richardson spent less than $1,000, according to campaign reports. The district includes Garden City and Inkster.

THERE WERE partial reports in the 37th and 38th District races. Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, spent $7,900 on his 37th District re-election bid. State elections officials said they hadn't yet received a report from Republican challenger David Dossette. The district includes western Canton Township, Belleville, Romulus, Wayne and Van Buren Township.

Rep. Justine Barnes, D-Westland, spent $26,998 in the 38th District. Figures weren't available for Republican challenger Kenneth Raupp.

Midwest (achoo!) no more resistant to colds — doctor

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

The Wayne County medical director disputes findings of a recent study by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta that shows midwesterners have colds and the flu less often than people in other parts of the country.

"I was once told, figures lie and liars figure," quipped Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk of the study results. Lawrenchuk, a Livonian who has been medical director of Wayne County for six years, said the study reflects little more than how well statistics on colds and the flu are maintained in various parts of the country.

"At best, the results are guess-timates. We need a lot more research before jumping to any conclusions," Lawrenchuk said.

The study, based on figures supplied by state health departments to the National Center for Health Statistics (within the Centers for Disease Control), showed midwesterners have fewer colds and incidents of flu, and are less likely to experience loss of work due to either illness. Midwesterners are also more likely to seek medical attention when sick with a cold or the flu.

'We need a lot more research before jumping to any conclusions.'

— Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk
Wayne County health director

THE PROBLEM with the study arises in the reporting process, according to Lawrenchuk.

In Wayne County, for example, over 100 infectious diseases must be reported to the medical director, including acute, life-threatening infections like rabies or botulism, as well as less serious infections such as head lice or chicken pox.

Colds and the flu, however, are not reported unless incidents "occur in significant or unusual numbers" within a certain period of time. "Significant or unusual numbers of anything, even a rash, (within a certain period of time) are required to be reported," Lawrenchuk said.

Lawrenchuk and the other 47 county medical directors in Michigan report their findings to the state Department of Public Health and the figures are, in turn, passed along to the Center for Health Statistics.

Based on reported figures in 1987, midwesterners had 21 colds per 100 people. Northeasterners reported 27 colds, southerners 24 colds and westerners 33 colds per 100 people, the study said.

Westerners lost more than twice as many days from work due to colds, 33 days per 100 employees in the West, compared to 15 days per 100 workers in the Midwest. In addition, 40 percent of midwesterners had their colds attended to by doctors, compared to 31 percent of westerners.

LAWRECHUK IS NOT alone in questioning the report.

State tax expenditures higher than tax bills

By Tim Richard
staff writer

On paper, it looks as if Michigan state and local governments collect $15 billion in taxes.

But when all the exemptions are figured in, only 40 percent of that is paid to state and local treasurers. People, businesses and non-profit groups get $9.2 billion back in so-called "tax expenditures."

"This tax report is not advocating either the elimination or the expansion of tax expenditures," said state treasurer Robert Bowman. "The report simply details the magnitude of the tax-reducing features we have built into our system."

'This tax report is not advocating either the elimination or the expansion of tax expenditures.' — Robert Bowman state treasurer

"The information is important to policymakers who must monitor and review the structure of our tax program."

THE REPORT has the lofty title of Tax Expenditure Appendix to the 1987-88 fiscal year Executive Budget. Running 70 pages, it was published by Bowman and budget director Shelby Solomon.

In 1987-88, state laws granted $9.2 billion in tax expenditures, up from $8.9 billion in the previous fiscal year.

Another way of looking at it: Tax expenditures are actually larger than the $6 billion state general fund budget.

To some, tax expenditures are "loopholes." But the Legislature doesn't see it that way.

Don Drake, who heads tax analysis in the governor's budget office, said tax expenditures can be defined as: "a preference granted to a group within the tax structure," often to encourage the group to do something it might not otherwise do.

MOST PEOPLE benefit from some tax expenditure, even if it's a simple matter of going to the dry cleaner or barber. Services aren't subject to the Michigan sales tax.

Michigan voters exempted groceries and prescription drugs from the sales tax through a constitutional amendment. In dollar terms, here are the state's and local units' major tax expenditures:

- $2.6 billion for local property taxes — abatements for new industries, exemptions for public buildings such as schools and courthouses, churches and some charitable institutions; business exemptions for air and water pollution control equipment.

- $2.8 billion for individual income taxes — best known is the personal exemption. A major component is the homestead property tax exemptions ("circuit breaker" granted to those whose property taxes exceed 3.5 percent of household income. Also exempt are employer contributions to health and life insurance; contributions to pension plans and Social Security taxes; and contributions to colleges and community foundations.

- $2 billion for sales and use taxes — besides groceries, prescription drugs and services, this exemption also applies to labor on auto repairs, medical and accounting services.

- $1 billion for the single business tax — capital acquisition deduction, credits for low-profit firms and college contributions.

- $500 million for the intangibles tax — deposits in banks and thrift institutions; interest on Michigan municipal and U.S. treasury bonds.

S'craft to offer nursing classes

Three courses for nurses will be offered this winter at Schoolcraft College.

A registered nurse refresher course, NAPENS theory and medication and lab experience and math review will be offered.

The registered nurse refresher course explores individualized patient care, current diagnostic studies and current patient management skills. Students will review nursing skills and become familiar with new skills and equipment. The class begins Tuesday, Jan. 17.

NAPENS theory covers the study of medication and its relationship to the body. Emphasis will be placed upon special nursing care measures related to specific medication.

It provides hands-on experience in working with needles and syringes and distributing medication. The class meets 9 a.m. to 12:20 p.m., Wednesdays for 12 weeks, beginning Feb. 8. The course fee is $130.

Math review for nurses provides students with necessary skills to make mathematical medical conversions from pounds to kilograms and grains to grams. Students will also learn how to calculate the flow-rate of intravenous solutions. The class meets 8-9 p.m. Mondays for eight weeks beginning Feb. 20. The course fee is $18.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile, Livonia. Additional information is available by calling 462-4448.

Dems reject GOP's 'reform' rules

Here's how House members were recorded on major roll call votes in the opening week of the 101st Congress. There were no Senate roll calls.

REFORM RULES — By a vote of 231 for and 162 against, the House endorsed the Democratic majority's proposed rules for its operation in the 101st Congress.

The vote cleared the way for routine adoption of the Democratic rules, which are essentially unchanged from those used in the 100th Congress. It rebuffed a reform package authored by House Republicans.

At issue were GOP complaints that Democrats in recent Congresses have used their control over committee and floor operations to all but eliminate Republican opposition. Republicans say increasingly restrictive rules also lessen accountability to constituents and make it more difficult for public opinion to influence Congress.

The GOP rules sought to:

- Require roll call votes on final passage of all appropriations and taxation bills and members' pay raises.

Roll Call Report

- Substitute a five-day work week for the present three-day week.
- Outlaw proxy voting in committees.

Require committees to be more open in conducting meetings and divulging voting records.

Republicans also attacked the increasing use of "closed" rules that limit or prohibit floor amendments, the Democratic majority's growing reliance on budget-aet-waivers to skirt statutory deficit limits and the practice of adding unauthorized money and programs to appropriations bills.

Also, the GOP rules required the House to include itself in civil rights, fair labor practices and other social legislation it has passed for the rest of the country and directed the Rules Committee to recommend ways of streamlining the House's committee bureaucracy.

Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., said the GOP rules would "blow the doors off the chamber and let in the clean, fresh air of open and free debate."

Democrats did not comment on the Republican proposal.

Members voting yes supported House rules put forth by the Democratic majority. Voting yes: Democrats — Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods, William Ford of Taylor and Sander Levin of Southfield.

Voting no: Republicans Carl Pursell of Plymouth and William Broomfield of Lake Orion.

CLOSED RULES — By a vote of 163 for and 239 against, the House rebuffed a Republican attack on the Democratic majority's increasing use of closed debating rules.

Closed rules set by the Rules Committee ban floor amendments or limit the number of amendments that can be offered to a particular bill during floor debate.

Republicans say their use has nearly quadrupled in the past decade, frustrating the GOP minority's efforts to present alternatives to Democratic legislation.

This vote killed a GOP attempt to require four days' notice of any Rules Committee meeting that could send bills to the floor under restrictive rules.

"This House is becoming unrepresentative and undemocratic," said Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y.

Democrats did not comment on the proposal.

Members voting yes favored four days' notice of Rules Committee meetings that could produce closed rules for floor debate.

Voting yes: Republicans Pursell and Broomfield.

Voting no: Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

$2.3 million in drug dealer assets seized last year

Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies seized a small mountain of illegal drugs in 1988 while arresting 500 alleged drug traffickers, Sheriff Robert Ficano announced this week.

Under new drug forfeiture laws, the department's narcotics unit confiscated more than $2.3 million in drug dealer assets, Ficano said, almost double that seized in 1987.

A commercial building and one residential building were among the items seized, according to department records. Eleven automobiles were also seized.

Records also show roughly 40 pounds of cocaine, 6.5 ounces of heroin, more than 64 pounds of marijuana and 3,482 illegal pills and capsules were also confiscated.

Statistics show the unit is making a dent in county drug trafficking, Ficano said.

"Our efforts, our time will make a difference," he said. "We must give greater attention to reducing the need for drugs, if there is no demand, there will be no supply."

The narcotics unit is financed through sale of the confiscated property.

Deadline for the Upcoming calendar is one week ahead of publication. Items must be received by Thursday to be considered for publication the following Thursday. Send to: Ethel Simmons, Entertainment Editor, the Observer & Eccentric, 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia 48150.

● ICE CARVINGS

A regional three-man, five-block competition is a major attraction added to the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. The competition will start at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 13. Three-man teams will carve works of art out of five large blocks of ice with a time limit. The winner will represent the region in national competition in Chicago for the National Restaurant show. For more information, call 453-1620.

● BAND REPORTING

The Kinsey Report, featuring Big Daddy Kinsey, will bring its brave new blues sound to Sully's in Dearborn on Thursday, Jan. 12. The band's contemporary sound draws from the diverse musical backgrounds of its members, mixing roots and electric blues with modern funk and reggae rhythms. Showtimes are 10 p.m. and midnight. Cover is $6. For more information, call 846-5377.

● PLAY ARRIVING

"In the Traffic of a Targeted City," a play by Marc Kaminsky, will be presented at the 1515 Broadway Theater at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 5. Combining music, poetry and drama, this play is designed to bring audiences closer to the reality of these nuclear times by interweaving the lives of four characters: two living in New York today and two living in Hiroshima in 1945. Ticket price is $15. Proceeds go to benefit the Detroit area SANE/FREEZE. For more information, and to order tickets, call Mary Diskin at 548-3920.

● JAZZ CONCERT

The Graystone International Jazz Museum presents a series of "Jazz in the Afternoon" concerts the third Sunday each month in the rathskeller at the University of Detroit. Admission is $3 for Graystone Jazz Museum members and $5 for non-members. For more information, call the Graystone at 871-0234.

● FIRST IMPRESSION

The Majestic Theater presents First Impression, a jazz ensemble featuring Ralph Wimpfrey, keyboardist, and Terry Forsythe, vocalist. The group will perform at the Majestic Theater 5:30-11 p.m. Wednesdays, Jan. 18 and 25. Admission is $4. For more information, call 833-9700.

● 'SOUTH PACIFIC'

Tickets are on sale for Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific," starring Robert Goulet, at the Fox Theatre, Friday, Feb. 3, through Sunday, Feb. 12. To charge tickets by phone, call 423-6666.

● FILM THEATER

Louis Malle's "Murmur of the Heart" has been described by Malle as "my imaginary biography." The film will be shown Friday-Sunday, Jan. 13-15. Friday-Saturday performances are at 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday screenings are at 1, 4 and 7 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium. For more information, call 832-2730.

● TGIF

TGIF (three great innovative Fridays) series will celebrate Chinese New Year at the Detroit Institute of Arts from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27. The celebration will feature Chinese entertainment, Oriental hors d'oeuvres and the DIA's collection of Asian Art. Tickets at $10 each are available at the DIA Ticket Office on Tuesdays-Sundays from 9:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $15. For more information, call 832-2730.

● DANCE NIGHTS

Whether your preference is the fox trot, waltz or swing, you can dance to the big band sounds of the 1940s and '50s provided by various well-known dance bands at the Waterford Oaks Activity Center. The new season will cha-cha its way into 1989 on the third Saturdays of January, February and March. All dances are held 8-11 p.m. A donation of $2 per person includes an evening of dancing plus free coffee, tea and cookies. For more information call 858-0913.

● MUSICAL CLASSIC

The Village Players of Birmingham presents "Anything Goes," a Cole Porter musical classic, which is set aboard a trans-Atlantic liner, awash in shipboard romances and thickened by the presence of a gangster. Showtimes are Fridays-Sundays, Jan. 20-22 and 27-29, and Friday-Saturday, Feb. 3-4. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Sundays are matinees only, at 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the door, but reservations are recommended. Adult tickets are $8, student tickets $6. Reservations may be made by calling 644-2075.

Susan Flynn wasn't raised in Birmingham, but her parents live here now. She is staying with them while starring at the Birmingham Theatre in "Stepping Out," a comedy with tap dancing that runs through Sunday, Feb. 5.

Star steps out in Birmingham

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

STAYING WITH her family while her show is in town is one of the pluses enjoyed by Susan Flynn, who stars in "Stepping Out" at the Birmingham Theatre.

The New York actress won critical praise for recent appearances in Off-Broadway revivals of "Company" and "Dames at Sea." She was in fine spirits when she was interviewed one day last week at her parents' home in Birmingham.

An energetic blonde, Flynn was casually dressed in a red and white sweater, red pants and Reeboks. Dad, George Schubering, wasn't around that afternoon, but her mother, Margaret, was — beaming while she popped in and out, making plans for another in a series of welcoming parties. Schubering also brought out newspaper clippings about her daughter's previous shows and said good naturedly, "That's what mothers are for," in explanation of her boosterism.

Flynn is no shrinking violet. She talked enthusiastically, laughed heartily as she recalled such adventures as her last appearance in metropolitan Detroit, when she played the Fisher Theatre in a show that hoped to go to Broadway but flopped here, and (on a more upbeat note) talked about how she met a tall dark Irishman at a bus stop, gave him her phone number on the bus, and eventually became his wife.

"BARBARY COAST" was the name of the show that was beset by problems during its run at the Fisher in 1983. "It was a disaster," Flynn said. One of the actresses (who is now starring on Broadway in "Phantom of the Opera") was fired opening night.

That same night, "They had never staged the fight scenes," Flynn said, beginning a story that continued with one of the actors being knocked cold and two performers being knocked into the orchestra pit.

"The first thing I heard from my dressing room was a voice saying, 'Just tell me the two people in the pit are all right,'" she remembers.

During the run at the Fisher, "The cast sat at the St. Regis and talked about how to fix it." The director landed in the hospital, and the choreographer was fired.

Her role was the second female lead, playing a barroom floozy. She looks back on that experience as "an interlude that helped pay for our college."

IN THOSE DAYS, Flynn was married to her first husband, and she went by the stage name of Susan Elizabeth Scott. Then-husband Stephen McNaughton, whose real surname is Scott, also is an actor and is a familiar face to TV soap opera fans.

After she divorced and remarried, she took the surname of husband Thomas Flynn. They were married last December, and live on the Hudson River, in West New York-New Jersey, she said. Her description of the view from their apartment is, "We have the whole skyline of Manhattan."

When they met in August 1986 at the bus stop, Flynn was coming home late from planning a wedding shower, and he had been entertaining clients. He sells advertising for a financial magazine, CFO, and heads the New York office.

The tall (6-foot 5-inch) guy impressed her, and she began digging around in her purse like she was looking for something. "Don't you have money to ride this bus?" he questioned.

With that, the two began a conversation and rode together on the bus. She gave him her phone number and, "Two days later we went out to dinner. It was like I'd known him my whole life. In the beginning it was frightening. There was so much connection going on."

Flynn had been married 14 years and divorced a couple of years before she met her present husband. She talked freely about the breakup, saying she and Stephen had married young and he wanted to be free (he has since remarried), thinking he had missed something.

"I loved being married the first time around," she said. "I think I always felt I would be married again."

FLYNN GOT HER start in acting at the age of 8, when her mother took her to audition for a role with Pat O'Brien at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City where the family was vacationing.

The Schubering lived in Akron, Ohio, and Flynn grew up and went to high school there. She studied acting at the University of Denver.

"My resume is really heavy with Broadway shows," she said. Although she sings and dances, she likes acting best. "I think it was my voice I was leaning on the most," she said, responding to a question about what made her a standout at auditions.

"Over the years, I've never been the ingenue," Flynn said. "I've always been the comic lead — or bitches or whores!" She roared with laughter.

In the comedy "Stepping Out," Flynn is the dance teacher who conducts a nighttime tap dancing class in London and turns her awkward adult students into smart-steppers for a recital.

