City goes Krogering — again

Kroger plans to open a supermarket "with all the bells and whistles" on the northeast corner of Merriman and Michigan Avenue. It will be the second Kroger store to open in the city in the past 18 months.

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

A new Kroger superstore, the second in 18 months, is coming to the city of Westland with construction to start this summer.

The city council unanimously approved two key requests which would allow the 63,000-square-foot supermarket to be built on a 17.1-acre site on the northeast corner of Michigan Avenue and Merriman.

The property, formerly the site of numerous county mental hospital buildings, commonly known as the Eloise site, will be adjacent to a planned golf course and related residential, office and commercial developments.

Now owned by the county, the development will be placed on the property tax rolls and generate tax revenues.

The Kroger property is being developed by Boutrous Companies, Troy.

The owner, Edward Boutrous, told the city council that the building would be similar to the one opened 18 months ago on Ford at Central City Parkway and "have all the bells and whistles."

Kroger officials with Boutrous said that construction would start soon after the city council gives final approval to the development, expected this summer, with completion expected next spring or early summer.

The developer also told the council that there will eventually be a video rental business, restaurant and fast-food restaurant built on the site.

The property, which borders the city of Wayne and is close to the Inkster boundary, had a lot of problems, or "souvenirs left over by the county," that the developer and builder had to resolve in advance, Boutrous told the council.

The main problem was the heating system tunnels that were filled

Judge orders murder trial for 2 suspects

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland judge Tuesday ordered the accused killers of a Redford Township man to stand trial for first-degree murder, after refusing to suppress statements the defendants made to police.

Westland 18th District Judge Gail McKnight ruled that Thomas Lamar Walker, 22, of Inkster and Antonio Jacob Peay, 20, of Detroit should stand trial for the May 1 shooting death of Christopher Rugg, 30.

Her decision came late Tuesday afternoon at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing for Walker and Peay, who would face life in prison without parole if convicted as charged.

They also face a possible two-year term for a felony firearms charge.

Both men remain jailed pending trial in Wayne County Circuit Court, and McKnight has denied bond.

McKnight refused to accept arguments by defense attorneys that Rugg fired shots at Walker and Peay during a dispute that began on Klink Street in Inkster and spilled over into Westland.

Instead, McKnight gave credibility to Westland police Sgt. Scott Fetner's testimony that Walker admitted firing shots at Rugg as the victim fled Klink Street and ran across Henry Ruff Road near Annapolis, where his body was found.

McKnight also ruled that Peay incriminated himself when he nodded in the affirmative to questions posed by Fetner about Rugg's death. Peay's statement wasn't as elaborate as Walker's, and he remained silent during some interrogation by Fetner.

Assistant Wayne County prosecutor Landon Bush argued that, had Peay been innocent, he would have eagerly answered questions to prove his innocence.

Police found Rugg's body about 3:15 May 1 on county-owned property on the west side of Henry Ruff. He had been shot four times: once in the head, once in the back and twice in the chest.

Fetner has testified that Rugg apparently went to Inkster to avenge an earlier robbery, based on telephone messages that Rugg left for his brother and his girlfriend. Statements made by Walker also indicated that Peay had earlier sold Rugg some "bad dope," Fetner said.

Rugg was believed to have been armed when he returned to the area of Inkster known as "Little Saigon," but McKnight decided there was no evidence that he ever fired any shots.

Defense attorneys David Cripps and Marcia Covert argued that Rugg shot at Walker and Peay while the two men had been standing on the street.

"We know that the victim shot at my client (Walker) and Mr. Peay," Covert said.

During a police investigation, witness David Johnson had made incriminating statements against Walker and Peay. However, he changed his version during the preliminary hearing, and McKnight ruled that his testimony wasn't credible.

Parade shifts auto's 100th year into high gear

Being that we live in the Motor City, it's hard to believe that the 100th anniversary of the automobile almost went off without a parade.

Sunday's Auto 100 Parade will feature 1,400 vehicles cruising a 3.5-mile stretch of Eight Mile through Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The parade route begins at Ryan Road and heads west to the Michigan State Fairgrounds at Woodward Avenue. Engines will rev up at 1 p.m.

"For the 50th anniversary in 1946 there was a Grand Prix down Woodward Avenue. (The cars) were painted gold for the occasion. Everyone remembers that. But for the 100th anniversary no one was doing much of anything," said Don Sommer of Troy, chairman of the parade and antique car buff.

Sommer was also founder of the annual Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance car show in Rochester.

"My idea was to have the 100th anniversary be the grandest of all parades and have Jay Leno as the grand marshal," he said. "And we did it."

The Tonight Show's Jay Leno will be leading the pack, driving a 1929 Duesenberg owned by Bill Chorkey of Farmington Hills. Behind him will be Packards, Fords, Royals, Hudsons, and even a Tucker (only 50 were made.) There are more than 60 different makes of autos, trucks and motorcycles.

