Primary goes to incumbents

The eight nominees will compete for four council seats. They include incumbents Charles Pickering, Thomas Brown and Thomas Artley. former council member William Ziemba, and council hopefuls Glenn Anderson, David Cox, Sharon Scott and Dorothy Smith.

Pickering became the frontrunner in the primary, garnering the most votes in a primary that saw fewer than 9 percent of the city's registered voters go to the polls. Just 4,406 out of 49,390 voters bothered to cast ballots.

"It was depressing," city clerk Diane Fritz said of the turnout. Primaries usually draw 10 to 15 percent of the city's voters, and Fritz had hoped for a high turnout.

"It was a quiet election to begin with," Fritz said, indicating that the low-key primary could have prompted voters to stay away from the polls.

Pickering received 2,107 votes, outpacing his nearest competitor, Brown, by 135 votes in Tuesday night's unofficial count at city hall.

ROUNDING OUT the top four were Artley and then Scott, who

In an emotionally charged sentencing Wednesday, a Romulus woman received five to 15 years in prison for killing two teen-age girls in a head-on collision in Hines Park in Westland.

Alita Lynn Bell, 22, wept and looked back at family members as authorities led her from the Detroit Recorder's Court room where she was sentenced by Judge Thomas Jackson on two counts of involuntary manslaughter.

Jackson told Bell he hopes she never forgets the "senseless destruction" that resulted from the 2:20 a.m. Aug. 8, 1990, crash in which she killed Amy Lynn Alexander, 18, of Westland and Frances Carol Roehl, 19, of Waterford Township. Earlier court testimony revealed that Bell had been drinking alcohol and driving 79 mph.

BELL'S ATTORNEY, David Blake, indicated that Bell's case will be appealed.

The defendant made only one statement in court. Weeping, she said, "I just want to say I'm sorry for what happened."

Jackson announced the sentence after a series of highly emotional statements were made by parents of the victims.

Joseph Roehl, father of Frances, sobbed uncontrollably at times as he struggled to address Jackson.

joy of our lives," Roehl said. Frances was the second child that he and his wife, Virginia, had lost in a drunken driving accident.

Roehl told the judge how his daughter had dreamed of becoming a child psychologist, and he talked of her writing talents. "She was writing a movie that she will never complete," he said.

"ALITA LYNN Bell made the final decision of our daughter's life, because she made the decision to drink and drive," Roehl said.

Linda Alexander, mother of Amy, told how her daughter "was always the one to rat on her friends" if they drank alcohol or used drugs. Though she warned her daughter that she could lose friends that way, the teen responded that she would rather lose them than see them die.

Addressing Bell, Alexander made a statement in which she referred to Bell's 4-month-old daughter, Rebecca Nicole.

Trustee criticizes teachers' hiring before board OK

By Darrell Clem staff writer

A Wayne-Westland school board member has criticized the school administration for putting 27 new teachers on the job two weeks before asking the board to authorize contracts for the employees.

"I find it very unsettling that this comes to the board two weeks after they've been working," board member Laurel Raisanen said during Monday's meeting. "I feel that puts us in a very precarious position."

But some other board members and Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's administration defended the move as standard practice for school districts and said the teachers had to be hired to fill gaps as the new school year

"Business has got to run," board member Andrew Spisak said. "We've got to help it run, and we can't be a hindrance to it."

The latest dispute emerged as the saga continued over whether some board members, particularly Raisanen, have overstepped their policy-setting duties and become too involved in routine administrative matters.

Raisanen cast the lone dissenting vote as the board approved the 27 contracts after a lengthy debate Monday night. The teachers included 11 in special education, 11 in secondary schools, four in expressive arts and one psychologist.

RAISANEN CHARGED that the school administration should have sought board approval before hiring the teachers and approving the contracts that she said will cost the district about $1 million. "I have a fiscal responsibility to the community, and I feel that this should have come (before the board) before these people started work," she said.

Delaying the hirings could have caused the district to lose some of the teachers to other districts and would have forced schools to place more substitutes in charge of classrooms, said Bill Taylor, associate superintendent of employee services.

"I think it's a mistake to say that a teacher can't start working until you approve it," he told Raisanen.

The teachers were needed as enrollment quirks emerged when the school year started, Taylor said, adding that the administration had tried to predict as closely as possible the number of employees who would be

"I don't know a school district in this area that staffs as tightly as we do," he said.

Board member Leonard Posey defended the hirings and told Raisanen, "I think we've got a superintendent that we pay a lot of money to make those decisions."

If the board becomes too involved in administrative matters, Posey said, "we will be a detriment to the educational process."

Spisak warned that the board "will do irreparable damage" to the district if it delves too deeply into administrative matters. Noting that 85 percent of the district's $87-million budget pertains to employees, Spisak said that when decisions about hirings are made, "I think we've got to leave it in the hands of the professionals."

Schools to give Tinkham program the ax on Sept. 30

By Darrell Clem staff writer

The Wayne-Westland school board, moving to drop the Tinkham Center program for the mentally disabled, has decided to lay off the center's 41 employees on Sept. 30.

However, school officials are negotiating with another agency that could retain the employees and rescue the program that serves 170 people who are developmentally disabled or chronically mentally ill.

The school district's decision to halt its 11year involvement in the rehabilitation program drew criticism Monday night from Tinkham Center program assistant Sylvia Laroche.

"We feel that the Wayne-Westland system has failed us," she said, pleading with the board to save the program.

In a 5-1 vote, however, the board decided the school district should no longer serve as what Superintendent Dennis O'Neill described as "the middle man" for the pro-would take over the program. Negotiations are continuing, and school officials hope to arrange a deal before Sept.

THE DISTRICT is not seeking to close the center - but only to find a better way to provide services, O'Neill said Monday. The district "has yet" to run the program based on money for other sources, he said.

In a board resolution approved Monday, the board took what it called "the regrettable but prudent action" of laying off the Tinkham Center employees, effective Sept.

Board member Laurel Raisanen became the only board opponent of the plan, saying she had "serious reservations" about the layoffs. "I think they are premature," she

Raisanen appeared concerned that the school district has not reached "a solid lease agreement" with Family & Neighborhood

Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svitkovich said he doesn't know of any other Michigan school district that is involved in such a program that serves clients primarily over the age of 26. The district has no legal obligation to provide such services, he said.

Some board members questioned whether the Tinkham Center clients would be without service after Sept. 30. 4

"The clients will continue to have service, one way or another," Svitkovich responded, adding that he's hopeful that a lease agreement will be reached soon.

Chorus seeks new members

Winter may be on the horizon, but for those who like to sing it always is

At 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 1, The Spirit of Detroit Chapter of Sweet Adelines chapter will open its doors for new members. The group will hold its open house in the VFW Hall on I-96 just east of Inkster Road in Redford Township.

The choral group is looking for new members and is inviting women who like to sing four-part harmony barbershop style to an open house.

It's not nocessary to be able to read music; just be able to carry a tune and you'll be whisked away by our sister Sweet Adelines to hours of music and camaraderie.

Spirit of Detroit consists of 80 women from 41 communities in and around Detroit.

Sweet Adelines was founded in 1943 and there now are 634 chapters in 12 different countries.

Choruses are busy year-round, performing a variety of old, new and contemporary music for public and private functions. Yearly competition is held in 27 regions with the winners in each region going on to international competition. Spirit of Detroit will represent its region at the 1992 international competition in Baltimore, Md.

During the open house on Oct. 1, newcomers will be entertained by the 80-women chorus and refreshments will be served.

Moms with AIDS get a haven

By Liz Stevens staff writer

Eight months ago, Janet's life was in ruins.

She was trading in food stamps and selling her children's diapers for money to buy a hit of crack cocaine. Her dealer was threatening to take her 1-year-old daughter if she didn't come up with the $600 she owed him.

And she had been diagnosed with the AIDS vi-

Despite her debilitating drug habit, Janet continued regular visits to a local clinic for medical treatment, though she showed, and still shows, no signs of AIDS

It was during one of these visits that the desperate 28-year-old met Jacquie Thomas.

"I have to give it to this lady here," said Janet, which is not her real name. "She seen the hurt in me, the depression in me, the scared little girl that really needed love and help."

THOMAS IS the founder of Simon House, a Detroit refuge for mothers with the AIDS virus and their children.

And it's the place to where Janet and her daughters escaped eight months ago with only three bags of clothing and a lot of hope.

In its first 16 months, the program has provided a drug-free, healthy environment for 30 women and their children, many of whom contracted the virus at birth. Despite their Illness, many residents improve their quality of life dramatically.

The goal is to make the women feel "they do have some control over their lives, they do have choices," said Thomas. Though she has been the driving force behind the program for two years, she credits her staff and higher powers with the success of Simon House.

"I'm not doing it," she said. "It's strictly His SOCIAL SERVICE agencies, hospitals and even former residents refer the mothers to Simon House.

Almost without fail they arrive with a drug addiction. And almost without fail they have contracted the AIDS virus because of it.

The services provided through the program address these medical problems head on, but also attempt to alleviate the emotional pain and guilt many women feel. A primary goal is to rebuild the mother-child relationship.

"Our mission here is to empower the mother to continue to be the care provider for her child," Thomas said. "All of these women that are with us have made the choice that they would rather be good mothers than addicts."

Three young women, including Janet, and their six children now live in the three-story home in Detroit.

When a new resident arrives, staff members draw up a care plan that includes long and short-term goals. As long as the women pursue the goals, remain off drugs and alcohol and follow the rules, they can stay at the house.

Meanwhile, their days are crammed with doctor's appointments, therapy sessions, nutrition and parenting classes and Narcotics Anonymous meetings.

"We're not just giving them a house to live in,"
Thomas said. "We're giving them the opportunity to change their behavior and learn new skills."

"I constantly have one goal after another," said
Janet, sitting in the airy front room of the house and cradling her sleeping 2-year-old in her arms.
She has been drug-free for seven months, completed a parenting class and is pursuing a high school diploma.

She and her three girls, none of whom contracted the AIDS virus from her, share a tiny upstairs bedroom, furnished with a bunk bed and crib. Janet has decorated one wall with fliers from Narcotics Anonymous and another with the children's crayon drawings.

She is proud of her accomplishments and often compares her current life with her past. "I was the sorest sight there was," she said. "But today, it's all about recovery; it's all about me and my daughters... I have courage today to walk out into the street without looking over my shoulder."

Thomas, who has a nursing background, said society has rejected people with AIDS based on "completely unfounded" beliefs about the disease and how it spreads. The virus cannot be transferred by "hugging, kissing or socializing with an (AIDS)-infected person," she said.

THE WOMEN at Simon House are at a greater disadvantage than others.

Gay men, for instance "are organized, are able to identify their needs and are politically astute about how to achieve that," Thomas said. "I'm not saying they've got it made; they don't. But the population I am dealing with is none of the above."

Like many similar programs, Simon House exists on contributions and grants. Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital donated the house, which took months to gut and renovate. Other charitable foundations provide large chunks of the program's $200,000 budget.

With a staff of 13, skyrocketing insurance rates and plans to provide hospice care at the house, Thomas is continually looking for more grants and donations. But she's keeping the faith.

"I keep saying, this is Your idea," she said, glancing skyward. "You better do something about it."

2 men are charged in store burglaries

By Diane Gale and Tedd Schneider staff writers

Two men have been charged in connection with 55 roof-top breaking and enterings of businesses in at least nine communities, including Garden City, Westland, Livonia and Canton Township.

Police in Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Monroe counties were searching this summer for thiefs breaking into businesses by tearing open the roof vents or air conditioner vents and entering the buildings to rob the stores.

Often times the stores were in strip malls and the thieves would go from business to business through the roofs.

Eric James Goss, 27, of Saline and Terrance Nelson Gurney, 19, stood mute Monday, Sept. 9, during their arraignment before 16th District Judge James McCann.

Police to share info on carjackings

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Carjacking - how likely is it to happen to you? Even area law enforcement officials aren't sure. But they believe they could soon know.

As of this week, Wayne County police departments began sharing information about armed auto theft.

The goal is to find out who is most vulnerable to having their car taken at gunpoint, Wayne County Sheriff

Robert Ficano said. "We should be able to pick up patterns and tell what kind of people are being victimized," said Ficano, who organized the information-sharing program. Standard forms, listing details of area carjacking incidents, have been sent to all area police departments. Reports will then be monitored by the sheriff's department.

Information also will be shared with the Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Monroe sheriff's departments, Ficano said.

ported in several suburban communities, including Farmington Hills and Redford, most incidents have occurred in Detroit.

"IN MY experience it is not thank God - a problem in the suburbs," said Lt. Sandy Miller, director of the Western Wayne County Auto Theft Team. "But that doesn't mean suburbanites don't go to Detroit." Participation by Detroit police is considered a key to the informationsharing program's success.

Though Detroit officers weren't present at last week's kickoff press conference, Ficano said he was assored the city will participate.

"They are on board," he said. Southfield police have created a special carjacking patrol, using police officers as decoys, but western Wayne departments generally haven't followed suit.

"Using decoys is difficult with a crime like this," said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry, speaking on behalf of the county chiefs association. "With decoys, the objective is for the officer to become a victim. But a crime like this is so random, there's no guarantee that

"What's heartening is that people have been getting caught and judges would happen." Nonetheless, police said they are making progress against carjackers.

suing stiff sentences," Ficano said. Bond was recently set at more than $1 million for a suspect being held in a string of carjackings in Livinigston County and Redford. To that, Wayne County Prosecutor's chief of operations Richard Padzleski says: "Hooray".

"A STANDARD is being set," he said. "One, that we're taking this crime very seriously and, two, if you're caught and convicted, you' aren't going to get off with a slap on the wrist."

Miller took exception to media. speculation armed car thefts were a response to the new, sophisticated alarms and anti-theft devices available to car owners.

"I wish they hadn't said that," she said. "We recommend people use anti-theft devices:"

But despite police action and widespread availability of anti-theft devices, car theft remains a large Wayne County problem. There were 39,805 automobiles stolen in Wayne County in 1990 one for every 35 registered vehicles - according to Michigan State Police statistics.

In Oakland County, there were 5,140 reported thefts — roughly one for every 171 registered vehicles. Statistics can be misleading, Miller said. "What we've found is that there are people who use their cars as collateral to get drugs at crack houses then report the cars stolen," she said. Whatever its source, car theft keeps insurance rates high, according to the American Automobile Association. "We don't have a breakout for armed auto thefts, but we keep track of auto thefts generally," AAA spokesman Tom Freel said: "If thereis a large increase in thefts in an area, rates will go up."

Even though there have been more than 145 carjacking arrests to date, law enforcement officials said the carjacking crisis is far from over.

"OBVIOUSLY, WE aren't telling people to carry a gun - that's illegal unless you have a concealed weapon permit," Ficano said. "But there's a lot of common sense things people can do - starting with keeping their car doors locked.'

Miller, a Michigan State Police officer, said her department advises drivers be especially aware when approaching an automatic teller machine or fast food takeout line.

"For an auto teller, it might be best if they took someone with them," she said. "And believe it or not, these crimes do occur at fast food restaurants."

If something looks suspicious, law enforcement officials said, its best to drive away.

Lawmakers give Engler school plan mixed reviews

staff writer

staff writer

Everyone saw something different to applaud or criticize in Goy. John Engler's "Michigan 2000" plan for achieving excellence in the $8 billion public school system.

"It is a plan that gives people parents, students and educators the freedom, the power and the options to achieve excellence," the Republican governor told the Legislature and State Board of Education

DOROTHY BEARDMORE, R-Rochester, president of the State Board of Education, "liked his focus on parenting" and "the recognition that children need to be ready for school." She praised Engler's emphasis on teacher development and tenure reform.

Annetta Miller, D-Huntington Woods, 20-year member of the State Board, found nothing new, "I'm personally not sure the 'charter school' can work," she said of Engler's plan, borrowed from Minnesota, to let local school boards grant charters to a ENGLER'S EMPHASIS on new kinds of publicly funded, competitive schools was criticized by Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. He called charter schools and federally funded "new American schools" just "a proliferation and expansion of an already inefficient system." He blistered Engler's failure to advocate consolidation of the smaller of Michigan's $62 districts.

But Sen, Robert Geake, R-Northville; said charter schools "are probably the most dramatic idea-and could do a lot for low-income areas of the state, though they wouldn't do much for western Wayne County."

Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City and House Education Committee chairman, was "delighted" with the governor's emphasis on education but didn't see much new. "What he's proposing is either in the state school aid bill, at least the concepts, or it has been around for awhile."

Serving her first day in office, Rep. Georgina Goss, R-Northville, whose-districts-includes Plymouth and part of Canton Township, said "charter schools sends alarm bells ringing . . . It's such a new concept that I'd have to see more." Scholarships for potential teachers are "a" wonderful idea."

Engler underscored his values not by introducing an outstanding scholar or favorite teacher, as his predecessor, James Blanchard, might have done, but by introducing "two very special teachers - my mom and dad,"

He covered five main areas:

• Quality - optional new schools, countywide schools of choice and 200-day school years in pilot districts.

• Equity - tax base sharing by richer districts - extremely unpopular among most area lawmakers except Keith, its architect.

• Teacher improvement — doubling aid for professional development, bonuses, easier certification for professionals with non-teaching backgrounds.

• Job skills - guarantees to em; ployers of graduates' competence, school-employer partnerships with state aid to businesses who promise to provide jobs to graduates, more math and science centers.

• Preschool - tutoring and extended kindergarten hours for atrisk youngsters.

Mental health agency transfer worries local parents

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Plans to transfer a local mental health agency from state to county control have touched off a flurry of concern and protest in Wayne and Oakland countles.

Fears are growing that area group homes could face budget cuts, or new community resistance, say representatives of group home parents organizations.

In Wayne County, controversy surrounds the transfer of the Wayne Community Living Service, from tarded Citizens.

State officials say the Wayne County transfer is part of a long. standing policy to give local officials more say over mental health activi-

"The philosophy is that local communities are better able to meet needs that a centralized state bureaucracy," state department of mental health spokesman Tom De-Loach said.

