Officials look for population gain

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Count expected to show 90,000

Westland should make up the population it lost in the early 1980s and the city's population could hit 90,000 in the 1990 census, a city official said last week.

George Wilhelm, the city's planning director, said apartment complex and single-family home construction since 1985 will provide the impetus for the population gain.

"Also, we've had tremendous turnover in our subdivisions," Wilhelm said Thursday. "Older people seem to be moving out and a number of younger, larger families have moved in."

The city experienced a 4-percent population decline, from 84,610 residents to 81,190 between 1980 and 1985, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

But the mid-decade census was compiled before the city's housing boom. In 1988, Westland ranked first in housing starts in western Wayne County and second in southeastern Michigan.

BECAUSE FEDERAL funds for communities are based on census population figures, Westland could gain as much as an additional $1.5 million annually if the 1990 population figure is at least 90,000.

A Census Bureau official told the members of the city's Economic Development Advisory Commission

Thursday that the bureau estimates annual federal aid at between $150 and $172 per person.

"Not only is it (an accurate count) important in terms of money, but it has a direct effect on the kinds of federal programs communities have," said Kurt Metzger of the U.S. Department of Commerce, Census Bureau.

He briefed the commission on preparations for the census and explained how the city could become involved.

Census questionnaires will be mailed to homes in Westland and across the country by next March 23, he said. Residents will have until April 1 to return them.

Some 400,000 people hired by the Census Bureau will spend April chasing after unreturned questionnaires, Metzger said.

METZGER SAID he expected about 5 percent fewer people to return the forms than the 83 percent of households who returned them in 1980. Others return the forms with incomplete or incorrect information, DEVELOPERS of the senior citizens "campus" project at Carlson and Marquette have apparently hit a snag over obtaining Certificates of Need from the state for residential buildings scheduled for the complex.

Developers Arnold Shapero and Dr. Allen Waldman were granted a six-month extension Monday by the Westland City Council on their agreement to negotiate exclusively for the 47-acre site. The new deadline is next March 30.

According to an Aug. 29 letter from state Rep. Justice Barna, D-Westland, to City Council President Ken Mehl, the certificates are still being processed in Lansing.

The proposed complex would include high-rise and low-rise residential buildings, a nursing home, an Alzheimer's disease treatment center and a strip shopping center.

Shapero and Waldman, who would pay at least $1 million for the city-owned property, announced the project two years ago.

FIVE WESTLAND firefighters have earned promotions

Promoted last week were Robert Fields and David Carignan, from firefighter to driver-engineer sergeant; Douglas Briney, from driver-engineer sergeant to captain; Sammie Grissom, from driver-engineer sergeant to captain-fire education officer; and George Riley, from captain to battalion chief.

THE WESTLAND Sports Arena will hold registration for fall session ice skating classes today through Wednesday, noon to 6 p.m.

Classes are available Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturday mornings. The eight-week session begins Oct. 2 and costs $30 per class.

IT'S STORYTIME for toddlers at the Wayne-Westland Public Library.

The library, 35000 Sims at Fourth in the city of Wayne, will host storytime sessions for 3½-5-year-olds 10:30 a.m. Fridays beginning Oct. 13.

The free six-week program continues through Nov. 17. Parents must register their children in advance in person at the library. For information call the children's librarian, 731-7832.

THE SPARKEY Head Start preschool program in the Wayne-Westland district is looking for participants for 1990-91.

Head Start is seeking 4-year-old children from economically disadvantaged families who qualify under the program's federal guidelines. Future preschoolers and children who are currently in the program are also eligible. For more information call the program director, 731-7832.

To the rescue

Rescue workers from suburban communities joined to "treat" victims from a mock mid-air collision Wednesday morning at Detroit Metro Airport. The work was all done as part of a disaster training drill, held periodically to help area police forces, fire departments, hospitals and ambulance companies to better react to a real disaster. For more on the drill, turn to the story and photos on Page 3A.

Charged in murder try, pair has garage sale

By Tedd Schneider

Neighbors of Valentine and Carol Kwiatkowski said they were mildly disturbed Friday when the father and daughter — who have been charged with the Aug. 6 attempted murder of daughter Anna Kwiatkowski — tried to have a garage sale at the family home on the 6600 block of Wildwood.

The defendants, who declined to talk to reporters, packed up household items and outdoor maintenance equipment that had been laid out in their back yard and on their driveway and disappeared inside the house shortly before noon.

"It shocked me," said a woman who asked not to be identified. "You would think that these people would stay out of public as much as possible."

Another neighbor said he found the garage sale idea "unusual."

He said he found out about it when he was awakened at 7 a.m., looked out the window and saw Valentine Kwiatkowski driving a large sign into the front lawn. The Kwiatkowskis tied multi-colored balloons to a tree to mark the location and also advertised the sale in local newspapers, several neighbors said.

Carol Kwiatkowski, 43, was released from the Wayne County Jail on bond Aug. 15 and Valentine, 78, came home Aug. 16, neighbors said.

A spokeswoman for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department was unable to verify the neighbors' information as of Friday. The public affairs officer who usually provides that information to reporters was on vacation, the spokeswoman said.

VALENTINE AND Carol Kwiatkowski are each charged with one count of assault with intent to commit murder for the shooting of Anna Kwiatkowski, 32. Valentine Kwiat-

Community groups welcome at Observer publicity seminar

Community organizations can register for the Westland Observer's publicity seminar, scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 5.

The program is designed to inform publicity chairs of local groups about Observer deadlines for the community calendar, news stories, and how to arrange for photos of their events.

It is open to interested representatives of civic and service groups without charge.

The seminar, first held by the Observer nearly 25 years ago, will start at 7:30 p.m. in Room 320 of Schoolcraft College's Radcliff Center, 1761 Radcliff, just south of Ford and east of Wildwood.

Co-sponsored by Schoolcraft College, the seminar will cover general news, sports, the church page and the Business and Suburban Life sections.

Similar seminars have been held over the years by the Observer to help community groups to better inform readers of their activities.

On hand for the seminar will be Westland Observer staffers and top editorial department managers and supervisors responsible for producing the different sections of the newspaper.

Those planning to attend are asked to write The Observer editorial department, 34251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150 by Oct. 3.

Police group looks to end contract dispute

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

The Westland Police Sergeants and Lieutenants Association is asking for binding arbitration to settle a 15-month contract dispute with the city.

The arbitration request comes less than a month after a contract between the 23-member union and the city appeared imminent.

The Westland City Council in a closed session Aug. 28 discussed a proposed contract recommended by a state mediator but decided against placing it on the agenda for approval.

Detective Sgt. Robert Barthold, union president, said last week he had a scheduled meeting Friday with attorney Frank Guido to draft the arbitration request.

"Members of the unit are disappointed," Barthold said Thursday. "It could take another year to get this thing settled."

The union issued a two-paragraph statement Thursday taking Mayor Charles Griffin's administration to task for thwarting an agreement and disrupting a report published by another newspaper that the union had rejected a recent contract offer from the city.

THE STATEMENT said since Sept. 6 the administration "two times discussed (a proposed agreement) with the city council but refuses to support it and failed to provide requested details on the cost (of the proposed agreement)."

The administration's actions have "hand-tied" the council, the statement said.

Charles Bokos, city attorney, said Thursday requesting arbitration wasn't necessary. He said the union had adopted an "impatient" attitude regarding negotiations.

"There was room to negotiate but they (the union) expect the council to give up on the pension without offering anything in return," Bokos said of what had been the major sticking point in the talks.

The union had asked the city to reopen discussion over pension requirements, breaking a previous agreement not to change pension benefits before 1995.

Bokos said that issue won't be handled by the arbitrator, who is legally locked into the pension requirements of the previous contract. "It's now a dead issue," he said.

Barthold said the union would concentrate on other issues, including additional money and vacation benefits.

THE PROPOSAL suggested by the mediator reportedly included a $4,000 raise over the life of the contract. City contracts with public safety unions are typically two- or three-year agreements.

The arbitration process requires the union to submit three names of possible arbitrators. The city will rule out one of choices and then the union will omit a second name, leaving the final choice as the arbitrator.

The arbitrator chooses either the union's or the city's contract proposal. No compromises are allowed.

Bokos said the process could take at least six months.

The last contract between the city and the union expired in June 1988.

Negotiations have been bitter at times, with the union issuing a bumper sticker critical of Griffin and the mayor calling a press conference last summer to refute what he called "misleading crime statistics" distributed by the union.

School district honors teachers at board meeting

Friends, family members and co-workers cheered when the Livonia school district's three top teachers for 1989 were honored at a school board meeting last week.

The three — Diane Anselm, Janice Palmer and Ronald Quick — were feted with gifts, accolades, standing ovations, and five-paragraph resolutions outlining their accomplishments in the classroom.

BOARD TRUSTEE Joseph Laura read the first resolution written for Anselm, a first-grade teacher at Buchanan Elementary.

"Diane's most outstanding characteristic is her commitment in spending limitless time with parents, just to be a friend and always available for them," Laura said. "She generates energy that is absorbed by her students, their parents and all she touches."

Calling her an "exceptional educator," trustee Richard Thorderson read the resolution for Janice Palmer, a special education teacher and co-student activities director at Emerson Middle School, which serves the northeast corner of Westland.

"She is indeed an exceptional educator, going far beyond the expected range of her duties to meet the needs of students, colleagues and parents," Thorderson said. "She is one of the most respected, creative, resourceful and committed teachers in the Livonia Public Schools."

Saying the selection came as "no surprise to my family," board president Pat Tancill read the resolution for Ronald Quick, English teacher and department chairman at Stevenson High.

"The testimonials of his colleagues and students are replete with examples of his caring and sensitive attitude while maintaining high expectations and standards in his classroom," Tancill said.

"Ron Quick's students, at all ability levels, are respected, challenged and motivated to lifelong learning because of his ability to convey his love of learning to others."

EACH YEAR, the district names its top elementary, middle and high school teacher.

The selections are made by a district-wide committee composed of teachers, parents and school administrators.

Anselm serves on a wide variety of district study groups which include reading, gifted, computer literacy and mathematics. She has served on numerous school committees and projects, including learning centers, bucket brigades, critic teacher for student teachers, publishing center, PTA teacher representative and safety patrol sponsor.

Those who nominated her said Anselm has "warmth, compassion, enthusiasm and always a smile, hug, and kind, encouraging word."

Palmer is a member of the school principal's advisory committee as well as several district-wide committees and state, national and professional organizations.

She initiated a breakfast club and bookstore at Emerson and organized a weekend trip to Mackinac Island for remedial students.

Those who nominated her said Palmer "strives to build morale, is fair with students, is a problem solver and is a dedicated, caring teacher."

Those who nominated Quick said he frequently receives "accolades from his former students" who recognize his expertise in English and ability to teach when they take English classes in college.

Reading exam to test comprehension level

is mounting a major public information campaign to educate parents and local newspapers on what the tests mean and how to evaluate the results.

One part of the test score will be a pass/fail rating, reflecting that students understood both reading sections, one section, or neither.

They projected the local district score on that segment of the test would range from 25 to 40 percent.

BUT THEY stressed that a good comparison can't be made until the next year when the same test is given.

In a separate statement, State School Superintendent Donald Bemis said that the new test "is a reflection of what nation-wide research shows is the best method of teaching reading. We will be evaluating students' reading skills through their ability to gather meaning from what they read."

The new test will consist of two long reading selections, about which students will answer four different kinds of questions.

The questions will find out how much students know about what they read, how well they understand it, what type of story they read, and what students thought about what they read, said the state education department.

WILLIAM HARVEY, Wayne-Westland district associate superintendent, said that the old test contained lists of questions and occasional short reading sections of two or three paragraphs.

The new test will have two long reading selections — a short story and an informational selection similar to those in social studies or science texts.

The MEAP program also has tests given in math and science to all Michigan students in specific elementary, junior high, and senior high grades.

Parents are to receive a detailed brochure telling them of the new reading test, what it means, and examples of the new and old test to show the differences.

Aside from district-wide test results, the administration said teachers can review individual pupils' results and determine who needs more help.

IN A related move to help parents improve their children's school performances, an informational conference is scheduled for Tuesday night, Oct. 10, in Adams Junior High School, on Palmer between Venoy and Wildwood.

It is free and will offer "exciting ideas for helping your children at home," said the curriculum department.

The administration hopes to have up to 500 parents at the conference, scheduled from 6-9 p.m. Shuttle buses will be provided from local elementary schools to ease the parking and traffic congestion at Adams.

The conference will be presented by the district's compensatory education staff.

Air disaster drill tests rescue teams

THE WAYNE County Emergency Management Division, suburban hospitals and police and fire departments combined efforts last week in an emergency disaster drill involving a mock aircraft crash.

The scenario for Wednesday's mock disaster was a mid-air collision between a jet liner and a smaller aircraft at 10 a.m. One of the supposed crashes occurred in Huron Township, the other at Metro Airport.

There were to be 200 passengers on board the larger aircraft, of whom 100 survived. The plan was to move 100 victims to 13 area hospitals, including St. Mary in Livonia, Garden City Osteopathic, Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Botsford General in Farmington Hills, and Oakwood in Dearborn.

The smaller aircraft was to have 26 on board, of whom 16 were killed. The smaller aircraft hit a house, and there was an unknown number of victims killed and injured on the ground as the drill began, said Capt. Mark Sparks of the county's emergency management division.

THE VICTIMS included high school seniors from Huron Township High and a few adults. The plans also had called for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and assistant Carol Steffanni to be transported to St. Mary Hospital via Coast Guard helicopter, in serious condition with burns and cuts.

The helicopter portion of the drill had to be canceled, though, because of Wednesday morning's heavy fog, said Julie Sproul, St. Mary Hospital's director of community relations.

Mitchell Nimmoor, her counterpart at Garden City Osteopathic, said things ran smoothly at his hospital, but they experienced an unexpected rush of real ambulance runs at the emergency department about the same time the make-believe victims from the drill were arriving.

Volunteers serving as airplane crash victims are removed from Metro Airport by emergency workers during a recent disaster training simulation.

cop calls

An employee told police the man came into the store just before 5 p.m.

The man approached the counter and inquired about becoming a member at the store, the employee said.

He then spent approximately 40 minutes browsing through the store before approaching the counter again.

This time, the employee said, he pulled a small revolver out of his jacket and demanded all the cash in the register.

The man took approximately $150 and fled in a green Chevrolet station wagon, he employee said.

Moments later, officers spotted a man matching the culprit's description talking to a woman on the 2000 block of Dryden Court. The couple was standing next to a green station wagon, police said.

The man was arrested and a search of the car turned up money and a handgun, police said.

A RESIDENT of the Westland Park Apartments, near Cherry Hill and Henry Ruff, told police someone stole a 1979 Chevrolet Blazer from the complex parking lot early Tuesday.

The resident said the four-wheel drive vehicle belonged to a Southfield man and that he was repairing it.

The vehicle, which had an expired license plate sitting on the front seat, was stolen between 1 and 7:50 a.m., the resident said.

AN EMPLOYEE of the Payless Shoe store, 6629 N. Wayne Road, reported that a man posing as a customer exposed himself Tuesday morning.

The employee, a 21-year-old woman, said the man came into the store approximately 11 a.m. He asked her for help and when she turned around to talk to him, she saw the man deliberately expose himself, the woman told police.

After standing in the store for a moment, the man ran to a red truck parked outside and fled, the employee told police.

She described the man as white, in his early 20s and 5 feet 6 inches tall, with a thin build and fair skin. He was wearing a blue and black flannel shirt with a white T-shirt underneath and blue jeans, she said.

"People just don't trust the system, no matter how often we emphasize its confidentiality," Metzger said.

Metzger said many residents worried that local officials are around the corner waiting to use census information for tax collection or other purposes. That also accounts for people.

But he said the information is used exclusively by the bureau and only for census purposes.

The records have remained confidential despite several court challenges under the Freedom of Information Act, he said.

In an attempt to include the homeless in the official population count for the first time, the bureau will choose one night and send workers to shelters, bus stations, parks and vacant buildings to conduct interviews.

Metzger said the bureau's efforts will also include local schools. "If we can get the kids into it, maybe they'll be able to convince their parents of how important filling out the questionnaire really is," he said.

Metzger said the bureau by law is required to turn in a preliminary count to the U.S. government for the purposes of redistricting Congress. That figure must be turned in by spring 1991.

WESTLAND OFFICIALS will begin receiving information on the number and location of residents by late 1991, Metzger said.

Information on the income, education and occupations of city residents and other final data will be delivered by 1992, he said.

at close range with a .32-caliber kowski faces an additional charge of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

According to statements given to police, Valentine Kwiatkowski admitted to employees at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, that he shot his daughter in the head twice with a handgun as she slept inside the home.

When Anna Kwiatkowski was still alive 90 minutes later, they drove her to the hospital, where she often worked as a volunteer, police said.

The pair told hospital workers they planned to kill Anna, who weighs 360 pounds and suffers from severe asthma, because her mounting medical expenses had become a financial burden to the family.

Anna Kwiatkowski was released from the hospital earlier this month and is living at an unnamed adult foster care home.

Sentencing of city man delayed

Sentencing for a Westland man convicted Sept. 11 for the murders of his stepbrother and a Garden City woman was delayed Thursday because the man's attorney was detained on another trial.

Gary Joseph Galindo, 44, faces a maximum sentence of life in prison without parole.

Recorder's Court Judge Dalton

Roberson adjourned proceedings Thursday afternoon when defense attorney Charles Campbell informed the court he wouldn't be able to appear with his client before the court closed at 4:30 p.m.

The sentencing was rescheduled for today.

Galindo was convicted during a bench trial Sept. 11 of two counts of first-degree murder and one count of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

Police said Galindo shot and killed his stepbrother, Arthur Andrew Novack, 46, and Sharon June Bahaydak, 44, of Garden City late March 10 or early March 11 in a house on the 37100 block of Norwena. The house was shared by Galindo, his mother and Novack.

Recalling Colombia

Former resident recalls hardships

DON'T TELL me Colombia is beautiful. Don't tell me it's a wonderful country to visit. And don't cry on my shoulder about all the bombings and killings taking place there now.

It's not that I don't give a damn about the place, the drug problem and the world. It's just that I lack sympathy for a country that hasn't done anything about its problems in at least 25 years.

I know it's a beautiful place. It has gorgeous rain forests and towering, snow-capped mountains.

It's one of those countries that fall into the "a nice place to visit but I wouldn't want to live there" category. I know. My family and I lived in Cali, Colombia, for 18 months.

IT HAS been 25 years since I left Colombia, and I can honestly say I have no inclination to return.

Maybe it's a reaction of being cast into the role of an "ugly American" when all I wanted to do was groove on the Beatles. Maybe it was the shock of realizing that Dorothy was right: "There's no place like home."

I can still remember the confusion I felt when we stepped off the DC-9 in Cali. The flight from Bogota had been terrifying. It looked like we would barely clear the snow-capped peaks of the central range of the Andes.

Sleet pelted the windows of the plane, and turbulence caused the door to the pilot's compartment to slam open and shut several times throughout the journey.

I don't think the fear and confusion ever went away. We had to immerse ourselves in the Colombian way of life, even though it went against the middle class mores ingrained in us in the States.

LIFE IN Colombia then probably isn't much different from what it is today. In 1964, there were anti-American riots, general strikes, a state of siege and kidnappings and murders.

We were under martial law since the government was trying to deal with bandits who roamed the countryside, kidnapping the rich at will and holding them for ransom.

For the most part, the bandits got what they wanted — cash and plenty of it. The families didn't fare as well. Some got their loved ones back, often minus a finger, hacked off by the bandits to prove they were serious. Some got back a corpse. Some got back nothing.

MARTIAL LAW meant two things — police identification cards and police checkpoints.

Anyone over 14 years of age had to carry an ID card. A person could be stopped at any time for any reason and made to produce his card. Lack of a card could land one in jail.

Checkpoints were on roads leading from the city. The implication of the checkpoints was that you were safe in the cities, but you traveled the countryside at your own risk.

IN THE residential areas of the city, you hired a guard to watch your home at night.

In the wee hours of morning, our guard would ride by on a bicycle, and blow a whistle to let us know he was on patrol. Then he'd head on to his next house.

We used to say that the whistle was to let the thieves know it was OK to break in since he had made his customary check. My father had little confidence in our guard, so he bought a machete that hung in a leather sheath above my parents' bed.

