THE WILLIAM Ford Vocational/Technical Center and the city's Economic Development Advisory Commission will hold a brunch and tour of the center Thursday, March 1 for local manufacturers and other businesses.

The joint city-school district program has been in the works since November. It will provide the business community with "an introduction to what the vocational/technical center is doing and let them know what a valuable resource they have right here in Westland," said Scott Veldhuis, the city's economic development director.

The 90-minute program will include brief remarks by Mayor Robert Thomas, Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill and possibly Don Douglas of the Westland Rotary Club.

There will also be a brief slide presentation given by Edwin Ferguson, center principal, on apprenticeship programs in Europe.

Interested participants may call Dan Vasiloff at the center, 595-2116, or EDAC chairman Joseph Benyo, 467-3183.

IN ANOTHER demonstration of that phenomenon known as the city hall ping-pong affect, the Westland City Council has approved a title change for the deputy mayor's post.

The city head honcho's right-hand man (or woman) will henceforth be known as "Executive Assistant to the Mayor."

The latest change came at the request of new Mayor Robert Thomas, who felt that title more accurately reflects the job duties.

Former Mayor Charles Griffin had requested the change to deputy mayor — from the previous title of administrative assistant — in 1988.

FEBRUARY will be recognized as Black History Month in Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

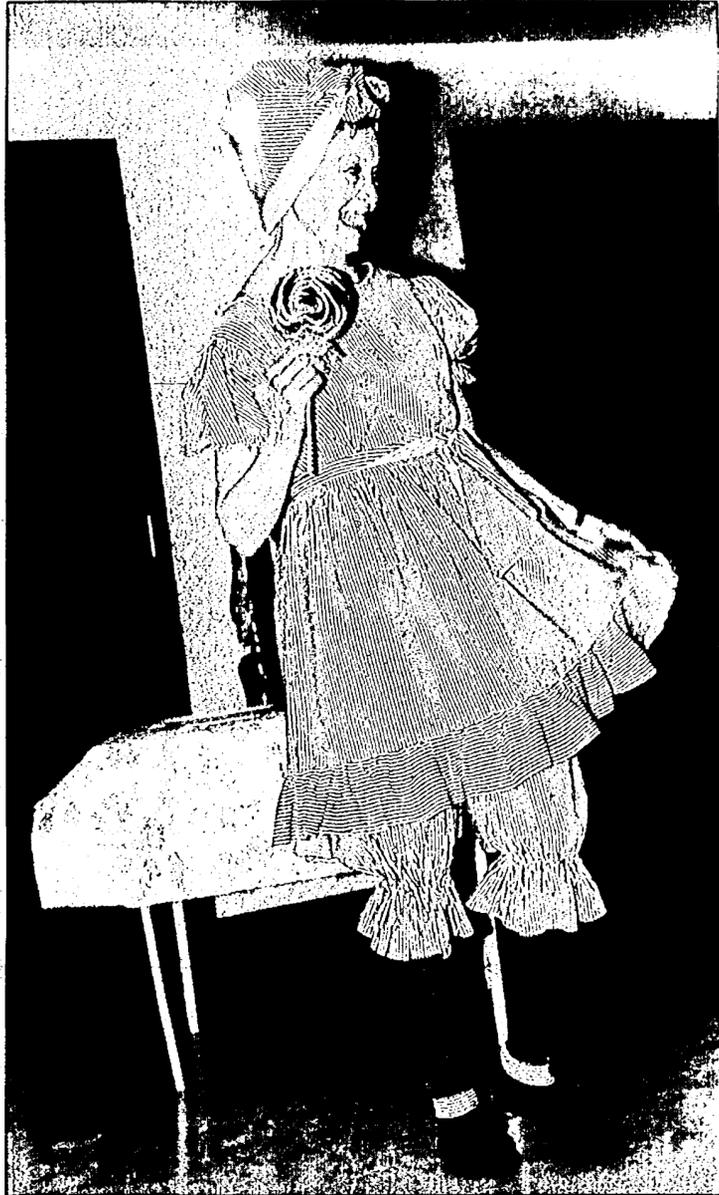

A resolution passed by the school board last week recognizing black Americans for their contributions and achievements that have "so ably enriched our society and culture."

WAYNE Memorial High School Band Boosters will hold a fund-raising auction 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 11, in the school commons.

Items to be auctioned off include merchandise from local businesses, the Detroit Pistons and Lions and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Admission is free and doors open at 2 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to help fund the symphony band's spring trip to Washington, D.C.

Home cleared in walkaway's death

The Michigan Department of Public Health has cleared Nightingale West Convalescent Center of any wrongdoing in the walkaway and eventual death of a resident last November.

Administrators for the Westland nursing home have agreed however to consider issuing alarm bracelets to residents prone to wandering from the facility, state investigators said.

The health department released its findings regarding the disappearance from the home of Edward Jaremba in a Jan. 13 letter to Michael Connors, project director for Citizens for Better Care, a Detroit-based consumer advocacy organization which monitors long-term care facilities and services.

"Since no violations or items requiring attention were found, the department will take no action against the facility," said a letter signed by James L. Buchanan, health department chief of the Patient Rights Investigation section.

THE HEALTH department launched its investigation into the incident following a Nov. 15 written complaint from CBC concerning possible negligence by the home.

Jaremba, 71, disappeared from the nursing home, on Newburgh south of Joy, Oct. 27.

His body was found a week later in a nearby field.

Following an autopsy, the Wayne County Medical Examiner ruled that Jaremba died from natural causes. Jaremba had been dead 24-36 hours when his body was found, the medical examiner said.

Driver in fatal crash sentenced to prison

A Florida judge gave the maximum penalty of 70 years in prison Tuesday to a Florida man convicted of the drunken-driving traffic deaths of two Franklin High seniors nine months ago.

A new habitual violent offender law passed in Florida in 1988 gave Orange County Judge Jeffords Miller the ability to sentence Francisco Canales, 31, to the "absolute maximum" penalty, said Wilson Green, assistant state prosecutor for Orange County.

"If it wasn't for that statute, he would have gotten maybe 17-22 years and would have done a third of that," Green said.

To test the new statute, Green said Canales' attorney most likely will appeal the sentence.

In November, Canales pleaded no contest to two counts of manslaughter while drinking in the deaths of Craig Allard, 18, and John Shea, 17.

Each count carried a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison, or a total of 60 years for the two deaths.

Canales also pleaded no contest to two other charges, leaving the scene of a fatality and driving while his license was suspended and causing a death.

High winds batter city

Westland motorists suffered some traffic inconveniences, but no injuries in Thursday afternoon's high winds, which reached up to 50 miles per hour.

The Westland police said traffic signals were out at the Ford-Hix, Merriman-Palmer and Merriman-Warren Road intersections, but there were no serious accidents.

The high winds also damaged the Bailey Recreation Center marquee, destroying the glass background and scattering letters across the City Hall lawn. The marquee's frame and posts were not damaged.

Trees were also reported downed and blocking traffic at 7677 N. Wayne Road and on Newburgh near Cherry Hill.

Telephone lines were also downed at Wildwood and Ford with a Detroit Edison line down at 7236 N. Fruman, in the Middlebelt-Ann Arbor Trail area.

Property values skyrocket while taxes go up slightly

Westland homeowners will see smaller city property tax bills and — should they choose to sell their homes — bigger profits this year.

However overall property taxes, including millage levied by Wayne County and the Wayne-Westland Community School District, should increase slightly this year when compared to 1989, said Bill Schmidt, city assessor.

Home values in Westland shot up by 9.5 percent during 1989, the second straight year of near double-digit increases, according to Schmidt.

'The market has been going up and Westland seems to be running even with most communities in western Wayne County.'

Local church plans move to Westland

By LeAnne Rogers

A Garden City congregation will soon be moving to a new home in Westland, making way for expansion at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

Garden City Free Methodist Church Pastor Bruce Rhodes said the two acre church property on Maplewood and Inkster Road has been sold to the hospital. The sale closing was held earlier this month.

"We will be moving to Westland. We hope to close on property at Warren and Farmington Roads this week," he commented. "We'd like to start building in the spring."

The new site is 3.5 acres and the new church will be 11,000 square feet or twice the size of the existing church, according to Rhodes.

The existing church will be demolished for the hospital expansion but the parsonage is going to be moved to the new church site. Rhodes said the parsonage must be moved by May 1 and the church must be vacated by Dec. 1.

"The church structure is too big to move," he said. "It has laminated roof beams. It's a fairly inexpensive shell. The parsonage is smaller and we will save money by moving it."

Home cleared in patient's death

On the morning he disappeared, Jaremba was seen by a housekeeper about 7:30 a.m., but couldn't be found when a breakfast tray was delivered to his room an hour later, according to the state report.

Nightingale staff members told health department officials they immediately searched the facility and grounds and then searched the neighborhood both on foot and in cars.

Westland police were notified at 10:14 a.m. and Jaremba's family and doctor were also notified, the report said.

According to a police report, an unidentified witness reported seeing Jaremba at Newburgh and Joy at 8:10 a.m.

Jaremba was admitted as a resident at Nightingale in March 1989 following a three-week hospital stay due to pneumonia and dehydration. A relative he had been living with prior to his hospitalization "refused to allow the patient to return home," the state report said.

NORMAN BURGER, Nightingale administrator, told state investigators he would consider the use of alarm bracelets for patients who have a history of "wandering," according to the report. The bracelets trigger an alarm when a patient passes through a door or other barrier wired to the system.

But staff members told state investigators that Jaremba had no previous history of "wandering," and he probably wouldn't have been considered for a bracelet.

Burger didn't notify state officials of the disappearance until Nov. 7, four days after Jaremba's body was found and 11 days after Jaremba walked away from the home.

"While there is no time frame specified in the rules as to when such an incident should be reported to (the health department), it is recommended that notification be given on the day of such an incident or as soon thereafter as possible," the report said. "Since there is a hotline number, such calls can be made 24 hours a day, seven days a week," the report said.

Connors said last week he planned to ask for a follow-up hearing with state officials on the issue of "timely notification."

cop calls

POLICE chased a man suspected of burglarizing a house on the 30400 block of Steinhauer Tuesday night, but failed to catch him.

Officers on the way to the home said they heard a radio report from Garden City Police that the unidentified man, dressed in a blue jacket, was running east from Steinhauer onto Inkster Road. Officers said they followed the man's footprints to the Clair-Grandview intersection, but then lost track of him.

A woman resident at the house said she arrived home at 7:15 p.m. and saw a broken window on the northeast side of the house and called police from a neighbor's home.

Taken in the burglary were a color television set, videocassette recorder and several stereo components, the resident reported.

AN EMPLOYEE of the Nederman Co., 6100 N. John Hix, reported that someone broke into the building Tuesday or Wednesday and stole a cash box containing $600 in bills and coins.

The break-in occurred between 6:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m., police said.

Another employee said the building's front door was unlocked when he arrived at work about 7 a.m.

Police said there were no obvious signs of forced entry to the building, but the culprit may have entered from a suspended ceiling in the office. Chips of ceiling material were found on the floor, police said.

Officers passed the building while on patrol at 8 p.m. Tuesday, but reported that the business appeared to be secure.

Home values up, along with taxes

rates when property values rise higher than the inflation rate. Taking into account the increase of just under 10 percent for 1988, the homeowner who paid $50,000 for a typical Westland House in 1987 is now living in a home valued at nearly $60,000.

The combined 19.5 percent increase for the last two years follows several years of declines during the economic downturn of the early 1980s.

THE WAYNE County equalization and taxation department determines the values based on a two-year study of local home sales.

Schmidt said the Westland increase looked "mild" in comparison with 30-40 percent increases in some Oakland County communities.

The city portion of property tax bills should rise between 4.5 and 5 percent, Schmidt estimated. Under the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution, municipal governments are required to roll back millage rates when property values rise higher than the inflation rate.

The city's current general fund millage rate is 7.31 ($7.31 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) and the city's total millage rate is 14.28, down just over 2 mills from the previous year, Schmidt said.

The owner of a $60,000 home ($30,000 SEV) would pay $428.40 in city taxes.

Last year that homeowner would have paid $446.60 in city taxes based on a total millage rate of 16.24 and a home valued at about $55,000 ($27,500 SEV).

Schmidt said Westland residential property values appeared to be on solid ground, although forecasting for the early 1990s would be difficult "because mortgage rates are so unpredictable."

The city's residential SEV, excluding new development, was $570.74 million in 1989, he said. Including commercial and industrial real estate the city's SEV is more than $860 million, Schmidt said.

Church to move; hospital to expand

The existing church was built in 1957, Rhodes said, although the congregation first organized in 1922. From its original location on at Ford and Inkster Road, the church moved two blocks north to Beechwood and then further north to Maplewood.

"WE HAVE some people in the congregation who have been here over 30 years," Rhodes said. "This has been a difficult decision to make. Our members helped build the church and parsonage."

After a 28-day prayer conducted last summer seeking guidance on what action to take, he said 98 percent of the congregation voted to support the property sale.

"I think the 'no' votes were based on emotion. The decision has been accepted and we are moving in the same direction," Rhodes said.

Once the purchase of the Westland property is completed, he said the church will proceed with getting the appropriate zoning and obtaining other city building requirements.

"It will be a beautiful building. I learn towards a colonial style but that hasn't been decided yet," Rhodes said. "We will let the church decide between a colonial style or contemporary."

Driver in fatal crash sentenced to prison

Each charge carried a maximum penalty of five years in prison, or 10 years for both counts.

THE JUDGE ordered each manslaughter conviction to run consecutively.

"He has to serve at least 10 years before he can be released," Green said. "If he is released, then the second sentence kicks in, with another 10 years. That means he will serve at least 20 years. Twenty years is a lengthy prison sentence these days."

In 1985, Canales was convicted in New York of killing two people while driving drunk. He was paroled in 1987. That manslaughter conviction figured heavily in Judge Miller's sentence Tuesday, allowing him to sentence Canales as a habitual violent offender.

The new statute doubled Canales' sentence.

Before sentencing, Canales did not speak on his own behalf. Numerous members of Allard's and Shea's family appeared before Miller to ask that Canales receive the maximum penalty.

"He was given the most he could have been given under the law," Green said.

Allard, a Franklin football quarterback, and Shea, a Franklin basketball co-captain, were hit by a car driven by Canales as both crossed an Orlando street on their Easter vacation last April.

Historic styles suit society

A different kind of fashion show was held Thursday by the Westland Cultural Society.

The fashions in the program entitled "A Glimpse of Yesteryear," ranged from what was popular in the mid-1800s up to the 1930s.

Providing the fashions were the Questers of Sandhill, a private, non-profit organization which studies, promotes and preserves antiques.

They put on the show for 120 patrons sponsored by the Westland Cultural Society, formed two years ago to promote events in the community.

In the past, the group has sponsored free outdoor concerts, book fairs, and story hours for youngsters.

Modeling the antique clothes was Betsy Mallory, assisted by Shirley Ford. Narrator was Carol Brichford. Providing the music was Joyce Richardson.

While most of the modeled clothes were authentic, Brichford said, a bathing suit had to be re-made for use by the organization.

The fashion show came after a luncheon in the Bailey Recreation Center.

Cultural society officers are Jo Johnson, president; George Gillies, vice-president; Sandi Wager, secretary; George Lomas, treasurer; May Reddy, membership; Mona Grigg, publicity.

Marles Lomas directed the fashion show-luncheon program.

District takes fresh look at how to teach reading

By Marla Chestney
staff writer

Parents visiting a second-grade classroom in the Livonia school district today may be shocked to discover the way reading is being taught.

Remember those fill-in-the-blank dittos that teachers loved to hand out?

Remember the reading workbooks, with questions on one side, answers on the other, and lines drawn between the two?

Remember the reading groups, where good readers (eagles) beamed and poor readers (crows) struggled to keep up?

Well, workbooks and dittos are mostly a thing of the past in the Livonia district, which serves the northern section of Westland.

'This has not come about without a lot of hard work.'

— Carole Samples

JIM JAGOFELDO/staff photographer

Interactive reading is preferred to reading alone or filling out workbooks. In this photo, a sixth grader at Cleveland Elementary is reading to a kindergartner.

Livonia School District

The Livonia School District includes the northern section of Westland.

"We're asking teachers to trust their own judgment in how kids are progressing. They didn't do this before. This has not come about without a lot of hard work."

THE LIVONIA school board recently awarded Golden Apples to eight teachers, part of a reading team, who have smoothed the transition to the new system.

Honored were Penelope Boozman of Marshall, Pat Hagadon of Webster, Nicolina Elliott of Buchanan, Sara Sampeer of Emerson, Geraldine Stone, Marguerite Stasak Braun of Washington, Nancy Muzbeck of Kennedy and Gregory DeNio of Roosevelt.

Last year, they taught the new system to first-grade teachers. This year, they are teaching the system to second-grade teachers as well as teachers in grades three through six.

The district hopes to have the training completed by the end of February.

"When these second graders graduate, we hope we have a group of kids who like to read," said Edward Hill, language arts coordinator.

INSTEAD OF filling in blanks in workbooks, students are writing in journals. Instead of reading books handed to them by the teacher, they are taking more trips to the school's library to pick out books they want to read.

To encourage the flow of words, students up to the end of the second grade can even get away with "invented" spelling.

The old skills, such as recognizing vowels and consonants, still are taught, but they don't dominate the classwork.

"There is no hierarchy of skills taught. Teachers don't follow a script. They'll be a natural dialog back and forth, and this will pull the child along."

The old report card is even taking on a new look. The card is still there, but it's accompanied by a big yellow progress sheet. The sheet becomes part of the child's record and accompanies the child through second grade.

"Change is hard, but the MEAP tests demand this happen," Samples said. "The movement is nationwide."

What kind of a kid do you suppose Thomas Edison was?

Bet he looked at problems and saw solutions. Like Maurice Scales who invented Baby No-Mash to prevent doors from closing on little fingers.

Bet he saw how things were done, and imagined better ways to do them. Like Lillian Lukas who invented the Puddle Detecting Cane for the blind.