Flynn as Mavis, the dance teacher, is surrounded by the adults she teaches to tap dance at a class held in a London church basement. The students' abilities range from skilled to inept, but by play's end all are dancing together smartly. In this scene, the students rehearse for a recital, with a bevy of ill-assorted hats the costume shop provided instead of the bowlers they ordered.

Wheels of justice Schools want integrity back

THE WAYNE-Westland School District will spend much of this spring fighting to regain its integrity — again.

The reason is the announcement Friday afternoon that the preliminary exams scheduled for three employees in the adult education enrollment dispute will be adjourned for two months.

The examinations were originally scheduled for last Monday.

But on Friday, attorneys for the three defendants met with District Judge Gail McKnight and the prosecutor's office and agreed to postpone the examinations until early March.

One major reason is that the prosecutor's office intends to call from 15 to 30 witnesses and the defense attorneys wanted more time to prepare their cases.

Aside from the criminal justice viewpoint, the district has the ongoing problem of trying to maintain its organizational integrity while the publicity drags on.

At first, we had hoped for a quick resolution to the examinations and trials, if they are needed.

The reason is the adult education enrollment dispute has been dragging on for nearly five years.

It is having an impact on the school board, administration, adult education department, employees and the community.

The administration's enemies want blood, while its supporters only want the dispute resolved and the book closed.

But the book will be open for a while longer.

THE DISPUTE and cloud over the district's credibility have been seen in several crucial elections.

In one, a property tax increase was approved by a narrow margin nearly two years ago. Soon afterward, a school board officer and a resident called each other liars in public.

A year ago, a $12.9 million bond issue for building improvements and equipment was approved — still by a small margin.

The close margins in those two elections — compared to earlier victories with larger margins — are clear signals that many school voters either don't feel the money was needed or that they just didn't accept the word of the board and administration that the money was needed.

The district has been saying since the enrollment dispute surfaced in 1983 that there was no fraud involved, only honest mistakes or continued changes by the state on how the enrollments are to be tabulated.

While the board and administration have no power to speed up the wheels of the criminal justice process, they can take that extra effort to improve institutional credibility.

One is to go that extra mile to continue dealing openly and candidly with the community and its institutions when questioned about the enrollment dispute or related issues.

Another is to avoid being defensive when challenged by those who want their political pound of flesh.

Private citizens have a right to ask questions of their public officials and those officials have a responsibility to answer directly and professionally, as they have in the past.

At the moment, the enrollment dispute will be in the news and headlines for a while with the resulting chitchat at community and school gatherings.

We wish the wheels of justice would turn faster than they have.

But they won't. In the meantime, the district must continue to run its business effectively and professionally and hope for the best in the courts.

TUDKINS

Respect can age fast, so can the new year

THE YEAR began on a good note. I saw a glimmer of respect, perhaps even awe, in the eyes of the teenager who baby sits for our 2-year-old.

Moments earlier the look in her eyes was more skeptical upon hearing that singer George Michael's latest was among the compact disc selections in our limited musical library.

"Give me a break," she all but said. George Michael? No way. She might have thought I meant George Jones if she were old enough to know who that is, but in her humble opinion, George Michael was out of my league.

This is the same young woman who late last year grimaced when told that my wife and I were off to see "Everybody's All-American" at the movies. She would have opted for "Child's Play," which I gather features a character who would be a perfect blind date for Freddie of Elm Street nightmare fame. Or is he in Halloween?

YOU SEE, I not only can't tell those two sequel-happy scare-flicks apart, but I've never seen any of them, which comes as no surprise to my baby sitter who already has me pegged as an old fogey who certainly doesn't have any George Michael music hanging around.

George Michael, to my brethren in the Old Fogey Before Your Time club, is an English singer whose hits include "Kissing a Fool," "Father Figure" and "I Want Your Sex,"

George Michael, to my brethren in the Old Fogey Before Your Time club, is an English singer whose hits include "Kissing a Fool," "Father Figure" and "I Want Your Sex," which is sort of a sequel to "I Want to Hold Your Hand."

which is sort of a sequel to "I Want to Hold Your Hand." When I told that to my baby sitter she gave me the screwy look she reserves for the times I say the dumb things that she doesn't want to comment on since, after all, I am the person who determines her tip.

MY BABY SITTER'S unspoken but very apparent critiques of my musical and theatrical tastes have demolished my fraudulent belief that since my son is only 2, I must not be any older than the typical parent of a 2-year-old. I cultured that canard carefully (How about that? A carefully cultured canard!), even to the point of not reading the youth music page in our own newspaper's Street Scene. I don't read it because I don't want to be faced with the fact that I don't recognize any of the featured recording artists.

But the ruse began cracking when I told Rachel, the baby sitter, that my favorite heavy metal performers were the guys who mined iron ore in the Upper Peninsula.

AFTER THAT, I could tell that my status as a "cool" adult was withering. But then I purchased a George Michael recording, which impressed her to no end and which, in turn, sent me off to the movies in a great mood about how wonderful 1989 was and how trivial things like parental responsibility, mortgage payments, home repairs and the like should never prematurely age you.

"You are as young as you feel," I said to my wife as we returned from the show.

"You have a leak in your living room ceiling," my baby sitter said, after pocketing her night's pay. "I put your George Jones albums under it."

Dr. King Cherish his unifying dream

And while the civil rights leader's birthday on Jan. 16 has been proclaimed a national holiday, many suburban communities quietly balk at the idea.

That's a shame.

Many ask why they should celebrate. After all, some say, we don't outwardly celebrate national holidays dedicated to other leaders. Others see Dr. King as a leader solely for the black community and leave the commemoration to them.

Hence a tradition is developing that sees racially mixed municipalities like Southfield honoring Dr. King with major events, and most other suburban communities doing little, if anything. Of course, exceptions do exist. Each year Birmingham dedicates more time and resources to the event.

Some of the neglect, we are sure, is based simply on an absent-minded tendency. But we are just as sure that others refuse to honor Dr. King because of racist attitudes.

PREJUDICE is an ever-lingering danger in our society. It feeds on itself like a dirty wound, poisoning more and more of the body-politic.

Left to fester, it will destroy us.

It is good medicine to remind ourselves that people do exist who have the courage to actively fight against the sickness that continually threatens us.

Dr. King showed us the way. Without his efforts yesterday, we would be living in a very different world today.

We are heartened to see that some communities and educational institutions are getting behind the effort to make Dr. King a national hero in the hearts of coming generations.

We must foster the values he taught us so that others will have the courage to continue the battle which, when won, will set all of us free.

We need to commemorate his activities so those of us who lived through that stormy era never forget the struggle we endured. We need to honor Dr. King so those who were born after his death can learn from the courageous example he set.

Since his assassination, Dr. King has been nearly forgotten by an entire generation now verging on adulthood.

They don't know about the force of the firehoses unleashed against unarmed demonstrators, who fought only for their basic civil rights.

They are unaware that before Dr. King's crusade, thousands were tortured and lynched because they were born black.

They have been cheated out of learning about an era when a majority of America was finally brought together to stamp out racism.

They have been kept in ignorance about the dream that Dr. King so eloquently outlined that day long ago before the Lincoln Memorial.

WE ARE heartened to see that some communities and educational institutions are getting behind the effort to make Dr. King a national hero in the hearts of coming generations.

In February, Black Awareness Month, Rochester's Oakland University has outlined an ambitious program to help all of us learn more about blacks' contribution to our culture.

And the University of Michigan has an entire slate of programs during Dr. King's birthday to help all of us remember.

We believe it crucial that even more educational centers and municipalities kick in to honor this great American.

Engendering the spirit of Dr. King in the very young is probably the most important effort of all. If we can bring up a new generation with a better understanding of racial prejudice, we have a winning chance for a new society.

Honoring Dr. King once again gives us all a chance to learn more about each other's cultures, to erase the stereotypes that hinder our efforts for a unified society.

State budget jeopardizes health services

To the editor:

This letter serves, in part, to thank you for Philip Sherman's Dec. 22, 1988 column about autism. It was insightful, compassionate and evidenced a constructive moral character. Your suggestion that many people have never read about autism is undoubtedly accurate. Hopefully, through movies like "Rain Man," the average citizen will become more aware of the needs of people with handicaps.

Mental health services that help fulfill the needs of many people with autism and other handicaps are in serious jeopardy in the state of Michigan. Many are concerned about the 1989-90 fiscal year proposed mental health budget.

A $76 million reduction is proposed that will devastate the entire mental health system, and thousands of individuals will suffer from not receiving services.

I want my tax dollars to be spent on people who are in need of our assistance for their very existence.

Recently, Jack Kemp, the new Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said we must not balance the federal budget on the backs of the poor.

In the state of Michigan, we must not balance the budget on the backs of people with autism, mental illness and developmental disabilities.

Ultimately, our society will be judged by how we treated our less fortunate citizens.

I would like to invite the members of the Legislature and Governor Blanchard to review "Rain Man."

Column was enlightening

To the editor:

This is in reference to Catherine Trainor's column in the Observer and Eccentric, dated Thursday, Dec. 29, 1988.

I felt sad, angry and uplifted as I read about the unpleasant experience that you encountered when you stopped for lunch at Livonia Mall.

I am a black middle-aged "human being" who shops and attends the movies, on a regular basis, at the mall. It shakes me up to think that when I walk into a restaurant, department store or bookstore, the person that is being paid a salary to serve the public may "cringe" at the thought of waiting on me.

I am a 14 year resident of the city of Farmington. I could write a book about the insensitive and ignorant remarks that have been made to me over these many years. It is depressing (at times) to know that just because of your skin color you are repulsive to some people and some people actually "hate" you and think that you are inferior to them. I say "at times" I feel depressed, but most of the time I think "how ignorant and pitiful you are."

I'm glad that you have a forum

(The Observer & Eccentric) whereby you can express an enlightening opinion on race relations that is read by many white people.

Maybe, the opinion of a person in your position will influence the thinking of some narrow-thinking people in our society.

Thanks again for being indignant and more than that expressing your indignation.

Deloris Rose,

Praise drivers who stopped

To the editor:

In these times, when humanitarianism most often seems to be a thing of the past, I was very surprised and filled with an odd sense of warmth at the actions of a group of very special people, strangers to themselves, who stopped to help a large dog which was hit by a car and was left lying in the traffic lane as the offending car continued on.

These people, some of whom had to turn around to come back to the scene of the accident, worked together to put the dog, which was still alive, onto a board for transport to an emergency animal facility. They even wrapped the dog in a blanket.

The people who stopped in blank they are. I feel that they are to be commended as an example of kindness and humanitarianism which we all should strive for.

In Twain territory

A reporter's job is never done

NATURALLY, the best yarn of the trade I've heard lately had its setting in Virginia City. A century ago, the Nevada mountain town was the West's mining metropolis, the heart of one of the richest deposits of gold and silver ever discovered. Of its 110 saloons, the Bucket of Blood still appeals best to tourists like myself, although Virginia City's permanent population is down to about 1,500 from the 30,000 of its heyday.

When I used the word "naturally," I had in mind the fact that Nevada's first newspaper was the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise and two of the reporters who worked there were Mark Twain and Bret Harte. Twain and Harte didn't gain their lasting literary recognition until later, but that didn't stop tourist trap entrepreneurs from opening a Mark Twain Museum of Memories to corral as many of today's inflationary dollars as possible.

THE OUTSIDE world hears mostly about Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe when Nevada is mentioned and, as one writer put it, "20 minutes from the clatter of Las Vegas and Reno the only sound is wind brushing across miles of sage." Let me tell you, in winter it's a damn cold wind, too.

It was inevitable that I would be escorted to Virginia City where much has been done to restore the boom town appearance of the 1870s when, so historians claim, a lady named Julia Bulette was revered by the town's male population as "the Queen of Sporting Row."

I have a notion that Twain and Harte liked their life up in the crag-

gy mountains and also that they suffered from a malady that's universal among good reporters, inability to leave their job at the office when quitting time came. I can't possibly imagine Samuel Clemens, which was Twain's true name, passing up a good story and telling his editor, "Sorry, it's my day off."

That's why I think he'd chuckle at a 1989 tale told by John Miller of an experience the latter had in recent years while working as a public relations man for a Virginia City mining company.

IT WAS a job which included showing out-of-town reporters, photographers and free-lance writers the historic sites, and among those who arrived on assignment were a writer and photographer from Penthouse Magazine. By mid-afternoon they decided they had seen it all, which I can well believe, and gave themselves the rest of the afternoon off in favor of a saloon stop.

Word had spread that these visitors were from Penthouse and in the bar a few bystanders butted in with questions about rather intimate material which had been published.

"Our group had grown to six or seven guys," Miller recalls, "when this lady got up off her stool at the other end of the bar, walked over and zoomed in on the photographer, asking, 'Are you the fellow who takes pictures for Penthouse?'

"He agreed that he was. 'Then, tell me what you think about this.' With that, she whipped off her sweatshirt and presented him — and everybody else — with a view of her abundant feminine charms."

"The photographer avoided offering either criticism or praise, talked her into putting her shirt back on, and then explained to her that he wasn't the one who decides who gets to pose for the magazine. He sent her on her way with a business card giving the Penthouse telephone number, suggesting she call his boss if she was truly serious."

"She thanked him with a grin, stuffed the business card in a hip pocket of her jeans, and walked back to a noisy, standing ovation from the group she was with at the other end of the bar."

At Miller's table there was a prolonged silence, maybe from awe, and John remembers that finally it was broken by the photographer who perhaps felt the lack of conversation was his fault.

"That's the trouble with this job," he said to no one in particular. "You can't leave your work at the office."

In that sense, I doubt if Virginia City has changed much from Twain's day, but I didn't stay long enough to find out. Or maybe I simply got there too late.

Doves need target practice to win peace

OUR FRIENDS from Covenant for Peace have been strangely silent during the last month about the events in Libya, West Germany, Switzerland, Scotland and other tense points around the globe.

Unless you have been in a cocoon several years, you know Covenant is the group that holds marches and prayer vigils outside a Williams International plant on Maple Road in Commerce Township.

Why that plant? It produces engines for low-flying cruise missiles that can carry nuclear warheads into eastern Europe, particularly to the Soviet Union.

And we all should believe, if we've paid attention to sermons and polls of school children, that nuclear weapons are the awfulest thing in the world, even though they haven't been used in combat in 44 years.

THE POINT is that it's time for peace-loving people to consider another target besides Williams.

The U.S. government says it has irrefutable evidence of Libyan involvement in an April 1986 bombing of LaBelle discotheque in West Berlin. No nuclear weapons were involved, but an American soldier and a Turkish woman were killed and 155 others injured.

Where are the anti-bomb protests outside LaBelle discotheque?

Ever hear of Imhausen-Chemie? A medium-sized chemical firm based at Lahr in Germany's Black Forest, it specializes in plastics. Imhausen-Chemie is the outfit that appears to be providing Libya with equipment and expertise to build a poison gas factory at Rabata.

The Libyans say, 'shucks, it's a pharmaceuticals plant — but since when does one need a toxic waste emissions system, fortress-like construction and Soviet anti-aircraft missiles on the perimeter to make aspirins?'

Chemical weapons, once considered unthinkable, were used by Iraq in its war against Iran. Chemical weapons pose a far more immediate threat of death than nuclear weapons.

So far, peace demonstrators haven't targeted either Imhausen-Chemie or the companies that sold to Iraq. They're missing something.

There is a Swiss outfit called Imhico that the United States is accusing of acting as an intermediary between Imhausen and Libya. No demonstrations there, either.

NO NUCLEAR weapons were used to blow up Pan Am flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland — but 270 people died violently.

No nuclear weapons were used when terrorists attacked airports in Rome and Vienna in December of 1985, but 16 innocent people were killed. The United States says Libya is harboring the group that carried out the attacks.

No nuclear weapons were used in April of 1986 when Libya fired missiles at a U.S. station on the Italian island of Lampedusa.

No nuclear weapons were used by Iraq on its upstart dissidents — just poison gas.

THERE ARE oodles of places that deal with terrorists or make up-to-date weapons that would make far better targets for demonstrations than Williams International.

Is it too far to travel to picket those West German and Swiss firms? How about a French embassy or French airlines? Remember in 1986 when the U.S. bombed Libyan military installations and terrorist bases in Tripoli and Benghazi? Remember which country wouldn't let our planes fly across? France.

Nuclear weapons are an expensive joke. By an unwritten treaty, no nation will use them. It's time to take the spotlight off the unused weapon that has been the keystone of the U.S.'s policy and put it on the weapons and nations that are really killing people in the real world.

This "blame America first" stuff, to borrow Jeane Kirkpatrick's apt phrase, is outdated and irrelevant.

Picking schools

Having a choice can ease conflicts

Q: What is meant by open enrollment?

Open enrollment, in general, means that parents have the right to pick the school they wish their child to go to within their own school district.