The changes, he added, are conducted under a state mental health code drafted as long ago as 1974.

While the state "is in the process" of transferring Wayne Community Living Services to the county board, DeLoach said there are no immediate plans concerning MORC.

A meeting last Thursday between : ARC members and new state mental health director James Haveman

"There were so many questions and so little time, not everything was addressed," she said.

More questions are expected to be asked during a Sept. 17 public hearing in downtown Detroit.

Area firm keeps tracks of bad checks worldwide

By Valerie Olander staff writer

At a Boy Scout camp in Hawali 30 years ago several fathers of the voung scouts wandered away from the campfire and the tales of ghosts to discuss business. The men, comparing notes, discovered a similar problem haunting each of their busl-

"The guy at the drug store was taking the same bad checks as the guy at the supermarket and hardware," said Arthur Nitzsche, owner and president of Southfield-based same people were the ones cashing the bad checks all over town.

"Finally one of the guys said hehad a secretary with time on her hands and suggested they call her every time someone passed a bad check. Then, when someone wants to cash a check they can call her back to see if the person's name is on the list. Pretty soon the secretary at the real estate office spent all her time taking calls and he started charging for the service." Today nearly 100,000 retailers worldwide subscribe to the check guarantee service. More than $6 billion in checks are cleared by the system each year.

'Our data base gives us the edge because it knocks off the checks written fraudulently and guarantees the others who try to make the check better.'

> - Arthur Nitzsche company founder

NITZSCHE ESTABLISHED the TeleCheck Michigan. "It seemed the Michigan TeleCheck franchise in 1979 and services large corporations such as Hudsons, JC Penny, Mejers and Target as well as smaller "mom and pop" type retailers. Roz and Sherm in Birmingham, Viking Aluminum in Garden City and Roby's Shoes in Southfield are just a few of the smaller companies that rely on the service to protect the business from getting stuck with fraudulent checks.

TeleCheck Michigan has more than 4,200 subscribers, which placed more than 2 million calls in 1990 to verify a total of. $280 million in checks, Nitzsche said.

More than 1.5 million names areon file with the databank, and a cashler receives an electronic verification within seconds.

"Most people who write bad checks have fraud in mind. Some are collectable," Nitzsche sald. "Our data base gives us the edge because it knocks off the checks written fraudulently and guarantees the others who try to make the check bet-

TELECHECK HAS begun a new service where the system also keeps tabs on check-writing patterns of customers. "A lot of people from out of town think they can write a bad check and go home and no one will ever catch them," Nitzsche said, adding that the TeleCheck system is international. "We know about the bad dudes."

Nitzsche, who has 25 years experi-2 ence in the banking industry, said he established the Michigan franchise of TeleCheck at a time when many financial experts forecasted a cashless society where all transactions would be made electronically.

"I was intrigued with this, to be a vender to retailers," he said."I knew there would be a market out there for a payment service. At the time, 13 years ago they were predicting a cashless society, a paperless society. I thought this is a bunch of nonsense. It is nonsense.

"Debit cards won't cut into the use of checks. I don't see it happening," Nitzsche added. "Sure, some (business) will be taken away by those who already use gold cards instead of checks. It might cut in a little bit but business has been growing by 7

Genius invents new math, tackles universal secrets

By Raiph R. Echtinaw

When he was 4 years old he could add, subtract, multiply and divide, in his head. When he was in the eighth grade an algebra teacher suggested he skip Algebra II and go directly to nuclear physics. In his senior year at West Bloomfield ... High School his whole curriculum consisted of independent study, and he graduated four months early as the class of 1974's valedic-

Strike Eagle uses jet fuel.

"If I wanted to complete all my major theories - I made an estimate - it would take 400 years," said the 35-year-old Allen Klein, whose I.Q. exceeded 200 when it was last measured 30 years ago.

Sitting in Marilyn and Morris Klein's kitchen, listening to their son, one marvels at how someone so capable and so accomplished can be equally bereft of braggado-

It's difficult to get Klein to talk about himself because at every opportunity he expounds with great animation on his ideas and theories that seem as limitless as the new system of mathematics he created, which uses infinity as a base number.

Yet his love of family is also obvious, particularly when he talks about his two nieces, June 5 and Danielle, 2. "We were playing.

all day yesterday," he said. "They were jumping on my shoulders. They love piggyback rides."

With a degree in nuclear physics from Lawrence Technological Institute, Klein works for the Systems Engineering & Management Association in Falls Church, Va., where he does work for the federal government's Strategic Defense Initiative pro-

But in his spare time he's an "amateur" theoretical physicist with theories on quasars and the cumulative effect of fields already published, and more on the way.

'Klein is shooting for the big time now, trying to finish Albert Einstein's unified field theory that attempts to prove the existence of a massive force, stronger than gravity, that holds galaxies together. "It's been like a dream of physicists for the last 40 or 50 years to complete this unified field theory," he said.

Klein researches the existence of this force in a novel way. Whereas most scientists to date have based their theories on a finite universe, Klein invented "infinimatics" and predicates his work on the supposition that the universe is infinite.

From two teachers in West Bloomfield schools, Jim Robinson and Stewart Schultz. Klein learned not to set road blocks of preconceived notion in the path of discovery. "(School) was really a good experience for me because my teachers really encouraged me to look at things in a different way," he said. "It has allowed me greater flexibility in ways to solve problems."

CONTRARY TO POPULAR belief, Klein said an active imagination is a prerequisite to great scientific achievement. In other words, dreams and science fiction novels are the framework on which scientists build theories. Klein likes to quote Einstein in this regard: "Imagination is more important than knowledge, whereas knowledge is limited, but imagination embraces the entire.

Ergo, it's no coincidence that some of Klein's favorite activities include reading Jules Verne novels and watching "Star

'I see myself almost as an explorer, basically on the 'Star Trek' theme, going 'where no man has gone before."

Speaking of "Star Trek," Klein is also toying with the idea of inventing a transporter such as Captain James T. Kirk used to beam down to planets. "I'm actually _working-on_that,"-he-said.-

Cooper cleanup

Don't forget communications

HE LIVONIA school district, which in-Modes the northern section of Westland, uneshas submitted a plan to clean up the Cooper Elementary School site. The work plan details the steps the school district will take in the first phase of cleaning up 43 cacres on which the school was built.

posithe building and nearby land are on the south odd side of Ann Arbor Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt.

m Theifirst phase of the cleanup involves an investigation of the property. The actual cleanup plan Will'come later and will depend substantially on the type of toxic contamination found.

1131 Cooper School was built in 1962 atop a landfill Which was in use in the late 1940s and 1950s. Soil tests previously made on the site show levels of PCBS, lead, cadmium, mercury, arsenic, DDT and cyanide.

THE SCHOOL will remain closed until the site is cleaned up. Most of the Cooper students are now attending the former Whittier Junior High School, across the street. Many parents, however, jopted to transfer their children to other schools.

The cleanup plan is an important first step in identifying the problems and outlining the various needs to correct the problem.

Once approved, the school system will have private companies do the work contained in the 21-page plan. How long the investigation will take depends on how much can be done during the coming winter months, when the ground freezes, said the school administration.

The proposed work plan includes an outline for health and safety actions to ensure a safe envivergiment for area residents and students during table investigation, the collection and analysis of surface water, leachate and Rouge water samples, monitoring of outdoor air and the analysis of soil samples for pesticides, cyanide and heavy metals.

THE ADMINISTRATION said investigators expect to learn the history of the Cooper property, its geology and the amount and type of con-

Hopefully, the school district will have a community information program as well as a technical plan to find out just what's under the Cooper property.

taminants contained in the soil.

The results of the initial investigation will determine whether the site needs a further investigation.

At the same time, there is more to the Cooper dispute, which surfaced last spring, because of parents' uncertainties of just what the health problems were.

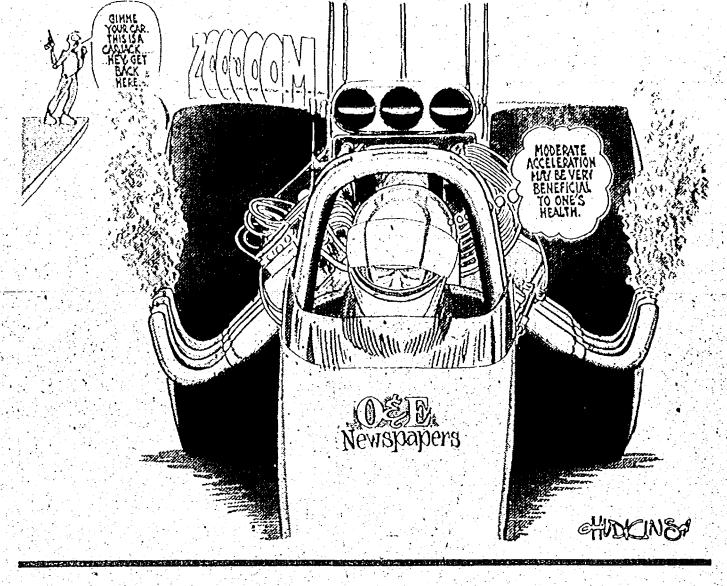

Certainly, no one is blaming the school district for building on a former dump. At the time Cooper school was planned and being built, there was no consciousness of the importance of protecting the environment and the public health impact on area residents.

But once the history of the Cooper property was discovered, there should have been a much quicker and open presentation of the problem.

HOPEFULLY, THE school district's cleanup plan submitted to the DNR will be accompanied by a more conscious effort by all concerned the school board and administration, DNR; county health department, and others — to keep the Cooper community informed on a timely basis:

Part of that effort must include an ongoing effort by everyone involved that the public is entitled to have information that potentially impacts their public health and safety. While definitive answers may be a long way off, the community should be kept updated frequently on what government officials are doing.

The administration should realize that the Cooper community isn't mad at the school system for having a problem. It's upset because there wasn't a quick presentation of information at the beginning.

Fear of change deters year-round school idea

A RITUAL in our house is taking a picture of my son, Nathan, as he boards the first bus of the new school year. Nathan, 9, will be a fourth grader for the 180 days that Michigan children attend school.

Nathan's counterparts in Scotland attend school 200 days a year, in Israel 215, South Korea 220, In Japan 243 - two full months longer than American kids.

It isn't surprising that children who go to school longer than Americans learn more. Most tests comparing school achievement show our kids lagging behind those of our international economic competitors.

WHY NOT increase the number of days of school from Michigan's currently mandated 180 days?

Habit, for one reason. Schools re-

Cost, for another. According to Beverly Wolkow, executive director of the Michigan Education Association, our biggest teachers union, the average teacher in Michigan makes around $38,000 per year — $210 a day. Paying 80,000 teachers for five extra days would cost $84 million.

Admittedly, there's a big argument about extra pay for those extra days. Some say teachers are paid an annual salary; working extra days is just part of the job. Wolkow says that's not fair.

Let's compromise: $100 a day for five more days, or $40 million - not

NOT UNTIL you realize that total local and state spending for Michigan K-12 schools is nearly $6.5 billion a year. So $40 million is only a 0.6 percent increase in the total.

There are other costs: bus drivers, custodians, administrators, utilities, materials, wear and tear on the buildings.

Who's to say five more days of school - a 2.7 percent increase in the total school year - aren't worth. a 1 percent increase in spending?

Political reality, that's who. Gov. John Engler asked for $150,000 for six pilot districts to bump school days from 180 to 200. There's bipartisan legislative support for much the same thing.

But with the state facing a $300 million revenue shortfall and legislators from both parties preoccupled with survival after reapportionment, don't hold your breath waiting for a 200-day school year.

HUGH JARVIS, president of the Michigan Federation of Teachers (the smaller union), is pushing consideration of a year-round school

"Research has shown conclusively that students, especially in lower grades, lose much of what was learned during the school year over the traditional two-and-a-half months summer vacation," Jarvis

A brief, pre-bus preview of the multiplication tables with my son validates Jarvis' point.

A few districts are trying a yearround calendar - 45 days of class, 15 days vacation, repeated through the year. Huron Valley School District, around Milford in western Oakland County, was on such a plan when superintendent James Doyle arrived eight years ago. "People like it," said Doyle of the optional year-round program. He estimated only 5 percent of district children enroll - "mostly because of tradition . . . families like taking the summer off."

Any learning improvements? "Statistically, you can't find much." evidence in test scores, but you get the impression that they retain more," he sald. Added costs? "No big ones, although you'd probably have to aircondition all the buildings."

A good idea hangs in the air, one that doesn't cost much and just maybe would helps kids learn. On the other side are tradition, inertia, fear

When will we ever learn? Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His award-winning column will appear periodically.

Take action

Make their sentences equal

A word that wasn't in our vocabulary six months ago has become the most talked-about crime in recent memory. City and suburbs alike, drivers are pulling up to traffic lights and looking suspiciously at the people in the car next to them.

It's a hard problem for responsible people. Instinct says fight back; reason dictates a more prudent approach. It's a hard problem because there is no easy, correct solution.

That means, to us, that the solution lies in a combination of actions, starting with something we've advocated all along: greater cooperation between the city of Detroit and our suburbs. Carjackers certainly aren't worrying about which side of Eight Mile they hlt.

IF THERE is to be a task force culled from suburban and city law enforcement departments, then it needs to become active immediately, not inly to halt carjackings, but to let residents know that someone is responding to this problem.

Additionally, courts can cooperate with one another and agree on a substantial, regional sentence for convicted carjackers. That way carjacker would find the sentence would be the same regardless of where the crime took place.

Before Taying all the responsibility in the lap of law enforcement, we also would call on the area area corporations — car insurance companies, for example — to lend a little muscle to this light. Let's veer off course for a minute.

Do you know why you didn't hear about the death toll on the road this past Labor Day weekend? It's because the car insurance companies have been so effective in their pitch for safe driving that the death toll now is pretty much the same on holiday weekends as it is on any other weekend.

That's clout, and insurance companies have a vested interest in seeing carjacking stop. If they have to pay out too much on too many claims, then redlining will increase, premiums will follow suit and residents will how more than they already are about mandating a rollback and then capping premium rates.

BACK ON the law enforcement end, anyone in the suburbs who drives the freeways to work has seen police, waiting to nail anyone going over the speed limit. With such a serious problem as carjacking upon us, it would be worthwhile to get those police cars out on the roads, patrolling.

There's also the spinoff effect of all this. In some suburban areas, it's pretty common to see white police officers pulling over and questioning black drivers. Sometimes it seems as though they rarely pull over white drivers. If carjacking persists, everyone is going to get edgler than they already are, which eventually could materialize in the form of escalating incidents of harrassment. No one needs that.

So let's get this taken care of and prove two things: that we can eradicate carjacking by making the certainty of punishment so great that no one will want to take the risk; and that when it's important, we can band together and solve a common problem.

from our readers

Letters must be original copies and contain the signature and address of the sender. Limit letters to 300 words.

Writer is criticized

To the editor:

I was shocked and saddened by the letter from G. Fischer (Thursday, Sept. 5) and his attempt to label the CHECK family as a small misinformed group prone to exaggeration and speculation.

For Mr. Fischer's information we are none of these. We are a group of 150 concerned parents who have gone out of our way to gather all the information available on the Cooper landfill from the date seven long years ago when Livonia Public Schools was first notified of a potential health risk from this site.

All of our statements have been based on fact from those years of paperwork through the health department, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Michigan Department of Natural Resources and Livonia school system and the decades of research on the health offects of the toxins found on this former hazardous toxic landfill (a label placed on it by Dr. Donald Lawrenchuck of Wayne County Health Department in the Detroit Medical News Aug. 26, 1991).

In case Mr. Fischer has failed to learn in his 20 years as an environmental professional, the health risks from these toxins, I can assure him they're quite real and not a figment of our imagination.

His attempted slander of our group and me personally, the suggestion that I or CHECK labeled the aerial photos in the News was another mistake on Mr. Fischer's part.

As the person who found the aerial photos, the first step I took was to contact Art Howell of the Livonia school district, Mary Vanderlane of the DNR, the health department and lastly the News who had received their own photos and had their own experts analyze the photos.

At no time have I or CHECK labeled the photos or made any statement on the content of them. Only that they exist and showed a site clearly larger than the 5-10 acres that the school board tried to mislead us into believing.

The school district was instructed years ago to find any and all historical photos dealing with this site, an action like many others they had failed to do in the seven long years they needlessly risked our children's

The one and only point of truth or fact that I could find in Mr. Fischer's letter was that this is an emotional issue. It has become one because of the inability or unwillingness of the Livonia school board to address any of the health or safety concerns in a timely or speedy manner, instead of relying on their arrogance and the complaisant attitude of people like Mr. Fischer who place property values and convenience before common sense and safety.

Charles Pare, Westland

Let's tell whole story

I'm thoroughly disgusted!

I keep reading about losing teachers and administrators from Wayne-Westland school district to other districts because they pay more. Thomas Drummond, assistant principal at Marshall Junior High, is the latest.

Maybe I'm wrong but aren't these people being given a leave of absence to do this? If this bothers the board - don't give it. If this is part. of the contract — change it.

People change jobs in the auto industry but aren't given a leave of absence. If a teacher/administrator wants to leave for more money, good luck! But no leave of absence should be granted so they can come back and bump a recent appointed, or a new hire, if they change their mind. Let's start telling the whole story.

Words fail him -- and court

AMBROSE BIERCE (1842-1913), the journalistic and literary misanthrope, summed up the Michigan legal scene far better than any modern story in one of his "Fantastic Fables." It goes:

"A Man in a Hurry, whose watch was at his lawyers, asked a Grave Person the time of day. "I heard you ask that Party Over There the same question," said the Grave Person. "What answer did he give you?" "He said it was about 3 a'clock," replied the Man in a Hurry; "but he did not look at his watch, and as the sun is nearly down I think it is later."

"The fact that the sun is nearly down," the Grave Person said, is immaterial, but the fact that he did not consult his timepiece and make answer after due deliberation and consideration is fatal. The answer given," continued the Grave Person, consulting his own timepiece, "is of no effect, invalid and void."