COLOMBIA HAD a two-class system — the very rich, and the very poor. There was no in between. If you worked and made money, you emulated the rich — servants to clean your house, cook your meals and tend your gardens.

If you were poor, you might work as a servant for a meager $17 a month, including room and board, meals and 1 1/2 days off each week.

The servants came from the countryside and their meager income was used to help their families.

They also came from a hilltop community on the outskirts of Cali. The shanties that lined the hill had no running water, no electricity. The people carried water in pails from a spigot at the foot of the hill.

If you were poor, you might also resort to begging. In Colombia, begging was a profession like it was in Charles Dickens' time.

If you look beyond the cocaine, you will see that the problems Colombia faces today are the same ones it faced 25 years ago. The only difference is that the bandits now are getting rich on drug trafficking rather than kidnapping.

IT'S POSSIBLE Colombia is trying to solve its problems, but I'm not impressed. Driving out the drug lords and shutting down the cocaine pipeline are nothing more than pipe dreams in a country that has never addressed the source of the problem — poverty.

And I'm even less impressed with its solution to deter the peasants from growing coca. Paying more for Colombian coffee won't end poverty. I dare say the poor will never know their coffee beans are worth more. It will be a case of the rich getting richer and the poor poorer.

More foreign aid won't end poverty. Corruption is a way of life in Colombia and, again, the poor will probably never benefit from it. The rich will get richer and the poor poorer.

What will end it? I don't know. But I'm sure of one thing. The more things change, the more they stay the same in Colombia.

Adoption is no simple solution

To the editor:

I am writing in response to the column, "Is adoption better way than abortion?"

Tim Richard made some good points in this article. There are many children in orphanages waiting to find a family. And adoption services need to be organized and made more obvious to the public.

I also think some other points were overlooked. Adoption can give a woman an alternative to keeping a child. But if a woman does not feel she can raise a child, she may not want to go through nine months of pregnancy and labor, just to give it away.

In the following instances a woman may choose not to keep a child:

• Rape — would a woman want to be reminded every day for nine months about such a tragic ordeal?

• Ignorance — If a girl has not been informed about birth control and has a much more experienced boyfriend, should she be punished by being forced to have a child?

• Poverty — If a young woman already has children she is having a hard time supporting, is it wise for her to have another child?

In situations like these, and others, I think abortion may be necessary. Some may say these females should be more careful or use birth control. I agree.

However, until our schools and communities start offering more information about: birth control, sex education, rape and date rape, safe sex, prenatal care, self defense, etc., we can not expect uneducated women to change their behavior.

Adoption is not an equivalent replacement for abortion. This issue is more complicated. This is something President Bush fails to see.

to Michigan Law), only one of them was a juvenile.

• Fact No. 2 — Not only were they trying to steal the officer's car, but they also tried to kill him by running him over with their car. Why would you leave this fact out, Mr. Barnaby?

• It wasn't until the officer's life was endangered, by being run over, that he decided to use his weapon — as a last resort — to stop the threat. Fortunately, no one was injured — including the officer.

Second, Mr. Barnaby, why is it you and other liberal editors, try to scare the public by making the police look like the bad guys? If you so-called editors would do your homework, you would realize that a 9 mm round is actually less powerful than a 357 revolver round. Just because they call it a "semi-automatic" doesn't mean it's a fully automatic machine gun. It merely has more rounds in a magazine, compared to only six in a revolver. You still must pull the trigger for every round that is expelled from the gun — just like a revolver.

Police officers are trained extensively to aim their shots with the specific intent of resolving the situation which justified shooting in the first place. Due to the increase in criminals using military type weapons and Uzis today, it only makes sense to update the equipment the police need to confront these subjects. Check the statistics: there have been several officers killed in the line of duty while trying to reload their "out-dated" revolvers. Those extra rounds in the magazine could mean the difference between life and death for an officer on the street today.

So, don't just single out "semi-automatics," Mr. Barnaby, all guns should be considered "killer-type" weapons.

Do you agree with the excise tax measures I've supported, even though they are the most regressive form of taxation?

Should we raise the income tax rate, once tobacco products are eliminated from their scourge on society, to make up for the millions of dollars lost in excise taxes now derived from their sales? (Geake will tell you taxes won't have to be raised because of the tremendous financial burden smokers put on society. A recent study published in Business Week disagrees.)

Do you feel teachers should eat foods high in cholesterol salt, or fat, and red meat on school property even though they can be harmful to their health, and set a bad example for all children?

Do you agree with the time I spend, crusading against adults who use tobacco products or should I spend more time on searching for ways to improve our educational system and business climate?

It appears that Sen. Geake and his colleagues are spending too much time pursuing their pet "social engineering" projects and not enough time solving our state's real problems: crime and our children's economic and educational futures. Let's show him our priorities the next time he is up for re-election!

Ask Geake hard questions

To the editor:

I read with dismay, M.B. Dillon's Sept. 11 article about Sen. Robert Geake's recent survey. Dillon appears to be a Geake supporter, having failed to ask any hard questions.

Sen. Geake's crusade against tobacco products and citizens who choose to use them, I'm sure, is well-intentioned. But, in fairness, I feel Sen. Geake should add some questions to his survey. For instance:

Do you feel property taxes, though not based on ability to pay, are a fair

Gun column lacked facts

To the editor:

This rebuttal is in reference to Steve Barnaby's column "Shooting Incidents Ought to Wake Us Up."

Mr. Barnaby, if your intent is to inform the public, at least try and get the facts straight before you have 'em printed. Your version of the shooting in Livonia, involving an off-duty police officer, lacked some very important facts.

First of all, the officer involved did not whip out his service weapon and indiscriminately pump off rounds in an attempt to stop "a couple of kids" from merely stealing his automobile (as you put it).

• Fact No. 1 — Two of the criminals involved were adults (according

H&R BLOCK INCOME TAX COURSE BEGINS OCTOBER 6th

Save time and money when you take the H&R Block Income Tax Course.

Thousands of people enjoy part-time employment and earn money each year as income tax preparers. Many received their training in income tax courses taught by H&R Block.

The 75-hour basic course introduced students to income tax preparation. They will receive hands-on experience in preparing individual tax returns, working with increasingly complex tax situations as the term progresses. It is ideal for homemakers, retirees, teachers or anyone else wanting to increase his or her tax knowledge.

Qualified graduates of the course may be offered job interviews with H&R Block but are under no obligation to accept employment.

Best pear deserves cutlery

The best pear I ever tasted was a huge, beautiful Comice that was given to me by an old friend and co-worker, Imogene Tapp of Plymouth. She bought it at Meljer and it was wrapped in quilted cotton. The sturdy stem graced the top like a crown on a king's head. Of course, for the price she paid, it could easily have been a crown.

When the succulent pear was handed to me, she warned that this special pear, if eaten by hand, would exude a multitude of juice that certainly would drip down my arm to the elbow. But this was no ordinary pear. This special fruit demanded a plate, a fork and one of those cutesy fruit knives that Aunt Edna would give to all her nieces and nephews for wedding presents.

Ever since then I have looked forward to the autumn arrival of pears in the market, and I have become inspired by the annual abundance of uses for these fruit gems — from soups, sandwiches, side dishes, salads, main courses and, of course, desserts.

The pear is a fruit classified as a pome and is closely related to the apple and the quince. It is indigenous to Western Asia. It has long been cultivated there and in Europe.

PEARS MADE their way to North America with some of the first colonists. Supposedly, John Endicott of Massachusetts planted the Endicott pear in 1630. Pears gradually moved westward to California in the 1700s when Franciscan fathers planted rows of pear trees in mission gardens. Now pears are grown in home gardens in almost every state of the union.

Pears for both fresh market and processing are picked green and hard. Tree-ripened pears are frequently of inferior quality, often with coarse, gritty flesh. Pears are mostly handpicked with utmost care because they have a tendency to bruise easily.

Pears ripen when exposed to temperatures between 65 and 75 degrees Fahrenheit. As pears ripen, their skins change color from a deep green to the color characteristic for the variety. Bartlett's, the most common and abundant variety available in this area, turn a golden yellow.

Fresh pears are best when they yield to gentle palm pressure. If still green-skinned when purchased, pears may be ripened at home by storing them at room temperature, preferably three or more together in a closed paper bag. When the pears begin to change color and yield to slight pressure, they may be refrigerated.

The adventuresome chef will enjoy using a special ingredient in soups and souffles called eau-de-vie, also commonly known as pear brandy. If you make homemade ice cream, take care of the kids first, then add a healthy shot or two of eau-de-vie and return the mix to the freezer for 30 minutes. That's what I call "big boy ice cream."

WHEN IT COMES to an assortment of varieties that may be found locally and at the farmers markets, in addition to the Bartlett and the pricey Comice, you might come across crisper versions like the Bosc, Anjou and Nellis. The latter three pears add a great crunch to baked goods and will hold their shape well. If you happen to be into exotic, sensory sensations, the Anjou, when fully ripe, exudes an intriguing fragrance that can easily fill a kitchen with the fresh smell and taste of fall.

But whatever the variety, and whatever the recipe, pears are always a very special autumn treat.

A bit of heaven: fresh apple cider

By Arlene Funke
special writer

SOME PEOPLE KNOW it's autumn when the football season kicks off. Others salute the arrival of crisp, autumn weather by heading out to one of the many cider mills dotting the rural landscape.

Sip that sweet, freshly pressed apple cider. Bite into a warm, cinnamon-sprinkled doughnut. Is this heaven, or what?

Michigan's apple cider season started around Labor Day and will continue through late November or early December, depending on customer flow and weather.

Each weekend, throngs of people will make it a point to visit their favorite cider mill. It's a tradition that has been going on for generations. Just ask Jason Palmer, 22, of Farmington Hills. His family owns the venerable Franklin Cider Mill, a certified national historical site.

"It's been in existence since 1837," said Palmer, production manager at the mill, on the Franklin River in Oakland County.

The Franklin Cider Mill uses a replica of the original press, which came from Germany, Palmer said.

The procedure is fairly simple. Apples are washed, then fed into a grinder. Cloth mats squeeze the juice from the mashed apples, while holding back the seeds and cores.

CIDER IS cholesterol-free, contains dietary fiber and is rich in potassium. It also contains small quantities of calcium, phosphorus and iron, according to a nutritionist at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service.

Unlike apple juice, cider isn't strained. It contains pulp. It is deep, golden-brown in color and has a robust taste. Most ciders contain no preservatives. If they aren't consumed in a few days, ciders will develop a bitter taste and eventually ferment into vinegar or alcohol.

"The good news is that cider freezes beautifully," Palmer said. "Take out one cup (liquid) for expansion." After thawing, shake the container.

As later apple varieties ripen, they are added to the batches, creating a sweeter blend.

"The avid customer can tell the difference," according to Palmer.

Many cider mills are family operations that have been in existence for many years. Each cider mill has its own personality. Some operations grow their own apples, while others obtain fruit from independent orchards.

Fresh doughnuts, home-baked apple pies, honey, popcorn, jellies and fudge also are traditional items available for sale at area cider mills.

"We try to feature as many Michigan products as we can," said Tracy Shaffer, 31, of Rochester, a member of the Mancour family, which operates Paint Creek Cider Mill in Rochester.

THE MANCOUR FAMILY is in its 13th year of business at Paint Creek. Seven years ago, the family opened a restaurant next to the cider mill. The restaurant, which serves American cuisine, is open for dinner Tuesdays-Saturdays.

Lunches are served Tuesdays-Fridays. Sunday brunch is particularly popular during cider season, Shaffer said.

Last year, many people were afraid to eat apple products because of negative publicity about possible health risks from the pesticide Alar. Not to worry.

"Michigan apple growers don't use Alar," according to Dr. Dean Krauskopf, a horticulturist with the extension service.

The Plymouth Orchard and Cider Mill, in Plymouth Township, has several acres of dwarf apple trees, and customers may pick their own fruit. It also has a small collection of farm animals, which is popular with children.

Ward's Orchards in Ypsilanti has crafts, entertainment and country fair.

It's best to wear comfortable clothes and old shoes. The grounds may be muddy and, during busy times, customers may have to park down the road and walk back to the cider mill.

If you want to avoid crowds, go during the week. If you're unsure of hours of operation, phone ahead.

Apples, honey for a sweet new year

The Jewish New Year (Rosh Hashana) begins at sundown Friday. It is customary to begin a New Year meal with apples and honey to wish for a sweet year ahead. It is also customary to serve sweet dishes, perhaps with honey in them.

Linda Rosenberg of Southfield represents the Galilee B'nai B'rith Women, whose second cookbook was published in 1985. Copies of "The Galilee Gourmet Book II" are available from Rosenberg.

Mentioning recipes in the cookbook that would be suitable for Rosh Hashana, Rosenberg said, "Glazed Chicken Breasts is a possibility for a main dish. Carrot-Yam Tzimmes is a wonderful side dish, as is Apricot Carrots. It is also nice to serve a good dessert, perhaps with apple, as they are traditionally the beginning of the fall harvest. Apple Cake and Golden Apple Torte are excellent."

The cookbook comes in a spiral-binding binder and is priced at $11.60, plus $3 if mailed. To order, call Rosenberg at 359-8706.

GLAZED CHICKEN BREASTS

Place 8 chicken breasts in a baking pan. Season with lots of paprika and bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Sauce

In a 1-quart saucepan place: 1 stick margarine
1 (8-ounce) jar marmalade
1 (1-pound) can crushed pineapple, drained dash of lemon juice
Heat over medium heat and then add cornstarch to thicken. Pour sauce over chicken and bake 1/2 hour longer. Serve with rice.

APRICOT CARROTS

2 1/2 cups thinly sliced, pared carrots
1 1/2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup apricot preserves
1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice pinch of ground nutmeg
salt to taste

Boil the carrots, covered in 1/2 cup water and 1/4 teaspoon salt just tender-crisp, about 10 minutes; drain. Over low heat, stir together the butter, preserves, orange rind, lemon juice, nutmeg and salt until butter and preserves melt; fold in carrots and reheat. Makes 4 small servings.

CARROT-YAM TZIMMES

2 pounds sweet potatoes (yams), cut into 1/2 inch slices (leave jackets on until after they are cooked)
1 pound carrots, cleaned, scraped, cut into 1/2 inch slices
1/2 cup dried prunes
1/2 cup dried apricots
1/2 cup dried apples
1 cup orange juice

2 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

Cook yams and carrots in enough water to cover in a covered saucepan until barely tender, about 15 minutes. Drain. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a 2 1/2 or 3-quart casserole. Place yams and carrots in casserole. Stir in dried fruits. Pour orange juice over vegetables and fruits. Dot with honey and sprinkle with lemon rind, nutmeg and ginger.

Bake in 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes or until fork tender. If a sweeter taste is desired, sprinkle with a cinnamon-sugar mixture the last 5 minutes of baking and garnish with thin strips of orange rind before serving.

APPLE CAKE

1 1/2 cups oil
2 cups sugar
3 eggs beaten
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 (1-ounce) baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon extract
3 cups apple slices
1 cup nuts, chopped

Combine oil and sugar. Blend in beaten eggs. Combine flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon. Add to oil and sugar mixture. Add vanilla and lemon extracts. Stir in apples and nuts. Place in a greased 9-by-13-inch pan and bake for 1 hour, 20 minutes at 300 degrees. While cake is still warm, cover surface with glaze.

Glaze
1 cup confectioners sugar juice of 2 lemons

GOLDEN APPLE TORTE

3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 1/2 cup oil
1 1/2 cup sugar
1 (8-ounce) can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Deserves cutlery

1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
pinch salt
4 slices firm white bread, crusts trimmed
1 large ripe pear, peeled
2 1/2 inch thick slices Gruyere cheese
2 1/2 inch slices Fontina Cheese

Cream together the butter, nutmeg, cinnamon, coriander, ginger and salt in a small bowl. Spread on both sides of bread. Cut pear lengthwise into 1/4-inch-thick slices, discarding the core. Layer 1 slice Gruyere, 1 pear slice and 1 Fontina cheese slice and another pear slice on each of 2 slices of bread. Cover each with second bread slice; press down. Heat a heavy skillet over medium heat. Add sandwiches and weight with plate. Cook until golden brown, turning once, about 4 minutes per side.

FRESH PEAR ICE CREAM
1 quart peeled, cored, thinly sliced Bartlett or Comice pears or three 1-pound cans pears, drained, patted dry and sliced thin
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 cup half and half
1 cup superfine sugar
one 2-inch slice vanilla bean, split
2 cups whipping cream
2 1/2 tablespoons eau-de-vie or pear brandy

Combine pears, water and lemon juice in a non-aluminum saucepan. Cover partially and simmer gently until pears are soft, about 10 minutes. Cool.

Cook half and half with sugar and vanilla bean in a small heavy saucepan over low heat until sugar dissolves and mixture is scalded. Cover and cool completely.

Puree the pear mixture in processor or blender. Transfer to a large bowl. Strain half-and-half mixture into pear mixture and stir to blend. Refrigerate until well chilled. Whisk cold whipping cream and eau-de-vie into pear mixture. Transfer to ice cream maker and process according to manufacturer's directions.

WINTER PEAR BISQUE
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
1/2 cup minced onions one 3-ounce turnip, peeled and diced

2 tablespoons minced peeled fresh ginger
4 cups rich chicken stock
2 1/2 pounds firm, ripe pears
4 ounces dried pears, diced
1 1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup dry sherry
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon light brown sugar dash nutmeg and allspice
salt and fresh ground white pepper to taste

Melt butter in a heavy non-aluminum saucepan over medium heat. Add onions and turnips and cook until soft, stirring frequently, about 8 minutes. Add ginger and cook 2 minutes. Add stock and bring to a boil. Add fresh and dried pears. Reduce heat, cover partially and simmer until very tender, about 45 minutes. Puree soup in a processor or blender in batches. Return to saucepan. Mix in whipping cream, sherry, lemon juice, sugar, nutmeg, allspice and correct seasonings with salt and pepper. Simmer gently until warmed throughout.

PEAR BUTTER
6 pounds unpeeled Comice or Anjou pears, cored and quartered
2 cups water
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons fresh, grated lemon peel one 4-inch vanilla bean, split dash salt, nutmeg and cinnamon
1/2 cup pear brandy or eau-de-vie

Combine pears, water and lemon juice in a heavy non-aluminum saucepan. Cover partially and simmer until pears are very soft, about 20 minutes. Puree mixture in a food mill through medium disc to remove pear skins.

Return mixture to a saucepan. Stir in sugar, salt, lemon peel, vanilla bean, nutmeg and cinnamon. Cover partially and cook over low heat until mixture mounds on a spoon, stirring frequently during the last hour for 3 hours. Mix in pear brandy or eau-de-vie and simmer 5 more minutes. Cool slightly. Remove vanilla bean. Spoon warm pear butter into sterilized glass jars, leaving 1/2 inch space at the top. Seal jars. Cool. Refrigerate at least 5 days before using.

Country cooks used apple cider

By Katie Maple McBride
special writer

While generally enjoyed as a beverage today, cider was a staple in country cooking in 19th-century America. Rural housewives quickly learned some basics about cooking with cider: it enhanced the natural flavor of foods, acted as a natural meat tenderizer and was an abstinent method of making meals, since the alcohol boiled away.

They put this knowledge to good use, adding cider to everything from soups to desserts. For old-fashioned flavor, you might like to stir up a few of these recipes from "The American Cider Book" by Vrest Orton (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, New York, 1973).

CIDER APPLE BUTTER
10 cups sliced, peeled apples
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
10 cups sugar
1/2 cup cider
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix ingredients and let stand 10 minutes. Cook slowly, stirring frequently, until mixture becomes very soft. This will take about 50 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal immediately.

They put this knowledge to good use, adding cider to everything from soups to desserts.

CIDER SYRUP
1 quart cider
2 1/2 cups sugar

Boil cider for 25 minutes. Add sugar. Bring again to a full boil for 3 minutes for medium syrup or 5 minutes for heavy syrup. Yield: approximately 1 1/2 pints. For cinnamon cider syrup, add 1 tablespoon cinnamon drops with the sugar and proceed as above. Use medium cider syrup as a table syrup, and heavy cider syrup for ice cream sundaes and sodas.