Originally I did not believe in this concept but after having worked in two school districts with open enrollment I am convinced that it is the appropriate way to address certain issues. For instance, if a parent can't stand a particular principal, teacher or program in a certain elementary building they have the right to move that child to another elementary building. Conversely, it can be a break for the building principal and or teacher who could be very competent but for some reason there exists such a personality conflict between the parent and principal or teacher it rubs off negatively on the child.

In an extreme case, I knew of one child who was an emotional basket case in the third grade in one elementary, having been labeled a "wimp" by his peers. This child was moved to another elementary school where his reputation was not known and where he blossomed into a well-adjusted, bright child with a healthy self image. The change can't be totally attributed to a school change, but I believe it played a major role.

Doc

Caution needs to be considered in districts with two or more high schools. If one high school has a "great" high school football team or outstanding marching band and the other high school does not, subtle recruiting could occur. Recruiting commitment needs to be made by teachers, coaches or band leaders at the outset. Open enrollment usually has some restrictions.

In most cases, the parent must furnish the transportation for the child to the other school. Open enrollment is not a cure-all but it does resolve some situations to the benefit of all parties. The percent of parents who take the option is usually less than 1 percent. This is because most children and young adults don't want to leave their neighborhood or classmate friends for football, band or for whatever reason.

Dr. James Doyle is an associate superintendent in the Troy School District. The answers provided here are the opinions of Dr. Doyle and not the Troy School District. Questions for this column should be sent to Doc Doyle c/o the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Malls find role as social centers

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Here she comes, Miss Winter Wonderland — fairest of the fair at Wonderland Mall.

The beauty pageant, conceived and launched last year by Wonderland publicist Laura Solakian, reflects what malls have come to mean to many who use them.

Malls are no longer mere centers of retail activity. They now serve as social centers as well.

"Involving people in mall activity," is one reason for the Miss Wonderland contest, according to Solakian. That, and "offering young ladies who are interested in modeling an opportunity for exposure."

Last year, 26 teenage girls participated in competition. An equal number is expected to enter this year's competition on Jan. 21.

While mall-sponsored beauty pageants may be new, special events hosted by individual malls are not. The events are aimed at meeting the needs and desires of today's consumer who increasingly views the mall as a place to both shop and socialize.

"NOWADAYS, malls have become a central part of most everyone's life, especially on a cold day when people don't want to spend a lot of money but want to get out of the house," said Al Messer, manager of Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. For teens, malls have replaced drive-in movies or sweet shops of yesteryear, according to Messer. Teens gather in Fairlane by the dozens, especially on Saturday nights when they visit with one another, attend a show and get something to eat "without having to go out in the cold."

Today's mall serves as a meeting place for others as well.

"Any morning about 9 a.m. I can show you a group of about 20 Greek seniors. They meet in front of Penney's. They talk a while, reminisce. Then they drift on a bit further, stop and visit again. This continues until about 10:30, when the mall starts filling up with shoppers. Then it gets too crowded for them and they leave," Messer said.

Today's mall also serves as a classroom, according to Messer, who said he and his staff frequently conduct tours for students from area schools and the mentally handicapped who "arrive by the busload to learn how to shop in a protected environment."

COME RAIN or shine, hundreds arrive at Westland Center on Wayne and Warren roads early each morning, dressed for exercise and walking. They are the 400-plus members of the Westland Pacers, a walking group hosted by the mall.

Security guards trained in emergency medical procedures keep watch as the Pacers walk and talk their way around a course that winds past 84 shops lining the mall's promenade.

"Many of them are retirees or singles. They come to be with other people, to get out of the house," according to Catherine O'Malley of Center Companies who manages Westland and three other area malls.

Exercise is one of many activities sponsored by the mall. Westland also offers "coffees, card parties, lectures, cooking classes, the healthorama and on and on," O'Malley said.

In the six years she has managed malls, O'Malley said she has witnessed a maturation in the relationship between consumer and mall.

"It's a growing partnership," she said, that has "long-term consequences."

It is also "a two-way street."

The mall is basically retail oriented. But we are also offering community betterment because we are committed to giving back to the community," O'Malley said.

THE NUMBER OF social users in malls has increased substantially during the 10 years Phil Morosco has been involved in the business. Now manager of Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, Morosco said the surge in social users occurred some five years ago and was first noticed in a marked increase in the number of daily walkers.

Capitalizing on this group, Twelve Oaks now offers daily a low-impact aerobic class for people over 50 years of age. The class is taught by physical education coaches from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

"The program is specifically designed for people who use the mall, but who are not necessarily coming here to shop," Morosco said.

To accommodate social users, most malls now contain conference or community rooms that are available for use by the public.

With the increase in social users, mall programs are now able "to reach a major audience in the community," according to O'Malley of Westland.

And while pretty maidens vie for the title of Miss Wonderland later this month, on the same date in Livonia Mall health guru-turned-entertainer Richard Simmons will demonstrate his exercise style.

Wholesome, upbeat entertainment like that which Simmons provides is regular fare at Livonia Mall, an 80-shop center that bills itself as "a family mall," according to mall spokesman Bill Checks.

"We are interested in the entire family, in safety, and in a nice shopping atmosphere," he said, adding that when the mall was built in 1964 it was marketed as a "neighborhood shopping center."

Sue Mason editor/591-2300

(L.R.W.G.)18

STEVE JONES/staff photographer

Sue Catalano discovered Jazzercise while at home, recovering from the birth of her baby. In need of losing some of her "baby fat," she decided to give it a chance and today is the nationwide company's mid-East regional administrator.

Jazzercise: Low-cost alternative to fitness

By Sue Mason
staff writer

So you went out and bought yourself a designer leotard and color-coordinated Baryshnikov tights. You're ready to make a commitment to the physical fitness crowd.

Now if only you could find a workout program that you like and can afford.

Sue Catalano claims she has the answer — Jazzercise, a choreographed dance-fitness program that's found in every state, doesn't require a yearly or lifetime membership and is relatively inexpensive — $2.50 per class.

"In a one-hour class, we try to hit all the basics," she said. "It's like a bell curve. There's a warmup segment, aerobic activity from slow to high intensity, dance to the floor for muscle conditioning, strengthening, toning and flexibility and a cool down."

"It's designed so you can have fun, relieve stress and anxiety and burn off fat and calories," added Diane Glendenning.

Catalano's been into physical fitness, specifically Jazzercise, since 1980 when she caught an advertisement on the TV about Jazzercise and decided to try it. After one class, she called her instructor to find out more about it.

Within eight weeks' time, she was teaching the class.

She is now mid-east regional administrator for Jazzercise.

GLENDENING joined Jazzercise in Oklahoma City. She wanted to meet people and needed a stress release. She took what she learned to New Jersey and eventually brought it back to Michigan.

In the process, she became a certified instructor and now is Jazzercise's Detroit area manager.

Jazzercise is a corporation, based on Carlsbad, Calif. It sells franchises, but not along the line of more well-known fast food chains, with specifically designed buildings, uniforms and the like.

The instructors buy the franchises; in return they get new choreographed fitness routines, developed by founder Judi Sheppard Missett, every eight weeks. They are certified as Jazzercise instructors and are critiqued at least once a year.

But don't let words like corporation and franchise create the wrong impression of Jazzercise. Yes, it's a big business, but it's grassroots in nature, Catalano said.

"It's intended to be for everyone, so we use church halls, school auditoriums, community centers, wherever we can find space," Catalano said. "We pay rent for the space and supply quality equipment to provide good sound. There's no lifetime memberships, no yearlong commitments. Just eight hourlong classes over four weeks."

MISSETT developed Jazzercise in 1969, while teaching at an Evanston, Ill., dance studio. When she moved to California in 1972, she began teaching Jazzercise at YMCAs and family fitness centers.

By 1977, she was training instructors in her program and within two years, Jazzercise classes were established in the United States, Europe, Brazil and Japan.

It wasn't until 1983 that Missett began franchising instructors. Now the fitness company ranks seventh among 500 franchise businesses and first among franchised fitness businesses, according to this month's "Entrepreneur" magazine.

The program is individualized, Glendenning said. People who have a sense of beat and musical phrasing pick up the routines quickly, while those who say they have two left feet may take about four times to catch on.

"By about the third time, they start feeling comfortable," Glendenning said. "The first night they watch the instructors and watch the people beside them."

"There's so much to absorb, but a jog step is a jog step. Once you learn them, you can do all the routines."

While Jazzercise is for both men and women — there even are classes for teenagers — it's primary market is women. That's not to say men don't take the class — their numbers are increasing, Catalano said.

"IT (JAZZERCISE) isn't real macho and men tend to think in terms of weight training, running and leisure sports for exercise," she said. "But they can benefit from Jazzercise because it makes them more flexible and reduces the injury potential."

Finding a Jazzercise class may be as simple as asking around among friends. Word of mouth is Jazzercise's strongest form of advertisement, Catalano said.

You also can check with your parks and recreation departments or community centers. But the operative word, according to Catalano and Glendenning, is check.

Many places may offer classes billed as Jazzercise, but they aren't. What they are doing is infringing on the Jazzercise registered trademark, Catalano said.

"Our classes depend heavily on the availability of space and many times our students search for spots," Glendenning said.

'G'day, mate'

He sees Australia from courtside

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Imagine George Perot with basketball shoes. Then you're talking about Bob Sluka.

At least he sounds a little like the long-time television travel show host in describing his recent adventures in Australia.

No, the Livonia resident didn't wrestle with gators out in the outback. Nor did he spend his daytime hours popping caps off of Foster's Lager.

Sluka did grapple with forwards under the boards as a basketball standout in Australia. And the only caps he was concerned with were those of the white variety, on the sea, as part of his studies in marine biology at James Cook University. (Captain James Cook is the British fellow who discovered Australia. Even though the aborigines were already settled there.)

Really, Sluka's recollection of Australia is not seen through the eye of the typical tourist with a Hawaiian shirt and a camera wrapped around his neck. His was from more common man's perspective.

He spent 10 months in northern Australia, away from the tourist hot spots of Melbourne and Sydney.

IN TOWNSVILLE, where Sluka lived, the shops close at 5:30 p.m. on weekdays (12:30 p.m. Saturdays), life moves a little slower and your best friend is valued more than any material possession.

"It forces you to slow down and it becomes more of a social culture."

Writing shows ambivalence

Dear Lorene,

I have always been fascinated with things like handwriting analysis.

The one thing that has been bothering me lately is how I'm so undecided on how I want to make the capital letters in my signature. For some unknown reason, all of a sudden I can't seem to settle on one way or the other. It seems so ridiculous that after all these years I hesitate in signing my name. Seems like it should just come natural. What in the world is my problem? I've had the same name for 33 years! Since I send many letters each day with a full signature, I'm really finding my hesitation annoying.

Thank you.

S.T., Livonia

Dear S.T.,

I enjoyed your letter and can appreciate how annoying it must be to have to stop before signing your many daily letters. And I'm sorry I cannot tell you exactly what the problem is.

Research on signatures has found that a person's signature is the image he/she wishes to portray to the world. It is usually formulated early in life and remains constant unless there is some reason for the change. Possibly, my analysis may lend some insight for you.

Can it be that you are ambivalent about the image you want to present to others? Your handwriting suggests you may be experiencing ambivalence in some areas of your life at this time.

Lorene Green

I have always been a like handwriting analysis. The one thing that has been bothering me lately is how I'm so undecided on how I want to make my capital letters in my signature. For some unknown reason, all of a sudden I can't seem to settle on one way or the other. It seems so ridiculous that after all these years I hesitate in signing my name. Seems like it should just come natural. What in the world is my problem? I've had the same name for 33 years! Since I send many letters each day with a full signature, I'm really finding my hesitation annoying.

FIRST OF all, I see a socially oriented woman, one who reaches out the hand of friendship to others. But there is a seeming conflict in your approach. You have experienced hurts in the past that have not been easy for you to resolve. As a result, they are causing you to be on guard and suspicious of some people and their motives.

And a sensitive nature has you anticipating criticism even when none may be intended.

Some ambivalence with your personal goals can also be noted. Can the fear of failure be behind this? And your feelings of self-esteem tend to fluctuate in certain areas.

You are inclined to rationalize away some of this behavior or paint the picture other than it is. Still, harboring this resentment can cause stress and dissipate emotional and physical energy for you.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Date of birth, full signature and handedness are all helpful. And constructive feedback is always welcomed.

Life has a slow pace in northern Australia said Sluka, a 1985 graduate of Livonia Stevenson High School. "Where here when you're with a group of friends the big question is, 'Where are we going to go?' There, it's more of just being with your friends."

Sluka strikes many comparisons between the cultures of Australia and the United States. As an exchange student at James Cook University, he was able to notice many differences.

He went to Australia to participate in a pilot program in marine biology through the University of Miami (Florida). He was able to go on several field trips, studying the aquatic happenings off the Barrier Reef.

From the classroom, Sluka went to the court. He led James Cook University to a second-place finish in a national tournament and was named to the All-Australia Team. A school hero, members of the team retired his basketball jersey No. 11 for good measure.

Already with enough memories to fill a 12-volume photo album, Sluka capped his 10-month odyssey by traveling a month down the coast from Townsville to Sydney. A 10-speed bike was his mode of transportation and a tent served as his accommodations.

"I LEARNED a lot about myself," said Sluka, recalling his bike trip. "When you're on your own and have little money and haven't had a shower in a few days... you rely on God a lot more."

On the basketball court, Sluka relied on his size more than anything. He's 6-foot-6, which made him one of the tallest players on the floor. He describes the Australian game of basketball as physical.

"The refs don't call them unless you're bleeding," he said.

He found his work in the classroom equally as invigorating. The Australian way of learning is based mostly on the English system. Exams are only given at the end of the semester and usually are of the essay variety. Multiple choice tests aren't a choice.

But the overall attitude toward learning is different, he said. Sluka noticed that there isn't a barrier between professor and student that tends to exist here. Having lunch with a professor to discuss research wasn't uncommon.

"To me, there was a lot more expected of you," Sluka said. "It was expected that the university would be your whole life. Whereas at least at the University of Miami, the attitude is once class is over it's your time to do whatever you want. There, I'd have professors say we'd be going on a field trip tomorrow, and it would be Saturday."

MONEY AND a new car are not prime motivation for students, he added. A satisfying job is the biggest priority.

moral perspectives

Rabbi Irwin Groner

Nothing is more deeply imbedded in American Tradition than the right of a person to choose his mate freely without outside interference. Yet, young people often find that the exercise of this right raises difficult problems, particularly if they happen to fall in love with people with different religious backgrounds from their own. To make matters worse, they often get conflicting advice.

Some friends say: "Don't marry out of your religion or you'll regret it the rest of your life. Religion goes deep, you can't compromise it." But others insist: "Religious differences don't matter. Husband and wife differ in many ways. This makes marriage interesting. You have to adjust. It isn't always easy, but love finds a way."

When a man and a woman are drawn to one another, select one another from among many, feel a physical attraction and a congeniality and an affection amounting to a deep hunger, it is very difficult to dissuade them from the covenant of marriage because of religious difference.

Common interests, some similarity in levels of intelligence and aspects of personality, a sharing of basic values — these seem more important in the long run than the church or synagogue in which one worships.

AND YET, life's experiences teach the fundamental truth that a marriage concerns more than the husband and wife. Marriage involves relationships with the families and religious communities in which the husband and wife have had their origin and childhood associations. These influences, over the years, can add to the emotional burdens and stresses of the marital relationship.

Children present the greatest challenge to those who enter mixed marriages. The psychological welfare of a child, his emotional and mental health, are fundamentally dependent upon the security of the home, the strength of the marriage, and the ways in which the parents affirm their shared outlook about faith, religious holidays and spiritual values. If parents are in conflict over religion, the religious factor can play havoc with the welfare of their children.

A recent case involving the struggle for custody of children in a divorced family depicts a nightmare in real life. A judge has threatened to jail a Roman Catholic mother for taking her two daughters to church. Her former husband, the divorced father, is Jewish and he was granted spiritual custody of his daughters. The mother received physical custody

"When I got home from work, the last thing I wanted to think was going to a meeting. The pressures of the ministry are much different than those in the secular world."

— Rev. Ray Zips

of the children and was ordered by the court to rear the children in the Jewish faith of their father.

THE CASE is unusual in the decision of the court to divide the child's religious and secular nurture and growth. The mother, who had promised to raise the children as Jews, began taking the children to church, hung a crucifix on the wall in each child's bedroom and added additional religious observances in the home. Meanwhile, the children have gone to the synagogue on Saturday for worship, and to Mass on Sunday.

In the custody hearing, the mother said she wished to raise the children in both faiths. The father contended that such an up-bringing would be psychologically harmful and the judge agreed with him.

The legal issues touch on the First Amendment — freedom of religion, of speech, and of association — but the spiritual and emotional issues are far more complex. Can children be raised with a sense of loyalty to more than one religion? Can children attend church and synagogue, without a sense of inner conflict? Can children be exposed to two religions at an early age and then, when they reach maturity, choose their own faith?