Take a few lessons from school planner

FOR SEVEN YEARS as his top assistant, I watched school Superintendent John Schultz of Rochester do one whale of a job.

I have worked for superintendents Mike Hoben of Plymouth/Canton, George Garver, late of Walled Lake and Livonia, and Bill Keane of Berkley and the Oakland Intermediate District.

'I am also closely acquainted with other highly knowledgeable CEO's like Bob Docking of Bloomfield Hills, Terry Follbaum of Centerline, George DePillo of Warren and former superintendents Art Jefferson of Detroit, Lew Schulman of Farmington and the hard-driving Sam Flam of Berkley.

The best superintendents routinely work 80-hour weeks, and they share an eclectic expertise in budgeting, curriculum, personnel deployment and strategic planning. It is in the latter category that Dr. Schultz boasts a near-legendary reputation. His intricate long-range planning model has received national atten-

The predictable result: chaos. Schultz and his new leadership team set out to develop procedures for long-range analysis based on corporate meth-

Throughout the winter we surveyed the key players in the district and analyzed the findings. In November we looked at changes in the community; in December the staff underwent scrutiny; in January the topic was enrollment projections, followed by student "profiles" and financial assessments in February and March.

Then we developed likely scenarios if nothing happened to change current trends. Finally, we studied each scenario in terms of SWOTS (strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, threats). From this we established long-range goals, concrete objectives and strategies for meeting sources that discourages most other districts from even attempting such an indepth venture.

IT IS A heightened misfortune that last year with little warning there came forth from Lansing a political expediency called "categorical recapture" which slashed school reimbursements by millions of dollars (and incidentally caused me to decide to retire to save the jobs of some of my younger staff).

This recapture was accomplished by reduced allocations to districts with high state-equalized property evaluation per pupil. These "out-offormula" districts are no longer reimbursed for some things such as special education, driver education and student transportation.

Rochester alone lost millions of dollars from this, as well as additional millions for 1991 through the recently enacted residential property tax freeze. Adding to that large and growing district's difficulties is a desperate need to pass a $31 million bond to renovate deteriorated buildings and purchase land for a bus facility. Simple wavelage

Any hope for visionary school planning goes up in smoke when bur state government imposes such seatof-the-pants legislation that cuts the tall trees in the forest without appreciably nourishing the short ones. In doing this, it had no inkling of the cruel impact on school employees' livelihoods and children's learning environments. Me a soulius

Maybe our governor and legislature could use some long-range planning lessons from John Schultz.

Art makes changes in quality of life

The thought of leaving the position of Creative Living editor after more than 15 years produces a rush of conflicting emotions.

There will be more time for getting the muscles and the golf swing and swim, polish the photography skills, do research in the library and take a couple of investment and decorative arts (I never said I knew it all) classes. Course I'm looking forward to more leisurely visits with the kids and grandson — are they gonna be thrilled or what? Yes, these good things and some possible new career directions bring a smile of anticipation. _____

But, right along with these comes a tinge of sadness. Friends, on their third, fourth or 10th million, are prone to try to comfort me about my lack of extreme, vulgar, financial success by remarking how lucky I am to have met so many interesting

That's my consolation prize. They say it to be nice, but it happens to be true — in spades. Many of the people I've interviewed have been artists painters, musicians, sculptors, authors and occasionally interior deback in shape. - more time to walk signers, architects, gardeners and builders.

> With the artists, particularly, the act of creating - producing something that has never been seen, heard or printed before — is in a sense a birthing or life-giving process, and as such, it can be intoxicating. What a joy to play even a minor role in all this, especially since the quality of art coming out of this part of Michlgan continues to improve.

How can anyone call the teaching of arts in the schools frills? The act of creation involves innovative thinking and problem solving and carried forward to the respectable amateur or professional level involves math, science, history, philos-

I love that quality about people in the arts, so many are doggedly persistent and innovative in approach at the same-time.--They'll find a way, they always have. It's just that sometimes it gets harder and harder to be a visionary or a seer, to point out the foibles of our society, to make the environment more beautiful, more interesting, more challenging or more exciting.

Sure, nobody ever promised these people a rose garden, but to all whom I've worked with and written about and to the many I've missed here's a long-stemmed rose from me for your valiant and heart-warming efforts. We're talkin' about quality of life — you really do make a differ-

Stevenson rolls to win

By Brad Emons staff writer

Number 51 is usually reserved for forwards and centers, but guard Mo Drabicki wears the jersey quite nicely over at Livonia Stevenson.

Thursday, September 12, 1991 O&E

The sophomore ball-handler, who is adept at going with either hand, may hold the key to a successful girls basketball season for the Spartans, who ran their overall record to 3-0 with a convincing 61-34 win at city rival Churchill.

The cat-quick Drabicki had only eight points, but dished out six assists and had six steals, playing an overall strong floor game as Stevenson rolled to the victory.

"She gives us the dimension of getting the ball down the court," Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said. "She's right-handed, but she dribbles better with her left hand. With Mo we're able set up our offense and go from there. Mo's played a lot of AAU basketball, about seven or eight years worth. She's just not a scorer, she's also an unselfish player."

Drabicki's play-making should make things easier for the Spartans' front line of 5-foot-10 senior Teresa Sarno and 6-foot junior Karen Groulx.

Sarno got out of the blocks fast hitting six of her first seven shots. She tallied 14 first-half points as Stevenson jumped out to a 30-15 advantage. The Spartans then broke it open in the third quarter, outscoring Drabicki's running mate at guard, Lori Shingledecker, added 12 points and six assists.

"Lori works very well with Sarno, she's able to get the ball to her inside with some penetrating passes," Hebestreit said. "And with Mo, we're also to see our big people inside."

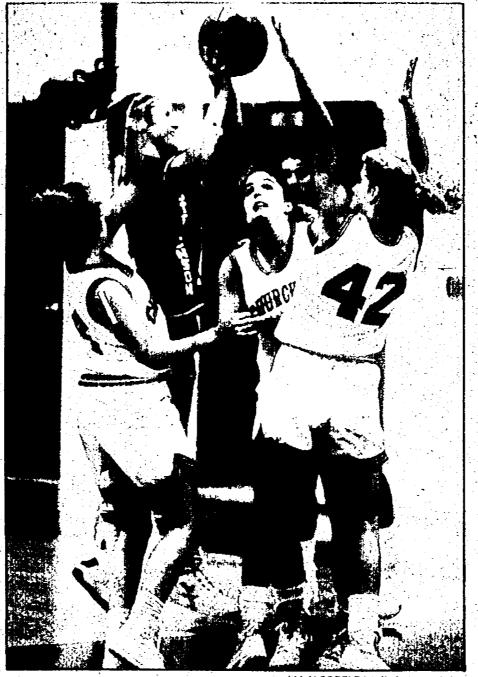

Churchill (0-3) dug Itself a hole early, falling behind 11-0 before Julie Campau broke the drought with a basket with 5:12 left in the opening

The Chargers found themselves down 10 after one period, 18-8. They simply could not run with the Spartans up and down the floor.

"In the beginnning of the game we didn't execute what we had worked on in practice," Churchill coach Don Albertson said. "After I took a timeout we began to do some of the things we had talked about (in the huddle). I was happy with our improvement the rest of the game."

Stevenson forced the Chargers into 26 turnovers and 34 percent shooting from the floor (16 of 47). The Spartans, meanwhile, had only 13 errors while shooting just over 50

Groulx," Albertson said. "It also looks as if Groulx has improved as an outside shooter.

"And Mo handles the ball nicely. They took it to us down the floor."

Once again, junior guard Chrissy Daly provided a bulk of the Churchill offense, scoring 17 of her team's 34 than four was Campau, a senior center out for varsity basketball for the first time. She added seven.

"My compliments go to Stevenson," Albertson said. "They did a nice job. They should be a factor in the whole smear of things in the Western Lakes (Activities Association). They can play. Stevenson is a much-improved ballclub."

Every player got into the scoring column Tuesday as Livonia Franklin whacked visiting Trenton en route to a 56-21 girls basketball win. Franklin (3-0) led 31-8 at halftime and 52-12 after three quarters.

Senior guard Dawh Warner paced the Patriot attack with 20 points. She also added 13 rebounds and one three-pointer.

Senior forward Kristi Celeski chipped in with eight points for the winners, while junior center Karen Potempa contributed six. Junior guard Buffy Holton led Trenton with eight points.

"We are beating teams that we should beat right now," Franklin coach Dan Freeman said. "When we get into the league, it could be a different story. It's no secret that our league (Western Lakes Activities Association) is tough.'

"We didn't even show up," Glenn coach Pat Bennett said. "We could have made it a better game. There's no excuse." Junior guard Jennifer Gorecki scored eight points to lead the Rockets. Senior forward Pam Dixon and senior guard Carrie Rachwal each tallied six.

Tara Sutton led South Lyon with 20 points, including five three pointers. Nikki "On a couple of Sutton's three-pointers we had somebody there guarding her,"

LUTHERAN EAST 59, LUTH. WESTLAND 44: Sophomore guard Kelly Probert scored 15 points Tuesday, leading Harper Woods Lutheran East to victory over host Lutheran Westland. Lutheran East led 28-19 at the intermission.

Scicluna spearheads Shamrocks' triumph

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Redford Catholic Central senior forward Mario Scicluna didn't start Tuesday's soccer game against Birmingham Brother Rice, but he helped get things started for the Shamrocks.

And then he finished off Rice. Scicluna scored CC's first and third goals as the Shamrocks opened the Catholic League Central Division schedule with a 3-0 win over Rice at Bell Creek Park. Senior midfielder Kerry Zavagnin, a more familiar face, sandwiched a goal in between Scicluna's two tallies.

Scicluna played on the junior varsity last year but his play of late has given coach Phil LaJoy reason to consider leaving a spot for him in the starting lineup.

FOR A WHILE there I started to get worried about playing time, but I go in, bust my butt and have played pretty good," said Sciciuna, who has three goals on the year. "If we get our stuff together I think we can be a top contender for the (Class A) state (title)."

Said LaJoy: "Mario has worked hard and he's a digger - and you

The win makes CC 3-0 overall, but Tuesday's lineup hardly resembled the one that's been on the field the first two games. CC controlled the midfield despite playing without three key players for various rea-

Missing were junlor midfielders Clayton Campbell (who was ill) and Rob Harkins (who had a knee injury) and senior midfielder Scott Larner, who had to sit out because of two yellow cards he received in an earlier game.

LaJOY MOVED senior co-captain Matt McIntosh from his stopper position to center-midfield, next to Zavagnin, the other senior co-captain. Junior John Andreoli was moved from outside fullback to stopper and LaJoy inserted junior Jason Parent and senior Brian Maahs into the starting lineup as fullbacks.

Zavagnin, McIntosh, Matt Kopmeyer and Steve Heitert each collected assists for the Shamrocks.

"Rice gave us a good game and you can't take anything from them, but I thought we controlled play pretty well," LaJoy said. "They all did a very good job."

Goalkeeper Aaron Angeli suffered the loss for Rice and had to be replaced late in the game by Chris Timlin after Angeli was accidentally kicked in the stomach on Scicluna's second goal.

CC's Jell Sawicki and Tim Bober shared the shutout and neither was tested by Rice's top scorer, Ryan Townsend, who had six goals coming into the contest.

One of the best scoring opportunitles Rice had came in the second half when defender Scott Elton missed a chance to challenge CC from the side of the net off a direct kick.

"CC certainly came into the season as one of the top teams in the state — on paper," said Rice coach Jay Louis-Prescott, whose team fell to 4-3-1 overall and 0-1 in the Central Division. "Our offense didn't play well enough to have scoring opportunities and our midfield buildup was poor, but I thought Angeli made some big saves and played pretty ZAVAGNIN, ONE of the top-rated players in the state, always draws attention with his dribbling skills and playmaking ability. But the Warriors also were bothered by a ring Zavagnin wore on his right hand. After the Rice coaching staff complained about it to the officials, the ring had to come off in the second half.

Players are not allowed to wear any kind of Jewelry and Louis-Prescott thought Zavagnin was using the ring to his advantage by "jabbing" Rice players in the back with it while the referees weren't looking.

"He (Louis-Prescott) has a right to say whatever he wants, but I don't think there's anything to that," La-

'I don't see how it (the ring) hurts the game; I'm not going after anyone with it," Zavagnin sald. "When their assistant coach brought it up (to the official) it seemed he was just trying to get me off my game. what the big deal was."

Wolter gets in swing of things

By Brad Emons staff writer

When John Daly won the PGA Championship last month, he certainly dispelled the myth about mixing football with golfers.

The former high school kicker and long ball artist has an accomplice down at Hillsdale College in punter Mark Wolter.

The Livonia Stevenson grad returns for his senior year as the leading punter in the Midwest Intercolleglate Football Conference.

Now in his third year as the Chargers' starter, Wolter, a sevenhandlcapper and member of the Hillsdale golf squad, believes the two disciplines have a lot in com-

"You use the same principles," Wolfer said. "Swing easy, look the ball in and take your time. Just like in golf, if you overswing you're not going to get off a good one. You use the same technique each time out." .

Wolter, a lefty, made All-MIFC last year, averaging 40.9 on 51 punts. The main thing with Mark is that he has keep consistent," Hillsdale assistant coach Pat Riempa: "He's had some line shots where he's outkicked his coverage. But he has an awfully strong leg."

WHEN HE WAS playing for Stevenson, Wolter did the kicking and punting. He also played free safety and split time at quarterback with Pete Mazzoni, who went on to earn

'If I had to give myself a grade, i would have given myself a D-plus for the first half and an A-minus for the second half.

> --- Mark Wolter Hillsdale punter

All-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletle Association honors at Adrian Col-

The 6-foot-3, 180-pound Wolter also played baseball for the Spartans before enrolling at Hillsdale.

"I basically came here because I knew a girl that was going here," Wolter said. "I wanted to play baseball, too. At Stevenson I kicked, so as a freshman I walked on and they gave me a chance to punt."

Although Wolter struggled as pitcher for Hillsdale, his football career took off. He became the regular punter his sophomore year and has been a fixture for the Chargers ever

"Mark's got an awfully strong leg," Rlempa sald. "He's pretty much on his own. Coach (Dick) Lowry works with the punt teams, but at the college level it's a case of keeping a guy like that in the right frame of mind. If there's something he's doing wrong, like coming across his body too much, then we'll try and help him out. Otherwise he's pretty much on his own."

Wolter avoids standing around in practice by holding contests and working on his technique.

In Saturday's home opener, a 14-0 win over Saginaw Valley, Wolter's average was only 34.7 yards on 10 punts. But he proved he can hit his chip shots as well as his drives, pinning Saginaw twice within its own 5.

"IF I HAD to give myself a grade," Wolter said, "I would have given myself a D-plus for the first half and an A-minus for the second back into form after a slight bout of mononucleosis, which kept him down for 21/2 weeks late this summer.

"I was working and doing a lot of running until I got sick," said the senior finance major. "But it wasn't that bad. I wasn't bed-ridden or anything, just a little weak." (Wolter, who worked at Caddyshack Golf Shop in Livenia this summer hopes to become a sales rep for golf equipment).

Meanwhile, his most immediate goal this season is to break Chester Marcol's school record punt of 75 yards. Wolter's career best is 65. If he kets the right bounce on Hillsdale's artificial turf, he could eclipse the former NFL kicker's mark.

"Actually I'm more comfortable off grass," he said. "But I like the rolls you get on the turf."

Wolter does not pattern himself after any pro, but keeps a lookout for the NFL's best.

"One guy I watch in the pros is Reggie Roby (Miami Dolphins) because he's so effortless, plus he wears a watch which I don't understand," Wolter said. "I'm going to watch Sean Landetta (New York Giants) a little more closely this year, too. And I've heard Chris Gardocki (a rookie from Georgia) is good."

Many pro kickers got their start in soccer, and Wolter is no different.

"I played little league soccer and that helped, too, because I was a goalie," Wolter said. Funny, I wonder if John Daly ever booted the round ball?

The Lady Ocelots lost their opener Saturday to the host Monroe team, 3-1. SC, which currently has just 12 players on its roster, was playing without sophomore defender Jennifer Whitfield, who was out with a muscle pull.

"That showed a lot of character." Whitfield was back for the Champlain game, which helped. Still, it took some time for SC to adjust and attack properly.

"THEIR TEAM was backing off and our through balls were ineffective," explained O'Shea. "So we had to rely on Shannon and Nikki (Johnson), dribbling through the midfield."

The adjustment worked. Johnson twice forced Champlain defenders to make decisions to try and stop her. When they did, she fed the ball to Becky Diverno, and Diverno cashed in for two goals.

it was SC's defense, which surrendered five goals. Still, O'Shea wasn't overly concerned.

"I said it would be suspect at the beginning of the year," he noted. "Plus, Whitfield was hurt and couldn't play in the back. We had to use her at midfield."

SC winless, but stays optimistic after tourney

.It wasn't what Schoolcraft College men's soccer coach Van Dimitriou hoped for. Starting the season by going winless in a two-game Schoolcraft tournament can hardly be termed a sports successful start.

But it was no disaster, either.

The Ocelots, playing in the Triton College Tournament in Chicago last weekend, suffered a 3-1 loss to Rosary College, a local four-year school, on Saturday.

On Sunday, SC rallied to lie Lewis and Clark Community College to go 0-1-1 in the tourney:

Although the record wasn't impressive, the tournament served its purpose, according to Dimitriou. Every game we're looking for a little bit of improvement," he said. "And it looks like we're getting it.

"We now basically have a set team in regards to positions. We've established who is who on the team."

ONE NOTABLE "who" for the Ocelots last weekend was sophomore forward Jeff VanDemergel. Of the three SC goals, he scored two and assisted on the third. -

Sophomore midfielder Chris Crawford, who was just returning from an ankle injury, had his moments, too; he assisted on each of VanDemergel's scores.

But the rest of the offense continued to sputter, said Dimitriou. "We're getting some support at the point of the attack, but not enough."

