Thomas endorsed by 3 councilmen

By Leonard Poger editor

Three Westland City Council members, who have fought with each other in past years, agree on one thing: They want challenger Robert Thomas to defeat Mayor Charles Griffin in the Nov. 7 election.

Endorsing Thomas last week, council members Thomas Artley, Kent Herbert and Charles Pickering listed a laundry list of complaints about Griffin, who is seeking his second four-year term.

In a press conference in city hall, Pickering and Herbert chided Griffin's theme of "government by cooperation," saying that it is "just so much window dressing," that is, the mayor cooperates with the council members who do what the administration wants.

Griffin termed the criticism "sour grapes" and described the three council members as an "unholy alliance" whose goal is to control administrative appointments.

On specifics, the council members criticized Griffin on the rotated closings of fire halls, use of the planned unit development zoning classification, public safety, excessive absenteeism by the mayor and his staff, and the municipal golf course proposal that was eventually dropped.

Griffin denied all the claims made by the three council members in a statement.

The council members knocked Griffin for his "broken promises to improve the quality of life through better ordinance enforcement." Griffin reduced the ordinance enforcement staff from two to one.

The three stressed they are not running for re-election. Herbert is not seeking a new term this fall. Pickering and Artley are in the middle of four-year terms and were unsuccessful candidates in the Sept. 12 mayoral primary.

THOMAS "HAS impressed us with his hard work on issues presented to the city council in the past, his attention to detail, his sense of fairness, and his good work record," they said.

Those qualities "merit an opportunity to improve the government of Westland as mayor," they said.

Criticizing Griffin's professional background, Herbert said the mayor had no prior administrative experience before being elected mayor in 1985. Griffin was a long-time Michigan Education Association employee, representing teachers unions.

While Griffin has a master's degree, academic backgrounds aren't a guarantee of success, Herbert said. He said he, Pickering and Artley all have degrees.

"Education isn't the only measure of success," Herbert said. "Hard work can overcome other hurdles."

THE WESTLAND City Council has approved the next phase of the Merriman road widening project and construction will begin this fall.

The latest phase calls for Merriman to be expanded to five lanes from Joy Road to Ann Arbor Trail. That will match the widening of the Merriman-Warren Road corridor that was completed in 1988.

Westland's share of the estimated $912,000 job will be $100,000, to be paid out of the 1988-89 Capital Expenditure Program budget.

Wayne County and federal aid money will be used to pay the balance.

THE CITY'S monthly distribution of surplus food is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at the Dorsey Community Center, Dorsey east of Venoy.

Residents of Norwayne and Glenwood Gardens may pick up packages of peanut butter, flour and egg mix 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday.

Other Westland residents can pick up the food 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday.

Senior citizens living in Westgate Towers, Greenwood Villa or Taylor Towers should call building managers to find out days and times of distribution. For more information call the Dorsey Center Hot line, 595-0366.

IT'S TIME to play our favorite election-season game: "Political Candidates — What They Say and What They Really Mean."

Our contestant this week is mayoral candidate Robert Thomas.

A recent Thomas handout — distributed throughout the city — emphasized the mayoral hopeful's strong priority on public safety. But the campaign literature says Thomas intends to "put more patrolmen on the streets and increase the response time."

What Thomas undoubtedly meant to say was that more patrolmen would "decrease" response time.

Appeals court will rule on creche dispute

By Ted Schneider staff writer

The U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals will rule on Westland's city-owned Nativity scene by Dec. 1, city attorney Charles Bokos said last week.

Bokos said the three-judge appellate panel hearing the case has ordered an expedited decision so that the matter can be cleared up before the winter holidays, when the creche is traditionally displayed.

Judges Damon Keith, Alan E. Norris and H. Ted Milburn heard oral arguments in two Detroit area Nativity scene cases Thursday at the appeals court in Cincinnati. The other case involves the city of Warren.

In both cases, the American Civil Liberties Union has sued the municipal government, claiming display of the creches on city property violates the constitutional requirement for separation of church and state.

Bokos said Keith-Madden, who also handles city legal matters, argued on behalf of the city. The ACLU was represented by Paul Deneff, legal director for its Michigan office.

BOTH SIDES submitted written briefs in the case earlier this year.

Activist working to save a piece of local history

By Leonard Poger editor

Beverly (Kosek) Melasi enjoyed the former Nankin Mills Nature Center as a pupil at the nearby Nankin Mills Elementary School nearly 25 years ago.

Living in the Joy-Hubbard area of Westland, Melasi played frequently at the center, on Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road and overlooking the Hines Parkway.

A quarter-century later, Melasi, now 38, married and the mother of two, is at the facility for a different purpose.

She is president of the one-year-old Friends of the Mill, an organization formed to raise money for renovation of the deteriorating building. The structure, built approximately 130 years ago, is now the Wayne County parks and recreation department's administrative offices.

"I used to play there as a child and go to the (then) nature center," Melasi said. "Who would have dreamed that someday I would be there to help save that building?"

Last winter, Melasi also organized a Christmas lighting program at the mill, having Girl Scouts sing carols and a local Lions Club sell Christmas tree decorative bulbs. The Christmas lighting of the mill was nominated for a Keep Michigan Beautiful Foundation award.

"I FIRST became interested in the history of the community and the mill when I began to write professionally in 1987," she said.

About the same time, she contacted councilman and historical commission chairman Thomas Brown for an article on things to do for free in Westland.

From that interview, she gained insights and information about the Westland Historical Museum, later named in honor of Helen C. Brown, who devoted many years to the city's historical commission and museum.

Brown, wife of the council member, died in mid-1988.

BROWN SUGGESTED Melasi write about another topic, the upcoming Michigan sesquicentennial celebration.

To mark the state's 150th birthday, the Westland historical commissioner planned a Labor Day weekend parade and activities behind the mill.

"I interviewed Mr. Brown and asked him many questions about the mill, the Westland Historical Museum, the historical commission, and told him that I would be interested in joining the commission," Melasi said.

While doing research for a story on the mill, she told deputy mayor Andrew Spisak that she needed a photo to accompany the article. Spisak referred her to commissioner Joseph Benyo. Benyo accompanied her to the historical museum, where she found an old photo of the mill.

Candidates split on pace at which city should develop

By Ted Schneider staff writer

This is the first of two articles profiling the views of Westland City Council candidates. Voters will fill four council seats in the Tuesday, Nov. 7 election. Incumbents Ben DeHart, Kenneth Meli and William Ziemba and challengers Ethel Bollinger, Michael Bradley, Sandra Cicirelli, Terri Reighard Johnson and Dorothy Smith spoke about the issues during an Oct. 11 interview at the Observer offices in Livonia. Previous statements made on the record and campaign literature were also used in compiling these stories.

Taken as a whole, the ideas on future development presented by the eight Westland City Council candidates resemble the traffic signals in the city's bustling downtown retail district.

Three candidates advocate continuing residential, commercial and industrial building throughout the city at the current green-light pace.

Three say the city should proceed with caution.

And two think halting all commercial and industrial building until a new council can take a closer look at development-related decisions would be best.

"THINGS ARE going too fast. We have to take a breath, take stock," of the commercial-industrial boom of the last four years, said Dorothy Smith.

Smith, who has run for council four times since 1981, said city officials should place a moratorium on all development and revert to the city's 1982 master plan in considering new projects.

"Since then (1983) we've had re-zoning after rezoning," Smith said. Also supporting the moratorium idea is Michael Bradley, who said the new council would need time to assess the city's needs before approving additional major projects.

Ben DeHart, Terri Reighard Johnson and Sandra Cicirelli favor continuing new projects.

A 31-YEAR-OLD Westland woman told police she was robbed at knifepoint Tuesday night in the parking lot of the Farmer Jack supermarket, 34414 Ford at Wildwood.

The woman wasn't injured, police said.

The woman said the bandit escaped with her purse, which contained personal identification and $150 worth of food stamps.

The woman told police she got out of her pickup truck at 9:55 p.m. and was headed for the store when a man pulled up behind her in a small maroon or red car.

The man got out of the car, ran up behind her and demanded that she hand over her purse, the woman said. The woman told police that when she glanced over her shoulder she saw the man was holding a large, hunting knife.

The man grabbed the purse from her shoulder and ran, the woman told police.

The woman described the robber as a white man, about 25 years old, 6 feet tall with a thin build and shoulder-length, sandy brown hair and mustache. He was wearing a red plaid shirt and white pants, she said.

A store employee reported two suspicious-looking men were seen in the parking lot sitting in a red, Renault Alliance about a half-hour before the robbery.

A WAYNE man told police someone stole his 1989 Ford Escort from the parking lot of Ford vocational/Technical Center, Marquette near Carlson, Tuesday night.

The locked car was stolen between 5:45 and 10 p.m., he said.

A RESIDENT of the Hampton Court Apartments, off of Christine north of Ford, reported that someone broke into her apartment and pried open her mailbox Tuesday.

The woman said the only thing missing after the break-in appeared to be her mail.

The break-in occurred between 3 a.m. and noon, the woman told police.

Police said the thief entered the apartment by removing a screen from a partially opened window.

Man faces murder trial in death of 81-year-old

A Westland man charged in the stabbing death of an 81-year-old acquaintance from a neighboring mobile home park was bound over for trial Friday after waiving a rescheduled preliminary exam in 18th District Court.

James Vincent Ferrari, 27, will be arraigned in Detroit Recorder's Court on one count of first-degree felony murder 9 a.m. Friday, Oct. 27.

Ferrari, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, was remanded to the Wayne County Jail without bond.

Gail McKnight, 18th District Court judge, presided over the hearing.

Ferrari is charged with stabbing Haskel Walworth shortly after Walworth returned to his trailer in the Mohawk Mobile Home Court, Joy west of Inkster Road, Oct. 5.

Police said Ferrari, who lives in the adjacent Big Trees Mobile Home Community, often spent time with friends who lived in a mobile home directly across from Walworth's home.

Police said Ferrari stole Walworth's wallet containing $10 and his car following the incident, but would not speculate on a motive for the killing.

Dearborn Heights police found Walworth's car parked at a junior high school in that city early Oct. 6.

Ferrari was found by a police tracking dog while hiding in the bushes of a wooded field about 450 feet from the car, officers said. Walworth's car keys were found in his pocket, they said.

The preliminary exam was scheduled for today, but was moved up at the request of defense attorney Dennis Shrewsbury, who told the court he had other professional commitments scheduled for today.

Police and the prosecuting attorney agreed to the change, said Detective Sgt. Jerry Wright.

Thomas, 39, has been a municipal public services department employee who has worked for the city for 19 years.

ANSWERING THE three council members' criticisms, Griffin said he hasn't offered anyone any jobs if he is re-elected. He said Thomas is promising positions to gain political support.

If Thomas is elected, there will be a lot of Thomas "cronies" named to positions and a "lot of DPS people running the administration," Griffin said.

On a related issue, Pickering said he would complete the balance of his four-year council term and not accept a post in a Thomas administration. Pickering is a former Westland recreation deputy director who won the mayor's post in 1981 and lost to Griffin four years later.

When asked if he would join a Thomas administration, Herbert, a finance director in another municipality, said "I don't think so." Herbert has turned down previous offers in Westland administration, he said.

Court hears creche dispute

From what (Madden) told me, I don't think the (appeals) court was very receptive to the ACLU's argument," Bokos said. "We still feel very confident we're doing the right thing and the courts have upheld that so far."

Attorneys at the ACLU office in Detroit were unavailable for comment Thursday.

The civil liberties group appealed a decision last December by U.S. District Judge Phillip Pratt that allowed display of the Westland creche on the lawn in front of city hall.

The ACLU had requested a summary judgment that would have barred display of the creche on government property.

Pratt, in a 13-page opinion, found that because Westland's display included a number of secular symbols, the city had not acted to endorse religion.

According to Bokos, the ACLU is basing its appeal in part on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling last spring that barred the display of Jewish and Christian symbols in two separate Pennsylvania holiday displays.

The ACLU originally objected to the Westland creche in 1987.

The organization claimed the display was primarily religious in nature and therefore in violation of the Supreme Court's 1984 decision regarding a Nativity scene in Pawtucket, R.I.

USING THAT ruling as a precedent, the ACLU has successfully sued Birmingham and Dearborn over Nativity scenes in those cities.

Following the original lawsuit, Westland officials added non-religious items, including a Santa Claus statue, to the city-owned display.

Crafts coming

Women from the Dyer Senior Center work on ceramics to be sold at the group's annual craft show, scheduled for 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Oct. 19-21 at the center, on Marquette between Wayne Road and Newburgh. The seniors are Mabel Leitner (left), Ellen Milne and Helen Stompor. The show will have quilts, needlework, afghans, hand-painted ceramics and Christmas gifts on display. A luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. the three days.

tinued development, but said council members should take a number of steps to ensure a less congested future for residents.

"As land becomes more limited we will have to pay more attention," DeHart said.

The 10-year council member said if re-elected he would propose an ordinance, similar to one passed in Farmington Hills, requiring developers to place a sign on their property announcing their intentions.

Currently, the city is only required to notify residents who live in the immediate area of a proposed development.

JOHNSON SAID the pace of development in Westland is fine.

"However," she said, "I have a strong opposition to an overabundance of strip malls and I think we ought to reassess the growth of the community as a whole."

She said one problem with the current process is that it deals with the city in a segmented fashion.

Cicirelli said she was also concerned with the large number of strip malls and multi-unit residential developments.

She said she would favor stricter guidelines for giving apartment and condominium projects a Planned Unit Development (P.U.D.) designation, something that allows developers to get approval for the project without going through the usual rezoning hearing.

all property owners to use their land.

"That applies to those who own commercial property as well as homeowners," he said.

He said there have been few rezonings of residentially classified property in the last year and said city officials are following the revised master plan.

Bollinger said the current pace of development in Westland "is meeting the needs of both residents and businesses."

While she wouldn't limit approval of projects, Bollinger said she favors getting some kind of guarantee from owners of strip malls that they have tenants lined up for their properties.

function is as a check and balance to the administration, especially on major issues such as the budget.

The other three challengers said the council should serve as both a reactive and pro-active body and that it should be a sounding board for residents.

"It should be a balanced body, especially when you have a strong mayor," Bollinger said. "But the council is also a key link to the community when it comes to introducing issues of concern."

25th anniversary a blast for Glenn staffers

By Leonard Poger
editor

It was the fall of 1964: The nation hadn't yet marked the first anniversary of President John Kennedy's assassination. The Ford Mustang was only five months old and selling for $2,500. Gasoline was 25 to 30 cents a gallon and the Vietnam War was just beginning to heat up as President Lyndon Johnson and Republican nominee Barry Goldwater were campaigning for the White House. Locally, the community news was dominated by the opening of a new high school, named after astronaut and national hero John Glenn.

John Glenn High's first teachers and secretaries remember electrical workers finishing up the school's construction and ducking out of the way every 55 minutes when students changed classes.

The school's first athletic director recalls that a Glenn Rocket pitcher hurled a no-hitter in the school's opening baseball game in the spring of 1965.

A secretary reflected that students "are still good" when compared to the mid-1960s. "I could be a friend to them, I wasn't their teacher," said Anita Smith, a secretary to one of three assistant principals.

They all agreed that the opening of the Wayne-Westland school district's second high school was "exciting and noisy," referring to construction workers putting the finishing touches for the school on Marquette west of Wayne Road.

They were asked to share their memories of the school's first few months during a 25th anniversary reception held Thursday afternoon in the Glenn library. It was part of the school's annual homecoming-spirit week activities.

On hand were the school's first three principals: Frank Higgins (1964-75), John Harrison (1975-1979), and Tom Svitkovich (1979-84). Hosting the reception was Glenn's current principal, James Myers, who has been in the post for five years.

Higgins, now starting his 11th year as L'Anse Cruse school superintendent in northern Macomb County, recalled starting his principal the year before the school opened.

His "office" where he interviewed the first faculty was in a Tinkham family farm house.

He recalled that the building was initially referred to as the "Cherry Hill site" because the school was planned to face Cherry Hill Road. But the school board couldn't acquire enough frontage to handle school buses so the building plans were revised to move the school further north and front on Marquette.

Higgins said the school was named after the astronaut the summer of 1964 after local board members heard Glenn speak before a national association conference.

Glenn, now a U.S. senator from Ohio and a former Democratic presidential candidate, has never visited the school, Higgins said.

"I remember the scaffolding in the hallway," recalled former reading consultant Ronald Somers, now the district's executive director of secondary education.

"There were wires hanging from ceilings" as electrical workers were finishing the school, he said. Somers also remembered those workers scurrying out of the way when students changed classes every 55 minutes.

WHEN THE school opened, it housed an estimated 1,700 students in the seventh through 11th grades, with the first senior class added the following year and graduation in June 1966. The school now has about 1,850 students.

recalled the excitement at the Glenn opening because as a former Adams Junior High teacher he then had the chance to work with students who were more advanced and could do more in pre-vocational teaching.

"I then had the opportunity to teach them generic things which the students would use on any job," Bryant said, such as attitude and work ethic.

Richard Ramage, current chairman of the social studies department, remembers the noise at the school when it opened with construction workers completing their jobs.

On the sports front, Don Domke, the school's first athletic director, said he was worried about Glenn's first football season since it had no seniors and players only with junior varsity experience. But the Rockets still won three games.

Domke, who retired in 1981, was the school's first baseball coach and recalled the no-hitter his pitcher hurled in Glenn's opening game in the spring of 1965.

Domke is still active in sports, currently serving as the executive secretary of the Michigan Association of Athletic Directors.

He clearly enjoyed the anniversary reception, wearing a large Detroit Tigers' baseball cap.

EVEN FACULTY members who weren't at Glenn 25 years ago enjoyed the anniversary reception.

Activist wants to save mill

"AS I looked around, I was surrounded by Nankin history," Melasi said.

"It became more than just a story for a newspaper. It fascinated me even more as I got into the city's past."

"My parents helped build this community and now that they are retiring, I wanted to carry the ball and run with it."

After asking Benyo how she might get involved with the historical commission, he suggested writing Mayor Charles Griffin.

She did, and the rest, she quipped, "is history."

THE MAYOR appointed her to the commission in July 1987. Nearly a year later, the Friends of the Nankin Mill and Friends of the Westland Historical Museum were formed to accept donations and grants to maintain the two buildings.

Brown asked Melasi to lead the Friends of the Mill group and she quickly accepted.

Later that year, commissioner Judith Palkoski was named to lead the Friends of the Museum.

"It's been tough for both of us, being that neither of us had ever done anything like this before," Melasi said. "But under the guidance of Tom Brown and Joe Benyo, we've been able to do remarkable things."

Reception to raise money for mill

The Friends of Nankin Mill will hold a wine and cheese reception 5-8 p.m. Thursday to raise money for the historic building's renovation.

The reception will be held in the mill, on Ann Arbor Trail at Farmington Road.

Tickets are $20 and available at the mayor's office in city hall and the city's community relations department, on Warren Road west of Venoy, during the week and at the reception.

HILDA J. DENSMORE

Services for Hilda J. Densmore, 65, of Westland were Oct. 14 from the Barden Funeral Home, Ithaca. Burial was in North Star Cemetery, North Star, Mich.

Miss Densmore died Oct. 8 at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia.

A native of Saginaw county, Miss Densmore was a retired high school English teacher in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools district.

She was a past president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, serving two terms (1952-54 and 1968-70) as president of the teachers' union.

"She was active with us in some capacity from the creation of the union in 1951 until she retired in 1979," said Bill Reece, WWEA president.

Miss Densmore was also a lifetime member of the National Education Association.

She had a master's degree from Wayne State University and a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University.

She is survived by two sisters, Joyce Giffels of Lansing and Gloria Whitford of Elizabethtown, Ky.; two brothers, Howard of Ithaca and Russell of Ashley, Mich.; several nieces and nephews.

JOSEPH J. OSTROWSKI

Services for Mr. Ostrowski, 69, of Garden City were Oct. 6 from the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home, Garden City, with the Rev. Roger Knapp of St. Theodore Catholic Church officiating.

Mr. Ostrowski died Oct. 3 in Garden City Hospital. He was a native of Hannastown, Pa., and lived in the area for 36 years. He was a retired Ford Motor Co. master mechanic.

EVA MAE BANISH

Services for Mrs. Banish, a former Westland resident who moved to Royal Oak, were Oct. 4 from the Manns-Ferguson Funeral Home, Livonia with the Rev. Robert Matthews of Faith Baptist Church, Royal Oak, officiating.

Mrs. Banish, 77, died Sept. 30 in Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti.

She is survived by a son, George Arwine of Sterling Heights; daughter, Mary Lee Perez of Westland; nine grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; sister, Eleanore of Pennsylvania; and four brothers, Lee Arwine of Farmington, Edward and Charles Robert, both of Clawson, and Max Matthews of Royal Oak.

JOHN McWATTERS

Services for Mr. McWatters, 74, of Westland, were Oct. 5 from the Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home with the Rev. O.L. Holloway officiating. Internment was in Parkview Memorial Park, Livonia.

Mr. McWatters died Oct. 2 at home.

He was a member of the American Legion Post 332 of Livonia and a retired auto welder. A native of Fairland, Okla., he moved to the Westland area in 1952.

Survivors are a son, Charles of Westland; daughter, Eula Marie Alexander of Grand Rapids; eight grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; four stepgrandchildren; eight stepgreat-grandchildren; three sisters, Frances Daughtery of Tulsa, Okla., Alma Hirsh of Sarcoxie, Mo., and Maey Cleveland of Memphis, Tenn.; three brothers, George of Quapaw, Okla., Wayne of Broken Arrow, Okla., and Jack of Afton, Okla. Preceding him in death was a son, Billy, who died in 1975.

Memorials may be sent to the Arbor Hospice.

CLAIRE E. HAYDEN

Services for Mrs. Hayden, a former Garden City resident who moved to Suffolk, Va., were at the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home in Garden City and St. Raphael Catholic Church in Garden City with the Rev. Raymond Marshall officiating.

Mrs. Hayden, 59, died Oct. 1 in the Louise Obici Hospital in Suffolk, after a lengthy illness.

She lived in Garden City for 19 years before moving to Suffolk a year ago.

Survivors are her husband, Richard; three sons, Richard of Rota, Spain, Kenneth of Garden City, and Timothy of Suffolk; daughter, Diane of Westland.

Meet eight of Detroit's most eligible bachelors.

Single, clean-cut male. Looking for lifelong friend to play frisbee with.

Playful, loving, out-going type. Needs friend to deliver morning paper and slippers to.

Quiet, yet understanding. In search of someone with good, strong legs to rub up against.

Good natured male. Family man. Great with kids.

Attractive, middle-aged companion. Knows every trick in the book. Ready to settle down.

Energetic mischief maker. Has lots of love to give, but no one to give it to.

Fine, upstanding individual. Tired of single's scene. Wants long-term relationship.

Single, independent male. Likes seafood, birdwatching. Desperately needs someone to share it all with.

They're handsome, faithful, and fun to be with. But right now, they're lonely. These are just eight of the hundreds of perfectly healthy animals waiting at the Michigan Humane Society (MHS) for that certain special someone to go home with. Someone, we hope, just like you.

Because you can provide what we can't: a permanent home. One that will be filled with all the love and attention they deserve.

But if you're already spoken for, there is another way you can help. Your donation to the MHS, no matter how big or small, will help us give these animals the best care possible and the chance for us to find them a proper home.

So, share your love with those who need it most: the bachelors and bachelorettes at the Michigan Humane Society.

MADD agenda for '90's stresses new laws

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Drunk driving was scarcely an issue a decade ago. But Mothers Against Drunk Driving, now completing its first decade, believes it has succeeded in increasing awareness of the danger of drunk driving. Three recent headlines bear them out:

- Wayne County is drafting a new law that would force drunk drivers to pay all costs involved in their arrest, jailing and trial.
- Michigan State Troopers are testing a new Breathalyzer, billed as cheaper, faster and more reliable than current 1954-vintage models.
- The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to determine whether the state can operate sobriety check lanes for drivers — giving new life to an issue previously thought dead. (For information on the county law, Breathalyzers and check lane case, see related story.)

As she scans the headlines, Wayne County MADD director Sandi Wolf said she realizes how far the issue and her organization has come in its first decade. And how far, she believes, it has to go in the next.

MADD has campaigned throughout the decade for greater public awareness of drunk driving and stiffer penalties for those convicted of drunk driving offenses.

While MADD can now count on allies among media, police, prosecutors and judges nationwide, Wolf recalled early problems in getting anyone to take the organization seriously.