"There will be cars you've never heard of before, like the Moon," Sommers said.

The Auto 100 Parade and Birthday Party is the culmination of a yearlong celebration of the automobile. The birthday party takes place at the fairgrounds following the short trek down Eight Mile. Entertainment, car exhibits and 25,000 pieces of birthday cake will be on hand. Admission is $8 for adults and $2 for children age 12 and under.

Other activities leading up to the parade include the Great American Cruise In from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday at the Michigan State Fairgrounds for car enthusiasts, who want to cruise in and show off their cars. Admission is $8 for adults and $2 for children. Parking is free. The Centennial Gala Dinner is Saturday featuring Jay Leno at Cobo Hall. Price is $200 per plate.

Police statements indicated that Walker and Peay had a .357-caliber revolver and a 9mm handgun, and Bush noted that Walker admitted destroying one of the weapons.

Investigators couldn't be certain what gun was used to kill Rugg because the bullets had been virtually destroyed during the shooting. Police did find six spent 9mm casings in the area, "but couldn't say with certainty when the bullets had been fired.

Bush noted that Rugg was shot twice after he had fallen to the ground, and that he was shot once in the back. Those shots prove an intent to kill, he argued.

Cripps argued that charges against Peay should be dropped altogether for a lack of evidence. Covert said that Police statements indicated that Walker and Peay had a .357-caliber revolver and a 9mm handgun, and Bush noted that Walker admitted destroying one of the weapons.

Walker, at most, should face trial for involuntary manslaughter because Rugg may have provoked him.

McKnight rejected their arguments and accepted Bush's motion to order the defendants to stand trial as charged.

Sears gets 1st nod to build new store

BY LEONARD POGER
EDITOR

The first legislative step which may lead to a planned $21 million Sears store on the northwest section of Westland Center was taken by the Westland City Council Monday night.

The council routinely referred a technical zoning ordinance amendment to the city's planning commission which would, if approved, enable Sears to meet the city's requirement of parking spaces.

The commission will hold a public hearing and send a recommendation back to the council.

The commission will take up the ordinance amendment at its Tuesday night, July 2, session.

The council routinely referred a technical zoning ordinance amendment to the city's planning commission which would, if approved, enable Sears to meet the city's requirement of parking spaces.

The city administration, as reflected in a letter to the council from Planning Director Tod Kilroy, wants the amendment handled "in a timely matter."

When the Sears store was first discussed publicly earlier this month at a council workshop meeting, the company said it wants to break ground on the 183,000-square-foot building this September and open for business the following September.

As-planned, Sears will hire some 450 employees, of which 150 will be full-time positions.

Mayor Robert Thomas said in an earlier interview that the Sears store will probably encourage other retail development in the Westland Center area.

Under the current zoning ordinance, shopping centers with more than 600,000 square feet are required to provide five parking spaces per 1,000 square feet of gross leasable floor area. The only property that applies to is the mall, which has about 950,000 square feet.

"With the addition of the Sears store," Kilroy said, "The shopping size will increase to 1.1 million square feet. In order to accommodate the expansion of the shopping center and provide adequate parking on the site, we are recommending that the parking ratio be modified to require 4.5 spaces per 1,000 square feet of gross leasable floor area."

Compass Realty Inc., the property manager for the mall, pointed out earlier this month that the Sears store isn't a "done deal."

with debris when the county closed most of the hospital buildings in the mid- and late 1980s.

The developer assured the council that there are no hazardous materials left on the site, but that the land "will not be pristine."

Because of the demolition of the numerous hospital buildings and a low grade, the developer will arrange for two feet of fill to raise the grade and allow for a parking lot.

The city council last November approved a site plan for the adjacent Inkster Valley Golf Course, of which most will be in Inkster and a portion in Westland.

There were few comments offered during Monday night's public hearing before the council.

Council member Justine Barns questioned Boutros about the demographics studied for the new development. The supermarket is near a major hospital and across the street from a cemetery and retail businesses on the south side of Michigan Avenue, bordering the city of Wayne.

But the developer told Barns that the market study included a three-mile-plus radius and that he is confident that the supermarket will be successful.

Council-watcher Dorothy

Smith questioned city planning director Tod Kilroy about the notices sent to area property owners to notify them of the public hearing.

Kilroy said the city requires notices to be sent to property owners within 300 feet of the planned development.

That included the county of Wayne and the city of Wayne.

One resident said that he will like the new Kroger store when it opens because it's close to his home.

Technically, the council Monday approved the developer's request for a special planned development and site plan.

MADD marathons in memory of Caryn Casaz

More than 150 runners and walkers gathered at Merriman Hollow in Hines Park Saturday morning to honor the memory of Caryn Casaz at the first 5-Kilometer Run from the Heart.