There were defensive breakdowns as well. Against Rosary, the Ocelots found themselves down 2-0 25 minutes into the match. "We" were playing them well, but not as a unit," said Dimitriou.

half. VanDemergel scored with 14 CC at 1 p.m.

minutes gone on a cross from Crawford to make it 2-1, but Rosary countered live minutes later to regain their two-goal edge. SC had chances afterward, the best on a penalty kick with 10 minutes left after VanDemergel was hauled down. But Dave Hebestrelt's attempt was stopped.

AGAINST LEWIS and Clark, the Ocelots got a few breaks - notably when Lewis and Clark missed a penalty kick early in the match.

The game's first goal came with 20 minutes elapsed. VanDemergel looped a pass on a restart to Bob Hayes, who headed it home to make it 1-0, SC. But 12 minutes later, a miscommunication led to a defensive breakdown and resulted in an easy goal for Lewis and Clark. Fourteen minutes into the second half, Lewis and Clark took a 2-1 lead when a shot was chipped over SC keeper

Scott Hauman. Again, SC missed chances to take control. Hayes flicked a pass from Crawford over an open net with 25 minutes left, but 10 minutes later the Ocelots got the tying goal when Crawford angled a pass from the left side to VanDemergel on the right, and he tucked it in.

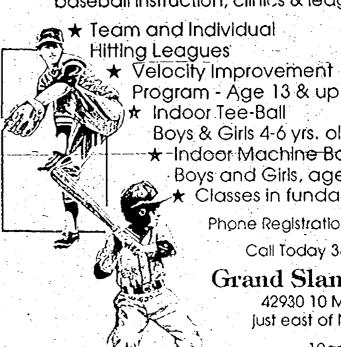

· Five minutes later, Hayes again had a chance to score, but his hard drive was tipped away.

SC opens Region 12 play at home SC-turned it around in the second Saturday, facing Cuyahoga Metro

Peterson, Gusick spur tourney win

Medalists Mark Peterson and Ryan Gusick combined for a 2-over 72 Tuesday, leading Livonia Stevenson to the team title in the 21st annual Plymouth Best Ball Invitational at Hilltop Golf Course.

The Spartans won the 18-team tourney with a 147 total. Mark Magnusson and Ryan Fawkes, who won a sudden death playoff for fourth place, combined for a 75 to figure in the feam scoring.

Host Plymouth Salem finished second with a 152 total.

The Rocks were led by Jeff Hopson and Jeff Kotlarczyk, both seniors, who finished second overall with a 73. (Dave Weaver and Brian Botwinski combined for a 79 to complete the Salem scoring.)

Redford Thurston finished third overall with a team total of 153. Adam Stern and John Walsh led the Eagles with a 74, good enough for third among the two-man teams.

Rounding out the team scoring: Dearborn, 154; Northville, 157; Plymouth Canton, 159; Ypsilanti, 162: Belleville and Dearborn Edsel Ford, 166 each; Westland John Glenn, 167; Livonia Franklin and Allen Park, 168 each; Walled Lake Central and Trenton, 170 each;

Mike Gentile scored on a cross from Dario Rauker in the second half, lifting Livonia Churchill to its fourth straight boys soccer win of the year, a 1-0 triumph over

It was a defensive struggle all the way as the Chargers outshot the visiting Colts, 6-5.

Jeff Cassar made five routine saves to post his second shutout of the year as the Chargers ran their season record to 4-1.

He got strong defensive help from Kevin DeHority and Scott Lamphear, along with Jeremy Banks, who did a sterling job marking Troy's talented midfielder Chad Shoemaker.

On Saturday, Churchill posted another non-league win, defeating visiting Kalamazoo Central, 3-0. Rauker tallied the Chargers' first goal on a penalty shot in the first half. Gentile added two goals in the second half on assists from Vince Trojani and Rauker.

Cassar and Kal Kaliszewski combined on the shutout.

STEVENSON 6, W.L. CENTRAL 8: Livonia Stevenson ran its record to 3-0 Monday, downing Walled Lake Central in the Lakes Division opener for both schools in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Matt Grodzicki scored in the first half to give the Spartans a 1-0 lead.

Travis Roy then broke things wide open, scoring three straight in the first 20 minutes of the second half., Matt Stabile, a senior goalie, recorded the shutout.

Craig Vanraemdowck and Nick Spano closed out the scoring

On Thursday, Stevenson spotted host Garden City a 1-0 lead before storming back to gain the lead for keeps on goals by Adam Carriere and Todd Krzisnik.

Dave Matovski and Roy (penalty kick) added insurance goals for the Spartans.

Harrison-Salem game leads weekend slate

By Dan O'Meara and Brad Emons staff writers

Farmington Hills Harrison played one of the biggest games in the history of Michigan high school football Saturday when it met Birmingham Brother Rice in the Silverdome.

But the Hawks have no time to relax or bask in the afterglow of their stunning, 32-0 victory.

Harrison has another big game on its schedule this weekend. The Hawks will be host to Plymouth Salem in what could be a preview of the Western Lakes Activities Association final Saturday afternoon.

Harrison is a three-time defending champion in the WLAA. Salem, which has never won the Lakes Division and played for the league title, is expected to be a strong contender for that opportunity this year.

The weekend lineup also features a match-up between defending Class AA champ Redford Catholic Central and Class AA playoff qualifier Detroit Mumford. In the friendly prediction race, we have an early leader. Dan O'Meara went 13-2 in the first full week of action and jumped ahead of Brad Emons, who was 9-6. O'Meara is 15-2 overall, Emons 11-6. For insight into the games this week and a chance to compare picks with the supposed experts, check out the following:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all games at 7:30 p.m.)

Westland Glenn at Liv. Churchill: The Rockets and Churchill have one thing In common; the final scores in their first games. The difference is Glenn was on the winning end of a 26-8 outcome against Highland Park on Aug. 30, and the Chargers lost to Class A playoff quallfier Dearborn by that score Friday. The Rockets had an extra week to rest and ... prepare for this game, too. PICKS: Is a British prime minister more powerful than a U.S. senator? Politics won't matter on the football field where Glenn has more clout, both agree.

Farmington at W.L. Western: The Warriors expect to have a good year, and they got started the right way Friday by beating always-tough Novl 10-7. The Falcons are hoping for good things, too, but

grid predictions

tost their opener 20-8 at West Bloomfield. PICKS: The edge goes to Western, both

'N. Farmington at Ply. Canton: Records don't matter in this game. North is 0-1 but lost by a touchdown (21-14) to Pontlac Northern - possibly the best Class AA team in Oakland County and one of the best in the state. The Raiders were leading 14-13 until Northern scored with 1:14 remaining. Canton made a successful debut Friday by beating host Monroe 18-6 as sophomore Kevin Shankle made his first start at quarterback. The Chiefs should have another fine year and could qualify again for the playoffs. PICKS: Emons likes the Raiders, while O'Meara thinks Canton has an edge on its home field.

Harper Woods at Liv. Clarenceville: Both teams enter Metro Conference play 0-1. The Trolans were beaten 17-7 by Center Line St. Clement, and Harper Woods was pounded 27-0 by Grosse Pointe University-Liggett. Despite that setback, Clarenceville was 6-3 last season and has the potential for another good year. PICKS: The Trojan horse trick won't work for Harper Woods. Clarenceville produces a victory, both agree.

Garden City at Romulus: Coach Dan Henry saw the host Eagles off with a victory in the new season, winning 13-8 over Taylor Truman. Garden City is smarting after a 28-12 loss to Dearborn Heights. Crestwood. PICKS: Nobody should count out the Cougars, but both like Romulus In !

Redford Union at Wat. Kettering; Things were going well for RU last week, leading 14-0 over Livonia Stevenson. That was true until the Spartans ralled for 39 consecutive points and a one-sided victory. Can they rebound this week? They face an opponent that is coming off a big win. Kettering ripped Millord Lakeland 41-0. PICK$: The Captains could earn a promotion with another win like that. Kettering is the favorite, both agree.

Wayne Memorial at Trenton: Wayne squeaked by an Adrian team expected to be pretty good this year, 20-19. For the second year in a row, the Zebras won it in the final minute - this time stopplng an attempted two-point conversion. Trenton had an extra week off after losing 14-0 to Plymouth Salem Aug. 30. The Trolans were 0-9 fast year and are rebuilding under first-year coach Bob Czarnecki. PICKS: Wayne wins its Wolverine A Conference opener, both agree.

Bishop Borgess at Ionia: The Spartans (1-0) are headed for central Michlgan and O'Meara's old stomping grounds where he spent several years as sports editor of The Dally News In Greenville. Ionia and Greenville are old rivals, and the Buildogs defeated their Class A opponent 21-13 last week. Ionia is one of the largest Class BB schools in the state, but so is. Bridgeport, Borgess beat the Bearcats 8-0 on the road last week and had two TDs. called back because of penalties, ionia plays in the rugged Mid-Michigan B League with Chesaning, Corunna, $t. John's and Alma, but the Buildogs could have frouble with Borgess backs Llonel Kennedy and John Valentine, who combined for 230 yards rushing against. Bridgeport. PICKS: Emons likes Ionla, but O'Meara goes with Borgess for another

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Stevenson at Liv. Franklin: Livonia football got a needed shot-in-thearm last week with the performances of these teams. Both had impressive wins -Stevenson coming back to trounce RU and Franklin upsetting a traditional power In Lake Orion 14-3. It looks like a toss-up with both teams having a good running back in Chris Lehti for the Spartans and Aaron Shakarian for the Patriots. PICKS: Franklin has the home-field edge, but Stevenson comes out ahead, both agree.

Ply. Salem at Farm, Harrison: The first-time meeting between these teams (both 1-0) should be quite a game. Harrison is No. 1 in Class BB, Salem No. 5 in Class AA. Both feature possible all-state running backs in Roy Granger of Harrison (195 yards and four TDs against Rice) and Leon Hister of Salem. Salem coach Tom Moshimer was unable to scout Saturday's Harrison-Rice game because he. attended the wedding of Rich Hewlett, arguably the greatest football player in Salem history. The teams did exchange game films, however. What he saw was Granger running wild and a bone-crushing defense, which held Rice to 17 yards rushing. But Salem also has a tradition for playing great delense, and that should help to make this game interesting. While many were understandably awed by Harrison's win over the Warriors, Moshimer might remind his players: Northville could have beaten Rice In the Class A semilinals last year, and the Rocks had beaten Northville when the teams met in an eighth-game rematch. PICKS: Don't expect Salem to be routed, too, but Harrison's size and strength on the line combined with the speed of Granger makes it hard to envision a loss for the Hawks. Both agree, it's Harrison.

D.H. Crestwood at Red. Thurston: The Thurston Eagles will probably have their fill of Dearborn Heights teams. They opened with a 32-2 loss to defending Class B champ Robichaud and this week face Crestwood, which defeated Garden City 28-14. The Eagles must figure a way to stop running back Chuck Reynolds, who ran through the Garden. City delense for 284 yards and two TDs. PICKS: The Chargers win another game at Thurston's expense, both agree.

St. Alphonsus at Luth, Westland: Both teams enjoyed successful openers. Lutheran Westland beating Cardinal Mooney 28-13 and St. Al's knocking off Holy Redeemer 13-8. Lutheran Westland Is fast becoming a respectable football school under coach Dennis Tuomi, if it hasn't already. Lutheran Westland was 5-4 last year and shows signs of being even better. PICKS: The Warriors will be the undefeated team after this game, both Redford CC vs. Det. Mumford at Clarenceville, 7:30 p.m.: Mumford should be another tough opponent on the Shamrocks' rugged schedule. CC whipped Temperance Bedford 24-6 in the opener, but the special tearns accounted for 18 of the points. Under ordinary circumstances, that would be a big concern. But the Shamrocks have been successful for years with just enough offense and a rock-solid defense. And the CC defense looks pretty good. Mumford lost a close game to Southfield In the playoffs last year and opened this year with an 18-14 win over Detroit Cooley. PICKS: CC can't afford to look past the Mustangs to next week's rematch of the Class AA final at Detroit King. The Shamrocks won't let that happen, both agree.

St. Agatha vs. G.P. University-Liggett at RU's Kraft Field, 7:30 p.m.: Following a pair of clashes between neighborhood rivals, the Aggles will travel across town to Grosse Pointe. The Class C teams are 1-0 after St. Agatha defeated Redford St. Mary's 14-6 and U-Liggett whipped Harper Woods 27-0. PICKS: The Aggles fall short, both agree.

Return artist Yoakam a hit

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Rick Coratti is Redford Catholic Central's defensive coordinator, but on Saturday his shoe size mattered most.

Coratti wears a size 914 and that was important since CC's all-purpose player Frank Yoakam forgot. his turf shoes at home.

Yoakam, who also wears a 91/2, borrowed a pair of Coratti's old shoes and the 5-foot-10, 170 pounder used them to his advantage in CC's 24-6 season-opening win over Temperance-Bedford at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Yoakam, CC's fastest player, took the opening kickoff of the second half and raced 88 yards for the game's first touchdown. Kerry Zavagnin's extra point gave CC a 7-0 lead with 11:46 remaining in the third quarter.

Yoakam later blocked an extra point and returned a punt 70 yards for a TD, prompting people to wonder if it was Yoakam or the shoes.

Well. . . "It takes 11 men to score a TD (touchdown)," said Yoakam, who scored once on a kickoff return and once on a punt return during CC's Class AA championship season a year ago. "I feel we have a better team than last year. There's more togetherness on this year's team. The juniors get along with the seniors, we're like one big family. Last year there were cliques. This year there's no cliques."

CC, which struggled to get past Bedford, 10-8, in last year's season opener, found itself in a scoreless tie at halftime with Bedford.

After CC took a 7-0 lead, Bedford recovered a CC fumble and drove 62 yards for a score, finishing the drive on a 43-yard screen pass from quarterback Randall Kruff to Jess Jurley with 5:59 remaining in the third quarter.

But Yoakam snuck his hand in to block the extra point attempt by Bedford, keeping the score at 7-6.

"Coach (Tom Mach) had (Dan) Kelly and (Dan) Gusoff spread on the line and let me go right throughthe line," said Yoakam. "Coach uses his speed to his advantage. He's a smart man."

football

The Shamrocks took the ensuing kickoff and drove to Bedford's 20, where they settled for Zavagnin's 37-yard field goal for a 10-6 lead, After the CC defense stopped Bedford on three plays, Yoakam fielded a Bedford punt at the CC 30 and took it past the Kicking Mules' line of defense for a score and a 16-6

Zavagnin's extra point made the score 17-6 with 10:45 remaining in

CC closed out the scoring later in the quarter, as junior quarterback Chris Barbara threw the ball into a crowd at the goal line and it was caught by Matt Roney for a 23-6 lead. Zavagnin's PAT made it 24-6.

CC outgained Bedford, 238-149 in total yardage and more importantly held the Kicking Mules to 29 yards on the ground in 30 carries. Senior tailback Jeff Tibaldi led CC with 88 yards in 14 carries and almost had himself a TD before fumbling on Bedford's goal line near the end of the first half.

"I told him that kind of situation will make you a better back," Mach sald of Tibaldi.

Barbara, making his varsity debut, completed only two-of-three passes for 61 yards, but he was CC's second leading rusher with 47 yards on 10 carries. Barbara got the call to start over junior John Priestap and senior Mat Pinard, but Mach made no promises about the second game Saturday at 7:30 p.m. against Detroit Mumford at Livonia Clarenceville.

"A lot of things happen in your first varsity game that you're not used to, but I thought Chris handled things well," said Mach. "I don'tknow what the future holds because the No. 1 spot is earned every week at each position and nothing comes guaranteed."

CC's defense was led by defensive back Brett Walter, who had an interception, and linebackers Gary Stegall and Joe Herman, who combined for 17 tackles.

Rockets gain rare invitational crown

Jess Shough, the Westland John Glenn boys cross country coach, called it a "confidence builder."

The Rockets, behind Jeff Tapper's second place finish, won a rare invitational title Saturday at Dearborn, leading the six-team field with 56 points.

"This is the first invitational we've won," said the Glenn coach. "The kids are excited about it."

Birmingham Groves, led by overall first-place finisher Jacob-Trolrki (16:56), wound up second with 70 points followed by Trenton (76), host Dearborn (80), Wayne Memorial (96) and Flint Northwestern (dld not

Outrageous opera

Believable situation makes show funny

Performances of the Birmingham Theatre production of "Lend Me a Tenor' continue through Nov. 3. For ticket information, call the box office at 644-3533.

By Barbara Michala special writer

FTER 40 WEEKS, and 278 performances in 50 cities with the national tour of "Lend Me a Tenor," stars Barry Nelson and Ron Holgate are still freshly enthusiastic about the Birmingham Theatre production opening this week.

Holgate plays Tito, a flamboyant Italian tenor, who is about to make his American debut with a Cleveland opera company. His sudden, accidental incapacitation sets off a chain of hilarious complications. Nelson portrays Saunders, the distraught impresario trying to cope with it all.

BOTH ACTORS cite the show's fine writing as the reason for its enormous success.

"The genius of the play is that the situation is so believable. This is the most important day in the lives of these characters. The writing sets the situation up so that it makes sense and never seems forced," said

Barry Nelson portrays the opera impresario who is bringing an internationally renowned opera star to Cleveland for his American debut in the zany comedy "Lend Mea Tenor" at the Birmingham Theatre.

Holgate who also directs this production. "Tenor" is a farce "of classical proportions" with eight players, one set, and six doors in frequent

"The comedy comes from the inter-relationships of these very volatile, colorful characters. The humor is not dependent on one-liners. In addition, the show has lots of visual appeal, with lots of movement plus a lush set, and wonderful costumes," said Nelson.

All that movement proved hazardous when the show was rehearsing in Baltimore pre-Broadway, Holgate recalled. The much-used doors had sharp steel edges, and the performers all had bandaged knuckles and even a few stitches.

HOLGATE ORIGINATED the role of Tito when "Tenor' was first performed at the American Theater Festival and performed it in the London and Broadway productions as well. Yet he says he still finds new possibilities for comic nuances each time around.