Bet he watched how things work and thought of ways to avoid wasting time or effort. Like Caitilin McCracken who invented the Orphan Kitten Feeder for Three.

Maurice, Lillian and Caitilin were three of the thousands of winners in the Invent America! education program.

And you know that small genius can grow up to become big genius—with the capacity to make America number one again.

Levin convenes drug seminar

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

The federal government is putting more money into its war on drugs, according to U.S. Rep. Sander M. Levin, D-Michigan's 17th District, who invited more than 200 community leaders to a conference last week in Southfield.

"Seldom before has Congress appropriated money" without already knowing where it would go, Levin said Friday at the conference in the Southfield Civic Center.

But Congress has made more money available, meaning individual agencies can get increased funding, providing they establish their goals and move quickly, Levin said.

Levin called the conference to help agencies within the 17th District (parts of Southfield, Detroit and Redford Township) apply for additional money appropriated for the war on drugs.

Of $8.8 billion earmarked for the war on drugs, Michigan will receive almost $74 million in formula grants, or an increase of nearly 76 percent, Levin said.

THE MONEY will be used for education and prevention as well as treatment and law enforcement, he said.

"This money will go into the trenches of the war on drugs," Levin said, "where the battle against substance abuse will be won or lost."

It is directed at middle school youngsters just becoming aware of drugs as well as addicts and those trying to help or arrest them, he said.

The money was made available, Levin continued, because of the growing realization that to win the war on drugs the U.S. must reduce the demand for narcotics, rather than curtailing the supply illegally coming into the country.

The U.S. must continue trying to cut off the supply from Colombia, Southeast Asia and other parts of the world, he said. "But the war will largely be won or lost at home."

Edle A. Clark, deputy director for prevention of the Michigan Office of Drug Agencies, said the war on drugs calls for a cooperative effort between law enforcement and prevention and treatment agencies.

"We (prevention and treatment agencies) can't win without them," she said. "And they can't win without us."

In a press conference before the conference, Levin said he strongly disagrees with those who advocate decriminalizing drugs. Among them is the distinguished George W. Crockett Jr., a former Recorder's Court judge and fellow Democrat who is the U.S. Representative in the 13 District, or Detroit.

Crockett and others have said the United States is losing its war on drugs and that decriminalizing the use of narcotics will reduce related crime.

Levin admits the United States is getting mixed results from its expensive war. "Casual use of drugs is on the downturn, while use among addicts is near the same level."

"But you can't decriminalize drugs without condoning it. That would inevitably lead to more widespread use," he said.

Local artist will teach classes at Schoolcraft

Local artist Susan Pickering Rothamel will teach a series of art courses for Schoolcraft College Continuing Education Service this semester.

Rothamel's work has been displayed in numerous galleries throughout the metro area. She has been featured in one-woman shows at the Livonia Arts Commission Invitational, Jacobson's, the America Harvest Restaurant at Schoolcraft College and the Renaissance Gallery in Livonia.

She will teach the following courses:

- Oil painting 7-10 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Feb. 7. Cost of the 11-week course is $75. The course offers an introduction to the basic techniques of oil painting. Color mixing and composition will be stressed with an emphasis on learning to control the medium.

- Color theory with oil pigments 8-10 p.m. Thursdays beginning Feb. 8. Fee is $66 for the 12-week course. Students will experiment with the rationale and harmony of the color circle and dominate colors.

- Collage 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Feb. 6. Cost is $47 for the eight-week course. Rothamel will demonstrate the types of materials necessary for the composition of a successful collage. Materials are as diverse as handmade papers, rice papers, fabric and discarded watercolors. Students will gain experience in creating their own work of art. Topics covered will include basic techniques, compositions, sources of fabric, application of materials and alteration of paintings.

Art materials 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays beginning April 10. Fee is $30 for four weeks. The course provides an opportunity for art enthusiasts to learn about available art materials. Topics to be covered include new products, properties of art materials, compatibility, longevity, short cuts and special effects used in contemporary arts.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia. For more information, call 462-4448.

INFLUENZA & ARTHRITIS
Does having arthritis make you susceptible to other illnesses?
Since arthritis, particularly rheumatoid arthritis, is the result of faulty immune regulation, is it possible that this defect impairs the body's response against the influenza virus?
Studies to date show no difference in anti-body response to influenza viruses by individuals with rheumatoid or lupus arthritis and persons without these conditions. However, arthritis medicines have a substantial influence on how you fight infection; the drug that puts you at most risk is cortisone. If you need to take it daily, you are susceptible to both influenza and pneumonia. The drug works by suppressing the body's immune response in general, and does not specifically focus on lymphocytes that cause self immunity or spare cells fighting off viruses or bacteria.
Other medications, such as methotrexate and immunan, primarily used to treat rheumatoid arthritis, have a effect similar to cortisone but not in so profound a manner. Fortunately, aspirin and similar anti-inflammatory drugs, gold, and injectable steroids do not depress the immune system's ability to respond to viruses. Thus, physicians can treat arthritis without placing you at increased risk for infections.

Cable charges

A history of superinflationary hikes

CALLING BOB Bennett. Carol Gibson needs help.

Bennett, as mayor of Livonia and a former councilman, has a history of holding down the cost of government and the tax rate. He's no big spender.

Carol Gibson is general manager of Metrovision of Livonia Inc., the cable television company. She has a history of superinflationary cost increases.

In a letter to us subscribers, Gibson announced she will raise our basic cable rates to $15.50 a month on Feb. 1. Naturally, she doesn't say what the old rate was, but your friendly hometown newspaper looked it up. The old rate was $13.95. Nor does she tell us the percentage increase — 11.1.

THE CONSUMER price index (CPI) last year rose 4.7 percent overall, 4.1 percent if you eliminate food and energy.

Thus, Gibson's Metrovision outlet is hiking prices at 2½ times the rate of general inflation.

Cable TV is like that. According to the federal government, which calculates these data, cable TV is one of the most inflationary industries in America.

It reminds one of the oil price increases inflicted by the Arabs in the 1970s, doesn't it?

METROVISION'S performance could be tolerated perhaps if it were only a one-year glitch. Unfortunately, it does the same thing year after year. Consider:

- In 1984, when our neighborhood was one of the first in town to be wired, Metrovision charged $8.25 for basic. That price was held for several years while most of the town was wired.

- In 1987, the price leaped 24 percent to $10.25.

- In 1988 the rate went up another $2 or 19 percent.

- In 1989 the rate went up $1.70 or 13.9 percent.

- Since 1984 Metrovision's rate has risen 88 percent. That averages out to nearly 15 percent a year.

Did your paycheck grow an average of 15 percent a year in those six years?

Meanwhile, the CPI has inflated only 4 to 5 percent range annually.

Tim Richard

GIBSON'S ALIBI for this consistent superinflationary performance contains no hard information.

"We are now pleased to be able to provide American Movie Classics as part of our basic package," Ms. Inflation wrote.

Big deal. Most of AMC's films are so dark, even in the daylight scenes, that they're not worth watching. They look like copies of copies of copies of film.

Ms. Inflation also refers to "cost increases." Naturally, she doesn't say what for and what percentage they are of the total cost picture.

Actually, two of her major costs are immune to inflation — interest and depreciation. Interest costs actually are declining as the company's debt is paid off. Depreciation is steady. Together these fixed costs, in a typical company, are one-third of the total.

I've written to Ms. Inflation in the past and received evasive answers. Apparently she isn't about to start justifying her performance now.

SOMETHING IS seriously wrong over at 14525 Farmington Road.

Carol Gibson needs help controlling costs.

Mayor Bennett, as an old hand at cost controls and chief executive of the city which granted Metrovision's franchise, should offer to appoint an advisory committee to help Metrovision get control of its own operations.

Teacher perpetuates King's dream

To the editor:

I am writing in response to Judith Doner Berne's Jan. 18 article "Children must know about King's Dream." The article states that four years ago not much was done in our communities to perpetuate the memory of Martin Luther King and "his dream." It was noted that "no school districts other than Southfield paid much tribute to King," and that happily this was now changing, four years later.

I personally would like to applaud the efforts of Mrs. Py Wolfe, a first grade teacher at Eastover Elementary school in Bloomfield Hills.

When my 6-year-old daughter came home Monday after school she was brimming with enthusiasm, telling me that she learned about a "great man, Martin Luther King Jr."

Hillary drew one picture depicting a family sitting in church with King on a pulpit preaching, while Martin Luther King Jr. sat listening to his daddy preach. "I'll talk like that he said, and use those big words too. I'll make folks feel good inside." Little Martin's words came true.

She also had a mimeo leaflet that the children were given to color, informing them about his working in non-violent ways, that he was the second black to win the Nobel Peace prize, about Coretta S. King, about equality and much more.

Mrs. Wolfe did an excellent job in teaching the children and filling them with enthusiasm for this great American in a way that they won't forget.

Growing through grief

Growing through grief. Depression, disorientation, feelings of abandonment, emptiness, and of being overwhelmed. These are just a few of the horribly painful and frightening experiences one can expect when grieving the loss of a loved one by death.

Grief is recognized by professionals as one of the most severely damaging and traumatic experiences one can go through in a lifetime. One reason is because it is a severe stress that stretches over such a long period of time. There are no neat rules for going through grief. Nor is there a time limit. Some will complete their grief work in as little as a year or two. Others may still be grieving 10 years later. Why?

The reasons are many, but they all find their base in unresolved grief. Resolution must take place before the griever can truly sense release. The grief process carries repeated and intense periods of pain and surprisingly harsh experiences.

The wounded grievers are hit again with a new hurt just as they are going over an old one. Grief experiences can be very frightening and damaging when one does not know what is normal and OK. Feelings of guilt, anger, even vengeance toward seemingly uncaring individuals are common.

I want to help the griever and others learn what to expect from themselves, other family members, work associates, and others. I will explain some of the physiological and psychological changes one goes through, and will provide some insight and comfort in the hope that some grievers' experience might be a little less frightening, the process a little shorter, the pain a little easier to bear.

TO BEGIN, let us take a look at a common profile of the grief process. While there are no neat rules governing the steps in grief, there are some common experiences. The first response almost always reported is the sensation of numbness. Actually, this is a tremendous blessing. If we had to feel the intensity of pain when the shock first hit our awareness, we probably could not withstand it.

How is it that we can experience this dullness? Almost as if in a daze, you are observing yourself as, in the machine mode, you are somehow just doing. This phenomenon is actually a physiological event that takes place as part of the human stress response. Information hits the cortex of the brain: "He's dead!" The cortex then alerts the hypothalamus to pour all its power into the limbic and endocrine systems.

Think of it as electrical overload, with all the power of an entire fuse box, somehow directed into one outlet. At first, the power output of that one outlet might seem surprisingly capable of handling intense demands of energy.

THIS IS our "fight or flight" response to stress. It is the same response that makes it possible for a woman to actually pick up the front of a car from a child somehow pinned under it. That superhuman strength cannot possibly be sustained, for all the power contained in the woman's system has surged to the one goal — saving the child. The intense demand of power is thoroughly exhausted. After the exhaustion of all that energy, there is none left to pull from if another extreme demand is made.

The grief process is made up of continuous, repeated and new — extreme — demands. The system does not have a chance to replenish the depleted energy before it is required again, so the system starts breaking down and getting confused. The numbness can be likened to the strange experience of someone receiving a very deep cut on his finger and not being able to really feel it. He can see muscle and maybe even bone, yet there is a numbness.

This is good, because the fear that hits the brain places the first extreme demand on the system to protect the rest of the finger from further damage.

BY THE time his feeling returns, which will demand more intense energy to bear the pain, the system has had some time to replenish at least a portion of its energy reserves. Otherwise, the whole system — the person's entire being — would have totally collapsed and died.

Likewise, the difference parts of our being are constructed to maintain life and health. If part of us (our emotional self) does not care whether we live or die, another part of us (the physical self) will take up the slack for a while.

Thus the numbness sets in to allow the emotions time to catch up. When they do, however, the pain is intense and frightening. A new experience for some is the feeling of depression. In the numb stage, you had thoughts of despair. But like a machine, you performed as required. Now you feel the despair.

AN EXAMPLE of disorientation commonly expressed is the experience of driving somewhere and forgetting where you are going. Another is having to stop and think what month it is or where you are. Such experiences can lead to a fear that you are going insane. You are not. It is just another brutal part of the process called grief.

This is the first of two installments on grief. Pasquel is a counselor and founder and director of Foundational Living, Inc., on Cherry Hill near Merriman. She may be contacted at 326-0354 for upcoming workshops on grief, on Feb. 10 and 17 in the Summit of Livonia. Advance reservations are required.

Winter heat bills, road salt use on the rise

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The worst winter ever? Maybe not — but winter 1990 is well on its way to being one of Michigan's coldest, most snow-filled, in recent years.

Even though the winter is little more than a month old, energy use is up dramatically. So is the amount of salt spread over area roads.

Consumers Power, primary gas supplier to western Wayne and Oakland counties, reports selling more gas heat in December than at any time in the past 13 years. That means heating bills will be going up.

"Despite our best efforts to reduce the price of energy, especially natural gas, customers saw bills for December that were higher than they expected," said Edgar Doss, general manager of the company's metro region.

The company reports sending out more natural gas last month than at any time since 1976-77, the coldest winter this century.

Home gas heat use is expected to rise 20-30 percent over the same period last year, Doss said. Consumers Power serves more than 700,000 customers in the metro area.

AS IF December's below average temperatures weren't bad enough, they were accompanied by above-average snowfall.

Wayne County road crews have already used more than 65 million tons of road salt to date. The figure tops that used in the winter of 1986-87 and is only 30 percent less than that used all last winter.

Most of the road salt was spread between Dec. 21 and New Year's Eve, one of the busiest periods ever for county road crews.

"We've used a lot, but we're still in pretty good shape," said county spokeswoman Irma Clark. "That's because we've been able to replace what we've used." The county maintains a 70,000 ton stockpile.

Though supply might not be a concern, cost is.

The county expects to exceed the $5 million it budgeted for this winter's road care, even though the county set aside 25 percent more money this year than it spent last year.

The winter could be an especially cruel one for Michigan's needy.

Officials are concerned the state could run out of money to pay welfare recipient's heating bills.

"We're watching it carefully," Lynda Crandell, director of the Office of Special Programs and Services said.

Department of Social Services officials said they might have to ask the state Legislature for additional money before the winter runs out.

The state budget contains $211 million for heating programs designed to benefit low-income families and seniors. But officials said state budget restraints — and cuts in federal assistance — mean fewer families can be helped.

Welfare recipients can receive up to $1,600 a year for electricity and heating bills.

Detroit Edison reports peak electricity use twice topped previous records in December, though final monthly figures have yet to be compiled.

"We set a new record on Dec. 18,

Wayne County road crew loads up with salt at a local yard. Road crews have already used more than 65 million tons of road salt then we broke it — with 6,664 megawatts — on Dec. 20," said company spokeswoman Mary Kay Bean. "That was the week we had all that really cold weather."

The rise in usage isn't entirely attributed to the cold, Bean said, resi-

The figure roughly equals the energy produced by a 9 million horsepower engine — or the combined horsepower of 75,000 mid-sized auto-taste buds

chef Larry Janes

Foodies can be inspiring

Frequently, I get the opportunity to meet foodies like yourself. Whether it be in line at the grocery store, at the recycling center or at the library, seldom does a day go by when someone doesn't come up to me and say, "Hey, aren't you . . ."

When I meet people on the street, one of the most popular questions asked is, "Where do you get all the ideas to write about?" Well, in addition to reading just about every magazine I can get my hands on — not to mention cookbooks and press releases — believe it or not, I get quite a bit of material just from talking to folks like you.

I have a tendency to mingle things. One person might pass along an idea for a storyline. I file it somewhere in the back of my brain, and all of a sudden I meet someone else who kind of brings that idea back to life.

The writing process I use is similar to the combination of flavors derived from my recipe preparations. Different folks are like different flavors and, quite frequently, the flavors blend together in such a way I soon find myself with a totally new taste sensation.

Just as an artist combines colors to produce a painting, I think my job is even more interesting. Frequently when giving guest lectures, I comment that my culinary world has a platter for a palette and all the different foods are the colors, with my knives, forks, spoons and other sundry utensils my brushes. When I cook, the finished product is more like a painting, relying on the food to be my expression of colors, odors and flavors.

TASTE AND SMELL are irrevocably intertwined. Flavor is the quality of a substance that affects the sense of taste. The nature of its aroma, whether pleasant, overpowering or absent, will affect the way it tastes on a plate. For example, I frequently prepare a dish, when watching my caloric intake, using chicken, chicken broth, tarragon and lemon juice.

Anyone can saute a chicken breast in a little broth or, for more calories, a little butter. The plate presentation can be absent of any discernible aroma other than the chicken when it's sauteed with a little tarragon and then, just before serving, doused with a splash of lemon juice. The combination of tarragon and lemon juice affects the overall aroma of the chicken, making a basic, mundane piece of poultry almost bounce off the plate with smells of sweetness and tartness.