NORMANDY PORK CHOPS
6 pork chops, 3/4 inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon flour
4 apples
2 cups cranberries
1 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups cider

Sprinkle pork chops with salt. Dredge with flour. Sauté until golden brown. Slice apples thin, mix with cranberries and brown sugar and put in the bottom of a buttered casserole. Lay chops on fruit, add cider. Cook 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees or until pork is tender. Turn chops during cooking so both sides are flavored with the fruit.

CIDER POT ROAST
1 1/2 cups cider
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
2 whole cloves
3-4 pound chuck pot roast of beef flour

Mix marinade of cider, sugar, and spices. Pour over a 3-4-pound chuck pot roast of beef and let stand in refrigerator for 24 hours. Remove from marinade, sprinkle with flour. Brown in hot fat in a Dutch oven. Turn heat low, add marinade to meat and cover closely. Simmer for 3 hours. Thicken gravy if desired.

APPLE CIDER PIE
1 1/2 cups cider
2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin

2 medium-large apples, pared
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
9-inch baked pie shell

Heat 3/4 cups cider with the cinnamon candies added. When candy has melted, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in rest of cider. Chill until nearly set. Then beat until frothy. Grate pared apples directly into gelatin mixture and fold in whipped cream. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill until firm.

APPLE BREAD
3/4 cup oil
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
3 cups whole-grain flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon orange rind
1 cup raisins
4 cups walnuts
3 cups chopped apples
1/2 cup sweet cider

Blend the oil and sugar into a smooth cream. Add well-beaten eggs. In a separate bowl, mix the flour, baking powder and salt. Add this to the cream mix. After mixing together, add the remaining ingredients and stir into smooth, well-kneaded dough. If the dough seems too dry, add some cider. It should neither stick to the hands nor crumble. Bake in a pan like a Johnnycake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Tips extend your enjoyment of cheese

AP — Cheese was the first convenience product, providing our ancestors with a lasting and highly portable food. Today we're more concerned about flavor and enjoy cheese because it tastes so good in so many dishes. To maximize the flavor and shelf life of your favorite cheese, follow these tips:

STORING
• Store cheese in its original wrapping or seal in foil or plastic wrap. Eliminate as much air as possible to prevent surface mold or drying.

• Double-wrap strong-smelling cheeses in foil or plastic wrap, then in a tightly covered container so other foods don't absorb the odor.

• No matter how carefully they are stored, natural cheeses continue to ripen and will spoil, even in the refrigerator. Eat cream cheese, cottage cheese, ricotta and other soft cheeses within one week of purchase. Store firmer cheeses, such as Cheddar and Swiss, for several weeks. Parmesan and other very dry cheeses will be fine for several months.

• Surface mold is unappetizing but generally harmless. Cut out a 1/2-inch area around moldy areas before serving.

FREEZING
• To freeze natural and process cheeses, wrap in moisture- and vaporproof wrap. Seal, label and freeze for 6-8 weeks for natural cheeses; 4-5 months for process cheeses.

• Because cheese texture is affected by freezing, use cheese that has been frozen only in cooking.

• Do not freeze soft cheeses, such as cottage and ricotta.

USING CHEESE
• Four ounces of any natural or process cheese equals one cup shredded.

• To try a new cheese, find out its family connections. Cheese "families" have similar flavor and texture so you can substitute a new cheese for a familiar one. Substitute Colby, Edam or Gouda for Cheddar; Asiago, Fontina or Romano for Parmesan; Neufchatel for cream cheese; Brie for Camembert.

• To taste natural cheeses at their flavor peaks, let stand, covered, at room temperature 30-60 minutes before serving.

• When cooking with cheese, use low heat and avoid long cooking times. High heat and long cooking toughen cheese. Shred, grate, cube or dice cheese to promote fast, even melting.

LOW-FAT CHEESES
• If you are looking for ways to cut down on the amount of fat you eat, seek out low-fat cheeses in the dairy case.

• When cooking with a low-fat cheese, be especially careful to keep heat low. Stir in one direction only — and only until cheese melts.

Kids like brownies

AP — When kids cook, they usually prefer to make something they can eat just as soon as it's done. But these easy-fix brownies are so good they're worth waiting for, until they're almost cool.

KID-COOK BROWNIES
1/4 cup margarine or butter one 5.5-ounce can chocolate-flavored syrup
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
2 eggs
1/2 cup miniature semisweet chocolate pieces

1/2 cup broken walnuts or pecans

In a medium saucepan melt margarine over medium-low heat; remove pan from heat. Stir in chocolate syrup, flour, sugar and baking soda. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Pour into a greased 9- by 9- by 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 18-20 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near center comes out clean. Place pan on cooling rack. Sprinkle with chocolate pieces and nuts. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes 16.

Veggies fill casserole

Vegetables can be delicious, both individually or in a combination such as this fresh-tasting microwave casserole.

GARDEN BOUNTY CASSEROLE
1/2 pound fresh green, yellow wax or purple beans
2 medium carrots
2 medium ears fresh corn
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese (3 ounces)
1/2 cup couscous
1/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese (1 ounce)
Clean beans and bias-cut into 1-inch pieces. Thinly bias-slice carrots. Cut corn from cob.

In a 1 1/2-quart microwave-safe casserole combine beans and water. Cook, covered, on 100 percent power (high) for 4 minutes; stir once. Stir in carrots and corn. Cook, covered, on high for 5 minutes more.

Stir in 1/4-cup cheese, couscous, milk, salt and pepper. Cook, covered, on high for 3-4 minutes or until heated through and all vegetables are crisp-tender, stirring once. Sprinkle 1/4-cup cheese on top. Makes 6 servings.

Taco salad is easy, full meal

Many mothers will attest that cooking for children can be a battle. As the mother of three boys and 12 years of experience in the trenches, I have had to devise various tactics that keep the troops in line and help quell outright rebellion.

One maneuver that works for our family is to let each of our sons have a night to choose the dinner. I have found the boys usually respect each other's choices and tend to eat their dinner with fewer complaints when this participative planning is used.

One of their favorite choices is taco salad which, in addition to being easy to make, is a complete meal in itself. One of the things I really like about this dish is that it may be made early in the day, refrigerated and then tossed into the oven, and is ready to eat within 45 minutes. It may be reheated easily or microwaved for late-arriving family members.

I usually serve it with a mixed fruit salad that has been drizzled with a honey-lime dressing, and that's all that is needed. This dinner keeps K.P. to a minimum and is always a hit in our family's mess hall.

I WOULD LIKE to thank those readers who have taken the time to send in their Winner Dinners. The menus sound delicious and reaffirm the basic premise of this column. Don't forget that an apron printed with "Winner Dinner Winner" will be given to the person whose menu is selected to appear in this column.

The first Winner Dinner from a reader will appear Monday, Oct. 16. I'm looking forward to hearing from you, and especially hope that you and your troops enjoy this week's Winner Dinner.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. Please include a complete dinner, with recipes as needed.

Each week's recipes are printed the same size, so that you may clip and save them in a three-ring binder — use a paper punch to make holes in the clipping, or paste the clipping on a blank sheet of three-ring notebook paper. Another option is to simply file the clippings in a folder with pockets that will hold them.

Bay scallops tasty with special mayo

BAY SCALLOPS WITH MUSTARD THYME MAYONNAISE

1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme leaves or 1/4 teaspoon crumbled dried
 4 teaspoons coarse-grained mustard
 1/2 teaspoon fresh lemon juice, or to taste
 10 ounces bay scallops
 flour for dredging the scallops

1 tablespoon unsalted butter
 1/4 cup vegetable oil

In a small bowl whisk together the mayonnaise, the thyme, the mustard and the lemon juice and chill the sauce, covered, for 30 minutes. In a large colander dredge the scallops in the flour, shaking off the excess. In a large heavy skillet heat the butter and the oil over moderately high heat until the fat is hot but not smoking and in the fat saute the scallops, shaking the skillet, for 2 minutes, or until they are golden. Serve the scallops with the sauce. Serves 2.

Apples and honey symbolize desire for a sweet new year

 3 eggs
 lemon glaze
 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts

Sift together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Combine oil and sugar. Add 1/2 dry ingredients, mixing well. Blend in grated apples, pineapple, 1/2 cup walnuts and vanilla. Add remaining dry ingredients. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Turn into greased 3-quart Bundt pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until cake tests done. Cool in pan 15 minutes; turn out on wire rack. Drizzle with Lemon Glaze

Combine:
 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
 3 tablespoons soft butter
 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel

2 teaspoons lemon juice
 1 1/2 tablespoons hot water

Stir until smooth.

You'll relish this onion-flavored addition to ordinary frankfurter

AP — Franks take on top-dog taste with this one-of-a-kind relish. The onion flavor is pleasingly mild, tamed by the tomato and herbs. We like it with burgers and chicken, too.

If you have lots of onions to use up and would like to make a double batch, you can freeze the relish in moisture-and vaporproof containers for up to 1 year.

ONION RELISH
 3 large onions, finely chopped

(3 cups)
 2 tablespoons water
 1/2 cup tomato sauce
 3 tablespoons ketchup
 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed

1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/4 teaspoon crushed dried red pepper

In a 2-quart saucepan combine onions and water. Bring to boiling, reduce heat. Add tomato sauce, ketchup, sugar, oregano, salt, garlic salt and red pepper. Simmer, covered, about 20 minutes or until onions are just tender. Serve hot or chilled with meats. Store remaining sauce in refrigerator for up to 2 weeks. Makes 2 1/2 cups, twenty-2-tablespoon servings.

 TACO SALAD
 FRESH FRUIT SALAD
 WITH HONEY-LIME DRESSING

TACO SALAD

This dish takes about 30 minutes to prepare, may be made in advance and is equally delicious with ground turkey. It amply serves our family of 5 and is great the next day.

8 cups of tortilla chips
 1-1/2 pounds of ground beef or ground turkey
 1 medium-sized onion, chopped
 1 taco seasoning packet
 2 medium-sized tomatoes
 1 bunch of green onions, chopped (white part and 3 inches of green)
 1 can of chopped green chilies
 1/2 cup grated mozzarella cheese
 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
 1/2 cup grated Monterey Jack cheese
 1/2 head of lettuce, chopped coarsely
 8 black pitted olives, sliced thinly for garnish (optional)

seasoning. Follow the directions on the packet but use only half the specified amount.

While the meat is cooking, cut up the tomatoes and green onions and mix together with the can of chopped green chilies. Chop lettuce very coarsely and grate cheese. (As a time-saver I buy grated cheese.)

Pour half the meat mixture over the chips. Put half the lettuce on top of the meat. Put half the tomato, green onion and green chili mixture on top of the lettuce. Cover with half the amount of cheese. Re-layer with remaining ingredients — chips, meat, lettuce, tomatoes, green onion and chili mixture, and top with cheese. Garnish with sliced black olives.

Bake covered in a preheated oven at 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD WITH HONEY-LIME DRESSING

Cut up any fresh fruit you have on hand. Squeeze the juice out of two limes and sweeten with honey to taste. Drizzle this over the fruit and, voila, the salad is ready! This dressing recipe comes from Missie Williams, a good friend and a great cook. An additional note: If you like lots of dressing, proportionately increase the quantities.

Shopping List

- 1 bag of tortilla chips
- 1-1/2 pound of ground beef or ground turkey
- 1 onion
- 1 bunch of green onions
- 1 head of lettuce
- 2 medium-sized tomatoes
- 1 taco seasoning packet
- 1 can of chopped green chilies
- 1 can of black pitted olives (optional)
- mozzarella cheese
- Monterey Jack cheese
- cheddar cheese
- 2 limes
- honey

Your choice of fresh fruit, such as watermelon, cantaloupe, oranges, apples

Notes

Spaghetti squash not unknown

AP — Spaghetti squash was a curiosity when it first appeared on produce counters. Now it's a standard item at most supermarkets. Your microwave cuts the cooking time for spaghetti squash and other hard-shelled varieties by three-quarters. Cilantro and cumin give this side dish a Southwestern flavor.

SOUTHWESTERN-STYLE SPAGHETTI SQUASH

one 2 1/2- to 3-pound spaghetti squash
 1 cup chopped sweet red and/or green pepper
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 1/4 cup chicken broth
 2-4 tablespoons snipped fresh cilantro
 1 tablespoon olive oil or cooking oil
 1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar or cider vinegar
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
 1/2 cup sliced pitted ripe olives
 1/2 cup coarsely chopped peanuts

Halve squash; discard seeds. Place, cut side down, in a 12-by-7 1/2-by-2-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Add 2 tablespoons water to dish. Cover with vented microwave-safe plastic wrap. Cook on 100 percent power (high) for 15-20 minutes or until tender, rearranging once. Drain; set aside.

In a 2-quart microwave-safe casserole combine pepper, onion, broth, cilantro, oil, vinegar, garlic, salt and cumin. Cook, covered, on high for 3-4 minutes or just until tender, stirring once.

Use a fork to shred and separate squash pulp into strands, reserving shells. In the casserole toss squash pulp, pepper mixture and olives until coated. Cook, covered, on high for 2-3 minutes or until heated through. Transfer to squash shells. Sprinkle with peanuts. Makes 6-8 servings.

'Color on your plate' is good for your health

An old wives' tale dating back hundreds of years taught: "Always have a lot of color on your plate." This advice was given so that people would meet their need for beta carotene.

Beta carotene is one of food's natural "antioxidants." It can help our bodies fight off cancer and heart disease. In today's modern world we're exposed to pollution, smoke, fatty foods, stress and sun exposure. Many of these we can't avoid completely. But, we can help ourselves to fight their negative effects by eating a well-balanced diet rich in leafy greens, yellow and orange vegetables and fruits, which provide our bodies with a daily store of these important antioxidants.

Most fruits and vegetables supply beta carotene. Especially the green and yellow/orange vegetables such as broccoli, spinach, sweet potatoes and the popular carrot (which we were told to eat for healthy eyes). Getting enough beta carotene in our diet is, in fact, essential for good vision and it also helps protect the eyes from forming cataracts.

Just knowing that eating foods rich in beta carotene can help to prevent certain types of cancers, and that it can help to preserve your vision, should encourage you to reach for a glass of carrot juice instead of soda pop. Now the good news. Foods rich in beta carotene are tasty.

Florine Mark

DOESN'T A spiced carrot-raisin muffin sound good for breakfast? And for an afternoon snack, sweet potato chips are a healthy way to satisfy your craving for munchies. As the days and evenings begin to get cool, think about baking some acorn squash with a touch of brown sugar and cinnamon or enjoying a bowl of pumpkin chowder.

Take the old wives' tale seriously. It was excellent advice then — and in our modern environment it's even more important. Whenever you sit down to a meal, always be sure there is color on your plate, especially from the vegetable family. It's also a good idea to eat a carrot every day.

SPICED CARROT-RAISIN MUFFINS

Makes 12 servings
2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
3/4 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon each, baking soda, ground cinnamon and ground nutmeg

1/2 teaspoon each salt and ground ginger
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup plus 2 teaspoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons thawed, frozen, concentrated orange juice (no sugar added) or 1 small orange (about 6 ounces), peeled, seeded and chopped
1 1/2 cups shredded carrots
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons dark raisins

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray 12 2 1/2-inch muffin-pan cups with non-stick cooking spray; set aside.

In large mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt and ginger, mixing thoroughly. In small bowl, mix together eggs, oil, and juice concentrate (or chopped orange) until well blended; pour into dry ingredients and, using a fork, stir until mixture is moistened. Stir in carrots and raisins. Spoon an equal amount of batter into each sprayed cup (each will be about 3/4 full). Bake for 25-30 minutes (until muffins are browned and a toothpick, inserted in center, comes out clean). Remove muffins to wire rack and let cool.

Each serving provides: 1 bread exchange; 1/4 vegetable exchange; 1 1/2 fat exchanges; 1/4 fruit exchange; 70 optional calories.

Per serving with orange juice: 245 calories, 4 g protein; 8 g fat; 40 g carbohydrate; 67 mg calcium; 253 mg sodium; 46 mg cholesterol.

With orange: 246 calories; 4 g protein; 8 g fat; 40 g carbohydrate; 71 mg calcium; 253 mg sodium; 46 mg cholesterol.

SWEET POTATO CHIPS

Makes 2 servings
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
6 ounces thinly sliced sweet potato (1/2-inch thick slices)
1 teaspoon firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
dash to 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In small mixing bowl, drizzle oil over potato slices and, using 2 forks, toss to coat. On non-stick baking sheet arrange slices in a single layer. In cup or small bowl combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle evenly over potatoes. Bake for 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Turn potato slices over and continue baking until crisp, 15-20 minutes (check for doneness frequently to prevent burning). Transfer potato chips to small serving bowl. Serve immediately or let cool to room temperature.

Each serving provides: 1 bread exchange; 1 fat exchange; 10 optional calories.

PUMPKIN CHOWDER

Makes 4 servings
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon margarine
1/4 pound Canadian-style bacon, minced
1 cup chopped, thoroughly washed leeks (white portion only)
3 cups water
2 cups canned or cooked and pureed fresh pumpkin
2 packets instant chicken broth and seasoning mix
6 ounces cubed pared all-purpose potato
1/4 teaspoon each crumbled sage and thyme leaves dash each pepper and ground nutmeg

1/4 cup half and half (blend of milk and cream)

In 3-quart saucepan melt margarine. Add bacon and leeks and cook, stirring frequently, until leeks are tender-crisp, about 2 minutes. Add water, pumpkin, and broth mix and stir until thoroughly combined. Bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Add potato and seasonings and let simmer-until potato is tender and flavors blend, about 20 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in half and half.

Each serving provides: 1 protein exchange; 1/2 bread exchange; 1 1/2 vegetable exchanges; 1 fat exchange; 30 optional calories.

Per serving with canned pumpkin: 193 calories; 9 g protein; 8 g fat; 23 g carbohydrate; 72 mg calcium; 959 mg sodium; 20 mg cholesterol; 3 g dietary fiber.

With cooked fresh pumpkin: 176 calories; 9 g protein; 8 g fat; 19 g carbohydrate; 59 mg calcium; 954 mg sodium; 20 mg cholesterol; 1 g dietary fiber (this figure does not include cooked fresh pumpkin; nutrition analysis not available)

Fast-food meal can equal a half-stick of butter

If you have just gotten the news your blood cholesterol number is high, you are not alone.

More than 60 million Americans have high blood cholesterol. High blood cholesterol is one of the major controllable risk factors for heart disease. The amount of cholesterol in your blood is affected by the amount of cholesterol your body makes as well as the saturated fat and cholesterol in the foods you eat.

Would you sit down and eat a half stick of butter? Guess what, if you eat a large hamburger with cheese, an order of French fries and a milkshake at a local fast food restaurant you are consuming that

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service much saturated fat. If you want to correct high blood cholesterol and you are eating like an average American, you will have to make some changes. Let's face it, we are all different so there is no one single approach to the cholesterol problem. Biologically, psychologically and lifestyles are very diverse, so then should our approach to cholesterol be individual? Consult with your physician for your specific guideline for lowering cholesterol.

SOME VERY LUCKY people were born with good genes and no matter what they eat, their cholesterol levels stay low. Others, no matter how carefully they eat, can't keep cholesterol levels in a desirable range. Some of us, of course, are in the middle. If your cholesterol is high you need to find out the reason and problems.

"Free of cholesterol" or "no cholesterol" does not mean free of fat. Your body will use the fat and make cholesterol. You will find these labels on margarine, crackers, cereals, mayonnaise, potato chips and other foods. Rule of thumb, in a beef product for instance, figure half the total fat is saturated. To figure grams of fat in a milk product, figure two-thirds of the total fat per serving is close to the amount of saturated fat.

Be alert for names on labels such as coconut oil, palm oil, butter, cream, beef fat and lard. Also look for the presence of whole eggs or egg yolks in baked or processed foods. These can all raise your cholesterol numbers.

Fiber seems to have the power to absorb certain fatty substances in the gastrointestinal tract and escorts them out of the body, therefore preventing the body from using them to manufacture cholesterol in the liver so your cholesterol level goes down.

Dietary fiber sources are grouped according to their ability to dissolve in water. Soluble fibers, those that dissolve in water, include pectin, gums and certain hemicellulose fiber. Foods that contain these soluble fibers include oat bran, dry beans, barley, apples and cranberries (pectin), and other fruits. Insoluble fibers such as wheat bran are of no benefit in lowering in cholesterol, though they are important in the diet to control constipation and possibly clean the intestine. Oat bran and dry beans and peas have been found especially effective in lowering serum cholesterol.