How sad that children are subjected to such stress. This case should be considered and reflected upon by all men and women who are considering marrying outside of their religious community. Religious intermarriage can impose great hardship, not only by consenting adults, but upon the children of such marriages who are the innocent victims of conflicts that cannot be resolved and commitments that cannot be compromised.

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Shaarey Zedek Congregation in Southfield.

The Rev. Ray Zips came to St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland in December.

New start Pastor eagerly rejoins ministry

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Another assignment, another church, another city. That could easily sum up most new pastorships.

But not for the Rev. Ray Zips. Zips' new assignment at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland is much more than that. For Zips, it's something of a new beginning.

PRIOR TO accepting the position at St. John's — replacing the Rev. Thomas Wilson, who took another pastorate in Tennessee — Zips spent six years outside the full-time ministry.

Because of personal problems, which eventually led to a divorce, he resigned as pastor at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Colorado. Zips said he had the support of the congregation, but had to get his life in order.

So at 36, Zips was suddenly thrust into the working force. His bachelor's degree was in chemistry from the University of Texas-Arlington. But few job descriptions called for a clergyman-turned-chemist.

He refers to it as being in the secular world. Most of us, though, would refer to it as the real world.

Zips received a crash course in trying to support a family of three children from his dissolved marriage. He had an assortment of jobs, including as a store manager for a light store.

IN HIS spare time, he did ministerial work in a mission. But it wasn't the same.

"One of the things having been in that situation and being out of the ministry for a while is to listen more closely to what people are saying and what they are needing," Zips said.

Of course, most ministers strive for that. Except some find it difficult to relate to those people they listen to.

The normal path of the pastor takes them from college right to divinity school to the church. Some don't get a taste of the daily rigors of supporting a family, making ends meet and maintaining a job.

ZIPS NOT only had a taste, he had second helpings. The life he lived for six years was a marked contrast from that of the clergy.

With a laugh, Zips said he used to get upset with members of his church when they failed to show for a meeting on a committee. Now he understands why.

"When I got home from work, the last thing I wanted to think was going to a meeting," Zips said. "The pressures of the ministry are much different than those in the secular world."

Zips plunged into the ministry right out of college. He was raised a Southern Baptist growing up in Texas. While at the University of Texas-Arlington, he joined the Episcopal Church.

HE RECEIVED his master's of divinity degree from Nashotah House in Wisconsin. He served as an assistant pastor at Church of Transfiguration in Dallas. He landed his first full-time ministry position at St. Stephen's.

His tenure there was marked by lay involvement and physical improvements. He said his ministry style is informal, without delving into the tradition of the Episcopal service.

Zips' main goal at St. John's Church is getting more people involved. He said a great deal of members are already working at the church, but it can be improved.

Another area he would like to work on is the acceptance of those who are divorced. Obviously, he is quite familiar with the stigma that still exists.

"Many of them feel like second-class Christians," he said. "Very often they don't feel welcomed in the congregation. Having gone through it, I can relate to it."

"Spiritually, people need time to recover. They usually come back with a lot of spiritual strength they didn't realize they had before."

Livonia Assembly of God, 33015 W. Seven Mile, will have a joy fellowship breakfast from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Jan. 14. Irene Scott will speak on the "Gifts of the Holy Spirit." The purpose of the breakfast is to bring women of all faiths together. For more information, call 471-5282 or 591-1366.

● SUBSTANCE ABUSE CONFERENCE

"Spirituality and Addiction" is the theme for the 15th Annual Conference on Substance Abuse for Clergy and Lay Persons on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 6-7, at Michigan State University Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

Those attending the conference include Dr. Charles Gehrke, medical director of Huron Oaks in Ann Arbor; Holly Martin, counselor at the Washtenaw Council on Alcoholism; Sis Wenger, alcoholism and addictions educator for the Maple Grove Education program at Henry Ford Hospital; and Marvin Taurialinen, field speaker for the Michigan Interfaith Council on Alcohol Problems.

Partial scholarships are available to people interested in attending the two-day conference. The fee is $80. Applications for the partial scholarships are included with the brochure which may be secured by calling MI-ACAP at (517) 484-0016.

● CONCERT SERIES

Some of the Detroit area's most talented youth will be performing at St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Livonia during the coming months in a brown bag concert series.

The series is aimed at raising money for 28 young people to travel to the Montreat Workshop and Music Conference near Asheville, N.C.

Mercy High School's Mercyaires will open the series with a performance at 1 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 22. Tickets are $2.50 for individual shows (tickets for the series are $8).

At 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 26, the St. Paul choir will provide the entertainment in a Folies Variety Show. On March 12, groups from Livonia high schools will make presentations while on April 16 the Peanut Butter Players will present "Wind on the Willows."

Brown bag lunches, consisting of sandwiches, fruit, dessert and drinks, will be available before each of the first three concerts. For more information, call 422-1470.

● EVANGELIST

Gary Richard, evangelist, seminar speaker, singer and recording artist, will be sharing his ministry at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. worship services on Sunday, Jan. 15, at United Assembly of God Church, 46500 N. Territorial, Plymouth. The services are open to the public. Child care will be provided. For more information, call 453-4530.

● FILM

Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, near Six Mile Road, will show the James Dobson film, "A Man Called Norman," at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 18. The film presentation is open to the public. Admission is free.

● SCRIPTURE EXPERT

The Rev. Jack Castelot, a well-known Scripture expert, will discuss John's gospel at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays, through Feb. 7, at St. Edith Parish, 15089 Newburgh Road, Livonia.

The focus of the series is to give an appreciation of the depth of theology of John's gospel. Castelot will discuss the way the gospel was written and its purpose with an emphasis on symbolism.

Castelot has a doctorate in sacred theology from Catholic University of America and a licentiate in sacred scripture from the Pontifical Biblical Institute of Rome. He has taught at several seminaries and currently teaches courses in scripture throughout the greater metropolitan area and outstate.

● SPEAKER

Nationally renowned theologian, writer and speaker, the Rev. Peter Marshall, will speak Sunday through Wednesday, Feb. 12-15, at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. He will speak at evening services.

Marshall is a Presbyterian minister who has gained national recognition as a preacher and teacher on Christian growth and maturity. He also co-authored two best-selling books with David Manuel, "The Light and the Glory" and "From Sea To Shining Sea."

The church is at 45201 N. Territorial, west of Sheldon Road, Plymouth Township. The services are open to the public.

● FILM SERIES

A biblical film series on child rearing, "What the Bible Says About Child Training" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays, through Feb. 8, at Bethel Baptist Church, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia. Topics covered will include parental accountability, responsibility and authority along with a child's nature and stages of development. For more information, call 525-3444.

● ALCOHOLICS FOR CHRIST

Alcoholics for Christ is a Christian fellowship and support group for alcoholics, their families and concerned people. The group meets at 7:30 p.m. Fridays at Detroit First Church of the Nazarene, 21280 Haggerty, north of Eight Mile, in Farmington Hills; 7:30 p.m. Fridays at Westland Full Gospel Church, 34033 Palmer, Westland; 7:30 p.m. Thursdays and 1 p.m. Fridays at Ward Presbyterian Church, Farmington Road near Six Mile, Livonia; 6 p.m. Tuesdays at Church of God in Christ, 3844 Harrison, Inkster; 7:30 p.m. Mondays at Fairhaven Assembly of God, 876 Beech Daly, Dearborn Heights; and 7:30 p.m. Saturdays at Fairlane Alliance Church, 944 Mason, north of Michigan Avenue. For more information, call 386-9944 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays.

● NEW START

New Start, especially for widows and widowers, meets every second Tuesday of the month to hear various speakers and to enjoy Christian fellowship at 7 p.m. in the chapel of Ward Presbyterian Church, 944 Mason and Farmington roads, Livonia.

Cheese, wine among foods that bring on migraines

Dear Jo:
Your column on immunization against the flu and pneumonia sure "hit the nail on the head" at our house.

Last winter we had a house guest (my sister) who arrived with a bad cold. Within a little over a week, both my husband and I came down with colds. My sister stayed a week — the colds stayed all winter.

Needless to say we are not extending any invitation to her this year. I do wish that people with colds would stay home, and get well and keep their germs to themselves. I hope you don't think we're going overboard on this — but when you're old and not feeling well, life is awfully tough.

We will be immunized this fall against the flu and if our doctor agrees, we'll get the pneumonia shot too.

I hope I have made my point. Sign me,

Mrs. K.R.
Detroit Reader

Dear Mrs. R.:
Your point is well taken. Immunization against the flu is a must for anyone over age 65, and the pneumonia immunization should be considered for those who suffer from a chronic disease.

gerontology

Dear Jo:
My granddaughter is coming for dinner. She is prone to migraine headaches.

Are there certain foods or beverages that I should avoid serving?

Mrs. G.G.
Western Senior

Dear Mrs. G.:
Some of the most common foods and beverages that appear to bring on migraine headaches are chocolate, ripened cheese, red wine and other alcoholic beverages. The additive MSG, used in the preparation of certain foods, is also thought to be responsible.

Your granddaughter, I'm sure, will let you know what other foods she can and can't eat.

Dear Jo:
What can I do to prevent cramps, heartburn and bloating?

Mr. T.E.
Uncomfortable Senior

Dear Mr. E.:
Some practical suggestions are: eat slowly in a relaxed atmosphere; try eating small meals frequently; avoid gas-forming foods such as cabbage, beans, onions and nuts; and try bland, low-fat, easily digested foods. Antacids that have been chilled may also be helpful. Be sure to mention this problem to your doctor at your next visit.

Mall seeks pageant entrants

How would you like a color TV? Maybe a trophy, crown, banner and flowers?

Well, that's just a few of the things some young lady will win as the new Miss Winter Wonderland.

Wonderland Mall will hold its second annual Miss Winter Wonderland Pageant at 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21.

The pageant is open to young, single women between the ages of 16 and 23. Private auditions will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19. Contestants should check in at the mall information booth for directions to the auditions.

They will be judged on a talent routine and private interview. Contestants should bring a cassette tape for the talent competition.

Ten semifinalists will be selected for the Saturday evening pageant. They will be judged in three categories — talent (a two-minute routine of the contestant's choice), modeling an evening gown of the contestant's choice and an on-stage interview.

The new Miss Winter Wonderland will have the opportunity to model in fashion shows, obtain photos for her portfolio, appear in mall advertisements and represent Wonderland in mall and community activities.

The winner will succeed Melissa Sinkovics, who followed up her Miss Winter Wonderland title with top spot in the 1988 Michigan State Fair's Queen of Queens pageant.

Second- through fifth-place finishers will receive trophies, gift certificates and flowers.

The deadline for entering the pageant is Tuesday, Jan. 17.

The pageant is open to young, single women between the ages of 16 and 23. Private auditions will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19. Contestants should check in at the mall information booth for directions to the auditions.

AAUW branch taps Lohr to '88 honors

Mary Alice Lohr was the center of attention recently.

Because of her volunteer work she was selected by the American Association of University Women of Livonia as its 1988 honoree at the 16th annual Salute to Women luncheon.

Lohr was selected for her dedication and service to senior citizens in Livonia.

Since 1978, she has been a member of SCAN (Senior Citizens Achievement Needs), working as treasurer and helping to raise money for the purchase of buses.

She also has been president and is treasurer of the Senior Citizens Travel Club. She also has worked as a volunteer and has spent five years as vice president of the Wonderland Unit of Meals on Wheels.

She was nominated for the honor by her co-workers who described her as "a genuinely giving person."

The AAUW each selects a woman "whose efforts reflect its goals of continuing education and community involvement, thereby enhancing the quality of life."

STEVE JONES/staff photographer

David Goodwill, CEO of Ladbroke DRC, is looking for help from the Legislature in the form of loosening wagering laws, to help DRC get back to the winner's circle.

Terms of the trade

• Parimutuel wagering

Ever since a Paris shopkeeper discovered a better way in the 19th Century, bettors have not had to submit to the vagaries of payoff prices set by bookies. In essence, horseplayers now set the prices (odds) themselves by betting in a mutual pool ("mutuel" in Paris, hence parimutuel).

• Off Track Betting (OTB)

Parimutuel horse-race wagering conducted at a betting shop away from the track, sometimes with full-service dining and beverage services, on races brought in via closed-circuit TV. The thoroughbred racing industry, hit hard by state lotteries and changing lifestyles, sees OTB as a way to take its product to consumers no longer willing to drive long distances and sit through a full day's racing card.

• Intertrack Wagering (ITW)

A less-radical cousin of OTB, ITW allows betting at a race track on races run elsewhere and brought in on closed-circuit TV. Under current law, DRC offers betting on selected simulcasts of major races from around the country. But there is a maximum of one race a day, which is added to the program of live races. Under ITW, DRC could remain open at night and accept bets on Hazel Park's harness racing — and vice versa. In states such as Illinois and Pennsylvania, ITW was operated for several years before introduction of OTB.

DRC looks to Lansing for convenience betting

By Tom Ferguson
staff writer

Handicapping a bad race is easier than getting a line on the future of Ladbroke DRC in Livonia, Michigan's only thoroughbred horse racing track.

The British conglomerate that bought DRC in 1985 is entering the final year of a five-year plan still waiting for the one tool it believes essential to success: off track betting (OTB).

"If someone came to us and said, 'You're never going to get it (OTB),' it would be a no-brainer," said David Goodwill, 42, CEO of Ladbroke Racing Corp., meaning Ladbroke would pull the plug on its effort to develop a major league racing program at DRC.

"Results at this track have improved, but we are not talking about a profitable organization," said Goodwill, recently arrived from Britain to coordinate Ladbroke's stalled American invasion.

"We have a lot of assets here with no return. But Ladbroke is also a company that is prepared to take a long-term view, to do the job properly."

Long-term for DRC means long enough to see whether OTB, or at least its less-ambitious cousin, inter-track wagering (ITW), will emerge from the Legislature. (See accompanying story for betting definitions.)

Goodwill won't say how far Ladbroke's patience will extend, but indications are one more season wouldn't be a bad guess.

Meanwhile, predicting the fate of ITW/OTB legislation is hazardous.

THE GOOD news for Ladbroke is that James Karoub, the track's powerful Lansing lobbyist, is optimistic.

"I don't see any problem with ITW," he said. "OTB will be introduced later."

The bad news is that the harness racing industry, which represents nearly three-quarters of the Michigan horse racing industry, is at best cool to what the thoroughbred industry prefers to call "convenience betting."

At worst, if the harness horsemen decide to oppose OTB, and if they are successful, Goodwill might have his "no-brainer."

WHEN LADBROKE Group PLC decided to establish its U.S. beachhead at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt, it clearly had OTB in mind — not the operation of a minor league race track.

Though it has yet to accept a single OTB wager in this country, Ladbroke Racing Corp. (the U.S. subsidiary) is described in a company press release as "Ladbroke's U.S. off track betting subsidiary."

"We are the world's experts in this area," Goodwill said. "If anybody is going to do OTB well in this country, it is going to be us."

The parent company is indeed the world leader. By last June Ladbroke was operating 1,797 betting shops in the United Kingdom and Ireland, had 75 percent of the market in Belgium and had opened 75 shops in the Netherlands after securing a national monopoly on OTB.

Tracks face changing times

"This place was built to hold 30,000 people in the '40s," said Bill Bork. "Now we fill up that parking lot with a crowd of 15,000 on Michigan Mile Day. I ask some old-timers where the hell they put all those cars, and they say: 'Bill, this was farmland then. They parked across Middlebelt and across Schoolcraft.'"

Changing times and their effect on marketing his product are what's on the DRC president's mind these days. He rattled off the litany.

"Anyway, there were no lotteries. There were no live sports teams with long seasons."

"It takes five hours to run 10 races, and people don't want that anymore. See all those wooden stadium seats? They want to be able to bet two races and go home. Bliff. Bam. In and out."

"And they want a nice place where they can take their wife or girlfriend."

The answer, he believes is off-track betting, packaged and presented with the expertise the parent Lad-

'Give me a 40- or 50-degree day in January or February, and I'll do a million and a half at the windows. There's nothing else going on: no lake sailing, no Grand Prix, no Tigers.'

— Bill Bork

broke Group has developed in Europe.

"I'm talking about cushioned chairs," he said. "I mean first class. Two- or three-million-dollar facilities that seat 500 people. No admission. No parking problems. Mutuel clerks in tuxedos. Look at the Palace; that's what people want."

But he'll settle for intertrack wagering, at least for starters, allowing DRC to send its racing card via TV to other tracks.

"It (ITW legislation) looks good for this year. Let's get the vehicle in place," Bork said. "No one is sure that it's going to work. But every state that has OTB has had ITW first. It's a natural step."

"It appears that the standardbred (harness) people are against it because they don't know what effect it will have. But I helped write the bill so that if it's hurting them, they can stop it."

He is confident of ITW's immutability, and of OTB's inevitability. But he sees yet another, inferior route to help his ailing industry, sort of a jack in the hole.