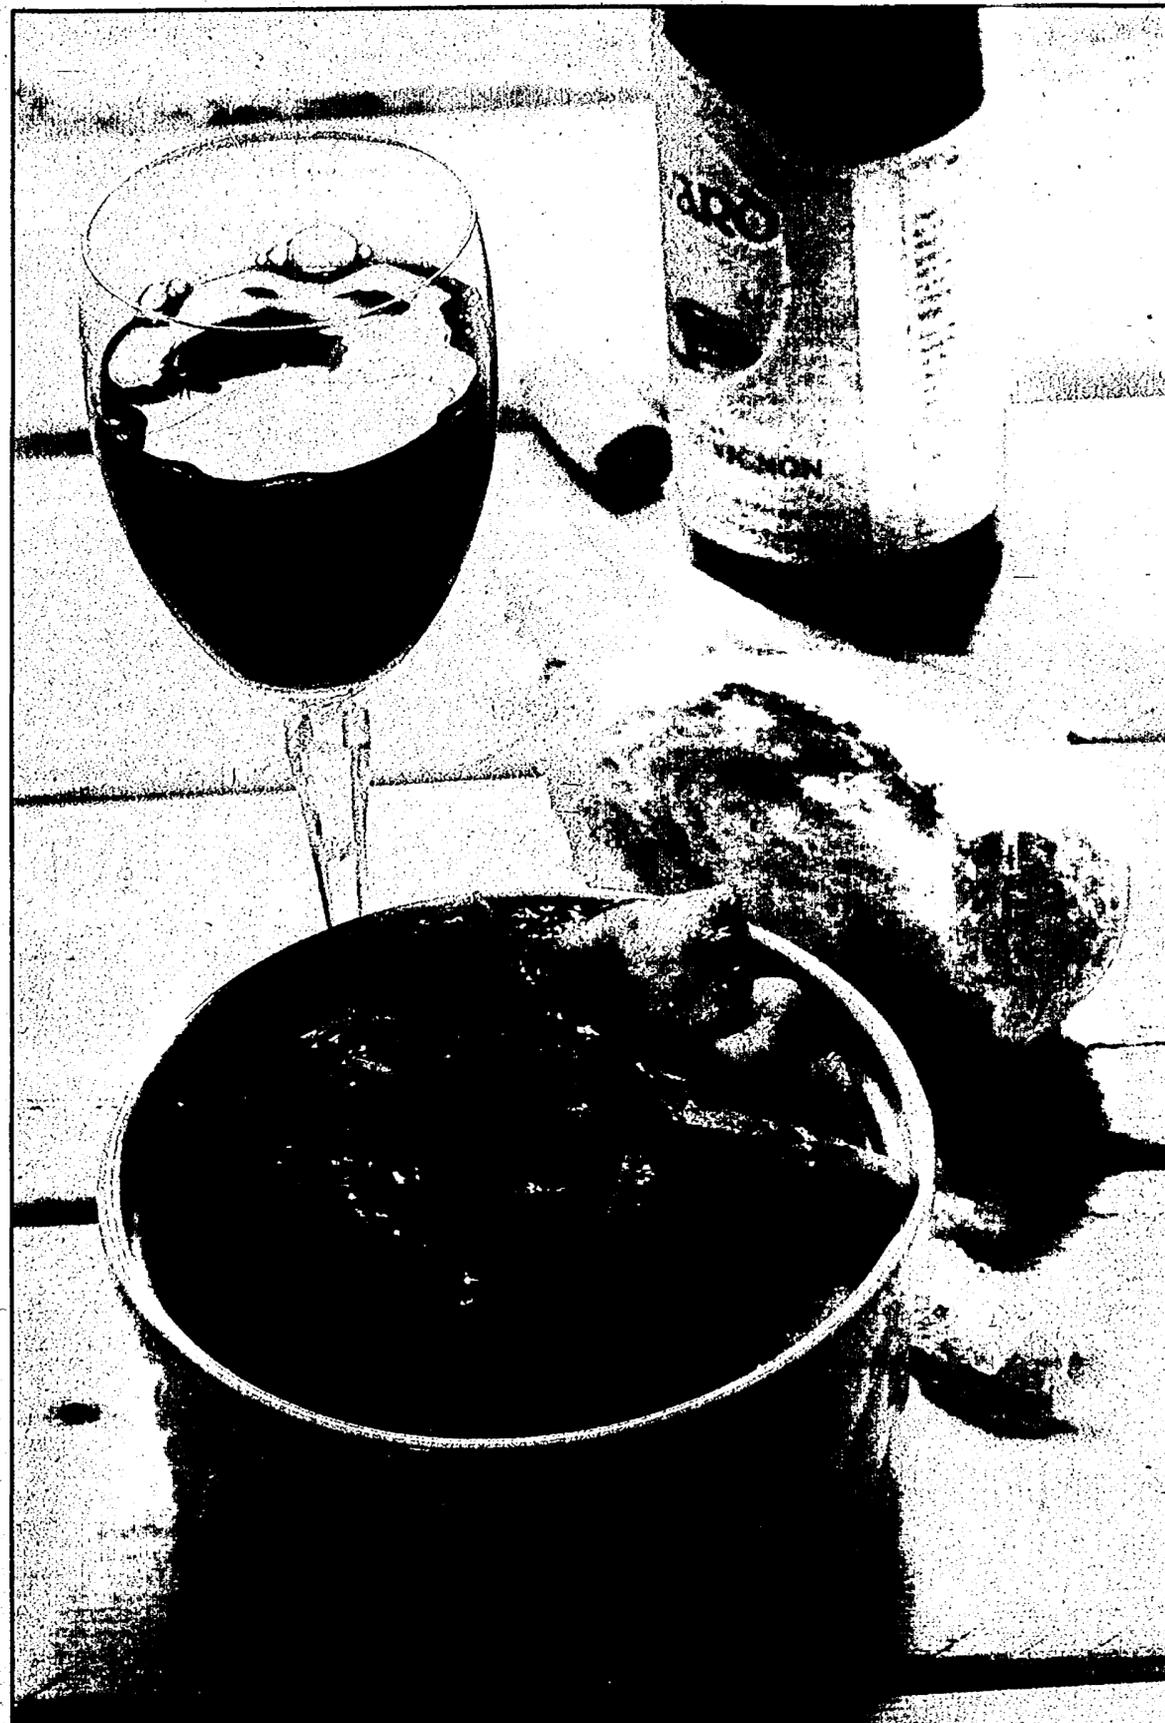

Flavors are broken down into two categories: primary and secondary. Primary flavors are those that are obvious, such as the flavors of the above-mentioned chicken and tarragon, or beef and red wine in a beef à la bourguignonne.

Secret ingredients belong in the realm of secondary flavors. The light splash of Tabasco that ends up in the fondue just before serving helps to highlight the flavor of the wine and cheese used in the dish. Ditto for a splash of lemon juice that gets enveloped in my special bean soup to help pronounce the bean flavor.

AND JUST LIKE the world is filled with uninteresting and nasty people, the wrong combination of ingredients sometimes will seal the fate of the obvious. Let's face it, you wouldn't use a mint jelly on a peanut butter sandwich now, would you?

So short of getting a doctor's degree in chemistry, how does someone like you and me know when to add just the right seasoning to top off a spectacular dish? This is where my library of cookbooks, magazines, articles and press releases comes to view. I've always said never to follow a recipe verbatim, but when comparing similar recipes, I always look for the interesting little addition that will help make my dish stand out from the others.

Pot simmers with winter stew

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

What warms up a winter more easily than a simple meal of hearty stew, accompanied by crusty bread and red wine?

It takes time but no fuss

By Larry Janes
special writer

STEW: TO SIMMER slowly, combining meat, vegetables and potatoes in a hearty, one-dish combination. Also, no fuss.

Mention stew for dinner and the first sentence tells all. But to some cooks, preparing a pot of stew turns into more of a fuss rather than the slow, effortless combination that a stew should evolve from.

Folks may confuse stewing with pot roasting and braising, claiming that a stew is more of a serving style than a cooking method. Good cooks know their weight in salt, however, worth that a stew can be a compelling combination of meat, vegetables and potatoes that literally melts in one's mouth.

Pot stewing utilizes a tight-fitting lid and very little liquid which is, in turn, cooked by steam.

Braising is cooking in stock or wine, used with all cuts of meat, that first involves searing the meat to force the juices into the interior of the meat. This changes the color and flavor of the resulting sauce. Then, by the addition of a liquid, the meat continues to cook, resulting in a more juicy and tender product.

Stewing, on the other hand, develops the flavor of the meat through a slow cooking process. It relies on the natural juices to intermingle with herbs, vegetables and potatoes for a melt-in-your-mouth delicacy unrivaled in flavor and aroma.

WHEN MOMMA made stew, she first retrieved the old cast-iron dutch oven from the fruit cellar and scrubbed it well, while waiting for Dad to return from the local A&P with just the right amount of stewing beef cut precisely to her directives. After trimming the meat herself, she would trundle for a medium grocery sack. After adding the trimmed stewing beef, Momma would generously sprinkle on a handful of flour and toss the bag for a minute or so, making sure each piece was covered with just the right amount of flour.

The dutch oven was lightly brushed with fat and heated till the fat rippled. Adding the stew meat in three intervals, she would immediately lower the temperature and brown the meat chunks.

After a few minutes of gentle prodding with a pair of tongs (she seldom stirred randomly), an equal amount of water and dry red wine were added, in addition to a bay leaf, some peppercorns and a melange of herbs and spices. The heavy top to the dutch oven was put in place and, with just a glimmer of gas flame, the concoction was left virtually untouched for what seemed like days on end, although in honesty proved to be just a trio of hours.

Follow your nose to cinnamon-bun shop

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Mark Tanski, owner of Cinnacraz at Wonderland in Livonia, adds the finishing touch to cinnamon buns.

By Arlene Funke
special writer

The heavenly aroma of cinnamon grabbed me as I followed the pack of morning mall walkers.

A tray of fresh-baked cinnamon rolls had just come from the oven at a shop called Cinnacraz, in the Eaton Centre food emporium at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

The rolls, resting in full view of shoppers, were gigantic. Just-applied cream cheese frosting dribbled down the sides of the still-warm buns. I got in line. Calorie counting would have to wait for another day.

"The product, cinnamon rolls, just doesn't sell itself," said Mark Tanski, owner of the Plymouth-based Cinnacraz chain. "It's the atmosphere and quality. You can come to the store and watch them bake. It's fresh-baked. It's the aroma."

Took the words right out of my mouth. A sweet, delicious comfort food.

Sitting in Eaton Centre was Annetto Patalon, who brought Emily and Norman Nawrocki to the mall for a morning treat. The three, Westland residents, split a giant Cinnacraz cinnamon roll with their cups of coffee.

"EVERY TIME I walk, I've wanted to try it," said Patalon, popping a bite of sweet roll into her mouth. "It's fresh and real tasty."

Norman Nawrocki, said he enjoyed the coffee. His wife Emily, raved about the sweet roll's cream cheese frosting. "I wouldn't make a habit of it, because of the calories," she said.

The Tanskis opened the first Cinnacraz, at Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor, in 1987. Other outlets are in Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi and at Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads in Plymouth, where their corporate offices and commissary are located.

Owned by Plymouth resident Tanski and his wife, Susan, the chain is one of several local businesses specializing in the sale of giant cinnamon buns baked on the premises. The name is a contraction of "cinnamon craze," recognizing the trend which Mark Tanski, a former electrical engineer, spotted on the West Coast three years ago while employed by Boeing Aircraft.

Mom's Cinnamon Rolls, in Laurel Park Place Mall in Livonia, and T.J. Cinnacraz, with locations in Farmington, Royal Oak and Pontiac, also sell sticky buns and specialty breads along with the big cinnamon rolls.

SIGHT, SIZE and smell bring in customers, according to Ken Thiemann, an assistant at Mom's, which opened in mid-November. "We fill the shopping mall with the aroma of cinnamon," said Thiemann, a Livonia resident. "Basically, it's impulse buying. The rolls are humongous. They catch everyone's eyes."

Prices hover around $1.50 each, with a reduction when purchasing six or more rolls. At around eight ounces, these aren't wimpy sweet buns. They're thick and yeasty, laced with cinnamon and brown sugar and slathered with rich frosting.

Tanski said plain, unfrosted buns are available. But most people choose the iced variety. Each one has around 500 calories.

People who can't handle such a hefty caloric wallop may opt to buy what Cinnacraz calls "cinnabits," the smaller pieces yielding half the calories of the full-size roll, according to Tanski. "You can still get a treat but they're not tied in with all those calories," he said.

Serious walkers are much more likely to buy one of several muffin varieties, rather than a cinnamon roll, he pointed out.

Stew simmers in pot

Only when a beef chunk was tasted and deemed tender enough for her demanding tastes were the potatoes, onions, carrots and celery added. I would be richer than Donald Trump if I could only bottle the aroma that filled every nook and cranny of the house when Momma made stew. To this day, the magical ritual has not changed one iota.

But then, along comes her contemporary son to change just one thing with Momma's ritual. Whereas she threw in whole peppercorns and bay leaves, only to have to retrieve them before serving, I have discovered that a small piece of gauze or clean cotton, with the peppercorns, herbs, spices and bay leaves inserted in the middle, then tied with a piece of string, alleviates the chopping down on a hard peppercorn or overly flavorful bay leaf. Just before serving, simply remove the so-called bouquet garni and toss. Then enjoy.

THE FRENCH are noted for their excellence in stewmaking. Their process utilizes two main French ingredients that have fallen by the wayside in this day of microwaves and boxed cake mixes, namely, wine and time. Interesting herbs and spices, fresh vegetables and the discreet use of wine can make a fabulous stew, but the true success lies solely in the method of cooking.

When it comes to thickening, I personally don't feel the need to make everything as thick as motor oil.

A stew that has boiled on high power with as much agitation as a washing machine will cook no faster than one gently urged on the simmer setting. Everyone knows that boiled meat will prove to be tough and stringy and the gravy will be muddy with the flavors "boiled out."

Always simmer with wine for several hours so that the true taste of the vino can marry the remaining flavors into a rich, happy family. Of course, other liquids can be used for braising, such as beer, cider, broth and fresh vegetable juices.

While I'm not talking crockpot cookery here, such an electrical contraption is acceptable when you just can't get your hands on a big, old, heavy, cast-iron dutch oven. Le Creuset makes both an affordable enameled cast-iron dutch oven and a regular cast-iron dutch oven that not only result in the best stews but can double for just about anything from a casserole to a soup pot.

It is recommended that the skin that forms on the top of the pot while cooking be removed. Allowing a large pot to simmer for hours will not only produce this so-called skin but also will surface an oil or grease slick. A gravy ladle or bent, oversized kitchen spoon works best to remove this without the overmixing that could easily turn a tender pot of stew into barbecue helper.

WHEN IT COMES to thickening, I personally don't feel the need to make everything as thick as motor oil. Some people like a substantial sauce and use a roux to accomplish this. Momma dissolved flour in milk and whisked it through a sieve so as not to get any lumps.

I guess if it was truly necessary, I would thicken with some cooked, pureed vegetables or incorporate the silky-rich taste of cream and egg yolks. Whatever your preference, fork-tender meat and vegetables in a luscious sauce can be an easy accomplishment for a busy cook. In the stewpot, if not in mathematics, the whole is often more than the sum of its parts. Bon Appetit!

Mom's rolls are frosted with a confectioner's sugar icing. The shop also sells raisin and pecan varieties and several selections of muffins, bread and other baked goods.

"THE ORIGINAL (cinnamon roll) sells two-to-one over everything else," Thiemann said.

T.J. Cinnamon's sells the requisite eight-ounce cinnamon roll, as well as a five-ounce pecan "sticky bun."

"They are real gooey and sticky," said Lauren King of West Bloomfield Township, supervisor of the three local T.J. Cinnamon's.

The Farmington shop is carry-out only. Royal Oak and Pontiac stores have tables and, "We have people who come in with their briefcases and work," while eating, King said.

Following are locations for the shops mentioned in this story:

- Cinnacraz: Wonderland Mall, Plymouth and Middlebelt roads, Livonia; Briarwood Mall, Ann Arbor; Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi; and Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads, Plymouth.
- Mom's Cinnamon Rolls: Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh roads, Livonia.

QUICK BUTTERMILK SWEET DOUGH

2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
1 ¼ cups buttermilk
2 eggs
5 ½ to 6 cups all-purpose flour
½ cup butter or margarine, softened
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt

In large mixer bowl dissolve yeast in warm water. Add buttermilk, eggs, 2 ½ cups flour, butter, sugar, baking powder and salt. Blend ½ minute on low speed, scraping bowl constantly. Beat 2 minutes medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Dough should remain soft and slightly sticky. Turn dough onto well-floured board; knead 5 minutes or about 200 turns. Shape dough immediately (no need to let rise) into desired rolls. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1 hour. Dough is ready if impression remains when touched.

CINNAMON ROLLS

½ recipe quick buttermilk sweet dough
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Roll dough into rectangle, 15x9 inches; spread with butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over rectangle. Roll up, beginning at wide side. Pinch edge of dough into roll to seal well. Stretch roll to make even. Cut roll into 15 slices. Place slightly apart in greased baking pan, 13-by-9-by-2 inches, or in greased muffin cups. Let rise until double. Bake 25-30 minutes at 375 degrees. While warm, frost rolls with icing.

Sweet Icing

Mix 1 cup confectioner's sugar, 1 tablespoon milk and ¼ teaspoon vanilla until smooth

Mother, teacher finds time to make speedy lasagna

Pasta has certainly come a long way from its humble origins.

Although some people might have thought it was invented by Chef Boyardee, museum books and ancient documents attest to pasta being one of the oldest and most revered foods, eaten as early as 5000 B.C. Indeed, pasta was not discovered by Marco Polo in China and brought back to Italy, for historical records show it was being eaten in Rome in 1284, almost 20 years before Marco Polo left on his famous journey.

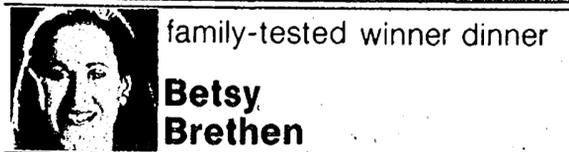

Another interesting historical tidbit is that fettuccine made with cheese, butter, cream and raw egg yolk was not invented by a restaurateur named Alfredo but was eaten by the Romans much as it is now in the year 1200, and was known by the catchy name of "lagano cum caseo."

Contrary to what a lot of children and, I daresay, some adults might believe, there is a vast world of pasta above and beyond Kraft Macaroni and Spaghetti-O's. This week's Winner Dinner, submitted by Susan Sweeney of Birmingham, offers you an alternative with a delicious and unbelievably easy recipe for lasagna.

Sweeney teaches math and social studies to fifth grade students at Brookside School Cranbrook. The mother of two children, she is working on a doctorate at Wayne State University. Her busy life as wife, mother, teacher and student doesn't leave her with much time to cook, but she has found innovative recipes that are easy to make and still delicious and nutritious.