Chuck Block, 40, of Livonia won the race in 15:57.

Carol Poenisch, 42, of Northville, captured victory for the women in 18:40.

Sponsored by the Wayne County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, the run/walk was dedicated to Casaz, who was killed by a drunken driver while running in Hines Park last year. Casaz, an engineer with Ford Motor Co., was training for her first marathon.

The race got off to an emotional start, as Casaz' parents addressed the athletes on a sunny, warm, spring morning before the starting gun sounded. Mary and Victor Casaz of the Chicago, Ill., area, thanked the runners and walkers for supporting the event.

"Caryn would have loved this," said Victor Casaz before completing the 3.1 miles himself. "Many of you didn't even know Caryn, yet you came out. We thank you." Casaz' sister, Christine Byndas of Westland, also entered the Run from the Heart.

A marathoner who also works at Ford, Byndas pushed her newborn daughter in a stroller the entire route.

Poenisch and Block received trophies, while medals went to the top three finishers in each age group. Runners received T-shirts and post-race refreshments, as well as red ribbons to tie on their cars as a reminder not to drink and drive.

fit MADD, which raised just over $2,000 to pay for an extension of the bike path throughout Hines Park.

Casaz was killed on Hines Drive between Merriman and Farmington Road, where there is no bike path.

The family and friends of Casaz have set up the Caryn Casaz Endowment, to be awarded as an annual scholarship to a member of the Society for Women Engineers at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The university newsletter recently devoted an entire page to Casaz. A long article quoted former co-worker Gregory Reynolds saying, "Caryn always had an inviting, friendly smile and a willingness to help others."

"Activities like the Society of Women Engineers, social chair of Ford's University Advisory Committee, and Ford's Runner's Club that Caryn involved herself in reflected her cheerful personality and desire to contribute to our success. Caryn is missed by all the people she worked and played with at Ford Motor Company."

A facilities planning test engineer at Ford's World Headquarters in Dearborn, Casaz had been chosen directly out of college to be part of Ford's fast-track management program.

Board may reverse stand, sell school nature preserve

The Wayne-Westland school board is expected tonight (Thursday) to reverse its stand of preserving the Sassafra nature area and, instead, put the 64-acre site on the market for potential development.

The board will consider a motion during a 7 p.m. meeting today that will direct the administration to reject the $520,000 grant from the state natural resources department and "immediately place the property on the open market for sale, reserving approximately 10 lots for future use" by local home construction students.

The direction of the board is expected to be a blow to the Friends of Sassafra Trails, which had been fighting for several years to preserve the nature area for educational and environmental purposes.

The group gained some political support Monday night from City Council president Sandra Cicirelli and Council member Glenn Anderson.

Represented at the council meeting by Charles Johnson, the group is seeking the council's help in securing a grant from the state's natural resources trust fund.

If the grant is requested and received, it would help the Friends of Sassafra Trails, formed three years ago to preserve the property owned by the Wayne-Westland school district on the northeast corner of Wildwood and Palmer.

Besides the group's fear that the board may sell the preserve for development, there is another problem if the issue is tabled.

Two new members were elected last week to the school board with their terms to start July 1. The two new members, David Cox and Robin Moore, declined to guarantee that they would preserve the nature trails.

In his appeal to the council, Johnson said that the group lobbied for nearly two years and gained support from city officials, school administrators and state legislators.

Board trustee Ed Turner, who supported preserving the nature area, was defeated in an election bid last week. His term ends June 30.

But school board members "apparently are prepared to go back on their word and sell Sassafra Trails for development, citing a desire for more money," Johnson said.

With council members expressing strong support for saving the nature preserve, "now your help is urgently needed," he said.

Shortly after the meeting, Sassafra president Kevin Headrick said he offered his thanks to Cicirelli and Anderson for their support.

"Once again, Cicirelli and Anderson proved that not all elected officials waiver on their convictions. Their very supportive comments on the plight of Sassafra Trail shows courage and conviction - both qualities that seem to be lacking in some of our elected officials."

Guilty verdict offers relief, family says

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Family members devastated by Eric Alexander Lucia's shooting death are relieved that his killer, Christopher David Poremba, was found guilty of second-degree murder by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury.

"We are pleased with the verdict," Lucia's sister, Luanne Mueller, said Tuesday.

Jurors on Friday convicted Poremba, 29, of second-degree murder for the Sept. 18 shooting death of roommate Lucia, 27, a Borg-Warner machinist who grew up in Redford Township and graduated from Thurston High School.

"Everybody in Redford Township knew Ricky," Mueller said of Lucia. "He helped everybody. He was a wonderful person and a wonderful brother."

Mueller has two children, a 10-year-old daughter and a 9-year-old son, who cared deeply for their uncle, she said.

"I have two children who are devastated by the loss of their uncle," Mueller said.