Directing the show at the same time he is performing has some obvious difficulties. "It helps that I know the show so well," he said, "but sometimes it is like trying to be in two places at once, I must rely on others' eyes when I'm on stage myself."

With his shock of gray hair and sparkling dark eyes, the tall and handsome Holgate looks like a dazzling opera star even when he's relaxing between rehearsals in jeans and a hot pink polo shirt.

"David Merrick," he said, "for whom I did 'Cactus Flower' on Broadway and '42nd Street' on tour. There aren't many colorful impresarios around any more; producers are businessmen now."

He spoke fondly of the weeks on tour with "Tenor." He loves to travel, and has done so extensively in Europe and Asia. "This gave me a good chance to discover the U.S." he said. "I rented a car and drove between cities. I loved seeing the countryside, the old houses, stopping off for dinner at some old mill. I hope another chance to tour comes up."

Nelson has had a long, varied career encompassing comedy, drama, and musicals, with a heavy emphasis on comedy that goes back to his costarring in the very popular television series 'My Favorite Husband' for 103 live performances in the

Real life drama plays a role in director's career

It sounds like an unusual combination, social work and theater, but Annette Madias of Farmington Hills has shaped her career to accommodate both.

One gives me a lot of material for the other," said Madias, producer/director of 'Laughing Wild,' an outrageous comedy by Christopher Durand, Sept. 13-15 at the Attic Theatre in Detroit.

She works the midnight shift at a suicide prevention center in Detroit and runs drama therapy workshops for adult survivors of incest. She's also an artistic associate and faculty member at the Actors Alliance Conservatory in Southfield, and a directing staff member at Crossroads Productions in Redford.

Madias has directed a number of shows for area theater groups including the Actors Alliance Theatre Company, Somerset Dinner Theatre and The Theatre Company. She's also won awards for work as a producer, director and production as-

A graduate of Harrison High School in Farmington Hills, Madias started out as a pre-law/sociology major at the University of Detroit. She started taking theater classes and liked it.

"I took a couple of classes on a lark, and ended up changing my major to fine arts, theater directing," she said.

"Laughing Wild" is about a man and woman coping with life in the 90s. These two off-the-wall strangers come together in a number of ways which lead them into a roller-coaster relationship with angry, sexy, terrifying and hilarious experiences are the result.

"It sounds very heavy, but it's done in a funny stand-up comedy sort of way," said Madias.

The production touches on some of today's topics - AIDS, the environment, therapy and New Age religion are only a few.

Folk music makes a comeback

By Stewart Francke special writer

Although difficult to categorize, folk music, American and otherwise, is enjoying a popularity comparable to its 1960s heyday.

Falling into the continuum of the Renalssance era troubadour - a straveling poet/musician who chronicles the life of everyman folk musicians today, in the face of (MTV, Madonna and heavy metal, gan seem an anachronism.

Yet audiences are responding with great enthusiasm to the, sparse, personal delivery of the folk genre. In fact, there is so much activity in this area that it is difficult to summarize all of it. Here is a partial wrap up of folk music around here.

THE FOLKTOWN Coffeehouse, chosen by the Metro Times as the area's "best Coffeehouse" is entering its 12th season of presenting the best in folk and acoustic music. Beginning 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, the series will showcase a performer each Saturday until Dec. 7. Opening the series will be the Michigan natives Claudia Schmidt and Sally Rogers. This performance marks the reappearance of Schmidt, one of the series most popular performers, after many years. She will bring a melange of communication skills - anecdotes, poetry, blues, jazz, folk - to complement her guitar and lap dulcimer playing.

Both Schmidt and Rogers performed on Garrison Keeler's "A Prairie Home Companion" radio program. Between them they have recorded 15 record albums. Tickets are $12 and available at the door until sold out, or in advance via-TicketMaster 645-6666. The concert will be in Room 115 of the Parks & Recreation Building of the side of Evergreen at Civic Center Drive (101/2 Mile),

OTHER FOLKTOWN shows will feature the gultarist Ray Kamalay. songwriter Dick Siegel, Joel Mabus and two "Mediterranean Nights," which will celebrate the music and culture of the Sepherad (the Jews in medieval Spaln) and Greece.

A similar eyent is the Paint Creek Folklore Society-sponsored "House Concert," featuring Jane Keefer and WDET-FM's Matt Watroba. This concert, held in the same spirit as David Brogren's Birmingham La Casa series, will be staged in the Rochester Hills home of Phil and Althea Doolittle. Watroba, the host of the Saturday "Folks Like Us" program, will play songs in the traditional style of Woody Guthrie or Tom Paxton. The date is 7 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 15. The price is $6. Call 375-2513 or 644-5496 for more information.

THE FIRST La Casa Folk Festival at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 20, at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward, features David Halley, guitar player for Jimmle Dale Gilmore and Nancy Griffith, Tom Pacheco from Dublin, Ireland. Richard Dobson and his band.

Southfield Civic Center, on the east - State of the Heart, and Kathy Moffat. Tickets are $10. Call 540-9031 for information.

And while folk music is generally thought to have rural American roots, much of it is a vigorous hybrid of European cultural expression.

Renaissance musician Owain Physe, also known as Owen Fite, is proving that the highly romanticized compositions of the Renaissance period - roughly 1400 to the mid 1600s — can transcend the centuries and provide inspiring narratives to a late 20th century crowd.

PHYFE, WHO is just completing a run of weekend performances at the Michigan Renalssance Festival, also plays guest sets at the Four Green Fields Tavern in Royal Oak. Phyle took an intense interest in this early music more than five years ago. He then went to the University of Michigan library to dig up rare sheet music to play.

Phyfe sings and plays the vihuela, a large, ornate progenitor of the modern acoustic six-string guitar. Phyle is also a member of the New World Renaissance Band. Copies of his cassette, "Voice and Vihuela," are available at the Harmony House Classical Store.

Manufacturer advises on getting competitive

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

The ability of U.S. businesses to compete - particularly manufacturers - has been weakened, but it has not degraded so much that it cannot rebound.

And although there is a long way to go, the groundwork for a return to manufacturing competitiveness if not dominance - has already been laid.

So says Eric Middelstadt, president and chief executive officer of GMF anuc Robotics Corp. in Auburn Hills, Middelstadt spoke to the Birmingham Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce Tuesday about the need for enhanced competition on part of U.S. manufacturers.

Middelstadt said much of the debate on industrial competitiveness has focused - wrongly - on how the United States has slipped from being the main exporter of manufacturing knowhow and technology.

Regaining that competitive edge, he said, is far more important. "We may have won the war in the skies over Iraq, but we're losing the war in the factories in Ameri-

Without industrial modernization — meaning robotics and technology as well as new techniques and strategies - the United States will not only become more dependent on other nations, but its people will lose high-paying jobs and will have fewer choices in the market place, he

"Everyone wants one answer (and) don't tell me about the nitty gritty to fix our problems," Middelstadt said. "The greatest obstacle to becoming more competitive is the mindset of everyone wanting the big hit."

THE UNITED States' lack of competitiveness is a complex issue that needs to be addressed on many levels with forward thinking, Middelstadt sald.

"We should all be concerned — we are all consumers.

If we're competitive, we get more and better products for our dollar."

There are other benefits, too. One of the misconcepflons about industrial modernization is that it costs lobs. Middelstadt said. Actually, modernization means more. job security and better jobs.

"Without it, you may have more jobs for two or three years, but you won't have a company in four years," he said. There is actually less resistance to modernization from the workers than most people might realize.

Therefore, he sald, improvements to the industrial infrastructure mean more competitive companies with brighter futures.

Besides being concerned about a need for industrial competitiveness, Middelstadt sald, it is everyone's job to increase awareness and educate the public - and the decision-makers in government — about the problem.

"Without dramatic improvement, we as a nation face chronic joblessness and debilitating import duties, he said. Apathy about an inability to compete means not only failing businesses, but much more.

"We should not be intimidated by the GMs and the Fords or someone who spends millions of dollars (to make people aware of the need for better competition) because we all have to do it. We must push every button we can."

PART OF THE thinking needed to address the inability of this country to compete is to begin educating young people about the sciences, he said. In the United States, we graduate 10 lawyers for every one engineer; in Japan, they graduate 10 engineers for every lawyer. Somewhere along the way, the sciences and manufacturing got a bad name.

"We must make it a point to make our young people comfortable with the sciences," Middelstadt said.

Mike Barry, a teacher in Bloomfield Schools and a guest at the chamber luncheon, said much of what Middelstadt said has relevance - particularly when he addressed the need for making young people more comfortable with science.

• "It's encouraging to hear someone talk like that," Barry said, adding that he attends speeches and presentations like the one given by Middelstadt for the express purpose of bringing ideas back to his students. Barry said that students are much more enthusiastic about the sciences then they once were - mainly because science and engineering plays an important role in their lives.

"I think what he's saying is coming around," he said. When he was younger, science was further removed than it is today. "When I was a student, science was something in the laboratories or in skylab; today, it's in the classroom and a part of their daily lives." Computers, portable radios, hand-held video games - all of these expose young people to the sciences much earlier.

BARRY ALSO pointed to the growing interest among young people in the environment and ways to address the problems of today as well as fixing the problems of the past.

William Hicks, vice president for deposit management at First of America Bank, said Middelstadt's emphasis on the need for forward thinking and planning is right on the mark. "There are no quick fixes," he said.

Whether the United States will focus on trading with Mexico, Canada or Europe will require a lot of preparation and won't just happen.

"We must prepare ourselves and our young people," he said. "Manufacturing and engineering are positive things, not negative.

"I don't know how (the sciences and manufacturing) got a bad reputation." For years, people have labored under the false impression that the future is in the a mice area of the economy, but if the United States and strong, there is a need for CONVERTING from a S&L to a bank means several benefits for shareholders and customers, said Read P. Dunn, president and chief executive officer of the bank.

Shareholders gain increased value almost immediately. "Savings and loans, whether they are successful or not, have been trading at half the value of commercial banks," he said. Conservatively, Dunn said, the conversion almost doubles the value of Franklin Bank's stock. "Buying stock in a thrift that turns into a bank is going to be a good investment." CUSTOMERS BENEFIT, too.

Today, there really aren't any ben-

Know what options you have regarding insurance policies

Last in a series.

By 8id Mittra special writer

Recently, an insurance policyholder received an alarming phone call from a person identifying himself as a "successful" financial planner.

"I have just learned that the company from which you bought the annulty policy several years ago has been rated a D," he said."To put it bluntly, your company is going to hell, and you had better switch to someone more solid before it's too late."

The policyholder settled the issue by seeking competent advice and discovering the so-called financial planner was incorrect. But insurance customers have become so sensitive to bad news and pressure tactics that many are rushing to alter their plans. Here are some suggestions for handing the situation.

The action you should take to safeguard your insurance funds is directly a function of the type of policy you hold. In the accompanying article, there is a brief review of six types of policies. Of these, you are almost never allowed to alter the immediate annuity, the defined benefit plan, the defined contribution plan and the guaranteed investment contract.

Also, it may not be worth the effort to cancel a term life contract. That leaves a number of other policies that can be transferred to other insurance companies with good records of safety.

Before switching the policies you are allowed to switch, you should take into account the following draw-

◆ Your account may be front-loaded — a year or two of above-average rates, followed by years of below-av-· A stiff surrender charge and interest-rate penalty may be levied if you switch.

• There is a 10-percent tax penalty for cashing out an annuity earlier than age 591/4.

• You have a two-tier annuity. It pays a high rate to savers who stay with the company for life. If you want to cash out, your rate may drop drastically, dating back to the inception on the contract.

• If you die within two years of taking out a new policy, the insurer can investigate whether you misrepresented medical information. Your beneficiaries could wind up with no benefits.

Sid Mittra is a professor of finance at Oakland University and the owner of Coordinated Financial Planning. If you wish to know the ratings of your insurance company by the confpanies mentioned in this article or would like to know if the type of plan you have lends itself to a transfer or diversification, mail a copy (not an original) of your policy with a self-addressed, stamped envelope and daytime phone number to! ## Insurance serves different purposes

Here are types of insurance policies available.

• Annuities pay income at fixed intervals for a set number of years or for the life of the insured person. Fixed annuities periodically re-establish interest rates. Variable annuities invest premiums in stocks, bonds or other assets, so how much you receive depends on how well the investments have performed. Immediate annultles are bought with a lump sum and provide income Immediately following the purchase of the annuity. Deferred annuities are bought in advance of retirement and premium payments accumulate tax-free.

• Deferred-benefit plans pay retirees a fixed income based on years of service and salary. Participants make no investment decisions. Employers are obligated to finance the plan to pay projected benefits.

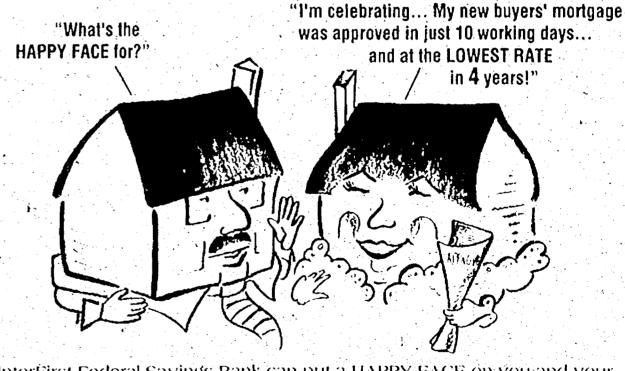

• Defined contribution plans are retirement plans, to which employees often contribute, that give participants an active role in managing their money. Return is based on how well the chosen investments do. This cate- the death benefit or cash value.

gory includes 401(k) savings, profit sharing and employee stock ownership plans. :.

• Guaranteed investment contracts are a 401(k) option and are contracts between an employer and an insurance company. They pay a fixed rate of return for a set number of years, after which capital is returned or

• Term life insurance pays a death benefit if the policyholder dies while the policy is in force. It can be compared to car insurance in that you are paying only for protection, not investment.

• Whole life policies have a fixed premium. Any excess over than amount needed to cover the death benefit is channeled into a savings or investment account that grows tax-deferred. Variable life policies also have fixed premiums but put the cash value in a separate account that is allocated among various mutual funds. Universal life allows you to alter premium payments by amount or time period, so you can

Politics of Breast Cancer 'Betrayed" says cancer victim

By Loraine McClish staff writer

WO AREA WOMEN, both with breast cancer, relived the most painful part of that experience when they told their stories in court.

"I was betrayed," said Farmington Hills resident Jean Moraskey. "That doctor was my OB-GYN for 20 years and he delivered the last two of my four children. When he told me the lump I discovered in my breast was a muscle, I trusted him.".

"I thought the world of that-doctor, and kept on thinking that all the while he was telling me there was nothing to worry about," said Livonia resident Jean Carriere, who suffered an unbelievable series of medical negligence that resulted in a three-year delay of treatment.

Both women reported their suspiclons to their doctors and both said they were ignored. Both sued for malpractise and won. Both say the money they got was incidental to what they suffered because a proper evaluation of the matter was not made at the onset.

"There is no amount of money that is going to replace mama," Moraskey said.

"Money is not the issue here and never was," Carriere said. "The message I have for every woman in the world is: Get a second opinion. Or a third if you think that is neces-

"Now I'm being told that the cancer has spread to my blood. This would never have gotten this far if I hadn't waited so long to get a second

IT WAS TWO years after Moraskey was told the lump in her breast was a hard muscle that her husband said she could proceed with plans to have plastic surgery as a Christmas

While she was in the plastic surgeon's office listening to another patient talk about a breast implant she was reminded of the lump in her breast, and mentioned that to him.

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photographer

Jean Morasky of Farmington Hills testified that her physician told her the lump in her breast was a muscle.

"He ordered me to get a mammogram immediately, but the mammogram didn't show a thing even though the tumor had doubled in size - and we eventually learned it had spread to the limph nodes," Moras-

After that she underwent a biopsy which gave very bad news. Then she had a lump removed, but that was ineffective because the cancer had already advanced to the chest wall. After that came the mastectomy.

"Every one of my grandparents and great grandparents died of old age. I am one of six daughters and we are all very healthy. I've always been athletic and always been healthy. I could not believe I had cancer. I could not believe I was losing a part of my body. I guess most of all I could not believe that the doctor I trusted for so long gave me a pat on the back and said 'You're okay' and sent me on my way.

"This all happened in a very short time and for a lot of that time I was in total shock."

Moraskey has been cancer free for

Jean Carriere said her malpractice suit was not instituted for money, that no amount of money could compensate her for her pain and suffering. She implores women to get a second opinion.

21/2 years now, and because she has always been healthy, she shunned both chemo and the radiation treatments in favor of relying on her own immune system.

CARRIERE'S PROBLEM began with a routine mammogram that showed suspcious cells, but her doctor ordered no follow-up tests. Nine months later she reported a lump to him, a second mamogram was ordered, but she was told there was nothing to worry about.

Neither did the radiologist order any follow-up tests, despite reporting that he found an "area of suspicion" that strongly suggested a malignant tumor.

Another two months went by. A sample of her breast cells were taken and she was told she had a benign cyst. At the same time her doctor put her back on estrogen pills, which she believes contributed to the spread of the cancer.

'Something told me I shouldn't be taking those pills and now I'm taking an anti-estrogen pill -- so there was _ some connection," she said.

Then one of her nipples retracted. Her doctor told her to see a surgeon if she wanted to, but there was really nothing to worry about.

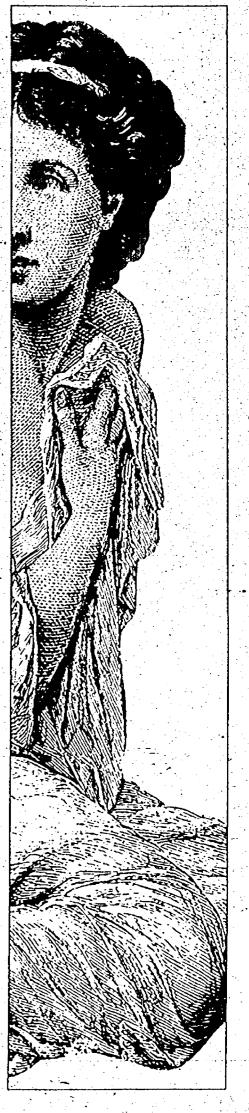

It wasn't until six months after that when she was in an emergency room being reated for an asthma attack that a doctor noticed her nipple, and she was ultimately diagnosed as having malignant cancer.