ALTHOUGH LASAGNA is usually very time consuming to prepare, Sweeney's recipe solves that problem, as it should take no more than 20 minutes to put together. The secret to this speedy assembly is that the noodles are cooked in the sauce. A green salad tossed with a light coating of poppyseed dressing and a dessert of healthy chocolate chip cookies guarantee that no one will leave the table hungry!

Thank you, Susan Sweeney, for taking the time out of your busy schedule to share one of your family's favorite Winner Dinners with us. Perhaps from now on, the Prince can take his spaghetti and retire and

Recipes

UNBELIEVABLE LASAGNA

This dish takes about 20 minutes to assemble. It can be made in the morning, covered and refrigerated until placed in the oven. Be sure to bake it on a cookie sheet in case the tomato sauce bubbles over the sides of the dish. It is delicious reheated and amply feeds 6-8 people.

- 1 1/4 pounds ground beef, browned and well drained
- 32-ounce jar, thick spaghetti sauce
- 16-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 carton low-fat cottage cheese
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 8-10 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese
- 8 ounces uncooked lasagna noodles

Mix the browned meat with the spaghetti and tomato sauces. In another bowl, mix together the cottage cheese, eggs and cheeses. Arrange 1/3 of the sauce in the bottom of a 13x9-inch pan that has been sprayed with a nonstick spray. Arrange a layer of uncooked noodles on top and then half of the cheesy egg mixture. Repeat layers and end with a layer of sauce on the top. Noodles must be buried in the sauce. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/4-1 1/2 hours. Let stand for 10 minutes before serving.

TOSSED SALAD WITH POPPYSEED DRESSING

This recipe makes a 1/2 cup of dressing but can be doubled to make a larger quantity.

- 4 tablespoons salad oil or olive oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 clove of garlic, minced
- fresh ground pepper to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon poppy seeds

Shake ingredients together in a bottle until the ingredients are well mixed. Serve over a green salad filled with lots of fiber-filled crunchy veggies, like sliced carrots, celery, raw broccoli and cauliflower fleurettes. Cut up a tomato, chop up a bit of red onion and add some marinated artichoke hearts for a little change of pace. Toss and enjoy.

WHEAT GERM AND OATMEAL COOKIES

This recipe offers a healthier alternative to the tried and true Toll House chocolate chip cookie.

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup wheat germ
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 cup chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup oatmeal (uncooked)

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. In a large bowl, cream the butter or margarine with the sugars. Beat in the egg and vanilla. Mix in the wheat germ, flour and baking powder. Add the oats and chocolate chips. Mix well. Place heaping teaspoons of the batter on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake approximately 15 minutes, depending on the size of the cookies, until golden-brown. Remove from the baking sheet as soon as the cookies are taken out of the oven.

What's the secret?

This recipe is from Chef Larry Janes.

Can you guess the "secret ingredient" that makes this so special?

CHICKEN BISQUE

- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 medium carrots, chopped
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 1/2 quarts chicken or vegetable soup stock
- 4 bay leaves
- 2 cloves garlic

- 1 teaspoon whole black peppercorns
- 1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup blanched almonds
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt (optional)

In a large stockpot, melt 4 tablespoons butter or margarine and add onions and carrots. Cook gently for 5 minutes. Stir in flour and cook, stirring 1 minute. Add the stock and bring to a boil.

Make a bouquet garni, tying the bay leaves, garlic and peppercorns in a small piece of material or cheesecloth. Add to boiling stock. Reduce heat and simmer gently, uncovered or 1 1/2 hours. Occasionally skim as butter and flour particles float to the top. Pass liquid through a strainer to remove lumps and bouquet garni. Reserve liquid.

Chop chicken finely and saute in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add almonds and cook 5 minutes. Add soup stock, cream, lemon juice and salt, if desired. Cook for 5 minutes.

clarification

In Larry Janes' recipe for Escargot, from his "Taste buds" column Jan. 15, the eight cloves of garlic called for are to be combined along with the other ingredients that go into the food processor, to be processed until finely chopped.

Instructions were incomplete in the recipe for Spicy Shrimp with Snow Peas, in the Monday, Jan. 22, Taste section. Here is the correct information: In 3-quart microwavable dish combine snow peas, red pepper, green onions and corn oil.

Cover; microwave on high 1 minute. Stir in sauce and dried red pepper. Microwave uncovered 2 minutes. Add shrimp. Microwave, stirring twice, 9-10 minutes or until sauce boils and thickens and shrimp are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Frozen Chocolate Souffle can be a healthy dessert

This recipe for frozen chocolate souffle is from the article "A Great Chef's Vegetarian Dinner" in a recent issue of Bon Appétit magazine. The dessert is low in sugar and fat.

FROZEN CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

It's hard to believe that this dense and delicious dessert is low in sugar and fat.

- Four servings
- 1 teaspoon instant espresso powder
- 2 tablespoons boiling water
- 3 ounces Neufchatel cheese or other light cream cheese, room temperature

- 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder (preferably Dutch process), sieved
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 egg, room temperature
- 1 egg white, room temperature
- candied violets (optional)

Stir espresso powder into water in large bowl. Add cheese, cocoa powder, 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla extract and work with wooden spoon or spatula to blend thoroughly.

Off heat, whisk egg, egg white and remaining 3 tablespoons sugar in top of double boiler until foamy. Set over gently simmering water. Using electric mixer, beat mixture until tripled in volume, about 5 minutes.

Stir 2 tablespoons egg mixture into chocolate mixture to lighten. Gently fold remaining egg mixture into chocolate mixture in 2 batches.

Divide mixture among 4 pots de creme or espresso cups. Cover and freeze at least 3 hours. (Can be prepared 1 week ahead.) Let stand 10 minutes in refrigerator before serving. Garnish with candied violets if desired.

It's a food myth that bananas are fattening

In our desire to eat right, we can sometimes fall victim to food myths, oversimplification and misconceptions.

Whether we are dieting to lose weight, lower cholesterol, change old eating habits or just trying to eat healthier, it's like running a maze with all the good and bad nutrition information available. Let's take a look at some of this misinformation: Bananas are fattening! One banana has 105 calories, about the same as a quarter cup of raisins and just a couple more calories than a Bartlett pear. Bananas are excellent sources of potassium. What's more, a banana is certainly better for you than fruit packed in heavy syrup.

Lols Thieleke home economist, Cooperative Extension Service cent of its fat removed! The percentage figure refers to the fat content as a proportion of the whole milk's total weight. Whole milk is 3.3 percent fat, so lowering the fat to two percent is a reduction of about a third, not 98 percent. Two percent milk is 125 calories a cup, skim milk has just 85 calories per cup.

PRETZELS ARE junk food, so better than chips or other packaged snacks! Unlike potato chips and pork rinds, which are deep-fried, pretzels are simply flour, water and vegetable shortening baked together. Almost none of the 100 calories in an ounce of pretzels comes from fat. However, salted pretzels are loaded with sodium, so choose low sodium pretzels.

Avoid jam and jelly, they pile on the calories! The bad name their high sugar content has given jelly and jam is largely undeserved. They contain neither saturated fat nor cholesterol. A full tablespoon of jelly contributes only 50 calories to your morning toast. The same amount of butter or cream cheese runs 100 calories. Butter is essentially 100 percent saturated fat; cream cheese is 90 percent saturated fat. Have jelly, hold the butter!

Cottage cheese is a great diet food! Not unless it is low-fat cottage cheese. A cup of large curd cottage cheese that is four percent fat has 235 calories. Cottage cheese fans should stick to the low fat kinds which have only 163 calories.

Certain foods are difficult to digest, so they will make you lose weight! Grapefruit and celery have both enjoyed this reputation and have been featured in fad diets. Unfortunately it isn't so. The calories your body burns in fueling the digestive cycle are minuscule compared with the calories in the food itself. Remember, no food has negative calories.

All salad greens are alike! Go for a salad instead of French fries, but I suggest you choose your lettuce carefully. A 3 1/2-ounce serving of iceberg lettuce (the kind most commonly found in salad bars) provides only a small amount of vitamins A and C and a bit of fiber. The same serving of Boston or bibb lettuce contains about 10 percent* of the adult requirement for vitamin A and 10 to 15 percent of vitamin C. Spinach is an excellent choice for salad greens. It is high in dietary fiber and a one cup serving provides about 40 percent of the recommended amount of vitamin A for an adult.

One banana has 105 calories, about the same as a quarter cup of raisins and just a couple more calories than a Bartlett pear.

APPLE JUICE is good for thirsty kids! Apple juice may be the children's choice, but its nutritional benefits are negligible. That container of 100 percent apple juice holds mostly water and fruit sugar. Apple juice for babies is generally fortified with vitamin C. A child who eats plenty of fruits and vegetables is getting enough vitamins and apple juice can not make up for a vitamin-poor diet.

There is no such thing as a perfect food. Avoid running the nutritional gauntlet; read the labels on foods to see what you're getting and/or read books or articles written by nutrition "degreed" professionals.

Many of our so-called experts are not trained in nutrition but are lawyers, actors and so forth. Diet and good health are very important so make sure you have the correct facts about the foods you buy, prepare and eat.

Parmesan Puffs prepared quickly

The January issue of Gourmet magazine offers this recipe for "Parmesan Puffs" in the monthly feature "In Short Order."

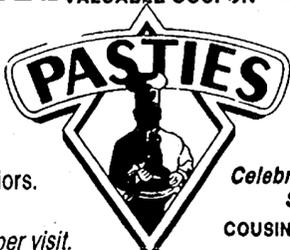

PARMESAN PUFFS
1/4 cup milk
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) unsalted butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
2 large eggs
1 cup freshly grated Parmesan

In a small heavy saucepan combine the milk, 1/4 cup water, the butter and the salt and bring the mixture to a boil over high heat. Reduce the heat to moderate, add the flour all at once, and beat the mixture with a wooden spoon until it leaves the side of the pan and forms a ball. Transfer the mixture to a bowl, whisk in the eggs, 1 at a time, whisking well after each addition, and stir in the Parmesan and pepper to taste. Drop the batter in 8 mounds on a buttered baking sheet and bake the puffs in the upper third of a preheated 400-degree oven for 20 minutes, or until they are crisp and golden. The puffs may be served as an hors d'oeuvre or as an accompaniment to soups, meats and poultry and may be stored overnight in an airtight container. Makes 8 puffs.

Trenton grinds out 3-1 win over CC

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Redford Catholic Central mustered only 13 shots on goal Saturday night at the Redford Ice Arena, falling to Trenton in a battle of state-ranked hockey teams, 3-1.

Like bees to honey, Trenton was all over the puck most of the evening against the Shamrocks, who slipped to 10-3-2 overall and 5-2-1 in the Michigan Metro circuit.

"Forechecking doesn't take a lot of skills," said Redford CC coach Jack Gumbleton. "All it takes is hustle and desire. Effort creates shots. All we had to do was move the puck around."

But the Shamrocks found it difficult to maneuver around the Trojans.

In the second period, CC got off only one shot against Trenton goalie Jim Imhoff.

"WE DON'T KNOW how good he (Imhoff) is because we didn't even test him," Gumbleton said. "I remember one time in the second period where we had a three-on-one (break), but by the time we made the one pass, their forwards were all in our end and had us all covered."

Trenton's Paul Withee scored the game's first goal on a backhand at 4:18 of the first period.

That goal stood up until 3:59 of the third period when Jeff Dunn took a face-off just outside the CC blue line and beat Shamrock senior goaltender Matt Fennelly.

With a 2-0 lead, Trenton seemed in command until Keith Bozyk tapped in a shot from Paul Pirronello and Jesse Hubenschmidt with 7:17 remaining.

But CC couldn't score the equalizer, and Trenton's Craig Ward tallied an empty netter with 15 seconds left.

"It doesn't matter if they had only 13 shots when you're up only 2-1 and 1-0," said Trenton coach Skip Howey, whose team is 12-3 overall and 7-1 in the Metro. "All they need is one goal and they're right back in it."

DESPITE THE LOSS, Fennelly sparkled in the CC nets, stopping 24 of 27 shots.

"Had he (Fennelly) not played so well in the first period, we would have been out of it," Gumbleton said. "If we play like that against a (Birmingham) Brother Rice or (Livonia) Stevenson in the first round of the regionals (Feb. 26) like, we'll be out of it (state tourney) fast."

Added Howey: "I thought he (Fennelly) played super. If they have that kind of goaltending in the state tourney, they'll go a long way."

Stevenson turns back Pats, 5-2

By Larry O'Connor

Throw in another log, Livonia Stevenson wins the warmth of the first place fire in the Suburban Prep Hockey League.

The Spartans look intent on staying there, shaking to a 5-2 win Friday over punky Livonia Franklin at Edgar Arena.

Stevenson (3-4-3 overall, 6-1 SPHL) is alone atop the league. Livonia Churchill (5-2 SPHL) suffered a 3-3 setback to Southfield-Lathrup earlier in the week.

John Labadie struck for two goals in the second period while Matt Cichy added another in the third period to seal the win for Stevenson. Matt Kozar and John Brodman added goals for the Spartans.

Brian Stover scored both Patriot goals.

Spartans stun Rice

hockey

Livonia Stevenson made a statement Wednesday at Oak Park's Compuware Arena.

The Spartan hockey team pulled off the upset victory on the road, clipping second-ranked Class A Birmingham Brother Rice, 4-3.

In the process, the Spartans proved to themselves something coach Paul Ferguson has known all along: If they play as a team, they can play with anybody.

"It was a total team effort," said Ferguson. "The kids just worked and worked and worked. The key was that we played as a team. If they (Stevenson players) take pride in team accomplishments as opposed to individual accomplishments this team can go a long way. That's what we had (against Rice)."

A pair of third-period goals led to the win. After Rice took a 3-2 lead early in the third, Stevenson's Josh Clark answered with his second goal of the game, off a pass from B.J. Eglinton, to knot the score at 3-3 with 13:41 remaining in the game.

Scott Johnson set up the winning goal when he took a lose puck behind the Warrior net, beat the defender and fed Matt Cichy in the slot. Cichy beat the Rice goaltender for the winning goal with 5:36 remaining in the game.

KEVIN BRADY picked up the win in the Stevenson's net.

"He played a real strong game for us," said Ferguson. "He's been our backbone. He has good concentration. The kid really stops the puck."

Rice, which scored all three of its goals on the power play, opened the scoring just 1:10 into the game. But Stevenson came right back with a goal by Clark less than three minutes later. John Fenech and Eglinton assisted.

"They scored right away, but we came right back and scored ourselves and that seemed to take the wind out of their sails," Ferguson said.

With 39 seconds gone in the second period, French fed Chris Johnson in the goal mouth and Johnson gave Stevenson a 2-1 lead.

Rice scored the next two goals — one, late in the second, and another early in the third — before Stevenson completed the upset with the two third-period goals.

"If anything, we can build on this (upset)," Ferguson explained. "Now the kids know they can do it. They were very, very committed. Not one kid came off the ice without a red face from working so hard. It was really a team thing. The kids were tickled, too, and we can definitely build on that."

LATHRUP 5, CHURCHILL 3: Livonia Churchill's hopes for a Suburban Prep Hockey League crown suffered a damaging blow Wednesday when last-place Southfield-Lathrup, behind Ken Berke's two goals, pulled out the upset victory at Edgar Arena.

"That definitely puts us behind the eight-ball," said Churchill coach Rudy Varvari, whose team is 7-5-2 overall and 5-2 in the SPHL.

Churchill trailed 2-1 after one period. Joe Sultana scored for the Chargers from Tony Schuer.

Lathrup (2-5 in the SPHL) added two more in the second period to take a 3-1 lead.

In the third period, each team scored twice.

Churchill's Bob Sommerville and Dan O'Connor each had goals. Collin Gallagher and Marty Croll drew assists.

Pivotal player

Redford's Nissen leads Chippewas

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

With :17 showing on the clock, Central Michigan coach Donita Davenport called timeout to plot strategy. With her team trailing Eastern Michigan by a single point, there was no doubt who would be the focal point of her last-shot strategy.

"We were going to Sue," said Davenport, who is in her sixth year of coaching CMU's women's basketball team.

She was referring to Sue Nissen, the 6-foot forward from Redford who happens to be leading the Mid-American Conference in scoring with an 18.5 points-per-game average and is second in both rebounding (10.7) and field-goal percentage (53.8 percent).

The final play pretty much summed up the evening for Nissen. She never even touched the ball. She got off only nine shots in the game, making four. She was limited to nine points and four rebounds while playing all 40 minutes.

FORTUNATELY FOR the Chippewas, freshman guard Carrie Isanhart saw the Huron defense collapse around Nissen — as it had throughout the game — and took matters into her own hands.

She drove to the basket and, after banging a shot hard off the glass, grabbed her own rebound and was fouled. With :02 left, Isanhart made two free throws to give CMU a 58-57 win Wednesday at EMU's Bowen Fieldhouse.

Which made Nissen happier than scoring 25 points in a losing cause, which has been the problem with the Chippewas all-too-often this season.

The final-play breakdown was caused by the meager number of options available. As Davenport put it: "(EMU) probably knew we were going to Sue."

The road win could prove to be a pivotal point in the Chips' season. Nissen knows it.

"They had two people behind me

Sue Nissen
MAC's top scorer

and one in front," the junior, a former Class B all-stater at Dearborn Divine Child, said. "There's not much I could do. Lately, in the last couple of games, teams have been going into a zone and packing it in."

WHEN AN OPPONENT uses three players to guard one, someone's open. The problem with CMU is no one taking advantage of those openings.

"This was not an unusual night," said Davenport. "Sue gets double- and triple-teamed all the time."

"She's a great basketball player, but she's not superwoman. But until our other kids consistently perform, teams will keep packing it in."

That's why Nissen would rather score less. In her thinking, fewer points from her means more for others.

"Half of our team is freshmen," she explained. "We started out this season really well, but we've been struggling lately. That's why we needed this win, to get our confidence. If we have two or three people scoring in double-figures, (defenders) can't just check me."

basketball

Nissen has led CMU in scoring 11 times in 17 games, 11 of which were wins. The Chips are 4-3 in the MAC, and Nissen is being touted as conference player of the year.