"Traditionally, thoroughbreds have never raced in the winter here. I come from a background in Pennsylvania racing, where we did race in the winter, and we could go year-round. Give me a 40- or 50-degree day in January or February, and I'll do a million and a half at the windows. There's nothing else going on: no lake sailing, no Grand Prix, no Tigers."

"But I don't want to do that at this time. I think the answer is convenience betting. That's off track."

Some health plans are like hospital gowns: They never cover as much as you wish they would.

When it comes to health care, traditional medical insurance leaves a lot to be desired. Because they only cover a portion of your costs. Health Alliance Plan, on the other hand, is much more comprehensive. We offer complete coverage for virtually everything from pediatrics to geriatrics. And this extensive medical coverage is available from over 1,600 physicians at 23 medical centers, 18 hospitals and hundreds of individual doctor's office locations.

To find out how you can become a member, call 872-8100. You'll learn why Health Alliance Plan is such a great way to cover your medical needs. And that's the naked truth.

Your health deserves the best.

DRC is looking to Lansing for convenience betting

"Other countries in Europe could be interesting over time," Goodwill said.

PARIMUTUEL WAGERING is just one of the corporation's four prime interests, along with commercial, real estate, hotels (including all Hilton properties outside the United States) and most recently in Great Britain a major "second in the market." Goodwill said somewhat apologetically do-it-yourself chain with the unlikely name of Texas Home-care.

It all added up to fiscal 1987 net profits of $250 million, more than a third of that from racing/betting operations, on revenues of more than $3.75 billion.

So the resources and the expertise to fulfill Ladbroke's U.S. mission are there, even though four years of shopping the United States have produced only one race track, in Livonia, that has not quite improved to marginal and has no off track outlets.

Asked if Ladbroke was discouraged, Goodwill said: "Words like discouragement don't enter into it. It can be frustrating, but that's the real world, isn't it? We're encouraged by what happened in Pennsylvania."

IT APPEARS that the Keystone

State, and not Livonia, is where Ladbroke's plan for the United States will start to take some real shape.

What happened there is that the state Legislature approved an OTB program, then sustained it over the governor's veto. Ladbroke is in the final stages of a deal to buy the Meadows harness track near Philadelphia.

Under the new Pennsylvania law, each track in the state will be able to build four OTB establishments in 1989 and two more in 1990. Assuming the Meadows deal is done, Ladbroke can't wait to break ground.

LADBROKE IS also in the final stages of buying Golden Gate Meadows, a thoroughbred track in California (ITW but no OTB), and is defending itself in an appeal after being awarded a monopoly on Wyoming's first OTB parlors.

The sparsely populated high plains at best will be an outpost in Ladbroke's empire. Wyoming doesn't have a race track, meaning bettors will wager strictly on piped-in races. But even there Ladbroke ran into hazards typical of its American experience.

"We won the sole license, with a number of criteria used in selection," Goodwill said. "Incredibly, our main U.K. competitor appealed, saying the process wasn't done properly. Even in a situation that seems clear-cut there are pitfalls."

THE BIGGEST pitfall at DRC may turn out to be choosing to buy a track in a state and region dominated by harness racing.

While DRC runs the only thoroughbred game in town, harness meets are held at Hazel Park, Northville, Jackson and Sports Creek in Flint. That is just the southeast Michigan competition. Harness meets are held within Ontario's jurisdiction in Windsor and Sarnia.

As Gordon Wright, president of the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association (MHHA), said, none of the states that have approved ITW or OTB has dominant harness racing interests. MHHA's board has yet to decide whether to support the new ITW bill, oppose it or introduce a version of its own. But Wright estimates that 65 percent of his membership are opposed.

"The great fear," Wright said, "is that live racing will be diminished." THE THOROUGHbred industry, meanwhile, fears ultimate diminishment — as in extinction — without innovations such as OTB.

Ladbroke officials were unable to speculate on what kind of increased revenue OTB might mean. But they point to Illinois' success in 1988, when Chicago's new downtown OTB parlor was opened with facilities only half completed.

A popular myth, which never seems to die, is that you can make successful investing decisions by putting your money in whatever seems to be popular.

Take a look at Table I, prepared by Raymond James & Associates Inc. In case you are wondering, the 1980-88 ranking is not permanent either; in fact, it is already changing.

Another persistent myth is that mutual funds can be selected by referring to the latest issue of a financial magazine like Money, Business Week, Forbes or Time.

Table II should dispel this myth. The top 20 mutual funds during 6/78 to 6/83 virtually disappeared during the next five year period.

My message to you should now be clear: Do not be distracted by fads, sales talks and unsustainable claims. Seek the advice of a professional and invest for the long-term.

Happy investing in 1989.

Sid Mittra is a professor of finance, school of business at Oakland University and owner of Coordinated Financial Planning.

Realism, not wishful thinking, determines resolution's worth

Be they set for personal or professional reasons, the key to keeping resolutions boils down to the answer behind one simple question: "Am I being realistic?"

For example, is it realistic to assume that your wildly successful "new" business venture will be equally successful over the next 12 months?

If your answer is yes, then you must have analyzed and identified specifically those factors that have contributed to your past prosperity. If you don't know why you've been successful, you won't remain so for long.

You must also realize that unanticipated growth, no matter how minimal, will require stronger managerial control over your company's resources now and in the future. The experts tell us that unmanaged growth quickly can zap company resources (such as labor, capital and raw materials). Keeping this in mind, the newly successful small business owner has much to think about and do in maintaining operational growth over the new year.

For those who have thought about starting a business in 1989, resolve to objectively plan for it. There isn't a business in this world that has made it without the benefit of realistic planning. Typically, it takes six to 12 months to identify and outline the activities that must be carried out before the business officially opens its doors; another six months are necessary to plan projected revenues and expenses on a month-by-month basis.

It is just as important to obtain the right kind of assistance, when and where it is necessary, to help transform your vision into a reasonable plan of action. Starting a business represents an exciting opportunity and can ultimately provide you with an entirely new way of life. Don't sell yourself short by ignoring the obvious: Plan your work and work your plan.

Lastly, resolve to benefit by the experience of others. No one can possibly know, do or be it all in any given professional situation or circumstance. Joining the appropriate business groups, attending lectures and seminars and reviewing key publications are just a few of the methods available to help you achieve small business success now and in the years to come.

For more information on sources of assistance available to business owners, readers may call me at 474-1149. Have a happy and successful new year.

WORKS

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

Use this form to write your classified advertisement before you call...or fill it in and mail to:

Schoolcraft's Darlene Bazner (right) checks OCC's Maria Long. Bazner sparked defensive play for the Lady Ocelots, making seven steals.

Late basket carries SC to 48-46 victory

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Sports lesson Number One: Wait till the game's over to celebrate.

As elementary as that may seem, violations occur constantly. Like last night at Schoolcraft College.

The Lady Ocelots were up against Oakland Community College, the defending womens basketball co-champions of the Eastern Conference. SC led by eight with 1:40 left, but OCC — which had fizzled offensively through the second half — was coming to life.

Maria Long cut the deficit to six. Regina Woodard made it four. Then, with 36 seconds left in the game, Long scored again to narrow the gap to two.

SC turnovers had set up the previous two Lady Raider baskets. When Lisa DePlanche blew a wide-open, breakaway layup with 27 seconds to play, it seemed SC was certainly jinxed.

SURE ENOUGH, OCC got the game-tying basket when Bonnie Kittle banked in a short, off-balance jumper. Problem was, there were still 11 seconds left, and Kittle and her teammates were already celebrating their comeback.

Too bad, because Darlene Bazner and Barb Krug ruined their party in those final few moments. Ignoring what seemed an obvious situation for a timeout, Bazner took the inbound pass, dribbled the length of the court, drove through the lane and dished the ball to Krug. The 6-foot-3 center from Plymouth Canton scooped the ball off the glass and into the net.

Final score: SC 48, OCC 46.

"We don't call timeout after a made basket," explained SC coach Jack Grenan. "If we do, it allows them time to set up their defense."

"If it's a tie game, we know we can't lose. Our best chance is to get it inbounds quickly and push it up the floor. Plus, the way they had been defending on our inbounds passes, a timeout would have just helped them."

THE FINAL play was about the only thing that went SC's way in the final 90 seconds. Three turnovers and a missed layup down the stretch are hardly the stuff champions are molded from.

But the Lady Ocelots did stick together, dismissing the mistakes almost instantly. Which is one big reason why they are still unbeaten — 16-0 overall, 6-0 in the league — and ranked seventh in the National Junior College Athletic Association.

"There's a four-letter word we never use, and it begins with L," said Grenan. "We always do what we have to do to win."

SC isn't lacking for leadership. Bazner's worth is plainly evident. She drew her fourth personal foul with 9:25 left and went to the bench. Four SC turnovers and less than three minutes later, she was back in the game, and in a 30-second span she made two steals and scored a basket.

"She plays that hard in practice every day," Grenan claimed.

Then there's Michelle Dyksinski. "What can I say?" said Grenan of his sophomore forward. "She kept us in the game."

THAT MAY be underestimating Dyksinski's value. She scored 20 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, making six-of-12 from the field and eight-straight free throws. No one else reached double figures in scoring or rebounding for SC. Bazner and Tracy Osborne netted nine points apiece. Bazner also had seven steals (five in the second half) and just one turnover.

"You can see they're sophomores," said Grenan. "They're money players. When the pressure's on, they don't back off."

The game was hardly of championship caliber. SC made just five-of-26 first-half shots. OCC wasn't much better, the Lady Raiders were one-for-20 to start the game and 10-of-41 in the first half. Eleven offensive rebounds allowed them to take a 23-17 halftime lead.

SC took the lead with 15 minutes left and never relinquished it, thanks to a pressure defense that forced countless turnovers and free-throw shooting. The Lady Ocelots were 11-of-12 from the line; OCC made just five-of-13.

The Lady Raiders got 14 points from Colleen Jacobson, 13 from Woodard and 10 from Long. OCC dipped to 4-2 in the conference.

IT WAS SC's second-straight win over a top conference contender. At Highland Park CC Saturday, SC held off the Lady Panthers — who shared the title with OCC last year — 71-69.

The Lady Ocelots led by 10 at the half (38-28) and by eight with 1:20 left before a late Highland Park rally. Dyksinski collected 15 points and 10 rebounds, Bazner notched 14 points (hitting four-of-five three-pointers) and DePlanche chipped in with 14 points and nine rebounds. Highland Park slipped to 13-3 overall, 4-1 in the conference with the loss.

Semester grades always cause for concern at SC

SOMEONE DEFINE human nature for me. Please. It sounds so innocuous, almost innocent when used to describe a quirk common to mankind.

Like stupidity. People do something stupid, admit it, try to convince others in a similar situation not to make the same mistake, and what happens? The same stupid thing. And it's dismissed as another example of human nature.

Example: Schoolcraft College. Imagine getting your college education paid for. Imagine, too, that if you run into a class that gives you trouble, all you have to do is mention it and you'll get instant help.

Now tell me how, in situations identical to these, a kid flunks out? Seems to me you'd have to try awfully hard to fail.

But it happens. Every January at SC. In spite of all the assistance, all the pleading, all the prodding, come January the Ocelot basketball teams lose someone because of lousy grades.

"WE TELL THEM and tell them and tell them," said SC mens coach Dave Bogataj. "We watch them, we lecture them, and they still do this. I guess they finally have to pay the consequences."

Five of Bogataj's players failed to make grades this year. Five out of 11. The leading scorer, the top three rebounders — all gone from a team that was mediocre to begin with.

SC was 1-5 in the Eastern Conference and 5-12 overall with these guys. What will the rest of the season be like without them? Winless, probably.

C.J. Risak

"It's all about maturity," said one of the casualties, Ed Hudson. "I just got careless."

At least he's honest. And Hudson has talent, both on and off the court. A Royal Oak Shrine graduate, he was leading SC in scoring (averaging 18.8 points a game) and was third in rebounding (4.6). At Shrine, Hudson was a 3.0 student. He scored 1100 on his SAT and 26 on his ACT, both exceptional marks. He plans to major in pre-law.

SO WHAT HAPPENED?

"We have a lot of freedom here, and I guess I just wasn't used to it," he admitted. "And this is a hard school."

Some of Hudson's grades are being rechecked, so there is a chance he could be reinstated — if an injured ankle (bone chips) doesn't sideline him anyway. Mark Koronka (9.0 points, 5.6 rebounds), the team's starting center, and Dameon Smith (11.7, 6.2), a starter at forward, are other key losses.

Also gone is Ken Nelson and, until he can make up an incomplete, Joe Miskovich. SC's womens team suffered, too. Coach Jack Grenan lost Ann Hardy, his top reserve, and Diane Lindsey.

Competing in a league as tough as the Eastern Conference is hard enough with a full complement of players. Try doing it with half a team.

"I don't know if it's as difficult as much as it's frustrating," said Bogataj. "I don't get as mad at the kids as disappointed in them."

UNFORTUNATELY, this year isn't an exception to the norm. Last season, Bogataj's first, he lost Deon Frederick, his second-leading scorer, to academic woes. Two others quit the team. SC was barely able to complete the schedule. Bogataj made due with a bunch of walk-ons who rarely played for their high school teams.

It's difficult to recruit good players. Finding those who are serious about getting an education, then convincing them to come to a community college for two years, multiplies the difficulty.

Then factor in SC's high degree of academics, at least compared to some of its conference rivals, and the task borders on impossible.

To SC's credit, they try very hard to keep their athletes eligible. They

Highland Park cagers whip Ocelots

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

The outcome was predictable. If lack of talent alone wasn't enough to cripple Schoolcraft College's chances against the high-powered Highland Park CC men's basketball machine, then the pervading gloom of another season lost because of academic deficiencies was.

SC lost 103-80 at home Saturday. The score seems lopsided, but it could've been worse. Next time the two teams meet — Feb. 8 at Highland Park — it probably will be.

The reason: The Ocelots lost five players, three of them starters, to the academic axman after Saturday's game. Included in that number were the team's top scorer (Ed Hudson) and its three best rebounders (Dameon Smith, Mark Koronka and Hudson).

"WHAT CAN I say?" said SC coach Dave Bogataj. "We turned over the ball like it was a hot potato. And I couldn't believe what we were doing in our man-to-man (defense). They were blowing right by us."

"I lost count after seven uncontested layups. They had more than in pre-game warm-ups."

After the Panthers (14-6 overall, 3-2 in the Eastern Conference) got in front by 10 points on a basket by Deon Boyce with 11:20 left in the first half, SC never narrowed the deficit to single digits. A rare four-point play by Willard Dean — he was fouled by Joe Miskovich as he sank a three-pointer — increased Highland Park's lead to 30-16.

At times, SC displayed an ability to score with the Panthers. Ken Fuster led the Ocelots with 19 points, many from long range. Al Hudson's inside game was impressive; he finished with 18 points. Bernard McGee contributed 12 and Miskovich scored 11.

BUT SC couldn't stop Highland Park. Six players scored eight points or more, including four in double figures: Andre Johnson (22), Dean (17), Boyce (16) and Dennis Small (15).

League victors

Wayne rolls; Glenn, Eagles also prevail

Wayne Memorial routed Dearborn Fordson, 56-43, in an important Wolverine A League boys basketball game Tuesday at Wayne.

The outcome left both teams tied in the league at 3-1. Wayne is 6-1 overall, while Fordson fell to 7-2 overall.

Tony Rumble paced the Zebras with 16 points and junior center Kevin Hankerson contributed 12 points and 11 rebounds. Chris Hebler added eight points for Wayne, which hadn't played since Thursday, Dec. 22.

"We weren't real sharp, but the kids played real hard," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said.

Wayne jumped out to a 14-4 lead after one quarter and never looked back.

Malak Harajli and Jeff Barwish were Fordson's only players in double figures with 17 and 10 points, respectively.

BISHOP BORGESS 70, GALLAGHER 41: Redford Bishop Borgess got a bundle of points in the paint and even more from the perimeter Tuesday as the host Spartans powered by Catholic League Central Division for Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Junior guard Shawn Respert scored 20 points and senior center Kareem Carpenter added 18 points and 15 rebounds for Borgess (2-1 in the Central and 4-4 overall).

Guard Charles North and forward Randy White added nine points each.

Marc Klatt paced Gallagher (0-3, 4-4) with 10 points. Borgess led 35-24 at halftime and outscored Gallagher 20-12 in the third quarter to take a commanding 55-36 before cruising home.

THURSTON 82, KENNEDY 67: Fernando Merida continued to burn the nets, scoring 24 points Tuesday in Redford Thurston's convincing Tri-River League win at Taylor Kennedy.

D.J. Kellogg and Jason Muller scored 21 points and 14 points, respectively for the Eagles, who are 5-1 in the Tri-River, 6-2 overall.

Kennedy's Brian White led both teams with 28 points, but it wasn't enough as the fell to 2-4 in the Tri-River, 4-5 overall.