Since then the cancer spread to her hip and she had a hip replace-

"I REFUSE TO worry about cancer now," Moraskey said. "I love life. There are not enough hours in each precious day.

"I am telling my story again publicly to tell women to be more agressive in dealing with their doctors. I want them all to know what their rights are and use them."

"My lifestyle sure has changed," Carriere said. "No more skiing. No housekeeping at all with the hip. I just don't do too much any more. But I'm not listening to any doctor telling me how many days or months or years I have to live. I just won't listen to that."

Research dollars politically driven says physician

By Carolyn DeMarco staff writer

OOK AROUND you in your church or temple service this weekend. Say of the 400 persons there, roughly half are women — maybe 200, Statistics provided by cancer researchers reveal that 20 of those women, whose names you probably know - 10 percent of the group have or someday will have breast cancer. And five of them will die of

On a grander scale, an estimated 150,000 new cases of breast cancer will be diagnosed this year in the United States and 43,700 victims, almost exclusively women, will die because of it.

Contrast those statistics with that of a newer, much more publicized medical dilemma, AIDS. The National Center for Health Statistics estimates 23,739 persons die of AIDS. cancer casualties. Despite the num- en by the public.

bers, the annual U.S. government research funding provided AIDS researchers with $1.1 billion last year. And $77 million went specifically for breast cancer. (All cancers totaled had 497,220 deaths and $1.4 billion in government research dollars.)

LACK OF political clout causes the inequities, said Dr. Thomas Doyle, oncologist at Henry Ford Medical Center - West Bloomfield.

"The distribution of dollars is driven politically. There is need for research in AIDS. Right now AIDS has the public's eye. It's contagious. Cancer is not contagious. Maybe there's a fear factor there. I have family members who are nurses that are scared to death to get AIDS. . AIDS is a terrible disease, but cancer also needs attention." Getting that attention is difficult, Doyle said. "I'm (as a physician) unable to gather political clout. This is a public issue. There is little the per year, half the number of breast medical community can do. It's driv-

Dr. Thomas Doyle, oncologist at Henry Ford Medical Center in West Bloomfield, looks at X-ray with nurse Cheryl Fairbrother.

"There are insufficient dollars going into cancer research and we are impeded by reduction in spending, but that's my opinion, not fact. Where are the dollars going to come from. What other areas should be sacrificed? Defense? Indigent medical care? Education? These are all choices that have to be made by the public. The public should choose how

"It's a problem of lobbying. Do we spend for Desert Storm or education or breast cancer? It's beyond the scope of the medical profession."

DOYLE SAID while twice the women (1 in 10) were diagnosed with . breast cancer in 1990 as opposed to 1960 (1 in 20), more women are surviving. The growing incidence is partially explainable, Doyle said.

"Women are living longer in general. It's being detected more frequently. Years ago they died of other things before they knew they had cancer. There is more screening and individuals are more aware (of the signs and need of detection of the disease.)"

Doyle said the good news for women is, "The majority is curable if detected at any early stage" and the mammogram is a cost-effective tool that does just that.

Unfortunately, Doyle said, poor women are not getting mammograms. "These are the same people who aren't taking blood pressure drugs because they don't have insurance coverage or delaying surgery. Other things come first. At the time you do what you have to do." THE BEST defense is still the self-examination, he said, "and the breast self-exam costs nothing." A self-exams, a mammogram and a physical exam should be used collectively, he said. "None of this new. This is years old." What is new, Doyle explained, is research on the drug tamoxifen, now widely used in hormone treatment, as a future breast cancer prevention tool. Studies have been taking place in Great Britain for a decade and have begun in the U.S. Doyle

The solution seems to lie in research dollars.

"After decades of private pain and quiet resignation, breast cancer patients are taking their struggles out of the operating room, into the courtroom and into the streets."

Their anger is aimed at the system, the medical establishment, doctors and the insurance industry. They are speaking out, talking back and even sucing physicians for breast cancer malpractice.

tics warn that one in nine women will be found to have cancer in the breast some time in their life. Just 30 years ago the figure was one in 20. Some call this epidemic, and it just gets worse.

Another telling statistic that incenses women is that the U.S. government will spend in the neighborhood of 10 times as much money this year on AIDS research ($1.1 billion) as it will on breast cancer research despite the numbers which confirm that breast cancer has taken about six times as many lives in the past decade.

Kenneth and Elliot Stern, brothers who practice in a Southfield law firm, agree that there is a serious discrepancy in funding for research in. male and female diseases. Specializing in medical malpractice, the firm handled more than 40 breast cancer malpractice cases last year.

"THE INCIDENCE of these cases is very definitely increasing," said Kenneth Stern. "There are some very hot areas for women including breast ABOUT 150,000 American women will be diag- cancer, Ob Gyn and, increasingly, heart. There are instances of physician neglect. There should

Writer enjoys activities, people

There are several things I've always been curious about handwriting analysis.

My handwriting changes depending on what instrument I use (pen, pencil) or even changes with differences in the pen points (medium or fine point). It also changes on different writing surfaces. How would my analysis differ with these variables?

Additionally, what effect would mood changes have on handwriting analysis? I know for example, my handwriting is more sloppy if I'm hurrled - also it seems to me to look different. Lastly, I know I am a good speller, but I find I often leave out letters in words and have to go back and fill them in or rewrite

"Another pattern is women who go to one doctor, who never orders a mammogram. Something the doctor fails to do early enough can be judged malpractice." he said. Breast cancer, at the earliest stages is 80 percent curable."

According to Kenneth Stern, women file à large percentage of malpractice suits, many for breast can-census. And above all, it's important cer and Ob-GYN when bables are damaged through neglect.

LOTS OF PEOPLE still have the doctor on a pedestal," he said.

"We have a secretary in this office who has breast cancer. She told her doctor she had found a mass and he said it was a knot in her muscle. Another physician diagnosed the cancer later, but she has a bad prognosis."

Injured through neglect is part of the legal terminology in malpractice, said Elliot Stern.

"We see cases where a woman finds a lump and a year later cancer is diagnosed, but she never had a mammogram," he sald.

"Every case is different. Some physicians fail to communicate. And it is usually a problem getting accurate records from physicians. Others fail to insure themselves adequately or at all."

Both the federal and state governments have been lobbied by insurance companies to impose a limit on malpractice judgments of $225,00. "Victimized by the medical system, now they're being victimized by the legal system," said Kenneth Stern. "For any other accidental injury there is no limit, but now medical malpractice is being limited.

'We feel the medical profession has to accept the responsibility of injuring someone, yet doctors are not even required to have malpractice insurance.'

'We're going to fight in every way we can," he said. "But there is no citizen's lobby and no victim's rights group yet."

pitals and doctors said that "hindsight of the patient is always 20-20. It's always easy to find the cancer, when you know where it started." In sympathy with breast cancer victims, he added "under the best of circumstances diagnosing cancer is murky, a gray zone. Research funds should be allocated, this is a conto make mammograms available."

needed. Wanted: Couples and individuals who are patient and caring and interested in being foster parents. Such people are wanted by Youth Living Centers which helps provide temporary substitute care for children infant to 18 years of age. According to YLC deputy director Gene Hudson, this year more than 1,800 children and teenagers in Wayne County will experience family problems so serious that temporary removal from their own homes will be necessary for their safety and survival.

Foster parents help provide the children with a secure environment while the family problems are being solved.

Interested persons should be 21 years of age and older, married or single parents, be able to handle childhood and adolescent problems and accept the temporary nature of

Former local Salvation Army commanders plan a return visit

By Julie Brown staff writer

Some special visitors will arrive soon at the Plymouth Salvation Army corps.

Commissioner William Roberts. and his wife, Ivy, the Salvation Army's local commanders from 1947 to 1953, will arrive Sunday, Sept. 29, for a visit.

frey Beachum, who serves with his and overseas. wife, Lt. Aleta Beachum, as the current commander. At the same time, Beachum's a bit apprehensive because the Robertses have such widespread experience and knowledge.

"They're really wonderful people and he's a magnificent speaker. Basically, we brought him back because it's helpful for the people of Plymouth to see what they've started," Beachum said.

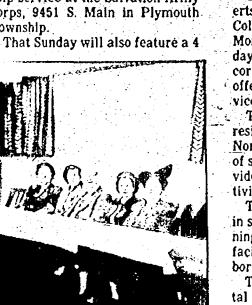

Roberts and his wife led the local Salvation Army during a time of growth and change, Since leaving the Plymouth Canton community in 1953, they have served in a "I'm excited because I can learn number of capacities within the so much from him," said Lt. Jef. Salvation Army both in the U.S.

> THEY RETIRED from active service in 1988, but haven't taken it easy since that time. They've continued to travel and to speak and preach. The Robertses have spent recent summers at a camp for disadvantaged youngsters in Chicago, "hugging and listening to kids."

Their days entail everything from meeting world dignitaries to working with children from low-in-'come families. "And they feel comfortable with all of it," said Beachum, a Canton resident who has been corps commander in Plymouth for two years and two

The Robertses who live in Warsaw, Ind., will have a busy schedule during their visit. He will preach at the 11 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, worship service at the Salvation Army corps, 9451 S. Main in Plymouth Township.

p.m. concert in Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail and Main in downtown Plymouth. A Salvation Army brass band and a vocalist will perform. The Robertses will be introduced and he will speak briefly.

Refreshments will be served at the Salvation Army corps following: the concert, and Roberts will preach 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, at a service at the corps facility.

"It is going to be neat, almost like a celebration to have him come back," said Beachum, who invited the Robertses to visit.

THROUGHOUT THE visit, Roberts will preach from the Book of Colossians. He will preach 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30, through Wednesday, Oct. 2, at the Salvation Army corps. Children's meetings will be offered during all the worship ser-

The local Salvation Army serves residents of the Plymouth-Canton-Northville communities. A variety of social service programs are provided, along with recreational activities and worship services.

The local corps has been housed in several locations since its beginnings in the late 1920s. The current facility, on Main south of Ann Arbor Road, has been used since 1983.

The Robertses were instrumental in moving the Salvation Army to a location on Fairground in Plymouth. "He was actually out there with a hammer and nails," Beachum said.

That facility opened in 1953 and remained in use for many years.

The Robertses don't live too far away, and have been back to visit through the years. Roberts was in the Plymouth Rotary Club during his time here, and has been active in other Rotary Clubs in the U.S. and overseas.

The Robertses have five children, two of whom serve as Salvation Army officers.

THE THEME of the upcoming visit is "Come Alive in Christ." Beachum and other Salvation Army leaders are encouraging people from the community to partici-

"Really, it's more open to the general public than just our congregation," he said .--

Such activities help to make people more aware of the Salvation Army. Some see the red kettles at Christmas time, and don't know much about the international Christian organization beyond that. The motivation for the upcoming meetings and all other activities offered comes from the love for Christ and the wish to share it with others.

"That's the only reason we do all the other work we do," Beachum said.

One-woman play brings spirit, faith of late activist Dorothy Day to life

By Larry O'Connor

Dorothy Day believed in and fought for the poor.

Such a simplistic statement doesn't sum up the convictions of a woman whose faith and spirit outlasted her mortal life, which ended with her death in 1980 at age 83.

"Haunted by God" is a one-hour, one-woman play about Dorothy Day, an activist and humanitarian who was the co-founder of the Catholic Worker movement.

A performance of the critically acclaimed play will take place 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 13, at St. Edith Catholic Church, 15089 Newburgh, between Schoolcraft and Five Mile, Livonia. Admission price is $5.

The program is sponsored by the Peace and Justice Committee of St. Edith Church.

"I don't know even in our own religious community how well-informed they are about Dorothy Day and what she stood for," said Cynthia Hirami, who is a member of the nine-person committee.

"Part of this is we want action, but a lot of it boils down to education. You have to continually edu- troit, a temporary shelter for the a two-hour production focusing pricate so people are aware of the many things that need to be done."

DOROTHY DAY sought to inform and change stereotypes people had about the homeless. They weren't society's misfits to be ignored or shoved aside. To her, they had hearts and souls and deserved God's mercy.

Day worked as a journalist on underground leftist newspapers in New York and Chicago before she was baptized a Catholic at age 30. Her socialist views tempered by Christlanity still found their way into her beliefs and work as a writer. She met radical Peter Maurin and formed the Catholic Worker movement in 1932. The Catholic Worker newspaper still sells for a penny to-

The zeal in which she trumpeted the needs of the poor was only met by her unfettered devotion to pacifism. No war was a just war in Day's

"Haunted by God" attempts to bring to life the spirit and drive that has led others to carry on Day's cause. Her legacy can be seen in nometess.

The play is produced by Call to Action Performing Arts Ministry and features graduate student Dodie Holstrom in the role of Day.

"I think what impressed me the most was God was a reality to her," said Holstrom, 36, who is working on a master's degree in theater at Roosevelt University. "It wasn't just something to do . . . It was a real thing to her. It was the way she lived her life.

"I think she had a deep need to help people and bring God's love into their lives.'

THE SEPT. 13 performance at St. Edith's will mark Holstrom's debut in the play. Until recently, she worked as an understudy to the play's co-writer, Lisa Marie Wagner.

Holstrom's experience in theater includes writing, directing and performing. She's also involved in a children's program through Spirit of God, a non-denominational church in the Chicago area, which does sketches designed to teach and entertain places such as the Day House in De-3 - Originally, "Haunted by God" was marily on the chronological events in Day's life. The play has since been whittled to slightly more than an hour, exploring more of the activist's personality and her vigor.

"I'm still in the process of discovering that," Holstrom said. "There's a lot of nuances involved. I can relate to a lot of the things she was speaking about and then my emotions come into play."

Hirami hopes such emotions lead to activism among audience members. Aiready, the membership of St. Edith's Church is involved in helping with a soup kitchen at St. Dominic's Church in Detroit once a month and is a base for Active Friends of the Homeless.

Still, there is always more to be

"It's (the play) supposed to challenge us to come up with our own ideas," Hirami said. "There's so many ways to take social action."

Actress Dodie Holstrom rehearses a scene from "Haunted by God."

Earth's orbit, tilt determine start of autumn

Autumn officially begins at 8:48 a.m. on Sept. 23.

But what is it that determines that precise moment? It's a combination of the carth's orbit and its tilt.

Earth is divided into a northern hemisphere and a southern hemisphere by an imaginary line called the equator. If this equator is extended out into space it cuts the sky into a northern and southern hemisphere, but now the imaginary line is called the celestial equator.

Because our earth is tilted 23.5 degrees, the sun can appear to be 23.5 degrees above the celestial equator or 23.5 degrees below it. When the sun is at its highest point in the sky north of the celestial equator, in June when the days are long and warm, we have summer. When the sun is at its lowest, in December when the days are short and cold, we have winter.

Obviously there are two points where the sun must cross over the celestial equator. Once when going from above the equator to below, and another going from below to

The precise moment of the crossover, going from north to south, is when autumn officially begins for the northern hemisphere. A person standing on Earth's equator at local noon would see the sun directly overhead on the celestlal equator.

The sun will rise due east and set due west. The length of the day and length of night are about equal, so this is called the equinox.

THE FULL moon that occurs at 6:40 p.m. on Sept. 23 is a very special one. It's called the Harvest Moon. We have full moons every month throughout the year, what makes this one so special?

Because the moon is in orbit—follows the Harvest Moon was said around the earth, it appears in different parts of the sky from night to night. Generally the moon will rise about one hour later each night. But in autumn the full moon is located atthe part of its orbit that has the least tilt with respect to Earth's horizonline. The moon seems to skim along the horizon, rising at about the same time each evening, in about the same part of the sky. In fact, for the four evenings starting with the 22nd, each moon rise occurs within 24 minutes of the previous night's,

The light scattered by the full moon was a help to farmers, allowing them to continue their harvesting after sunset, hence it was called the Harvest Moon. The full moon that to be a help to hunters, and you can probably figure out what that fullmoon is called.

Venus goes through phases like the moon. The phases are clearly seen through binoculars and are best observed when the sky is not completely dark. (The contrast between a dark sky and brilliant Vehus is too great.)

Navajo art to come alive at Native West

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

HE ANCIENT art of Navajo sand painting will be demonstrated by awardwinning artists Chester Begay and Alberta Tsosie of New Mexico during a special exhibition "Navajo Sand Painting Art" Friday-Sunday, Sept. 13-15, at Native West, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

While the Southwestern artists create sand paintings in the gallery, Native American art collector and trader Vince Ferrari of Farmington, N. M., will interpret the stories, the art relays through inherent symbolism as well as describe the traditional Navajo ceremony in which sand painting originated.

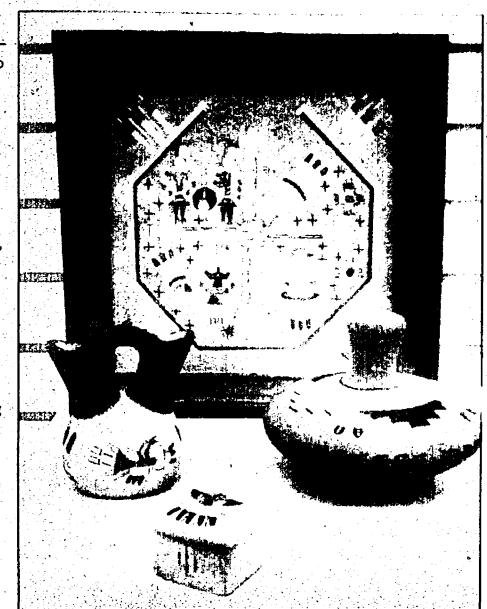

"It's an exciting art, a very affordable form of art," sald Becky Dodson, co-owner of Native West gallery with husband Doug. "It's of true cultural significance. The Navajo use sand paintings in healing ceremonies."