HONORS SEEM to find Nissen like metal finds a magnet. Last summer, she was one of eight NCAA Division I athletes nationwide selected to the NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. The group, which also includes four Division II and four Division III student-athletes, is in its first year of existence.

Its purpose: to review and provide an athlete's insight on NCAA proposals. "They wanted to know what suggestions we had because the NCAA makes all these rules that trickle down to the athletes, but we don't have any say in it," she said.

Nissen isn't expecting an avalanche of reforms stemming from the committee, which will meet three times a year. "I don't know how much direct impact it will have this year, but I think it will in the future," she predicted. Her term is for two years.

As far as leading the MAC in scoring and reigning near the top in rebounding and shooting accuracy, Nissen remained unimpressed. "It's nice, but — well, I know this sounds like what everyone else would say, but I'd much rather be fifth or sixth in scoring and win."

"Tonight, (EMU) double-teamed me down low and everyone else rose to the occasion."

Rising to the occasion: That's something Nissen — CMU's scoring and rebounding leader since she set foot on campus, a GTE Academic All-American with a 3.57 grade-point, and a member of an NCAA committee — is well-versed in.

Woodhaven's 3-point barrage sinks RU

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Woodhaven basketball coach Mike Krogel stood in the Redford Union gym following his team's 75-56 victory Friday over the Panthers and was asked a pertinent question by the team trainer.

"Coach, do we want to take ice back on the bus with us?"

Krogel quipped: "No, that's all right, we don't want to cool off."

Despite the absence of two starters — 6-foot-7 Miami of Ohio-bound Vernon Crump (suspension) and 6-5 forward John Formentin (lacerated thumb) — Woodhaven still scorched the nets for an impressive 19-point win, while running its overall record to 10-1 and 4-0 in the Northwest Suburban League.

The Warriors connected on 11 three-pointers, seven by senior guard Dustin Snell, who finished with 23 points. Reserve guard Ernie Nemeth added four three-pointers for 12 points, while DeAnthony Hartman and Mike McKnight chipped in with 15 and 13, respectively.

"They're a good, solid team, even without their two starters," said RU coach Tip Smathers, whose team slipped to 5-7 overall and 1-3 in the league. "They don't make mistakes. They don't blow you away, but they gradually move away from you."

RU HAD VISIONS of pulling off the upset early on.

The Panthers, behind the red-hot shooting of sophomore guard Bill Malecki (game-high 24 points), were tied after one quarter 18-all and behind by only three at the half, 33-32.

Malecki hit 10 of 12 shots, mostly on jumpers, during the first half.

But the sophomore was held in check by the 6-foot Hartman in the second half, getting off only four shots, two of which were blocked.

"We told DeAnthony at halftime that he was containing him (Malecki), but that he was on his heels when the kid took his shot," Krogel explained. "We told him to get on his toes to contest the shot better."

"For a sophomore, he (Malecki) is going to be a good one. . . he's already a good one."

Woodhaven went on to outscore RU 25-17 in the third quarter to take a commanding 60-49 advantage. During the surge, Snell and Nemeth each hit a pair of three-pointers.

"They (Woodhaven) moved the ball well, but we were unwilling to cover them enough out there," said Smathers. "But it did not go unrecognized and unspoken. The first and last thing we talked about at halftime was to cover No. 32 (Snell) specifically."

AFTER HITTING 24 of 40 shots from the field in the first three quarters, RU went stone cold during the final eight minutes, making just one of 20 attempts.

"Our three-point shooters were not able to get free and they (Woodhaven) were able to cover them on the perimeter," Smathers said.

While Woodhaven was two players short, RU was not totally up to par, especially senior Steve Nowak, who scored just seven points, nearly half below his season average, while battling the flu. (Dan Lezotte was the only other RU player to score in double figures with 17.)

The Warriors, meanwhile, were feeling like a million bucks, hitting 27 of 54 shots from the floor (54 percent).

"Snell was excellent tonight," Krogel said. "When he hits the 'threes' it opens up so many things inside for us."

"The kids played well. It was a very good win for us. We had people in there that were not used to staring, but the key is that they all came through."

WOODHAVEN, considered one of the top suburban teams in the metro area, may be hitting stride: Last year the Warriors won 23 straight before losing to Ann Arbor Huron in the Class A regional finals at Willow Run.

"Since Christmas we've played pretty good basketball," said Krogel. "I just hope we don't reach our potential until the end of the year. We have our moments, but they're kids, and they have lapses."

There were no lapses on this night, just a warm bus ride back to Woodhaven.

Salem hammers Glenn in Lakes duel

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem's dual-meet victory over Westland John Glenn has immediate impact on the Lakes Division wrestling standings, but the outcome has much larger implications.

While the Rocks all but won another division title Thursday by beating Glenn 40-19, it also confirms what everybody already suspected — that Salem is still the team to beat in the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association meet.

Salem improved its division record to 4-0 with one dual remaining Thursday against Livonia Stevenson. The Rockets, who wrestle Farmington in their Lakes finale Tuesday, are 3-1.

Glenn was considered the only team with a legitimate chance at beating the Rocks, who now loom as the favorite to repeat in the WLAA on Saturday, Feb. 3, at Glenn.

"I think this is it," said Glenn coach Tom Buckalew, who will retire at the end of the season after spending the last 23 years with the Rockets as either an assistant or head coach. "I don't think anyone can stop them."

"THEY'RE balanced and they're too good. Everyone we've seen in the league I feel we're competitive with, and these people dominated us."

"They're going to have some kids seeded high enough to be guaranteed a place," he added, "and (Salem coach Ron Krueger) should get points out of just about every kid on his team."

Krueger agreed the Rocks are looking good but, understandably, was taking a wait-and-see approach after his team won its 11th dual against two defeats.

"Northville and Churchill have good kids

where we have good kids," he said. "It depends how we match up. From what I've seen, Glenn, Northville and us are probably going to go at it, with (Livonia) Churchill in there, too."

While seven of the bouts went three periods, Salem did win nine of the 13 individual contests as the potentially close dual never came about.

The Rocks started with three wins. Scott Martin (103) and Dan Bonnett (112) pinned the opposition, Tom Pace and Damlan Taucher, in 1:27 and 3:41, respectively. Chad Wilson (119) scored a takedown in the final 20 seconds to edge Mike Pace 2-1 and give Salem a 15-0 lead.

GLENN WON three of the next four to close the margin to 18-13 and keep the match interesting.

Karl Pace (125) won the latest installment of his rivalry with Salem's Ken Stopa 6-5, and Tony Pietrzyk (135) pinned Jeff Shumate in 3:44. Glenn's Cory Buckalew (140) dominated Jeff Coleman to run his record to 25-7.

Salem's lone win during that stretch was Julian Sell's 5-1 decision over Eric Ewing in the 130-pound bout.

"The way we've been wrestling, I wasn't surprised we did as well as we did," said Sell, a senior captain. "Glenn is always a tough team, though."

"We've been working hard, and anything we do is because of hard work. We have only meet next week, so it's going to be a tough week of practice (leading to the league meet)."

Salem's Ron Miller (145), wrestling in his first match since becoming eligible in the second semester, pinned Ryan Wilson in 4:19, and Charlie Apigian (152) defeated Wes Lopez 18-9 as the Rocks edged forward, 28-13.

SALEM WON three of the last four bouts, with Kraig Kuban's second-period pin (3:10) of Pete Israel at 171 being Glenn's last success. Kuban boasts a season record of 31-1.

For the Rocks, Steve Burlison (160) pinned Zach Bozanic in three minutes, Brian Burlison (189) won a 5-2 decision over Garnett Woody in one of the most-anticipated duels of the evening. Salem heavyweight Ken Coker blanked Jason Dunn 5-0.

"We had the early weights come through for us," Krueger said. "I thought Miller did a real nice job. The two kids we hadn't had available (including Apigian, who was sidelined by a back injury) came through when we needed them."

Krueger also said Kevin Smith, out with a broken arm most of the season but expected to help at 119, didn't make weight and had to certify at 125 where he is behind Stopa.

"He's locked up now," Krueger said. Buckalew emphasized the Rockets have a lot of wrestling ahead of them. Despite the setback, Glenn still looks impressive at 16-3 overall.

"We have Romulus in the (team) district, and we've beaten them once," he said. "If we work hard, we might be able to do it again."

"I think the whole team wrestled pretty well (Thursday). We'd have liked to win, but I think we hung in there and didn't let the score get us down."

Garden City grapplers win 1st match of year

Garden City took control from the opening match Thursday, upsetting visiting Redford Union in a Northwest Suburban League match, 38-26.

It was GC's first victory of the year in 14 dual meets.

In the opening match at 103 pounds, GC's Dan Horvath pinned Dave Stoddard in 34 seconds to set the tone.

Other winners for the Cougars: Darryl Ozendzel (112), a pin in 3:33 over Bob Garbacz; Jim Horvath (125), a pin in 41 seconds over Joe DeWhirst; Chris Gorak (130), a 7-3 decision over Craig LeTourneau; Scott Claus (135), won by void; Bill Sellers (189), a 9-4 decision over Ray Atkins; Jim Pelzman (heavyweight), a pin in 1:17 over Pat Srock.

"We've had a lot of injuries and this was the first time we were able to put our whole team on the mat," said Garden City coach Phil Freeman. "It was real nice to win."

Among the RU winners: Justin MacCartney (119), a pin in 1:35 over Keith Elerholz; Chris Reicha (140), won by void; Eric Buckberry (145), a pin in 1:51 over John Rae; Scott Nicolas (160), an 8-2 decision over Aaron Davis; George DeBates (171), a pin in 1:37 over Jesse Giermanski.

Todd Jacobs of GC battled to a 3-3 deadlock with Jim Blalock at 152 pounds.

LIVONIA STEVENSON was pinned Thursday by visiting North Farmington, 49-20.

The Raiders improved to 4-6, while the Spartans fell to 4-13-1.

Jared Lawrence (140) led the Raider attack, pinning Neil Ebner in just 56 seconds.

Other victorious Raiders include: Jeremy Moy (112), a pin in 3:48 over Barney Cuplan; Joel Lattul (125), a pin in 2:59 over Don McCormick; Marcus Brown (130), a pin in 2:23 over Adam Carriere; Lucian Van Cleave (135), a 3-0 decision over Brian Mitchell; Matt Thompson (145), a 5-1 decision over Adam Samulski; Adam Cook (160), a pin in 5:16 over Chris Lehti,

Rockets vault to victory

Westland John Glenn's Chris Prough won three events Wednesday and topped the all-around gymnasts with a 32.5 total to pace the Rockets.

Glenn scored 121.7 to outdistance visiting Farmington Hills Harrison, which compiled a 102.1 total.

Prough achieved 8.0 on the vault, 7.9 on the uneven parallel bars and 8.5 on floor exercise, winning those events. She was second on the balance beam at 8.1.

Glenn teammate Nicky Coombs captured first place on beam with an 8.25 and placed second in the all-around category with a 30.5 score. Coombs also came in third on bars (7.05), and she tied with teammate Jenny Durdon (7.95) on floor.

Harrison's Colleen Heinzmann and Amy Solomon also competed in the all-around, taking third (26.65) and fourth (26.6), respectively.

Heinzmann placed second on bars

gymnastics

(7.4) and seventh on vault (6.6) and floor (6.65). Solomon finished fourth on beam (7.75) and fifth on bars (6.2).

Other gymnasts who contributed to Glenn's score included Gina Martin, second on vault, 7.65; fifth on floor, 7.25; Amy Finley, third on vault, 7.65; fourth on bars, 6.75; Jessica Giriglio, fourth on vault, 7.35; and Buffy Schuch, third on beam, 7.9.

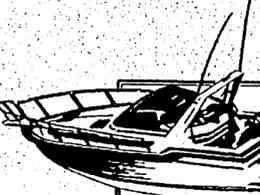

Harrison's Michelle Davis was sixth on vault (7.05) and tied with Heinzmann on floor, and Kara Burman placed sixth on beam (7.05) and tied with Martin of Glenn on floor.

The Hawks are 0-10.

Respert lifts Borgess by Shamrocks

By Ray Sellock
staff writer

Redford Bishop Borgess guard Shawn Respert stood next to his locker looking tired and sluggish following Friday's 60-44 victory over host Redford Catholic Central.

Respert's game-high 21 points, seven rebounds and tenacious defense led the Spartans to their ninth win of the season. They are 9-2 overall and 5-1 in the Catholic League Central Division.

"I am really happy with my defensive effort tonight," Respert said. "I have been struggling with my defense lately. I think my defense was better tonight than it has been in a long while. My defense really sparked my offense."

The Shamrocks (2-9, 1-5) managed to hold the much quicker Spartans to just a 7-0 lead after one quarter and an 18-10 advantage at halftime, but the Spartans would strike back.

"We were able to stay in our game plan early in the game," CC coach Bernie Holowicki said.

basketball

"But in the second half, Borgess took over. They moved the ball well and had great shot selection."

With 1:49 remaining in the game, Borgess scooted to its largest lead of the game, 57-38.

"WE TOOK care of things in the second half," Borgess coach Mike Fusco said. "CC made us play its type of game in the first half and it was to their benefit. But we came out in the second half and shot the ball well, moved the ball well and played steady defense."

Holowicki believes his team could have won if they kept it close at halftime.

"I told the guys if we keep within striking distance at halftime, we could win," the CC coach said. "I guess it wasn't close enough."

Holowicki added that Respert hurt the Shamrocks with his explosive offense.

"He moved off his picks well and converted the baskets," Holowicki said. "He made it difficult for us."

"We knew we had more talent than they did," Respert said. "We felt if we could play man to man defense with them, we'd get our shots. Luckily we did."

RESPERT wasn't the only Spartan contributing offensively for Borgess. Senior forward Randy White chipped in 17 points and 10 rebounds.

The Shamrocks were led by senior guard Steve Whitlow's 13 points. Sophomore center Bob Kummer, back after a week-long illness that sidelined him the past two games, scored 11 along with senior guard Mark Clary.

"This is a big win for us in the division," Fusco said. "Of course they are all big. I can't think of anyone which is bigger than the other."

ST. AGATHA 51, MT. CARMEL 49: Redford St. Agatha rolled to its fourth consecutive win Friday, edging visiting Wyandotte Mt. Carmel in Catholic League C-D Division action.

Junior guard Derwin Henderson carried the Aggies with 15 points. Junior forward Brian Kutch added 14 points and 10 rebounds. Pat Wagner pulled down eight rebounds.

Dean Sutherby paced Mount Carmel with 14 points. St. Agatha is now 4-8 overall and 4-3 in the Mt. Carmel 4-6, 4-3.

LUTHERAN EAST 67, CLARENCEVILLE 51: On Friday, Harper Woods Lutheran East soundly defeated host Livonia Clarenceville in Metro Conference action.

Stevenson takes control

Livonia Stevenson won its Lakes Division boys swim showdown Thursday, defeating Plymouth Salem, 94-78.

Stevenson, now 5-2 overall and 2-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, simply had too much power for the Rocks, now 2-4 overall.

"It was a big win," said Stevenson coach Doug Buckler. "We're a young team — only two seniors — but I think tonight we matured."

Stevenson went one-two in five individual races: Mike Goecke (1:56.22) and Joe Petrillo (1:58.5) in the 200-yard freestyle; Scott DeWolf (55.18) and Taki Caranicolas (57.56) in the 100 butterfly; Aaron Rieder (31.24) and Goecke (51.78) in the 100 freestyle; Ryan Freeborn (1:00.37) and DeWolf (1:00.58) in the 100 backstroke; and Alex Goecke (1:02.81) and Rieder (1:04.51) in the 100 breaststroke.

Rieder, DeWolf, Alex Goecke and Caranicolas added a first in the 200 medley relay (1:44.25), while Jason Norrid (220 points) took the diving.

Ron Orris paced Salem with wins in the 200 individual medley (1:57.21) and 500 freestyle (4:42.86). Teammate Chris Caloia took the 50 freestyle (23.7) and combined with Eric Bunch, Joe Pawluszka and Ben Soveriegn for first in the 400 freestyle relay (3:34.37).

"You always worry about a team like Salem or Northville in the league meet," said Buckler, whose team travels Thursday to North swimming

Farmington (7 p.m.) "But I'd say we're the best dual meet team in the area right now."

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL also ranks as a tough dual-meet team.

On Thursday, the Shamrocks (6-1) defeated host University of Detroit-Jesuit, 97-75, as Troy Shumate figured in three first place finishes.

He captured the 200 freestyle (1:48.91) and the 100 butterfly (56.37). Shumate, Alan Afsari, Brian Dyna and John Brogan combined for a first place in the 200 medley relay (1:50.04).

Other CC individual firsts included: Afsari, 100 freestyle, 51.45; Dyna, 500 freestyle, 5:18.0; and Mike Hoefflein, 100 backstroke, 57.19 (state cut).

Afsari, Brogan, Hoefflein and Shumate took the 400 freestyle relay in 3:24.16.

CC returns to action at 4 p.m. Thursday against Birmingham Brother Rice in a meet at Oakland Community College.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL was not match Thursday for visiting Plymouth Canton, which recorded its first dual meet victory in four tries, dunking the Chargers, 117-55.

The Chiefs captured nine of 11 events. Jeff Brandenburg was a double winner, capturing the 200 and 500 freestyles in 2:04.77 and 5:44.74, respectively.

Churchill had two winners: Mark Walls in the 50 freestyle (24.4) and Neil Dryden in the 100 butterfly (1:00.47).

DePlanche has all answers for Lady Ocelots

An answer for every threat — that's how Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team handled Alpena CC 74-66 Wednesday at Alpena.

A 10-2 run in the first half enabled the Lady Ocelots to take command, although it hardly put the Lady Lumberjacks away. They battled back to tie SC with 7-30 left on a Stephanie Tuori jumper.

But once again, the Lady Ocelots had an answer. They rattled off nine straight points over the next 2½ minutes, and the game was theirs.