Poremba, a Wayne Memorial High graduate and Ford Motor Co. apprentice, was convicted as charged of second-degree murder and a felony firearms charge.

He could face a maximum sentence of life in prison when he is sentenced July 3 by Wayne County Circuit Judge Michael Callahan.

Poremba had been free pending his trial, but he was placed in custody following his conviction.

His defense attorney, Neil Fink, had argued that Poremba was under attack when he shot Lucia in the chest, but jurors didn't believe the argument that Poremba shot Lucia in self-defense.

The dispute is said to have begun after Poremba made derogatory statements to a woman who came to his residence to visit Lucia and Lucia's friend, Richard Gofourth.

Poremba allegedly told the woman that she should avoid Lucia and Gofourth because they were "trouble," Gofourth has testified in court.

An argument escalated into a scuffle between the men, police have said.

Mueller said family members have been upset by the way Lucia has been portrayed by Fink and other Poremba supporters.

"He was a good person," she said.

Lucia was killed at 1:50 a.m. Sept. 18 inside Poremba's residence, in the 32700 block of Parkwood.

Poremba testified in his own defense, but his statements apparently didn't convince jurors of his claims of self-defense.

Mueller commended assistant Wayne County prosecutor Augustus Hutting for convincing jurors to convict Poremba as charged.

"He did a wonderful job for the family," she said. "This guy left no stone unturned."

Appeals court sides with developer in wetlands case

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A state Court of Appeals panel stunned the Department of Natural Resources by ruling it must pay $5.3 million to an Oakland County builder for "taking" 28 acres of his property by declaring it a protected wetland.

Joseph Kosik, his J.F.K. Co. and his Resorts and Co. wanted to build a restaurant on 55 acres of land zoned commercial on M-59 just west of Pontiac in Waterford Township. DNR refused a permit in 1988. DNR also refused Kosik's later proposal to fill in 3.17 acres and convert 5.36 acres of upland to wetland.

"This is a very important decision," said Kevin Smith, assistant attorney general representing DNR. "There have been other cases where trial courts found there had been a taking, but the others were reversed by the Court of Appeals. This is the first case where the Court of Appeals found there had been a taking."

Smith was unsure whether the state solicitor general would recommend appealing to the state Supreme Court. "If the decision is not reversed, it will have a significant impact for the wetlands program. The DNR will have to consider the impact of all permit denials."

No nuisance

"The crucial issue," said Michigan's second highest court, "is whether there is a taking within the meaning of the Fifth Amendment to require just compensation."

It said there was. "The decision to build a restaurant, or a request to fill in wetlands, do not constitute nuisances that a government may abate," wrote Judge Kathleen Janssen. She was joined by Judges Clifford Taylor and J.P. Noecker in upholding a Court of Claims ruling.

They said "the legislature's declarations in the Wetlands Protection Act and the Michigan Environmental Protection Act... do not constitute background principles of nuisance and property law sufficient to prohibit the use of plaintiffs' land without just compensation."

The state court relied heavily on a 1992 decision of the U.S. Supreme court in Lucas v. South Carolina Coastal Council. "(While property may be regulated to a certain extent, if the regulation goes too far, it will be recognized as a taking," Janssen wrote.

Court of Claims Judge William E. Collette awarded Kosik and his companies $3.2 million for the property taken, $1.6 million in interest and nearly $460,000 for a temporary taking of part of the land.

Collette in 1991 ruled the DNR wetlands restrictions "rendered the property essentially worthless as commercial real estate, and that plaintiffs were therefore entitled to just compensation." The base award amount to about $60,000 an acre.

"The parties do not question that the state has a legitimate interest in preserving and protecting wetlands," said Janssen's opinion. The question was money.

The trial and appellate courts found unconstitutional a section of the statute limiting the landowner's recovery to twice the state equalized value of the property (half the supposed market value).

National issue

Janssen's opinion noted "the 28 acres of wetlands is irregularly shaped within the 55-acre parcel. Thus, it is not possible to simply leave the wetlands area undeveloped and build on the remaining 27 acres. . . Here the plaintiffs could not develop the remaining 27 acres because of the configuration of the wetlands within the parcel."

She added, "Defendant (DNR) has not shown that the Court of Claims' computation of damages was erroneous or excessive."

The Michigan Association of Home Builders joined the case as an "amicus" on Kosik's side.

The case is part of a nationwide battle between landowners, who say government is taking their property by regulating its use, and environmentalists, who insist wetlands are essential to the ecosystem. The 1992 Republican national platform came out for the landowners' side.

Ingham circuit judges constitute the Court of Claims and hear all suits against state government. Michigan Republicans contend Ingham jurists are politically too liberal.