BREADS HIGHEST in fiber and lowest in fat are whole wheat, rye and French. Choose English and bran muffins, plain bagels and pita bread. Plan more lunches and dinners that include spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, rice, wheat, cornmeal, barley and bulgur. Choose cream soups less often and instead choose minestrone, chicken noodle, onion, or split-pea soups. Use low-fat crackers such as soda crackers, melba toast and graham crackers. For dessert, try angel food cake, fig bars, sherbert, frozen non-fat yogurt or ice milk. At snacking time, use popcorn (plain) or fruits and vegetables.

Losing weight often lowers serum lipids, including cholesterol, and reduces blood pressure, as well as providing other health benefits. Fat is a concentrated source of calories, so decreasing fat intake is important in weight reduction as well serum cholesterol reduction.

The choice is really yours. Changing a few eating habits doesn't mean giving up all the foods you like to eat. Making substitutions for high fat foods, preparing foods the low-fat way, modifying recipes to be lower in fat and cutting down on serving size all will help lower your cholesterol and, hopefully, you will live longer.

Special mayo for scallops

BAY SCALLOPS WITH MUSTARD THYME MAYONNAISE

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme leaves or 1/4 teaspoon crumbled dried

4 teaspoons coarse-grained mustard
1/2 teaspoon fresh lemon juice, or to taste
10 ounces bay scallops
flour for dredging the scallops
1 tablespoon unsalted butter
1/4 cup vegetable oil

In a small bowl whisk together the mayonnaise, the thyme, the mustard and the lemon juice and chill the sauce, covered, for 30 minutes. In a large colander dredge the scallops in the flour, shaking off the excess. In a large heavy skillet heat the butter and the oil over moderately high heat until the fat is hot but not smoking and in the fat saute the scallops, shaking the skillet, for 2 minutes, or until they are golden. Serve the scallops with the sauce. Serves 2.

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day-to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes — like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, call JDF at (313) 569-6171.

A WCCC spokesperson said information concerning requirements for admission, admission application procedures, curricular studies, majors, extracurricular programs, and college life will be discussed.

College representatives will be available to students and their families to answer questions and advise them on program planning.

Early S'craft dean Lois Waterman dies

Lois Waterman, a key figure in the founding of Schoolcraft College and namesake of the college's Waterman Center, died Sept. 14 in New Mexico. She was in her 80s.

Waterman was the Livonia-based community college's first dean of student affairs. Active in community college development throughout the state, she was recruited to help establish Schoolcraft College in 1962. She left the college in 1965.

Waterman was remembered as "the founder of the quality of the college" by Eric Bradner, Schoolcraft's first president.

She is credited with developing college courses, counseling staff and student transfer agreements between Schoolcraft and the state's four-year institutions.

SHE RECEIVED an honorary associate of arts degree from the college in 1979.

Meet eight of Detroit's most eligible bachelors.

Single, clean-cut male. Looking for lifelong friend to play frisbee with.

Playful, loving, out-going type. Needs friend to deliver morning paper and slippers to.

Quiet, yet understanding. In search of someone with good, strong legs to rub up against.

Good natured male. Family man. Great with kids.

Attractive, middle-aged companion. Knows every trick in the book. Ready to settle down.

Energetic mischief maker. Has lots of love to give, but no one to give it to.

Fine, upstanding individual. Tired of sing's scene. Wants long-term relationship.

Single, independent male. Likes seafood, headwatching. Desperately needs someone to share it all with.

They're handsome, faithful, and fun to be with. But right now, they're lonely. These are just eight of the hundreds of perfectly healthy animals waiting at the Michigan Humane Society (MHS) for that certain special someone to go home with. Someone, we hope, just like you.

Because you can provide what we can't: a permanent home. One that will be filled with all the love and attention they deserve.

But if you're already spoken for, there is another way you can help. Your donation to the MHS, no matter how big or small, will help us give these animals the best care possible and the chance for us to find them a proper home.

So, share your love with those who need it most: the bachelors and bachelorettes at the Michigan Humane Society.

Up early

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, center, welcomed Gov. James Blanchard and his wife, Janet, and Detroit Red Wings owner Mike Ilitch to his Friday morning fund-raiser at Roma's of Livonia. An estimated 2,000 people paid $200 a plate to attend the event, billed as McNamara's biggest fund-raiser ever. Pizza magnate Ilitch was among those honored by the executive for contributions to the county over the past year. Other honorees included Diane Edgecomb, executive director of Detroit's Central Business District Association, and Horace Sheffield, executive director of the Detroit Association of Black Organizations.

Board seeks volunteers

Volunteers are sought for advisory councils at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital and Wayne Community Living Services, Northville. Councils meet at least quarterly to advise hospital directors on administrative policy and programs and to monitor programs, patient rights issues and operating budgets. Volunteers are sought from these groups: mental health service consumers; their parents, guardians or relatives; mental health advocates; local and regional mental health officials, or anyone interested in mental health care. Council members will be appointed by state Mental Health Director Thomas Watkins Jr. They will serve a two-year term. Volunteers must be Wayne County residents. Those interested in serving should send a letter of interest and biographical information to: Lois Brehnan, staff liaison, Mental Health Advisory Council, Michigan Department of Mental Health, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing, Mich., 48913.

Levin staffer to hold constituent meetings

Area residents can meet with a representative of U.S. Sen. Carl Levin from 2-4 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 4 in Wayne City Hall, 3355 S. Wayne Road. Lisa Borico of Sen. Levin's regional staff will be there to help residents with problems with governmental agencies and programs, including Social Security and the Veteran's Administration. She will also seek resident's comments on new laws and other governmental action. Those unable to attend can write or call the senator's regional office, 15100 Northline, Room 107, Southgate, 285-8596.

ASEPTIC NECROSIS

Aseptic necrosis is an unusual arthritis, but one that any person could develop some day. Individuals at risk include those who are taking steroids daily, alcoholics, or anyone who recently injured a bone. However, aseptic necrosis occurs in some people for no discernable reason. The cause is closure of a blood vessel supplying a joint or bone; the bone deprived of its oxygen and nutrition, crumbles. The name of the condition comes from the observation that infection is not the cause (aseptic) and the effect is to destroy bone (necrosis). The most frequent sites are the shoulder, knee, and wrist, though any bone may be involved. If you have aseptic necrosis, you feel pain at the site the bone is disintegrating. The pain often becomes intense on bearing weight on the bone or joint, and eventually is present even when you are at rest. Initially, neither x-ray or bone scan reveal the cause. It may take a second or third x-ray to indicate the presence of aseptic necrosis. Treatment may be as simple as a temporary splint while the body heals the limb. Or, collapse of underlying bone may be of such extent as to necessitate an operation for replacement of an artificial hip or knee.

Lutheran North's Kurt Strozewski (33) tried to catch Clarenceville's Kendrick Harrington, but it was to no avail; Harrington got away for a touchdown.

Foss leads Trojan rout of Mustangs

By Ray Setlock

football

As the wind whistled through the football field at Livonia Clarenceville Friday, fans huddled under their blankets and prayed for the gusts-of-air-to-die-down, not knowing the breeze was really a result of Trojan quarterback Chris Foss' air assault on Mount Clemens Lutheran North.

When the wind died down and the dust settled, the Trojans had walked away with a 28-6 victory.

Foss, who scored the game's first touchdown on a 1-yard run in the opening quarter, completed nine of 15 passes for 162 yards. His main target was wide receiver Kendrick Harrington, who caught five passes, including a 30-yard touchdown strike.

"Harrington played a superb game for us," Clarenceville coach Vic Balaj said. "Both he and Foss worked hard."

"THAT HARRINGTON is really something else," Lutheran North coach Bruce Braun said. "He's not just a good player, but a class act."

Harrington was modest about his efforts, but said the team played well as a whole.

"We win as a family and lose as a family," Harrington said. "It was just real nice to contribute."

Harrington and Foss were complimented by tailback Andrew Weighill, who carried the ball 14 times for 92 yards. He scored two of the Trojans four touchdowns with runs of 1 and 4 yards.

Clarenceville gave a gritty defensive performance, thanks to tackle Carlos Perez, who blocked two Mustang punts, one of which set up a Trojan touchdown. He played Friday's game with a broken hand.

"THOSE TWO blocked punts really hurt us," Braun said. "They gave Clarenceville good field position."

Despite the Trojans' success, the Mustangs were not without their chances, as Clarenceville accumulated 137 yards in penalties. The Trojans four personal fouls didn't please Balaj.

"We have to learn how to keep our mouth shut," Balaj said. "If this would have been a close game, those penalties could have really hurt us."

Nevertheless Clarenceville sculpted a fine offensive effort and stole the victory.

The Trojans accumulated 290 yards total offense and picked up 11 first downs.

The Mustangs led offensively by quarterback Matt Wengler, who completed five of 13 passes for 57 yards, managed just 109 yards total offense. They had 10 first downs.

"OUR GUYS worked hard and deserve the victory," Balaj said. "We'll just have to clean up the penalties for next week and go out and play a sound game."

Both coaches agreed, that penalties and turnovers allowed the final score to be deceiving.

"This game was a lot closer than the score would indicate," said Balaj. "Our good field position allowed us to score, but this was a tough game."

Braun added: "If you were to just look at the score, you would think we were blown out, when actually this was a hard-fought battle by both teams. Our turnovers and costly mistakes gave them good field position."

Glenn's tenacity results in victory

As Pat Bennett described it, "Our girls had poise near the end."

That poise helped Bennett's Westland John Glenn girls basketball team in its determined effort to overcome an early Walled Lake Central lead Thursday. The Rockets finally prevailed, overcoming a six-point deficit after one quarter to defeat the Vikings 52-49 at Glenn.

After Central (1-5 record overall) rattled Glenn's defense for 21 first-quarter points, the clamps came down. The Vikings scored just eight points in the second quarter, 11 in the third and nine in the fourth.

The Rockets (2-4) tied it at 40 and the score remained close until the final period, when Glenn pulled away with a 14-9 effort. Cathy Mruk's 14 points and 13 rebounds paced the Rocket effort; Shu Warren had 11 points and nine boards. Karyn Koslowski notched 15 points for Central.

WOODHAVEN 30: No mas.

That refrain, made famous by boxer Roberto Duran when he quit in the middle of his championship bout with Ray Leonard, should have been applied by Woodhaven after the first quarter of Thursday's game at Garden City. The Warriors trailed 12-4, and it just got worse.

At half, the Cougars led 36-9; after three periods, it was 48-11. The reason for the onslaught, according to GC coach Marshall Henry, was simple: "We set the tempo and pressed, and we ran the ball when we could."

Which must have been often. Carolyn Shanks netted 16 points and eight assists to lead the Cougars (4-3 overall, 1-0 in the Northwest Suburban League). Krystal Matevic finished with 15 points and Lynn Gowen scored 11.

volleyball

It was an impressive showing by Madonna College's volleyball team, which hosted NAIA power Northwood Institute Thursday, but it wasn't enough.

Madonna coach Jerry Abraham called it "our best performance of the year." Still, Northwood prevailed 15-12, 15-6, 9-15, 15-9.

"Northwood's a very respected team and we played them point-for-point," insisted Abraham, whose team dipped to 4-2 overall and 1-1 in NAIA District 23 play. He then added, "But we lost the match."

True, Madonna seemed Northwood's equal several times during the match — and Northwood finished fifth in the NAIA last year. But it's also true that the Fighting Crusaders may never get a better chance to knock off the defending district champs, at least not in the foreseeable future.

THE NORTHWOMEN were without their top player, middle blocker Joan Frysinger, a Livonia Stevenson

grad who was sidelined with a shoulder injury. That allowed Madonna to attack the middle successfully.

The pivotal game for the Crusaders was the first. They had a 10-7 lead, but Northwood battled back and captured the lead on Michelle Drouin's serve, as Sue Blumenstein notched a kill and a block for a kill to put her team up 13-11.

Madonna pulled to within a point on a block by sophomore Kristy McFadden (from Redford Bishop Borgess) of a Blumenstein kill attempt, but the Crusaders forged no closer. Sara Slater served out the game with a pair of unreturned serves for Northwood.

Drouin's net play carried the Northwomen in a six-point burst in game No. 2, taking them from a 4-3 deficit to a commanding 9-4 lead. Drouin had a block and two kills for points in the rally. Fittingly, Drouin

Rockets cash in on Central mistakes

By Bill Parker
staff writer

Mistakes can be costly in the game of football, especially if they occur in a game against a highly rated opponent.

Walled Lake Central found out Friday as the host Vikings were clobbered by Westland John Glenn, 38-7.

Two interceptions and two fumbles in the first half set up a field goal and three touchdowns for the Rockets as Central bobbed away any chances of an upset.

"We made a lot of dumb mistakes," said Central coach Gary Tuz. "We dropped a punt, fumbled, got intercepted. You can't make mistakes like that against a good team like Glenn and expect to win."

"The best team won, no doubt," Tuz continued. "They were going to beat us, but it would have been nice to play them without the mistakes. We're not mentally tough enough to come back from bad mistakes."

TUZ WAS correct in admitting the best team had won. Heck, even without the turnovers Glenn racked up 313 yards total offense led by senior tailback Shannon Layne with 113 yards and three touchdowns on 18 carries. Defensively, Glenn held the Vikings to 163 yards total offense, 74 yards coming in the fourth quarter when both teams were featuring players from their respective second-string squads.

"It was nice to have a chance to play a lot of players," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "Everyone (that was healthy) played and that was good for the morale of the team."

"We're getting better. We were a little smoother tonight. We want to play as hard as we can and as well as we can. This is a great bunch of men. They work very hard and are fun to be around."

THE GAME WAS all but over by the end of the first quarter as the Rockets reeled off 17 unanswered points.

Senior quarterback Eric Stover took charge on Glenn's opening possession, leading the Rockets on an 80-yard scoring drive. Stover was three-for-three on the drive including completions of eight and 11 yards to Mark Netmore, and a 38-yard TD pass to David Ryan.

After Fajon Gould intercepted an errant Central pass on the Vikings' next possession, senior kicker Wes Taylor nailed a 32-yard field goal to give the Rockets a 10-0 lead with 6:23 remaining in the quarter.

Glenn was forced to punt on its' next possession, but the Vikings fumbled the punt return and Layne recovered at the Central 11. Layne scored on Glenn's first play of the ensuing drive and Taylor's extra point gave the Rockets a 17-0 lead with 14 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

Layne scored two more times in the second quarter, on runs of 10 and 6 yards. Gould capped Glenn's scoring with 1:22 remaining in the half when he scooped up another Central fumble and rambled 6 yards to pay dirt. Taylor converted all the extra points as Glenn rolled to a comfortable 38-0 lead by halftime.

THE LOSS WAS disappointing for the Vikings. About the only bright spot of the night for the home-town fans was a fourth quarter touchdown. According to Tuz, the TD snapped a four-year streak in which the Vikings have not scored on the Rockets.

After fielding a punt at midfield, Central's second-string offense marched 60 yards in 12 plays. Sophomore quarterback Mark Tatarcuk led the charge, completing three passes for 27 yards including a 13-yard completion to John Drake on a third-and-eight situation. Tatarcuk capped the drive with a 3-yard touchdown run.

"The younger kids played hard and that (touchdown) made them feel good," said Tuz. "That was the first time Central has scored on Glenn in four years."

2nd-half surge sparks Eagles

After playing Woodhaven evenly through the first half, Redford Thurston's soccer team asserted itself early in the second and came away with a 3-2 home field victory Friday.

Jamie Zaleski got what proved to be the game-winning goal, scoring 15 minutes into the second half. Zaleski headed a crossing pass from Steve Watson into the net to make the score 3-1, Thurston.

The two teams were tied 1-1 at the half. Woodhaven scored first, but the Warriors' lead didn't last long. Ten seconds after the ensuing kickoff, Jason Muller drilled a shot from 18 yards out to even the score at 1-1.

Mike Steagall gave the Eagles (3-4-1 overall) the lead for good two minutes into the second half. Steagall converted a cross from Leo Moraleda.

RU 6, TEMPLE CHRISTIAN 2: The difference in programs was evident early, as Redford Union sped to a 4-0 lead by halftime and cruised to an easy triumph Friday at RU.

"Their team speed was much better," said Redford Temple Christian coach Gary Simmons, whose team slipped to 2-4-1. "They moved up and down the field much faster."

Erik Shaltis and Gary Luyben each collected two goals for the Panthers (4-2 overall), and Luyben also had an assist. Jason Frederick and Chris Roeseler also scored for RU.

Temple Christian got second-half goals from Kevin DeMoss (from Chris Johnson) and Kraig Dalton.

"The first half was excellent," said RU coach Al Burnham. "We passed the ball well and created a lot of good scoring opportunities. In the second half, the kids decided the game was over and Temple Christian put it to us."

Not enough, however.

FRANKLIN 2, DEARBORN 2: Livonia Franklin stormed back from a two-goal deficit, scoring two goals in the final 15 minutes and nearly adding another before settling for a tie Wednesday at Dearborn.

The Patriots (3-2-1) trailed after Dearborn's Fadi Bazzi got a first-half goal on a penalty kick (after a Franklin defender was called for a hand ball), then made it 2-0 11 minutes into the second half when Bill O'Reilly hit a direct kick.

Franklin started its comeback when Scott Gyiraszin was knocked down in the box, giving the Patriots a penalty kick. Robert Hayes converted to narrow the gap to 2-1 with 15 minutes remaining.

With seven minutes left, Gyiraszin knocked in the game-tying goal after a restart. Alex Ross assisted.

Gyiraszin had a chance to give Franklin the victory with three minutes to play, but his shot was deflected by the Dearborn keeper and banged off the post.

STEVENSON 3, W.L. WESTERN 0: Shane Millner and Roy Travis teamed on a pair of first-half scores and keeper Jerry Smolenski made them stand up as Livonia Stevenson bounced back from last Monday's disappointing loss to Livonia Churchill with a win Wednesday at Walled Lake Western.

Millner scored the game's first goal, with the assist going to Travis. Travis made it 2-0, and this time Millner assisted.

Jason Flynn added an insurance goal on a penalty kick in the second half.

The Spartans outshot Western, 17-5, to improve their record to 3-1-1.

CHURCHILL 7, N. FARMINGTON 0: John Gentile netted three goals and four assists to keep Livonia Churchill unbeaten (7-0) Wednesday against North Farmington.

Thurston rolls over Truman

THURSTON 71, TRUMAN 27: The first quarter was bad, but the next three were even worse for Taylor Truman Thursday at Redford-Thurston. The Eagles (3-2 overall, 2-1 in the Tri-River League) had a 20-13 advantage after one quarter, increased it to 38-18 at the half and to 61-20 after three periods.

Lisa Marunich led a trio of Thurston players to reach double figures in scoring with 12 points. Beth Bachman had 11 and Patty Haney scored 10. Amy Huffman's 10 points topped Truman (0-6 overall, 0-3 in the TRL).

ST. ALPHONSUS 51, ST. AGATHA 33A: first-quarter surge was enough to carry Dearborn St. Alphonsus to a homecourt victory Thursday over Redford St. Agatha.

St. Alphonsus grabbed a 20-5 lead after one quarter and upped it to 31-14 at the half. The Aggies (1-4 overall) played the Arrows evenly in the second half, but they couldn't cut into the deficit.

Carrie Musialowski led St. Alphonsus with 16 points. Kelly Carr had nine points and 12 rebounds for St. Agatha.

EDSEL FORD 57, RU 41: Hey, eliminate the first quarter and this might have been a ball game.

It was as if Redford Union didn't show up until the second quarter started Thursday. Dearborn Edsel Ford shut the Panthers out — blanked them, 16-0 — to start the game, played at RU. It proved to be too big a bulge to trim for RU, which showed little offense until outscoring the Thunderbirds 23-10 in the fourth period.

Shannon Morris paced the Panthers (2-4 overall) with 22 points. Dawn Woods led Edsel Ford (5-1 overall) with 30.

CANTON 68, CHURCHILL 25: Livonia Churchill was playing out of its class Thursday when it hosted Plymouth Canton. The Chiefs, 4-2 overall and 1-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division, built a 20-2 lead after one quarter and were ahead 34-5 at the half.