"IT WAS tough," said Wolf, an eight-year MADD veteran. "I mean you'd go into a courtroom and jurors would just laugh you off."

Few are laughing now, but MADD faces new challenges as the 1990s approach.

Public awareness of drunk driving should receive another boost next month as MADD, assisted by area government and media, promotes its third annual ribbon campaign. The colorful ribbons, tied to side view mirrors, remind drivers not to drink and drive in the coming holiday season.

But New Year's, and a new decade, will bring a subtle change in MADD strategy.

Raising public awareness is no longer enough, Wolf said. The 1990s will be a time to change public policy.

In a sense, the check lane battle represents the first — and perhaps key — test.

"We're thrilled the Supreme Court will be deciding the issue," Wolf said.

Proposed by Gov. James Blanchard, and backed by MADD, the controversial state police check lanes struck out at all levels of the state court system after a one-night debut May 16, 1988 in the Saginaw area.

"Three Michigan courts have looked at this program, all of whom rejected it," said Howard Simon, executive director of the Michigan chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. "The Legislature had opposed it. The public had opposed it, and the evidence that came out in court was that these were not effective procedures for fighting drunk driving."

The ACLU has sued to block the check lanes.

Though an unfavorable ruling would be a setback, Wolf said the check lanes are just one of the measures being sought.

"WE'RE VERY interested in automatic revocation — lifting drunk driver's licenses right on the spot," Wolf said. "And we like to see laws giving police this authority."

MADD succeeded in the 1980s, Wolf said, in large part due to unified public support.

"The media were especially helpful in getting the word out," she said. "Once people became aware, involvement grew."

Social drinkers are drinking more responsibly, Wolf said.

"I think we've really been able to reach these people," she said. "At parties, people don't appear to be drinking as much."

The organization's success, members believe, lies in the fact that their approach is non-extremist — stressing responsibility, not abstinence.

rence. "We don't tell people not to drink,"

Wolf said. "We tell them to drink responsibly."

Still, she said, problems exist with hard-core drinkers.

"I don't know if drunk driving will ever cease to be a problem," she said.

And while the public has embraced MADD's public information campaigns, controversy surrounding check lanes, and possibly automatic license revocation, could drive some supporters away.

That's a chance MADD is willing to take.

"The important thing to remember is that we're trying to save people's lives," Wolf said.

Measures proposed

Here's what is being proposed, both locally and nationally, to curb drunk driving:

- Wayne County — County commissioners have approved a resolution calling for fines on convicted drunk drivers equivalent to the cost of their arrest, jailing and trial. Commissioners await cost estimates from the county sheriff and prosecutor before setting the fine and putting it into law.
- State Police — Highway patrol officers are currently testing a new Breathalyzer. The Infrared Intoximeter 3000 is billed as a faster, cheaper, more accurate way to test for drunken driving.

State Troopers are continuing to use their current Breathalyzers for traffic stops, the new infrared units are being used on suspects brought to a police station — and, at that, only ones in the Kalamazoo area.

"It's being tested in Kalamazoo, if it's approved we could be getting the new units sometime this year," said Lt. Shelby Slater of the state police Northville Post.

Tributes paid U-D coach

On Sept. 25, a perfect autumn day, hundreds attended the funeral of Bob Calihan, the winningest coach in the history of the University of Detroit.

Not so many Septembers ago, Bob Calihan, a 6-foot-4, 190-pound future All-America, was making his way to U of D from Chicago.

Riding shotgun in his 1931 Model A was his pal, Frank O'Donnell.

The basketball players were driving down McNichols, nearing U of D. The Chicagoans were on the lookout for a large limestone building with a red slate roof. After nine hours of driving, one appeared.

Calihan pulled in, parked, and the two looked around. To them, it looked like an awfully small campus.

"We knocked on the door and asked, 'Is this the University of Detroit?'" recalled Frank O'Donnell, now a Redford resident.

"The man said, 'This is Michigan Bell. U of D is down the road.'"

When the pair did reach U of D, they found the athletic office and walked in.

"Gus Dorais, the football coach, and Lloyd Brazil, the athletic director and basketball coach, were there," recalled O'Donnell.

"Coach Brazil said hello to Cal, who was 8-feet-4, 190 pounds. Then he looked at me — I was 5-feet-9 and 135 — and asked, 'Who is this guy? Get him out of here.'"

"Dorais and Brazil argued back and forth till Cal spoke up and said, 'Coach, he's Frank O'Donnell. My mom said to tell you that if he can't stay, I can't stay either.'"

"That's how I got my scholarship," said O'Donnell.

At Calihan's funeral, former players, friends and family told funny stories and recalled away games played in Madison Square Garden and home games contested in Naval armories and high school gyms before U of D had its own gym.

M.B. Dillon

The nice thing about it was that Cal didn't miss out on the laughs. That's because his players gathered just about every year to celebrate their coach's birthday.

In 1977, Cal's party was attended by 900 people. The Rev. Malcolm Carron, then president of U of D, capitalized on the occasion, rechristening the school's sports arena "Calihan Hall."

Last year was number 70 for the former U of D athletic director, dubbed "The Smiling Irishman" years ago by Detroit sportswriters. It was commemorated at a golf tournament at Glenhurst and a banquet at the Monaghan K of C in Livonia.

Relived were seasons in the Sixties when All-America Dave DeBuschere — who went on to become a player-coach for the Detroit Pistons while pitching for the Chicago White Sox — led U of D to its first ever post-season appearances at National Invitational Tournaments and the NCAA's, and future pro Spencer Haywood provided excitement on less successful Calihan squads.

EMCEEING AT dinner was Detroit deejay Tom Ryan, who allowed as how he worked his way up from Cal's "All-Backyard Team" — he started regularly as a kid — to his neighbor's varsity squad at U of D.

Ryan told a few jokes and proclaimed George Feffles, a former suburban Detroit high school athletic director, winner of the longest drive contest.

"He came in from Chicago," cracked Ryan.

It was Cal's turn.

He looked around the room, crowded with family, friends and white-haired professors who, to see this Chicago stud in action, used to take the streetcar to U of D's home court at the armory. His Irish face lit up with a smile that warmed the leftovers.

"Tom Ryan WAS on my All-Backyard Team," he confirmed.

"There was Tom, my daughter Colleen, Sam our dog, and Sarah the neighbor's dog. Little Bobby (Calihan, Jr.) was sixth man and Virginia (Mrs. Calihan) was head coach."

In a few words, Cal thanked his old charges and said he was happy they had this chance to be together. With difficulty dictated by advanced arthritis (Calihan had an artificial shoulder, two artificial hips and two artificial knees) he sat down.

The speeches were over, the evening far from it.

"I really think Cal, as a coach and a man, has contributed more toward the development of human beings than a lot of coaches," said Feffles. "He really cared about people."

Agreed Jerry Coyne, another Cal recruit, "Bobby Knight and AP McGuire didn't envy Cal's win-loss record. But they envied him for something so much greater."

"He was a hell of a nice guy. The basic difference between him and other coaches is he didn't put the emphasis on winning, but on us."

"Basketball just happened," said Coyne. "He always made it a point to tell us, 'Get to know your teammates.' He figured if you liked each other, you would do well. He has a much better testimonial than do coaches who may have had better records."

"The reason so many people came tonight is because they loved him."

Cartoon was insulting

To the editor:

Just as I was thinking about subscribing to your paper, I noted this tasteless, insulting cartoon. Of course, this is a woman in a skirt — not a male in pants even though (surprise, surprise) males also suffer this affliction.

Probably an understatement but I submit that Karlos Barney is a chauvinistic, ignorant jerk.

Barbara Walker, Bloomfield Hills

Don't reject new spelling

To the editor:

In response to Jack Gladden's column, "Spelling is important," I would say his title is correct. However, I disagree with his rejection of "invented spelling." This term is new to me; however, the idea of letting first graders write, spelling as best they can, is not.

Our daughter is in the Livonia Public Schools, which started the whole language approach last year. As part of this program, our (then) first grader used her knowledge of phonics to write every day in a journal. She learned to put her thoughts on paper, which is an accomplishment in itself. But the writing also helped her in reading and printing and in developing creativity and discipline.

Yes, many words were misspelled, but that drawback was offset by her enthusiasm and her gain in self-esteem.

As for the teacher's comment that the children will spell correctly when they're ready, apparently the Livonia Schools teachers feel second grade is the time to start encouraging it.

Now in second grade, our daughter still writes using her own spelling, but the teacher now writes in correct spellings over the misspelled words. She also brings home a list of spelling words every Monday learn their spellings by Friday. We have been amazed by how quickly she has learned to read using his methods, and at the steady improvement in her writing. By the way, she has made a 100 percent score on every spelling test so far.

I believe as long as the schools still advocate the teaching of phonics and spelling, the idea of invented spelling used in early writing is a fine one.

Patricia Garvey Livonia and he's finding poor spelling an impediment to high grades — as I believe it should be.

In any case, thanks for expressing the flip side of this "new idea" for teaching spelling.

Bonnie Shajt Livonia

He doesn't like story on bouncers

To the editor:

I look forward to reading about the important local issues confronting our community each week in the Observer & Eccentric. In addition, your coverage of local sports activities are most impressive.

It was shocking therefore to view and read the article contained in the Street Scene section on "Bouncers," Sept. 25. Is the Eccentric trying to outdo the Free Press in its advertising of some of the lowly topless clubs in our area?

Is it some sort of rating period where trashy articles and pictures seem to build circulation? Or is it that someone has simply lost touch with previously high standards set by the paper and we can expect a continuing decline in quality journalism. Of what possible value is the article to our community?

I would suggest that the writer (don't take the word seriously Tim) and whoever approved the article find a job where your talents would be better utilized — perhaps the National Enquirer or some other piece of smut.

I think the Eccentric owes the community an apology — that's how outrageous the article is.

Peter Coats, Birmingham

Spelling is high priority

To the editor:

Thank you so much Jack Gladden for writing your "Spelling is important" column. I agree completely with you.

I certainly hope parents of school-age children see the wisdom of your article and voice their concerns in this regard to teachers and elected school board members.

My experience with Livonia school teachers 10 years ago was that spelling was indeed a very low priority. And, a school psychologist went so far as to tell me poor spelling was not frowned on so much anymore.

My oldest son regularly got A's on written work with misspellings and sentence fragments in high school English classes.

Our youngest son is now in college

THE DECEPTION OF SHOULDER JOINT PAIN

Pain in the shoulder joint is as common as in the knee or wrist. The presence of shoulder pain is not as readily recognized because the body "hides" the problem.

When the shoulder joint is inflamed, it cannot move with its usual ease. The surrounding muscles still work to position the arm so it can be raised above your head, extended to the side, or rotated behind your back. However, the usual smooth movement of the arm is changed to a series of tentative and hesitating motions as the body attempts to move gently over the areas of joint irritation.

Such a change spares the shoulder joint from pain, but puts considerable stress on the muscles compensating for the impairment. Pain felt down the arm, and up into the neck gives you the impression that you have a muscle or bone condition, but the likely cause is shoulder joint inflammation with muscle strain.

Physicians are trained to be aware of this subtle presentation of shoulder joint inflammation. Therefore, do not be surprised if the problem you present to your physician as "something in the muscles" leads him to respond with x-rays of the shoulder joint.

Artist is making his mark on ice

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

He's an artist whose works last for moments, not eternity.

Ted Waker of Westland is an award-winning sculptor, but his medium is ice, not marble.

A Schoolcraft College graduate, Waker is returning to Schoolcraft later this month to share his skill with others.

A member of Ford Motor Co.'s food service staff, he is based at corporate headquarters in Dearborn. His portfolio includes a life-sized Crown Victoria automobile, sculpted for Ford CEO Philip Caldwell's 1984 retirement party.

Waker has also created a 16-foot-high Disneyland castle, carved from 60 blocks of ice, with a Spider Salley-sized Mickey Mouse as its doorman.

But Waker said he doesn't mind.

"I don't feel too bad about it," he said. "Most of what I create is a specialized piece for a special event."

IN ADDITION to his work for Ford, Waker has created pieces for British Airways and Nabisco. He has also created an icy Clydesdale for Anheuser-Busch.

Locally, he has sculpted centerpieces for weddings and parties. He also sculpts a weekly piece for an area luxury hotel.

Waker began his love for ice sculpture as a Livonia Franklin High School student. From there, he pursued a food service career at Schoolcraft.

While he's dabbled in clay, and chocolate carving remains another of his specialties, Waker's favorite medium is ice.

HE HAS captured first place at the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular and received second and third place ribbons at recent national and international competitions.

He runs his own ice carving business, Frozen Images, from his home, while most of his sculpting is done in a Detroit warehouse.

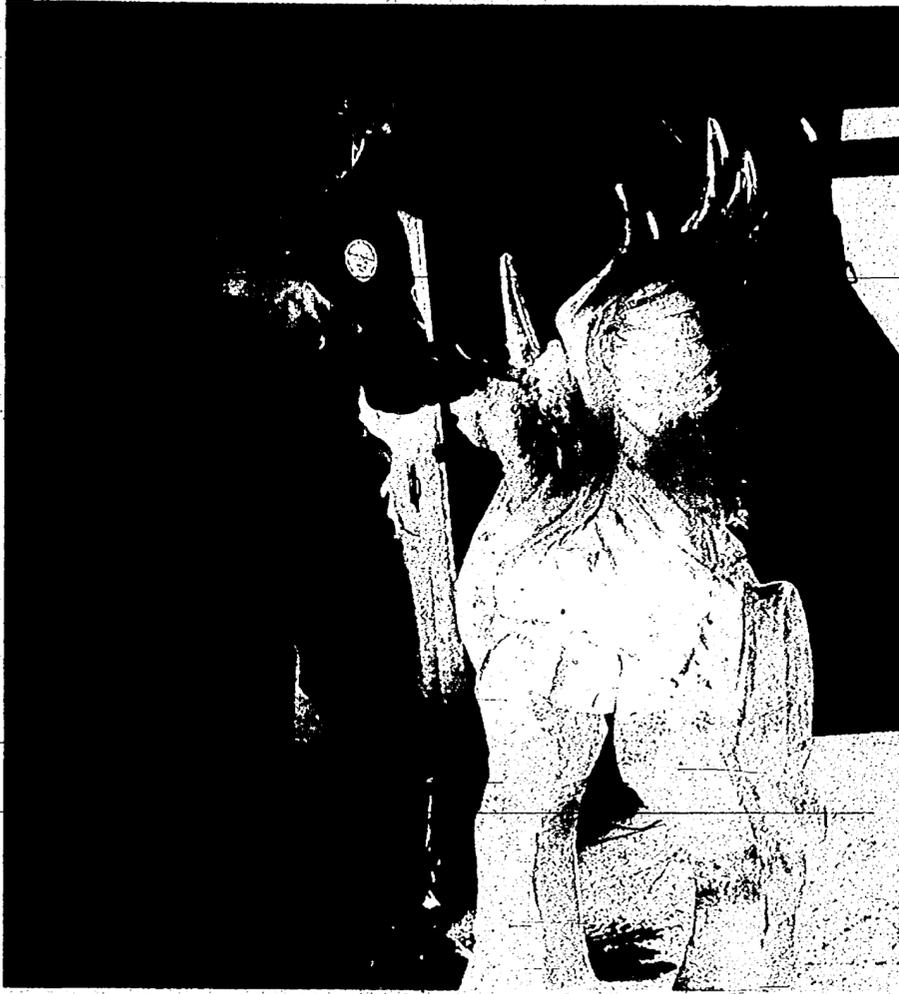

"Actually, the carving is not as difficult as handling the ice once it has to be shipped," Waker said.

He begins by roughing out his designs with a chain saw, then uses tools similar to a woodcarver's for detail work.

Though some pieces take a day's work — or more — to complete, Waker usually completes at least five pieces a week.

A piece can last for eight hours or more, depending upon room conditions, he said. "Then they melt away."

Ted Waker will teach a six-week ice carving class at Schoolcraft College, beginning Saturday, Oct. 28, from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Cost is $125. For more information call the college at 462-4448.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Ice sculptor Ted Waker puts the finishing touches on a piece that will decorate a buffet table in an area luxury hotel. Waker, a Westland resident, is a Schoolcraft College graduate and will return to Schoolcraft later this month to instruct others in ice sculpture. An award-winner at local, national and international events, Waker has created pieces for several national firms, as well as weddings and parties. Though also proficient at chocolate carving, Waker lists ice sculpting as his favorite specialty. He has been involved with ice sculpting since his days as a Livonia high school student. A food service employee at Ford Motor Co. world headquarters, Waker creates his works at a Detroit warehouse, though this piece is on the loading dock prior to shipping. Schoolcraft's ice sculpting course will be offered Saturdays, beginning Oct. 28.

Momma spills her secrets

Who can resist the heartwarming aroma of a fresh baked pie? Ask any family to name one of grandma's favorite desserts and pie is sure to stand high on the list.

Like many other New World foods, pie as we know it today is an all American invention. Pastries from the Old World were adapted by our Colonial ancestors to meet the sparse food supplies. Fillings for the pies — shiny tart apples, mellow, golden pumpkins and tart rhubarb — were gathered from the surrounding countryside. Today's pie, with vast improvements in flour, shortening and other ingredients, has evolved into a culinary delight.

Many-a-time I have watched from behind the dust-ladened knick-knack shell of momma's kitchen as she baked. To this day, I still don't think she owns a set of measuring cups or spoons; instead, she uses one of the most expensive utensils around — her arthritic fingers and a rolling pin that doubled as a "kid chaser" way back in the 1950's.

With the kids shuffled off to school, I recently spent a crisp fall afternoon with momma in her kitchen. Just her, me and my notepad, watching and helping her make pies for an upcoming family baby shower. If the pages seem smeared, it's just the flour and shortening leeching its way out of my fingertips. Here's a primer on momma's secret suggestions for a no-fall pie:

To quote her exactly:

- A pie is only as good as its crust. Use a light hand with your pastry. Too much handling toughens the pastry. So much for the Cuisinart, eh?

- For a sparkling, extra flaky top crust on fruit pies, brush ever so lightly with milk or cream, then sprinkle with just a tad of cinnamon sugar before baking.

- Never overcook fillings with a cornstarch base. Overcooking thins out the base.

- For better bottom crusts, brush the bottom with a teaspoon of beaten egg and then chill while preparing the filling. This will help seal the pastry and should prevent a soggy crust.

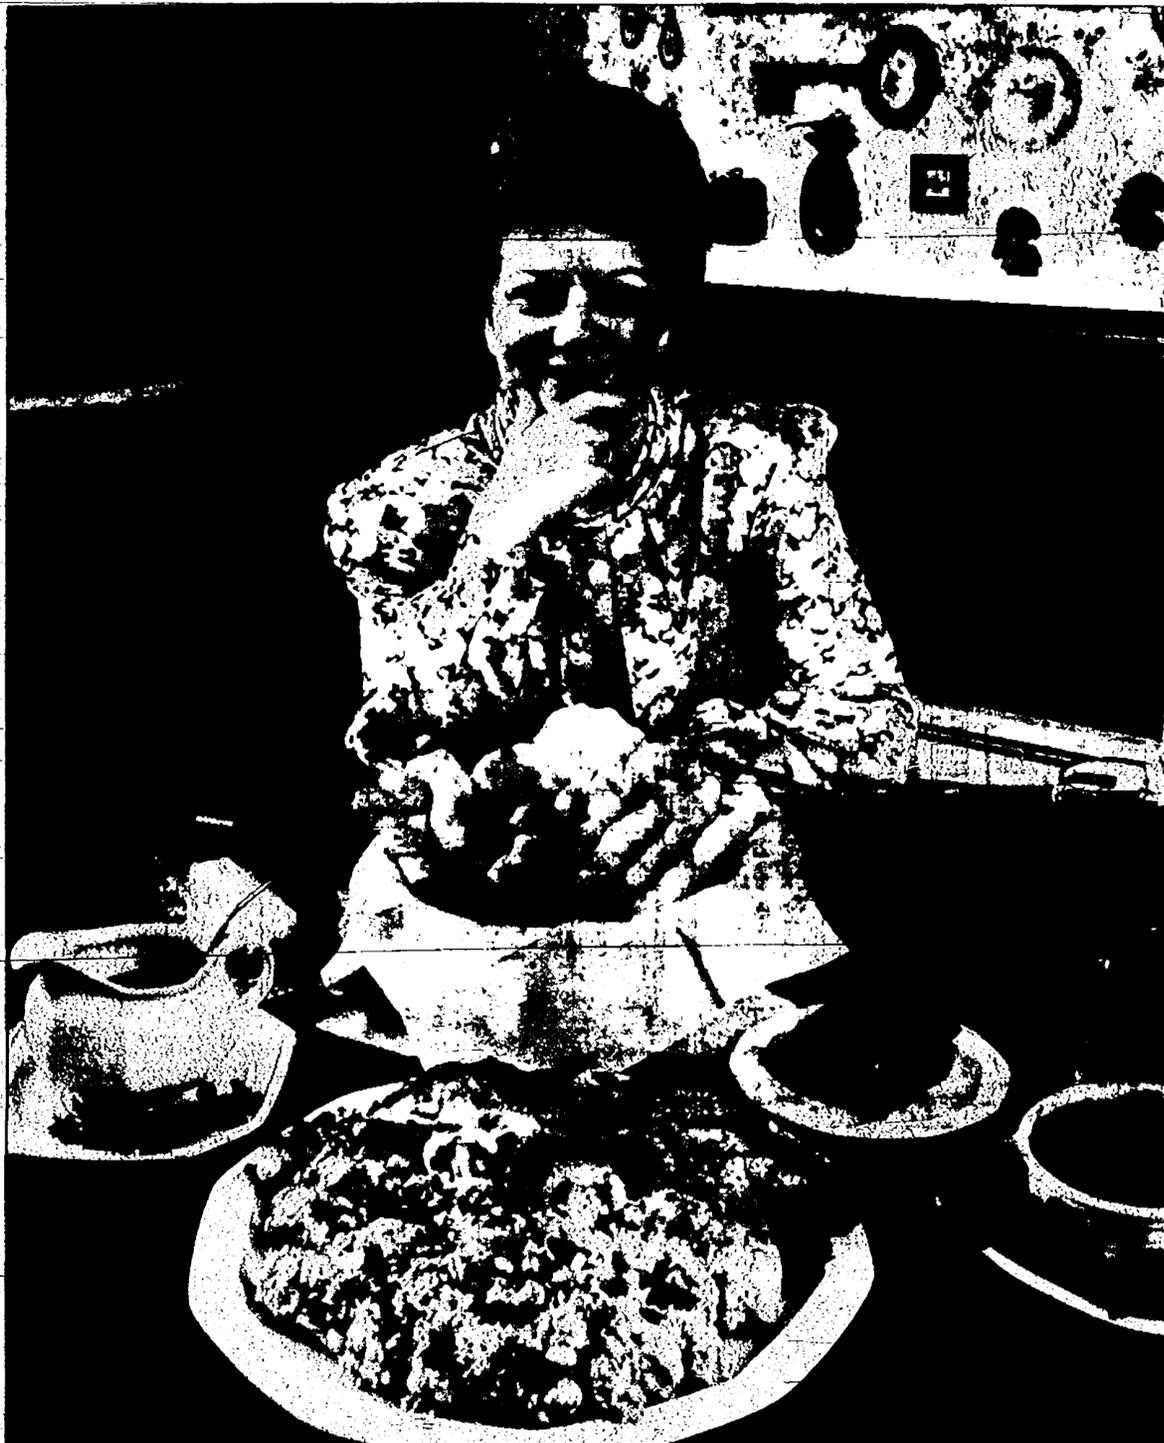

- After cutting the shortening into the flour, sprinkle water ever so gently into the crust and use a tossing motion to moisten the crust. Continue tossing until dough cleans the bottom of the bowl. Never pack and squeeze.

- Whenever possible, make the crust ahead of schedule so that the crust can have a chance to chill, solidifying the shortening or butter before rolling out.

Rose Levy Berenbaum, author of the "Cake Bible" might know her cakes down pat, but I'd put one of momma's tart cherry pies up against her galette any day. Momma never classified herself as a gourmet cook or baker, but it would be nothing to watch her spend an entire day preparing crusts and arranging lattices so perfect a close up shot could easily be entered into the Museum of Modern Art.

WINNER DINNER

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Joyce Weigel is the first to win our recognition for her winner dinner. Here, in her Farmington kitchen, she presents a quick meal of Cordon Bleu chicken breasts, mushroom sauce, soft bread sticks, chocolate covered cherry cake, crushed cranberry sauce and a glass of cranapple juice.