Navajo sand painting art is the permanent form of ceremonial paintings created with sacredcolored sand by a Shaman (Medicine Man) to restore health and harmony in an individual. For more than 300 years, the Navajo have used herbs, chants and sand paintings to heal their people.

UNTIL 25 years ago, the ceremonial symbols were not recorded due to a dictum that a painting must be destroyed the day of the ceremony, its secret powers cast to the wind along with the illness before the sun sets.

Hidden from outsiders, the sacred designs were revealed for the first time in 1890 when a Navajo woman used a ceremonial design in a rug, exchanging it for goods with a trader. Ceremonial sand paintings are drawn by a Shaman on a dirt floor inside the ailing person's hogan. Casting sand of sacred colors on Mother Earth, he creates an eastern opening in the painting that mirrors the direction of the hogan's door. This prevents evil from entering.

The Shaman uses five sacred colors ground by hand from rocks, sandstone and minerals to create a symbolic ceremonial design; white obtained from gypsum; blue from criscola; black from the volcanic substance, magnatite; yellow from sulphur or uranium oxide; and red from sandstone or clay.

After completing the painting, the Shaman touches a specific figure in the painting, then touches the person now sitting in the middle of it, thus transferring its powerful medicine.

THE PAINTING is then swept. onto a blanket with a sacred feather and carried out of the hogan where the Shaman casts the sand painting into the wind.

Alexander Blue House restoration: a labor of love

COMPLETION IS at least three

But the Alexander Blue House at Livonia's Greenmend Historical Village is taking shape as a setting for conferences, meetings and parties, thanks to a devoted group of history

David Koskela is preparing architectural plans for phased interior restoration of the 141-year-old house, once home to a Livonia Township civic leader. The Livonia architect has done both volunteer and paid work on the Blue House project. The Livonia Historical Society hopes to see the two-story, 11-room house used not only as a conference and meeting center but also a reception hall for Newburg Church at Greenmend. Period furnishings will sters.

income-producing - self-support-ing," said Sue Daniel, who chairs the Blue House restoration committee. Livonia's largest preservation effort, the Blue House is a fitting beneficiary of the historical society's annual progressive dinner, coming up again Saturday. "The house came from the historically significant Elm Station area of Livonia, and it's the only building at Greenmead that's Italianate," said Marian Lynch, society president. The first five progressive dinners netted $15,000 toward the $250,000 needed to restore the Blue House.

Overall fund-raising has generated $56,000. Top donors include the society, the city, the Friends of Greenmead and the Sauk Trail Que-house was moved from the American Retirement Residence site. Middlebelt north of Schoolcraft, to Greenmead. The move was paid for in part by a $25,000 donation from Livonia's 16th District Court.

Today, the former home of Alexander Blue sports fresh paint, a graded lot and repairs to the roof and chimney. A new furnace and basement floor are next, courtesy of the Friends of Greenmead.

One idea is to host a decorators' showcase at the Blue House. Furniture stores would adopt a room and ' furnish it. The public would be invited to tour the dressed-up house for a small donation. Alexander Blue was a New York native. He came to Michlgan with his parents at 15 in 1832, five years before statehood.

He bought 80 acres to farm and later built the house now at Greenmead. A former county auditor and township supervisor, he served as a Livonia justice of the peace for 28 years starting in 1846.

"We've sent paint samples to a lab in Philadelphia to help us determine when certain parts of his house were put on," Daniel said.

GREENMEAD BOOSTERS WILL devote more time to the Blue House

as other village restoration projects

By the end of the year, the turn-ofthe-century Geer bungalow will be restored at a cost of $56,000.

Rostoration will continue another 2-3 years on the Alexander Blue Office, moved from Middlebelt in 1979, and the Quaker Meeting House, moved from Seven Mile in 1981. Both will be restored to 1850s vintage.

The Alexander Blue Office, a small, single-story building with clapboard siding, was used as farm outbuilding in later years.

The city acquired the Quaker Meeting House in 1962. It later ... out first." served as a historical museum and a meeting place for historians.

Meanwhile, the Livonia Historical ingeditor for special projects.

Commission has unveiled plans to stabilize 10 buildings at Greenmead's Simmons/Hill farm complex. An 11th building, a ramshackle carriage house, will be dismantled and rebuilt with original materials.

Detroit architect Mike Kirk, who is noted for historical preservation, has drawn up plans for the $70,000 phased stabilization project.

As for the Blue House, make no mistake: Its future hinges on a test of nerves.

As Daniel put it: "There's no doubt we can put even more effort in the Blue House — if we all don't wear

Native West to turn spotlight on Navajo art

Navajo artists Begay and Tsosle will demonstrate traditional sand painting during the three-day exhibition at Native West. Their secrets passed down verbally through the generations, Tsosle at age 14 learned ceremonial sand painting from her father.

The husband and wife painting team recently began to enter their work in competition. They took first place and Best of Category at the 1991 O'odham Tash Celebration and third place at the 1990 Inter-Tribal Ceremonial in Gallup.

Created in a southwestern palette of turquoise, sand and black, "Storm and Lightning" features a finely sketched design that relays the message; to balance nature.

The eagles take prayers from man to the Great Spirit. Stars in the black box represent the North Star and the Milky Way. Feathers surround the painting to protect it, each feather counting as a prayer.

WITLE THE couple is painting, Vince Ferrari of Arroyo Trading Co. will explain the symbols used in the ceremonially designed works.

"Vince knows everything about sand painting. He's very colorful and knowledgeable. He's the biggest wholesaler and retailer of sand paintings in the country," Dodson said.

The sand paintings on exhibit at Native West contain sacred colors that sooth and quiet the soul. Because the paintings are made of natural elements from the Earth, sun can not harm or bleach them. They require very little care; a simple dusting is all that's necessary.

"Vince will be bringings hundreds" of sand paintings for the show in every price range from $5 to $5,000. He'll have sand paintings for someone who'd like to add a Native American accent to their home, up to the person who's a serious collector," Dodson said.

The sand paintings range in size from 3 by 6 inches to 24 by 24 inches. Lamps, pottery and jewelry boxes decorated with sand paintings will also be displayed.

"Vince will also be taking orders, if someone would like a differentcolor or size sand painting," Dodson

SAND PAINTINGS by Navajo artists other than traditional are included in the special exhibition.

Jerald Sherman, one of the most talented creators of modern sand art, will also have work in the show.

Sherman uses modern still lifes and shading techniques to create light within a composition. His paintings are mixed media, incorporating sand, oil and acrylic.

The Navajo see the the universe as a delicately balanced environment filled with powerful forces that have a potential for good or evil.

Native West hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday and until 8 p.m. Thursday. Sunday hours are 1-5 p.m. Call the gallery at 455-8838.

Don't lose heads in photo composition

Have you ever picked up your prints from your photo-finisher only to discover that the top of grandma's head has been chopped off? Or perhaps you inadvertently cut off in the viewfinder one of the petals in that shot of your prized orchid,

If guilty, you're not alone. Too many amateur photographers don't' pay close enough attention to the edge of the frame when they compose their shots.

Taking a second, hard-look through the viewfinder and making necessary adjustments will eliminale the elementary mistakes such as cutting off heads. But how should you decide to crop or frame the picture in the viewfinder with respect to the edge of the frame?

short takes

• The Giant Used Camera Show and Model Shoot - Photorama USA - is scheduled 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15, at the Dearborn Civic Center, 15801 Michigan Ave. at Greenfield. Admission is $5. For more information, call 884-2242.

More than 100 dealers will display a variety of photo equipment and antique and collectable photography items. Most of the dealers will be prepared to buy, sell or trade equipment. Also featured will be free workshops on model photography, in which the public may participate, and a free shutter check.

• Monte Nagler's fall photography classes will take place Tuesday, Sept. 24, at the Community Center of Farmington/Farmington Hills (call 477-8404 for information) and Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the Birmingham Community House (644-5832).

A good way to begin is to move your camera closer to or farther from the subject, perhaps even change the angle of view.

The best way to test this method is to choose a static subject such as a building or statue. Try verticle or horizontal.

ASK YOURSELF which way looks strongest and works best? Are you allowing enough breathing room at the top of the structure? Are you backing up too far so that distracting elements may be entering the veiwfinder?

If taking a portrait, is your background what you want and is there enough framing edge around the face? Sometimes you may want to crop severely, perhaps placing the edge of the frame right through your subject's forehead. This method is fine for a dramatic portrait. Fashion photographers often use this technique.

I've seen many pictures of flowers and churches where the tip of a petal or the top of the steeple just touches the edge of the frame. Doing so adds a degree of tension to the shot. Soeither crop in tightly or back off to achieve a more comfortable edge to the frame.

I paid a lot of attention to the edge of the frame in the environmental portrait shown here. In fact, I spent many minutes studying the composition and the frame edging before I asked this charming and agreeable Greek woman to step in the door-often be improved by altering the edge of the frame.

A photo of a long, thin subject, for example, benefits by being trimmed to this shape. Look at your finished Don't forget, a finished print can prints and see what improvements can be made by imaginative edge trimming. All it takes is a pair of

Architect drawings cataloged

Cranbrook Educational Community will begin cataloging nearly 10,000 architectural, engineering and landscape architecture drawings with the support of a $45,000 grant from the Getty Grant Program of the J. Paul Getty Trust, sald Mark Coir, Cranbrook archives director.

The Bloomfield Hillscollection includes drawings and renderings by noted Finnish architects Eliel and Eero Saarinen, Albert Kahn, Samuel Yellin and other architects and designers associated with the development of Cranbrook.

Most of the drawings were produced by Eliel Saarinen and drafts: men working under him in the Cranbrook Architectural Office, established in 1926. The collection was assembled from the late 1920s through the early 1940s.

The drawings will be cataloged on Cranbrook Educational Community's QUIXIS system, computer software designed specifically for itemizing museum collections, After cataloging, the drawings will be stored in acid-free folders in the Cranbrook Archives vault. Long. range plans call for transferring the documents to microfilm for easier access.

The plans have been invaluable to architects and contractors working on the Cranbrook property. The Archives receive several requests for specific plans each month from museum curators, campus planners, landscape architects, historians and students.

Cranbrook's designation as a National Historic Landmark adds to the significance of this project. Cataloging the collection is expected to take one year.

Restaurateur serves up arts fund-raiser

By Bob Sklar . staff writer

In the wake of Gov. John Engler's deep cuts in state arts funding, a Bloomfield Hills restaurateur has unveiled a novel idea to help support cultural jewels like Cranbrook Academy of Art.

'Jim Kokas' Opus One, at 565 E. Larned in downtown Detroit's Bricktown, will mix fine dining with entertainment and special exhibits in a bid to raise $10,000 to $20,000 weekly for the arts over the next five

He and his partners also will donate 50 percent of food revenue from a la carte weekday dinners during the five-week drive to a different arts institution.

At least $10,000 was raised for the arts at the $100 a person kickoff dinner, "Opus for the Arts," Friday.

Hoping to deepen allegiance to the cultural enrichment provided by the arts, Kokas told 230 dinner-goers, many from the Observer & Eccentric area: "It is up to each of us as individuals and our community as a whole to support the arts in every way possible."

"OPUS FOR the Arts" will bene-

• Sept. 9-13 — Center for Creative Studies (students will display musical and artistic talents).

• Sept. 16-20 — Detroit Institute of Arts (posters from DIA exhibits will adorn the walls).

• Sept. 23-27 — Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO sounds will fill the restaurant).

• Sept. 30-Oct. 4 - Cranbrook Academy of Art (works by academy artists and students will be displayed).

• Oct. 7-11 - Michigan Opera Theatre (MOT singers will perform opera sets and show tunes)..

"This shows incredible initiative," said Roy Stade, president of Cranbrook Academy of Art, a Bloomfield... Hills graduate school of art, architecture and design founded in 1932 by Eliel Saarinen.

"We plan to come down the Monday of our week with a contingent from the Cranbrook Educational Community Board of Governors, including chairman Pat Hartmann dutch treat for all."

THIS YEAR, the Academy, which includes a contemporary visual arts museum, drew $133,800 in state support, 60 percent of its anticipated grant of $223,000. The $223,000 represents 10 percent of the Academy budget.

Slade hopes to draw at least, $100,000 next year. "One of our concerns," he said, "is how abrupt the government budget cut was. We had hoped for time to seek alternative sources of funding."

State funding goes into public outreach and education - exhibits, lectures, tours and brochures at the museum and student scholarships at the Academy.

Eight corporate sponsors have agreed to match one-fifth ($2,000 to $4,000) of all weekly restaurant donations during "Opus for the Arts:" Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Comerica, Coopers & Lybrand, Cross Wrock, Detroit Edison, J. Walter Thompson, Kowalski Sausage and Universal Standard Medical Labora-

Calling the arts a community pillar, Slade urged Oakland County businesses to follow the example set by Kokas and partners Ed Mandziara of Sterling Heights, George Bletsas of Grosse Ile and Gus Kokas of Dearborn.

OPUS ONE patrons Friday included Ron and Deb Muratore of Farmington Hills, "We're losing a valuable part of our cultural heritage through the arts cuts," Ron said. "I don't feel future generations should have less of that heritage than we have."

"We fust think it's appropriate for private enterprise and individuals to pick up where the public sector leaves off so we'll be able to appreciate and teach the arts in future generations." said Livonia resident Richard Halseth, attending with his wife, Judith,

• HOME DECORATIONS

where emphasis is placed on using proper design elements, planning room layouts, and selecting furniture to suit individual needs.

The class will meet for 12 weeks, 6-8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 16. The fee is $59.

Techniques for choosing quality furniture, drawing interior architecture, working within a budget and measuring for wallpaper and window treatments will be presented.

To enroll or receive further information, contact the office of Continuing Services at 462-4448. Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile, Livonia.

• FEATURE WRITING

Feature writing is the subject of a new class offering at Schoolcraft College.

Corinne Abatt of Beverly Hills, who just retired as Creative Living editor for the Observer & Eccentric's Oakland County editions, will teach the 12-week class 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays starting Tuesday, Sept. 17.

For registration information, call Schoolcraft Continuing Education Services, 462-4448.

"We are pleased and proud to be able to offer the expertise of Co Abatt to our students," said a Schoolcraft representative. "She brings a wealth of experience to share with aspiring writers, those who want to polish their writing skills and others who want to learn more about the feature writing

For the past 15 years, Abatt has been Creative Living editor for the Observer & Eccentric. Last year, she was awarded the Governor's Medal Honor Roll Award (Concerned Citizens for the Arts).

Abatt has awards from the Detroit Press Club, Michigan Press Association, and the National Newspaper Association.

She has had freelance work published in the Detroit Free Press, the Detroit News, Michigan Motorist, Redbook, Antiques Monthly, Yankee Magazine, Points Magazine, Fiber Arts, Michigan Bell Magazine and others.

Class work will cover identifying the soft story as opposed to the breaking or hard news story; Interview techniques - preparing questions, style and approach; work pictures; viewpoint - first person versus third person and more.

Student assignments will include reading, discussing, interviewing, writing and other practical learning experiences that focus on feature writ-

Glamour of sales positions belies hard work

By Doug Funke staff writer

There's always room in the real estate business for agents who produce results. But if you believe anyone can just walk in and mine a fortune with little preparation or effort, think again.

It takes time to prepare for the -state licensing exam - at least 40 hours of classroom instruction then maybe another couple months to learn the ropes and close that first deal, established professionals say.

The income statement may initially show a big zero or even a loss considering that virtually all agents are self-employed, responsible for their own expenses and are paid only on commission after a sale.

One million dollars in annual sales level, at least one veteran said.

A theoretical example illustrates. An agent sells 10 houses each valued listing agent for five. A 6-percent commission on each sale would yield $22,500 to the agent. Commissions are divided among listing agents and realty firms.

NOW CONSIDER all the time an agent spends trying to match buyer with seller. Hosting weekend open houses. On call virtually around the clock to show houses, present offers, expedite paperwork.

And expenses. Pre-licensing classes offered by realty firms, community colleges and adult education programs can cost upwards of $120. Board entry fees also will cost sever- thought.

today would put you at the poverty al hundred dollars and multi-list fees can run up to $70 month.

So don't bother, right?

Wrong. Just know what you're getat $100,000. The agent is also the ting into. And know that brokers and managers are always looking for enthusiastic people willing to learn.

> "I think you have to be very much a self-starter, strongly motivated," said Beite Ball, assistant manager of the Birmingham office for Chamberlain Realtors.

"There are so many details you have to take care of. No one is going. to prompt you to do the details your-

Paul Koepke, a broker and general manager at the West Bloomfield office of Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke, picked up on Ball's train of one who lives in the area they're servicing. We look for people who are well educated, established in the community, have tie-ins with various clubs, organizations, churches, synagogues."

Tom Lewarne, sales manager at Century 21 Today in Livonia, described what he looks for when interylewing prospective agents.

"We try to determine if they have self-motivation, a good feel for working with the general public. They must be able to be flexible with people," he said.

Most firms won't work with agents until they pass the state exam. Then, many make in-house training available at no extra

"What we teach people in offices made the transition.

"FIRST OF all, we look for some- and new people is how to list, how to prepare a purchase agreement, host open houses, farm an area, telephone techniques," Ball said.

The lure of unlimited income potential is what draws many to sales. work generally, and real estate specifically. But sometimes, expectations exceed reality.

"THEY THINK it will be real easy money," Lewarne sald. "Once they find out what's involved, the processing that goes into effect, it's not easy money but money earned."

The days of dabbling in real estate on a part-time basis are pretty much over, professionals agree.

But teachers, engineers, nurses, police officers and people in other sales fields all have successfully

So what separates the wheat from the chaff?

"Work hard, a lot of hours," Koepke said. "It also requires people." skills, a lot of sensitivity, a lot of empathetic understanding for what the process is and what people go through moving from one area to another."