Alyssa BelAlre's eight points was best for the Chargers (1-5 overall, 0-1 in the Western Division). Stacey Thompson netted 18 for Canton, with Susan Ferko contributing 12.

SALEM 59, STEVENSON 26: Plymouth Salem ran wild against Livonia Stevenson Thursday at Salem, outscoring the Spartans 14-5 in the first quarter and 37-16 in the opening half.

Only one player in the game reached double figures in scoring: Salem's Betsy McAllister, with 17 points. Sarah Ruete had nine and Wendy Bailey eight for the Rocks (2-4 overall, 1-0 in the WLA's Lakes Division). Stevenson (4-2 overall, 0-1 in the Lakes) was led by Kelly Cotter's eight points.

MOUNT CARMEL 44, BISHOP BORGESS 38: Wyandotte Mount Carmel outscored Redford Bishop Borgess 17-7 in the final quarter Friday to provide the margin of victory.

"We were not as poised as they were in the fourth quarter," said Borgess coach, Dave Mann. "It was a close game in the fourth and our inexperience showed. We had a lot of turnovers, and we just failed to take advantage of what the defense was giving us."

The host Spartans led by as many as nine points in the third quarter, before Mount Carmel's Dana Rieger hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to cut the Borgess lead to four going into the final period.

Tanya Tounsel led Borgess with 25 points, while teammate Chinetta Austin added seven points and four steals. Rieger led the Comets with 15.

Mount Carmel improved to 4-0 with the win, while the Spartans fell to 2-4.

SALINE CHRISTIAN 39; GARDEN CITY UNITED 37: Garden City United Christian (0-2) fell short of points and bodies Friday in their loss to host Saline Christian (2-5).

GC United led 35-32 with 2:45 to play when freshman guard Pinky Lala fouled out. The Cougars, who only have five players on their roster, were forced to play the rest of the way short-handed.

GC United's troubles mounted with 52 seconds left when freshman forward Elaine Lefevre fouled out. The Cougars still had a 37-35 lead, but they were unable to stay ahead with only three players.

Saline scored to tie the game at 37, and then stole the ball back from the undermanned Cougars and scored the winning basket. Jane Kegerris' basket with four seconds left was the winning shot.

Guard Debbie Davidson led GC United with 21 points, while Lefevre added 12 points and 14 rebounds. Lala chipped in with nine steals.

Jean Kegerris led Saline with 22 markers.

Cougars' coach Randy Peterson thought his team should have been on the other side of the score. "This one hurts," he said. "We should have beaten them."

Shamrock golfers edge Rice, stay unbeaten

Two undefeated golfing powers met Wednesday, and when the dust settled, Redford Catholic Central remained standing and unbeaten. The Shamrocks impressively defeated arch-rival Birmingham Brother Rice 148-153 at Brae Burn Golf Course.

Scott Krueger led the way for CC, shooting a one-under par 35. Teammates Joe Sullivan (38), Mike Brady (37) and Mike Obidzinski (40) also shot solid rounds.

Dan Trotta, Doug Voss and David Brownback all fired 38s to lead Rice. The victory improved the Shamrocks' dual meet record to 4-0. The Warriors will get a rematch Thursday at Oakland Hills, Rice's home course.

Thursday, CC improved its record to 5-0 with a 146-251 rout of Redford Bishop Borgess at Brae Burn. Krueger again fired a 35 to gain medalist honors. Sullivan (38), Chris Merucci (37) and Jeff Brown (38) were the Shamrocks' other scorers.

REDFORD THURSTON defeated Allen Park 158-171 Friday at River-view Highlands.

The Eagles' Scott Delano took home medalist honors with a one-over par 37. Adam Stern (40), Bob Isenegger (40), Rich Sherwood (41) and John Walsh (41) were the other top golfers for Thurston.

Rich Stacey and Dan Hall (42) tied for low score for Allen Park. Thurston is now 4-2 overall and 2-0 in the Tri-River League.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN lost to Walled Lake Western 198-246 Wednesday at Idyl Wyld.

Greg Kerr led the Patriots with a 44. The other leading finishers for Franklin were Darin Albany (47), Tom Madgwick (49), Jim Neville (52) and Jason Lamar (54).

Western's Chris Schnelder took home the medalist title with a two-under par 33.

Franklin is now 0-4 overall. WESTLAND JOHN GLENN was defeated by Walled Lake Western 203-241 Thursday at Fellows Creek. Rick Fountaine led the Rockets' effort with a 44. Other top scores for Glenn were carded by Adam Kennedy (47), Ryan Long (49), Jim Long (52) and Ben Robertson (54).

Canton blows out Churchill

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

A blustery, near-gale-like wind — possibly the remnants of Hurricane Hugo — swept over the playing field at the conclusion of Friday's football game.

It was too late. The true storm had already come and gone. The real McCoy, in more ways than one, is the resurrected Plymouth Canton program that blew past Livonia Churchill 33-14 for its fourth straight victory at Centennial Educational Park.

The undefeated Chiefs, 2-0 in the Western Division, are enjoying their finest start in school history and their longest winning streak, which has reached five games. Churchill dropped to 0-2 and 0-4.

Junior quarterback Karl Wukie is a primary reason Canton is one victory from guaranteeing its first winning season, and his play Friday was clear evidence of his importance to the team.

WUKIE, WHO figured in every scoring play, staked the Chiefs to a 13-0 halftime lead, scoring twice on quarterback sneaks. In the second half, he passed for two touchdowns and ran for another.

"It's the linemen," he said. "I didn't break any tackles. If they play well, I play well. If they play poorly, I play poorly. That's all it is."

Indeed, the blocking of Wayne Robinson, Trond Darby, Louis Poulos, Chris Lumsden, Jeff Roch and Jason Dembny was important as the Chiefs seemed to move the ball at will and rolled up 245 yards rushing.

The first time Canton had the ball — after a Jason Lee interception killed a Churchill drive — it put points on the scoreboard. Wukie, who rushed for 50 yards and passed for 61, went 2 yards on the straight-ahead keeper, and capped the team's second possession with a 1-yard plunge.

Fullback Chris James set up the second score with a 44-yard run that typified the quick-hitting running attack the Chiefs can direct at opponents. Jason Riggs was the team's leading rusher with 88 yards on 12 carries, and James finished with 61 on seven attempts.

"The kids did a good job coming off the ball," Canton coach Bob Knoelle said. "That's something we talked about because last week we didn't (while beating Livonia Franklin 21-0). The line did a good job, and (the Chargers are) a good ballclub."

"JAMES INSIDE, Riggs off tackle and Wukie faking is a pretty hard trio to defend. The things we're doing are the things they're best at. We'd be stupid not to because they run hard and have such quickness."

"We're doing what their ability tells us to do. That doesn't surprise me. We just have to maintain it," he added.

The Chargers also moved the ball fairly well. Mike Brooks gained 109 yards on 20 carries, and the Chargers were not embarrassed in terms of total yards, being outgained 308-229.

But some setbacks such as the interception, a costly second-half fumble and a bend-but-don't-break Canton defense stymied the Churchill offense.

"Brooks was breaking the line of scrimmage, but they were getting some people up there and making the plays," Chargers coach Herb Osterland said.

"I thought we had a chance to win the game, but they just came after us and we were not able to stop them. Their offense took it to us. Their team on the field has to be about as quick as we've seen."

Osterland isn't surprised to see the Chiefs doing so well. Nobody should doubt Canton's validity, he said.

"WHEN YOU have good football players and keep doing the right things, you're going to put the ball over the goal. Bob hasn't changed what he's doing. He has kids who are executing, and they're good, quality players."

"They don't have to hang their heads down to anybody and ask 'Is this for real?' Heck, yeah, they're for real."

Canton upped its lead to 20-0 on its first try of third quarter when Wukie, after running 21 yards on the bootleg, passed 10 yards over the middle to Dembny, who was waiting in the end zone.

Churchill's highlight of the evening occurred on the ensuing kickoff as Mike Spaccarotello did his impression of Notre Dame's Raghib "Rocket" Ismail and returned it 88 yards for a TD.

The shootout continued, however, as the resilient Chiefs, aided by two 15-yard penalties against Churchill, reached the end zone again, but some trickery was needed this time.

Churchill had stopped Wukie on third down at the 5, and the Chiefs lined up for a 21-yard field goal by Mike Krejcar. Wukie, the holder, rolled out instead and passed to Riggs for a 27-7 score.

"THERE'S NO doubt we're a good team," Wukie said. "We are for real despite what some people think. Some papers have said 'It's a dream; don't wake them up.' Every game is just as important. We just want to keep winning."

Shamrocks down Borgess

football

Credit the Redford Catholic Central defense with another shutout and credit the team with a perfect 4-0 record, as the Shamrocks defeated Redford Bishop Borgess 10-0 Friday at Livonia Clarenceville.

When crunch time came, the Shamrocks had to look no further than tailback Dave Owens. He scored CC's only touchdown on a nifty 1-yard run between two Spartan defenders and gained a game-high 107 yards on 23 carries.

Owens' fourth quarter touchdown put the lid on CC's victory. It gave CC the cushion they needed, as the Shamrocks spent most of the game riding a 3-0 lead, thanks to senior Kerry Zavagnin's field goal in the first quarter.

"Owens has been carrying the ball well for us," said CC coach Tom Mach. "He earns every yard he gets and he sure got some here tonight."

DESPITE OWENS' effective ground attack, the Shamrocks still had trouble moving the ball through the air. Starting quarterback Jason Carr and backup Jack Davidson combined for just 21 yards. Carr completed two of nine passes for 12 yards and Davidson was one of one for 9 yards.

"I really thought we'd be able to pass a little more," Mach said. "But you got to be prepared for anything. Give Borgess a lot of credit. They played good defense."

The Spartan defense limited the Shamrock to just 215 yards total offense. They had 13 first downs.

Offensively, the Spartans were led by tailback Delwin Sear, who accumulated 95 yards on 18 carries. He was complimented by Borgess quarterback Tom Cole, who completed seven of 14 passes for 126 yards.

THE SPARTANS managed to rack up 248 total offensive yards and 14 first downs.

"Borgess was strong offensively," said Mach. "They were able to move the ball well against us, but just couldn't put it in the end zone."

Mach added: "This game was a typical Catholic League Central Division game. It was low scoring and very defensive. It was a good game by both teams."

Tapp's too much for Southgate

Brent Tapp was all Wayne Memorial needed Friday night when it hosted Southgate Anderson. The senior quarterback passed for three touchdowns and ran for a fourth — all in the first half — and the Zebras' defense did the rest as they bounced Southgate 43-7 in a Wolverine A League football game.

Tapp sent two scoring passes to Larry Johnson (24 and 51 yards) and another to Reggie Brandon (26 yards). For the game, he completed seven of 13 tosses for 155 yards.

The defense, meanwhile, limited Southgate to one completed pass for one yard and negative yardage rushing. The only Titan touchdown was set up by Tapp's one bad pass — a third-quarter interception at the Wayne 12. Two penalties moved the ball to the 3-yard line, and Kevin Kruslemky scored from there.

It made little difference. By then, Tapp had made it 28-0 with a 4-yard run (Tapp also booted five-of-six extra points). Wayne added two more TDs in the second half, Greg Walker bolting 57 yards for a score and Laron Price dashing 4 yards for a TD.

Inbetween, Southgate quarterback Dave Van Hoff was sacked in his own end zone for a safety. Wayne, now 3-1 overall and 2-1 in the WAL, rushed for 237 yards and lost the ball twice.

Southgate (2-2 overall, 1-2 in the WAL) lost three fumbles.

WOODHAVEN 19, GARDEN CITY 14: The Cougars were within seven minutes of their first victory of the season, but couldn't attain it.

After back-up punter Khalid Amer (in because of an injury to the starter) boomed a kick 49 yards, pushing Woodhaven all the way back to its 8-yard line — Amer's first punt of the night traveled 48 yards — with just 7:02 remaining, the Warriors looked to be in trouble.

Not so. The home-field advantage couldn't save GC, as Woodhaven marched down the field and scored the game-winning points with 3:43 still to play as quarterback Mick Sitaraki plunging in from a yard out. A 14-yard pass from Sitaraki to Dustin Snell, who had five catches for 93 yards, on third-down-and-six kept the drive alive.

The Cougars led 14-7 at the half, with running back Frank Gotham scoring on a 3-yard run in the first quarter and quarterback Jim Marszalek tossing a 15-yard touchdown pass to Dion Wujcik in the second. Kurt Butterbaugh booted both extra points.

However, the Warriors (2-2 overall, 1-1 in the Northwest Suburban League) got a break when the Cougars turned the ball over at their own 21 after a bad snap on a punt attempt. Woodhaven punched in for a touchdown just before halftime, with slotback Adam Fenech scoring on a 4-yard run.

Gotham finished with 112 yards rushing on 19 carries. Marszalek completed five of 16 passes for 71 yards.

GC, which outrushed Woodhaven 180-81, was victimized by Sitaraki. He completed 12 of 17 passes for 179 yards. The loss left the Cougars 0-4, 0-1 in the NSL.

SALEM 26, STEVENSON 0: Ryan Johnson riddled the Livonia Stevenson defense for four touchdowns, leading Plymouth Salem to an easy Western Lakes Activities Association victory Friday at Stevenson.

Johnson scored twice in the second quarter and twice in the fourth on runs of 1, 2, 5 and 2 yards. The first two were set up by Rob Kowalski runs; he gained 43 yards to the Stevenson 30 to spur a 76-yard drive, and had a 30-yard run to Stevenson's 16 in a 59-yard drive.

For the game, Kowalski, a senior quarterback, gained 94 yards on 18 carries and completed three of 11 passes for 44 more. Johnson finished with 68 yards rushing on 18 tries, and Pat Bowie had 78 yards on nine attempts.

Stevenson could get nothing going against the tough Rock defense, which recorded its third-consecutive shutout. Quarterback Brian Piergentilli completed just three of 16 passes for 31 yards and was intercepted three times.

One of those interceptions was by Johnson, and led to a 48-yard TD drive, keyed by a 17-yard Johnson run. Salem's other fourth-quarter score came after a 50-yard drive.

For the game, the Spartans managed just 87 total yards, 58 on the ground, as they slipped to 1-3 overall and 1-1 in the WLAA's Lakes Division. Salem is 4-0, 3-0 in the WLAA and 2-0 in the Lakes.

Madonna falters

also served out the game, as Northwood scored five-straight points.

AFTER THE BREAK, Madonna came back with intensity and simply buried Northwood in the third game. Stacey Girard, the freshman outside hitter from Redford (Livonia Ladywood), was outstanding; she had three kills for points and her three unreturned serves finished the shut-out.

The final game was close midway through, with Northwood clinging to a 7-6 advantage. But after that, the Northwomen — with Drouin and Blumenstein back in the lineup — gained control.

For the match, Girard led Madonna with 19 kills. Tonia Smith (Walled Lake Central) added 11 and McFadden had eight. "They played outstanding offensively," said Abraham. Freshman setter Lynn Bernwanger (Walled Lake Central) also excelled, according to her coach. "She ran the team to perfection," he said.

ON TUESDAY, Madonna battled Spring Arbor through five games and won 3-15, 15-5, 15-10, 11-15, 15-9, at Madonna.

Smith, Girard and McFadden led the attack with nine kills apiece. Maria Wordhouse, a freshman (Plymouth Salem), contributed seven kills and five blocks for points.

Freshman Ann DiMambro (Bishop Borgess) led the defense with nine digs, and sophomores Penny Baker and Wendy Wesala came off the bench to spark the third-game victory.

Madonna hosts University of Michigan-Dearborn at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

BEAUNE'S BEST

Tony Beaune, a 6-foot-4, 270-pound defensive tackle for Wayne State University, was named the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference defensive player of the week after the Tartars' 28-20 win over Valparaiso.

Beaune, from Livonia Stevenson, was credited with 12 tackles, including two quarterback sacks. In two games, the senior NCAA Division II All-America candidate has 24 tackles.

SOCCER BONANZA

Central Michigan University's

soccer team continues to surge behind a contingent of Livonia natives. Junior midfielder Karl Bach had a goal for the Chippewas, helping them to a 4-1 win over Siena Heights Wednesday. The victory improved

CMU's record to 5-1-1. On Sept. 16-17, the Chips were in Green Bay, Wis., for the Nike Great Lakes Classic. Freshman striker Pete Galea got the game-winning goal in a 2-1 victory over Western Illinois. CMU's opening game in the tournament. Kurt Will, a freshman defender also from Livonia, assisted. The Chips lost in the tournament finale, however, 6-1 to Southwest Missouri State.

Better depth keeps Spartans unbeaten

Depth prevailed as Livonia Stevenson stayed perfect in dual meets by beating Walled Lake Central 24-37 in a boys cross country meet Thursday at Cass Benton.

Central's Mark Kwiatkowski captured top honors, winning in 17:08. Teammate Dennis Hahn was third in 18:05.

But the rest of the top nine finishers were Spartans. Scott Freeborn took second in 17:30, with Rodney Westlake fourth in 18:14.

Other Stevenson scorers were Nick Boone, fifth (18:22); Eric Oswaldel, sixth (18:24); and Keith Klaska, seventh (18:36).

Stevenson improved to 3-0 overall, 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division. The Spartans race Plymouth Salem Thursday at Cass Benton.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL won its opening dual meet in the WLA's Western Division, knocking off Farmington Harrison 20-39 Thursday at Oakland Community College.

The five Chargers to score in the meet finished among the top seven. Leading the way was Scott Westover, who was first in 18:19. Dan Kauka was second (18:40), Steve Townsend was fourth (19:19), Chad Gilles took sixth (19:41) and Dennis Radovanovic placed seventh (19:41).

Mark Saur was Harrison's best runner, taking third (19:15).

Churchill improved to 2-1 overall, and is 1-0 in the Western Division.

REDFORD THURSTON used a fine run by Tom Biskner to overwhelm Taylor Truman 20-33 Thursday at Papp Park.

Biskner won in ease, finishing in 17:12. Teammate Ted Krarier was second in 17:48, followed by Mike Murchison in fourth (18:38), Clint Sanford in seventh (19:12) and Matt Nagel in ninth (19:20).

The win improved the Eagles' record to 4-1 overall and to 2-1 in the Tri-River League.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN needed every girl to escape with a 27-28 victory Thursday at OCC over North Farmington.

The Raiders' Lisa Rives captured top honors in 20:12, but the next three positions went to Rockets: Darlene Rousseau was second (22:43), Dana Nowicki was third (22:51) and Yvonne Waddell was fourth (23:04).

But North rallied, taking the next three spots before Glenn's Cathy Bachard finished in eighth (24:58). Jennifer Van Goff crossed the finish line in 10th (25:52) to win it for the Rockets.

In the boys meet, it was North who prevailed by a narrow margin, edging John Glenn 26-30 Thursday at OCC.

Glenn's Matt Maybouer was the first to finish, in 17:18. Other Rocket scorers were Jason Nowicki, fourth (18:37); Carl Lowe, fifth (18:45); Joe Rajewski, ninth (19:03); and Dave Gerts, 10th (19:03).

LIVONIA FRANKLIN was unable to upset defending WLA's girls champ Plymouth Canton Thursday at Nankin Mills, although the Patriots gave the Chiefs a run before succumbing 26-31.

Top runners for Franklin were Mary Lou Madison, second (21:45); Dawn Harrison, third (21:50); Kelly Gustafson, fifth (21:57); Kerl Mackay, ninth (22:48); and Stacy Hewitt, 12th (23:11).

Franklin's boys team wasn't as competitive. Canton won easily Thursday, 15-44, at Nankin Mills.

The best Patriot finisher was Erik Curnow, who was sixth (17:38). Aaron Boylan was eighth (18:21), Dave Barina took ninth (18:58), Paul White was 10th (19:17) and Cary Quatro placed 11th (19:21).

Franklin's girls' are 0-1 in the WLA's Western Division and 4-1 overall. The boys are 1-3 overall, 0-1 in the Western Division.

Salem sinks N'ville

Both the Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton soccer teams were able to salvage shutouts Wednesday as the Rocks belted Northville 4-0 and the Chiefs booted Walled Lake Central 9-0.