Panel favors a family favorite

AFTER RECEIVING many wonderful recipes, the time finally came to select the first Winner Dinner.

It was not an easy decision because there were so many delicious dinners to choose from. However, Joyce Weigel's Mock Chicken, Cordon Bleu got the nod after passing through the picky palates of a most discriminating panel of judges — my children and their assorted friends.

Weigel, mother of three grown children, operates her own professional typing and secretarial service out of her home in Farmington. The chicken recipe she submitted has been a favorite of her children since they were little.

Weigel likes to serve the chicken with extra stuffing on the side and top it all with a brown mushroom sauce that is easy to make. A small serving of cranberry sauce and a tossed salad filled with lots of crunchy vegetables complete the meal.

ALTHOUGH WEIGEL and her family are not big dessert eaters, she offered a recipe for Chocolate Cherry Cake Bars that are a delicious family favorite and also very easy to make.

I think I was just as excited and happy as Weigel when I called to let her know that her menu had been selected to be the first Winner Dinner. When I spoke to her a second time, she told me how thrilled her friends and family were for her. Weigel took the whole day off the day the Observer & Eccentric photographer came to take her picture for this column.

Anyone who called to speak to Weigel received the following message on her answering machine: "I'm sorry, I can't come to the phone today. My chicken and I are preparing for our photo session."

I hope this week's Winner Dinner will provide you with a fresh idea for your family and inspire you to send in your family's favorite dinner menu. Until next week, take care, and happy cooking!

Confetti's new chef takes a fresh approach

Every little bit of Confetti's contributes to a pleasant night out — the long, narrow restaurant with its award-winning design, the stunning large glass block windows, the attentive service, the fresh bread offered as soon as you arrive and, most of all, the varied menu of pastas and fish dishes.

One of the earlier trendy restaurants out West Bloomfield way, Confetti's looks like a sliver of a place from its front on Orchard Lake Road just north of Maple.

But walk inside and the restaurant stretches out before you like a two-tiered hallway. Though it seats 146, it feels smaller because of its design.

LARGE GLASS block windows on three sides of the restaurant let light filter in but screen out undesirable views. The restaurant's theme is carried out with colorful confetti strewn over white table cloths and pressed beneath glass overlays. Strips of blue and pink neon add to its contemporary feeling.

Designer Aleksis Lahti created a stunning restaurant from a brown, tunnel-like Maple House several years ago, and owner Bruce Cameron brought it to life with quality meals and excellent service.

Pastas and fish are the stars here. Until recently Cameron followed a "zero-based menuing" approach, creating a new menu each day based on the freshest, in-season foods available.

Fresh and in season are still the goals, but new chef Brian Gallagher intends to put a few mainstays back onto the menu each day. Like lobster alfredo, one of his favorites, and roasted pork loin served with peach chutney — a popular item, but one that you won't find just anywhere.

WHEN WE visited, the chef was serving up a delicious "speared" shrimp that had been marinated in garlic, oil, ginger, pepper and Worcestershire sauce, and was then grilled with corn and red peppers. The shrimp tasted delicious — and slightly tangy. The wood spears, however, were a nuisance.

From a selection of six pastas, we tried the pesto pasta with clams and lobster in a white wine cream sauce — another excellently flavored entrée whose only fault was in a bit too much pasta and a slightly undercooked white sauce.

Other choices were equally tempting, including a chevre (roasted red peppers) fettuccine and a grilled sweetbreads fettuccine.

IF YOU'RE looking for something different from the pasta or red potato side dishes, try the cous cous, a Mediterranean pasta served cold and with a chutney.

Gallagher said many patrons send it back and ask for it to be heated, but some like the cold, grainy dish. While we weren't thrilled with it either (it reminded us of cold oatmeal), it was something different and worth a try.

The Cuban black bean soup served the night we visited was excellent — prepared with just the right mixture of spices.

Our dinner salad was fresh and crispy, though nothing extraordinary. The mustard vinaigrette dressing was good, but — as is often the case — was poured on with a heavy hand. If you prefer a light dose of dressing, ask for it on the side.

AS THE new chef settles in, you can look forward to some new dishes and a delicate treatment of old favorites. He's planning to add mashed sweet potatoes and grilled potatoes as side dishes and will be stuffing ravioli in various ways. The fish will be only what is in season, no tired white fish entrees.

Remember, recipes are meant to be changed

Cooking should be fun. If it isn't, then you aren't doing it right. Perhaps you are one of those people who always follows every recipe "to a tee," afraid to make any changes or substitutions.

Recipes are created by ordinary human beings, just like you and me. They are not carved in stone by lightning on a mountain top. So, don't be afraid to experiment.

Once upon a time, when my oldest son (now hearing 40), was a toddler, I was making a meat pie from a recipe someone had given me.

I had fried the ground beef with onions, drained off the excess fat, seasoned it, and set it aside, while I prepared the biscuit dough, which was to be the crust for the pie.

Just then, the telephone rang, and I went into another room to answer it. I wasn't gone long, but by the time I returned, little Jimmy had dumped the meat mixture into the dough mixture, and was joyously kneading the two together with both hands.

There went my meat pie. But the ingredients were too good to throw away, and I didn't have anything else for supper. So I helped him mix it more thoroughly, and rolled out the dough on a board.

Together, we cut out little rounds, like you would for biscuits, and baked them. The results were terrific.

We called these little meat-filled biscuits, "Jim-Jims," and they became a family favorite. Sometimes we substitute bulk sausage for the ground beef, and sometimes we add shredded cheese to the mixture.

A plate of Jim-Jims straight from the oven, or nowadays, re-heated in a microwave, served with a bowl of hot soup, still makes my family members very happy.

I once dropped a cake, and broke it. It looked terrible. Company was due any minute. I put the salvageable pieces into individual dessert dishes, poured chocolate syrup over them, and topped each dish with a squirt of whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

My guests raved over the delicacy, and no one ever knew I didn't plan it that way.

My five-year-old granddaughter loves to eat and she loves to cook. One day, she decided she wanted both honey and ketchup on her hot dogs. Instead of trying to discourage her, we mixed honey and ketchup together and glazed our frankfurters with the mixture as we grilled them. They were sensational.

Since then, we've tried honey and mustard, honey and Heinz 57 sauce, honey and barbecue sauce, etc. Some of these combinations have tasted better than others, but all were happily eaten.

Meanwhile, my granddaughter Krystal has gained the satisfaction of trying something new and creating her own recipes for the first time. And she's acquired a self-confidence that I'm sure will be helpful in many situations in life that have nothing to do with cooking.

And, best of all, we had fun doing it.

Right now, many of you may have vines full of green tomatoes that you know will never ripen before the frost. Why not try the recipe for mock-raspberry jam invented by some ingenious cook who wasn't afraid to play around in the kitchen. The results will astound you. It is hard to imagine it isn't the real thing, even after you, yourself, made it.

Core and cut up the green tomatoes. Process them in your blender until you have 2 cups of pulp. Boil the tomatoes and sugar together for 15 minutes. Remove from the heat and stir in the powdered gelatin. Cool slightly. Pour into clean containers and refrigerate or freeze.

MOCK RASPBERRY JAM
green tomatoes (about six) 2 cups white sugar
one 3-ounce package of raspberry jello

Core and cut up the green tomatoes. Process them in your blender until you have 2 cups of pulp. Boil the tomatoes and sugar together for 15 minutes. Remove from the heat and stir in the powdered gelatin. Cool slightly. Pour into clean containers and refrigerate or freeze.

I WAS RAISED during the Great Depression of the 1930's. We were very poor, but I never knew that until years later, because everyone in our town was in the same boat. We were all very poor.

Carlson's grocery store sold soda crackers out of a big barrel. They were very cheap, so we ate a lot of soda crackers.

Anyone my age probably remembers a dish called "depression soup," made of soda crackers, and really not much else. I remember the recipe, but I'd never print it because nobody today would ever eat it, even for old time's sake.

But because we had chickens, we also had eggs, and my father invented an egg and cracker recipe he called cracker pancakes.

We've all loved it, and it has been passed down for three generations. All of my children make them, even when they have company. My grandkids love them for breakfast or supper.

They can be served with syrup or with catsup; eaten with fruit and powdered sugar, or with salt and pepper and bacon or sausage.

CRACKER PANCAKES
milk

Beat up eggs, one or two per person. Add one-eighth cup of milk for each egg, and beat some more. Crumble crackers into coarse crumbs. Use your own judgment as to how many. Some people like a dryer pancake, and some like a moister one. Add crumbs to the eggs and milk mixture, and let sit for a few minutes, until the crackers soak up the egg mixture. Drop mixture by tablespoonfuls onto a hot greased skillet, and cook as you would any pancake, flipping over when firm, and the first side is done to a golden brown. Then cook the other side. Serve hot.

Here's another unusual pancake recipe, made up when we had cold spaghetti left over, and no sauce to go with it.

SPAGHETTI PANCAKES
4 cups cooked cold spaghetti or macaroni
3 eggs, well beaten
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons milk

Combine all ingredients, and season to taste. Use salt, pepper, oregakitchen witch

Gundella

no, a dash of cayenne pepper, or whatever suits you.
Sometimes I add 1/4 to 1/2 cup of Parmesan cheese, if I have it on hand. Sometimes I throw in shredded cheddar, or maybe some green onions.

I almost never make these the same way twice, but they are always delicious.
Fry as you would any pancake, until golden brown, turning it carefully to cook both sides. You can make a large pancake the size of the skillet, cooking the bottom on top of the stove, and then placing it in the broiler to cook the top. Then turn the whole large pancake out on a plate with butter, and garnish as you like. This serves about four people, all of who will love it, and call you their favorite kitchen witch.

The important thing is that you have fun cooking. Try new flavorings and spices you haven't used before. Experiment with new combinations, and make up a few of your own. Recently, I added some butter pecan flavoring to the apples in a pie I was baking. The taste was terrific.

Start with something simple, like a sauce to serve over your fish, meat, or vegetables. Taste your recipes as you prepare them, and add seasonings when needed.

Encourage your children to play at cooking with you. One year, when I was still teaching school and all four of my children were still at home, we all took turns cooking one day of the week.

Sometimes we had strange menus, but before long, even the youngest children were well able to plan, cook, and serve a palatable, well-balanced meal and have fun doing it. I was always there to help but by the end of the year I was seldom needed.

Another really fun thing to make is fried ice cream. It sounds and looks hard to make, but it's really easy. I made up this recipe, and I like it better than any other I've tried anywhere.

FRIED ICE CREAM
Using your hands, shape any flavor ice cream into round balls, just as you would make snow balls. (Keep a dish of warm water close by to dip your hands in as you work.)

Roll these ice cream balls in cake crumbs or cookie crumbs, until completely covered. Wrap in foil, and place in the freezer until very hard.

These will keep in the freezer indefinitely. I used to keep some there all the time, and take them out when I had unexpected company.

When you want to serve them, unwrap them, and dip each ball in tempura batter (see below). Deep fry in hot oil or vegetable shortening until golden brown. Drain on paper towels.

Serve at once, topped with hot fudge, butterscotch, or other ice cream topping. To be really fancy, add whipped cream, cherries, and/or nuts.

TEMPURA BATTER
1 beaten egg (you may use two egg yolks, if you have any left over from some other recipe)
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon flour

Beat ingredients together until smooth.

Note: If you have any questions about these, or any other recipes, you may call Gundella at: 427-1072. Or, write her at: Box 434, Garden City 48135.

Gundella will scare up something in the kitchen

Gundella, who writes the Observer & Eccentric's "Kitchen Witch" column, will conjure up seasonal specialties during a cooking workshop. "Be a Witch in the Kitchen" begins at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 17, in The Community Center, Farmington-Farmington Hills. The center is at 24705 Farmington Road, north of 10 reduce the amount of mushrooms used. The sauce tastes best if it is made at the last minute.

Mile. The menu includes "liverheads," pumpkin potato leek soup, pumpkin yeast bread and butter and punch in a pumpkin shell. Cost for the hands-on workshop is $15 per person. Participants should bring their own rolling pins. To register call the center at 477-8404.

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (2 ounce) mushrooms drained or sliced fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt (optional)
a few drops of Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup consommé and 1/4 cup of water or
1 cup water with chicken bouillon cube dissolved.

Melt butter in saucepan; add mushrooms, flour and seasonings and brown. Add liquid gradually and stir while cooking until thickened. Makes about 1 1/2 cups. Serve the sauce over the chicken and stuffing.

Recipes

MOCK CHICKEN CORDON BLEU

These individual chicken bundles take about 15 minutes to prepare and can be made in the morning, covered and refrigerated until placed in the oven. This recipe is for four people but can be adjusted by changing the number of chicken breasts.

4 boned chicken breasts (you might consider boning your own breasts — a simple procedure and certainly more economical)
herb stuffing
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt or to taste (optional)
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon pepper (optional)

Combine butter and seasonings. Brush inside of chicken breasts with the seasoned butter and spread with stuffing. (Weigel recommends the packaged herb stuffing or Stove Top Stuffing for chicken.) Prepare stuffing according to the package instructions. Roll and fasten with toothpicks or skewers. Brush outside with seasoned butter. Place on rack in a shallow pan and roast, uncovered, in a preheated 350 degree oven for 50-60 minutes. Baste occasionally. Serve with extra stuffing on the side and spoon on Brown Mushroom Sauce.

frosting

Using solid shortening or a non-stick spray, grease and flour either a 15-by-10 pan or a 13-by-9 pan. In a large bowl, combine all ingredients. Stir until well-mixed. Pour into prepared pan. At 350 degrees, bake 15-by-10 pan 20-30 minutes; 13-by-9 pan 25-30 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

FROSTING

1 cup sugar
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk
6 ounces chocolate chips

In saucepan, combine sugar, butter and milk. Boil, stirring constantly, for one minute. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate chips until smooth. Pour over the cake or bars.

MOMMA'S PIE CRUST

approximately 2 1/4 cups all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, cut into bits
1/4 cup solid vegetable shortening cold, cut into bits
5-6 tablespoons ice water

Sift flour and salt into a mixing bowl. Add butter and shortening in bits, working in and tossing continuously until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle with half the ice water. Stir lightly with fingers. Add additional water by the teaspoon until dough clings together and cleans the bottom of the bowl. Divide dough in half. Wrap in plastic and refrigerate at least one hour until ready to roll out.

PUMPKIN PIE

1 single pie crust

Filling:
16 oz. pumpkin puree
1/2 cup dark brown sugar, packed
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 large eggs, room temperature
1 cup heavy cream

Roll out pastry into a 12-inch circle.

Line a 9-inch pie pan with the pastry and crimp rim as desired. Line pastry with foil, then fill with dried beans and bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 375 degrees. Whisk pumpkin with remaining ingredients. Pour filling into pie shell after removing dried beans and foil. Bake for 20 minutes.

DUTCH APPLE CRUMB PIE

1 pie crust for a single pie

Filling:
6 Granny Smith apples, pared, cored, cut into even chunks
1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
1/2 cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Topping:
2/3 cup all purpose flour
1/4 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter, cold, cut into chunks

Roll out pastry and place in a 9-inch pie pan. Crimp crust as desired. Brush lightly with an egg wash, then refrigerate until ready to fill. In a bowl, combine apples, raisins, sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon and toss well to coat. Stir in sour cream and vanilla. Set aside. In a separate bowl, stir together the flour, brown sugar and cinnamon and mix well. Add butter in small chunks and mix with fingers until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Pour apple filling into crust. Sprinkle with topping. Place in a 350 degree oven and bake for 25 minutes. If top is browning too quickly, wrap edges of pie with foil and continue baking for an additional 30 minutes.

FRESH BERRY PIE

Pastry for a two-crust pie:
2 quarts fresh berries, (blueberries, raspberries)
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup sifted all purpose flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Roll out half the dough and line a 9-inch pie plate with the dough. Brush lightly with an egg wash. Refrigerate until ready to fill. In a large mixing bowl, combine berries with sugar and flour. Toss gently with hands to coat. Place berry filling in prepared crust and dot with small butter chunks. Roll out remaining pastry for top crust. Secure by crimping edges with fingertips. Brush lightly with milk and sprinkle ever so lightly with sugar. Cut vents to allow steam to escape. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 40 minutes or until pie is golden or juices are bubbling through the vents.

Pita pizza makes a quick, easy after-school snack

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey by the Microwave Power Institute says nine out of 10 children between the ages of 6-17 use the microwave at least twice a week. After-school snacks and light meals are favorites, including pizza, popcorn, nachos and hot dogs.

You can keep pizza fixings on hand in your cupboard and refrigerator. Pita bread can be used for the crust. Toppings can include shredded mozzarella cheese, prepared spaghetti sauce and frozen vegetables.

For ease of preparation, divide a bag of frozen vegetables into 1/2-cup portions. Store in the freezer in airtight plastic pouches or other suitable containers. Frozen vegetables can also be used in these ways:

- Use frozen corn or Mexican mixed vegetables on nachos.
- Toss frozen vegetables into soups, mashed potatoes or macaroni and cheese.
- Fill a baked potato shell with frozen peas, dot with butter and cook in the microwave.

AFTER-SCHOOL PIZZAS

Two 6-inch pita breads, split
Olive oil
1/2 cup prepared spaghetti sauce
1/2 pound shredded mozzarella cheese
2 teaspoons dried oregano, crumbled
1/4 cup mixed vegetables, defrosted and blotted dry
1/4 cup frozen chopped broccoli, defrosted and blotted dry
1/4 cup corn, defrosted and blotted dry

Brush the inner, rough side of the split pitas with olive oil. Place on a microwave-safe flat dish or plate and cook on high for 1 minute until crisp. Remove from the oven.

Spoon 2-3 tablespoons spaghetti sauce onto each pita half; spread evenly. Place the mozzarella cheese on top of the sauce and then sprinkle on a generous pinch of oregano. Return the dish to the oven and cook at 70 percent power medium-high for 3-4 minutes until the cheese is hot and bubbling. Remove the dish from the microwave. Spoon vegetables in the center of each pizza. Top with a dollop of sauce, a sprinkling of cheese and return the dish to the oven. Cook on 70 percent power for 30 seconds to 1 minute or until hot. Serves 4.

Preparation time: 10 minutes.

The recipe for pumpkin cake mentioned in Larry Jones' Tastebud column Monday, Oct. 9, should have included 2 cups of flour in its list of ingredients.

If you see one of the day-flying buckmoths Mala (top left), Lucina (middle) or Nevada, write down which species you think it is, where you found it and when you found it.

TIM NOWICKI/illustration

Help identify buckmoths

Man is a very curious animal. He is constantly in search of information. Whether reading newspapers, magazines, books, or watching the news on TV, people are continually gathering more information.

There is also a strong drive to search out the unknown. Researchers are driven by their desire to answer questions that have no answers, and by the satisfying exhilaration felt when they find the answer.

Nature poses many questions that are yet unanswered in a "laboratory" that is everywhere. One does not have to be a trained scientist to discover, or help find the answers either.

There are not many areas of study in the world today where one can make a contribution to new findings as an amateur, except in the natural world. Participating in the search for answers is a very satisfying feeling.

WHILE ON the north shore of Higgins Lake recently, some stu-

help of people who might have opportunities to observe this species, and have asked them to send in their observations.

In this way, the researchers are obtaining valuable information and amateur naturalists are contributing to the solution of an unsolved mystery.

If you see one of the day-flying buckmoths depicted above, write down which species you think it is, where you found it (include the type of plants and habitat it was in), and when you found it. Send this information to either W.H. Wagner, Jr., or B.G. Scholtens, Department of Biology, The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48109.

This is just one of many projects that interested individuals can help with. Your efforts not only help the researchers but you feel good about contributing.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence-Oaks Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

Madonna sets $10 million goal

Detroit Red Wings owner Mike Ilitch and downriver businessman Heinz Prechter were recently named co-chairmen of Madonna College's "Campaign for Academic Excellence."

The five-year fund drive seeks to raise $10 million for the Livonia-based college.

An estimated $2.4 million in pledges have already been raised, college officials announced.

Ilitch is chairman of Little Caesar Enterprises Inc., Farmington Hills. Prechter is chairman of ASC Inc., Trenton.

DEAN RICHARDSON, chairman of Manufacturers National Corp., Detroit, is honorary chairman.

The event will formally begin with a breakfast for business and community leaders Wednesday at the Hotel St. Regis, Detroit.

Madonna is a four-year, co-educational liberal arts college. More than 4,000 students are enrolled in Madonna's 50 academic programs.

Forty percent of the money raised through the campaign will be earmarked for students' scholarships and grants, college officials said. An additional 30 percent will be used to finance academic professor chairs, develop faculty and promote international studies and honors programs.

Twenty percent will be set aside for programs for the disabled, high school outreach programs and college sign language programs, billed as the nation's largest mainstreaming program for the hearing impaired. In addition, 10 percent will be used for computer equipment, including an automation system for the college library and support for science, math and specialty programs.

Poet, author to appear at Schoolcraft

Barbara Drake, poet, author and well-known teacher of creative writing, will discuss writing poetry and prose and give a reading at Schoolcraft College on Wednesday, Oct. 25.

Drake will discuss writing at 2 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater. At 8 p.m. she will give a reading in Room 200, Liberal Arts Building. Admission is free.

Drake's poetry collections include "What We Say to Strangers." Her poetry, fiction and reviews have been published in many literary journals. Her textbook, "Writing Poetry," is used in both writing and literature classes. She is an associate professor of English in Linfield College in Oregon. She is the recipient of a number of awards, including a National Endowment for the Arts writing fellowship in poetry.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

Fashion show to benefit college foundation

Jacobson's and the Schoolcraft College Culinary Arts Department will team up to present a fashion show and gourmet dinner to benefit the college foundation on Wednesday, Nov. 1.

"Glitter, Glamour & Gourmet" is the theme of the fund-raiser set for 7 p.m. in the Schoolcraft College

Waterman Campus Center.

A gourmet dinner will precede a showing of holiday and winter fashions for men and women. Door prizes include two round-trip tickets to anywhere in the continental United States donated by Northwest Airlines.

Tickets are $35 per person. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads. For ticket information, call the foundation at 462-4417.

The foundation provides scholarships and grants to Schoolcraft students.

"Anemone and Violet," third plate in the "Scandinavian Mother and Child" series, is produced on Arabia's exclusive vitreous porcelain. This 9" gold-banded plate is strictly limited to an edition of 2,000 within the U.S.A. The image is a remarkable likeness of an Edna Hibel oil painting on silk, a medium so expressive of her love and compassions.

SC tops Macomb, takes control of region

By C.J. Rlsak
staff writer

The game was over, and Schoolcraft College had every reason to rejoice after withstanding a Macomb Community College comeback to capture a 2-1 mens soccer victory Saturday at Macomb. After all, the win puts SC in the driver's seat for the Region 12 title.

The Ocelots jubilation was short-lived, however. Moments after the game ended, as the two teams met at midfield for the customary congratulations, words were exchanged; punches followed.

An SC reserve, Chuck Yonish, suffered a broken nose in the scuffle. Macomb's Jim Kazanowski was singled out for his part in starting the fight; he was given a red-card, meaning he will not be able to play in Macomb's next regional match.

The Monarchs also lost Tony DiMaggio and their assistant coach, Jack Herd, to red cards during the game. Herd got his for arguing with the officials.

ALL OF WHICH detracted from a pivotal match: Either SC or Macomb has represented the region in the National Junior College Athletic Association playoffs every year for the past decade.

As is normal when these two teams meet, the game was hard and rough, but SC was able to "play under control," as Ocelot coach Van Dimitriou described it. And that, as much as anything, may have been the difference.

The Ocelots took a 1-0 lead in the first half after a restart following a Macomb foul near midfield. Khaled Zeldan took the kick, and he booted it to Dave Dingle.

"It was like the waters parted," said Dimitriou of Dingle's effort. The SC stopper weaved his way past three Monarch defenders and buried a shot past Macomb keeper David White.

Still, the Ocelots had some shaky moments, particularly in the early moments of the second half. "I could see it coming," said Dimitriou. "We were in a daze out there." Macomb took advantage when John Vitale sped down the left wing and crossed a pass into Steve Ronney, who beat SC keeper Jeff Shuk to knot the score.

IF MACOMB gained any momentum from the tying goal — and a tie game would have put the Monarchs in a commanding position in the regional race — it didn't last long.

Three minutes later, Zeldan got loose on a breakaway. As White came out from the goal to meet him, Zeldan popped the ball over the Macomb keeper. White decked Zeldan (no foul was called), but Brendan O'Reilly outraced a Macomb defender to the loose ball and headed it in for the go-ahead goal.