"Your Family Diamond Store Where Quality and Service Are Affordable"

We Deliver Families.
Some people think birth is a woman's concern. It is, of course, but it's also much more. At St. Mary Hospital, we think it's a family affair, so we make it easier for the father and the whole family to share the wonder of childbirth; before, during and after. Before you're due — when your anticipation is growing as quickly as your baby — our prenatal classes for expectant families such as Lamaze, breastfeeding and infant care and safety get your family ready for the new arrival. And when your baby is born — after months of waiting come down to a single day — we make sure that day is everything you meant it to be. Our commitment to family involvement includes flexible visiting hours; time with your baby; and time for father, grandparents, brothers and sisters. And all the while, you'll enjoy private rooms that combine homelike comforts with the support and security of St. Mary Hospital. Once you're home, we're as close as your phone, with follow-up and basic infant care information. So, talk with your doctor about St. Mary Hospital. Or call us at (313) 464-WELL to help you find a physician who's right for you. Because when it comes to families... we deliver.

PARKS PROPOSAL

Area voters to face 1/4-mill tax request on August ballot

Wayne County has a project list for money generated by the proposed quarter mill tax increase for parks. Projects include:

- Improvements to Wayne County parks would include: 1,000 new picnic tables, new grills and trash receptacles, and new entrance, directional and informational signs, improved parking and handicapped access in Hines Park, Elizabeth Park in Trenton, Bell Creek and Lola Valley parks in Redford Township, Inkster and Colonial parks in Inkster and Venoy Dorsey Park on the Wayne-Westland border. New backstops and bleachers are planned at league ball diamonds in Hines Park and Bell Creek Park. Ten miles of bridle trails would be renovated and reopened in Hines Park under the proposal. Renovations and improvements would cost $1.545 million and be completed by Spring 1998.
- Plans include picnic area improvements at a cost of $2 million in Hines Park to be completed by spring of 2001. Plans call for adding two picnic areas a year for five years at various sites in Hines Park. The plan includes new picnic pavilions, playscapes and upgrades of the restrooms at Merriman Hollow in Westland, Parkland in Dearborn Heights, Northville site in Northville, Cass Benton in Northville, Wilcox in Plymouth, Plymouth-Riverside in Plymouth, Levan Knoll in Livonia, Parr in Dearborn Heights, Helm's Haven in Dearborn Heights, and Nollar Bend in Dearborn Heights. Work at Hines Park would also include building two new beach volleyball courts at the Parkland area in Dearborn Heights.
- Project plans call for spending $1 million at Nankin Mills Interpretive Center in Westland with interactive displays to tell the story of 400 years of life along the Rouge River. The project would be completed by spring of 1998.

At William P. Holliday Forest and Wildlife Preserve in Westland and Canton Township, the county plans to spend $200,000 to increase access for hikers to the 540-acre wooded preserve by restoring six footbridges and trail and boardwalk repair. Interpretive signs would offer wilderness education and help identify flowers, trees and animal habitats along the trails. The project would be completed by fall 1997.

Winter sports area improvements are planned at a cost of $175,000 with a winter 1996-97 completion. Plans call for rebuilding and reopening eight natural ice skating ponds that have been closed for between five and 20 years at Hines Park in Dearborn Heights, Garden City and Westland; Inkster Park in Inkster and Lola Valley in Redford. Also in these improvements, lighting would be upgraded to allow for evening skating at Wilcox Lake in Plymouth and Newburgh Lake in Livonia. New warming shelters would be built for skaters at Elizabeth Park in Trenton and a natural sledding hill would be reopened in the Cass Benton area of Hines Park in Northville.

The county wants to spend $80,000 at the Bennett Arboretum in Northville. Interpretive signs would identify more than 300 species of trees and provide for a self-guided walking tour. Nature teaching programs would be offered under the plan.

The project would be completed by fall 1999.

New sports facilities at a cost of $850,000 are planned, including nine new soccer fields in Hines Park in Dearborn Heights, Westland, and Plymouth; Bell Creek Park in Redford Township and Colonial Park in Inkster. Two new street hockey rinks would be constructed in Hines Park in Plymouth and Westland and three new basketball courts would be constructed in Hines Park in Plymouth, Westland and Dearborn Heights. Work would be completed by fall of 1998.

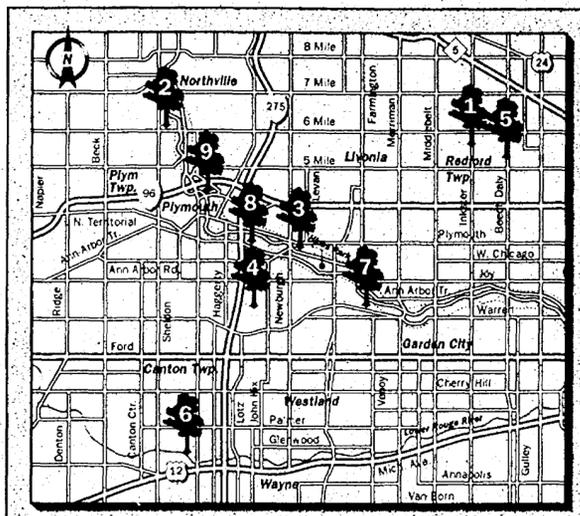

Three projects are planned in the city of Detroit.