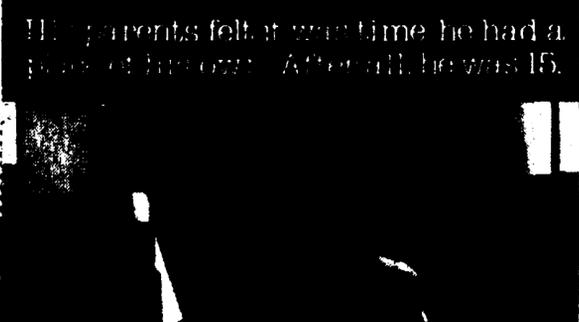

Jeff Gold scored two goals for Salem, now 8-0, giving him a team-leading total of 19 for the season.

Seven of the Rocks' eight victories have come by shutout, and all seven were recorded by goalie Matt Tudor. Their only non-shutout came in a 3-2 victory over Grand Blanc in the season opener.

Joe Nunez had a goal and assist for the Rocks, and Greg Christensen scored the other. Matt Gold had two assists and Joe Tippmann one.

CANTON 9, WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 0: Dan Martin and Daryl Margeta each had three goals for the Chiefs, who improved their record to 4-4-1.

Eric Miller scored twice and Rich McFeely once for the winners. McFeely also had three assists, Chris Hayes two, Mike Presley and Kristian Kripelaen one apiece.

His parents felt it was time he had a place of his own. After all, he was 15.

Bouncers' 'bad boy' image comes with job

By Tim Smith
staff writer

Who says bar bouncers live to break doors, eat brown-tinted glass and toss misbehavin' folks across parking lots inevitably leaving human skid marks.

All one has to do in order to dispel that stereotype is to look at Dearborn BT's bouncer "Little John" in action.

This giant, who stands 6-foot-6 and weighs 322 pounds, wears a college ring from Northern Michigan University. He wants to be a teacher someday. He smiles a lot. And he works BT's with the poise and polish of a vote-hungry politician.

With an antenna raised from his spiked blond hair to spot any notion of trouble, Little John circles bar patrons, who watch from their seats around a Las-Vegas fashioned geometric stage as gyrating women do striptease.

As Little John mingles, he gingerly slaps backs and exchanges pleasantries with the audience. Later, he talked about the method to his madness.

"You meet everybody in a bar," Little John said, sipping on a cold soft drink. "You can learn so much if you take the time to talk to somebody. I've met doctors, lawyers, chiefs of police, mayors, actors and comedians."

Even Gallagher, the king of fruits-and-vegetable thrashing, Little John said.

BUT GET TOO vicious, drunk or grabby with the topless dancers at BT's and the nice guy facade vanishes in a hurry.

"I got hit over the head with a bar stool during a fight about six weeks ago. I got 15 stitches," Little John recalled. It happened during an attempt to break up a five-man fight in the bar.

That setback, however, didn't stop Little John and his partner, known as "Big Paul," from "physically removing the problem."

Using muscle to eject troublemakers, however, is a rarity for Little John or any number of other metropolitan Detroit bouncers. Brains instead of brawn solves many more conflicts, they say.

Although having an Atlas-like build is a plus, bouncers need to be able to talk in order to minimize trouble and protect "orderly" customers.

"If something is developing, we try to squelch it before it really gets started," said Sam Dorante of the Jamies on 7 nightclub in Livonia. "I'll go over and give them a big hug and a kiss. You'd be surprised how often it works."

The nice approach doesn't always work, unfortunately. Just ask Jeff Hanneberg, burly bouncer at Lucille's, a country-and-western bar in Canton Township.

Visitors to the Michigan Avenue establishment recently got quite an earful as a result of a confrontation outside the bar between Hanneberg and some drunken rowdies.

"DON'T TELL me what to f---g do... get the f---k out of here... NOW!" said Hanneberg to a just-ejected customer who was too juiced up and rowdy to stick around. The bouncer pushed a finger into the man's red face to punctuate the message.

"Go ahead. Sue me. Yeah, I'm the a-h-e..."

What's this? Reverse psychology? The bouncers said they'll use anything to break up a keg of potential trouble.

"I'm sure they say all bouncers are hard a--s and sometimes we have to be," said Glenn Forero, one of the bouncers at Woodward Jukebox in Royal Oak, one of Oakland County's most-popular meeting spots. "But most of the time, we're just there."

A visual deterrent of sorts. They're like babysitters, too, Forero said — "When people are drunk they tend to be at a lower level than you are."

Illustrating that notion, Forero recalled a fracas at the Jukebox.

"It was about a year ago. A group of six or seven guys came into the bar and started drinking heavily. One of them hit another customer over the head with a beer bottle. All the bouncers intervened and got them outside. Then the cops came and took them away," Forero said.

Sometimes, though, bouncers use stronger tactics than babysitters might.

"I'LL BE A smart a--," BT's Little John said. "I'll say, 'Come on, hit me, cut me, I dare you.' When you dare them, they have to take a second look to see what they're getting into. Then, they just call you a couple names and run out the door."

According to Forero, some of the paying customers at Woodward Jukebox also use a bit of psychological trickery — or at least they try.

"Usually, they try to make friends with us first. They think if they get into a struggle, 'Well, I know you, so they won't get thrown out,'" he said.

Inside Lucille's, with the Willow Creek Band cranking up country-rock standards and patrons swigging bottled beer, Hanneberg talked about his job.

Hanneberg had cooled down following the altercation outside the bar, where punches were exchanged. With the threat of lawsuits, any kind of physical contact is used only as a last resort, he and the other bouncers stressed.

"Trouble here is rare," said Hanneberg, who once was a bouncer at a rock-and-roll bar. "Tonight, I can honestly say is the first time I hit someone since I've been here (three years)."

Hanneberg's boss, Jerry Stewart, said the trouble maker, and a friend, "were drunk when they came in here. We recognized it right away."

As is normal "bouncer" procedure, Hanneberg had the alcohol supply to the rowdies cut off. Then, he politely asked the patrons to leave. Finally, he came to escort them through Lucille's doors.

"I WANTED TO make sure they got in their cars and didn't smash anybody else's car out," Hanneberg said.

At some area night spots, the task of policing is being undertaken by an army of employees who individually don't have the tools to physically intimidate someone.

One such club is Rumors in West-

This tough mug belongs to "Little John," a bear of a bouncer who toils at a topless entertainment place in Dearborn, called BT's. But he's a real softie when it comes to the ladies he protects.

"I don't believe in violence, if there doesn't have to be," said Rumors bouncer Jim Hester, who stands 6-feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds. On busy Thursday nights, he is one of 10 who patrol the club.

"We're not really that big (physically)," Hester admitted. "Our strength is in numbers. That's the key to our success."

Like his bulkier counterparts, Hester said it's important for bouncers to use their heads to avoid pushing trouble over the edge.

"I just try to talk them out of it and not use force," Hester said. "People are going to get hot. But they'll cool off in a few minutes."

ACCORDING TO Little John, who is so big he has attended professional football tryout camps, bars may be erring by relying on "nicer guys who aren't as imposing."

He claims such clubs are easy targets for guys who make a habit of "going to bars to fight."

A 'visit' to China: It's closer than you think

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

If you saw the movie "The Last Emperor," you may remember the carved throne and other treasures of Imperial China shown in the setting of the Forbidden City.

If you were mesmerized by the student uprising in the People's Republic of China (PRC) this summer, you saw a lot of shots of the Forbidden City as the cameras panned around Tiananmen Square.

You may get to Beijing someday, but right now you have a rare chance to combine a fall trip with a visit to an exhibition of rare national treasures never before seen outside of China. Reader Bette Cannon of West Bloomfield reports that "Son of Heaven: Imperial Arts of China" exhibit in Columbus, Ohio, has been extended through October.

"It was a weekend getaway trip back into 26 centuries of Chinese imperial history," Cannon said. "The message of the exhibit seems to be that Chinese leaders may come and go, but the artists' work lives forever."

"THE COLLECTION" of carved jades, embroidered robes, paintings and sculptures includes some remarkable things — a carved wooden throne, life-sized terra cotta figures, which guarded the tomb of the first emperor, Qin Shihuang, from the third century B.C. until they were unearthed in 1984.

"There are robes covered from collar to hem with exquisite embroidery done by women who made tiny little stitches every day of their lives until they went blind. And a dozen bells, silent for 25 centuries until they were brought to the United States for only two exhibits, in Seattle and Columbus.

"We saw carved jade pillows, created for the emperor's head, and a burial suit made of thin locks of jade sewn together with gold or silver threads. While the Chinese crafted this ornate burial garment, they did nothing to preserve the body inside."

Cannon was fascinated by the site of the exhibit, a 1930s inner city high school — old Central High on Washington Boulevard in downtown Columbus.

On display at the "Son of Heaven: Imperial Arts of China" exhibition in Columbus, Ohio, is the emperor's "Dragon Robe," an imperial costume of embroidered silk from the 18th century Qing Dynasty.

MOVING PICTURES

Joe Bradshaw (Bernard Hill) is angry when his wife Shirley (Pauline Collins) tells him that she is planning to go on a holiday in Greece in Paramount's "Shirley Valentine."

'Shirley Valentine': It's a cinematic tour-de-force

"Shirley Valentine" (A R, 110 minutes) may not be the greatest movie ever made, but it'll do until perfection comes along.

The story of Shirley Valentine (Pauline Collins), a 40 plus English housewife rediscovering life, love and a positive self-image, is one of the happiest, funniest movies in a long time — if not forever.

Based on Pauline Collins' Tony-award winning Broadway performance, "Shirley Valentine" is a cinematic tour-de-force — an excellent, entertaining film that speaks fervently to reaching your highest potential.

But Shirley Valentine lives a humdrum existence. She's married to a hardworking but dour fellow, Joe Bradshaw (Bernard Hill), who means well but wants his tea precisely at six. Romance and adventure are gone from his life and Shirley's as well.

They have two grown children Melandra (Tracie Bennett) and Brian (Garth Jefferson), neither of whom would warm a grandparent's heart, but they mean well.

Faced with that dismal life, Shirley exists in an isolated shell totally devoid of the sense of adventure and spirit which characterized her childhood.

The opportunity to reaffirm life arrives when her good friend, Jane (Alison Steadman), wins a trip for two to Greece. Jane invites and insists that Shirley accompany her.

Despite Jane's insistence and encouragement, it's not easy for a housewife of some 20 years to vacation without her husband. But Shirley does and, boy, is she glad she did.

AMONG OTHER things, she gets to sit and drink retinas while watching beautifully sunsets. As an added bonus, she meets Costas Caldes (Tom Conti), the slickest backwater taverna owner since the serpent hustled Eve. Costas just believes in living life the best you can.

None of this is earthshaking, but the way the story is told makes all the difference in the world.

Alan Hume's ("A Fish Called Wanda," "The Eye of the Needle" and "The Return of the Jedi") photography etches vivid impressions of the brilliant Greek sun that has inspired so many down through the years. His photography captures the essence of Britain's long-standing love affair with Greece.

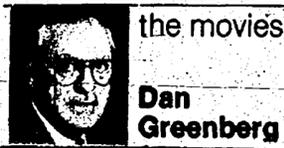

The editing of "Shirley Valentine" is a masterful display of continuity which preserves the intimacy of Collins' one-woman Broadway play while effectively using the remarkable range of images a motion picture camera can capture.

What makes that continuity particularly noteworthy is the performance mode of "Shirley Valentine" — direct eye contact with the camera and the audience.

Most films pretend that they have created a remarkable world for audiences to enjoy. "Shirley Valentine" makes no bones about the fact that Pauline Collins is talking directly to each and every one of us about the importance of living well and achieving our greatest potential.

The editing from personal eye contact to voice over narration to conventional presentation is as smooth as one could imagine. Seamless as they say. It's also, when so well done, a very attractive style.

FINALLY, THERE'S the matter of Pauline Collins' performance. It's a superb and hermetic rendition of scenarist Willy Russell's ("Educating Rita") witty, whimsical and poignant observations on men, women, life and love.

Indeed, an excellent film! Anyone who knows anything about Japan will be appalled at "Black Rain" (D-, R, 120 minutes), a visually unpleasant, murky picture, painted in long, boring shots intended to set the scene for a grisly struggle between Japanese gangsters. Other long, boring interludes apparently are intended to develop characterization. The net result is a long, boring film with occasional moments of unpleasant graphic violence.

The trite, minimalistic plot concerns another burnt-out, divorced New York City detective (sound familiar?), Nick Conklin (Michael Douglas), assigned with his partner, Charlie Vincent (Andy Garcia), to escort Japanese criminal Sato (Yusaku Matsuda) back to Japan.

The film further suffers from lack of charisma, first between detective partners Conklin and Vincent, and later between Conklin and Japanese detective Masahiro Matsumoto (Ken Takakura).

The New York detective's smart-alecky jargon is almost as difficult to understand as the Japanese-accented English. It's also difficult to believe the stupid coincidence on which the whole plot turns.

DIRECTOR RIDLEY Scott's ("Alien," "Blade Runner") style — tedious, dismal, gloomy vistas occasionally interrupted by excessive brutality — seems to sell tickets, but I find it unattractive, unamusing and unentertaining.

If those two major releases aren't to your liking, there are a couple of junkies opening: "Phantom of the Mask: Eric's Revenge" (*) (R) features Morgan Fairchild and Jonathan Goldsmith in a tale of love, horror and revenge. If you get bored you can hang out at the fast-food place or get sits at the candy store.

"Cage" (*) (R) sounds like a poor excuse for another Vietnam movie as two Nam-veterans get involved in cage fighting. Great sport, if you survive.

STILL PLAYING:

"The Abyss" (D-) (PG-13) 135 minutes. Despite excellent underwater sequences, this muddled and murky sci-fi sea saga sinks.

"Batman" (C+) (PG-13) 120 minutes. Michael Keaton is a dud in the title role but Jack Nicholson's Joker is terrific.

"Casualties of War" (B+) (R) 105 minutes. Grim, gripping and graphically violent story of Vietnam war.

"Cookie" (C+) (R) 99 minutes. A couple of confusing stories run together as mobster Peter-Falk tries to reconcile with daughter, Cookie (Emily Lloyd) while scamming mob and feds.

"Dead Poets Society" (A+) (PG) 124 minutes. Robin Williams' sensitive portrait of a fine teacher is complimented by excellent young actors as his students.

"Eddie and the Cruisers II: Eddie Lives" (PG-13). They're still looking for Eddie's body.

"Heart of Dixie" (*) (PG). Southern gentility faced with late '50s civil rights movement.

"Honey, I Shrunk the Kids" (B+) (PG) 105 minutes. It's fun but it ain't easy to be small.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" (B+) (PG-13) 120 minutes. Good entertainment, but enough already.

"Lethal Weapon II" (B+) (R) 115 minutes. Glover and Gibson do it again in high, albeit violent, style.

"Lock-up" (R). Stallone's in jail and Donald Sutherland is the warden. Best wishes to the latter.

"Nightmare on Elm Street V" (R). Freddie's back.

"Parenthood" (A-) (R) 120 minutes. Large, talented cast in complex, but entertaining story about a family which includes Jason Roberts, Steve Martin, Tom Hulce, Martha Plimpton and Diane West, among others.

"Peter Pan" (A) (G) 77 minutes. Disney's classic animation of Sir James Barrie's story.

"The Package" (R). Gene Hackman and Joanna Cassidy in story of deceit on the international scene as career military man escorts prisoner back from Russia.

"Relentless" (*) (R). Judd Nelson, Robert Loggia, Leo Rossi and Meg Foster in story of driven young man who becomes a killer.

"Romero" (A) (PG-13) 105 minutes. Disturbing and frightening, but provocative story of El Salvadoran Archbishop Oscar Romero and the events leading to his assassination. Superb performance by Raul Julia in title role.

"For what I got on you, Rico, I could burn you a dozen times over." Not the polite dialogue expected of a District Attorney, but there's a certain gritty realism in Bogart's delivery of those words in his own special style.

Warner Brothers' "The Enforcer" (1950, black and white, 87 minutes) is now being re-released by Republic Home Video in their classic collection along with Gary Cooper in "Distant Drama" (1951, color, 101 minutes).

"The Enforcer" now seems rather typical of gangster movies, this one the story of D.A. Martin Ferguson (Bogart) cleaning up on a Murder, Inc. type gang, led by the mysterious Albert Mendoza (Everett Sloane).

A good deal of the film's appeal is the talented performances. Besides Sloane and Bogart, Zero Mostel is "Big Babe" Lazich, a fat nobody from the streets who wants to belong and make money at any price. Ted De Corral is Mendoza's number two, a tough, evil sort who turns to jelly

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

'Sun of Satan' has arrived

By John Monaghan
special writer

More than two years have passed since Maurice Pialat's "Under the Sun of Satan" took first prize at the 1987 Cannes Film Festival. It will finally surface for local audiences this weekend at the Tele-Arts Theatre in Detroit.

Reasons for its late arrival are not hard to gauge.

Although some critics hail the film as a masterpiece of uncompromising vision, others say it won by default in an unusually dry year at Cannes. American audiences, meanwhile, typically shy away from films with religious themes.

Still, "Under the Sun of Satan" has plenty to offer fans of grueling, masochistic stories about the search for spiritual faith. The film has been compared favorably to "Therese," the more highly stylized chronicle of the life of St. Therese.

lice" (1985), Gerard Depardieu starred as a violent, sex-obsessed Paris police officer trying to crack a drug ring while dealing with his own problems.

DEPARDIEU ALSO stars in "Under the Sun of Satan," here as Father Donissson, a country priest engaged in a fevered battle with his dwindling faith. Is he really doing the Lord's bidding or working on the side of Satan?

His superior, Father Menou-Segrals (played by director Pialat), offers only more confusion. The older priest is a carnal, less spiritual man who sends the confused seeker to a remote parish in the hopes that he'll straighten out.

Here, Donissson encounters Mouchette (Sandrine Bonnaire), a 15-year-old femme fatale involved in affairs with a string of married and influential men. When she ends up murdering one of them, Donissson grows more and more frustrated in his inability to help her.

The film takes place in no particular time in history. Horses are carriages line the streets, but the sound of thundering trucks are also heard.

In one of the more bizarre moments, Donissson meets a stranger on a dark and deserted road. The man, who talks to him intimately and even kisses him on the lips, may or may not be an incarnation of Satan. It's one of the film's many ambiguities.

THE VERSATILE Depardieu is especially effective as the priest.

Critic Stanley Kauffman noted that "his (Donissson) bulk seems an extra task that heaven has given this delicate man, an extra burden that he must lug around in his dalliance."

Pialat's intent was to stay as close as possible to his source, the first book by George Bernano. Known for his realistic approach to film, the director (with cinematographer Willy Kurant) creates a timeless, shadowy field for this epic battle of faith.

"For what I got on you, Rico, I could burn you a dozen times over."

Not the polite dialogue expected of a District Attorney, but there's a certain gritty realism in Bogart's delivery of those words in his own special style.

Warner Brothers' "The Enforcer" (1950, black and white, 87 minutes) is now being re-released by Republic Home Video in their classic collection along with Gary Cooper in "Distant Drama" (1951, color, 101 minutes).

"The Enforcer" now seems rather typical of gangster movies, this one the story of D.A. Martin Ferguson (Bogart) cleaning up on a Murder, Inc. type gang, led by the mysterious Albert Mendoza (Everett Sloane).

A good deal of the film's appeal is the talented performances. Besides Sloane and Bogart, Zero Mostel is "Big Babe" Lazich, a fat nobody from the streets who wants to belong and make money at any price. Ted De Corral is Mendoza's number two, a tough, evil sort who turns to jelly when fear sets in.

Michael Tolan, brother of Detroit attorney Jerry Tachow, then using the name Lawrence, is "Duke" Malloy, who hangs himself after confessing that the mob made him murder his girl.

His various and divergent moods reflect the psychotic world of violence and the film's structure — an involved set of flashbacks leading us along Bogart's trail to behind Malloy's confession to unearth the murder-for-pay gang. All very much of the '30s.

BEHIND THE film and its now rather naive and simple plot is a whole world of American folklore and social history.

While not quite a major motion picture, "The Enforcer" was a significant, mainstream production released by a major studio. In fact, Warner Brothers hired Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, then Chairman of the Senate committee to investigate organized crime, to make a few remarks, presented as a current-raiser when the movie pretered at New York's Capitol Theater.