Fortunately, neither team will face each other again this season, unless SC ties one of its final two regional games and a playoff for first is required. SC is 9-1-2 overall, 4-0-2 in the region; Macomb is 4-1-1 in the region.

championship game. Layne rushed for 79 yards in 21 carries in the Rockets' 7-6 win.

Glenn wins title in final seconds

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Westland John Glenn's Chuck Gordon had his team huddled in the locker room after an emotional and stunning 7-6 homecoming football victory over Plymouth Salem when his 73-year-old father, Gayland, walked in.

"How's your heart, dad?" said the happy Glenn coach. "Is it still ticking?"

There were a number of gut-wrenching moments in this battle of unbeaten, but Gayland's 275-mile trip from up north was certainly worth the travel after the Rockets marched 82 yards with less than two minutes to play for the game-winning points.

Quarterback Eric Stover threw a 9-yard pass to David Ryan with just five seconds left, and Wes Taylor, who earlier had missed field goals of 46 and 53 yards, drilled home the all-important extra point, giving Glenn a one-point win and the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

The Rockets (7-0) now face Western Division champion and top-ranked Farmington Harrison (7-0) for the WLAA crown Friday at Glenn.

The loss was hard to swallow for Salem, which appeared to have the game all but won when quarterback Rob Kowalski, running a bootleg, caught the Glenn secondary napping with 2:03 to play. He broke open a fierce defensive struggle when he hit Scott Austin with a 37-yard touchdown pass.

BUT THE ROCKS couldn't convert the extra point as Glenn's Tommy Lawrence broke through the Salem line and blocked Scott Rodgers' attempt.

"Our kids played hard and deserved a better fate," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "As it turned out, the damn extra point beat us."

Salem's inspired defense, led by the play of linebackers Ryan Johnson and Brian Burilison, was ready when Glenn took over at its own 46 with 1:56 to play.

Burilison sacked Stover for a 13-yard loss on first down, and the Rockets were thrown back 15 more yards because of offensive pass interference call.

Faced with third down-and-38 from his own 18, Stover found Mark Wetmore on a crossing pattern over the middle, good enough for 37 yards.

Saddled with a fourth-and-1 situation at the Salem 44, the Rockets called timeout. Stover ran a quarterback sneak to gain the first down and keep the drive alive.

After another timeout, Stover worked the clock to perfection in the final 39 seconds, completing passes of 15 yards to tailback Shannon Layne, 16 to tight end Garnett Woody and 9 to Wetmore.

WITH THE CLOCK stopped with just nine seconds remaining, Stover was summoned to the sidelines and given final instructions by Gordon.

"We had two plays called in the huddle," said the Glenn coach. "Our quarterback had the option of calling one or two plays, depending what he liked and depending on their coverage."

Without hesitation, Stover threw the ball toward the corner of the end zone and found a wide-open Ryan, who cradled the ball into his body.

"My offensive line gave me great protection (on the final drive)," Stover said. "The passes got there, and they made the catches."

Chargers stun Western; Trojans romp, 42-0

One outstanding comeback deserves another, right?

Livonia Churchill believes it. At least the Chargers' football team does. Last Friday Churchill constructed a 17-point lead after three quarters against Walled Lake Western, blew it, then staged a miracle comeback to pull out a 23-21 triumph.

Any logic associated with this game was lost early. Both teams entered the contest with 1-5 records. Neither was considered an offensive juggernaut.

But Churchill put 17 points on the board on a 7-yard run by Mike Brooks in the first quarter, a 20-yard run by Andy Saplenza in the second and a 25-yard field goal by Mike Spaccarotella in the third.

That was more points than Churchill had scored in any game this season. And considering Western's record for futility, the lead seemed safe.

However...

WARRIOR QUARTERBACK Todd Byron suddenly started hitting his targets. He connected with Chris Johnson on a 52-yard touchdown pass play to trim Churchill's lead to 17-7 early in the final quarter. A short time later, Jeff Kubik hauled in another Byron TD toss, and it was 17-14.

The Chargers aided Western's comeback, too. They had the ball, third-down-and-one, at their own 35 with 3:30 left in the game — and fumbled. Western recovered and, with 43 seconds remaining, Chad Pifer burst through the line for 25 yards on a draw play to put the Warriors in front, 21-17.

Since logic had been defied throughout the evening, it wasn't difficult to understand Charger coach Herb Osterland inserting his tailback — Brooks — at quarterback for a final, desperate series of passes.

Starting at their own 30 with :41 to play, Brooks hit Trent Naumcheff twice, for 10 and 16 yards, with Naumcheff going out of bounds on both. Brooks followed that with a third pass to Naumcheff — and a third completion, good for 19 yards and out of bounds at the Western 26.

CHURCHILL WASTED a couple of timeouts and most of what was left on the clock trying to get off another play. Finally, with :02 left, Brooks (the tailback) dropped back and fired a 25-yard TD pass to Spaccarotella (the kicker) for the decisive points.

Brooks finished with four completions in six attempts for 70 yards. He also rushed for 70 yards on 27 attempts. Churchill had 193 yards passing and 125 rushing.

Byron hit seven of 14 passes for 190 yards. The Warriors rushed for 122 yards.

WAYNE 41, BELLEVILLE 7: Brent Tapp's final stats didn't seem so impressive: six of 17 passing for 140 yards and 34 yards rushing. But then consider six of those plays ended up scoring points, and Tapp's performance takes on a different light.

Reggie Brandon got Wayne Memorial started on its road to Friday's rout of visiting Belleville by streaking 68 yards for a first-quarter touchdown. That proved to be the only Zebra score in which Tapp wasn't directly involved.

He fired a pair of second-quarter TD passes, 56 ards to Greg Walker and 21 yards to Larry Johnson. Johnson found the end zone again in the third quarter, this time latching onto a 16-yard scoring toss from Tapp.

After that, the Zebra quarterback took matters into his own hands. He rambled 19 yards for a third-quarter TD and 6 yards for another in the fourth.

The win improved Wayne's record to 5-2 overall, 4-2 in the Wolverine A League. Belleville, which averted a shutout when John Fisher scored in the final period on a 14-yard run, slipped to 2-5 overall and 2-4 in the WAL.

By the way, Tapp also kicks for the Zebras; he made five of six extra-point tries.

FRANKLIN 25, NORTHVILLE 7: Brian Bartz was not about to give up. The Livonia Franklin quarterback was victimized early in Friday's game at Northville when one of his passes was intercepted and returned 60 yards for a touchdown, putting the Patriots behind 7-0.

But Bartz battled back, firing a 40-yard scoring strike to Scott Marinkovich in the opening quarter and later punching into the end zone, on a 1-yard sneak as Franklin improved to 2-5.

After Bartz's TD loss pulled the Patriots to within a point, Tad Dennis gave them the lead with a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter. Mark Little, who enjoyed an outstanding game with 133 yards rushing on 16 carries, bulled his way into the end zone on a 2-yard run to increase Franklin's lead to 16-7.

Bartz's run and another Dennis field goal, this one from 25 yards, capped the scoring.

Bartz finished with nine pass completions in 24 tries for 191 yards.

DEARBORN 18, GARDEN CITY 14: The Cougars had the lead early but couldn't sustain it, wearing down in the fourth quarter as Dearborn drove for the winning points with 4:45 to play Friday at Garden City.

Corey Clish's 3-yard scoring run proved to be the game-winning play. For the third time in the game, the Pioneers opted to go for a two-point conversion, and for the third time they failed.

But it didn't matter. Garden City's next drive was short-lived; quarterback Jim Marszalek's pass was intercepted, and Dearborn ran out the clock.

The Cougars got on the board first on a 28-yard pass from Marszalek to Dion Wujcik. Dearborn answered with a 1-yard TD plunge by Jay Jakubowski. When GC was penalized on the extra-point attempt, putting the ball at the 14-yard line, the Pioneers went for two points — and missed.

The Cougars increased their lead to 14-6 in the second quarter on an 8-yard run by Frank Gotham. But, once again, Dearborn came right back, pulling to within two points at halftime on another Jakubowski 1-yard run.

GC finished with 123 yards rushing, with Gotham gaining 83 on 17 attempts. But Marszalek completed just one of 10 passes for 28 yards. Dearborn rushed for 218 yards — Jakubowski had 73 yards on 24 carries — but lost three fumbles.

The loss dropped the Cougars to 1-6 overall and 1-3 in the Northwest Suburban League. Dearborn is 4-3 overall and 3-1 in the NSL.

CLARENCEVILLE 42, HAMTRAMCK 0: Andy Weighill only got to carry the ball four times for Livonia Clarenceville Friday night against visiting Hamtramck. Good thing for the Cosmos.

Three of those runs ended in touchdowns. Weighill scored on a 24-yard run in the opening quarter and added scoring jaunts of 61 and 25 in the second as the Trojans improved to 6-1 overall.

The victory also kept Clarenceville in the race for the Metro Conference championship. The Trojans host unbeaten Auburn Hills Avondale on Friday for the title. Hamtramck, winless through seven games, hardly provided a test for Clarenceville, which led 35-0 by halftime. Carlos Perez returned a fumble 50 yards for a TD and Jay Larson dashed 5 yards for another in the Trojans' first-half blitz.

Gary Lay capped the scoring, hauling in a 16-yard scoring pass from Chris Foss in the third quarter. Foss completed eight of 10 tosses for 150 yards; Kendrick Harrington caught five of those passes.

Even though Weighill's carries were limited to four, he still gained 115 yards.

WOODHAVEN 24, RU 13: Mickey Sitarski ruined Redford Union's bid for its first victory by scoring two fourth-quarter touchdowns, igniting Woodhaven's come-from-behind victory Friday at RU.

Sitarski's first scoring run, from a yard out, came with 9:44 to play and put the Warriors ahead to stay, 17-13. His second TD, from 2 yards out, tied Woodhaven's victory with 1:47 left.

RU (0-7) got on the board first on a 35-yard Brian Thels-to-Earnie Gerathy pass play in the second quarter. Woodhaven (3-4) retaliated with a 28-yard field goal by Dustin Snell with 7:53 left in the half, then took a 10-7 lead on a 3-yard run by Earnie Nemeth with 1:07 remaining before the intermission.

The Panthers recaptured the lead in the third quarter on Don Carney's 1-yard plunge, but Thels' extra-point kick failed.

"Even though we have a bad record, we have a good group of kids," said RU coach Shawn McGowan. "We're fairly young."

Still, McGowan refused to tolerate the defeat. "To say we're rebuilding is an excuse," he said.

WALDRON 36, LUTH. WESTLAND 18: Waldron came into Friday's game against visiting Lutheran Westland with just one win to its credit, but running back Randy Shaffer shredded the Warrior defense for 194 yards and four touchdowns as Waldron pulled away to the triumph.

Shaffer's performance overshadowed a three-TD effort by Westland's Mike Hardies, who scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 16 and 8 yards as the Warriors jumped in front, 12-7.

But the Spartans (now 2-5) got on track, thanks to Shaffer, who scored on runs of 14, 16, 10 and 43 yards. Westland's final score came on a 2-yard Hardies run in the fourth quarter. Hardies finished with 47 yards rushing on 14 tries, as Westland dipped to 3-4.

Prokes carries Aggies to 'Dome'

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Redford St. Agatha football coach John Goddard got the Gatorade treatment Saturday night, but it was the Aggies' defense that left Center Line St. Clement drowning in its sorrows.

The Aggies, who held the Crusaders to a mere 91 yards total offense, clinched their second Catholic League C-Section title in as many years with a 13-0 victory before a homecoming crowd at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

Goddard, soaking wet from a drenching administered by his players following his team's sixth straight victory, gave all the credit to a 4-3 defensive scheme brought in by new assistant coach Don Silvi.

"The defense has been tough all year," Goddard said. "But all the credit belongs to Don and coach (Mike) McCollom. They put the 4-3 in and they handle the defense. Don came in and made all the changes. He has lots of experience coaching at places like Divine Child and Crestwood."

THE AGGIES' front four of John DiPonio, Brian Rich, Pat Wagner and Joe Boards made life miserable for the Crusaders, who had only one real scoring chance all evening.

Fumbling the ball away at their own 16, the Aggies' defense was faced with their first major threat near the end of the first half.

After St. Clement's Tom Gall ripped off a 10-yard run down to the Agatha 8, teammate Dave Sauger blasted into the end zone for an apparent touchdown, but the play was called back because of a holding penalty.

The Aggies' defense then stiffened and St. Clement's Vince Basline missed wide on a 35-yard field goal attempt with 1:40 to go in a scoreless first half.

"The kids were all walking around at halftime with their heads down, but I told them 'the only pity you'll get is from your moms and dads, but not any from me.'" Goddard said. "We had a lot to say at halftime."

ST. AGATHA, however, was not down for long.

With senior fullback Ken Prokes carrying the load, Agatha began to wear down a tired Crusader defense in the second half.

Junior quarterback Brian Kutch, who directed a 12-play, 73-yard drive, scored on a 2-yard keeper with 5:03 remaining in the third quarter to break the deadlock.

The Aggies then tacked another score on the board in the final quarter.

Taking advantage of a fumbled St. Clement punt, which Ken Kroll recovered near midfield, Prokes scored on a 9-yard run with 4:25 to play.

"Prokes gets you 5 or 6 yards every time," Goddard said. "He really came on in the second half."

Prokes, who rushed for 89 yards in the second half, finished the night with 123 in 23 carries.

"I told the kids that this was the best win I've ever had," said Goddard, now in his 14th season. "I couldn't be more proud of the kids and the way they came back."

WITH THE VICTORY, the Aggies have already clinched a spot in Prep Bowl — Sunday, Oct. 29 at the Pontiac Silverdome against either Detroit East Catholic or Detroit St. Hedwig.

"That was our goal to get back to the Silverdome, but last year we didn't look like a good football team there," said Goddard, remembering a 17-0 loss to Flint Holy Rosary. "Now we want to go back and make people believe St. Agatha has a good football team."

At least the Aggies had co-captain St. Clement convinced of that on this night.

THE LOOK THAT spread across Dave Bogataj's face said all that need be said, really.

How does it feel, switching from the National Junior College Athletic Association's Division I to Division II, the Schoolcraft College mens basketball coach was asked.

"Bogataj knew the change in status had been in the works, but he had not received the word when the question was put to him.

"When told the switch had, indeed, been made, Bogataj pressed his palms together and lifted them heavenward, sending a not-so-silent prayer of thanks to whoever would accept the call.

"I was hoping," admitted Bogataj.

HE WAS hoping the change would be made for a very basic reason: "By us playing in Division II, we will be competing against teams with the same recruiting power. We will be able to play teams on the same recruiting level."

The difference between the two divisions is enormous. Teams in the NJCAA Division I are allowed to give 24 full grants, including room and board. Division II teams are limited to 10 scholarships, with no room and board.

The change will not affect SC's program. The school was limited to 10 scholarships anyway, according to Michigan Community College Athletic Association bylaws.

Only two junior colleges in the state, Mott CC in Flint and Highland Park CC, are believed to be members of the NJCAA's Division I. Their status may change, schools are allowed to switch after three years.

THIS IS the first year SC could request a change in status. The NJCAA's second division, which exists only in mens basketball and golf, seemed a perfect place for SC. Other junior colleges, such as Oakland CC, Lansing and Delta, are far larger and are in the NJCAA II. Those three went on to win NJCAA II titles.

SC, however, was in a period of transition when the NJCAA II was formed. Marv Gans was giving up his athletic directorship for other duties at the college, and the mound of paperwork necessary to make the change to the second division was never initiated.

"This was one of my priorities when I got here," said SC's new athletic director, Marty Nowak. "It's a three-year commitment, and if you don't commit (to the NJCAA II), you're in Division I."

THE RANKS of the NJCAA II have swelled since its inception to almost 80. Nowak said: "More teams are realizing they can't compete with the Vincennes."

Lopsided recruiting competition is a prime example of the need for the NJCAA II. Vincennes is the only junior college in Indiana; it recruits nationwide and has dormitories for all of its students (which is mandated by the NJCAA; athletes cannot be given room and board if it is not available to all the college's students).

For Nowak, gaining entry into the NJCAA's second division was another step in the right direction for SC sports.

HE ALSO wanted to host an NJCAA regional. That goal was reached when SC was chosen as the site for the Region 12 volleyball tournament, which the Lady Ocelots should be favored to win.

How successful Nowak is in realizing another goal — keeping athletes academically eligible (which has been a problem, particularly in mens basketball) — remains to be seen.

So far, he is encouraged by the Student-Athlete Support System, which requires athletes to fulfill academic obligations each week to remain eligible. If Bogataj has the use of the players he recruits for an entire season, who knows? The next NJCAA II championship banner could be fluttering from SC's rafters.

Thurston wins league

For the second consecutive year, Redford Thurston reigns as boys golf champions of the Tri-River League.

The Eagles captured their fourth title in five years under coach Emil Majeski by completing an undefeated league dual-meet season with a narrow 156-157 victory over Allen Park, Wednesday at Warren Valley.

Thurston's Scott Delano and Allen Park's Steve Ross tied for medalist honors at even-par 36.

Other Thurston scorers included Rich Sherwood (57), Adam Stern (41) and Bob Isenegger (42). John Walsh and Joe Wescott also shot 44 and 46, respectively, for the Eagles.

On Friday, Thurston finished eighth in the Class B regional at Hartland Glen.

Regional champion Stockbridge (322), Dearborn Divine Child (325) and Hartland (329) all advanced to the state meet.

Thurston shot a 347 as Sherwood carded an 82, Delano and Stern, 86 each; and Walsh, 91.

John Hawkins of Hartland took medalist honors with a 71.

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL qualified for the state Class A meet next weekend in East Lansing's Forest Akers by finishing third with a 324 total at the regional at Pontiac Country Club.

Bloomfield Hills Lahser, led by medalist Steve Slazinski, who shot a 2-over 74, captured the team title with a total of 314. Birmingham Brother Rice was second with 321.

Scott Krueger paced CC with a 77, followed by Joe Sullivan (81), Jeff Brown (82), Chris Freitas (84) and Mike Brady (85).

Churchill 2nd in meet

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

There was very little else Walled Lake Western golf coach Scott Street could have asked of his team.

"I was hoping we would shoot around 400, but it was kind of windy," said Street voicing his only complaint.

Everything else Street sought as a goal was accomplished Wednesday when the Warriors captured the Western Lakes Activities Association championship at Huron Meadows Golf Course in Ypsilanti. They finished with a team-total of 405 strokes, three better than runner-up Livonia Churchill (408).

Next in line was Plymouth Canton with 414, followed by Northville (423), Farmington (428), Livonia Stevenson (432), Walled Lake Central and Plymouth Salem (433 each), North Farmington (450), Westland John Glenn (461), Livonia Franklin (469) and Farmington Harrison (489).

WHAT STREET found nearly as pleasing as capturing the team title was senior Chris Sobleck's claiming medalist honors. Sobleck, the medalist at last year's Class A regional, shot a two-over par 74 to shade Churchill's Bill Durham by a stroke.

"It was really good to see him go out that way," said Street of Sobleck. "I was real happy he went out with a win."

Of course, Sobleck's performance would have meant little without a team championship to go with it. And that was accomplished because, as Street described it, "The whole team plays as a team, not as individuals."

Two other Warriors placed among the top six. Chris Schneider finished fifth with a 79 and Karl Schneider tied Canton's Rod Jesena and Churchill's Colin Gallagher at 80. Western's other two scorers were Dave Pozniak, 83, and Troy Fairbanks, 89.

THE CHARGERS also placed three golfers among the low 15 scorers. Joining Durham and Gallagher was Mike Migola, whose 82 tied him for 10th with five others. Churchill's other scorers were Steve Paraszkiwicz at 83 and Jason Fournier at 88.

Five golfers shot under 80 and were named to the all-WLAA team: Sobleck, Durham, Schneider and Northville's Jason Sherman (77) and Chris Lemmon (78).

The next 10 finishers were all-division selections: Sinclair, Jesena, Gallagher and Migola, and Franklin's Greg Kerr (81), Canton's Geoff Allen (82), Salem's Dan Alcock (82), Central's Aaron Mason (82) and Stevenson's Brian Ransom and Mark Peterson (both 82).

HAWKS WIN WAGS

The Michigan Hawks, a under-16 girls soccer team sponsored by the Livonia Y and affiliated with the Little Caesars Premier League, defeated St. Louis, Mo., 3-1, to win the Washington, D.C. Area Girls (WAGS) Soccer Tournament.

The Hawks, four-time state champs and under-14 regional champs, became the first Michigan team to win the A flight, which represents the top-seeded team. The tournament drew 268 teams from all age divisions, representing such states as Texas, Colorado, Florida and Washington.

Shannon Wilkinson of Livonia, Natalie Neaton of Brighton and Kristen Westveer of Troy scored goals for the Hawks in the championship final.

The Hawks also defeated Seneca, Md. (2-0), Vista, Va. (3-0), New Jersey state champion Willingboro Strikers (1-0), Greensboro, N.C. (5-0), and Virginia state champion and under-14 regional winners, the Springfield Stampede (3-1).

Other members of the Hawks, coached by Tom Coyne, include: Aimee Cousino, Ragen Coyne, Tracy Morrell and Lisa Thomas, all of Livonia; Patty Shea, Westland; Kim Popyk, Farmington Hills; Lisa Grace and Kristi McGough, Troy; Julie Dwyer, Rochester; Kara Nance, Rochester Hills; and Kim Phillips, East Lansing.

FRASER VISITS SCHOOL

Empire gold medalist wrestler Steve Fraser will speak at 12:50 p.m. Wednesday at McKinley Elementary School, 9101 Hillcrest, Livonia.

Fraser, 31, earned his gold medal in Greco-Roman wrestling at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, becoming the first American ever to win a medal of any kind in that competition.

Fraser will address two assemblies and will give a demonstration of his sport and talk to students on "Goal setting: The Key to Success."

BASEBALL POSITION

Redford Bishop Borgess High is seeking a varsity baseball coach for the 1990 season.

Those interested should call athletic director Mike Fusco at 255-1103.

SOCCER TRYOUTS

Tryouts for the Michigan Lasers '75 boys soccer team will be at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 21, at Bicentennial Park in Livonia.

For more information, call Bill Emero (561-6793) or Ron Corney (464-2397).

RTJAA BASKETBALL

The Redford Township Junior Athletic Association will hold basketball registration (ages 7-14) 7-9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 23 at Fisher School (gym entrance on Garfield).

The cost is $30 for the first registrant of each family, $15 for the second and $10 for each additional family member.

A non-returnable copy of a birth certificate is required for first-year players.

For more information, call the boys director (525-0725) or the girls director at 272-2523 (days).

Madonna spikers on target

Madonna College continued to improve its standing among NAIA District 23 volleyball teams by blasting Concordia College 15-2, 15-3, 15-5 Wednesday at Madonna.

The victory improved the Fighting

Crusaders' record to 5-1 in the district and 18-8 overall.

OU gives boot to SC women

Perhaps it was for the best. Schoolcraft College's womens soccer team traveled to Oakland University to play the Pioneers club team Wednesday, a team the Lady Ocelots had defeated 4-1 earlier this season.

Wednesday's game was different, however. SC was frustrated constantly and lost, 1-0. Janice Kosman scored the only goal of the match with 20:00 left.

The loss came on the heels of SC's harder-than-expected 2-1 victory over Hope College Oct. 7. Joan Arndt scored for the Lady Ocelots in the first half, with Shannon Meath assisting, and Meath scored in the second, with Arndt assisting.

"We had opportunities we missed," said SC coach Nick O'Shea. "But we did control play."

O'Shea could not be as forgiving after Wednesday's defeat.

Recent reader questions on Michigan Lottery instant games are answered in this column.

Q. When will the Lottery have a new instant game?

A. "Joker's Wild" was introduced at all 8,000 instant game retailers on September 11.

Q. Does this mean "Fame & Fortune" will end?

A. No. The very successful "Fame & Fortune" will continue for an indefinite period. So players will find two scratch-off games being sold at the same time.

Q. What's different about "Joker's Wild"?

A. All "Joker's Wild" prizes are cash and are paid by any retailer selling instant games, while "Fame & Fortune" features tickets showing three TV entry symbols offering a chance to appear on the weekly televised game show.

Q. How is "Joker's Wild" played?

A. Play in "Joker's Wild" is similar to that of previous instant games. A panel on the ticket covers six hidden playing card symbols. Through a scratch-off, you can collect prizes immediately. So now as store posters indicate, we are offering them a choice of "One for the Money, and One for the Show."