JOHN GLENN 71, STEVENSON 70: Greg Anderson led Westland John Glenn with 21 points, and his basket with a minute left gave the host Rockets a 71-65 lead over visiting Livonia Stevenson in a Lakes Division game.

Glenn is 2-0 in the Lakes, 4-4 overall. Stevenson fell to 0-2, 4-3 overall.

The Spartans played without 6-foot-6 center Mike Vrooman, out at least eight weeks with a broken foot.

Glenn missed two front ends of one-and-one free throws in the closing minutes but Stevenson wasn't able to capitalize. A 3-point shot by Ron Baran and a basket by Scott Kosikowski trimmed Glenn's lead to one, 71-70 in the final minute, but that's how it ended.

Chris Poplin scored 19 points for Glenn before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Casey Killingbeck added 12 points.

Kosikowski led Stevenson with 22 points and Bob Sonie added 18. Chris Nazelli was the other Spartan in double figures with 10.

AVONDALE 82, CLARENCEVILLE 54: Auburn Hills Avondale led 27-12 after one quarter and cruised to the Metro Conference victory over the visitors from Livonia Clarenceville.

Avondale remained unbeaten in four Metro games, 8-2 overall. The Trojans, meanwhile, fell to 1-1 in the Metro, 2-4 overall.

Jay Larson and Rich Roy led Clarenceville with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Pat Magee and Jeff Kucemba paced the winners with 12 points apiece.

ST. AGATHA 75, CARDINAL MOONEY 50: Mike Boyle led the way for Redford St. Agatha Tuesday, scoring 21 points and hauling down 12 rebounds in the rout at Mount Clemens Cardinal Mooney.

Galen Walker added 18 points for Agatha, which improved to 4-1 in the Catholic League C-D Division A-Interconference. The Aggies are 6-1 overall.

Cardinal Mooney is winless in four league games, nine overall.

REDFORD UNION 82, TEMPLE 79: All five starters scored in double figures Tuesday for host Redford Temple Christian, but it wasn't enough to save the Patriots in the non-conference game.

The win improved RU to 4-3 overall, while Christian fell to 4-7.

Jeff Weiss and Brennan Figurski led Temple with 19 points each. Marlon Reed scored 16, followed by Roy Neal with 14 and Maurice Little, who scored 10.

RU was led by Joe Delfgauw, who poured in 25 points and John Burdick, who added 24. Steve Nowak chipped in with 11 points.

Burdick scored 17 of his points in the fourth quarter and made nine-of-12 free throws. Delfgauw made four, 3-point shots.

PINCKNEY 92, GARDEN CITY 73: Pinckney made 33-of-48 free throws Tuesday, holding on to drill Garden City in this non-conference game.

Kyle Bonesteel led three Pinckney players in double figures with 28 points.

The Cougars also had three players score in double figures, led by Jason Wynn and Paul Donaldson with 21 apiece. Jim Marszalek added 10 points. Bud Barnett led GC in rebounding with 12 caroms.

GC UNITED 83, NOVI CHRISTIAN 56: Tim Blatter led host Garden City United with 19 points and teammate Jason Cavin added 17.

Chad Presnell and Steve Selph scored nine points each for United, now 3-0 in the Michigan Association of Christian Schools. United is 7-3 overall. Novi Christian fell to 4-2, 5-2 overall.

Dennis Leech led Novi with 27 points and Mike Caswell added 20. GC's Ted Dillow led both teams in rebounding with 14.

Richards picks up slack in CC win against Rice

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

basketball

Terry Boykin had the flu Tuesday and wasn't able to play for Redford Catholic Central, so Ray Richards decided to show up.

Coach Bernie Holowicki is glad he did.

Richards scored a season-high 28 points and grabbed eight rebounds, leading host CC to a resounding 63-53 win over Catholic-League rival Birmingham Brother Rice.

The win keeps CC unbeaten in three Central Division games, 4-4 overall. Rice fell to 1-2, 4-4 overall.

Richards' performance was a pleasant surprise for Holowicki, who sometimes wonders where Richards is on the court. He is one of the reasons Holowicki's voice is so hoarse after games.

"THE LAST COUPLE games Ray has been coming to play," Holowicki said. "If he comes to play, we'll be all right."

"Ray played at another level today. A notch higher than usual."

Richards missed only one of his eight shot attempts, and he's never played better than that against Rice.

"I've never seen him play that hard and rebound that well," Carrico said. "He was a major difference in this game. That was the best anyone's played against us this year."

"I told my team, 'Don't relax, because I've seen so many games where one of the better players (like Boykin) wasn't able to play and the rest of the players have the games of their lives. I don't think we relaxed, we just didn't play well.'"

Holowicki needed a big-time effort out of Richards with Boykin, CC's leading scorer and point-guard, out of the lineup. Sophomore Steve Whitlow, normally a small forward, also performed admirably, playing in place of Boykin at point guard.

WHITLOW SCORED only six points, but handled Rice's full-court pressure. Jeff Schaner was the only other CC player in double figures, scoring 17 points.

"Terry played sick against (Harper Woods Bishop) Gallagher," Holowicki said, "and he's been in bed since. We gave Whitlow a crash course Sunday and Monday at point guard and for a young sophomore, he did an excellent job."

David Washington led Rice with 22 points, but he made only seven-of-24 shots from the field. In fact, Rice missed all nine of its field goal attempts in the first quarter, and trailed 8-2 before the game was five minutes old.

CC led 13-3 after one quarter and 29-19 at halftime, and its match-up zone defensive frustrated Rice all night.

"We fell behind 10-0 (actually 8-0) and end up losing by 10 points," Carrico said, philosophically. "We haven't been playing well-offensively the last week-and-a-half, and it's tough to come back when your not."

"Teams give David (Washington) a lot of special attention. He's a great player, but when you're constantly double-teamed, it's hard to play the whole game. The other players have to shoot it in and they didn't."

JUNIOR PAUL Arthur did his best to keep Rice close, scoring 11 points and making two 3-point shots. Consecutive 3-point shots by Washington and Arthur trimmed CC's lead to six, 55-49, with 1:33 left, but that's as close as Rice got.

Whitlow and Richards then made both ends of one-and-one bonus free throw attempts, pushing the Shamrocks lead to 10, 59-49, with less than a minute left.

Richards scored 14 points in the final quarter and the most impressive points came on a dunk with 3:19 left, giving CC a 52-40 lead. Richards must be watching a lot of University of Michigan games.

"Dunks are always nice to get," Richards said. "I was open and he (Matt Putti) hit me. They usually pick up the team."

Hall, Donehue combine for 59 in Franklin victory

By Brad Effons
staff writer

It was a battle of matador defenses Tuesday, but Roy Hall and Mark Donehue led a band of Livonia Franklin picadors as they gored city rival Churchill, 69-67, in a WLA Western Division boys basketball battle.

Hall, the jump-shooting artist who scored 18 third-quarter points on eight-for-eight shooting, finished with a game-high 33, while 6-foot-2 Donehue had Churchill bleeding in the paint, adding 26.

Donehue converted eight of nine from the free throw line to go along with 10 rebounds.

The win increases Franklin's record to 4-3 overall and 1-1 in the division, while Churchill slipped to 3-5 and 1-1.

It was a night where defenders on both sides were chanting "Oie," as they waved and stepped aside all oncoming rushes.

A LACK OF DEFENSE was no more evident than in the third quarter when the 5-11 Hall, finding himself free for open jumpers, led a 24-18 scoring spurt.

The Patriots were also helped by a

But the victory, the second in a row by Franklin after the holiday break, was encouraging to coach Rod Hanna.

"We worked hard over the break and we scrimmaged three times," said the Franklin coach. "Our goal is to play hard and smart every time out. We're beginning to believe in ourselves. We're starting to feel good about ourselves, but we've got a lot of work to do, especially rebounding. And definitely we could work better on our inside defense. Our guards have to drop down and defend the post better."

BUT HALL, who scored 34 points Friday in an upset win at North Farmington, is proving to be an offensive force.

"Roy is shooting the ball well and he's capable," added Hanna. "He's excellent in the open floor and his confidence is building. He's attacking the basket well and he's also picked up his defense."

Hanna, however, said it was a "total team effort."

Franklin also got contributions from junior point-guard Mark Little, who making his second start in place of the injured Craig Overaitis, dished out nine assists. And senior guard John Shea, despite a bout with the flu, added six assists.

"We share the ball and hit the open player," said Hanna. "Shea was sick, but he played his heart out the whole way. That kind of gutsy performance typifies our team. You cannot question our guts and intensity."

CHURCHILL COACH Fred Price said his team's "inability to quiet him (Hall)," particularly in the third quarter, is what turned the tide in Franklin's favor.

"They were able to penetrate our zone a little bit in the third quarter and that hurt us," Price said.

Churchill, after falling behind by as many as eight points midway through the final quarter, made a late rally, pulling to within two, 65-63, on two free throws by Chad Campau with 3:05 remaining.

But the Chargers missed a critical layup and failed to put their opponent at the free throw line down the stretch as Franklin smartly worked the clock with a four-corner delay offense.

Churchill, however, did have the Tim Lenear and Leneal Whitehead netted eight apiece.

By halftime, the score was 54-40. The Ocelots were never closer in the second half.

With just six players on the roster that were with the team when the season started, Bogataj knows the outlook is bleak. "We're out looking at some kids who are in school here who might help," he said.

It's the second time Bogataj has faced a player-shortage problem.

Last season, his first as coach, he lost his second-leading scorer, Deon Frederick, to grades. Two other starters quit.

"I don't know if it's a perpetual problem," he offered. "It's one I'm going to have to rectify. I'm going to have to try and get 16 or 17 players instead of 12 or 13. But we don't have that many kids walk into the gym (to tryout). I'll keep going at it, keep on recruiting."

The Ocelots slipped to 5-12 overall and 1-5 in the conference with the defeat.

Blazers turn back Mercy

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Farmington Mercy has fashioned itself as a team capable of repeated comebacks early in the 1989 volleyball season.

The Marlins were on the verge of doing it again Monday night, but catching the defending Catholic League and Class A champion was too tall an order.

Instead, it was Livonia Ladywood that roared from behind in the third game and won the Central Division showdown 15-10, 12-15, 15-8 at Schoolcraft College.

"We've got a tough group," Blazers coach Tom Teeters said. "We've got a lot of talent left over from last year, and some new talent has come in."

Senior attackers Sarah Adzima and Stacey Girard, holdovers from the championship team, were instrumental in the victory with their hitting and general front-row play, while junior Peggy Knittel and the sophomore duo of Keli Haeger and Rebecca Willey added their support.

ADZIMA, WHO helped nail down the win with two late kills that put unbeaten Ladywood (2-0) in position for match point, and Girard had a team-high 10 kills apiece. Haeger knocked down five attacks and Knittel three.

"Early in the year, we're going to (Adzima and Girard) most of the time, but we're going to spread it around eventually," Teeters said. "They hit the most, but scoring-wise our leaders were Willey, Haeger and Knittel."

While the Ladywood serving was sharp, the Marlins had difficulty with serve reception when the game was on the line.

volleyball

There was no doubt in Teeters' mind the Domanski sisters, senior Dana and junior Kari, were largely responsible for the Blazers' success. Dana was on the line for 16 Ladywood points and had seven aces.

"They key to this match was the Domanskis coming through with their serving when we had the right people up front," Teeters said. "Haeger got us started in the third, she got us back in the game."

THE MARLINS, 1-1 in the division and 9-3 overall, jumped in front 6-0 in the finale behind the serving of sophomore Becky Leddy and hitting of Andrea Velthoven. After Dana Domanski served an ace to break Mercy's momentum, the Blazers rallied to tie during Haeger's turn in the rotation.

Except for a brief interruption when Leddy, who played well in place of starter Jennifer Goff, scored back-to-back points, it was all Ladywood after the poor start.

Adzima had a dink and two kills for points down the stretch, and the Blazers won it when a Mercy attacker hit the ball out of bounds. Because their setter had to go deep to take the pass, the Marlins often ended up lobbing the ball over the net just to keep play alive.

"We gave them a lot of free balls when it was 6-0, and Adzima and Girard are excellent hitters," Mercy coach Tim DeBeliso said.

"All they were doing was hitting the ball hard at us. We weren't hitting the ball hard at them and making them work for it. When you let two good hitters take free swings at the ball, you create a lot of problems for yourself."

Ladywood dominated most of the first game, leading 6-0 behind Dana Domanski's serving. The Marlins cut it to 8-6 with a Leddy kill, but the Blazers worked their way to a five-point win, culminating with an Adzima kill.

MERCY REGROUPED in the second game, bouncing back from a 3-1 deficit to lead 7-2 and 13-9.

Velthoven, who had 12 kills in 20 attacks, paced the effort with five service points early and later demonstrated her ability as an attacker. Pam Gryn came off the bench to serve the last two points, including an ace for the game winner.

"(Velthoven) has to be a force for us game in and game out," DeBeliso said. "She has to be if we're going to be a good team."

After playing tentatively in her first starting assignment last Saturday, Leddy impressed DeBeliso with her aggressiveness. She was 10-of-13 as an attacker and had only two errors in 19 serves. Pam Thompson had nine kills out of 11 attacks.

"We did well hitting," DeBeliso said. "Where we tend to have a lot of errors is in serve reception. (Nikki Burns) does a good job (as the setter), but when you're not passing well it's hard for the setter to get to the ball and run an effective offense."

"We're disappointed because we felt if we had played well we could have won tonight. We started out 6-0 and just broke down. But the errors are all correctable."

Clarenceville spikers eye another Metro title

Livonia Clarenceville opened defense of its 1988 Metro Conference volleyball championship Thursday with an impressive win at home over Harper Woods.

The 15-7, 15-11 triumph over Harper Woods gave coach Mary Hursley another reason to believe Clarenceville will contend again in 1989. The other primary reasons are the return of hitters Kari Watson, Joann Zeabari and Lora Maguire.

"Our goal is to take it (the Metro) again," Hursley said. "We have the material to do it again. We lost four seniors, and they were good ones. But the girls are really hustling and real motivated."

Senior Debbie Stewart and Juniors Tara Riedl and Angie Stevens all will be counted on to contribute, Hursley said. Riedl is a setter and Stewart and Stevens are hitters.

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS evened its Catholic League record at 1-1 Monday, putting away visiting Serving is a concern.

"We've got to get our serves in," Hursley said. "That was a problem last week (against Harper Woods). We missed nine serves."

On Tuesday, Watson and Zeabari combined for 11 kills as Clarenceville dominated visiting Willow Run, 15-11, 16-14.

Maguire and Riedl were the top servers on the night.

Harper Woods Regina, 15-8, 15-9.

Melissa Mars, Ann DiMambro, Tanisha Stokes and Val Perrone, all seniors, recorded five kills apiece.

Junior Mazie Pilut added five service aces.

Coach Jerry Abraham said Lynn Alcalá and Kim Kupiec played well defensively.

Patriots' Murray stops Milford, 6-0

Dan Murray must have Milford's number.

The Livonia Franklin goal-keeper, who shut out Milford's hockey team earlier this season, blanked the Redskins again Saturday, 6-0 at Milford.

Charlie Olschanski scored two goals for the winners Bryan Harris, Dan McKay, Matt Sharkey and Mike Zajdel tallied one goal each. Brian Stover collected three assists, while Rob Ingersoll and Sharkey picked up two assists apiece.

The Patriots led 3-0 after one period, before scoring two goals in the second and one in the third.

REDFORD CC 6, ANN ARBOR HURON 1: Redford Catholic Central improved to 3-1 in the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League Saturday after the decisive win at Redford Arena.

Paul Pirronello's hat trick sparked CC, now 7-1 overall. Pirronello scored two goals in the third period when the Shamrocks managed to put some distance between themselves and the River Rats.

CE led only 3-1 after two periods. Keith Bozyk, Scott Lock and Matt Keenan scored one goal each for CC. Bozyk also collected three assists.

Academic woes for Ocelots offer the Student Athlete Support System, which outlines everything necessary for the athlete.

"There's only so much you can do," said SC athletic director Ed Kavanaugh. "This is a model program, like (University of) Michigan's, only on a smaller scale. Athletes can get assistance from a tutor whenever they want it."

SASS, AS IT'S known, includes a three-to-four hour orientation to start the year. Advisers fill in grid sheets for each athlete, diagramming each hour of every day, to aid athletes in planning daily schedules. Progress reports on each player are submitted to coaches twice each semester.

In spite of all this, players still fail. How? Bogataj was admittedly baffled, saying several of those who flunked had passing grades until the final weeks of the semester.

Kavanaugh isn't happy with the situation. He's planning "a major change" by increasing the number of progress reports on athletes, from twice a semester to weekly. If an athlete messes up in a class, he won't play that week.

Portage rules Salem invitational

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Near the end of Saturday's Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational, Westland John Glenn coach Tom Buckalew sauntered over to the winner's area, looking for his team's trophy.