"The picture you are about to see deals with an assault upon society," Kefauver said. "These men were finally apprehended and completely destroyed legally by relentless investigation without denying them any of the rights that American citizens are guaranteed."

Kefauver later became famous for his televised Senate hearings on organized crime, so he was an appropriate choice to lend credence to this film, something that Hollywood desperately strove to do in the period when television was destroying the movie box office.

By today's standards, of course, it's a pretty tame film despite its excessiveness by 1950s standards. Watching it today is a relief as the camera gracefully pulls away from violence. The film is content suggesting rather than graphically depicting violence.

The remnants of numerous bodies recovered from the gang's burial swamp shown in black and white long shot is hardly anything given the mangled body parts routinely appearing in today's films. But, for the time, it was a different matter.

BOSLEY CROWTHER noted the excessive gore in his New York Times review: "no less than eight or 10 ripe killings are rather graphically played in camera range and possibly some 20-30 others are frankly implied."

Not worth mentioning these days. Times have, indeed changed.

They've also changed insofar as realism goes and "The Enforcer" would never make it by today's standards where realism and technical accuracy count for so much.

"The Enforcer" has everyone running around in wide lapels and driving 1937 Buicks, Bogart listens to key testimony on an audiotape recorder that was 1950s stuff. Bogart's naive wonderment when anyone discusses "contracts" and "hits" only works in a '30s context. It just doesn't hang together for 1990.

It's entertaining watching these well-done performances which lead to pretty tense endings. These dark, gangland vistas are an integral part of our psychotic landscape. But watch Bogie, he'll get the bad guys and that's a relief.

He returns from past with 'Ghosts'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Eric Andersen rubbed guitar necks with the likes of fellow folkies Bob Dylan, Phil Ochs and Tom Paxton in the Greenwich Village during the early 1960s.

Undoubtedly, the 40-something generation would be impressed. But to those of us who were in diapers at the time, such associations don't carry the same weight. Or so Andersen has found on his recent tour.

"I recently did a show in Boston at Harvard," said Andersen, who will perform Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the Ark in Ann Arbor. "I had a kid come up to me after the show and say, 'My mother made me come down here tonight.' The next night, he brought all of his friends down."

Such incidents only make Andersen smile even more. He's cultivating a new, younger audience with his timeless brand of folk that is rich with imagery.

Andersen has released his first album in 12 years in the United States. "Ghosts Upon the Road" (Gold Castle Records) is his comeback volley into what has become a crowded folk field. Andersen shows them how it's done in this sort of autobiographical release that is brimming with life and energy.

Andersen didn't drop out of the music business. He released three albums in Europe. He lives in Oslo, Norway, with his wife, who is an artist, and their three children.

The Pittsburgh, Pa., native, who was turned on to the music of Elvis Presley and the literary works of Jack Kerouac at an early age, has come to appreciate American culture even more.

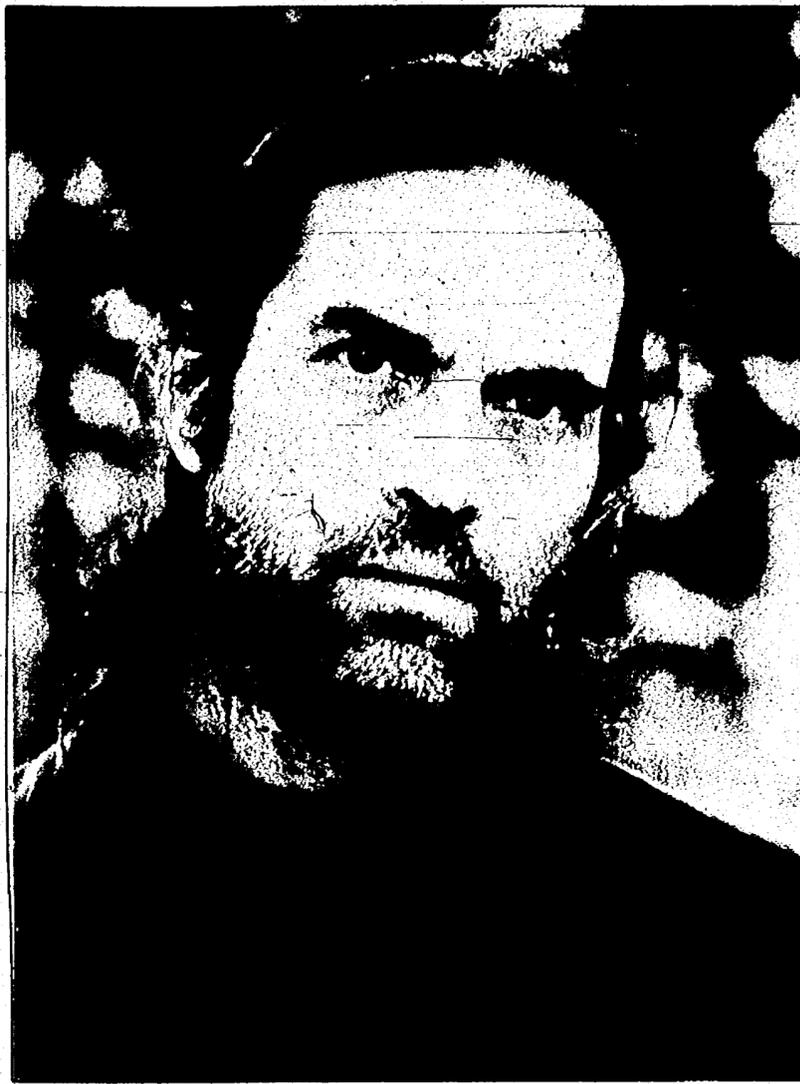

"TO LIVE over there is a very distilling experience," Andersen said. "You can get the real juice of the American fruit through the books and good music that gets through there."

"You don't become more European, you become more American than anything."

But America had forgotten about Andersen, or so it had seemed. After his widely-acclaimed "Blue River" LP (Columbia), he cut three LPs for Arista records during the '70s. Those didn't exactly shake the charts and Andersen and Arista parted company. He didn't bother pursuing another deal, heading instead to Europe.

"It was deemed I was not a pop artist," he said.

Andersen not only kept his folk guitar tuned, he also wrote a play "Bird Cage" and is working on a film script for "Ghosts Upon the Road" as well. Then the singer-songwriter began working with Ronald Fierstein and Steve Addabbo, who managed and produced folk artist Suzanne Vega. Suddenly, home seemed like a wonderful place.

"Ghosts Upon a Road" is Eric Andersen's first album release in the United States in 12 years.

Andersen returned in the midst of a folk revival here where the Tracy Chapmans, Suzanne Vegas and Michelle Shockeds are something of the Dylans, Ochs and Paxtons of the '80s.

RECOLLECTIONS OF the Greenwich Village days cannot be helped. Neither can the comparisons to Dylan, which were loosely based at best. Andersen had to live up or live down the tag of the "new Dylan."

"I hear his new album is really great," he said. "Maybe I should hold on to that."

"Dylan was great. He really opened the first doors. Not only were his songs inspirational, but so were his guts."

Andersen, though, prefers to concentrate on the present.

Artists pay tribute to jazz great

By Brian Lysaght
staff writer

Some of the biggest names in jazz take the stage at Orchestra Hall tonight to pay tribute to the late drummer J.C. Heard.

They aren't doing it for money, they are doing it for the fund, and for Heard, of course, the hard working drummer who died last year.

The fund is the J.C. Heard Memorial Fund established by Heard's son, Eric. The lineup tonight is impressive and owing to Heard's 50-year presence on the jazz scene.

Trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, drummer Max Roach and pianist Ahmad Jamal will join locals like drummer Roy Brooks, the tap-dancing Sultans, pianist Mr. B., Francisco Mora's Latin Jazz Ensemble and the big band Heard fronted for seven years.

For anyone new to jazz, this concert offers a variety of styles — the be-bop sound with which Gillespie and Roach gained fame during in the 1940s and '50s, the swing sound that Heard's 13-piece orchestra favors, Mora's Latin rhythms, Brooks' modern style and Mr. B.'s rollicking boogie-woogie piano work.

Heard was considered one of the finest swing-style drummers in the land, but he prided himself on versatility as well.

THE PLANNING FOR a tribute concert began soon after Heard died last September at age 70, but it took nearly a year to arrange schedules.

"We all saw need to pay tribute to J.C. Heard publicly because he was so important to us," said Jim Fleming, whose Ann Arbor-based entertainment agency worked with Heard. "He was an eternal optimist and positive person."

All the musicians were selected because of their friendship with Heard or because they had worked with Heard—Gillespie, Roach and Jamal are all longtime friends.

Even the venue, Orchestra Hall, is significant. Renamed the Paradise Theatre, it was a big stop in the 1940s and '50s for Duke Ellington, Count Basie and other touring bands. Heard played there when he played in Cab Calloway's band 1942-45.

Eric Heard said the scholarship fund's first recipient is Larry Tucker, an 18-year-old drummer from Detroit's Northwestern High School. He said he hopes the concert will be an annual affair and the scholarship to be awarded regularly as well.

WALT SZYMANSKI, a trumpet player and the Heard orchestra's arranger, said the band has struggled since the death of its founder.

"Everybody was pretty depressed because he had so much energy," Szymanski said.

Szymanski led the band at the Montreux Detroit Jazz Festival this month. They are are trying to rehearse monthly, and may slim down to nine pieces, he said.

Szymanski said the orchestra would remember Heard tonight by playing his theme song—"Coastin' with J.C." without a drummer, something they first did in a concert shortly after Heard's death last year.

Drummer Brooks said he admired Heard's work with the "Jazz at the Philharmonic" all-star bands.

The benefit concert starts begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are $10 and should be available at the door. Call 833-3700 for more information.

REVIEWS

THESE PEOPLE ARE NUTS

— various artists

I.R.S. Records opens up its vaults on this decade-long retrospective, highlighting 21 artists who have recorded under its progressive/hip banner — and providing a pretty fair overview of the 1980s new wave and college radio scene, at least L.A.-style.

Many of these acts — Oingo Boingo, Buzzcocks, English Beat — were new music heavyweights a few years back.

Others still are. Fine Young Cannibals, this year's pop phenom, is well represented by "Johnny Come Home," a track off its self-titled 1985 debut. R.E.M. is represented by "Superman," a track from "Life's Rich Pageant," its critically praised 1986 album.

The album also includes "Nothing Achieving," a 1977 Police song that doesn't appear on any of that bleached blond trio's U.S. albums.

Depending upon critical orientation, or one's age upon original release, the album's more familiar tunes are either cherished memories, or best-forgotten musical trash. Even label master Miles Copeland apparently wants it both ways. The inner line is dotted with snippets of mostly unfavorable reviews his acts received from the acid-penned pop press.

No matter. For our money, the Go-Gos "We Got the Beat" remains a canny mix of surf guitar and cheerleader chant, "The Future's So Bright I Gotta Wear Shades" by Timbuk 3, a sweetly cynical Dylan send up, and The Alarm's "The Stand" the best U2 song Bono never wrote.

And, for our money, this is a collection well worth having.

(Special local note: The Wayne County represented is a transvestite singer who made a UK semi-splash in the late 1970s and subsequently changed his name (and sex) to Jayne County, no doubt to the great relief of metro Detroit and its residents.)

LIVE FAST, DIE FAST — WICKED TALES OF BOOZE, BIRDS AND BAD LANGUAGE

— Wolfsbane

Another new trans-Atlantic offering. This time it's a heavy metal band clutching their batch of endorsements by the likes of the English music magazines "Sounds," "Kerrang" and "Metal Hammer," etc. etc.

Now, when I say heavy metal, cast from your mind any thoughts of Twisted Sisters, Ozy Osbourne or Faster Pussycat. These bands are only in the nickel and dime slots compared to Wolfsbane.

To quote singer, sorry, vocalist, Blaze Bayley: "Don't try to search up a more eloquent phrase for the music because heavy metal does just fine. And if it doesn't, then you've obviously lost touch with what real good, dirty, filthy, uncooked and downright uncouth heavy metal is all about."

"I'm really sick of all these bands that can't come and say they're

LIVE IN PARIS

— Burning Spear

OK. So like Peter Tosh and Bob Marley is beyond you Me, too, mon. You don't have to be a reggae aficionado, buff or maven to like this double live LP.

In fact, perhaps, there isn't a better introduction to the Caribbean flavored music than Burning Spear's eclectic array of reggae.

After all Winston Rodney says he's the master of reggae music. So pull up a chair and be prepared to learn.

The live feel of this double LP is perfect for the party music being laid down. (Incidentally, Burning Spear leads Thursday at St. Andrew's Hall. Don't say we didn't tell you.)

If the screws, if not blunting at times, rhythms don't draw you in the musician's hip should. Burning Spear, while providing a steady Caribbean beat, doesn't avoid some of today's modern technology. The synthesizers and keyboards sugar well with trumpet and saxophone pieces here, which are provided by an all-woman team (a rarity in the male-dominated reggae scene).

And, of course, let's not forget the main man behind it all, Winston Rodney, who writes and sings all the songs on "Live in Paris" (Blush). He provides the vocal emphasis with needed without interfering with the flow of the music.

His songs possess almost a transcendent quality to them. There seems to be no beginning, middle or an end, just pure well-orchestrated music. Numbers fade from one to the other with little breaks.

What Burning Spear does here, in essence, is capture a moment, a moment that doesn't repeat itself.

FEAR AND LOAFING

Avoiding artistic 'robbery'

By Karl Nilsson
special writer

Something evil is lurking in our parks, something sneakier than mosquitoes and more insidious than Dutch elm disease. It's an outbreak of art fairs.

In Manhattan's Central Park, muggers use a zip gun. In Blythingham's Shain Park, they use a paint brush.

Now, don't get me wrong. As suburbanites, we're used to handing over huge amounts of money for things we don't need. We expect that. But we must defend our right to be robbed by professionals, not some weekend Warhol in a lawn chair.

In all fairness, organizers of the more elite art fairs now screen out the rankest amateurs by a secretive process known as "selection by jury." To maintain high standards of quality, jurists insist on three stringent requirements for displaying art in the park:

- Each piece must cost at least as much as central air conditioning.

- Each artist must submit psychiatric proof that he exists in a separate reality created by exposure to paint thinner.

- All applicants must be fluent in esoteric jibberish and artistic jargon. Each artist is judged on the number of times he can use meaningless expressions like "mercurial quietude" and "spatial conflict" in a sentence.

BUT IN A country that gave Cher, an Oscar, lack of talent is not the major issue. The major issue is that art fairs pose a medical threat to anyone with a risk of coronary problems — not so much from the oppressive heat or greasy food, but from the shock of seeing Argentina-style inflation up close and in person.

As the paramedics are disconnecting the electrodes from your chest, you'll inevitably hear the artist saying, "Think of it as an investment."

Anyway, to actually find investment quality art at a bargain price would violate one of the immutable laws of the universe: "If any object (artwork, antique, automobile, etc.) has even the slightest chance of increasing in value, it's already out of your price range."

Given the uneven quality and high price tags, why do so many suburbanites flock to the outdoor fairs?

Because shopping for art at an indoor gallery is about as pleasant as having your fingernails pulled out with pliers. (Actually, unless you work as a typist, I recommend you opt for the torture and skip the galleries.) Local gallery owners have raised snobbishness to a level that Gilligan's pal, Thurston Howell III, could only dream of.

PLEASE DON'T think this degree of surliness comes naturally or cheaply. Most gallery owners study at the prestigious Academy of Rudeness in Paris, where they work their way through school by insulting American tourists. After graduation, they serve an apprenticeship as New York cab drivers.

Granted, there is a certain type of person who enjoys being ignored and ridiculed. (Why else would anyone run for public office?)

If you still insist on gallery hopping, here's a survival tip: No self-respecting patron of modern art would ever nod, gesture or expect a greeting from the gallery owner. Remember, if the staff catches you so much as smiling, they immediately dismiss you as an itinerant fruit-picker who wandered in looking for a bus.

To avoid this cold shoulder, I suggest you adopt a suitably pained expression. If your face is normally cheerful, try empathizing with the pent-up anguish and inner torment of the artist. And if that's not enough to make you frown, just imagine paying for one of those suckers.

Fortunately, there is a way to avoid both the art fair and gallery scene without sacrificing one ounce of high brow culture. At the next fair, buy as much do-it-yourself spin art as possible.

Just think deep artistic thoughts and throw some paint into the rotating drum. When you get your masterpiece home, tell your friends it's one of the lost works of Jackson Pollock. You'll have their respect and plenty of money left over for corn-dogs.

Hubbie is playing with fire

Dear Barbara,
Recently, my husband became reacquainted with an old girlfriend through some mutual business dealings. The first time they went out to lunch, I accepted their reunion.

Last week, another friend of mine called and in the course of our conversation mentioned that she had just seen "Burt," my husband, and "Annie," his friend at a popular local restaurant. I was somewhat taken back, not having been told he planned on seeing her again.

Of course, I called right away and my husband told me that she has needed some advice on various business matters and that he was trying to help her. By the way, she's not married and quite attractive in every way.

Although I can hear some snickering as I say this, I do know that my husband has never been unfaithful and that he does not want to be, but I can't get over my feelings of discomfort about the new-old friendship of his.

We have been married for 15 years and this issue has never arisen before. He hasn't mentioned another meeting with Annie for a few weeks, but I have the feeling that the subject may arise again. I would appreciate any comments you might have about fair compromises in this situation.

Julie

Dear Julie,

Such innocent relationships can develop into trouble in a marriage. If your husband is sensitive to your feelings then he can give up the pleasure of dining with an old, but soon to be better, friend.

Protestations and denials to the contrary, this situation is playing with fire. Quoting from the currently popular "When Harry Met Sally:" "Can men and women be friends?" The message the movie gives is no. Even if they don't act on it, the situation is still risky.

If there is open communication between you and your husband and the marriage is more important than temporary pleasures, then the matter should be easily resolved. It would be interesting to know if he would accept the situation, if it were reversed.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

I am 37 years old and have gone crazy over a 28-year-old friend of mine. He represents most things I find important and attractive in a man. He's kind, considerate, warm and generous. He seems very interested in me, in spite of the age difference.

Now comes the rub. I had my tubes tied when I was 27, two days after my divorce. I have two children. Because of this, I have repeatedly discouraged this man's advances and have encouraged him to continue dating another woman more his age.

I do this because I feel guilty that with me he will never experience the joy of having his own children. I also don't want society to see us together. I don't want to be a "cradle robber." Maybe this question doesn't have a good answer.

Clawson

Dear Clawson,

I hope that you are not offended if I say that you don't seem to be honest with yourself. Your letter sounds as if you feel that you won't be up to the relationship and, therefore, are manufacturing excuses for not entering into it.

Many women in this position do feel threatened by the younger man's youth. They think the competition from younger and, therefore, more attractive, women will make the relationship a constant uphill battle.

Maybe you consider this not to be a good response and you might be correct because there are many unanswered questions, the responses to which would allow me greater insight and a better reply.

"Locker-lined hallways are thronged with teens, couples, families, seniors, all marveling at the cinnabar red pillars and the floating silk-like ceilings that now line the halls. There is even a Wendy's International restaurant, serving up egg rolls and other Chinese food and decorated in a Chinese motif," Cannon said. "Wendy's is one of the corporate sponsors of the show."

"BE SURE TO rent a cassette tape available at the entrance for $3.50. Remind your children to press the stop button when they want to stay longer in front of the jade horses, the water colors or the great carved wooden imperial throne."

"They'll also love the red T-shirts sold amid antiques and ceramics in the extensive gift shop. Have their names brushed in black Chinese characters on the T-shirt for an extra $1.50."

The exhibit is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Sunday. Admission is $7.50, $4.50 for kids 12 and under.

There is an historic inn called the Worthington Inn near Columbus, but prices are probably higher than B&Bs in restored areas like German Village, a National Historic Area. Contact Columbus Bed & Breakfast, 763 S. Third St., Columbus, Ohio 43206-2092, or call 24 hours a day at (614) 444-8888 or 443-3680. Rates are $45 single and $55 double.

I'VE ALSO had a very high recommendation from fellow writer, Aaron Leventhal of Columbus for the Inn at Cedar Falls, which is about an hour's drive west of Columbus in Logan, Ohio. Call them at your expense at (614) 385-7489.