The county is proposing renovating and operating historic Fort Wayne, a civil war fort, at a cost of $4.75 million and completed in 2001.

The county plan includes a $2 million project at Mariner Park in Detroit with completion in fall 1998. The project would include constructing a river walk and fishing pier, a new picnic pavilion with grills and a new playscape, beach volleyball and upgrading parking and a bridge.

At Chandler Park, the county plans to spend $7 million to build at water park. Phase one is a wave pool to be completed by summer 1998, phase two is a waterslide to be completed by summer 1999 and phase three is a lazy river water amusement to be completed by spring 2000.

The county is planning to spend $1 million at Crosswinds Marsh in Sumpter Township. Crosswinds Marsh is a 467-acre, $60 million wetland nature preserve built by Detroit Metro Airport funds. The permit to build the new midfield terminal required the airport to build the wetland preserve. The county plans to build an interpretive center, observation tower, screen house, wildflower meadow, wet-

Views differ on how to pay for park improvements

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Do Wayne County voters want to pay a tax specifically to improve parks?

That's the question facing voters as a proposal to increase taxes by a quarter mill will be on the primary ballot Aug. 6. The tax increase would run for five years, 1996 through 2001, inclusive, and is earmarked to improve and operate the county's parks system as well as work with several municipalities on parks projects.

A quarter mill is 25 cents per $1,000 of taxable valuation. The increase would cost the owner of a $100,000 house $12.50 a year.

Wayne County's proposed list of parks projects has a $26.3 million price tag.

The quarter mill levy is expected to generate $7,651,749 in the first year and more than $41 million over the life of the millage. Of that total, the money not assigned to projects will be used for operations and acquisitions, according to Hurley J. Coleman Jr., director of the Wayne County Division of Parks.

Millage language also includes the provision that the county will continue to fund the parks system from the general fund budget at $2.8 million, which is the amount funded in Fiscal Year 1996.

The parks department will also use proceeds from the millage to match grants and help extend the value of the millage amount, Coleman said. "I think we've got a pretty good history of utilizing grants in Wayne County," he said.

Duggan

"I believe Hurley has taken the parks system as far as it can go without a dedicated source of money," Deputy county CEO Michael Duggan said, calling the way parks projects have been funded in Wayne County "by hook or by crook."

Wayne County Commissioner

Thaddeus McCotter, who opposes the tax increase, suggested the money for parks improvements should come from the general fund or from the 21st Century Fund, which the county recently set up.

McCotter said he agrees the parks need more funding, he just doesn't support a tax increase.

One of the things businesses look at is what it costs to do business in Wayne County, and increased taxes could discourage them, he said.

The 21st Century Fund, which takes money from the sale of county property and uses it for a development loan fund to distressed areas of the county, could have been used to fund parks instead, McCotter said.

But Duggan and Coleman insist using that fund wouldn't ensure the money to maintain what is built will be there in the future.

McCotter pointed out that Duggan and Coleman are assuming the parks millage will be passed and later will be renewed to ensure that funding.

Duggan said continued funding is important. "The worst thing we could do here is build world-class projects and not have the money to maintain them," Duggan said.

Director's vision outlined in parks millage project list

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Parks Director Hurley J. Coleman Jr. has a dream for Wayne County's parks system.

And the county's project list includes something for just about everyone. (See related story).

As for the specific parks improvements, Coleman pointed out that adding 1,000 picnic tables in Hines Park may seem like a lot but that 25 years ago there were 3,500 picnic tables in Hines Park and now there are about 750.

He called picnic areas and the new picnic pavilions, "incredibly popular." Ten more new pavilions would be built with the millage.

"We average seven calls a day on the pavilions," he said.

Restoring the trails and footbridges in Holliday Forest would make sure people have access, Coleman said. Walking areas are cut off because bridges are out, he said. "The trails have not been maintained or developed in 10 to 15 years," he said.

A lot of people don't know about the Bennett Arboretum in Northville Township, which has about 300 species of trees planted by an early forester in Wayne County, he said. The area can be used for educational purposes too, he said.

As for recreation, the new sports facilities, including soccer fields and street hockey rinks, would answer the growing popularity of those sports, Coleman said.

The county also plans to work with Detroit on three projects. It makes sense for the county to get involved with Detroit, Coleman said. The county isn't buying the Chandler, Mariner and Fort Wayne sites, but entering into an agreement that allows the county to develop the sites, he said. The county will also be working with the city's Department of Museums and History on the Fort Wayne project.