Responded Lewarne: "The ability. to be personable ... to have enthusiasm to make people happy."

That, in turn, leads to referrals the key to success, he said. "You' make one couple happy, they'll send you two or three more.'

"Be willing to put in a lot of time." and work hard and, you will be successful," Ball said. "I guess that's true of many professions."

Association fails to impress judge with parking issue

I am the president of our condominium association and have recently had an experience in circuit court in behalf of the association. We sued to enforce a parking restriction. The judge did not sympathize with the association's position, thinking that we were involved in a petty item. He did not award us any attorney fees and seemed to shrug off the whole proceeding. How can we make it clear to judges that the conduct of condominium business is serious and needs the help of the courts to enforce the documents?

One of the ways that is problem

aueries Robert M. Meisner

can be limited is by bringing it to the attention of the bar and bench as you have done by submitting this question. Unfortunately, some judges do not consider community association tions as well as reimbursement of its problems to be of the magnitude and costs and attorney fees, the viability severity that would require their un- of the community association in divided attention and concern as opposed to other pressing matters that they have on their docket.

While condominium problems may not be of the magnitude of criminal violations, obviously they are of a serious nature in regard to the manner in which community relations between persons can be fostered. If the courts do not recognize the right of the association to enforce the documents by providing for relief for community associaterms of its success will be severely challenged. I hope that as more and more community associations and condominiums become developed. judges will become more concerned. When the next judicial election occurs, invite the candidates to attend your association meeting.

I am interested in developing a motel condominium in a resort area of northern Michigan. Can you tell me what your experience has been in developing these types of condominium projects in terms of their viability in this area?

Motel condominiums have been successful in various tourist areas such as Florida and Callfornia. But as is the case with any other type of recreational condominium, tight restrictions must be imposed with respect to the use and occupancy of the units.

Sufficient studies should be undertaken to determine whether a motel condominium can be sold similar to a time-share in the sale of weeks as opposed to the right to use the condominium motel over a period of months or years. The documents should retain sufficient flexibility to convert part of the motel into another type of rental property without. necessarily encumbering the entire; project as a condominium. These as: pects of planning should be carefully thought about before the condominium project is established.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney concentrating. his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate and corporate law.

Smart House nears reality

By Doug Funke

. A Troy builder figures that smart buyers who can afford it will want to live in a brand new Smart House at some point in their lives.

And Donald L. Pratt, president of Wake-Pratt in Troy, doesn't want to wait 10 or 15 years for demand to catch up with the technology.

Pratt Intends to build a demonstration model now to showcase the innovative wiring system that can provide automatic activation of home appliances, utilities and security systems.

Groundbreaking at an Oakland Township site is planned for this month or next, the grand opening for

"I think people are looking for ways of living more comfortably and living a more enjoyable lifestyle," Pratt said. "Yupples are demanding more than when we were growing up.

Floor plans for Pratt's demonstration model - a story and a half of 3,300 square feet with a lower walkout level - show a living room/family room, dining room, kitchen, half bath, foyer and master suite on the first floor, three bedrooms and two full baths on the second. Plus a three-car garage.

THE WALKOUT area will be used as a presentation center and sales office during the two months that Pratt has exclusive rights to showcase the Smart House in Detroit Edison's service area.

People familiar with Smart House capabilities will be at several spots in the home and in the presentation center to point out special features and answer quesJIM RIDER/staff photographe

Donald L. Pratt, a Troy builder, intends to have the first Smart House demonstration model in the metro area ready by next spring.

tions. Visitors will be able to play with mock systems to get a feel for the concept.

"If they don't understand what they're looking at, touching, feeling, they won't understand what it's all about," Pratt said. The model will be priced for sale at $350,000-

$400,000, he said. Special Smart House wiring, a combination of lowvoltage and traditional electrical lines, provides numerous automating capabilities for a house.

"It integrates in such a way you can control any portion of the house from any other portion," Pratt sald. "This is all done through computers. You can lock doors, monitor the baby's room, turn lights on and off, lock out

Cable TV and telephone service could be available at any outlet in the house. Appliances like ovens, microwaves and clothes dryers could be activated from anywhere inside or outside of the house with a push button telephone.

"IT GIVES better opportunity to manage (electrical) usage," said William J. Steele, builder/developer liaison for Detroit Edison.

The basic wiring of a Smart House now costs about $5,000 more than to wire a house the traditional way, Pratt sald. Customers would spend another $10,000-$40,000 on controls for specific conveniences they want.

Eventually, the same thing that happened to calculators will happen to Smart House - it will become more economical after we get all the bugs out," Pratt said.

Progress has been slow but steady.

The specialized wiring system took several years to develop. Code approvals were obtained. Only a couple of manufacturers make the wiring now.

Investors in Smart House products are gradually in-troducing the concept in different parts of the country so that the process goes smoothly.

Pratt, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders, jumped on the bandwagon about five years ago. His uncle, Ted Pratt, a founder of the building company, was an early investor on the national scene.

"It's not that we want to be pioneers," Don Pratt said. "We believe in it. It's something we feel is going to be used. We want to have the technology to be a frontrunner."

Detroit Edison, which has limited exclusive promotional rights to Smart House due to its involvement on the Smart House advisory board, selected Wake-Pratt from among seven area applicants as its builder.

"We looked at number of years as a builder, type of house built, involvement with the national, state and local association," Steele said.

Deck the halls for Homearama; December date set

By Doug Funke staff writer

The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan is taking a gamble by scheduling its annual Homearama — a showcase of idea homes — for Dec. 6-22.

In previous years, the show has been held in spring or early in the fall. The weather in December can be dicey, and people get busy with seasonal activities.

But organizers say they're anxious to see how visitors respond when walking through 13 new detached site condominiums decorated for the holidays in the Riverbridge Subdivision of Novi.

of the year to see what best fits the public's needs and our needs," said Dennis Dickstein, chairman of Homearama and owner of Ralph Manuel Associates, Birmingham, "Having it become darker earlier we feel is a benefit — the light of the houses . . . and holiday decorations will only add to the ambiance," he added. "We'll try it. If it doesn't work out, we'll try it at a different Dickstein said he's hoping for an attendance of 65,000-75,000.

Some 65,000 turned out last spring "We're just trying different times for a Homearama in Shelby Township and 50,000 for a fall Homearama in Brighton, a spokesman for the builder's association said.

> "THE OVERALL purpose is to promote the building industry and the image builders have . . . and to let people be aware of innovations and products available," Dickstein said of the show.

All 13 Homearama units are now under construction and on schedule, said Herbert Lawson, developer of another interesting twist. the property.

"We thought it was a unique opportunity to do something really different," he said of the timetable. "Minneapolis had a successful winter Homearama. We wanted to try

"At that time of the year (December), there's not a lot of excitement in building and real estate. We're going to be doing a holiday theme with various decorations. It certainly should be something quite unique," Lawson said. This year's Homearama will have

The builders selected to participate were strongly encouraged to keep their listing prices including construction, lot and landscaping to $250,000 or less, Lawson said.

Houses in recent Homearamas have exceeded $500,000.

"WE WANTED to get more into a saleable price range rather than just an elite range," Dickstein sald.

"Our site has 55 home sites," Lawson said. "We're surrounded by a river, a creek and a large berm. There are a lot of large trees. It has sort of an up-north feel to it."

Six of the 10 builders selected for Homearama are in Observer & Ec-; centric communities. They include Fairway Construction, Southfield; BBC Group, Farmington Hills; Soave Building Co., Livonia; Michigan Custom Home Builders Group, Livonia; D&J Property Development, Canton; and Cohen Associates, West Bloomfield.

The other builders are Biondo Designers and Builders in Northville. Cornerstone Building Inc., Novi; and Pulte Homes of Michigan, Royal

Partners split to form separate companies

By Gorald Frawley staff writer

One of the area's most successful longtime residential building teams has gone separate ways.

Nosan/Cohen Associates of West Bloomfield is no more. The replacement companies are Nosan Enterprises and Cohen Associates, both in West Bloomfield.

The parting was amicable.

Working in a partnership was both productive and lucrative for the Nosan/Cohen team, but it was also restrictive, both said.

Lawrence Cohen, president of Cohen Associates, said that the idea of going separate ways probably began earlier this year - either late winter or ear-

They didn't actually split up until near the end of June, after they had worked out how existing projects like Stonebridge in West Bloomfield and Woods of Novi in Novi would be handled. Other Nosan/Cohen residential projects are

Sable Pointe in West Bloomfield and Maple Woods in Novi. They also built the Novi Professional Village and Maple Park Office Center, also in Novi. "Everything that we've done together that's in progress, we'll still have a shared interest in," Cohen said. That includes their projects as well as joint ventures with other builders. "We wanted to make sure people (in earlier projects) won't have to worry about whether we're still going to be here."

Both he and Nosan value their reputations in the building industry and don't want to jeopardize that name - individually or as a building team, he said. COHEN SAID the two dissolved their partnership because each wished to do different things. "Things won't change much for me," he sald.

Cohen Associates in West Bloomfield will focus its energies on production housing much as Nosan/ Cohen did, Cohen said. Whether that will include buying and developing property for his own subdivisions or purchasing lots in pre-developed subdivisions will depend on the property. But production housing isn't all Cohen will be Cohen has also started a new venture with Great Lakes Prudential vice president Charles Sower. The venture purchases lakefront property and bullds homes based on successful Nosan/Cohen models of the past.

The idea is to provide custom quality homes at substantial savings to homeowners — basically bringing the $1 million lakefront home into the $500,000 price range.

green agreed in the new

TERRY NOSAN, president of Nosan Enterprises in West Bloomfield, said that while he enjoyed his time spent as a partner in Nosan/Cohen Associates, the time had come to move on and try different partnership.

'Everything that we've done together that's in progress, we'll still have a shared interest

— Lawrence Cohen

Things will be much different for Nosan, who is virtually starting from scratch.

"When I left, all I took with me was me."

Nosan said he will be focusing his efforts on custom, more expensive homes where there is more contact between he and the buyer. "That was something I missed (white working with Nosan/Cohen)."

Nosan said that while he and Cohen were accessible to home buyers, most of the customer interaction was handled by sales and construction people.

Now that he's starting over, there will be a lot more one-on-one, hands-on interaction with buyers, brokers and architects.

"I enjoy that sort of thing."

Nosan said he isn't ruling out partnerships in the future, but they will be partnerships for individual "I like deal partnerships - where you work with another builder, another developer or even a nonbuilder for one job." Nosan said he is also interested in a more controlled environment. Under the partnership he wasn't always able to play things as fast and as loose as he hopes he will in the future. One other area Nosan said he will be exploring is land acquisition, rezoning and development. Once the property is ready, he will sell lots, but it's unlikely he will build subdivision homes for a while.

"I might do some site condos that look like houses, but that's about it." "You could do all this (within the bounds of a partnership), but it's hard to value what your contribution is," he said. While working together, each would come up with ideas for projects that really didn't fit the Nosan/Cohen Associates mold. That meant not doing projects that the two didn't agree on, he said. "If I had a whim or something he might perceive as a screwy idea - or if he had an idea I didn't agree with - in fairness to the partnership, neither of us could do it.

"Now, I can say, 'Hey, I'll do it anyway,'" he

"I'm actually enjoying the idea that I don't have things — things that might not have worked in a — a program," Nosan added. "I think it will be healthy for both of us."

Builders referral guide written for house hunters

By Gorald Frawley staff writer

Qne of the problems with house hunting is that there isn't a comprehensive way to find out what builders are doing out there.

Radio, (elevision, and newspaper ads are successful in some instances - particularly when hunting by location - but what about the homeowner who searches by builder?

That's where the builders referral file comes in his lace

Available from the Builders Assoclatlon, of Southeastern Michigan, the builders referral file - which will be updated monthly - lists: houses and building sites by builder.

Sharon Joseph, administrative assistant state builders association, said the referral file is a service for members. "It's a way to promote number and placement of bedrooms

Many builders in file build custom houses and also have projects of their own, she said.

Joseph said the option of being included in the referral file is available to both new and old members. New members receive an application form with their welcome to the association literature, and existing members receive application forms periodically in association

"I've even taken submissions over the phone," she said.

Currently, the referral file is divided by county and subdivided by

UNDER EACH builder heading are the specific projects, the communities in which he or she has. homes, price ranges, square footage, and baths, style and design, school district and other information.

Features, such as barrier-free design, use of allergy-sensitive construction materials, special warranties and whether a builder will construct on a homeowners's lot.

"The whole idea is still new," Joseph said. "We're still working on the format."

All builders listed in the directory are professionally licensed and members in good standing with the association, but buyers are encouraged to check references and previous workmanship in prospective bullders, she sald.

John Hughes, owner of New England Development in Westland, said although he wasn't aware of his inclusion in the builders referral file he is supportive of the idea.

"Anything that gets my product out there is good," he said.

New England Development is developing a single-family homes development in Westland on Palmer Road between Hix and Newburgh with houses starting at $89,900.

JOSEPH REBH, owner of Homestead Builders in Farmington Hills, said builders are constantly looking for ways to attract buyers.

"If I get anything out of being in it, that would be great, but I don't have any expectations," Rebh said. Rebh is building colonials in Commerce and Waterford townships starting from $145,900.

Rebh said most people shop for houses by price and location, so it's difficult to ascertain how much help a builder referral file offers - unless a buyer is looking for a custom builder. Then, reputation and referrals are more helpful.

Tenants signed for Livonia's Victor V

Three businesses have signed lease agreements at Victor Corporate Park, Livonia. The law firm of Helmkamp, Ellis and Abraham, Century 21 Today and Interstate Title will be the first three tenants to occupy Victor V, one of nine buildings to be developed.

Finsilver/Friedman Management Corp. of Farmington Hills has been named property manager for Commerce Drive Industrial Park, Madison Heights, a five-building, hightech complex of 110,000 square feet.

Both Wayne and Oakland countles. reported strong growth in the buildcompared to June.

Wayne County more than doubled. the number of units started in July - 461 - compared to June's 224. Oakland's July totals were 589 units compared to 422 in June for an increase of 39.6 perceant. But both counties' housing starts for the year lag 1990's by about 25 percent.

Statewide building was up 27 percent in July from June and down 16 percent for the year.

Vicount Industries of Farmington Hills is adding an 8,000-square-foot addition, nearly doubling its existing shop space. The company builds dies for the auto industry. General con-

"What Spare Time?"

That's what I said when I was asked to spend some spare time with Girl Scouts. Then I remembered...I didn't have much self-confidence as a young girl. It wasn't until I joined Girl Scouts that I really began to feel good about myself. The support of my Girl Scout leader was really important. Girls today need support, too. They need the Girl Scouts and they need you! Call your local Girl Scout council and volunteer.

Architects work to help seniors "age in place"

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Aging in place, a new concept based on a long tradition, helps people who are growing older to remain in their own homes for as long as possible by tailoring home environments to meet the needs of the elder-

The concept, a response to people living longer than ever before, is a timeless practice with a snappy new name and a slight difference.

Housing is remodeled or built new with features that make independent living easier for those who have such diminished physical capacities such as reduced hearing or less endur-

"By the year 2000, 25 percent of our population is going to be over age 65. The fastest growing segment Is 80-year-olds," said J. Robert Gillette, president of American House Retirement Residences, a network of homes for "frail" older people in such communities as Rochester Hills, Birmingham, Farmington Hills, Livonia and Westland. Expansion at the Rochester Hills facility highlights aging-in-place features for residents who, while physically restricted, are mentally alert, Gillette sald.

THE EXPANSION includes 22 new apartments, each at ground level with an enclosed patio. The living free of wind, sun and other harsh elements that pose problems for many elderly people, Gillette

All carpeting permits easier mobility for people using wheelchairs or walkers. "Those things are part of the aging process. We welcome

Carpet, walls and cabinets contrast in color. Color schemes include blue-gray carpet, white walls and wood or brown cabinets.

Other modifications include cabinets lower than normal and counter tops higher than normal, electrical plugs higher than normal and light switches lower than normal.

Freedom Square, a Michigan Housing Development Authority project by Piper Realty in Farming. ton Hills, is "affordable" housing for the physically impaired people or protected patio area permits outdoor people older than 61. The project is expected to be ready for occupancy by mid-October.

Of the 112 units arranged in clusters, 10 percent are barrier free to accommodate wheelchairs, walkers and similar devices. Each unit has an emergency call system in both the bathroom and bedroom, a washer and dryer and a private pa-

"THEY'RE LIKE condominiums. People seem to like them. We've had quite a bit of success with this style," said Robert Bessert of Piper Realty. Freedom Square is the firm's fourth housing development for senior liv-

Forty-six more units in the project are in a two-story apartment building. The second floor is accessible by elevator. A small market provides basic on site shopping.

Freedom Square and American House are examples of housing especially designed to accommodate older people. Similar results may also be obtained by remodeling existing houses in which older people already tion of Home Builders' Research Center in Maryland, offers remodeling tips based on studies of transformed housing in Tucson, Miami and Winston-Salem, N.C., said Lenny Rickman of the research center's special-needs housing program.

The center is in the forefront of remodeling tips, Rickman said.

"The most important areas to modify, the best places to start, are the kitchen and bathroom. They are the areas most important to safety and comfort." Rickman sald.

The biggest improvement, he added, are support bars in the bathroom, both by the tub or shower and the toilet. Installation may be minor or major, depending upon wall support systems.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS are: flexible shower hoses and heads that can be manipulated by hand, sinks and stoves with controls at the front so the user doesn't have to reach over hot burners or a heated oven.

Hartford House, a traveling exhibit designed by the Hartford Insurance Group, is meant to increase awareness about how physical environment can be modified to accommodate the changing needs of an aging population.

"It's all about the longevity revolution," said Sandra Sharr, spokeswoman for Hartford Insurance. Onefourth of today's population is older than 60, she said.

"In practical terms, living longer means people stay in their home longer: When planning horne improvements then, we should thinknot only of our needs today, but our future needs," noted a booklet that. accompanies the Hartford House ex-