The win boosted SC to 12-4 overall, 6-2 in the Eastern Conference. Alpena is 4-9 overall, 3-6 in the conference.

Lisa DePlanche and a pressure defense did most of the damage for the Lady Ocelots. DePlanche got 26 points. The defensive pressure on the Lady Jacks guards forced 14 first-half turnovers, allowing SC to take a 33-29 lead.

Barb Krug added 17 points for SC. Tricia Lucas got 12. Jovell Hyvarinen led Alpena with 18 points. Kris Thurston chipped in 16.

SC MEN: Three shots in the final 16 seconds bounced off the rim for SC's men Wednesday at Alpena, resulting in a 73-70 defeat. The Ocelots are now 9-15 overall, 2-7 in the Eastern Conference; Alpena is 7-8 overall, 5-5 in the conference.

Neither team was particularly sharp, but the Lumberjacks' pathetic free-throw shooting (six-of-16) nearly cost them.

When Embury Pope missed a one-and-one for the Lumberjacks, SC had its chance: Ruple fired the first three-point attempt that rolled around and popped out. Ken Fuster grabbed the rebound and got off another triple try; it, too, missed. Tom Progar boarded, but his three-pointer bounced out, too.

Cougars vying for more respect

Garden City is making a pitch for a spot in the Observerland volleyball rankings.

The Cougars, who have lost this season only to state-ranked Sterling Heights Stevenson and Tecumseh, made it three straight Wednesday in Northwest Suburban League action with a 15-3, 15-5, 15-9 victory over visiting Redford Union.

Senior Diane Allison paced the Cougars with 10 kills. Junior Kathy Gadzecki added seven.

Senior Lona Palisse recorded six ace serves.

"We have a good balance of height and speed," said GC coach John Groves, whose team captured the Taylor Kennedy Invitational earlier this season. "We're a tall team, a good blocking and hitting team."

In an five-game NSL victory (11-15, 15-9, 11-15, 17-15, 15-11) a week earlier over host Dearborn Edsel Ford, junior Krystal Matesic recorded 18 kills, while senior Tina Emery contributed eight blocks.

"We have a lot of work left, but I feel good about the way we are playing," Groves said. "We may not win, but we're going to give teams a battle."

volleyball

GC can complete the first-half of the NSL schedule unbeaten with a victory this Wednesday at home against Dearborn. (The match begins at 6:30 p.m.)

LIVONIA, CLARENCEVILLE also remained unbeaten in league play Thursday, scoring a 15-0, 15-9 win over visiting Detroit Lutheran West.

The Trojans are 4-0 in the Metro Conference and 9-4 overall.

Senior outside hitter Karl Watson collected 10 kills, while teammate Angle Stevens was the Trojans' top server.

Clarenceville returns to action Tuesday at home against Auburn Hills Avondale. The varsity match begins at 7:30 p.m.

LIVONIA STEVENSON stayed unbeaten in the Western Lakes Activities Association (Lakes Division) on Wednesday, dumping visiting Westland John Glenn in five games (10-15, 15-13, 11-15, 15-4, 15-1).

Stevenson is 6-0 in the WLAA and 9-2-6 overall. Glenn slips to 6-8 overall and 3-2 in the WLAA.

Junior outside hitter Andrea Wittrock paced Stevenson with nine kills in 38 attacks and no errors.

Laura Zatorski and Sue Bell contributed 17 and 15 digs, respectively, while Renea Bonser collected 12 assists in 32 sets.

Kara Beeny paced Glenn with 11 kills. Teammate Michelle Myers added 11 digs.

ed a slight concussion. He was taken to St. Mary Hospital where he was listed in stable condition Friday night.

AFTER THE GAME, though, it was hard to tell who won. Stevenson Paul Ferguson had a lengthy discussion with his team after the game and looked about as happy as a surprise guest at an I.R.S. audit party.

"Just attitude," said Ferguson, who sent one of his players to an early shower. "Bad attitude. A little bit critical of others."

"I think we made too many mental mistakes. It looked like everyone was trying to do their own thing."

That could have backfired against a team like Franklin (4-9 overall, 3-4 SPHL), which made a game of it despite being outshot 40-22. After Labadie's first goal with 5:53 left, Stevenson looked like it might walk through the second period. Not so, said Stover.

Some 50 seconds later, the senior right winger snapped in Franklin's first goal. Defenseman Rob Burr and center Matt Sharkey drew assists on the play that cut the Spartans lead to 3-1.

Stover again had his say, this time slipping past the Stevenson defense and gliding a shot past Kevin Brady five minutes into the third period. The goal was assisted by left winger Dan McKay and Sharkey and narrowed the Stevenson lead to 4-2.

THEN THERE was goaltending. And in that department the Patriots' Greg Donnan performed superbly, turning away 35 of 40 shots. The senior netminder made several excellent saves, including stopping Cichy cold on a breakaway late in the third period.

So, understandably, Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt said thanks for the effort fellas.

"I think we played well all the way around," Jobbitt said. "Everyone back checked. We're a much improved team."

Ferguson concurred. He said Franklin did a good job taking his team off its game. But not for long.

Kozar struck first, deflecting a shot from the point with 6:38 left in the first period. Defensemen Jeff Mitchell and Brian Eglinton drew assists on Stevenson's first goal.

Eglinton and Cichy both had two assists on the night. Eglinton and Cichy both engineered Brodun's power-play tally in the second period.

Newhouser celebrates 93rd in Golden Champ

EVERY NOW AND THEN, somebody gets a little special treatment around the bowling league. That was the case last Tuesday at Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills.

A very nice cake was served to Emile Newhouser in celebration of her 93rd birthday.

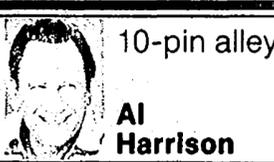

Emily is a regular bowler in the "Golden Champs" senior citizens league. They compete every Tuesday afternoon.

In case you haven't guessed, Emily Newhouser is the mother of former Detroit Tiger pitching great Hal Newhouser. She is a real bowling enthusiast and has been bowling for a long time.

The elder Newhouser was once a member of the local traveling leagues and is very proud of her many years of accomplishments. In fact, she carries many of her old press clippings in her purse.

Newhouser is even prouder yet of the accomplishments of her son, Hal. She recalls some of the classic match-ups with Bob Feller and the Indians.

Some of you may be wondering what Newhousers secret is for staying young and healthy. According to her, it's simple

Al Harrison

"Don't smoke."

There is a new radio talk show of interest to bowlers on WPON (1410 AM). This is the creation of Roy Akers and is called the Oakland County Bowling Round-up.

Even though the show is based in Northern Oakland County, it will still be of interest to all those who love the sport. This weeks show will include an interview with touring pro Lisa Wagner.

The Westland Bowl Coca Cola Open Team Tournament is now accepting entrance applications, any team may enter. First prize is $1,500 based on 40 entries. The event will take place at 1:30 p.m., Sunday March 18.

Meet eight of Detroit's most eligible bachelors.

Single, clean-cut male. Looking for lifelong friend to play frisbee with.

Playful, loving out-going type. Needs friend to deliver morning paper and slippers to.

Quiet, yet understanding. In search of someone with good, strong legs to rub up against.

Good natured male. Family man. Great with kids.

Attractive, middle-aged companion. Knows every trick in the book. Ready to settle down.

Energetic mischief maker. Has lots of love to give, but no one to give it to.

Fine, upstanding individual. Tired of singin' scene. Wants long-term relationship.

Single, independent male. Likes seafood, birdwatching. Desperately needs someone to share it all with.

They're handsome, faithful, and fun to be with. But right now, they're lonely. These are just eight of the hundreds of perfectly healthy animals waiting at the Michigan Humane Society (MHS) for that certain special someone to go home with. Someone, we hope, just like you.

Because you can provide what we can't: a permanent home. One that will be filled with all the love and attention they deserve.

But if you're already spoken for, there is another way you can help. Your donation to the MHS, no matter how big or small, will help us give these animals the best care possible and the chance for us to find them a proper home.

So, share your love with those who need it most: the bachelors and bachelorettes at the Michigan Humane Society.

Nilsson's law

There are a few unspoken and unwritten laws we tend to live by. You know... Like the one about if it's not broken, don't fix it. Well, Karl Nilsson has found truth in one of those laws, but it took a "criminal" act to prove its wisdom. See page 4D.

Weightlifting: Just building a better body

By Chris Rizk
special writer

They look like they are in agony when working out, but weightlifters will tell you it's as ego lifting as it is body building to pump iron everyday.

You've seen the familiar pictures of sweat pouring like buckets off their bodies as they struggle to lift the weights, their faces contorting and reflecting back from the mirror that is as much their tool as the other accouterments of the sport.

What you haven't seen is the changing nature of an old sport.

Gone are the days when weightlifters were considered muscle bound and brain dead. Today's weightlifters are a different breed, bringing to the ranks more an attitude that reflects health as well as strength than their 1930s, or even 1950s, counterparts.

"A long time ago, it was just for muscle size," said Bill Furnari, owner of Bodyworks Gym and Fitness Center in Livonia. "Now, knowledge about the sport is greater and we're looking for symmetry and total body development."

Translated, it means the big guy is not always going to win the prize in competition.

Today, as health and exercise move to the forefront of daily living, aerobic exercise is as important as pumping iron for bodybuilders, Furnari said. Both the serious bodybuilder and the casual exerciser work out at his facility.

"The human body," Furnari said, "is the only machine that works better the more you use it."

THE EVIDENCE is found in the spurt of health club memberships over the last decade, he said.

National Physique Committee chairman William Dabish said bodybuilders don't weightlift for the prize money.

"They do it to feel good about themselves," he said. Dabish, who runs a national chain of health clubs, called Powerhouse, governs amateur bodybuilders and organizes competitions for the 100,000 or so members.

According to Dabish, there are few professional bodybuilders. Most are amateurs who have found that bodybuilding is like any other sport — the more you practice the better you become.

"While thousands may never become Arnold Schwarzenegger, for many the discipline and the hard bodies that accompany the sport are enough," Dabish said.

It would have to be. Penetrating the ranks of professional weightlifting is difficult. There are only about seven men and women a year who turn pro.

"It's like football," Dabish said. "Millions play it, but only a few are professionals."

According to Dabish, only weightlifters Ron Love and Linda Murray are currently on the professional circuit in Michigan. The countless other men and women pump up for the thrill of losing fat, gaining muscle and feeling better.

"They don't," Dabish insisted, "do anything different than anybody else who wants to keep fit. They are clerks, policemen, housewives. And instead of sitting on a couch and getting lazy, they train."

IT'S WHAT THEY do with their leisure time that separates them from the rest, Dabish said.

Peter Nielsen, owner of the Eye of the Tiger in Farmington agrees.

A weightlifter, Nielsen began building muscles at age 15 after doctors diagnosed his chronic illness as Crohn's Disease, an inflammation of the intestines.

His physique at 28 tells the story of how Nielsen beat the odds and the disease to capture the amateur titles of Mr. America in 1983 and Mr. International Universe in 1984.

"It's 80 percent middle American hard work and 20 percent egotism," Nielsen said of the sport.

Steve Nelmark started training when he was 16 years old to "quit getting beat up."

At 24 and no longer susceptible to the threats of meatier men, he must work a construction job to support his family. But whether it's the first or last thing he does, weightlifting is as much a part of his life as getting up every morning, he said. It's become, he said, the "fabric" of his life.

"I feel cheated when I don't exercise," Nelmark said. "To not do it is weird."

Nelmark said he'll train "forever" even if he "never makes it to the top."

"It's the pump that you get watching your arm get bigger," he said. "It's addictive. It's as if bullets could bounce off your chest when you're working out."

ONE THING dominates the ranks of amateur or professional weightlifters. You have to love it, Nelmark said.

"You can't be the kind of person who says, 'Oh, God, I've got to go into the gym today.' Sure, there are times when I'm tired when I go to work out. But I keep pushing myself."

Nelmark follows a strict exercise routine. He rattles off a list of body parts that makes him

'Inn' places to stay in California

By Mary Augusta Rodgers
special writer

Q: We are planning a trip to California and thinking of using bed and breakfast accommodations. What are our choices?

Mrs. R. H. Bloomfield Hills

A: Your choices are nearly as varied as the climate and scenery in the state of California. How about a studio apartment in Del Mar near San Diego, a houseboat in Sausalito across the bay from San Francisco, an inn made of railroad cars in the wine country or a new art-filled inn near Mendocino on California's northern coast?

They illustrate the many kinds of accommodations to be found under the generic "bed and breakfast" label. It's assumed that you'll have a car, and that you like to get off the beaten path now and then. If you can do so without sacrificing the usual comforts and conveniences.

served for B-and-B guests. The location is excellent — a public beach is within walking distance; a state park, a golf course and the shops and restaurants of Del Mar and La Jolla are nearby. San Diego is about a 20-minute drive away.

There's a bedroom with bath and a private patio garden ($50 a night for two), and, down the hall, a studio apartment ($65 a night for two).

The studio is a large, sunny bedroom with bath, a conversational area with a sofa and a coffee table, a kitchenette and a glass-enclosed porch overlooking the back garden. (The porch can be a dinette, another bedroom, or both.) It's all pleasant and comfortable; the kitchenette is a big plus if you, like us, hate being locked into daily restaurant meals.

A full breakfast is served on an outdoor deck when the weather is good. (That's most of the time in the San Diego area.) The hosts, Mike and Connie Segel, are easy-going, friendly people, interested in their guests and generous with tips on where to go and what to do.

RESERVATIONS are made directly with the Segels. Write them at 12930 Via Esperia, Del Mar, Calif. 92014, or call (619) 359-4863.

MOVING PICTURES

It comes as no surprise that "Batman," starring Michael Keaton and Kim Basinger, was the top box office attraction in 1989, racking up with $250 million in ticket sales.

'Batman' earns big bucks to win at box office in '89

Kenneth Branagh's "Henry V" premieres at the DIA's Detroit Film Theater (reviewed last week by John Monaghan) and that's the only new film on local screens this week.

Now that the 1989 box-office stats are in, it's time to reflect on that record year.

Despite a drop in the Christmas holiday period ticket sales — largely attributed to the lack of major new blockbusters — 1989 closed out with $5.02 billion in ticket sales. That's up more than 12 percent from the previous record year — 1988 — when the take was $4.46 billion.

The past few years — each one a new record — have been fueled by increasing ticket prices as you well know if you've shelled out $5.50 lately. The national composite ticket price last month was $4.57. That includes all the dollar nights which are mostly two bucks since distributors have been raising their minimums charged to exhibitors. The going rate often is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children at "dollar" nights.

What is most encouraging to the film industry, however, is the fact that after 28 years of selling approximately 1.05 billion tickets annually, 1989 recorded 1.13 billion in ticket sales, up almost a million per week over 1988. Despite population increases and other factors, that's a significant increase.

BUT THE news is not cheery across the board, since a third of those $5 billion in box office dollars were earned by the top 14 films. What happened to the more than four hundred other movies produced last year? Not as much as the producers dreamed.

The winners' list ranges from "Field of Dreams" at almost $63 million to number one, "Batman," with $250 million in ticket sales during 1989. To make matters worse, counting down from "Batman," the top seven films garnered almost 22 percent of the year's total take.

If you're planning on breaking into the movie game, pick one of the top studios because the 14 big earners were produced by seven companies.

Clearly, Warner Brothers had the dollar lead with "Batman" and "Lethal Weapon 2," registering just under $400 million.

Number two was Universal with four big winners — "Parenthood," "Back to the Future, Part II," "Uncle Buck" and "Field of Dreams," combining for $316 million — while Buena Vista's "Honey I Shrunk the Kids," "Dead Poets Society" and "Turner & Hooch" reached $295 million in ticket sales.

Paramount only had one big film, but more than $196 million for "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," with terrific overseas sales, certainly is something to brag about.

THE REMAINING three were United Artists' "Rainman" — almost $130 million during calendar year 1989 with $42.5 million more in '88 — Tri-Star's "Look Who's Talking" at $115 million and Columbia's "Ghostbusters II" with $112.5 million in the till by year's end.

Although it's much too soon to predict what 1990 will bring, the

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

CityWide joins Tele-Arts

By John Monaghan
special writer

In the two years since opening in Grand Circus Park, the Tele-Arts Theater has fulfilled its promise of bringing alternative films to downtown Detroit. And while some titles have attracted sizable audiences, the theater has yet to draw film goers with consistency.

That may soon change. A newly formed group called CityWide Cinema will present an unique program of films that will co-exist with the regular Tele-Arts schedule. This Thursday marks the opening with a benefit screening of "Mapantsula."

Filmed in 1988, "Mapantsula" may be the first major black anti-government film to come out of South Africa. In it, a petty crook becomes alive politically when thrown into prison with a group of freedom fighters. The film will also play over the weekend.

Film goers attending the Thursday benefit must pay a membership fee of $30 ($50 for couples or $20 for students and senior citizens). This includes a free Tele-Arts T-shirt and discounted admission to CityWide Cinema screenings. Coupon books offer 10 admissions for $15.

"Ever since we opened, there has been a small but loyal crowd who has wanted to help," said Carl Allison, who up until now has been the theater's one-man band of manager, booker and promoter. "Now they can really do something."

CITYWIDE CINEMA began when Allison sought funds from the Detroit Council of the Arts. A board of directors was selected, headed by Martin Bandyke, a WDET radio host whose Sunday night "Dimension" program often focuses on film.

"The board has sprung from all aspects of the community, which we tried to keep as diverse as possible," Bandyke said.

For their first outing, the board chose an eclectic list of titles, including "Penn and Teller Get Killed" (March 2-4), starring the famous magicians and directed by Arthur Penn; "The Rainbow" (Feb. 23-25), Ken Russell's second adaptation of a D.H. Lawrence novel; and "Speaking Parts" (March 9-11) by Canadian Atom Egoyan who Bandyke feels will be a major director in the '90s.

Another Canadian director, Ron Mann, will appear during the screening of his 1982 "Poetry in Motion" on Feb. 12.