Q. How much can I win in "Joker's Wild"?

A. Prizes range from $2 up to $100 with odds better than one in seven that a ticket will be a winner.

Q. Has the Michigan Lottery ever sold two games at the same time before this?

A. Only in isolated instances after a new game was introduced and retailers continued to sell tickets on the previous game until their supply ran out.

Q. Why are you starting it now?

A. While most instant players seem to like the chance to appear on statewide television, others prefer games in which they can collect prizes immediately. So now as store posters indicate, we are offering them a choice of "One for the Money, and One for the Show."

Q. How does what kind of games will be offered?

A. It could be said that players do. Lottery officials constantly monitor sale of various instant games here and in other states while exploring new possibilities. Their decisions on the type of games to be offered are based primarily on indicated player preferences.

Q. Can we look forward to more new instant games?

A. The Michigan Lottery tries to keep all its games as fresh and exciting for players as possible. This undoubtedly will lead to continued periodic changes in its instant games.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, Marie Burchard of Eastlake will receive 50 "Joker's Wild" tickets. Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the earliest date stamp is chosen. In cases of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

Canton girls seize 1st league crown

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The old adage "there's a first time for everything" came true to life for the Plymouth Canton girls tennis team last week.

On Thursday, the Lady Chiefs out-scored regular season dual meet champion Northville, 21-16, to claim their first Western Lakes Activities Association title ever. The rain-delayed meet began Tuesday, but was not completed until Thursday at Livonia Stevenson. See tournament results.

Technically, because of Northville's league-leading 11-0 dual meet record, the Mustangs earn a share of the title in the final positioning of the WLAAs standings. The dual and league meet finishes are weighed equally — 50 percent each. (Canton's dual meet record was 10-1 with their only loss coming against Northville, 4-3.)

But in the WLAAs tourney, Canton was the superior team, winning titles at Nos. 2, 3 and 4 singles.

"Our (dual) meet with Northville was close, but it was still disappointing to lose," said Canton coach Carol Michaels. "We faced them in the middle of the season and had a tough week because of all the rainouts. It was on a Friday and it was our fourth match of the week. I think we were kind of tired, but I think Northville was in a similar situation, too."

CANTON CAME OUT on top in all three singles semifinal meetings against Northville, and then top seeds Sherri Bayer (No. 2), Alissa Huth (No. 3) and Michelle Sparkman (No. 4) all completed undefeated conference seasons by winning their respective flights.

"We were very happy with the draw," Michaels said. "But beating Northville in all three of those matches caused the point turnaround. It would have been much tougher had we not won those matches."

Bayer grabbed her individual crown by defeating Farmington's Harrison's Lisa Tomle, 7-5, 6-4; Huth took out Plymouth Salem's Shikah Kapla, 6-4, 6-1; and Sparkman downed Salem's Tracy Anderson, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1.

The Lady Chiefs also got a lift at No. 1 singles when unseeded Tanya Bowsman upset No. 2 seed Stephanie Geelhood of Walled Lake Central in the quarterfinals, 6-3, 6-3.

"That was a nice win and it certainly helped," Michaels said.

Canton's No. 1 doubles team of Leanne Gurchak and Denise Gildo also pulled off a surprise, knocking off the No. 1 seeds from Central in the semifinals, Dee Geelhood and Marga Strobel, 6-0, 7-6.

SHARON LEMIEUX/staff photographer
Tanya Berner, a sophomore at Livonia Franklin, reached the finals at No. 1 singles.

TEAM STANDINGS: 1. Plymouth Canton, 21 points; 2. Northville, 16; 3. (tie) Livonia Stevenson and Farmington Harrison, 12 each; 5. Plymouth Salem, 10; 6. Livonia Churchill, 7; 7. (tie) Livonia Franklin, North Farmington and Walled Lake Central, 5 each; 10. (tie) Farmington and Westland John Glenn, 4 each; 12. Walled Lake Western, 1.

CHAMPIONSHIP FINALS

No. 1 singles: Kori Davidson (Harrison) defeated Tanya Berner (Franklin), 6-1, 6-2.
No. 2: Sherri Bayer (Canton) def. Lisa Tomle (Harrison), 7-5, 6-4.
No. 3: Alissa Huth (Canton) def. Shikah Kapla (Salem), 6-4, 6-1.
No. 4: Michelle Sparkman (Canton) def. Tracy Anderson (Salem), 1-6, 6-1, 6-1.
No. 1 doubles: Amy Snow-Cortney Richa (Stevenson) def. Leanne Gurchak-Denise Gildo (Canton), 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.
No. 2: Tricia Tomminia-Rebecca Belfamy (Northville) def. Sue Bell-Lori Bailey (Stevenson), 7-6, 6-3.
No. 3: Julie Howard-Merilyn Millgard (Northville) def. Kathy Wira-Jenny Flanigan (Churchill), 6-4, 7-5.

Final dual meet standings: 1. Northville, 11-0; 2. Plymouth Canton, 10-1; 3. (tie) Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson and Farmington Harrison, 8-3 each; 6. Walled Lake Central, 6-5; 7. Farmington, 5-8; 8. North Farmington, 4-7; 9. Westland John Glenn, 3-8; 10. Livonia Churchill, 2-9; 11. Livonia Franklin, 1-10; 12. Walled Lake Western, 0-11.

Final overall standings: 1. (tie) Plymouth Canton and Northville, 3; (tie) Livonia Stevenson and Farmington Harrison, 5; Plymouth Salem, 6; Walled Lake Central, 7; North Farmington, 8; Livonia Churchill, 9; Farmington, 10; Livonia Franklin, 11; Westland John Glenn, 12; Walled Lake Western, 13.

But Livonia Stevenson's Amy Snow and Cortney Richa grabbed the No. 1 doubles crown with a 1-6, 6-3, 6-2 win over the Canton duo.

"OUR NO. 1 doubles team lost to Central before, but they just kept getting better and better as the season went along," said the Canton coach.

Heather Kaye and Resham Batra of Canton reached the semifinals at No. 2 doubles, as did the No. 3 team of Reetika Aulakh and Parikh Viraj.

"Everybody improved," Michaels said. "All four of our singles players are seniors. Both Sherri (Bayer) and Alissa (Huth) won the conference at No. 2 doubles together and as freshmen they were on our only team ever to qualify for the state meet. They've been motivated ever since. They've been the leaders of this team."

The individual leader of the tournament was junior Kori Davidson of Harrison, who lost only four games in three matches en route to the No. 1 singles title.

Davidson, a nationally-ranked U.S. junior player, defeated Livonia Franklin sophomore Tanya Berner in the finals, 6-1, 6-2.

Northville's Tricia Tomminia and Rebecca Belfamy, the top seeds, took the No. 2 doubles crown with a 7-6, 6-3 triumph over Stevenson's Sue Bell and Lori Bailey, 7-6, 6-3.

The Mustangs also added their second title at No. 3 doubles when top seeds Julie Howard and Merilyn Millgard outlasted Livonia Churchill's Kathy Wira and Jenny Flanigan.

HARRISON AND STEVENSON tied for third in the league meet with 12 points each, while Salem was a distant fifth with 10.

"We both finished third (Harrison and Stevenson) and we both feel good about it," said Stevenson coach George Croll. "We always do well in doubles because we have depth. But Harrison is going to be really good next year. They have four or five freshmen in their lineup right now to go along with Davidson."

But this season, it's Plymouth Canton's turn to shine.

Michael's summed it up best about the three-day meet: "I was very pleased."

Patriots turn Warriors red, white and blue

A 14-3 first-quarter surge Thursday carried host Livonia Franklin to a 54-42 victory over Walled Lake Western in a Western Lakes Activities Association (Western Division) girls basketball battle.

The Patriots and Western now share second place, each sporting 4-2 records, two games off the pace behind division leader Plymouth Canton, (6-0).

Sophomore guard Dawn Warner led all scorers with 22 points. Junior forward Julieann Steslak added 14 points, while senior forward Cheryl Hinta contributed 12 points and eight rebounds.

Junior guard Holly Miller tallied 17 points for the Warriors, now 9-3 overall. Franklin is 9-2 overall.

JOHN GLENN 66, W.L. CENTRAL 57: Westland John Glenn was billing on all cylinders Thursday in a WLAAs Lakes Division win at Walled Lake Central.

Sophomore guard Carrie Rachwal led the winners with 20 points (three 3-pointers) and four steals. Sophomore forward Karen Olack contributed 12 points.

Three Central players scored in double figures: Kelly Glenn (19), Karyn Kosloski (15) and Christi Tapp (13). Glenn is 4-8 overall and 3-3 in the division, while Central slipped to 2-8 and 2-4.

SALEM 39, STEVENSON 35: Plymouth Salem overcame a 24-15 halftime deficit Thursday to beat host Livonia Stevenson in a WLAAs Lakes Division encounter.

Salem is 6-6 overall and 5-1 in the Lakes, while Stevenson fell to 6-6 and 1-5.

Darcie Miller led the winners with 10 points, while Sarah Ruete and Tracy Sough each added eight to spur the second-half comeback.

"Salem went man-to-man in the second half, and I think we just got tired, they wore us down," said Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit. "We used only six girls and they were substituting quite a bit."

"We didn't get the second and third shots. And they were able to get the ball inside after three or four passes. They got some easy baskets in the second half."

Junior guard Kelly Cotter scored 10 in a losing cause, while sophomore center Teresa Sarno added nine.

CANTON 61, CHURCHILL 35: Senior center Susan Perko was too tough to stop Thursday, scoring a game-high 23 points to go along with 15 rebounds in Plymouth Canton's WLAAs Western Division triumph over visiting Livonia Churchill.

Jennie Clark added 13 points and seven rebounds, while teammate Stacey Thompson contributed 11 points for the Chiefs, now 10-2 overall and 6-0 in the division.

Freshman Chrissy Daly and senior Jenny Williams each tallied 12 points for the Chargers, now 2-8 overall and 1-5 in the division.

LUTH. WESTLAND 62, S'FIELD CHRISTIAN 59: Junior guard Stephanie Locke poured in a game-high 27 points and added eight rebounds Thursday, leading Lutheran High Westland (6-3, 3-1) to a Michigan Independent Athletic Association victory at Southfield Christian (6-5, 1-3).

Sophomore tallied Lori Genz added eight points for the winners.

On Wednesday, Lutheran Westland topped host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest, 44-36, as Locke tallied 20. Senior forward Dana Schlicker and sophomore guard Kristin Straug contributed six each.

Junior guard Stella Sheldon tallied 14 for Northwest, which fell to 4-4 overall and 1-2 in the league.

GARDEN CITY 63, DEARBORN 36: Junior Carolyn Shanks scored a game-high 18 points and Tracy Thompson added 10 for Garden City, as they extended their Northwest Suburban League record to 3-1 at home Thursday. GC is 7-4 overall.

The Cougars built up a 32-11 halftime lead, thanks to a full-court press instilled early by coach Marshall Henry.

Garden City showed promise from the free throw line, sinking eight of 13.

Dearborn, led by sophomore guard Jill Wojewuczki's 14 points, accumulated 25 turnovers, 19 of which came on Garden City steals.

"It was a good win for us," Henry said. "I had an opportunity to play 11 players both halves."

REDFORD UNION 32, WOODHAVEN 22: The Panthers used 12 points apiece from sophomore Shannon Morris and senior Ann Kolar to put together a solid Northwest Suburban League victory Thursday at home.

With the triumph, RU improves its record to 4-7 overall and 1-3 in the league.

WAYNE 47, WYANDOTTE 31: Wayne Memorial waited until the fourth quarter to take control of Wyandotte on the road Thursday.

The two teams were quartered at 27 points apiece going into the final quarter, when the Zebras began to break through, eventually outscoring Wyandotte 20-4.

Senior Forward Dorris Balthwell led Wayne with a game-high 35 points. Maya Lewis added 16.

Guard Laurie Overhill led Wyandotte with 10 points.

"This is a big win," Wayne coach Jack Purfoot said. "We started slow, but came along towards the end."

"The victory improves the Zebras' record to 7-5 overall and 6-2 in the Wolverine A League.

THURSTON 56, ANNAPOLIS 33: Redford Thurston used 16 third-quarter points to lift itself past Dearborn Heights Annapolis Thursday at home.

Michelle Kress led the Eagles with a game-high 18 points. Michelle Birchmeyer added 15 and Laura Demers chipped in 11 for the winners.

"We came alive in the third quarter," Thurston coach Mike Schuette said. "It was a good win."

The victory launches the Eagles' record to 7-4 overall and 6-3 in the Tri-River League.

BENEDICTINE 56, ST. AGATHA 31: Detroit Benedictine proved to be too much for the Aggies to handle Thursday at home.

Redford St. Agatha (2-9, 1-6) never got the ball rolling in their direction, as Benedictine jumped out to a 35-13 halftime lead.

Kisha Kelly led Benedictine, which clinched a tie for the A-West title, with a game-high 15 points.

Kelly Carr paced the Aggies with 10 points in a losing cause. After being the doorman of the A-West League, Benedictine now has a share of the title with a 7-0 league record. They are 9-1 overall.

AVONDALE 36, CLARENCEVILLE 26: Kelly McDonald's 16 points led Avondale past Livonia Clarenceville Thursday at Clarenceville.

The Trojans were led by Rhonda Saunders 15 points. Clarenceville managed to convert just one field goal in the third quarter, after being down 18-13 at the half.

"The third quarter really killed us," Trojan coach Weedy Kellehan said. "This was a tough one to lose."

The loss drops Clarenceville's record to 1-11.

REGINA 66, BISHOP BORGESS 46: Redford Bishop Borgess extended its Catholic League winless streak to five games Thursday before a home crowd.

The Spartans (2-10, 0-5) were led by senior forward Tanya Bouslog 19 points. Kyra Woodard added 10.

Bishop Borgess failed to convert from the free throw line, as they made just four of 12. Regina poured in 18 of 24.

The victory improves Regina's record to 9-4 overall and 4-2 in the Catholic League.

W. HIGHLAND 59, GC UNITED 27: Garden City United dropped its record to 1-5 Friday on the road.

Elaine LeFevre scored 23 of the Cougars 27 points.

Churchill tankers sink state-ranked Mustangs

Livonia Churchill went one-two in the final relay Thursday to upset visiting Northville, the state's ninth-ranked team in Class A, 88 1/2-85 1/2.

Both teams are 5-1 overall and 3-1 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"In our first relay we finished second and third, but apparently they used up all their top swimmers in the first relay and we were able to save ours for the last relay," said Churchill first-year coach Tim McInnis.

Michelle Berry, Elizabeth Sorokac, Stacy Tomaceski and Ellen Lessig took first in the 400-yard freestyle relay with a time of 3:54.6.

Teammates Katie Hamman, Julie Campau, Tricia Krammer and Tara Ditchkoff clinched the win with a second place finish in 3:58.9.

Ditchkoff and Lessig each won a pair of individual events.

Lessig recorded personal bests in the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of 25.3 and 55.2, respectively.

Ditchkoff added wins in the 200 freestyle (2:01.5) and 100 backstroke (1:04.9). Her time in the 100 backstroke was a state cut.

Also making state qualifying times and finishing first was Hamman in the 500 freestyle (5:18.0) and Sorokac in the 200 individual medley (2:17.9).

REDFORD THURSTON garnered 10 of 11 firsts last week to defeat girls swim rival Redford Union, 95-72.

The host Eagles were led by Jeannine Gregory, who finished first in the 100 and 200 freestyles with times of 1:01.0 and 2:16.76, respectively. She also teamed up with Jenny Miller, Diane Tuccini and Jessica Sanford for a first in the 200 medley relay (2:08.35).

Other Thurston individual firsts were recorded by Janice Moffet, 200 individual medley (2:45.3); Tuccini, 50 freestyle (28.7); Sanford, 100 butterfly (1:15.65); Amy Christian, 500 freestyle (6:57.24); Miller, 100 backstroke (1:08.66); and Jackie Gregory, 100 breaststroke (2:20.55).

The Eagles also won the 400 freestyle relay as Miller, Christian, Tuccini and Jackie Gregory were clocked in 4:29.69.

Franklin harriers: mark 7-1

Livonia Franklin added another victory to its fine dual-meet record in girls cross country Thursday, defeating crosstown rival Livonia Churchill 15-47 at Nankin Mills.

The Patriots, 7-1 overall, were paced by Dawn Harrison, who won the race in 21:24. Teammates Kelly Gustafson and Mary Lou Maddison also broke 22 minutes, finishing second and third in 21:49 and 21:56, respectively.

Franklin captured the top five places with Keri MacKay taking fourth place (22:00) and Stacey Hewett fifth (22:27).

Churchill's Jennifer Goodsell slipped into sixth place to stop the Patriots' domination there, posting a 22:31 time.

In alternating order and rounding out the top 10, it was Tammy Bauer, Franklin, 22:42; Stacy Rokicsak, Churchill, 22:47; Nicole Canham, Franklin, 22:55; and Rachel LeBlanc, Churchill, 22:57.

LIVONIA STEVENSON ran its dual-meet record to 4-1 Thursday with a 22-38 boys victory over visiting Westland John Glenn at Cass Benton Park.

Scott Freeborn and Keith Klaska of the Spartans picked off the top two spots with 17:19 and 17:37 times, respectively.

The Rockets took three of the next four places before Stevenson finished off opposition by nailing down the Nos. 8-10 places.

Glenn's Carl Lowe was third (17:40), Jazon Nowicki fifth (18:10) and Joe Rajewski sixth (18:11).

Rodney Westlake of the Spartans was fourth (17:44), and Nick Booge (18:34), Eric Oswald (18:55), George Bracken (19:00) and John Marshall (19:09) rounded out the top 10 and scoring for Stevenson.

REDFORD UNION, paced by Marty Boyd, routed host Garden City in boys meet Thursday at Hines Park, 16-42.

Boyd was first with an 18:11 time, and his teammates captured the next three places, too. David Boyd was second (18:20), Ken Podina third (18:30) and Shawn Collins fourth (18:46).

Adam Edwards rounded out the scoring for the Panthers, 2-1 in the Northwest Suburban League and 3-3 overall, by finishing sixth in 20:26.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN conceded the first two places to Livonia Churchill, but rallied to beat the Chargers, 27-33, in a boys dual Thursday at Nankin Mills.

Churchill's Scott Westover and Don Kulka finished one-two in 17:35 and 17:30, respectively, but seven of the next eight spots went to the Patriots, 3-5 overall.

Scott Goodell paced Franklin with a third-place time of 17:44, and the top five included teammates Aaron Boylan (17:58) and Paul White (18:33).

After Dennis Radovanovich of the Chargers claimed sixth place in 18:34, the rest was all Patriots.

RU's lone first came from diver Beth Campbell (167.3 points).

On Thursday, Thurston ran its overall dual-meet record to 7-2 with a 52-30 Tri-River League meet win at Allen Park.

Jeannine Gregory took the 200 and 500 freestyles with times of 2:16.19 and 6:02.47, respectively. She also teamed up with sister Jackie, Christian and Moffet for a first in the 400 freestyle relay (4:32.31).

Other Thurston individual winners included: Sanford, 100 butterfly, 1:16.42; Tuccini, 100 freestyle, 1:03.82; and Miller, 100 backstroke, 1:10.28.

The other first occurred in the 200 medley relay as Miller, Tuccini, Sanford and Cherise Gable were clocked in 2:09.17.

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE swamped non-league foe Taylor Kennedy on Thursday, 124-55. The Trojans are 3-4 overall.

Patti Jenks and Kathy Grant each figured in three firsts for visiting Clarenceville.

Jenks captured the 200 individual medley (2:48.0) and 100 butterfly (1:22.5). She also teamed up with Cathy Nuorala, Christie Hunter and Debbie Vallimoot for a first in the 200 medley relay (2:27.0).

Grant took the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of 31.0 and 1:11.7, respectively. The quartet of Grant, Kathy Kelley, Jennifer Nunnery and Christie Nagorka added a win in the 400 freestyle relay (5:23.0).

Other Clarenceville firsts were recorded by Julia Vanderluff, diving, 166.9 (points); Kelley, 500 freestyle, 6:19.0; Nuorala, 100 backstroke, 1:27.6; and Nunnery, 100 breaststroke, 1:27.0.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN fell Thursday to host Farmington Harrison in a Western Lakes Activities Association (Western Division) meet, 94-71.

Despite the loss, Jennifer Beardlee and Jenny Fisher each figured in two first-place finishes.

Beardlee won the 100 butterfly (1:06.39), while Fisher captured the 100 breaststroke (1:19.35). The two also teamed up with Nancy Noebel and Kim Rodriguez to win the 400 freestyle relay (4:10.81).

Harrison, which boasted 10 personal bests, was led by Meredith Perish, who took the 200 and 500 freestyles in 2:19.24 and 6:07.98, respectively.

Franklin is 4-3 overall, while Harrison is 1-3-2.

Glenn rules Lakes

THE CRITICAL play came when the 5-foot-8, 161-pound Wetmore made a spectacular one-handed grab for the 37-yard gain.

"It was third-and-38, and we had two downs to get a first down," Gordon said. "Obviously, we were trying to get half of it back on one play. But then he (Wetmore) catches the ball and it's fourth-and-1, but by no means are we out of the woods."

But as Stover would say, "That was the turning point; I thought we had a chance to win after that."

"THE ONE PASS (to Wetmore) killed us," said Moshimer. "The catch he made was fantastic. The ball was overthrown."

"We were in pass-prevent coverage with three guys deep. We couldn't have been in better shape, but Glenn has that great speed at the flankers."

"I thought we had it. There was no doubt in my mind, then the pass (to Wetmore) killed us."

The two teams battled evenly throughout much of the night.

Glenn took the opening kickoff and marched to the Rocks' 35, but Mike Cygan intercepted Stover in the end zone.

SALEM'S ONLY real scoring threat of the first half came when Kowalski slipped through the Glenn defense on an option run and appeared headed for the end zone, only to be tripped up on a game-saving tackle by Kralg Kuban.

In the second half, Salem's defense began to shut down Glenn tailback Shannon Layne, who added just 19 yards after gaining 64 in the first half.

"Their defense was very good. We studied them all week on film," said Gordon of Salem. "We had to block like heck to get 4 yards. They have good size, and they moved to the ball well."

GLENN OUTGAINED the Rocks in total yardage, 284-168.

Stover completed 10 of 19 passes for 144 yards.

Johnson, the punishing fullback, led Salem's gashbone ground attack with 71 yards in 17 carries.

Kowalski completed two of four passes for 44 yards and one TD.

He was intercepted once, eventually on the game's final play after Glenn returned the ensuing kickoff to its own 20. His desperation pass was intercepted by, of all people, Lawrence, the man who blocked the extra point.

Nora goal gives Shamrocks division crown

The Redford Catholic Central soccer team kept its composure, scoring a pair of late goals Wednesday to register a 3-2 comeback victory over host Warren DeLaSalle.

The Shamrocks tallied twice in the last 13 minutes to shock the Patriots and gain the Catholic League's Central Division title at 6-1-1.

Kerry Zavagnin scored in the 28th minute of the second half to tie the game at two, and teammate Joe Nora notched the game-winner with three minutes to play. The Shamrocks almost added a third goal in the final minutes, misfiring on a penalty kick.

"CC coach John Boots was proud of the way his team stuck to their game plan,

"We were patient and kept working our offense, and it paid off," he said.

DeLaSalle took a 2-1 halftime advantage on goals by Jeff Fratarcangeli and Chris Fett. The Shamrocks' lone first-half score was registered by Scott Ledbetter.

Boots said his team deserved to win the game.

IT'S SOLID AND LIQUID AT THE SAME TIME.

Most things are pretty much black and white. Oil and water don't mix. East is East. West is West. Something can't be solid and liquid at the same time. Well, not so with The FirstRate Fund. Because it earns you a great rate, without tying up your principal.

Earn 9 Percent For Up To 60 Days.

From October 2 until November 30, The FirstRate Fund earns interest at an annual rate of

FirstRate

After that, it's tied to the 91-day Treasury Bill, guaranteeing a highly competitive rate.

All it takes is a $10,000 deposit to start. And you can add to it, whenever you like.

Make a withdrawal and you won't have to pay a penalty.

So, by all means, open your FirstRate Fund now, and earn an annual rate of 9 percent for as long as possible.

Solid. And Liquid, Too.

Unlike some other investments with a high return like the FirstRate Fund, you can get to your money, whenever you need to.

All you have to do is drop us a line. Seven days later, you'll have your money.

We'll even call to tell you when you can pick up your check.

Insurance For Your Money.

Most investments like this require some risk taking. Not so with The FirstRate Fund.

Your bank deposits are FDIC insured for up to $100,000. Meaning your principal's safe to the maximum amount allowed by law.