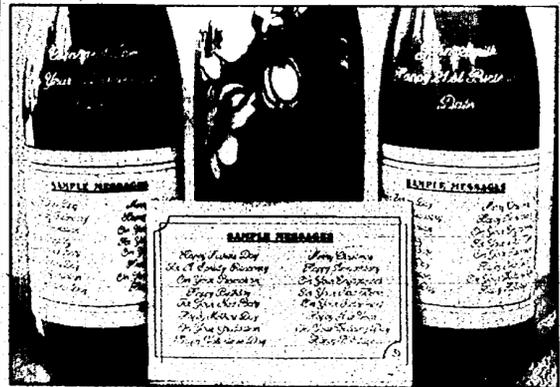

Aaron described it as an 1840s log cabin with a dining room and kitchen, serving gourmet meals ranging from $17-$21 and accommodations in a restored barn, with rates ranging from $57 to $75 for two, depending on the day.

As for the city of Columbus, everybody is raving about the new City Center. You must visit the wonderful restaurants around German Village. Ohio Village is a smaller Greenfield Village.

There's usually something going on on the lawn of the State Capitol. Don't miss the restored Ohio Theater across the street.

Shriner: Show biz' bright star

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Attention folks who are planning to enjoy comedian Wil Shriner when he comes to Chaplin's East shortly. The comic, who already has the Lamaze breathing technique down pat, says he "will be outta here in a flash if my wife goes into labor."

"It's written into my contract and believe me, I'll leave for California, if Catherine's water breaks or labor starts."

And that's no joke.

Shriner's wife, a model and actress, is expecting the baby during the first week of October. But though they don't know exactly when, they do know they will have a daughter to bring home to their 3 year-old-son.

Meanwhile, Shriner just bought a beeper so Catherine can stay in touch.

Among the brightest of comedians on the show business scene today, Shriner also has acting, filmmaking, producing, and film editing to his credit.

His national talk show "The Wil Shriner Show," syndicated on 108 stations by Group W in 1987-88, won Emmy nominations for "best show," "best host" and "best writing."

One of the twin sons of the late "Hoosier Humorist," Herb Shriner, Wil draws on his experience of growing up in a small town as well as dealing on the Hollywood scene, a contrasting environment.

WHEN HIS-FATHER gave his twin sons a movie camera, its use became a learning experience for both, leading them to acting. Kin played "Scotty" in the television series "General Hospital." Wil, spotted and cast for a co-starring role in Francis Ford Coppola's "Peggy Sue Got Married," is presently looking at a script with a role in it for a young pilot.

"I do like what I'm doing, all of it," he said. "When I'm not working comedy, I keep busy with filmmaking and other things."

Flying a Piper Cherokee Arrow is one of Shriner's happiest involvements, which he started 15 years ago when he moved to California.

"I've been going through my tapes, but it's too nice a day to be sitting inside, and I'm getting ready to go flying," he said.

Shriner belongs to some flying clubs, dodging actual ownership of a plane which he said can be demanding.

IN SHRINER'S VIEW, it wasn't difficult for him to get started as a comic.

"I went into it in 1978 and I'd go to the Comedy Store and watch all the great guys," he said. "Now, comedy is more of a business and not as free of an expression as before."

Shriner writes his own material, only occasionally trading jokes with other comedians. Critics, such as John Stanley, have praised him, writing: "What a surprise from left field. With his impish gleam and breezy manner, he blows in as refreshing as a trade wind."

Another, Bob Hill of the Louisville Courier-Journal, called Shriner a "funny man. There's not an ounce of pretense, ego or self-serving dramatics in his show."

The comic has appeared on the Johnny Carson and David Letterman shows and keeps busy performing in concerts, night clubs and comedy clubs. He also has acted in Steven Spielberg's "Amazing Stories" television show.

Born in New York City, he moved to Fort Lauderdale at age 7, because his father sought a small city environment for his children. Herb Shriner and his wife, Pixie, were killed in an automobile accident and the twins and their sister finished high school in a suburb of Dallas

WHEN SHRINER became a full-time performer, he found it necessary to move to the show business hub, Los Angeles.

It was during a guest appearance on the David Letterman Show that Shriner was spotted and asked to audition for "Peggy Sue Got Married." Shriner said he likes acting, but the "hours are boring."

"With Francis Ford Coppola, when I wasn't acting, I watched him. I'm a sponge that way."

Shriner said he wouldn't want to be breaking into comedy right now, because the business has changed.

"My future is really up in the air. I'd like to do another talk show, acting, or working steady in television."

Meanwhile, outside of his work, Shriner plays a waiting game, watching the clock, listening for the beeper, and waiting to meet his new daughter.

Follow action with reaction

Q: My husband thinks I should pick up after him because women are just naturally neater and therefore it's easier for me to do it than him.

A: Sorry, hubby, it just ain't so. While women have traditionally cleaned up after men, I haven't found that men or women are genetically better organized than the other. Many of my female students do, indeed, complain about their spouses' lack of cooperation. Other women attend my classes because, as one's husband jokingly told her, "It's either organizing class or obedience school."

The neatness of your environment is in direct relation to the amount of effort spent keeping it that way — regardless of who does it. It is neither a matter of gender nor ability, but rather of attitude.

Maintenance might be divided into two general categories: 1) cleaning up as you go or 2) leaving it to be cleaned up later. Some men and women seem to have special organizational abilities because they methodically put things away immediately after their use. This habit was probably ingrained in their childhood and they do it so automatically it hardly occurs to them (or others) that maintenance is an effort for them.

Those in the second category, however, nearly always leave a "trail" behind them, believing that cleaning up is hard work. In fact, it is — because it's much more difficult and time consuming to go back and get a place clean than to keep it clean.

The key is to "follow each action with a reaction." Almost everything we do involves objects. Replace files immediately after using them; hang up your coat when you take it off; take along those shoes you kicked off when you leave the room, etc. Without replacing things right away, clutter collects. Learn the ditty, "Don't put it down, put it away." Life is much easier that way.

If you regularly clean up after yourself, you will never have clutter. If you leave a trail, however, you will have perpetual disorder. Tell your husband (and older children, too) it's not only unfair but almost impossible to maintain a neat environment without cooperation.

You can attend Dorothy Lehmkuhl's daytime personal organizing seminars at Schoolcraft College (462-4448) and the Birmingham Community House (644-5832) or her new evening business series at Troy Adult Education (869-7582). Call those centers for information.

Atrium another of Ford's better ideas

THERE'S AN oasis amid the steel, brick, granite and concrete of midtown Manhattan. It's the 10-story, glass-enclosed atrium — a huge greenhouse — with trees, shrubs and blooming flowers in the magnificent, 14-story Ford Foundation Building.

When the structure was first occupied in November 1961, there were 17 mature trees, including acacia, magnolia and eucalyptus, 999 shrubs, 148 vines, 21,954 groundcover plants, and 18 aquatic plants in a stillwater pool.

The flower beds are changed for each of the four seasons, including spring bulbs, summer begonias, fall chrysanthemums and winter poinsettias. Visitors toss coins for UNICEF into a pool, near which is a sign that advises:

"The pool is filled and the garden is watered with rain from the roof and steam condensate in a cistern. This emergency store of water is drawn off as needed during times of water shortage, keeping the garden green without tapping the city's scarce supplies."

THE ATRIUM IS illuminated by numerous spotlights from the 11th floor and by ground lights. A glass-walled office area encircles part of the garden. The C-shaped building extends from 42nd Street to 43rd Street, near Second Avenue.

Describing the structure, the Ford Foundation, an international non-profit philanthropic organization, said the glass enclosure "becomes a park with trees and shrubs and flowering plants — a place to look at and walk around, a place to enjoy some greenery even in the depths of winter. Since its lower level is at 42nd Street, it will also be enjoyed by the passer-by. In addition, the park is so placed that it contributes to and extends the existing public parks in the area.

"The offices are held back behind this enclosed park away from the heavy traffic noise and look out on a view that includes not only part of the building itself but parks, the street below and

weeder's guide

Earl Aronson

farther down to the East River."

The walls involve 64,051 square feet of glass, and the glass skylight 9,000 square feet. The building has a snow-melting system for drives, sidewalk and plaza areas. The garden occupies 8,500 square feet and requires 650 cubic yards of special topsoil.

The main lobby offers trees and seasonal flowers in planter boxes. In the atrium, when I visited recently, were numerous groundcovers, including Hedera helix (English ivy), asparagus fern, spider plant, Boston fern and hoya. Specimen plants included Norfolk Island pine (12 to 15 feet tall), podocarpus (15 feet), ficus Benjamin and Mitida (12 feet), hibiscus and bougainvillea vine.

AT THE POOL were spathiphyllus. Also at the atrium were numerous shrubs, including pitosporum (mock orange), avocado, star jasmine and gardenia.

On the balcony of the third, fourth and fifth floors were, among others, kafir plum, red bougainvillea, hibiscus and English ivy.

The Ford Foundation, established in 1938 by Henry and Edsel Ford, has so far given more than $5 billion to over 7,460 colleges, universities, school systems, community agencies and other organizations.

CARING FOR RHUBARB: Side-dressing is beneficial to rhubarb if you had a good crop this year and want another next spring.

Apply fertilizer along the row 1 1/2 feet from the rhubarb crowns and keep down weeds by mulching or cultivating. Use 1 1/2 pounds of high-nitrogen fertilizer (11-0-0) or 3 to 4 pounds of 10-10-10 per square foot.

Bronze era

Yoko Ono's art moves from Flexus era into '80s

By Brian Lysaght
staff writer

WHEN YOKO Ono walked quickly across the floor of the gallery at Cranbrook Museum, about two dozen photographers, reporters, museum officials and onlookers followed.

When she knelt on the gallery floor to smash with a hammer china cups that would be part of the exhibit, cameras surrounding recorded it all.

Ono's exhibit — including more than 75 sculptures, wall texts, films, and other works — opens to the public tomorrow for one month amid a great deal of publicity and discussion.

Ono, now 56, has been creating provocative art work for 30 years. Pieces that caused a stir in the art world in 1961, were the subject of jokes of radio disc jockeys last week.

Ono though, when asked, still declines to tell one how to look at her work, choosing to guide the viewer inward to decide for themselves.

"Please think whatever you want to think," she said. "I don't really think in terms of teaching."

The Cranbrook exhibit presents many pieces the avant-garde artist created while associated with the Fluxus movement of artists, who opposed the mainstream art world's conventionality. The Fluxus musicians, poets and visual artist questioned all that by creating inexpensive, easily reproduceable works.

ONO SAID she likes to think she has changed with the times. She has reproduced, or reinterpreted, many of these earlier works in bronze, a material she said fits the 1980s.

They are exhibited side by side, the original with its 1980s version.

Writing last year, Ono contrasted the two eras, saying of the 1960s: "The air definitely had a special shimmer then. We were breathless from the pride and joy of being alive

... The '80s is an age of commodity and solidity. We don't hug strangers on the streets and we are also not breathless."

But Ono also said that she feels optimistic these days, and repeated at a press conference last week a statement she made in 1984: "We are entering the age of wisdom."

People around the world are much more aware of the dangers of war, the value of peace and the importance of environmental concerns, and "the two big guys" are talking, said Ono, whose crusades for peace are well known.

Ono was born in Tokyo and lived in Japan through the war years before moving to Scarsdale, N.Y. with her family. She studied poetry and art at Sarah Lawrence College. Her first show in New York in 1961 included "Painting to be Stepped On," which is included also in the Cranbrook exhibition, as is a bronzed version from 1988.

She told an interviewer recently that in 1961 she was given the the canvas used in the painting because she didn't have the money to buy it. In the catalog accompanying the exhibit she writes that "Painting to be Stepped On," was influenced by a 15th century Japanese practice of religious persecution. Christians were asked to step on portraits of Christ or the Virgin Mary. Those who refused were killed.

She met Beatle John Lennon in 1966. They married in 1969, and it was with Lennon that Ono became known to the masses. She virtually dropped out of the art scene in the early 1970s.

More recently, she took her "Starpeace" musical tour to several countries in 1986 called "Starpeace," then exhibited at the Whitney this February and April.

CRANBROOK Museum director Roy Slade came to know the Ono in the 1960s when she came to Leeds University in England where he worked. He said he saw Ono's show at the Whitney, then visited the artist at her apartment in New York. He said he wanted to expand on the Whitney presentation.

"I wanted to put it in a broader context," Slade said.

The Cranbrook show is larger. Included, for example, are 15 wall texts that did not appear at the Whitney.

These too date from the 1960s, and are seemingly simple instructions, as in Tape Piece III: Take a tape of the sound of snow falling. This should be done in the evening. Do not listen to the tape. Cut it and use it as strings to tie gifts with. Make a gift wrapper, if you wish, using the same process with a photo sheet.

Her films are represented here as well. They will be shown in three groups on weekends in October.

Ono came to the school's Bloomfield Hills campus Wednesday, after a grueling and long-delayed flight from New York. She said her spirits improved considerably upon arrival at Cranbrook.

"Suddenly I arrived in this beautiful Garden of Eden," she said.

"Yoko Ono: The Bronze Age," runs Sept. 26-Oct. 29 at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum. Hours are 1-5 p.m., Tuesday-Sunday. Call 645-3323.

Yoko Ono's exhibit, entitled "The Bronze Age," opens at Cranbrook this week. The artist was in town last week. Bronze plays an important role in her latest work, "Bronze is OK... Eighties is OK."

$600 OFF
Cut $600 off your one or two-bedroom apartment's rent! Keep it. Spend it on new furniture, or a trip, or whatever you like. And enjoy the pleasures of spring-fed Scenic Lake. The cool turquoise pool. The location that puts you in the pink, halfway between U of M and EMU, and on the AATA bus line. And you'll love being in the black - with $600 in your pocket. But hurry before someone else gets your new apartment. Select 1 and 2-bedrooms only.

FOR SALE BY OWNER
This is no way to sell your home!
Especially in today's real estate market. There are so many aspects to consider when selling your home, so many things you have to deal with, that it takes a professional to understand it all. Things like getting a fair appraisal, locating qualified buyers, creative financing, getting competent legal work, etc. Observer & Eccentric Area Realtors are professionals, and they're trained to do the job right. They can make sure you get the right price for your home. It's important to them, too.

Retain tenants by managing energy costs

By R.J. King
staff writer

Mention energy conservation to anyone who works in an office building and one thing comes to mind: a locking cover over the thermostat.

But what is an office landlord to do? The energy crisis has long fallen out of favor in providing an incentive to conserve, yet the office sector is the single largest consumer of energy — 40 percent — in the U.S. economy.

Utility costs normally account for 30 to 40 percent of the total operating costs of an office building, excluding taxes. They are generally passed on to tenants directly or included in lease rates.

While area developers of office space are competing to lure and retain tenants in the face of double-digit vacancy rates, tenants are becoming much more attuned to the savings energy management can offer.

"One of the things people notice most in an office building is whether they're too hot or too cold, and if the energy costs are high, they soon look elsewhere," said Mary Beth Winkworth, manager of corporate communications for Kirco Realty & Development, Bloomfield Hills.

"That's why we have such a large concern to control our office building environments through computer-monitored HVAC (heating, ventilation and air conditioning) systems.

Even though they may be expensive, it pays off in the long run if buildings are fully leased."

IN WHAT IS billed as an energy war, landlords are finding energy conservation and economic development can go hand in hand, and offices that are designed efficiently will slash energy bills, liberate investment capital and perhaps eventually save the utilities the expense of building new power plants.

"If you have an inefficient HVAC system that costs an extra 50 cents a square foot to operate, then the tenant is going to look at that as adding to the total costs," said Gerald Ward, president of Equities Management, the management arm of Etkin Equities, Southfield.

"We also perform an energy analysis on consumption every month of each of our buildings, which gives us feedback and helps make sure our energy costs don't get out of line. It's one of the ways we stay competitive with other developers while maintaining a high occupancy rate."

For Etkin's City Center II development in Southfield, Ward said the company chose an HVAC system that had a capital cost of $78,000 more than an alternative system. "We felt the reduced costs for long-term operating and maintenance needs (of the more expensive system) would provide a payback in less than two years of operation."

have discovered leasing decisions can hinge upon intelligent energy management, utilities have also found the incentive to save creates, in a sense, another source of power.

Increasingly, utilities find it is often cheaper to buy efficiency — say, by subsidizing the installation of weatherstripping or providing free inspections — than to build additional power plants that have price tags in the millions.

"We can build more power plants, but they may stand idle if demand fails to rise as projected," said Michael Murphy, administrator of customer services for Detroit Edison. "It's much cheaper to have energy conservation programs than to build more power plants."

ONE COMMON WAY to conserve energy in commercial office buildings, especially electricity, where commercial and office buildings account for 75 percent of the nation's $150 billion electric bill, is to place individual suites on their own meters, Murphy said.

"If people pay their own bills, they tend to be much more conservative with their energy needs. If you give tenants the ability to control their energy uses, and then give them feedback, they will tend to use energy as efficiently as possible."

Ed Stehno, staff engineer for Consumers Power Co., advised office building tenants to form energy committees from among employees to inspect and seek out ideas to save money — such as lowering a high ceiling or replacing present windows with more efficient ones.

"The energy committee will meet once a month, and perhaps they've come up with changing the windows," Stehno said. "Well, they can hire an architectural consultant to help lower costs and beautify the building, as well as contacting utilities for a free inspection."

"The utility people will come and perform an inspection, and if you compare notes, then you have considerations to take to an energy consultant, while up to this point the costs are nominal."

OTHER TARGETS for efficient energy management in buildings include:

- Windows with sophisticated coatings that keep heat inside during the winter and outside during the summer.

- Choosing office furniture, carpeting and paint that is light in color for reflective purposes.

- Daylight technology is being developed so that plastic light pipes bring sunlight deep into a building's interior, reducing the need for artificial light.

- Concentrated sunlight is collected and focused by rooftop mirrors, then funneled through a short vertical section of pipe and then split to fill a network of ceiling-hung pipes.

- The pipes are similar to glowing fluorescent tubes, except the color is more natural.

Commercial real estate courses taught at Walsh

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Commercial real estate agents and brokers asked for it.

So Walsh College of Troy obliged. Walsh, through its continuing professional education program, will launch a series of courses next month to help commercial real estate participants keep abreast of goings-on in the industry.

"The commercial investment people came to us and said no college in Michigan is offering short-term training in the commercial area," said Grace Smith, director of Walsh's CPE program.

"These people want to get a very concentrated short-term course that will keep them current on the job."

Three courses will be offered this fall. They are:

- Commercial Real Estate Overview, which will examine such topics as how to get started in the business, long- and short-range prospecting programs, and marketing concepts. That class meets 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, Oct. 4-Nov. 1. The cost is $240.

- Legal Issues, which will concentrate on the sale and lease of property as well as broker liability. The class meets 6:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Oct. 17 and 24. The cost is $96.

- Negotiation and Transaction Structuring Workshop, which will examine the negotiation process and include role playing and videotaping of practice bargaining sessions. That class meets 6:30-9:30 p.m. Mondays Nov. 6-20. Cost is $144.

"These are for people who are licensed and probably have some experience," said Maurice Richards, executive vice president for the South Oakland County Board of Realtors and the Detroit Metro Commercial Investment Division.

"Someone like an attorney or CPA who deal with brokers but don't have a working knowledge — they might want to learn more about ... practices of the real estate industry," he said.

None of the courses can be applied to state licensing requirements now, Smith said, although college officials are working toward that goal.

All classes, which earn continuing education credit, will meet at Walsh College, 3838 Livernois, north of Big Beaver. Specific registration questions can be asked of Walsh's continuing professional education department at 689-8282 ext. 260.

Providing for repairs

What is your recommendation for obtaining an adequate guarantee to ensure that the items to be fixed by the seller as said forth in a purchase agreement are met?

Make sure that your purchase agreement provides for an inspection of the premises both before the agreement becomes binding and shortly before the closing, and that there is adequate provision in the purchase agreement to insure that an escrow amount will be held out of the closing proceeds to reasonably meet the repairs. Make sure that your attorney is at closing to insure that the escrow is put into effect and that it is held by a third party such as a title company or bank. Adequate provisions must be made for the timely completion of the repairs

GARAGE SALE

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

It's easy!

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.
2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.
3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.
4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop than sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!