Both Allison and Bandyke agree that up to this point, the Tele-Arts' biggest problems have been promotion and consistency of product. Although the theater has premiered major works like "Alice" and "The Navigator," bookings have been a crap shoot regarding quality.

FILMS ARE now hand-picked and often screened in advance by the members of the board.

CityWide Cinema will screen Friday-Monday and some afternoons.

The Tele-Arts meanwhile announces its own schedule changes. Wednesdays and Thursdays are $2 nights when quality second-run features will screen. Midnight shows on Friday and Saturday will present cult films like "Harold and Maude" and "Toxic Avenger II."

STREET BEATS

Elvis Hitler: Not quite Elvis, definitely not Hitler

By John Logle
special writer

The man who now calls himself Elvis Hitler and leads the group of the same name, was not entirely responsible for his becoming a musician.

At least part of the credit (or blame) belongs to Snake-Out leader and Wanghead Records impresario Len Puch, who "suggested that after years of hanging around with musicians and being a wise guy, that maybe I should try it."

Elvis remembers his terror after returning from a vacation and being told not to make plans for a specific evening in January 1986 by Puch and his bandmates. When Elvis asked why, he was told that he was scheduled to perform at Paycheck's in Hamtramck.

"I made every excuse I could think of," Elvis recalled. "I said, 'Well, I don't know... I've never played live before. I don't know any songs and I don't have a band...' and they said, 'Don't worry, it's all taken care of.'"

The promised band, as it turns out, was Snake-Out's rhythm section and despite Elvis' protestations, he did perform at Paycheck's, playing only the three songs he and the band had rehearsed and leaving the stage after an exhilarating 10 minutes. The show was part of what Elvis describes as Puch's grandiose scheme to produce "It Came from the Garage," a compilation of Detroit-area bands. Elvis and his ad-hoc band performed well enough to earn a slot on that record.

In 1987, Elvis Hitler recorded a full-length album, "Disgraceland," at Puch's Garageland Studios in New Boston. The album came to the attention of Enigma Records, a California-based major independent record label, which quickly signed the band to its sub-label Homestead.

"DISGRACELAND" was remixed, remastered and repackaged and given an international release. The Homestead version of the record received encouraging reviews.

In the wake of that record, the band arrived at its current line-up—Damian Lang on drums (formerly drummer of Snake-Out), Warren Defever on bass (formerly interim bass player for Snake-Out), Elvis Hitler on lead vocals and rhythm guitar (a semi-founding member of Snake-Out who never learned how to play stand-up bass well enough to perform publicly with the band) and John Defever on lead guitar (who refreshingly, has never been a member of Snake-Out).

The borderline incestuous relationship between the two bands is further compounded by the fact that Snake-Out's current bass player, Jim Auge preceded Lang as Elvis Hitler's drummer.

Elvis Hitler's current line-up includes Damian Lang on drums, Warren Defever on bass, Elvis Hitler on lead vocals and rhythm guitar and John Defever on lead guitar.

The band toured extensively before returning to Garageland last year to record for Restless Records, another Enigma sub-label. The new record, "Hellbilly," picks up where "Disgraceland" left off, scrawling portraits of surf slaves, ghouls and various misanthropes against an apocalyptic landscape strewn with broken beer bottles and pick-up truck shrapnel.

Elvis Hitler routinely receives great reviews from the British press, but "Hellbilly" has not gone over well with some American critics.

"A FEW PEOPLE called and told me about a review in the most recent Guitar World magazine where the guy totally cuts us down," Elvis said, "and the East Coast Rocker just totally destroyed us."

"They warned people not to buy it, saying that it stinks, and we're a crummy band, and I'm a second rate guitar player, and John Defever stole all his licks. Anything bad you could say, they said."

In addition to occasional critical slugging, Elvis feels increasing pressure to defend the band's name, which has already cost it some valuable opportunities.

"I'm sure it's bad taste to a lot of people," Elvis conceded. "It's supposed to be black humor, or it could be kind of sick, but when I thought of it I felt... that maybe people would be able to laugh at it."

"It's two names that are known by everybody, and they go together in a catchy way. I thought it would be amusing and that people would not forget it, which they don't, but probably for the wrong reasons."

Elvis takes pains to distance the band from neo-fascist and racist groups, but that message hasn't always gotten through.

At their record label's behest, the band filmed a video for "Shutdown," the first song on the new album. The video is, as Elvis terms it, "perfect fodder for MTV," with the quick editing, sleaze and violence that are common place on the station.

MTV WAS planning to air it as part of the weekly alternative music program "120 Minutes" until some of the powers that be began voicing objections, not to the video itself, but to the band's name. The band and Restless have started a postcard-writing campaign in hopes of swaying the programmers, but at this point it seems likely that the video will never reach its intended audience.

The band's name is also preventing it from touring Europe, where it has received its most favorable reviews.

"We can't go to Europe because no promoter will book us," he said. "They're afraid that because of the name, it's going to attract trouble, and they don't want to risk it."

Elvis admits flirting with the idea of dumping the name, but he now feels that he will probably stay with it, and try to overcome the misapprehensions it creates.

"I have all these people who are eager to accuse me of racism or white supremacy or anti-Semitism, and it's none of that," he said. "It's just that I'm not pleased with mankind as a whole. If I'm racist, I'm a racist across the board."

While the name, in hindsight, seems obviously ill-advised, it's also true that Elvis Hitler is probably being too subtle and clever for a medium which routinely defies the obvious. Despite the band's nitro-burning pedal-to-the-metal sound, they are eminently capable of operating on several levels at once, as evidenced by their recent cover of Sgt. Barry Sadler's "Ballad of the Green Berets."

"I thought, 'what if we did a super reworked-up thrashabilly version of this song,' and so I did it," he said. "... it's kind of a way to mock and poke fun at people, but at the same time give the illusion that I might be glorifying and praising."

"It's kind of a slap in the face doing that song, which is probably like a hymn for the Green Berets, but the way we do it is kind of like the way Hendrix did 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Most of what I do depends on your perception."

REVIEWS

DEEP — Peter Murphy

Usually, when a band breaks up, the singer carries the legacy of the group's sound. In the case of the band Bauhaus, this doesn't hold true.

You can hear a few traces of the old band on Peter Murphy's new solo album, "Deep," but gone is the deep, throbbing bass of Bauhaus tunes like "Bela Lugosi's Dead." The other Bauhaus members went on to form Love and Rockets, a band that has now veered far from their original sound and dangerously close to Top-40.

Murphy sings with his trademark deep, resonant voice of the Iggy Pop-David Bowie genre. The Bowie influence is especially noticeable on "Deep Ocean Vast Sea" and "Marlene Dietrich's Favourite Poem." Bowie once said that Bauhaus was his favorite band and even got one of their songs into his movie, "The Hunger."

On "Deep," Murphy is equally adept at somberly belting out ominous rockers as he is at singing gentle ballads. In other words, the slow songs aren't sappy and the fast songs are angry and powerful. The ballad, "A Strange Kind of Love (Version One)," has heart-felt, hopeful lyrics like, "There is no terror ground/Or place for rage/No broken hearts/White wash lles/Just a taste for truth/Perfect taste choice and meaning/A look into your eyes." Murphy's plaintive singing and the simple instrumentation made the song sound almost like it came from a 1970's rock opera.

The lyrics on "Deep" tend to be rather cryptic, but, if you feel like taking the time to understand what the songs are about, you'll find some pretty poetic stuff. In the song "Deep Ocean Vast Sea," Murphy mixes his religious metaphors with aploomb, Christian religious imagery like Dense lyrics aside, this album is a great listen. Murphy is at his best on his complex, yet ultimately rewarding latest offering. Just keep in mind that "Deep" is a Peter Murphy album, not a Bauhaus one. Murphy's solo stuff isn't better or worse... just different. If you're looking for that good old Bauhaus sound, buy an old Bauhaus album.

RHYME — Marty Willson-Piper

Have you ever noticed that if you buy someone's first album and really love it, the second one you buy by that artist never seems quite as good?

This rule holds true in the case of Marty Willson-Piper's second solo album, "Rhyme."

In 1988, Willson-Piper, a member of the band The Church, put out the vastly underrated album "Art Attack." Although it never attained commercial success, it was a favorite among those who presumably know music — like record store owners and certain female music critics.

Like Pink Floyd and Roxy Music, Willson-Piper writes music that you will find in the rock "rock" section of the record store, but it isn't really rock'n'roll music.

Willson-Piper creates his own genre by combining gentle, floating vocals, mesmerizing "found" background sounds like a ticking watch or muted conversation and beautiful, atmospheric melodies.

"Rhyme" is music for dreaming. It's not an instant favorite like "Art Attack," but it does sort of grow on you after a few listenings. In other words, highly recommended.

Willson-Piper has a knack for writing songs that sound both modern and indescribably ancient. He hangs out in places like Stockholm, Paris and Sydney and the European influence is obvious in his music.

With "Rhyme," Willson-Piper doesn't give us a rehash of the same stuff on "Art Attack" although it would have been great if he had. It seems as though some record-company type told Willson-Piper something along the lines of "Write me a hit, Marty baby! Give me some pop hooks!"

This is especially apparent on the insufferably peppy tunes "Cascade" and "Melancholy Girl."

Fortunately, these two (or three, depending on your verdict of "Idiots") songs are isolated flaws which can be easily overcome. The rest of the album is classic Willson-Piper.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF GOOBER & THE PEAS

— Goober & the Peas

Let's hope Goober & the Peas never take themselves seriously. If they do, contemporary music as we know it might be in serious trouble.

Right now, we'll gladly settle for the Goober & the Peas that's irreverent, mocking and more fun than a barrelful of moonshine. For those of you who may not be familiar with Goober & Co., the band has been performing a little more than a year now in the Detroit area. The group earned its spurs, opening up for the Red Hot Chili Peppers at Saint Andrew's Hall.

Goober's roots go back even further to Michigan State University, where as students the band would perform at barbecues and parties. The band's appeal to this point has been visual, mainly due to the classic cowboy get-ups and the gangly stage presence of 7-foot tall Goober.

Don't let the cowboy hats or the Wyoming driver's licenses fool you, these guys can sound about as country as the Kennedys on "The Complete Works of Goober & the Peas."

Perhaps that's why "Funky Cowboy" is as much an anthem as it is a mutated piece of country jerky. Against the backdrop of the spiky guitar lines, lead singer Goober howls on about he is not the average drugstore cowboy. (The video for this tune, incidentally is hilarious.)

But if that ditty doesn't lasso you by the ear, check out "Hot Women (Cold Beer)" or "Dear Grandpa" (we get two "Dear Grandpa" here). Like all Goober & the Peas compositions, the tunes are marked by Goober's Hank-Williams-using-helium vocal stylings and gut-busting lyrics.

The sound is as raw as two rocks grinding against one another, and as original and enjoyable as any new music band to roll down this path in awhile. Goober & the Peas are hot.

Even Aunt Bea and Andy could tell you that

FEAR & LOAFING

Freezer burn

There was a death in our home last week. Actually, it was a murder. Committed with a screwdriver. And the killer is still at large.

I first saw the now deceased appliance back in 1974 when it was left behind by the former occupants of my home.

After two decades of faithful service, I figured the old refrigerator deserved a good defrosting. That was my first mistake. Besides being against my housekeeping policy of benign neglect, the sudden urge to defrost broke the Seventh Law of Things With Motors: "If a mechanical device (car, toy, hair dryer, etc.) is at least semi-functional, any attempt to improve its performance will immediately finish it off."

Actually, the melt-down wasn't so much an act of idleness as desperation. Over the years, the build-up of ice crystals had slowly reduced the usable freezer space to the size of a shoe box. Perfect for hiding valuables or storing a rolled-up pizza, it became a sort of tourist attraction.

And although our social events often lacked ice cubes, they never lacked a conversation piece. Opening our freezer door revealed videos and charades. Twice we were voted "best glacier south of the Arctic Circle."

Reluctantly, I donned my rubber gloves and began chipping through layers of forgotten foods. Somewhere between finding my lost keys and a frozen sneaker, my screwdriver slipped and pricked the fragile aluminum skin.

FROM A pinhole, pressurized freon gas shot out like a tiny geyser. In moments, the elderly fridge wheezed its last gasp and slowly assumed room temperature.

Looking back, I can honestly say the worst part of stabbing my refrigerator was not the terrible inconvenience it caused my family. It wasn't even the horrendous expense of replacing it. It was having to deal with appliance salesmen.

Firing squad. Shark tank. Appliance store. Not an easy choice. But the day after the accident, I braced myself and entered the store. "After all," I told myself, "it's just an air conditioner for food. What's so complicated about that? Just pretend you know what you're doing and don't let 'em smell your fear."

Determined not to appear naive, I scribbled notes and hid between the rows of gleaming new refrigerators. Suddenly, I sensed man-made fibers coming my way. As I turned, bad breath on two legs pumped my hand and asked me what I was looking for.

Karl Nilsson

"A very basic, simple unit," I gulped. "Maybe with an ice water dispenser."

"Ice water? That's ancient history. Today, we got through-the-door everything... mustard, ketchup, taco sauce..."

"Of course," I countered, glancing at my notes, "but I also need adjustable humidity to keep the leftovers fresh."

"FRESH? THAT'S old 'hat. Our 'Clone Queen' analyzes the molecular structure of leftovers and regenerates them. Pop in a drumstick and pull out a whole new chicken!"

"That'd be hard on the old diet," I responded.

"Diet? Maybe you need the 'Tattle-Tale' photo snooper. Every time the door opens, it snaps a picture. And, of course, our meat locker option includes a free side of beef autographed by James Garner."

Edging toward the door, I mumbled, "I'd better discuss this with my family."

"Family? If you really care about your family, you'll want our 'Cryogenic Supreme.' Should one of your loved ones die, you can freeze them in liquid nitrogen until medical science finds a cure — or until you need the extra space for a holiday bird."

"How do you expect people to pay for all this technology?" I stammered.

"Pay? Why these new models are coin-operated. Once a week our man empties your coin box. If you're an average eater, you'll be paid off in about 10 years."

STEPPING upwind of his onion candy, I switched subjects. "But suppose it begins to leak freon gas. How could I tell?"

"We don't use freon anymore. Now we use nitrous oxide — laughing gas to you. It compresses well and provides a foolproof test. Grab your newspaper and read that Fear and Loafing column. If it seems funny, you've either got a gas leak or brain damage."

Seizing my chance, I pushed him into the self-cleaning hypersonic vegetable crispener and shut the door. Hopefully, by the time the future owner discovers a freeze-dried salesman among the zucchini, science will have found a cure for polyester.

Putting children's needs first

Dear Barbara,

I have read in your column and in others about the kinds of problems the holidays can cause. This is especially true, if you are divorced with children.

My ex-wife and I have come up with a solution I am proud of and want to share with you. Our children decided that it is important for them to wake up in their own home on Christmas Day. We respect their decision. Since they live with their mother, they always wake up with her. I call them Christmas morning and often have them for Christmas dinner. Because they are happy with this solution, I am, too.

Proud Papa

Dear Proud Papa,

You should indeed be proud. In popular literature, divorced parents are unable to put their children's needs first. There are many examples of how this is true even when the parents sincerely want to be loving. The problem is "especially true" during the holidays, birthdays and other celebrations.

There is an observation to be made of this phenomenon. It is that festive occasions emphasize family togetherness and so they also emphasize what divorced parents have given up. That is, divorcees have forfeited affiliation. They may have done so for honorable and rewarding reasons, like independence, freedom and greater self-esteem. But during times when family closeness is idealized, these other values may be quickly forgotten.

Freedom, independence and even greater self-esteem can seem to lose importance when you cannot share Thanksgiving and Christmas with your children. Thus, the parents' attempt to deny the realistic consequences of their behavior.

They try to keep their children near during these times, even when it is not in the children's best interests. Since children can't realistically be in two places at once, one parent must, at every celebration, feel the emotional and physical separation that the divorce has wrought.

That is not to say that this very same parent might not, at other times of the year, feel that the divorce was a good decision. But at holiday time, the painful aspect is so emphasized that many parents want to avoid the intense feelings.

For whatever reason, you seem to have made a more realistic adjustment. It gives me great pleasure to print your letter as a guide to other divorced parents. They must be willing to accept the consequences of their actions even when it is painful. This might eliminate some of the pain for their children.

Old railroad cars double as an inn ies, specialty shops and trendy people. It's like that if you've never considered staying in Sausalito, let alone on a houseboat.

A reservation service called Bed & Breakfast International has, among its many San Francisco area listings, accommodations in four luxurious houseboats docked at the Sausalito harbor.

The houseboat accommodations vary, but all have attractive bedrooms with bath and big windows to take advantage of the views. One includes a private deck and a telescope; another has a hot tub and small garden. Rates start at $84 a night for two. One entire houseboat is available on weekends for $125 a night.

It's best to let the B & B International people describe each accommodation. They have complete information and are conscientious about details. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (PST) Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Call (415) 525-4569 or write Bed & Breakfast International, 1181-B Solano Ave., Albany, Calif. 94706.

(3) THE WINE country is awash with so many good B-and-B inns, the only problem is making a decision. In Yountville, for instance, there's the Burgundy House on Washington Street, (707) 944-2855, an old stone building that was once a brandy distillery, now a small inn with charming bedrooms furnished with antiques.

Another inn, also on Washington Street in Yountville, is so unusual and stylish, it deserves mention although it's not strictly speaking, a B-and-B. (Coffee is provided in the morning and wine in the evening, but guests go to the cafe across the street for breakfast.)

It's the Napa Valley Railway Inn — six railway cars and three cabooses from the early 1900s made into spacious and handsomely decorated rooms with skylights, bay windows and tiled baths.

Each of the nine rooms has its own entrance, opening onto a platform bright with flowering plants in tubs. Current newspapers and magazines are piled on the steps leading to the inn's office in another caboose.

The old Yountville depot, on one side of the inn, a vineyard on the other. Well-known restaurants, like Mustard's Grill and Domaine Chandon, are nearby. Railway Inn rates run from $65 to $105 a day. Inquire about weekend and out-of-season (November through February) prices. Write 6503 Washington St., Yountville, Calif. 94599, or call (707) 944-2000.