In short, you have nothing to lose. But an awful lot to gain.

Where's The Fine Print?

You Just Read It.

If you're going to name something FirstRate, it ought to be just that.

So there are no funny restrictions or conditions. Just a straightforward investment that, unlike a lot of competitive investments, is unquestionably attractive. Which leaves us with one last question. What are you waiting for? The FirstRate Fund. Only from First of America.

Stop by any one of our First of America offices to invest in one, or call 1-800-544-6155.

Remember, this offer may not last forever, is available to individuals only, and may change without notice.

During recent races held in Livingston County, the hot air balloons took to the skies in pursuit of the X left by the "hare." In the "hunt" was Phil Glebe in his distinctive Pontiac Excitement II balloon.

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

A man and his balloon. Phil Glebe savors the height he attains, but only for a fleeting moment.

The open air is his lanes, the horizon his finish line. Glebe, 38, is simply not along for the ride.

"People see balloon flying as a light-hearted thing," said Glebe, who operates Renaissance Balloons in Brighton. "The other side of that is the serious competition in the sport. There is money to be won.

"People with a competitive heart — such as myself — like to win."

As he commands the Pontiac "Excitement II," a 70-foot high, 55-foot wide balloon that serves as his racing machine, Glebe seldom seems at ease.

His eyes scan the horizon, looking at the tree-lined suburbs tinted orange from the setting sun. From there, his orbs dart to the altimeter, which gives an indication of the height of the balloon.

Glebe then hits the double propane burners that kick out 30 million BTUs an hour (the equivalent to the output of 250 home furnaces) to fill the 77,500 cubic feet capacity of the balloon.

Chasing the hare in the air

The flame from the burner reflects in Glebe's eyes.

The competitive nature of balloon racing belies what would be a serene moment for most. After 10 minutes, one can begin to appreciate the skill involved.

GLEBE MUST navigate the craft to a predestined spot. The race is not so much of a chase but rather tantamount to a temperamental dance with nature.

Wind is the main partner. As it shifts and swirls, the balloon racer follows and rides the current. Nature always leads in this encounter.

Glebe perhaps respects this more than anything, which is why he's ranked as the No. 1 pilot in balloon competition, according to the Balloon Federation of America.

Some things don't change. Sharpe's Creek still flows downhill from the Woolen Mill on Upper Pond to the Gledhill House on Lower Pond, rushing under the grist mill to the Mattland River.

The river flows downstream to the modern town of Goderich, and on to Lake Huron, but that is a 20th century setting and Benmiller is firmly stuck by history and choice in the 19th century.

If you look at the old photographic mural on the wall at the swimming pool you see the village of Benmiller as it was in the 1840s when the Canada Company sold the original land grants in the Huron Tract of Upper Canada and what is now Ontario.

The mural shows the wide shallow river winding away between treed hills. A horse-drawn cart clipp-clops down the road that runs parallel to the river. Between the river and the road are a dozen wooden buildings that held the old mill complex and its workers.

MOVING PICTURES

James (John Travolta) is the most exciting babysitter Mikey (Jason Schaller) could imagine in "Look Who's Talking."

'Talking:' Cute but not credible

When Mollie (Kristle Alley), the CPA, gets pregnant by Albert (George Segal), the neurotic entrepreneur, she needs to find a father for her baby, Mikey (a whole bunch of kid actors — Jason Schaller, Jaryd Waterhouse, Jacob Haines and Christopher Aydon plus stunt double, Mihaly "Michu" Meszaros and plain double Amanda Blasko).

Schaller has most of Mikey's screen time and therein lies one significant problem in "Look Who's Talking" (C+, PG-13, 97 minutes). Mikey's supposé to a year old, and there's no way that Schaller is close — he's 3 if a day.

The entire sequence with the four child-actors — plus two doubles — representing Mikey from birth to one year is unclear and simply doesn't ring true. It's symptomatic of a strained, gimmicky film with questionable continuity.

Mollie thinks Albert is going to divorce his wife and marry her, but it turns out that Albert is going through another phase. He's carrying on with his interior designer, Melissa (Joy Boushel), while Mollie is carrying his child.

THAT ALBERT and Melissa should be found in hot embrace in the shop where Mollie and her friend Roha (Twink Caplan) are shopping strains one's credulity.

But it does keep the plot limping along as Mollie is now on her own because Albert is moving in with Melissa. Just about then, Mollie goes into labor and a rather interesting guy, James (John Travolta), pulls up in his cab to drive her to the hospital.

James winds up as Mollie's babysitter, and you can pretty much figure out what happens from there on. There's quite a bit of funny stuff, but on the whole it's simple-minded and obvious. Mollie has a Harold Lloyd hanging from the clock nightmare when the doctor notes that her biological clock is ticking.

The adult voice-overs speaking mature ideas representing babies is clever but quickly gets old. Bruce Willis is Mikey's voice. There also are cameos — Olympia Dukakis as Mollie's mother, Rosie, and Abe Vigoda as James' grandfather.

Put it all together and it adds up to very little. Symptomatic are the music sequences thrown in whenever the plot falters. Still and all, lots of people will walk out of the theater saying, "That was cute."

Grading the movies

A+	Top marks - sure to please
A	Close behind - excellent
A-	Still in running for top honors
B+	Pretty good stuff, not perfect
B	Good
B-	Good but notable deficiencies
C+	Just a cut above average
C	Mediocre
C-	Not so hot and slipping fast
D+	The very best of the poor stuff
D	Poor
D-	It doesn't get much worse
F	Truly awful
Z	Reserved for the colossally bad
.	No advanced screening

man coming to grips with government terror.

"Honey, I Shrank the Kids" (B+) (PG) 105 minutes.

"In Country" (B+) (R) 110 minutes.

Often poignant, sometimes maudlin story of a young girl searching for an image of her father, a casualty in Vietnam.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" (B+) (PG-13) 120 minutes.

"An Innocent Man" (B-) (R) 90 minutes.

Tom Selleck is unjustly imprisoned and must come to grips with the vicious penitentiary world.

"Johnny Handsome" (F) (R) 90 minutes.

An ugly movie that proves criminals are incapable of reforming.

"Kickboxer" (F) (R).

Vengeance and rescue are in order as an American kickboxer travels to Thailand.

"Lethal Weapon II" (B+) (R) 115 minutes.

"Nightmare on Elm Street V" (R).

"Parenthood" (A-) (R) 120 minutes.

Large, talented cast in complex but entertaining story about a family that includes Jason Robards, Steve Martin, Tom Hulce, Martha Plimpton and Diane Wiest, among others.

"Releantless" (F) (R).

Judd Nelson, Robert Loggia, Leo Rossi and Meg Foster in story of driven young man who becomes a killer.

"Romero" (A) (PG-13) 105 minutes.

Disturbing and frigid, telling an active story of El Salvadoran Archbishop Oscar Romero and the events leading to his assassination. Superb performance by Raul Julia in title role.

"Sea of Love" (C) (R) 110 minutes.

Al Pacino as a burned-out detective adds nothing to the cliché nor does a very weak script.

"Sex, Lies, and Videotape" (R).

Everyone's talking about this romantic comedy with James Spader.

"Shirley Valentine" (A+) (R) 110 minutes.

"Turner & Hooch" (D) (PG) 95 minutes.

Man and slobbery dog bonding against background of confused — and confusing — murder investigation.

"Weekend at Berates" (C) (PG-13).

A one-joke film about conniving boss of insurance company.

"When Harry Met Sally" (A+) (R) 90 minutes.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

Winner of seven Oscars, including the academy's best picture citation, the original "Lawrence" was cut by 35 minutes. Amidst much publicity it was restored for a nationwide tour, which included Detroit's Fox Theatre earlier this year. On Oct. 19, that restored version is available on video for home viewing.

The all-star cast, headed by Peter O'Toole and Alec Guinness, includes Omar Sharif, Anthony Quinn, Jose Ferrer and Claude Rains. It's priced at $29.95 and will be available for rental as well. Although a copy was not received for this review, it will be interesting to see just how David Lean's magnificent wide-screen epic looks on a small TV at home.

It's an interesting coincidence that Media Home Entertainment is releasing "A World Apart" on video just one week after the premiere of "A Dry White Season."

Both are poignant stories that effectively personalize the tragically large, but often abstract, casualty lists when black demonstrations are repressed by the South African government.

"A WORLD Apart" chronicles Diana Roth's (Barbara Hershey) fight against South African apartheid policies in 1963 just after the 90-Day Detention Act became law. That legislation allowed imprisonment for such a period without charges being filed. It had been enacted in response to black aspirations and the rising strength of the African National Congress.

By 1963, ANC leader Nelson Mandela was already in jail but others continued the struggle — and the South African government responded brutally. Diana Roth was a journalist for the Rand Daily Mail — the same paper Susan Sarandon works for in "A Dry White Season." Roth had seen great injustice through her work and had become an active participant in ANC activities.

Based on a true story of the first woman imprisoned under the 90-day act (Ruth First), "A World Apart" relates the sad, divisive impact such policies have on family life. Conflicting duties tear at the family structure — is one responsible only to immediate kin or must one also answer to the agony of strangers?

The story largely develops through the reactions of Roth's 13-year-old daughter, Molly (Jodhi May), who must contend with a parentless home after her mother is imprisoned and her father, Gus (Jeroen Krabbe), flees to avoid jail on treason charges as a communist.

NATURALLY, IN the repressive world of apartheid, anyone who advocates freedom and equality is part of the world-wide communist menace.

Molly remains at home with her grandmother (Yvonne Bryceland) and the housekeeper, Elsie (Linda Mvusi), whose brother, Solomon (Albee Lesotho), is a leading political activist.

Slowly and painfully, Molly learns that everyone is responsible for the entire community. But those lessons are learned with considerable pain and bitterness as she becomes an outcast at school and is shunned by her best friend, all this while feeling abandoned by her parents.

At the same time her mother, Diana, in solitary confinement, realizes she had gone too far in political activities and activism, so far that she ignored her children and put all her energies in the political cause. She is in solitary for refusing to cooperate with the official investigation of ANC activities.

Diana and Molly mature in their roles as mother and daughter united in their love for one another, in their regard for family and in their fight for freedom and equality. That convergence of individuals and causes is a touching moment.

EVERYONE CAN empathize with such moments no matter what one's level of political awareness may be. In that moment of true emotion as mother and daughter reconcile, we all realize the importance of family in the broadest sense, the family of home and the family of man.

The fact that the script, acting, photography and music are all excellent reinforce the impact of this poignant personal statement about individual responsibility.

"A World Apart" is also another very worthwhile statement about the South African government's tragically brutal and grossly indecent policies. Each such statement helps mold a public opinion that eventually will eliminate the ugliness of apartheid.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

'Vera' uncovers Soviet life

By John Monaghan
special writer

Soviet films aren't ordinarily known for their subtlety, sense of humor or frankness.

"Little Vera" is no ordinary film. Playing for a second weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre, this may be the screen's most intimate glimpse into Soviet life.

Vera (Natalya Negoda), a high school graduate, is constantly hounded by her parents about her wild lifestyle and a college acceptance that never comes. She hangs out late nights with her girlfriend Lena.

"Little Vera" begins as a film about alienated youth — comrades without a cause. In a startling early scene, an outdoor rock-and-roll dance is surrounded by police in riot gear and with German shepherds.

VERA MEETS Sergel (Andrei Sokolov) in the impending violence and immediately falls for him. After announcing their marriage plans, Sergel moves in with Vera's family and the movie starts to look like a Soviet "All in the Family."

But the film grows darker. Sergel treats her parents like dirt.

When he asks Vera why her parents are so dumb, she says, "They're the only ones I've got." She starts making strides toward adulthood while he grows more and more bored.

Natalya Negoda sizzles in her unglamorous but sexy role. Heavily made up and dressed in the same red striped shirt for much of the film, she has few options in or out of her dead-end industrial town. Aside from rock-and-roll, Sergel is the only thing that hasn't bored her to tears.

Vera's parents, meanwhile, are tired, hard working and completely at a loss in dealing with a teenaged daughter. The father gets into whiny drunken fits. The mother yells from the kitchen where she spends countless hours canning and pickling fruits and vegetables.

"Little Vera" shows us plenty about life in the Soviet Union, especially about cramped living conditions and family tension. Director Vasily Pichul can never get his camera far enough away. Things are always close up and claustrophobic in the tiny apartment.

THE LANDSCAPE outside isn't much better. The entire town seems to be built on piles of rusted parts and scrap. The beach is all gravel and jagged iron poles. At one point, Vera crouches beneath the shell of a beached World War II submarine.

"Little Vera" won best film and best actress awards at the Chicago Film Festival and has been viewed by more than 60 million Soviets.

Although its conflicts are never fully resolved, it asks for acceptance and co-existence in a world that is much too small.

Brace for the Blues Explosion

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The beakers and test tubes are out. Like the teenager in the basement with a chemistry set, blues man Kim Wilson is experimenting. End result: The Blues Explosion. The lead singer of The Fabulous Thunderbirds will join guitarists Luther Tucker and Duke Robillard, along with drummer Fran Christina and bass player "Slater" Sarah Brown, for a special 10-date tour. The Blues Explosion stops by Sully's

In Dearborn on Friday. "There's a lot of people I've known for years and years," said Wilson, who is formerly of Redford Township. "I've admired them through the years. Some of them I've never had a chance to play with because of being on the road so much. "I like to work in combinations." The Blues Explosion is indeed one lethal combination of blues musicians. The lineup includes: • Luther Tucker, guitarist who has performed with Muddy Waters, Sonny Boy Williamson, Little Walter Jacobs and James Cotton. • Duke Robillard, guitarist and vocalist who was one of the mainstays of Roomful of Blues. • Fran Christina, drummer with The Fabulous Thunderbirds. • Sarah Brown, a bass guitarist who made a name for herself in the Austin, Texas, blues scene. She performed extensively in the Ann Arbor area with the Boogey Brothers before moving to Texas.

WILSON GOT the notion for a tour after catching Tucker perform in July at an anniversary at Anton's, a well-known blues club in Austin. "I have a real soft spot for Luther," Wilson said. "One of the first blues records I had was a James Cotton album and Tucker was great on that."

"I saw him perform and I told him, 'Tucker, we're going on the road!'"

He holds the same reverence for Robillard, who's quite a guitar slinger in his own right.

"He can do it all," Wilson said. "See, Duke always gets in my face. I'll watch him perform and he plays like 50 verses — at my table! I told him, 'I'm not coming to any shows you're playing unless I'm on stage with you.'"

WILSON PROMISES a heavy dose of straightforward blues.

But he said, "A lot of crazy things can happen."

Which is part of the reason Wilson put together the tour. The Blues Explosion allows him to do something a bit different from the T-Birds.

He's quick to point out the Blues Explosion is not replacing The Fabulous Thunderbirds in his life. Group members will be writing some material for an upcoming album soon.

Like those he'll join on stage, blues music is a passion for Wilson. He has performed with many heroes, including Eddie Taylor, Albert Collins, John Lee Hooker and Muddy Waters.

WILSON LIVED in Redford Township until he was 9, moving to California.

"I didn't want to leave," he said. He performed with a number of bands in California, but his big break didn't come until he moved to Texas. There, he met Muddy Waters, who he said helped launch the Fabulous Thunderbirds.

"Muddy was kind of like my second father," he said. "He took me under his wing. He made me. I love all those guys, but he put the final stamp on me."

The Fabulous Thunderbirds emerged out of the Austin scene, touted as the blues band of the future. The group has released several albums, gravitating more toward mainstream tastes while still keeping its blues edge.

WILSON, THOUGH, has always kept himself busy with other projects. He recently produced and performed on Jimmie Rodgers' latest album. The Blues Explosion has him really excited.

"I do a lot of different things," said Wilson, who lives in Austin. "I play all different kinds of blues. I like big bands with horns. I like keyboards and two guitars opposed to one. I like covering all the areas."

But with all those names on one stage, perhaps some egos would be covered up by others. Wilson quickly shoots down such a notion.

"No. We're all grownups here," he said. "(Shoot) man, every single person is the best that there is. They're like I am, they just like to play."

The Blues Explosion performs Friday, Oct. 20, at Sully's, 4758 Greenfield, between Michigan and Ford, Dearborn. For information, call 846-5377.

LIVE

So declared one nearby fan while watching Bob Mould tear through 100 minutes of rock-and-roll last Monday at Ann Arbor's Nectarine Ballroom.

Mould, who fronted the now legendary Husker Du, laid to rest any fear that he had abandoned that pioneering postpunk band's penchant for using volume as a weapon. Touring to support his brilliant solo album, "Workbook," Mould transformed the haunting melodies of the relatively tame record into a hard-driving guitar assault.

"Workbook" is a brooding album of dark lyrics and moody music laced with cellos and acoustic guitars. On stage, "Workbook" takes on a deafening Husker demeanor, with Mould, guitarist Jim Harry, bassist Tony Malmone, and Gold Palominos' drummer Anton Fier replacing the intricate string and vocal arrangements with tight guitarwork and deadly drumming.

Mould only strapped on the acoustic guitar for "Sinners and Their Repentances" and a brief show-closing medley of Husker hits, including "Hardly Getting Over It," and the wonderful "Makes No Sense at All."

With his blond bangs tumbling on his forehead and his guitar dangling at his knees, Mould led his band through the entire new LP, plus a few outtakes a new songs scheduled for his second solo album, as well as an encore rendition of Neil Young's "Cinnamon Girl."

Mould closed the first set with the album's first single, "See a Little Light," and "Whichever Way the Wind Blows." The latter, "Workbook's" rockiest track, sent some of the diehards on the packed dance floor slam-dancing to its frenzied beat.

The song-and-set, came to a pounding conclusion with Mould under strobe light, spinning his guitar like a top near the amplifier, creating skull-splitting feedback that would've made Jimi Hendrix shudder and Pete Townshend plug his ear. The din continued as Mould laid the guitar across the amp column and ended up on the floor screaming into the microphone, to the delight of the awed crowd.

Bonedaddys boogie big

World beat spurs band

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Beware of the Bonedaddys. They make you sweat.

So apply a double dose of that deodorant stick and be prepared to dance. That's the word from the leader of the eight-member band, which rolls in to the Majestic Theatre Saturday with its engaging, enraging and energized brand of world beat.

"It's just got those rhythms," said Mike Tempo, the goatee and bespectacled percussionist with the Los Angeles-based, Bonedaddys. "We get your butt bopping."

The massive beat the Bonedaddys lay down encompasses a rather diverse blend of music from around the globe, including New Orleans, West African, Soca, rhythm and blues only to name a few.

The sound is molded into an electrifying, mesmerizing and any other "fyings" you can pull out of your back pocket. Those who listened the Bonedaddys' first LP on Chameleon Records, "A-Koo-De-A," were left speechless.

So, too, were the people at Miller Brewery. The brewery was looking for a few good bands to come up some music-for-a-commercial. The Bonedaddys sent along a demo tape of its eclectic world beat sound.

"They loved it," said Tempo, in a telephone interview where the Bonedaddys are recording the beer commercial. "We're able to be ourselves and be weird and still be sponsored by a major corporation."

THINK THAT'S unusual? Look at the lineup for these zany party purveyors. A drummer from Texas, a percussionist is from Paducah, Ky., a keyboardist and guitarist is from New Delhi, India and the keyboardist is from Trinidad.

Then we find out the singer has roots in Watts, Calif., and Topeka, Kan.

"Oh," added Tempo, "we have a guy who's from Germany and Ohio who sits in on our albums."

Things start to make sense. Really, they do. All these guys are from different parts of the globe, combining their diverse musical influences to make world beat an applicable description of the Bonedaddys' music.

"It's a world beat approach," said Tempo, "but it's a rock'n'roll attitude."

At that point, we give up. Let's say the music is indescribable, but enjoyable. And there will be plenty more to enjoy in upcoming months. The band will release its second album, "World Beatniks," on the Chameleon label Oct. 25.

The disc will feature some of the Bonedaddys' club favorites in five years of touring as one of the hottest dance bands around, including a cover of Elvis Presley's "Cray Fish."

This latest LP could break the Bonedaddys into the national spotlight. College Music Journal has given an advance copy a thumbs-up review.

Any success would be more than what any member expected when the group formed five years ago. Tempo called several of his musician buddies in order to play some of their favorite music. Response was overwhelming.

THE BONEDADDYS quickly made a name for themselves on the dance club circuit, though Tempo said his group prefers the "down home places" to the sterile disco atmosphere.

"A lot of that depends on the audience, though," Tempo said. "We just played for a crowd in Houston, Texas, for people in black ties and cowboy-boots. They got down and sweaty."

Also, in their musical travels, the Bonedaddys have opened for such diverse acts as blues guitarist Robert Cray, reggae guru Burning Spear and alternative rock's Jazz Butcher.

Mike Tempo (lower left) helped found the Bonedaddys, a group that has quickly made a name for providing a zany beat in dance clubs across the country.

In each case, the group won over audiences.

"People want to have a good time and we provide it," Tempo said. "It's honest music, really. We're not trying to uphold any traditional forms. We won't try to do a West African song exactly like a West African song. "Heck, our guitar player is from India."

The Bonedaddys will perform Saturday, Oct. 21, at the Majestic Theatre, 4124 Woodward, Detroit. For information, call 833-0120.

REVIEWS

OH MERCY — Bob Dylan

Nary a negative word has been breathed about this record, and it's high time its shortcomings were recognized.

The lyrics aren't printed on the jacket.

Other than that, it's hard to find fault with "Oh Mercy," the album that has Dylan fans rejoicing and critics hailing it as Bob's best since 1974's "Blood on the Tracks." Finally, they're right.

The success is largely a result of Dylan's teaming with producer Daniel Lanois, rock's current King Midas. Lanois, who has recently worked with such heavyweights as Peter Gabriel, U2 and Robbie Robertson, dropped a solo album he is doing for the chance to work with Dylan. Like Mark Knopfer did with 1983's "Infidels," Lanois proved that the right production can make modern Dylan music stand up to his previous classics.

As with most of Dylan's material, the lyrics are at times introspective, at times apocalyptic. The music is modern, surreal, ethereal and all those other words critics like to toss about. In all simplicity, this is just a great album — a good one to put on after work while you're horizontal on the couch with the lights off.

The album takes full advantage of what's left of Dylan's voice, with less wheezing than on recent records. A Tom Waits influence is heard on the ominous "Man in the Long Black Coat," in which Dylan whispers in a hushed growl: "The preacher was a talkin' — a sermon he gave/He said, 'Every man's conscience is vile and depraved/You cannot depend on it to be your guide/When it's you who must keep it satisfied.'"

That is, but one example of the songwriting that bolsters "Oh Mercy." Unlike his last two releases, every song here is a Dylan original, and it shows. The fine lyrics combined with Lanois' use of airy guitars and heartbeat percussion results in a long-awaited great new Dylan record. How does it feel?

REI MOMO — David Byrne

David Byrne is most readily known for his work with Talking Heads. With that band, he redefined traditional notions of pop songs, constantly challenging the listener with new styles of singing.

He quickly adapted and once again was one of the most imaginative proponents of the new technology. Not content with confining his talent to these arenas, he has been recognized for his outstanding work as a filmmaker ("True Stories" and "Stop Making Sense"), soundtrack composer ("Last Emperor," "Married to the Mob," "Something Wild," "Catherine Wheel" — A Twyla Tharp Dance), and producer ("Waiting" — Fun Boy 3, and "Mesopotamia" — B-52s).

With such an exalted track record, it is impossible to ignore what Byrne turns his attention to now.

In this instance he tipped his hand earlier this year by his involvement with the release of "Brazil Classics," a collection of Brazilian folk songs. His constant effort to push himself into unknown territories has extended from the African tribal rhythms used by Talking Heads during their career to the lighter, bouncier sound of traditional Brazilian folk songs.

"Rei Momo" (Sire) is a collection of David Byrne originals, using New York-based Latin musicians from the bands of Reuben Blades, Celia Cruz and Tito Puente, and produced by Byrne and Steve Lillywhite.

The difference between this effort and the aforementioned foray into African music is that Byrne seems to have completely immersed himself into the Latin music.

With the African music, he absorbed its influences and used it to color a Byrne/Talking Heads song. Over the Latin music, it has taken over completely. Despite Byrne's quirky, humorous lyrics and distinctive vocals, this sounds like the latest example from the Rio de Janeiro charts.

Personally, I prefer a little more Byrne and a little less Brazil.

BIG BANG! — Fuzzbox

Four women, a pop band. All right, go ahead and draw your own conclusions.