Kiddingly, he grabbed one of the three trophies sitting on the winner's stand. None of them were his. He peered under the scorer's table, hoping to find a piece of hardware.

Nothing there.

"Where's our trophy?" he asked Salem coach Ron Krueger, the tournament director.

"You don't get one," Krueger replied.

THE TWO LAUGHED. Even Buckalew, coach of the eighth-place team, was in a festive mood.

The first-place trophy belonged to Portage Central, which finished with 210½ points. Salem earned second place with 170 points, followed by Mount Clemens with 135. Loc Performance sponsored the invitational.

Eight Observerland teams competed, including North Farmington, which finished a distant seventh place with 83 points, just ahead of Glenn (74).

Defending champion Redford Catholic Central and Eaton Rapids, another powerhouse, weren't there to dominate the competition, so that opened the field. Krueger said CC was invited this year, but by the time the Shamrocks acknowledged the invitation, he already had filled the 17-team field.

"It seems like a happy tournament," Krueger said. "Everyone has a chance, instead of when CC or Eaton Rapids is here. When CC is here their fans are all yelling 'Eat the mat, eat the mat.' Today, everyone in the crowd is happy."

"WHEN IT'S fun, it's not work. Plus, we're not going to be here until the cows come home. I want to thank the parents and the Salem Booster Club for all their help."

Portage Central, no doubt, had the most fun.

The Mustangs won three of the weight classes, and three other Mustangs reached the finals before losing.

Central's winners were T.K. Muraoka (103), John Butler (112) and Scott McCloughan (125).

"I knew we had a shot at it, but I didn't think we'd win like this," Portage Central coach Mike McCloughan said. "We had a good week of practice, and it makes for a fun day. When the ball gets rolling, it inspires everyone, and they seem to wrestle better."

"It's always fun to come here. It's a well-run tournament and Krueger is a good host. He tries to make it fun. Last year we had a terrible day wrestling-wise (fifth place), but we still had fun. It wasn't Krueger's fault we wrestled crummy."

SALEM ENJOYED a successful day behind the wrestling of the Burlington brothers. Steve Burlison won the 160-pound class, and Brian Burlison son claimed a title in the 171-pound bracket. Three Rocks lost in the finals.

Salem's Craig Richardson lost to John Butler (Portage Central) in the finals of the 112-pound class. Mike Shumate (130) and Ed Barlage (140) also reached the finals before losing. Salem also got a strong performance from Ken Stopa (119), who was seeded sixth but finished third.

"We're happy with the people we have here and the way they've done," Krueger said. "Portage Central is a senior team, and we've got only three seniors in our whole program. Maybe next year that could be us at the top."

North Farmington's Zaim Cummulaj won the heavyweight division, pinning all four opponents. He pinned Tim Luce of Portage Northern at 1:35 of the final. Cummulaj was trailing 4-0 at the time.

"I WRESTLED sloppy, mainly on my feet in the final match," said Cummulaj, 15-1. "I was overconfident. But then I threw a lateral drop, went crazy and pinned him."

Jack Beall (125) and Matt Thompson (135) also recorded second-place finishes in their respective classes for North.

Thompson's loss in the final came to Glenn's Bob Matigian, who is now 17-0. Livonia Stevenson placed 10th overall (49), but Kurt Will made it to the finals at 152 before losing to Wayne Memorial's Jason Kopcak.

Stevenson coach Don Berg said the Salem tourney is a good measuring stick for the season, which already is half over.

"It's a tough field," Berg said. "We come out of this tournament having seen good competition and good wrestlers."

"We've compacted the season so much, it's unbelievable."

"By the end of the month, we wrestle the (Western Lakes Activities Association) league meet (Saturday, Jan. 28). Then we have to get ready for state after that. We've got three weeks before we get ready for the finals."

Matigian gets 100th victory

Rob Matigian captured his 100th match of his career Tuesday, but it wasn't enough as Westland John Glenn fell to host Romulus, one of the top prep wrestling teams in the state, 43-16.

The 140-pounder scored a 7-1 decision and came back for his 101st career win as Glenn pounded Ypsilanti in the second half of the double-header, 55-15.

Scott Lefler (103) was the only other Glenn matman to score two wins. He won on counts of 10-3 and 1:44 (pin).

Eric Ewing (125) and Cory Buckalew (145) each won one and tied a match.

Other Glenn wrestlers scoring wins included DeJohn Connor (112), Karl Pace (119), Paul Gottlieb (135), Mike McKenney (152), Garnett Woody (171), Derek Tharp (189) and Joe Williams (heavyweight).

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL finished second Saturday to host Lansing Sexton in a five-team dual meet tournament.

CC scored victories over Adrian (41-25), Howell (56-15) and Flint Northern (38-27) before losing to the host Big Reds, 37-35.

Heavyweight Lee Krueger had a big day, scoring four consecutive pins to raise his season record to 21-1-1.

Matt Helm (130) also won four times, three by pin, to increase his personal mark to 21-1.

Other CC wrestlers unbeaten on the day included Jay Helm (140) and Mike Gentile (125).

Posting 3-1 records were: Jose Tandoc (135), Brian Tuiley (145) and Lou Yeager (189).

CC stands 10-3 overall in dual meets.

Bernie Carbo gets Clarenceville post

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Bernie Carbo, the man who hit two dramatic homers in the memorable 1975 World Series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox, is the new baseball coach at Livonia Clarenceville.

The 41-year-old Westland native, who is replacing Mike Shearer (now at Milford), is no stranger to the area.

He was a prep star at Livonia Franklin where he was drafted No. 1 overall out of high school (1965) by the Cincinnati Reds.

In 1970 he was voted National League Rookie of the Year, hitting .310 with the Reds.

Known as a free spirit during his 11-year pro career, which included stops in Boston, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Carbo has been running "We Are Family Hair Stylists" in Wyandotte since he retired in 1980.

During the past eight years, the former outfielder has been a guest instructor at several baseball clinics around the country.

"BERNIE HAD applied at several other places, and he seemed quite serious about trying to develop a program," said Clarenceville athletic director Leo Kinsella.

Carbo, who was once turned down in his bid to become a minor league hitting instructor, is "glad the AD (Kinsella) and principal (Dave Simowski) gave me the opportunity."

"I want eventually to build up to maybe a college job, and it's a start," said Carbo. "I know I've got to start somewhere, and I appreciate the opportunity to get my feet wet."

"I'm looking forward to it. Hopefully we'll have a good turnout and we'll be successful."

It was well-documented that Carbo and Sparky Anderson clashed during their days in Cincinnati. It's ironic that now Carbo will be calling the shots as manager.

"I'M NOT GOING to have a lot of rules, but the thing I ask is that they show up every day and that they're on time," Carbo said. "I want them to have respect for themselves and for me. I'm sure I'll have to deal with problems, but I'm strictly going to teach baseball. I'm going to teach them to play fair, play hard and to win. I'll follow what the school wants. I won't tolerate drinking, smoking or drugs. Just say no, right?"

Carbo plans to have a meeting with the players at 6-tonight at the school.

"I've got to get to know them and hopefully we'll make the right choices," he said. "I want to create an atmosphere where they want to come out every day."

Carbo said he will stress fundamentals.

"We want a good pitching staff, and we want to be strong up the middle," he said. "We'll start sometime in March indoors and go from there."

Carbo said Gordy Rutherford will work with the pitchers, while Jim Neve will become the JV coach. Carbo said he also hopes to retain former Clarenceville JV coach Mike LeMeux.

Carbo's dad Joe, a part-time scout, will also help out on occasion.

"My dad is the one who saw the ad in the paper about this job," said Bernie. "I really wanted to get into coaching, and I appreciate getting the chance."

While playing for his pinch-hit 3-run homer in Game No. 6 of the '75 series. The homer tied the game at 6-6 and the Red Sox went on to win behind Carlton Fisk's dramatic homer, which forced a seventh and deciding game against the Reds. (Cincinnati went on to win the Series).

Carbo also played in the '70 Series for the Reds against Oakland.

Divine Child assistant Balaj to coach Trojans

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Vic Balaj, an assistant coach the past eight years at Dearborn Divine Child, is new football coach at Livonia Clarenceville High.

Balaj replaces Ralph Weddle, who went 120-83-1 in 22 years before retiring at the end of the 1988 season.

Balaj was Divine Child's defensive coordinator the past two years. He also served as the weight training coach, in addition to being the secondary and wide receivers coach.

Prior to his stint at DC, Balaj coached three years at PCA Ford.

"We were impressed primarily with his background and experience," said Clarenceville athletic director Leo Kinsella, who interviewed six candidates before the list was pared to two finalists. "Vic has 11 years on the varsity level, and he comes from a highly successful program. He has some positive ideas to get the participation back to where it should be."

LAST YEAR the Trojans finished 6-3, despite finishing the season with only 17 varsity players and no JV team.

"He's very enthusiastic and wants to revamp our weight room and wants a conditioning program for all our athletes," Kinsella said. "It's going to take money, but he's going to start some fund-raising efforts."

Balaj, who teaches English, social studies and physical education at Divine Child, could not be reached for comment. He was in Ohio attending his grandfather's funeral.

Divine Child coach Wes Wishart said "It makes me feel good" that another one of his assistants has become a head coach.

football

"This is my fifth coach who has gone on to either a head varsity position in high school or college job," Wishart said. "Vic is very organized and he knows how to coach. You're not going to get anybody who works harder. He's a good addition to a school like Clarenceville. He's a disciplinarian and a hard worker."

"It's a loss to our program. I'm happy in one regard, and not happy in another because I'm a little selfish. But they're going to get a man who eats, drinks and sleeps football."

BALAJ, who holds a master's degree in athletic administration, was a part of some very good DC teams. While he was at DC, Balaj was part of a staff that appeared in six Catholic High School League A-B Division finals. The Falcons also captured 37 straight league games and won the 1985 state Class B championship.

Kinsella said that record impressed principal Dave Simowski along with superintendent Dr. Mike Shubler.

"I talked to the principal myself about Vic, and I see Clarenceville as a model for other schools," Wishart said. "They see sports as an important identity to the school."

Kinsella said that Balaj will be forming a staff in the near future. The AD indicated that the lone two holdovers from Weddle's staff, Rob McCamant and Steve Buehl, will be interviewed as well.

Going for gold

Area figure skaters eye trip to nationals

By Marty Budner
staff writer

Jason Dungen and Paula Visigardi are new partners in the world of figure skating.

They successfully completed Phase I of their icy relationship over the weekend by placing first in Senior Pairs competition at the 1989 Midwestern Figure Skating Championships held at the Detroit Skating Club. They will embark on Phase 2 of their quest for gold and glory at the national championships Feb. 6-12 in Baltimore.

The stellar showing at the Midwestern Sectional — one of three sectional competitions held across the country — came as a nice surprise to Dungen and Visigardi.

"It was a goal to place first (at the Sectional), but I didn't really think we'd win it. We've only been skating together for eight months," said Dungen, a 1985 Troy Athens High School graduate.

Dungen, who's been skating for seven years, recently returned from a two-year hiatus from the sport. His comeback couldn't have come at a more opportune time.

DUNGEN AND Visigardi, coached by former Olympian Johnny Johns, were second after their two-minute, 40-second short program. They performed a fine free skate to win that competition and take first overall by one-tenth of a point over Elaine Asanakis (University of Delaware FSC) and Joel McKeever (Dallas FSC).

"I was tired and needed a break (from skating). I feel much better now, and I was really glad I took that time off," said Dungen. "I think we have a lot of work to do as a team, but we're getting there. We have to get to know each other a little more. But I was very happy we were able to finish first."

Dungen, 21, said he'd like to one day win a national championship and qualify for the Olympics. The top two placers at this year's national championships qualify for the U.S. team, which will represent the country at the world championships later this winter.

With the retirement of many of the Olympic figure skaters after the 1988 games in Calgary, Dungen figures now is a golden opportunity to make something happen within the next couple years.

"This is a perfect year to return because the doors are wide open," he said. "But that's not the real reason why I got back into skating. I came back because I just wanted to give it one more shot."

THE SENIOR men's and women's winners were DANIEL DORAN (Colorado Skating Club) and JENI MENO (Winterhurst Figure Skating Club), respectively. Michelle Whitman of the Detroit Skating Club was 11th in the Senior Ladies competition.

Rochester resident Shanda Smith (Detroit Skating Club) and partner Brandon Smith (University of Delaware SC) placed fourth behind Dungen and Visigardi in Senior Pairs. Livonia resident Jodie Balogh and partner Jerod Swallow (Broadmoor Skating Club), former national junior champions, placed second in Senior Dance.

Dan Hollander of Huntington Woods (Detroit Skating Club) placed seventh in Junior Men's competition. His best showing was third in the optional program. John Wright of the Garden City Skating Club placed last in Junior Men.

Angela Deneweth of Westland (Detroit Skating Club) was last in Junior Ladies competition. Birmingham's Jill Attenson (Detroit Skating Club) and partner Richard Peal (Skokie Valley SC) placed seventh (eight competitors) in Junior Dance competition.

North Farmington graduate Jennifer Bayer (Detroit Skating Club) and partner Sean Gales had a nasty spill in their long program. Bayer fell to the ice and was taken to the hospital. She reportedly had been released and was in good condition by Tuesday.

The four-day Midwestern Sectional included more than 300 participants representing 60 clubs from 22 states across the country. It is the largest of the United States Figure Skating Association's three sectional tournaments.

The Detroit Skating Club has hosted regional figure skating competition on occasion. But this was the first Midwestern sectional hosted by the Bloomfield Township facility.

GOP school aid plan would divert more state spending

(AP) — Just weeks after the Michigan Legislature killed a school finance plan, Senate Republican leaders have drafted a new proposal. They say it will boost state financing of public schools by more than $500 million a year.

But it, too, faces a long road. Organizers must gather enough petition signatures and win either acceptance by the Legislature or approval by state voters.

The proposal doesn't call for a tax increase, but would set aside a larger share of the state budget for schools, according to Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron.

"This is a concept we've argued for from day one," DeGrow said. "This is re-establishing priorities."

He said backers will discuss the idea with education, business and other groups and decide near the end of January whether to launch a petition drive to place it on the ballot.

THE PROPOSAL is aimed at reducing the gap between rich and poor school districts in Michigan. Currently, the poorest districts spend less than $2,500 per pupil a year. The richer ones — such as Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Southfield, Farmington and Livonia — allocate $5,000 to $7,000 per pupil per year.

Senate GOP leaders said they would draft such a proposal after the Legislature failed last month to approve legislation to cut property taxes for homeowners and businesses, raise the sales tax to 5 percent from 4 percent, and dedicate 10.7 percent of the budget for education.

DeGrow said many school officials are supporting the new idea, but he acknowledged that it's expected to draw opposition from many lawmakers who want to protect other areas of the budget.

"House Democrats are not real keen on this," he said.

THE PROPOSAL, he said, calls for earmarking 11 percent of the state budget for education in 1991. Each year for five years, it would be raised by 1 percent year to a total of 15 percent. Now, 7.4 percent of the budget goes for schools.

The budget for the current fiscal year calls for spending $6.7 billion from the general fund, the state's main checking account.

Three percent of the budget would be set aside for community colleges, and the state would guarantee at least $3,000 per year for each school pupil, DeGrow said.

He said the program would be funded by growth in the state budget, as long as spending for other programs is frozen. But he said an extra $230 million would be needed in the first year of the plan.

If lawmakers decide to go ahead, they would start circulating petitions in April, DeGrow said.

They would have to collect 191,726 valid signatures within six months to force a special election, although the Legislature would have an opportunity to pass the law itself before the election is held.

Also backing the new plan is Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant.

BUT THE CHAIRMAN of the Senate Appropriations Committee is cool to the idea.

The Booth Newspapers reported that Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, said the budgets of at least four state departments would have to be wiped out to meet the proposed school spending increases.

"I'm not happy about it," Gast said. "I think they should define where these dollars are going to come from."

Fresh, new look Couple take to contemporary with no regrets

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

When a well-known area builder and his wife moved from a family home with an eclectic decor to a roomy, gracious condo, they decided they wanted a contemporary environment.

Birmingham-based interior designer Ed Born was ready with lots of ideas, starting with the blueprints of the proposed construction. Although plans called for a cathedral ceiling, he advised a high flat one. "It's better with a contemporary look, especially with art," he says.

Half of the double guest closet in the foyer became an attractive bar area at the entrance to the great room. One of the more difficult designs to pull off, which was worth the effort, was the half columns with a depressed ring of red neon about two thirds up that flank of the great room window wall.

Born builds a sense of drama, but never lets it get out of hand. He also recommended that some of the doorways off the foyer be widened and angled.

HE WAS surprised when his client said she wanted a dining table to seat 16, but he obliged with a Saporiti glass top table on concrete and stainless steel triangles and black leather and chrome chairs.

The furniture in the seating area of the great room is taupe with a cluster of throw pillows in a textured aqua. The handsome coffee table, which Born designed for Brueton years ago, is glass mirror with steel with a black finish. With limed oak bare floors and neutral walls, the setting is ideal to showcase an outstanding collection of paintings.