In Sumpter Township, the $1 million the county plans to spend at Crosswinds Marsh would create recreational opportunities in the wetland preserve, which was built with Metro Airport funds. The plan would include eight miles of canoe trails, eight miles of walking trails and boardwalks and 12 miles of equestrian trails.

"It's an unbelievable, breathtaking facility," Coleman said. Crosswinds Marsh is located near the Monroe County border, west of I-275.

"We're the only ones that can bring it to the public," he said.

"The beauty" of the whole plan is that it includes supplies and staffing, Coleman said.

That staffing includes a plan to increase the number of full-time permanent parks employees from 38 to 65-70, Coleman said.

Staffing has been a problem in the parks department, Coleman said. If mowing needs to be done, other parks operations have to be shut down so parks personnel can go out and mow, Coleman said as an example.

Staffing levels remain low, while parks usage has increased, he said. In a rough estimate, about 1.5 million visits were made to county parks facilities in 1995, Coleman said.

On one Saturday in the Park at Hines Park in 1995, it was estimated 10,000 people came to Hines Drive, he said.

The county issues permits for 28 picnic areas from April 1 to Labor Day. By the end of April weekends for the whole season are 90 percent booked, he said.

When talking about running the parks system, Coleman becomes philosophical. "We're either going to support the needs of the Wayne County Parks system or we're not," he said.

Parks staff members echo that sentiment. "I've been here 20 years. I've seen the parks system decline from what it used to be," Deputy Parks Director Daniel J. Navarre said.

Just cutting the grass does not constitute what needs to be done in the parks, he said.

"The county has a gem here, and it can't afford to let it decline," he said.

It's important for people in urban areas to have green space to renew and refresh themselves, Kathleen Lewand, executive assistant for parks development, said.

Parks also offer recreation areas for all age levels, according to Anastasia "Tessie" Pites, manager of recreation. The demand for programs is so high, without more funding the county won't be able to keep up with demand, she said.

State eyes voluntary efforts to control storm water runoff

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Until federal guidelines are set, state officials want local municipalities to take voluntary action to manage storm water runoff and help clean up the Rouge River.

That is according to information presented by officials of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and the Environmental Protection Agency at an informational hearing Tuesday.

Storm water was the topic outside and inside Tuesday during the third in a series of hearings on water quality in the Rouge River.

As the metro area was awash in rain, representatives from various governmental agencies and municipalities met to talk about the Rouge River and mounting a watershed approach to managing it. U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens presides over the hearings as part of an attempt to resolve a lawsuit that began in 1977.

"My interest has gone along the line of a watershed approach, particularly, to address the problems of the Rouge River," Feikens said in his introduction. But agencies haven't embraced the intercounty drainage district concept, he said.

A watershed approach is not new to Michigan, according to Robert P. Miller, chief of the surface water quality division of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality. "The Feds have been moving toward a watershed approach," he said.

"The issue before us is more than just the watershed," it's storm water, he said. Storm water or rain water running over the land takes the residue from land, lawns, cars, driveways and roads, industrial sites and agricultural fields and washes it into the river and ultimately into the lakes, Miller said.

"All of our watersheds are in our control, they're defined, and they ultimately wash in to the Great Lakes, he said. "We have a real high calling as far as protecting the water," he said.

The DEQ chooses to proceed with a voluntary approach until federal guidelines are in place, Miller said. Those guidelines aren't expected before 1999, he said.

In answer to the question of "how clean is clean," which has been asked at the previous two hearings, Miller said, the federal water quality standards are the goal and they have the weight of law.

"It's not a debate whether we will meet the water quality standards," he said. The standards will apply to any flow of water greater than a drought level flow, he said.

Water quality is judged on standards such as dissolved oxygen levels, microorganisms and physical characteristics, he said.

The water quality standards are a fixed target, but can be influenced by local municipalities as far as approaches to attaining the standards, he said.

In the long-term, the state will comply with federal requirements, in the near-term the agency plans to proceed with the watershed approach, Miller said.

The DEQ will participate in local voluntary watershed efforts, but will bring in enforcement if it has to, Miller said.

Other plans in the interim include developing the best management practices manual, encouraging communities to control illicit discharges and educating the public.

"People care about the water. I think there will be a lot of voluntary initiatives," he said.

When asked by Feikens if the DEQ supports the formation of an intercounty drainage district, Miller said no. "Because we really feel we are still at the stage where we can do things voluntarily," he said.

But, "If the communities decided that is the best thing to do we would work with them," he said.

Feikens asked if the agency would be willing to extend the time required to meet the standards.

"What's really important is to be on the right course," Miller said. The DEQ would be willing to work with communities on the time schedule, he said.

The requirements to get combined sewer overflow permits didn't seem voluntary, Jim Murray, director of Wayne County's Department of Environment, said in response to Miller's presentation.