But before you write this band off as banal Bangles clones, take a listen to this rather fine debut LP from this Birmingham, England, quintet. The results are surprising.

Let's make a case for Fuzzbox to be taken seriously. For one, this group writes its own songs.

We'd like to enter for evidence the brassy numbers such as "International Rescue," "Self" and "Versatile for Discos and Parties."

Dance rhythms, sunny poppy numbers, hypnotic beats, yes, Fuzzbox can cross off all the boxes. Request most any number from "Big Bang!" (Geffen) down at The Shelter. This will shake any loose plaster from the walls.

Also, there's lyrical bite to the songs. Fuzzbox is an all-girl band that likes to have fun. Yet they avoid

Songs such as "Jamaican Sunrise" are written from a feminine perspective. In this case, the natural traps women can fall into through marriage and family.

Versatility? You bet. The new-age quality of "Irish Bride" displays a group in command of its craft. OK, granted, this particular number sounds a bit like Bays, but it's moody, mystical and marvelous.

With all that, you're still not buying it. Must be those lily-up hemlines Maggie, Tina, Jo and Vickie display on stage, huh?

"Why is it that when Prince does it it's brilliant and a woman does it and she's a hussy?" asks Vickie in the press notes.

Good, heartfelt music speaks louder than image. Fuzzbox will have a voice in music circles for years to come.

FEAR AND LOAFING

Answers to stupid questions

By Karl Nilsson
Special writer

In honor of National Stupid Question Week, I am interrupting our regular series on self-hardening clay to answer those burning questions from readers. How they caught fire is another story altogether.

Q. I'm trying to organize my closets. Any tips on hanging on to my old fingernail clippings?

A. Don't toss that collection yet. They're useful in the manufacturing of artificial animal hooves. It used to be that when a prize show horse split a nail his career was ruined. Now, thanks to new "press-on fashion hooves," the judges never know the difference.

Q. Why did "Big Band" music fade away?

A. In the days before music videos, top swing bands relied on unusual rhyming names to promote audience recognition. The most popular of these catchy monikers was "Les Brown and His Band of Renown."

Brown's overnight success spawned a host of imitators like "Conrad Rust and His Band of Disgust" and "Reginald Pitts and His Band of Twits." Soon, all the good names were used up, bringing the Big Band era to an untimely end.

With the advent of television in the early '50s, the Big Band sound enjoyed a brief resurgence — this time with the Latin flavor of Ricky Ricardo.

Q. Where did the game of basketball get the nickname round ball?

A. Surprisingly, it was not derived from the spherical shape of today's familiar orange ball. Instead, it was a reference to geographical location as in the phrase, "that's what we play round here."

In actual fact, the original game wasn't played with a ball at all, but a cinder block. Since dribbling was more difficult, this early game emphasized passing and shooting. The switch to a rubber ball occurred during the great cement shortage of 1922.

Q. Any ideas why the Detroit Tigers' performance was so dismal?

A. I'm tired of people blaming the Tigers for something that wasn't their fault. My research department has uncovered three reasons why Detroit lost more than 100 games this season:

1. Poor hitting — Hidden cameras revealed the Tiger bat boys were handing the bats to the players upside down. Knowing this, can our sluggers really be blamed for using the wrong end of the bat?

2. Poor fielding — Most reports concentrated on the fans falling asleep in the stands, but my investigation revealed narcolepsy in the outfield, too. This outbreak of frequent and uncontrollable sleep may explain why fly balls kept bouncing off our fielders' chests.

3. Poor pitching — The problem here was a communication breakdown between coaching and pitching. What the pitchers thought was batting practice was actually the first five innings. Once they discovered the game had already started, their performance usually improved.

Q. What will be the movie box-office blockbuster of the 1990s?

Definitely a sequel. I predict Sly Stallone will bounce back with the ultimate drawing card, "Rambo Versus Rocky." Taking a cue from the old "Patty Duke Show," Stallone will play both starring roles — the trigger happy veteran and the aging boxer, confronting each other in the fight of the century.

This time the epic battle won't take place in a steaming jungle, sweltering desert or Las Vegas boxing ring. It happens in a vegetarian restaurant.

Q. Any more hot movie picks?

My vote goes to "Cocoon II," a sequel with a nostalgic twist. This time around director Ron Howard goes in front of the cameras to star in this unusual tribute to his own career.

When the extra-terrestrials return for one final undersea pod, they get an unexpected surprise. Instead of an alien life force, out pops Aunt Bea.

When she is fully revived from her suspended animation, Mayberry's best cook peels off her rubbery face mask to reveal she is secretly Barney Fife, who then pulls off his face to reveal he is actually Sheriff Andy, who rips off his face to reveal he is Floyd the barber, who removes his face to reveal he is really and truly Ople Taylor, space traveler.

STREET SENSE

Sleeplessness is common problem

Dear Barbara,
I have difficulty sleeping at night. I both have difficulty falling asleep and staying asleep. Then during the day, I am often tired and cannot stop myself from napping.

The doctor has prescribed sleeping pills, but they make me feel groggy and from what I have read, can possibly be dangerous. I am in my late 40s and have had this problem for about five years.

Sleepless in Livonia

Dear Sleepless,
Your problem is common. One-third of the American adult population complains of insomnia and 7-8 percent take some kind of sleep medication.

To diagnose and solve this problem, you must use many approaches. If you haven't already had one, a complete physical is a beginning. If no cause can be determined from this, then you need to go to a sleep disorder clinic, such as the ones that they have at Henry Ford Hospital or the University of Michigan Hospital.

At these labs, your sleep will be monitored, resulting in a greater chance for appropriate treatment which could be medical, psychological, behavioral or all three.

Until then, some simple things to think about are the amount of caffeine you are consuming and the regularity of your particular cycle. It has been found that people sleep better and are more alert when they are aware of and maintain the same sleep-wake times. However, as I have said, nothing can substitute for detailed monitoring at a sleep disorder clinic.

Dear Barbara,
Until recently, I enjoyed a close relationship with my grandchildren. They are two girls ages 4 and 7. My daughter divorced her husband when the youngest child was only one. I have helped her since that time by caring for the girls while she worked.

Now she is planning on remarrying. This man is a beast. He dislikes me and wants to control my daughter. I believe my daughter wants to marry him for financial reasons. He is quite well off.

My daughter no longer wants me to see my granddaughters. In fact, she will not take my calls. Sometimes I drive by the house just to get a glimpse of them. I know they must miss me, too.

Is there anything I can do? Do I have any rights? I am a widow and this is my only child and grandchildren.

Lonely in Novi

Dear Lonely,
Yes, you have rights. There have been laws since the 1970s, which allow grandparents to initiate legal action when, because of divorce or death, their relationship with their grandchildren has been terminated without cause.

A group called the Grandparents Rights Organization is trying to have further legislation passed that would expand those rights. Call the organization at 646-7177 and they will counsel you on finding competent legal representation.

I wish you luck.

X means victory for Phil Glebe

Every weekend, from February to November, Glebe is in a different city to do the same task. Prize money for a race can be as high as $10,000.

The circuit is grueling, the rewards plenty. He travels east, west, north and south in pursuit of championship points during the race season.

SOMETIMES RACING points are the last thing on Glebe's mind. Like, for instance, the time he went over Lake Michigan from West Bend, Wis., to Lansing. The flight reached an altitude of 10,000 feet in subzero temperatures.

Then there was his time in the sun, when he nearly landed in the Gulf of Mexico. The flight originated out of Naples, Fla., with winds blowing east to west.

As he flew over woods, swamps and condominiums, Glebe began to look for an opening to land the craft.

"That hole never developed," he said.

All of a sudden he was staring at a vast blue body of water. He began to let air out of the balloon. The basket skimmed along the top of some palm trees, slowing down the craft.

The basket hit the beach, dumping Glebe out onto the sand. The canvas balloon landed in the ocean.

LUCK WOULD seem to play a part. But with 13 years experience as a licensed balloon pilot, skill had a say in Glebe avoiding danger.

Glebe trains balloon pilots as owner and operator of Renaissance Balloons. In order to receive a license, a person must pass a Federal Aviation Administration written examination, and obtain 10 hours of flight time, with one hour as a solo run, passing a flight test with an FAA examiner and a health certificate.

Those were the requirements for Glebe. Then what was a hobby grew bigger than that.

"I WAS always fascinated with balloons all my life," said Glebe, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University. "I just fell in love with it."

So much so, he gave up his 11-year job in sales to devote his full time to the sport, which is grown to more than 700 pilots registered with the National Balloon Racing Association based in Statesville, N.C.

Balloons cost between $8,000 to $15,000 to build, though costs are easily offset with sponsorship.

"The sport is a natural for advertisement," Glebe said. "What you are is a 70-foot billboard."

GLEBE IS only interested in one sign on race day — the one marked with an "X."

A typical race involves a lead balloon, the hare, being released. The lead balloon travels for 30 minutes and marks off a spot. The hound balloons are then released, dropping two-ounce sand-filled bags as close to the "X" as possible.

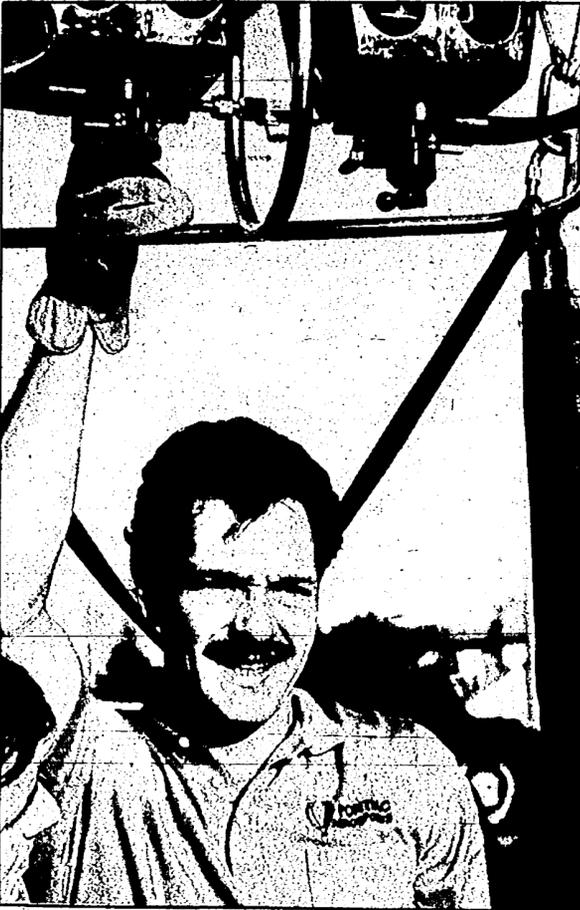

The competing hot air balloons are launched two miles from the festival site and vie for the spot. Once there, they release sand-filled bags that are decorated with brightly colored streamers.

"Racing adds another dimension to a spectacular sport already," Glebe said. "Number one, it sharpens your flying skills."

Even Glebe can relax a bit and appreciate the beauty that ballooning has to offer. In a flight over Plymouth and through Novi, he lowers the balloon above a pond in a field.

"If you look below," he said, peering over the edge, "you can see a reflection of the balloon."

The image of the massive red balloon perfectly mirrored in the body of water is met with a smiling pilot. The finish line could wait.

Benmiller resort reflects past but in those days it was a busy industrial center full of looms, saws, mill stones and other ingenious devices that served the settlers.

Benmiller had its own water power, so Gledhill's Woolen Mill and Pfirmer's Grist Mill stayed alive through World War II, but by 1972 it was a ghost town.

IT WOULD probably still be a ghost town if a man called Ivy, nostalgic for the woolen blankets of his youth, had not driven this way while on a vacation in Grand Bend. There were the old mill buildings, tucked into the trees near two Huron County roads, with nothing but the road to let a traveler know that he was in the 20th century, approaching the 21st.

It took a lot of restoration and rebuilding, but the Woolen Mill opened as the Benmiller Inn in 1974 and the grist mill became The River Mill in 1976. By 1979, two wings had been added to the private home of former mill owner Vern Gledhill, a third-generation Benmiller weaver. They are all part of the Benmiller Inn today.

If you decide to stay at the Benmiller Inn, the hardest part is finding it. There is one small sign where County Road 1 turns off Highway 8 just east of Goderich.

If you ask directions in Goderich, they will send you in the back way — "Follow Highway 21 across the bridge, take a sharp right, go through Saltford, turn right when the road ahead turns to gravel and you'll see the red brick church on one side of the road and a small green sign for the village of Benmiller on the other."

Don't go too fast or you'll miss the right turn onto County Road 1 and the gabled rooftops of the inn while whizzing past in a blur of trees.

You check in at the Woolen Mill, with its bar, dining room and guest rooms. Old hands like to stay there because the rooms are in a slightly rustic setting, but many prefer larger rooms and suites a few hundred yards downstream in Gledhill House or the River Mill.

IF YOU STAY downstream, you drive away from the registration building with a clutch of keys — one to get you through the door of your building and into your room, one for the River Mill, where you can use the big indoor swimming pool, and two small keys for the mini bar and a second bar full of videocassettes in your room.

All the rooms, except those in the Woolen Mill, have a sink and refrigerator tucked away behind doors, with an electric kettle and toaster, as well as the fixings for a continental breakfast in the refrigerator.

A suite in Gledhill House is likely to be two big rooms with a king-sized bed in one, and the television, fireplace, couches and other accoutrements of a living room in the other. All have small balconies so you can sit and watch the river.

If you stay across the road at the River Mill, your third-floor room has a big deck overlooking the river; the fourth-floor has a regular room, with a smaller deck, for less money.

If you insist on being busy, walk up the gravel road to the tennis courts at the top of the hill in season; take a bike and ride through the changing autumn leaves. You can swim in the Olympic-sized pool, or use the sauna, indoor jogging track and table tennis facilities at the River Mill.

IF YOU ARE allergic to that kind of exercise, walk around, with maybe one stop at the store, coffee shop and general store that are the sum of downtown Benmiller — it's the only shopping place for miles except for the gift shop at the Inn.

None of this is for the budget-conscious. Rates are from $125 for a smaller room to $225 for a suite, including continental breakfast, plus five percent provincial tax. (Those prices are in Canadian dollars. Remember that $100 in U.S. money buys $118 Canadian.) Ask about special packages. If you can travel mid-week, excluding Christmas and some popular snowy days in February, your room costs $100 Canadian a night.

To get there, take I-94 to Port Huron. Cross the Bluewater Bridge and follow Highway 402 to Highway 21 North through Grand Bend to Goderich. Take Highway 8 East four miles to Huron Road 1 and turn left 1 1/2 miles to Benmiller. The village is on any Ontario map, just east of Goderich. (Note: There are no gas stations in Benmiller.)

Call toll-free (800) 265-1711 or write the Benmiller Inn, RR#4, Goderich, Ont. N7A 3Y1.

His layoff turned into laughs

By Susan Steinnmueller
staff writer

Darwin Hines was good for laughs in grade school, where he'd stand in front of the class and tell jokes to the teachers and other students.

Looking back, the 33-year-old Detroit resident said that was the beginning of his career as a stand-up comedian, although he credits a Richard Pryor comedy album for the inspiration to become a comedian.

"In 1976, I was listening to Richard Pryor and I said, 'If this guy can say these things that I think about... If he can be a comedian, I can too,'" Hines said. "If it hadn't been for the album, I probably would never have tried comedy at all."

Five years later, Hines was laid off from Ford Motor Co. Encouraged by friends, he tried his hand at stand-up comedy.

It went well, and Hines has been going for the laughs ever since.

HE HAS appeared around the country at clubs like Dangerfield's and Comic Strip in New York, and locally at Comedy Castle and Laff Factory in Detroit and Benny's in Westland.

He has been featured in USA Today and Jet magazine, and on all the local television news stations. Hines has also opened for George Benson at Pine Knob and B.B. King at the Premier Center. He will be at the Comedy Korner in Windsor this week.

Hines writes his own material. "A lot of material are things that happen to me," he said. "A lot of times my comedy comes from being angry."

HINES DESCRIBES his style of comedy as "controversial." Two of his favorite targets are racism, and male-female relationships.

"I see no reason to be prejudiced," he said, "and there are a lot of prejudiced people in our society. All you are really doing is hurting yourself if you are."

Hines does encounter racism while doing his act. But he said after seeing him perform, people will sometimes change their tunes.

One man, he said, made racist remarks at the beginning of his show, and at the end, stood up to lead a standing ovation.

One of his quips on racism is: "I like prejudiced people because you can mess up their whole day just by showing up."

While he may make fun of relationships, Hines, who is single, said, "the most important thing to me besides being famous, is being married."

Darwin Hines was good for laughs in grade school, but it wasn't until he was laid off from Ford Motor Co. that he tried his hand at stand-up comedy. Hines has been going for the laughs ever since.

ONE OF the tough parts of being a comic is that in a room of 300 people, "there is nothing I can say that won't offend someone," Hines said.

"When people go to comedy clubs, they should keep in mind that comedians are just out to make them laugh," he said. "They should keep an open mind. The comedian does not know that this particular subject may upset you. If you start taking out material that would make you upset, there'd be nothing to joke about."

Another tough aspect of life as a stand-up comedian is that "on this level you have to travel a lot," Hines said.

"There is a lot of competitiveness, things of that nature," he said. "The business end of it is really rough."

IT'S ALSO hard to make a name for oneself.

"On the level of comedy, people go out to see comedy, they don't go to see an individual," he said. "Usually, TV changes that."

That's TV as in "major TV." "You have to do it two to three times a year for people to start knowing you," said Hines, who has done cable television comedy shows. "You have to have a really unique act, something that really stands out."

To really make it in the business, a comedian should also live in Los Angeles, said Hines, who plans to head for the West Coast one day.

Hines has no plans to give up what he calls his first love. Even if he did make a name for himself on a sitcom or on television — which helped make Eddie Murphy and Bill Cosby household names — comedy would always come first for him, he said.

"I would want to be a comedian first and an actor second."

Darwin Hines will appear at the Comedy Korner in Windsor Wednesday-Saturday, Oct. 18-21.

Ann Delisi not only is music director at WDET-FM, the Detroit area's public radio station, she also does a Friday evening show, "New Releases in Review."

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

ANN DELISI - WDET

WDET RADIO has been producer of the Montreux Detroit Jazz Festival broadcast for all of its 10 years. Ann Delisi refers to the 1989 event and her part in it as her "holliba festival." "It was another bit of on-the-job training for Delisi who started working in the station as a volunteer while she was a student at Wayne State University and just recently took the title of music director. "I was a music student at Wayne with no clear-cut ideas of what I wanted to do," she said. "I never had a class in broadcasting or theater. I never wanted to be a performer — maybe a composer. All I knew for sure was that I loved music more than anything else and wanted to be around it, wanted to be a part of it. "We're all music people here. Everyone of us who work here is a music lover."

What kind of music makes no difference. "We're an eclectic station, a variety-station," she said. "We give anything a chance. That's part of the freedom of Public Radio — a freedom no commercial station has. We get anywhere from 25 to 150 new releases a week and we've aired people no one else will air." And, according to Delisi, WDET has been "good for newcomers."

"WE HELP THEM whenever we can and we know we sell their records," she said. "It's been wonderful to hear some of the music that's come in from some of the African cultures. It's about time for that."

Delisi was born and raised in Detroit and still lives there. Her musical instrument is the piano, but there is not a lot of time for that. As music director, she oversees all the music programs on the air and has to be prepared to sit in as substitute for any host who isn't there for any reason.

She also has to prepare for her own Friday night shift and orchestrate all co-sponsorships of any manner WDET takes on.

She also spends a good part of her day listening to new releases and is active in the self-promotion that any public radio station must do. As a result, she is determined to start computerizing the music library.

"I still spend a lot of time in this room," she said of the music library. "Music librarian was my first full-time job at the station. We've got 30,000 titles here and it is very safe to say that it's the largest record library in the city."

She took that job six years ago. She eased into assistant music director, then the music director position without worry about sex discrimination.

"The majority of the management positions here are held by women," she said. "I never felt discriminated against, but I am well aware that discrimination exists in the industry."

DELISI IS a big advocate of live music.

"It was the live element that made radio-radio-and-we should be preserving that element," she said. "We've got a state of the art sound stage here and we'll be getting more live acts to play in it."

Delisi has an audience of about 170,000 people she talks to 7-10 p.m. Friday nights at 101.9 on the FM dial.

"I love this job," she said. "I am grateful to be here everyday I walk through these doors."

SHERI DONOVAN - WLLZ

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

SHERI DONOVAN grew up in Farmington Hills and after a long circuitous route to find a career, is now back in that town working at WLLZ.

"I was a secretary, a waitress, a bartender (after graduation from Farmington High School)," she said. "One summer I mowed lawns for a landscaper just so I could get a tan. It took a while for me to realize I was going to have to zero in on something definite."

The something she zeroed in on was classes at Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts where she got on-the-job, on-the-air training doing State Police news and some weather reports for AAA's Icicle Network.

"I got my first job while I was with the Icicle Network reporting to other radio stations, just talking to those people. That job was news director for a small market area in Traverse City because at the time that was what I thought I wanted to do," she said.

Her first job as a DJ was with WCK in Flint, where she was able to choose the music she would play for her own air shift and where she decided she would stick with the music end of the broadcast business.

At WLLZ she turned from DJ to air personality.

"I see new music coming in every day," she said. "I read the trade magazines. I talk about the music and the artists; that's the job. But I don't choose the music I play. Everything is so tied up with ratings we need someone else to direct our master plan here and keep us all on the same track."

A GOOD PART of Donovan's job as an air personality is making public appearances and self-promotion.

"I'm always learning and every day I like my job better," she said. "I keep learning about myself because it's important to let myself come through. That's the difference between a DJ and an air personality. "I have to be myself and express

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Sheri Donovan went from doing State Police news and some weather reports for AAA's Icicle Network to news director for a small market area in Traverse City to a DJ at WCK in Flint before becoming an on-air personality at WLLZ-FM.

myself in a proper way, but I have to think twice about it and worry about what people think. I have to be more than just another nice or pleasant voice on the radio. And that's a very good way to learn about me."

One of the requirements for her job, she said, is always having to be "up."

"This requires a lot of excitement on my part and sometimes it takes time to wind down," she said. "But I'm a night owl. I get to bed at about 4 a.m. A lot better for me than doing the morning news in Traverse City at 4 a.m."

A fun part of the job is the many parties she attends. She told about being invited to Aretha Franklin's house to narrate a benefit fashion show one morning and doing the job that evening.

"All the while The Temptations were singing in her basement. And I got paid for being there," she said.

On the down side of being an air personality, Donovan refused to say what town she lived in "because of all the crazies out there."

She's been the recipient of some wild sounding and off-beat letters and phone calls.

"IT'S A NUTTY part of this job... and very scary," she said.

Donovan said she has never felt any sexual discrimination against her personally since she entered the broadcast business in 1982.

ROBIN SULLIVAN - WMUZ

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

ROBIN SULLIVAN got her job at WMUZ by answering an ad placed in what she called an "obscure publication" while she was working "in an obscure station" in Rhode Island.

At the time the station had a maximum of two hours of music programmed for the day and Sullivan was selling ads and cleaning the bathrooms in between her short stint on the air.

"WMUZ was looking for someone who was bright, pithy, energetic, fun, able to communicate one-on-one and able to communicate their love of God," the Farmington Hills resident said. "That was me. The ad was describing me."

She was the first woman DJ to be hired by an all-Christian station in Detroit.

She went into the job, "under a little bit of pressure from some of the hard-core conservatives but determined just to be me," she said.

"I knew I couldn't be all things to all people," she said. "I wasn't Miss Glamour and I wasn't Miss Intelligence, but I could do all things through Christ who strengthened me."

"I developed a following very early on and in many ways I'm like a big sister. They (the callers) ask for advice and I share Jesus. That's a lot more than sharing a recipe. There's no theater in this. I communicate one-on-one just being me."

YOU'LL FIND her show, "The Praise Company," at 103.5 on the FM dial 3-7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2-6 p.m. Saturday. Call-ins come through on "The Praise Line."

Sullivan grew up in parochial schools in Rhode Island and studied theater in college where she "became a crazy woman," she said.

The wild life continued all the while she was ridding herself of her New England accent, living in New York pursuing a career in theater and up until the time she accepted Jesus into her life.

That was about 12 years ago. "I packed up, and went back to Rhode Island to work in my Irish father's pizza place... humbled," she said. "I didn't know what I was going to do, except I wanted to tell others about Jesus — even if I had to wear a sandwich board to do it."

For Sullivan, getting a job at a little radio station with an audience of about 500 seemed to be a good start, especially "for somebody whose qualifications were a big mouth and a love of Jesus."