A myriad of color lines from a large Aris Koutroulis painting on the long wall by the dining room table set up an exciting dialogue with a brilliant Lakemann work of a painter's cup and brushes across from it.

Caught between them, and completely unimpressed, hangs a delightful figure of a debonair gentleman by Michigan artist Stephen Hanson. The figure brings a human and humorous quality to the otherwise cerebral art collection — a strong change of pace from the lovely, muted color painting at the other end of the room by Harold Linton, professor at Lawrence Technological University and talented artist.

While Born said his clients chose the paintings independently (and well), he provided an elegant atmosphere for them. Neither he nor his clients wanted obvious window coverings, but they did decide to install semi-transparent privacy blinds to use at night. When not in use, they form little more than an architectural line over the windows.

In addition to the bar and coffee table, Born designed the stainless steel wall server in the dining area, the black lacquer finish server with the black granite top, a large stainless steel and ash entertainment center in the den, and structural accessories such as a stairway banister and rail.

Born's client described her great room as "very liveable." Would she want to go back to the former eclectic environment? No way.

The great room has an atmosphere that is luxurious, upbeat and decidedly liveable. The painting in soft colors is by Harold Linton, master colorist and professor at Lawrence Institute of Technology. Ed Born designed the coffee table and the pillars with a band of red neon.

Birmingham-based interior designer Ed Born was ready with lots of ideas, starting with the blueprints of the proposed construction. Although plans called for a cathedral ceiling, he advised a high flat one.

The dining area of the great room is presided over by a debonair three-dimensional figure by Michigan sculptor Stephen Hanson. The server under the Lakemann painting was designed by Born. It is black lacquer finish with a granite top and looks like marble.

Miniature makers create many little miracles

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

While miniature makers and collectors will be ecstatic over "Masterpieces in Miniature" at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association through January, less tightly connected people may find these works thoroughly enchanting.

It is almost impossible not to enjoy elegantly crafted reproductions of magnificent period furniture done on a one-inch to one-foot scale installed in a house completely equipped right down to the last working electric light.

One like this, a repro of the Deacon Bailey House of Portland, Maine, the oldest house in town and typically New England, is one of the major exhibits in a gallery of show stoppers.

Another certain to grab its share of admirers is a fully equipped working carousel made by Ronald A. Lee, complete with band organ, mirrors and animals on poles that go up and down to the music.

Both of these, on loan from private collectors, are prime examples of the miniature maker's art. In fact, the exhibition is possible because Criss Goad, owner of Miniature Maker's Workshop of Royal Oak, and her co-chairman, Duffy Weinstein, have become acquainted with a prestigious group of artists and collectors, the International Guild of Miniature Artisans, IGMA.

They did this through attending the Guild school in Castine, Maine on Penobscot Bay.

Goad said that until this show she has had exhibits of the work of local artisans in her showroom, but this is her first full-scale exhibition of the miniature works of nationally recognized artists.

Most impressive of all is the extent and detail of the each piece. A hand-blown beautifully etched clear glass wine decanter with stopper by Frank Whittemore of Pennsylvania could easily be lost in the palm of a hand. His cranberry glass wine goblets, about as long as the tip of a little finger, are done in exacting detail.

Artisan to teach carousel carving

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

Miniature artist, Judy Shellhaas of Plymouth, said her carousel animals are "an exact 1-inch-to-1-foot scale. Since many full-size carousel animals are up to 7 feet long, her creatures run to as much as 7 inches. Each, she said, takes up to 400 hours to complete.

"The ostrich took 350 hours and I already have 400 hours in on the lion I'm working on and he isn't done yet," she said. However, the lion as well as the ostrich made it into "Masterpieces in Miniature" at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association through Jan. 28.

The animals started as a project with her students and she is determined to carry it through to the end. She teaches a class in carousel carving in Toledo and is just starting one at the Miniature Makers Workshop of Royal Oak.

The Livonia Symphony chamber group debuts Friday night in a mini concert with an Italian theme in the new Livonia Civic Center Library auditorium. David Wassenaar (left) will be the narrator; Francesco DiBlasi is conductor; soloists are Mary Irvine and harpist Christa Grix.

Salud!

Guest artists highlight miniconcert

The Livonia Symphony Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Francesco DiBlasi, opens its Friday night mini series at 8 p.m. Friday in the Livonia Civic Center library with a salute to music with an Italian flavor, for the most part.

The program will feature a special arrangement of the "Italian Spectacular," the overture to "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini and the "Italian Serenade" by Wolf.

Guest artists include harpist Christa Grix, who has performed in concert at Symphony Hall in Boston, the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., and as featured soloists with the International Symphony Orchestra.

Grix was a prize winner in the 1986 Eastern Pop and Jazz Harp competition held in Boston and was the only harpist invited to Halifax, Nova Scotia, as a young artist for the Scotia Festival of Music. Locally, she has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Michigan Opera Theater, Detroit Symphony Orchestra Chorale and has performed with several nationally acclaimed artists including Johnny Mathis, Perry Como, Gladys Knight and the Pips and Aretha Franklin.

ALSO ON THE PROGRAM will be singer Mary Irvine, noted concert artist and oratorio soloist. Irvine has performed in England and Ireland as well as in the U.S. Along with her performance schedule, she has taught at Oakland University and in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Also featured in the program will be Roger Welton on flute. Narrator will be David Wassenaar.

The concert is one of three planned by the chamber group in the new library facility. The second concert will have a Viennese theme and will honor the late DSO conductor Antal Dorati's "La Vie Parisienne." The March 10 concert will have an All-American flavor, featuring such selections as Aaron Copland's "Outdoor Overture" and selections from "West Side Story."

Series tickets are $24 for general admission, with a $12 admission for students under 21 and senior citizens. Individual tickets are $5 for students and seniors and $8.50 for general admission. Tickets are available at the library, Five Mile just east of the City Hall complex, Hammell Music on Middlebelt Road and Madonna College. Tickets may also be purchased by mail with a check to Livonia Symphony Orchestra, 30499 Plymouth Road, Livonia 48154.

The chamber group is part of the Livonia Symphony Orchestra, formerly the Oakway Symphony.

'Remainder' tables profit all but authors

THE HOLIDAYS are over and, as usual, what little money is left after the spending orgy has to be carefully allotted. For me, that should mean stay out of the bookstores. Well, we know that's not going to happen, so all I can say is thank Herá for the remainder tables.

Remainder tables are where the out-of-date and undersold books settle, and almost every bookstore has one or more. Out of respect for the authors of those books, I used to shun those tables. Because warehousing is so tight and stockpiling books is so unprofitable for publishers these days, they've taken to "remaindering" the books that haven't sold. That is, they recoup some of their losses by selling them for practically nothing to distributors who in turn sell them for next to nothing to the bookstores.

Everybody's happy except — guess who? The author. There are no royalties on remaindered books, though sometimes the author is given the opportunity to buy up his or her own books. The unit price is low, but the quantities aren't. A thousand books stacked in a garage can be a formidable display, which is why you see so many really wonderful books on remainder tables.

THOUGH I STILL think it's appalling that authors don't profit from their own remaindered books, I've changed my tune when it comes to buying them. I search out those books first now — mainly because I save a lot of money (I often buy the hardcover edition for less than the paperback still on the bookstore shelves. Sometimes I buy the hardcover to replace the paperback on my own shelves.) But, more important, I've become acquainted with writers I might never have known about before.

One example: At a Waldenbooks I bought a small book called "Letters from the Country" by Carol Bly for 99 cents. The cover looked intriguing — a small, gray barn, two horses, a stark winter landscape. On the back cover Publishers Weekly called it

"An absolute gem of modern rural Americana." Noel Perrin, in a New York Times Book Review, called it "a very readable mixture of sociology, secular sermons and good stories." The jacket copy said, "For 25 years Carol Bly has lived in Madison, Minn. (pop. 2,242), a town possessed of clean air, beautiful lakes, a Kiwanis chapter — and a stultifying aura of blandness, isolation and loneliness." Well, I can't say I would have bought it at the $5.95 list price, but for a buck —

I bought it for the "Aha!" factor. So that I could read about stultifying small towns, much like those I'd spent some good amount of time in, and say "Aha! See? She sees them that way too." But Carol Bly's essays were tough and funny and thoroughly wonderful — and I began to wonder: Who is Carol Bly and why haven't I ever heard of her?

SO LAST SPRING when I was at Ragdale, the artist's colony, I questioned some of the residents from the Midwest. To my surprise, several of them told me they had traveled long miles to hear her speak, had taken classes with her, had become fans themselves.

Then, in a Milwaukee bookstore, Carol Bly's latest book, "Backbone," a collection of short stories, jumped at me and this time I paid the full price, $6.95 (a Milkweed Editions large paperback) and would have gladly paid two or three times that amount. And now that I've read "Backbone," I'd mortgage my house to buy her next book. All because of an obscure book I happened to find on the bargain table.

Some books appear on the remainder tables and it's all you can do to keep from cheering. (Examples: books by any or all of the Watergate figures, a book on Jim and Tammy Bakker, a Jerry Lewis biography. A future bet to cheer about already: Willie Nelson's loathsome biography. Or is it loathsome Willie Nelson's biography? But others are a complete mystery.)

I once bought "The Complete Stories of Flannery O'Connor" for $2.98 at a bargain table, then walked across the mall to another book store where the same edition was selling in the shelves for $6.95, the full price.

Just the other day I found two recent hardcover books in perfect condition but marked down at a discount store. One of them was "Oscar and Lucinda" by Peter Carey, an Australian novel that has appeared on almost every critic's "Best of 1988" list. It's selling for $18.95 all over town. I paid $4 for it. The other book I bought was Reynolds Price's "Good Hearts." At $3 for the $18.95 hardcover, I paid less than I would have for the paperback — which was already on my list of books to buy.

Why were these books marked down? I have no idea, but there and I snapped them up before the store people woke up and came to their senses.

Still, much as I want to satisfy my love of a good bargain, I buy these books with great guilt and anger. In what other field would the creator not profit fully from the sale of the creation? How did this practice get started and why has it been allowed to go on? When will publishers recognize that authors are their greatest assets?

TROY AUTHOR Linda Lang Bartlett's fourth historical romance, "Brittany" (Avon paperback) should be in the bookstores at this writing. This book, a departure from Bartlett's usual Middle Ages settings, is set in 17th century Restoration England, with an American hero and a French heroine. In addition, "Marsa," Bartlett's third book of her medieval trilogy for Avon Books, has won a Reviewer's Choice award from Romantic Times, a national trade magazine published by former Grosset Pointers Kathryn Falk.

Stiefel sent a beautifully accessorized antique bentwood cradle and a completely outfitted 18th century weaver's studio, with an authentic copy of floor loom at Greenfield Vil-

The animals are solid basswood and Shellhaas said she was delighted to discover that many full-size animals done by the great carvers were also done in basswood.

Shellhaas said Mark Twain bought the (Lincoln) bed which she has in the miniature show in Italy for the Mark Twain home in Connecticut, which he later lost.

"His daughters used to put on plays using the finials on the bed for characters. Mine are removable too," Shellhaas said. "The cherubs I carved were 9 inches tall."

In her research she learned that Twain bought a lot of the furniture for that home in New England in Italy and that he liked the headboard of the bed so much that he put his pillow at the foot of the bed so he could look at the headboard.

Shellhaas, mother, wife and in-demand miniature maker and teacher, said she is working on a degree in graphic arts with a possible minor in sculpture. When she was a teenager, she wanted to become an architect. But while she worked for six years in the production department of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, she said the X-acto knife became an extension of herself and she knew she would always want to be doing something with her hands.

Miniature making became an ideal outlet for her skills and her creative spirit. The carousel may be one of her most challenging projects yet, but she and her students are determined to see it through.

In another display of miniature textiles are several petitpoint rugs and a flame stitched upholstered wing chair by Sister Pauline Boyd of Saginaw, 1,600 stitches to the inch.

Marjorie Adams of Washington Courthouse, Ohio specializes in miniature paintings. Whether the collector wants Gainsborough's Blue Boy or 18th century Chinese woodblock prints by Hiroshige or Harunobu, Adams can deliver. She also did miniature wedding portraits of Goad's daughter and two sons and their spouses on commission.

Still, it's hard to top the workmanship and creativity of Judy Shellhaas of Plymouth. Even these professionals gasped as they unpacked Shellhaas's carousel animals and Mark Twain (labeled Lincoln bed in the exhibit) just prior to opening day. The bed is so named because because when Twain used it in Italy, he reportedly slept with his head at the foot of the bed, so he could look at the beautiful headboard. Shellhaas also made the miniatures of the oriental furniture, "The Adams's Collection" which Goad's grandparents brought from the Orient.

"Masterpieces in Miniature," done in cooperation with Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, is open free of charge, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 1515 S. Cranbrook, Birmingham.

Ostrich for a carousel (above) by Judy Shellhaas represents at least 350 hours of work. The dining room (below) is an assemblage of works from several different miniature artists.

VAAL CLASSES

Day and evening classes and workshops are being offered by the Visual Arts Association of Livonia (VAAL). Classes begin the week of Jan. 23. Classes offered will include drawing, oil, watercolor and monotyping. Classes are held in the Jefferson Center, 9501 Henry Road, Livonia. For more information, call 464-6772.

TEEN AUTO DESIGN CLASSES

The Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association is offering Teen Auto Design in the winter term of classes. The class will be held at 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Saturdays, Rodney Lloyd, designer at Chrysler and instructor at the Center for Creative Studies, will conduct the class. For more information, call 644-0866.

ASIAN ART

The University of Michigan Museum of Art presents the exhibition "Pure Elegance: A Decade of Asian Art Collecting at the UMMA," Jan. 21-March 19. The exhibition features the major Asian art objects collected during the last 10 years at the museum. A public lecture is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 20, in Angell Hall auditorium. Speaker will be Marshall Wu, UMMA curator of Asian art. There is no admission charge. Two special family programs relating to the exhibition have also been scheduled. On Sunday, Feb. 12, 2-4 p.m., a Chinese film fest will be shown, featuring the films "Small Happiness: Women of a Chinese Village" and "A Day on the Grand Canal with the Emperor of China." On Saturday, March 18, two performances of the play "The Emperor and the Kite" by Wild Swan Theater will be held. The first performance is at 10 a.m. and the second at 11:15 a.m. Free tickets are required for these two performances and will be available at the Museum Shop beginning March 4.

KLEZMER MUSIC

The Klezmer Conservatory Band - an ensemble in the forefront of today's revival of Jewish klezmer music - will perform in Ann Arbor at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Power Center for the Performing Arts. The 13-member vocal and instrumental group appears under auspices of the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan. Tickets range from $10 to $15 and are available at the Musical Society's Burton Tower ticket office. For more information, call 764-2538.

SISSON GALLERY

"To Draw" is the theme of the visual art statements to be exhibited in the Sisson Gallery at Henry Ford Community College, featuring work by artists John Hegarty, Jim Nawara and Peter Williams. The show will close Jan. 13. Hegarty treats the figure as a metaphor for man's confrontation with himself. The figures are nude, which strips them of their source of camouflage. Hegarty chooses to present the figures straight on and almost life-size.

Nawara explores the nuances of the landscape, which seem to hold the mystery of nature for him. The landscape is sometimes viewed from above and sometimes straight on.

Williams, through the flight of his imagination, conveys in robust drawings a dialogue about his experiences as a black, as an artist and as a person in the urban environment of Detroit and his responsibilities to this environment.

All three teach at Wayne State University.

The gallery is on the campus of Henry Ford Community College, 5101 Evergreen. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily with additional hours 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays.

Showing collection of hand weavings

Mike Farrell, textile designer for Textillery of Bloomington, Ind., will present a collection of handwoven throws at three Jacobson's stores next week: at the Birmingham store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday; in the Dearborn store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday; and in the Livonia store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

Textillery is owned by John and Judith Rose, who began the company 14 years ago. "We were definitely a couple of hippies," she said. She creates the designs and weaves the first sample of the throws and he is responsible for the marketing. Even though a computer translates her first designs into complex patterns for the loom, the artisans have no interest in power looms.

"I don't think we'll ever become industrial," she said. "This way, we can adapt quickly and everything is pretty much made to order."

Their designs combine silk, wool, cotton, rayon, mohair and ribbon. Pattern colors range from soft pastels to rich jewel tones.

Story League to meet

The Detroit Story League will hold a meeting from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, at Christ Episcopal Church-Detroit, 960 East Jefferson, Detroit.

The storytellers will be: Linda Day, Livonia; Michael Deller, Dearborn; Jean Jambas, Farmington Hills; Mildred Stennis, Detroit; and Jean Gordon, Northville.

A workshop, "How Stories Can Teach Without Preaching," will be given by Cate Allam of Redford.

Bring a bag lunch. Coffee and desserts will be served.