(4) The town of Mendocino on California's rugged northern coast began as a fishing and lumbering town and has become a vacation place known for its spectacular scenery, art colony and B-and-B inns.

Stevens Wood, in nearby Little River reflects both the art of Mendocino and the natural beauty that inspires it, and is named for the land's original owner, Isaac Stevens. Set in the only virgin woods left in the area, it is within sight of the ocean.

STEVENS WOOD has 10 suites, all with fireplaces and lovely views, done in an elegant contemporary style.

All the suites are equipped with cable TV, telephones and refrigerators. A full breakfast is served either indoors or out, and wine is offered with hors d'oeuvres in the late afternoon. Smoking is permitted only on decks or outdoors.

Suites are from $90 to $175 a night. Inquire about off-season or special rates. Stevens Wood is at 8211 Shoreline Highway 1, Little River. Write it at P.O. Box 170, Mendocino, Calif. 95460, or call (707) 937-2810.

Mendocino, two miles north, has several excellent restaurants — Cafe Beaujolais, McCallum House and a small place called — I'm afraid — Chocolate Moose.

SOUNDING EGOTISTICAL doesn't bother Rickman, who won both the Mr. Michigan Gold Cup in 1987 and Mr. Iron Man three years in a row. In March, he placed second in the Masters competition in Illinois.

People who claim bodybuilders are merely feeding their own egos may not be far off base, he said.

"In a sense, they're right," Rickman said. "If you're really proud of yourself and the work you do, you'd have to praise yourself."

Don't let the doctoral degree in psychology scare you. David Daniel is just as zany a comedian as the next and the extra education is just fodder for his routines.

David Daniel is a doctor . . . of comedy, that is

By Julie Brown
staff writer

David Daniel's found comedians tend to be thoughtful and well-informed.

"They're a very intelligent group of people in general," said Daniel, a comedian who appears regularly in the Detroit area. "A lot of them have a Ph.D. in life, they really do."

Daniel, 28, recently completed work on his Ph.D. in psychology at West Virginia University. He earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from San Diego State University and a master's degree in psychology from West Virginia University in Morgantown.

After finishing his master's degree, Daniel came to Detroit for about a year. He did graduate work at Wayne State University and taught psychology.

Daniel, who grew up in Los Angeles, has been working as a comedian for about six years, having started as an undergraduate at San Diego State University.

"I decided comedy's what I want to do. As a matter of fact, graduate school has just given me fantastic material."

DANIEL INCORPORATES his academic background into his comedy routines. He does something on people who go to a therapist because the mall is late or the garbage doesn't get picked up.

"You don't need a therapist for that, you need a country and Western singer."

Daniel's act is "fairly clean. There are no dirty words in any of this." He uses material on current events, watching CNN regularly to keep up with things.

The first half of his act includes local humor. He finds things out about each place he visits.

"Everywhere there's a mall there's something funny."

He talks about what it takes to be a psychology major and about how psychologists appear on TV talk shows. Daniel's act makes reference to Geraldo Rivera's show on Satan worship.

Daniel worked to change the timing and delivery on that part of his act; he found some people thought he was a Satan worshiper.

"I do a lot of things on religion." He talks about Catholicism and about people going on a "sin binge" and experiencing "spiritual bull-mia."

Daniel wasn't raised as a Catholic. He tried that part of his act out on Catholic friends.

"I don't want to be offensive to anybody except for fanatics." He avoids material that belittles women.

"I don't do any gay-bashing. It's very easy, but I don't see any reason for it."

DANIEL TALKS about TV evangelism and about reincarnation. If reincarnation is a reality, he said, people who commit suicide most likely will be extremely angry.

He then likes to give audiences a rest, getting away from those heavy topics.

"That's what they're there for, to have fun, and so am I." He talks about dating a Haitian, bisexual junkie with cold sores on her lip.

"I met her at the blood bank."

Originality's important to Daniel, who does some improvisational work toward the end of his act. His work as a comedian takes him all over the U.S. and Canada.

Daniel also does some counseling and teaches undergraduate psychology courses, but he's not sure the life of a full-time academic is for him.

"It may happen down the road, I'd be a really good teacher, but not a good academic. I like the interaction with people."

At one point, Daniel considered quitting graduate school. He realized the "stage time" he got in classrooms was helpful. Daniel also enjoys performing his comedy routines on campuses for college audiences.

Faculty members he's worked with consider his comedy work an added dimension of teaching, but at the same time wish he could be more committed to psychology.

"Going on the road is no big deal because I handle it professionally from my end." He's scheduled his comedy work around his academic commitments.

"My comedy's come a long way, even since when I was in Detroit." He's looking forward to appearing soon at the Looney Bin Comedy Club.

"I've always had a really good time in Detroit when I've worked there. I like Detroit audiences."

David Daniel will appear at 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 1-3, at the Looney Bin Comedy Club, lower level of the Wolverine Restaurant, 1655 Glengarry, Walled Lake. Price is $7 and reservations are required. For reservations, call 669-9374.

Flower-garden show plans begin to bud

By Marge Alpern
special writer

Several recent horticultural publications have carried articles that contain such catchy phrases as "Foliage as Filters," "Foliage Fighters," "Plants as Pollution Fighters," "More Than Just a Pretty Face" and "Beauty That's More Than Skin Deep."

These expressions may sound light and cute, but the articles are based on hard facts from recent research done by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The articles begin by saying that chrysanthemums and aeronautics may not seem to have much in common, but studies by NASA show that mums and other plants can remove up to 80 percent of several harmful gases commonly found in modern buildings. The studies were conducted under laboratory conditions as the agency sought ways to keep air clean for long periods in the closed conditions faced by astronauts. The findings, however, have broad implications for human beings in the modern urban setting.

Among the pollutants inhaled by office workers in our tightly sealed office buildings are formaldehyde and benzene fumes. Chemical toxins are released by innocent looking, ordinary objects, such as furniture, carpeting, and facial tissue. Gases emanate from photocopying machines, fumes from cleaning solvents and pollutants from cigarette smoke. These all create indoor pollution and can cause nausea, headaches and long term illness.

THIS INFORMATION is based on the findings of Dr. Anthony V. Nero Jr. at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory in California, a leader in the study of indoor air pollution.

He says: "The risks posed by indoor pollutants are, in fact, comparable in magnitude to those associated with exposure to chemicals or radiation in industrial settings."

"Living green and flowering plants have been found to clean and purify the air by reducing amounts of formaldehyde, benzene and carbon monoxide in modern construction."

"When a plant takes in a harmful substance," he continued, "such as formaldehyde, it does not act as a filter, but it actually metabolizes the material — breaks it down physically and chemically to use as food and then releases fresh oxygen back into the atmosphere."

Dr. B. C. Wolverton, the NASA investigator, said that "The more foliage, the healthier the environment." Some of the more familiar houseplants, all of which happen to be vigorous and easy to grow. Included are philodendron, spider-plant, sansevieria, spathiphyllum, Dracaena marginata, and Dracaena Warneckii. Two flowering plants, chrysanthemum and Gerbera daisy, are also mentioned in the study.

So now, instead of including plants in our homes and offices strictly for design or beauty or for the simple love of growing things, we are being encouraged to grow plants to keep our homes and offices healthy and clean.

Larry Pliska, who first told me about this study, is the owner of Planterra Tropical Gardens in West Bloomfield. Pliska has had a great deal of experience in designing landscapes for many modern, tightly sealed buildings.

His talents have brought him national attention. He recently received the 1990 National Environmental Award from the Associated Landscape Contractors of America for the interior of the Galleria Office Building on Northwestern Highway and 12 Mile Road. The unusual cathedral-like ceiling of the building allows a great deal of light to enter the indoor garden, and the plant arrangements create a stunning effect.

Planterra, incidentally, is one of several area nurseries that is participating in the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show on April 6-7-8 in Yost Fieldhouse on the campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

In addition to exhibits and displays, there will be a large marketplace where Planterra will offer a special selection of unusual bromeliads from South America, cacti, palms small enough to carry home, ming aralias, bonsai cactus gardens and a fine group of ferns, including small staghorns.

Taylor Orchids in Monroe will also have a trade booth at the show. Offered will be over 1,000 blooming phalaenopsis because owner Ron Cienski feels this orchid is the best choice for the beginner who does not own a greenhouse. But — not to worry — there will be other varieties as well.

Another specialty grower who will have a trade booth at the show is Wild Nature Greenhouse of Brighton. Wild Nature will be featuring cacti and succulents, and since this nursery is the largest grower of these plants in the eastern part of the country, a great assortment can be anticipated.

All in all, about 40 growers are expected to take part in the show, the theme of which will be "Secret Garden."

For more information on the show, call Dr. write Judith Corkran Katch, Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor 48105, or call 998-7343.

Q. You have mentioned your Organizing classes several times. My husband is very disorganized and I'm wondering what your sessions cover and if it would be worthwhile for him to take off work to attend them?

A. I cannot tell you if your husband should attend or not. When people attend my seminars (as they often do) because their mates, co-workers, etc., need help, I emphasize that these are self-improvement classes. Unless the other person specifically requests advice, it is seldom effective to try to organize another person.

Organizing can be contagious, however. After living or working with someone who is "carefree" for several years, a well organized person sometimes lowers his or her standards. This change may be almost imperceptible until things finally get out of control and one realizes something must be done. When one party attends classes and begins quietly reorganizing their home or office, the other person is usually so impressed they want to know how to do it, too.

I often compare my classes with weight loss clinics: Some participants lose no weight; some lose weight and gain it back; and some lose weight and keep it off. In the same way, I offer every tool necessary for people to get organized: Students may never utilize any of my techniques, they may use some of them for a while; or they may become very well organized by using most of the ideas I share. The decision to change is usually dictated by how motivated the student is. My first session deals with the importance of goal setting and with procrastination — clarifying why goals are often set but not accomplished. The second and third sessions cover time management techniques and tools for scheduling time. The fourth session, called Inner Dynamics, is my favorite. It explains how traits attitudes, aptitudes, depression and right and left brain thinking affect organizational abilities. The fifth class, Organizing Your Possessions, improves decision making and features a slide presentation of home storage ideas. Finally, in Paper Paradise you can learn how to organize your papers so you can keep a clear desk and still find what you need. Mail handling and a home filling system are discussed, as well as business applications.

organizing

I suggest that you let your husband read this column and make his own decision about whether or not to attend.

To enroll in individual sessions or the full six-week Organizing for Success Course, call Schoolcraft College at 462-4448. In-house seminars for businesses are also available.

Tokyo Quartet returns

The second tower of Columbia Center at Big Beaver and I-75 in Troy is under construction. But another office building spurt to match the one that occurred in the '80s is unlikely.

'90s office market will project different look

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

The 1980s — the decade of the office.

Perhaps an exaggeration, but the explosion of office buildings in the last 10 years changed the face of southeast Michigan.

But what of the future? Reaction from developers and market analysts ranges from cautious optimism to bullishness.

Doug Winkworth, head of development for Kirco Realty and Development, said although there will be some new office developments, a greater emphasis will be placed on renovation and specialized development in the 1990s.

"We don't see spectacular growth, but we're optimistic," Winkworth said. Kirco will be building new offices in Troy, Southfield and the Detroit Central Business District in addition to projects in the Ann Arbor area.

Winkworth said he looks toward the 1990s with an eye for specialization. General purpose, multi-use office buildings are a quickly giving way to specialized use buildings intended for one client or research and development.

Typically smaller with fewer stories, the specialized buildings may help markets like Auburn Hills and Novi that have not had success with general use offices.

Joel Feldman, vice president of Hayman Co., the Southfield property management and leasing firm, said it is unrealistic to expect 1980s-like growth. "Records in every sense of the word, both in construction and occupancy, were set," Feldman said.

BUT THE RECORDS may be little more than a game of musical buildings, he said. "What I'm trying to say is it may look like 50 percent growth but may be more like 10 percent growth," Feldman said.

Lewis Kasselmann, vice president at Cushman & Wakefield of Michigan is more bullish on the office market, noting the term "musical buildings" is overused and perhaps inappropriate.

"In the last two years the metro area has added eight million square feet — that's eight million square feet of real growth," Kasselmann said.

Vacancy rates have increased, but there was a $10 million increase in leasing activity too, Kasselmann said.

"Most office space demand was promoted by the area's economic vitality." Assuming the economy remains strong, the office market should remain strong, he said.

Feldman said there are no safe bets in today's complicated office market, but a few areas continue to look promising.

LIVONIA, WHICH was predicted to be a slow market in 1989, surprised many by filling up rapidly with major tenants like AAA of Michigan and Electronic Data Systems. "They went from leasing 160,000 square feet in 1988 to more than 625,000 square feet in 1989 — that's almost a 500,000 square foot increase in leased space."

Cushman & Wakefield's Kasselmann said Livonia is likely to be an increasingly more important office market because of its access Ann Arbor and Lansing, in addition to the tri-county market.

But Kasselmann disagreed that the Livonia market was ever truly soft. Despite tremendous fluctuations in the Troy and Livonia markets, they have been the two most stable markets in the metropolitan area.

Troy, Hayman's Feldman said, will see development, but office space is limited. New developments like the Northfield Office Center near Crooks and Long Lake Road and the Columbia Center at Big Beaver and I-75 are doing well — in part due to the development slow down and because of extremely aggressive leasing efforts by building owners.

KASSELMAN SAID a misperception about the Troy market is occupancy can't keep up with the growth. "The truth is it has kept up with growth and has continued to have stable vacancy rates."

He said the opening of I-696 is bound to affect the office market in the communities through which the freeway winds, but some of the recent predictions about the affect may be overstated.

Farmington Hills, for example, will not be the next Troy for two basic reasons — one, Farmington Hills does not allow high rise buildings, and two, the land just isn't there, he said. But I-696 may help fill vacant offices in established markets, he said.

Feldman said projections about Farmington Hills becoming the "next Big Beaver Road" — particularly along 12 Mile Road between Drake and Novi Road — is likely to occur only if proposed freeway entrance and exit ramp improvements are realized.

Novi has the potential to become a larger office market than Farmington Hills, but until existing offices fill up, there isn't likely to be much spillover, Kasselmann said. Continued office development is unlikely in the fledgling Auburn Hills and Rochester Hills markets where supply exceeds demand, Feldman and Kasselmann said.

The Birmingham/Bloomfield market, once one of the most exclusive office markets, has changed dramatically in recent years. At one time, tenants would crawl over each other to get into the area, but today there are vacancies, Feldman said.

Troy's Royal Coachman sold

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Holtzman and Silverman Cos., one of the largest rental property developers in southeast Michigan, bought the second largest apartment complex in Troy last week.

Co-chairman Jonathan Holtzman announced Wednesday his firm has purchased the Royal Coachman Apartments — second in size only to Somerset Park Apartments — to expand its customer base and go after the underserved, first-time renter market.

The new venture will be called Village Park Apartments, a Village Green Community, a name chosen to capitalize on the 18 Village Green Apartments owned by his firm, he said.

"We were getting the 25- to 40-year-old renters making $25,000 to $60,000 a year, but we were missing a lot of 18- to 30-year-old renters making $18,000 to $30,000 a year," he said.

The 44-acre, 545-unit complex at I-75 and Rochester Road will be renamed Village Park of Troy. It is jointly owned with Aetna Institutional Investors, a limited partnership managed by Aetna Realty Investors.

The purchase price has not been released.

"What we heard — and when you have 16,000 apartments you hear a lot — is there were people that liked our apartments, but we didn't have anything in their price range," Holtzman said. Village Green Apartments rent for $570 and up.

"We saw an opportunity to buy an existing community, upgrade it enough to get it close to what we offer at Village Green, and still not compete with ourselves," he said.

Holtzman and Silverman normally doesn't buy older properties, but develops new properties, Holtzman said. "Village Park, a Village Green Community, is really a different direction. We have a clearer idea of what we're going to do."

Holtzman said his firm is already looking for other communities. "But it can't be just anything — it has to have good location, good size and a good foundation on which we can build."

The Royal Coachman apartments are 20 years old and will require renovation but the basics are there, he said. "They may not have cathedral ceilings or fireplaces or have contemporary designs, but they will share many of the amenities that Village Green apartments have."

In addition to interior and exterior renovation, new appliances and light fixtures, the new Village Park will see a new gate house/entry, 5500 square foot club house, swimming pool and recreational areas and car ports.

Jack Wake, of Wake-Pratt Construction Company, part owner and manager of the Royal Coachman, said that several buyers have approached him about buying the apartments in the past, but the timing wasn't right.

"There's no special reason (for the sale)," he said. "It's just that it's 20 years old and it's time to move onto other things."

"Most people own a property and sell it after five years, but we held it much longer — it's a good property," Wake said. "It's got a great location and depreciation hasn't been a problem."

Marinas go condo

What can you tell me about the "dockomium" market in northern Michigan?

"Dockomiums" are spaces in marinas that have been condominiumized. I know of several in the Charlevoix area that have been extremely successful. It appears that if these are well managed they can be a good investment. You should be certain that the developer has obtained the requisite permits and you should be cautious in reviewing the condominium documents. Check the amenities that will be provided as this could be a crucial factor if you choose to lease, particularly when you are competing against public marinas.

CUSTOM VAN FREE. CONVERSION SEMINAR SAT., FEBRUARY 3 - 1:00-3:30. See the talk of the 1990 Detroit International Auto Show The Revolutionary EOZ Bad/Touring Seat. Thinking of buying a custom van now or in the future? Learn why buying a custom van is completely different than buying an automobile. It only makes sense to learn about a purchase of this size before you buy, not after. Jim Stokes, with 13 years experience nationwide in the custom van industry, will be here covering subjects such as: different van conversion companies, raised roofs, tape stripe versus paint, advertising, resale, mini vans versus full size, TV's, VCR players, trailer tow, gas mileage. Refreshments will be served. Because of the large turnout expected, please call the phone number below for reservations. Through a special promotion, Auto Show prices and rebates will be honored.