"Born again means fresh start," she said. "I found I had a purpose. I found there was more to life than I thought there was and I was able to convey all that enthusiasm."

"I still can do it. I'm on the air four hours a day, six days a week and I never have a script. Never. I just share my life experiences."

ANOTHER THING Sullivan is sharing these days is her knowledge of theater.

She's directing two one act plays produced by Trinity House Theatre in Livonia. "An Evening of One Acts" is scheduled for weekends Oct. 20-Dec. 2.

Sullivan, who said she's not good at sitting still, is very active in "Operation Rescue," sometimes known as "Rescuers of the Unborn."

"I'm their cheerleader," she said. "I get the singing going and lead the prayers for the unborn and their mothers."

Getting with Gear: comfortable country

By Joan Boram
special writer

DO YOU ever look around your living room in despair at the frayed sofa garnished with dog hair, the hand-me-down overstuffed chair the cat uses as a scratching post, the coffee table ringed by years of kaffeeklatsches?

Do you sometimes wonder if your complete collection of Bob-Lo snowballs are genuine collectables or just kitsch? Just push the stack of shelter magazines aside, sit down and relax. Chances are you qualify as "country." Don't think "frumpy," think "patina."

And while you're at it, think of Raymond Waites, the jovial decorating wizard credited with being the "Father of American Country." According to Waites, the mark of a decorator's skill is to make a room look lived in from day one. Scuff marks on the dining room chairs put you ahead of the game. Be proud of that philodendron in the stenciled coffee can.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS, Waites was happy and successful living in Helsinki where he was director of design for Marimekko. (If you don't recall Marimekko, think geometric Laura Ashley.)

"But there comes a day when the most important thing in the world is a Diet Coke and a hamburger, and then it's time to come home," claims the ebullient Waites.

And, in a nutshell, that's how Waites became the "Father of American Country."

Speaking at the Michigan Design Center's gala preview party recently, Waites traced his design philosophy from Southern Victorian to pared-down international to country comfortable.

"Right after coming back to the states, I bought a quilt and a piece of pine furniture, and I did a complete design turnaround. My wife and I began to haunt country fairs and pine began pushing plastic out the door."

"We had been brought up," he continued, "in the Southern Victorian tradition — our families had loads of heavy, ornate table silver, white damask tablecloths, etc., that was used once or twice year."

Soon after his "conversion," Waites met Bettye Martin, and together they decided to take her $5,000 and his talent, and start a company to design and produce good American design. Thus, in 1978, Gear Inc., was launched.

"MY PERSONAL TASTE led to may professional life," he said.

About that time, Waites and Mary Emmerling wrote a book describing what was happening in design. "American Country," still in print, made them the official parents of the American Country movement.

Gear Inc. was an immediate success. "The time was right — something was bubbling in the country," said Waites. "You can't make anything happen if the culture isn't ready. There was a resurgence of looking at our design heritage. Maybe it was a delayed result of the bicentennial."

Waites passed out some advice at his appearance in the Burger gallery. He urges the special use (to you) of pieces as the foundation of a room. Just don't use too many colors.

"COLOR ALLOWS YOU to mix styles and periods," he explained. By using a limited color palette, it all flows together. For example, honey pine furniture has a yellow tone. If you mix it with off-white and gray blue, you can change the attitude of the room with very little money. Learn to build color and accessories.

"For a seasonal look in the summer, add yellow striped pillows and daffodils. Mums, a tablecloth and swags over the windows, all-in-rich rush red, will carry the room into autumn."

Waites is predicting that country will assume a more opulent, almost baroque, look.

WAITES HAS USED the same core colors in successive fabric collections to assure continuity. "Stone blue," for instance, has been around for eight years, in various patterns.

"I use my own taste as a barometer," said Waites. "Eight years ago, I designed a romantic chintz collection. Everybody predicted that it would never sell. It was our most popular collection, it's still selling well."

When asked to define country, Waites described an encounter in a Finnish farmhouse. "Once, I was traveling in Finland 200 miles above the Arctic Circle. We stopped at a farm house, and there was an old woman weaving rugs from old clothes — and plastic shopping bags! The rugs were wonderful. They were much more durable than an ordinary rag rug because of the plastic. She has created a traditional item in a traditional way, using non-traditional material."

"That's the true spirit of country. There are no rules."

Extended family

Love of north country bonds condo owners

By Marie McGee
staff writer

IRA and Barbara Green's commitment to Michigan's Upper Peninsula has paid off in ways they didn't expect.

They've managed to make some money on a condominium project some of their friends thought was crazy. But more rewarding has been the knowledge that they were promoting the beauty of Michigan's upper peninsula as an affordable recreational retreat.

It's also resulted in a new "extended" family — made up of the 15 or so families who bought units in the waterfront condominiums the Greens built last year at Grand Marais, on the shores of Lake Superior.

An announcement of the development came via a feature story in the Observer & Eccentric in July 1988. The story noted that the Greens, both from Bloomfield Hills, were fans of the Upper Peninsula — particularly the Grand Marais area.

WHAT THE STORY didn't talk about was the skepticism of friends when the Greens decided to replace rental cabins with condominiums on land they owned.

But Ira Green, who owns a dental lab in Troy, said he could understand their feelings. After all, he said, he wasn't a "builder" in the construction sense of the word. But he also knew that what he lacked in expertise, he made up in enthusiasm for Michigan's upper regions.

Underscoring that enthusiasm was a commitment to preserve the beauty and integrity of the region. To make sure he didn't compromise either, he sought advice from others who felt as he did. High on his list was the Department of Natural Resources.

He was most familiar with Grand Marais because he and Barbara had vacationed there for many years. In fact, he had camped in the area as a youth.

THE PROJECT WAS a labor of love, so to speak — a belief that, if given the chance, others would probably come to love the area, too.

Almost from the announcement of the development, the response was overwhelming, Green said.

"Not only did all 18 units sell almost immediately, but a majority of the people were from this area," said Green.

The result is a strong association that has become "almost like a family."

The camaraderie is so strong that the group often gets together "down here" long after summer ends for what the group technically calls "association meetings." Plymouth, for instance, is a favorite meeting place — probably because the association treasurer and her husband live in Canton.

ANOTHER UNEXPECTED benefit came from a friendship Green formed with one of the association members who happens to own a market research firm. The two men often commuted from the Bloomfield area to Grand Marais on weekends.

"In fact, we have gotten to be such good friends, that he has helped me make decisions about our next project," said Green with a grin.

Oh yes, there's another project on the drawing board.

The Greens are in the midst of developing a similar waterfront development — this one in St. Ignace.

"It will be basically the same design as the development in Grand Marais, but the units will be slightly larger," said Green. One- and two-bedroom units will be offered in a price range of $65,000-$75,000.

The Greens — like a lot of other folks in the state including Governor James Blanchard — happen to believe that St. Ignace is the gateway to the north. The Greens see their latest venture as a way to oil the hinges a bit.

Last week's column described the attributes of people who are left brain dominant and how that affects their organizational abilities. Right brain thinking will be discussed today.

While everyone switches back and forth between the two hemispheres of the brain, about 10 percent of people depend almost entirely on the right side.

People who think predominantly with their right brain might be characterized as artists, or creative people. They tend to think in metaphors, images, spatial concepts and intuitive leaps of insight. They are concerned with the immediate experience of patterns, moods, feelings and atmosphere. Right brain people tend to be inspirational, attuned to music, movement and touch. They can be inner directed (unconcerned with other's opinions), impractical, spontaneous, lacking in discipline, irrational, holistic and sensual. They are non-sequential, (as in not time oriented) and often drag their heels and run late.

"Right Brainers" acquire their information kinesthetically (through touch and feelings) and process it in feelings-action-thought order. That is, they experience a feeling, act upon it and only then consider the consequences. They often want things Right Now! These people are good at looking at a whole concept, while ignoring the details. When asked to describe a room, for instance, they might say it is "bright, sunny, spacious and makes me feel good."

Right brain activities include making love, dancing, impulse buying and overeating. Because they are not conscious of details or objects and tend to think horizontally, they may leave things laying around, save things and allow possessions to become disorganized. Their homes may have a "lived in" look.

Although right brain people may be impractical, they may also be extremely talented in ways left brain dominance would never allow. If they have jobs that demand left brain thinking, they may revert to right brain dominance even more dramatically at home.

"The Odd Couple Syndrome — Resolving the Neat/Sloppy Dilemma," a book by Selwyn Mills, Ph.D. and Max Weisser, ACSW, points out that opposites attract and life can be difficult when two opposites live or work together. The often amusing book states that when Neat and Sloppy meet, "sloppy prevails." Acceptance of the other person's traits is a key to harmony. Also, anyone can learn to use both brain hemispheres, but it is more difficult for a predominantly one-sided person.

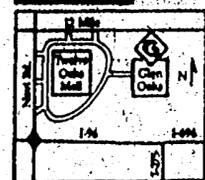

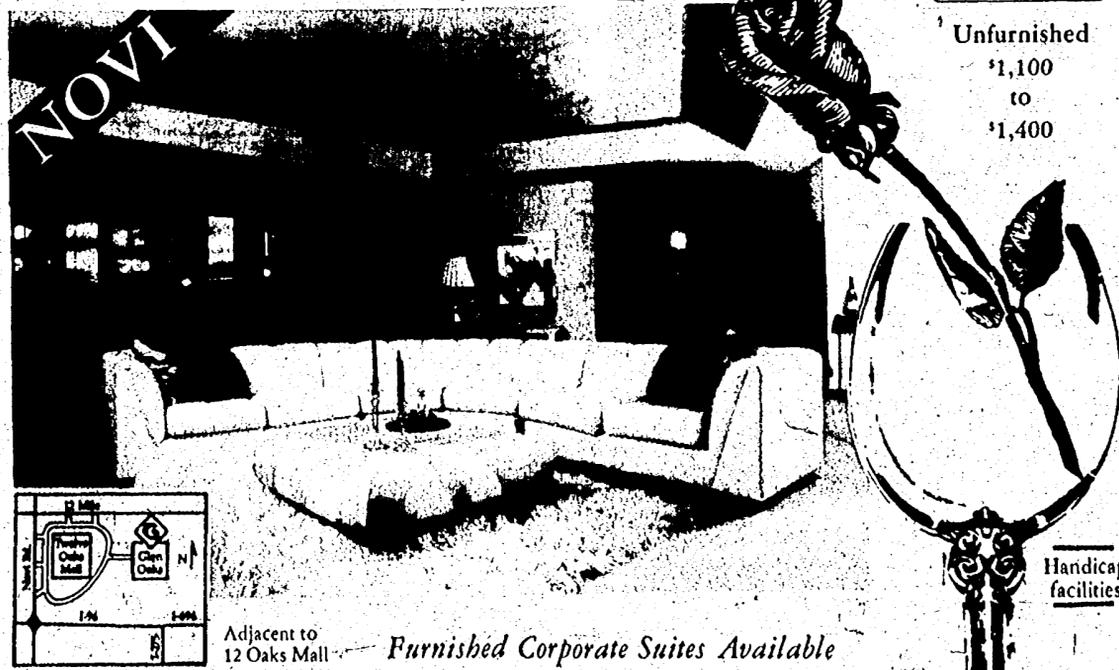

Author Mills emphasized to me that brain dominance is "beyond value judgment" and should never be construed as "right" or "wrong," but merely different. This is only an outline sketch of their insightful book, which can be obtained by sending $14.95 (plus $1.60 postage) check or money order to Jamelson Publishing Co., 90 Schenck Ave., Suite 114, Great Neck, NY 11021.

Builder uses energy saving as sales tool

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Robert Snowden, a West Bloomfield developer trying to break into the business, figures that he has to use every available marketing tool to compete with the big boys and attract customers.

So he's decided to add energy-efficient touches to pre-engineered modular houses he customizes on scattered lots in the metropolitan area.

Touches like storm doors on the Crestline windows, insulation in the steel front door, 3 1/4 inches of extra insulation between floors, 1 1/4 inches of insulation in the roof and two thermostats on the furnace — one for the second floor, the other for the first.

Snowden, president of the fledgling Ashley Development Co., recently was recognized by Consumers Power for exceeding standards set by the utility's energy efficient home award program.

"For me, the energy package is standard because I believe in making an energy efficient home," Snowden said of models offered by General Housing of Bay City.

"IF WE'RE going to become energy independent, we're going to have to pay attention to these things," he said.

A modular house is completely built in sections at a factory, then transported to a lot where its major sections are put together.

Snowden, 34, designed and installed two bedrooms and a full bathroom upstairs and roughed in a bonus room over the garage at the Williamsburg Cape Cod model in the Pleasant Lake Highland Subdivision of West Bloomfield.

The main floor — two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen, bathroom and laundry — is 1,120 square feet.

A small Valliant model, gas-fired boiler furnace in the basement is rated at 85-percent efficiency, Snowden said.

The house is listed at $126,500 and includes the lot. The model alone would sell for about $90,000 with an unfinished upstairs, Snowden said.

BUYERS DON'T seem to be as fussy about energy-saving elements in a house today as they were a decade ago, Snowden said.

"In 1979-80-81, buyers were more energy conscious when the price of energy jumped about 50 percent," he said. "Prices have stabilized, maybe fallen, and they're not paying as much consideration."

"I think they will be in for a nasty surprise in a few years when they (prices) take off again," Snowden said.

Jim White, a marketing consultant for Consumers, agrees with Snowden, but believes that energy again is becoming important to buyers.

"I think people realize we've seen some relief (on prices) in the long term," White said. "In the long-term, energy is going to be an important resource to manage."

A study by the National Association of Home Builders indicates that nearly 70 percent of new home buyers rank energy efficiency high on a list of the most important considerations when building a new home.

BUILDERS ARE responding, said James S. Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

"From the roof to the basement, new home buyers will find the very latest in construction and materials to make their homes more comfortable, more convenient and less expensive to live in," he said.

More insulation, more-efficient window glazings and more-efficient furnaces and water heaters have resulted.

Everyone wins with the home energy award program sponsored by Consumers Power, White said.

The utility gets another natural gas customer, the buyer gets more bang for his energy dollar and the builder can promote and advertise a house as energy-efficient.

Other builders honored or soon to be honored by Consumers are LePore Building of Troy, Hillcom Development of Bloomfield Hills and Multi-Building of Plymouth, White said.

TO QUALIFY, ceiling insulation must be rated at least R-38 and wall insulation R-19, White said. The higher the rating, the greater the efficiency and protection.

Snowden said he has R-44 in the ceiling, R-19 in the walls and an additional 1 1/4 inches of insulation with a rating of R-45 in the roof.

Award-winning houses also must be completely weatherstripped and caulked, the windows must be double-glazed or contain storms and the furnace and hot water heater must be rated at least 80 percent efficient.

The windows used by Snowden have storms and reflect heat out in summer and reflect heat in during winter, he said.

"Hot-water baseboard heat is quiet, it's even and it's efficient," he added.

The dual thermostats on the furnace — one for the second floor, the other for the first — also save energy, Snowden said.

The Williamsburg in West Bloomfield remains unsold in spite of the energy strategy taken by Snowden.

The big drawback is the nearly mile trek on an unpaved road up Halsted from 14 Mile, he said.

Appliances cut energy use

(AP) — Consumers can save close to $150 a year by using the most energy efficient appliances sold in the United States, according to an independent non-profit energy research group.

"There are many factors that consumers need to look at in purchasing appliances. Energy is one of them," said Steve Nadel, senior associate at the American Council for an Energy-Efficient Economy.

Because "one-third of the electricity produced in the U.S. is consumed in our homes" the council recommends consumers pay closer attention to the yellow EnergyGuide labels affixed to new appliances.

"We are suggesting that people narrow their searches," Nadel said. The group's guide, "The Most Energy-Efficient Appliances" offers consumers help in doing that.

"If all the households in the U.S. had the most efficient refrigerators currently available, the electricity savings would eliminate the need for about 10 large power plants," the report said.

The makes and models surveyed by the council meet or exceed the minimum efficiency standards established by the National Appliance Energy Conservation Act of 1987, Nadel added.

The law provides that minimum energy efficiency standards for major home appliances be reduced by 10 percent to 30 percent and phased in over five years.

"Using appliances and heating and cooling equipment costs an average household more than $1,000 per year," the report said.

"We estimate that these standards will save consumers at least $28 billion over the lifetimes of the products sold through the year 2000," the report concluded.

BUT NADEL estimated buying the council's most energy-efficient refrigerator, dish and clothes washer could save $146 a year.

The average family refrigerator is 18.5 cubic feet refrigerators with top freezers and automatic defrosters, Nadel said.

The council report rates a Frigidaire 18.6 cubic feet model as the most efficient in that size category. Based on a national average energy cost of 7.7 cents per kilowatt hour the booklet estimates the annual cost to run the Frigidaire refrigerator at $65 annually.

The average refrigerator that consumers replace costs about $112 to operate yearly, said Nadel. He calculated that consumers would save $47 a year with the Frigidaire model.

For two other common household appliances, dish and clothes washers, Nadel estimated yearly costs for existing models in most homes at $70 and $90 respectively.

The council rates a White-Westinghouse dishwasher which costs $38 a year to operate and a Gibson front-loading standard size washing machine costing $23 a year to run as the most energy-efficient new models. The consumer buying these would save $32 and $67 over current costs.

Consumers can obtain a copy of the council's guide for $3 by writing ACEEE, Suite 535, 1001 Connecticut Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Avoid problems before they arise

Our project is about 15 years old. The president of the association, having read your column, has requested that we amend our bylaws. Several members of the board are concerned that an update of the bylaws would be expensive and not necessary particularly since "we've not had any problems over the years." Their philosophy is why change it if it has worked. Do you have any comments?

condo queries

Robert M. Meisner

but they basically did it their own way. What can we do since we want to throw the directors out? Unfortunately, we were not represented.

A: The board of directors of your association cannot have their cake and eat it too. If in fact they were elected under a procedure by which they did not follow their own rules and regulations regarding the designated voter representative forms, but then decided to get smart in an effort to make it more difficult for them to be unseated, you more than likely have a good claim that they have not been managing the association properly and have abused the election process. It is also more than likely that there may be other irregularities in regard to the election process, which should be reviewed by a competent legal adviser who is familiar with condominium association election procedures. You may find that you have a basis to set aside either the original election of the directors or the apparent election removal procedure, which you claim was fraught with error.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney specializing in condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit topics, which you would like to see discussed in this column, including questions about condominiums, by writing Robert M. Meisner, 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010. This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.

A: If the condominium project is 15 years old without any bylaw changes, it is clear that you have not taken advantage of major changes in the 1978 Condominium Act, which enhanced condominium association operation, as well as other changes to the act that took place in 1983 and thereafter. Moreover, 15 years of experience in condo operation have not been incorporated into your condominium documents. As one of the co-drafters of the 1978 Condominium Act, it was my desire to alleviate many of the problems or abuses that took place under the first generation of condominium documents and the first-generation condominium statute. Unless you incorporate the changes in the documents, they will not be applicable. Also the fact that you have allegedly not had any problems up to this point is totally irrelevant to the question of the need to update your condo documents. The idea of having good condominium documents, which are specific in regard to restrictions, etc., is to avoid problems before they arise to be able to deal with them effectively once they arise. Including, if necessary, the commencement of successful legal proceedings to ensure compliance with the condominium documents. Get your condo lawyer to address the members of the board of directors or the members of the association as to the need to update your documents as soon as possible.

We are upset about the election procedure of our condominium association regarding a recent attempt to remove the directors. All of a sudden the board decided that they would strictly adhere to the requirements that only the designated voting representative could vote when, in the past, that was not their custom or procedure. We protested at the meeting,

This Land Is Your Land

Void In West Bloomfield

On October 16, 1989 the West Bloomfield Township Board may pass an ordinance to restrict the reasonable use of your property. This Ordinance would require you to provide an extensive surveying and engineering study of your property and even force you to submit to a public hearing if you wish to relocate or remove even one small 3" caliper tree which you planted a few years ago. Do you want Government to take away control of your property? Can you afford more tax increases or a decrease in your property value? Protect your largest investment. Attend the October 16th meeting at 7:00 pm in the new Township Building located at 4550 Walnut Lake Road. Let your voice be heard before your land becomes their land.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL DEADLINE!
You can place your ad any day of the week. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday - Thursday; 8-5 pm Friday. We run over 10,000 ads a week and our phones get very busy on Tuesdays and Fridays. Call early so we can be sure to get your ad in the next publication.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

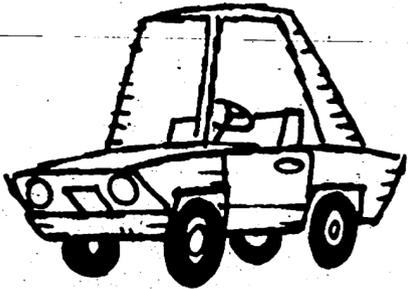

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

MONTHLY ALBUM

Monday, October 16, 1989

Just for Brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcements of engagements and weddings.

Engagement announcements will be accepted no later than 45 days prior to the wedding. Wedding announcements must be submitted within 60 days after the wedding. All announcements are run on a space available, first-come, first-served basis.

Photos submitted should be black and white glossies, preferably 5-by-7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the office where the information was submitted. Or, if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo it will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills are to be addressed to Loraine McClish, Farmington Observer, 33203 Grand River, Farmington 48024.

Inquiries are taken by McClish or Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.

Estabrook-Karpach

Mr. and Mrs. George McCathney of Southfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Lyndi Jean Estabrook, to Michael Karpach, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Karpach of Farmington Hills.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Mercy College of Detroit and is a physician's assistant for Michigan Health Care Corp. in Detroit. Her fiancé is a graduate of Michigan State University and is employed by John Hancock as an investigator.

A June 1990 wedding is planned.

On the cover. . .

Lisa L. O'Brien and Christopher N. Chiado were married in St. John Newman Catholic Church in Canton. She is the daughter of Grace and Tom O'Brien of Plymouth and he is the son of Russell and Mary Chiado of Canton.

On the way from the church to the reception in Roma's of Livonia, the couple posed for photographer Michael Thompson in downtown Plymouth's gazebo, at the suggestion of the bride.

"At a time when there are so many things to worry about, I can't say enough about how he (the photographer) put us at ease," the bride said. "He made a lot of suggestions, but didn't force anything on us. What we got was a lot of neat pictures that you just don't see in every wedding photo album."

Thompson specializes in wedding photos for Allen Brooks Studio in Westland.

The bride attended Schoolcraft College and is employed as a marketing manager with Laramie Enterprises. The groom attended Henry Ford Community College and is a salesman for Bruce Campbell Dodge.

The couple are making their home in Plymouth.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Redford Catholic Central High School and Purdue University where he received a bachelor of science degree in industrial management. He is employed as a manufacturing/assembly supervisor at Ford Motor Co. in Livonia.

Tiseo-Graham

Angela Tiseo and Paul Graham are planning a March wedding. She is the daughter of John and Rosemary Tiseo of Livonia and he is the son of Thomas and Catherine Graham of Forest Glade, Ontario, Canada.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Ladywood High School, employed as a secretary in Livonia. Her fiancé is a graduate of W. F. Herman High School and self-employed in Windsor.

Jahn

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jahn of Livonia were guests of honor at a dinner party in Hubbard Lake, Mich., to observe the couple's 60th wedding anniversary. The occasion was hosted by their children, Gerald Jahn of Livonia and Marianne Nelder of Northville.

Clarence Jahn and the former Dorthea Nelson were married Aug. 10, 1929, in Napoleon, Ohio. The Jahns, who have lived in Livonia since 1935, winter in Florida and for the past 45 years spend part of their summers at Hubbard Lake.

They have four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Jahn, who founded Livonia Hardware in 1945 at Five Mile and Farmington Road, developed the shopping center including the A&P at the same site. Jahn served on the charter commission that led the incorporation of Livonia into a city, is a charter member and past president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, charter member and past president of the Livonia Goodfellows, charter member and past president of Livonia Rotary, founder and president for 16 years of the Livonia Rotary Youth Foundation, was one of the original founders and vice president of Livonia National Bank (now Michigan National Bank — West Metro), served on committees to establish St. Mary Hospital and the DRC race track. Mrs. Jahn has been active with PTA for Livonia Public Schools and has been an active worker over the years with the Livonia Goodfellows.

DiLaura-Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas DiLaura of Westland announce the engagement of their daughter Tracy Christine to Airman Gregory John Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Phillips of Livonia.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of John Glenn High School and attended Schoolcraft College. Her fiancé is a graduate of Thurston Redford High School and attended Henry Ford College. He is in the Air Force.