But, the CSO controls aren't part of the storm water control plans, according to Chad McIntosh, deputy director of the MDEQ.

CSOs weren't being discharged in anything but wet weather, Murray said. "I don't think there is a voluntary program when dealing with wet weather discharges," Murray said.

"Waiting is good if you know what you're waiting for," Murray said.

"Where are we going with CSO control? Where are we going with SSO (sanitary sewer overflow) control. . . We have standards that exceed everywhere else in the country. . ." he said.

After the hearing, Livonia resident Joan Lintelman, a member of the Rouge River Advisory Council, said she liked what the EPA and state officials said. "They're ultimately responsible for the water of the United States."

Communities need to pursue meeting water quality standards, she said.

As for the costs local communities could face, Lintelman said that is because municipalities have taken a "Band-Aid approach" in the past and haven't looked at the total picture.

"Now it is extremely excessive in cost," she said. Today governments are facing what community governments of the past were unwilling to face, she said.

Angelo Plakas, Westland city attorney, said he was pleased to hear Murray make the comment that his boss (county Executive Edward McNamara) was not endorsing the intercounty drainage district concept.

He called the voluntary approach the most prudent and cost effective. The voluntary approach works each April 15, he said.

"The thing that concerns Westland is the cost," Plakas said. "It's mind boggling to say the least. The citizens are being taxed to death."

The next hearing has been tentatively set for July 16.

Voters' apathy

Election turnout is terrible

The election process in the Wayne-Westland school district was an embarrassment last week.

Without reflecting on the election victories of David Cox and Robin Moore, the community must have lost its calendar or sense of civic duty.

That's because only 2.7 percent of the district's 68,000 registered voters cast ballots in the annual board of education election.

Even a casual glimpse by motorists driving up and down Wayne Road would have offered them an obvious clue that there was an election coming up.

Local newspapers had major chunks of their pages devoted to profiles of the candidates.

But there was a gigantic no-show on election day, mirroring the large percentage of empty seats at Tiger Stadium on game days.

What's bothersome is that the people who stayed home on election day may be the first to complain at a school board or PTA meeting when there is a problem affecting the district as a whole or their neighborhood school.

While major policy issues have been reduced within the past year, there are still problems to be addressed and hopefully resolved.

For example, the district still faces ongoing money problems in the wake of the statewide school finance reform plan, Proposal A, enacted two years ago.

While homeowners are enjoying the obvious financial benefits of the major property tax rate cut under Proposal A, the school board and administration continue to face major problems.

Those problems of which educational programs and services to keep, reduce or eliminate will certainly affect the future of current students who want to leave the district with a diploma and marketable skills.

On another level, there are other issues to be resolved, such as the emotional policy issue of what to do with the Sassafra Trail nature preserve, a 62-acre site on the northeast corner of Wildwood and Palmer.

There are certainly other major issues tied to school finance and what the board may — or may not — do to affect the quality of education in the community.

The Observer knows Cox and Moore will certainly have their agendas full in the next year or two, dealing with expected problems.

Whatever the decisions are will affect not just current and future students but real estate values which usually reflect the quality of the school system.

And that involves all property owners.

Saturday in the Park

Riding through: These young bicyclists, supervised by a mom (background), were among the more than 10,000 area residents last year who took advantage of Wayne County Parks "Saturday in the Park" program. Hines Drives is closed to traffic 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Saturday now through September. It's a good place to ride a bike, inline skate, walk or run without having to worry about traffic.

Park tax is worthy of passage

Wayne County voters have an opportunity this summer to stabilize funding for the county parks system, and it's an opportunity that should be seized.

The county has put on the August primary ballot a new, 1/4 -mill tax dedicated to improvements in the county park system, which includes such facilities as Hines Park and the Holliday Nature Preserve. It's a good system, and Director Hurley Coleman and his staff have made admirable progress with the resources they have available. Bottom line, though, is that they need more.

Wayne County currently pays for its parks through an annual allocation from the county general fund, combined with other revenue from user fees, grants and the like. Many counties — notably Oakland — fund parks systems through a dedicated property tax similar to Wayne County's new proposal.

Despite Wayne County's inordinately high tax rate overall, the parks system here does not have a stable funding source. The general fund allocation has varied wildly through the years, depending on the financial and political situations of the moment.

The August proposal would stabilize parks funding two different ways. First, it would establish a dedicated source of revenue for five years through the new tax — around $8 million in the first year. And second, it would mandate that the general fund allocation for parks be continued at its current level, about $3 million, for that same five years.

Although we would have preferred to see an allowance for inflation, this second provision is a critical point in favor of the plan. It means that county politicians won't be able to play a "shell game" with parks money, eliminating the current allocation and using the new tax to fund existing programs. The way the ballot proposal is written, the new tax would have to be used for new projects.

And what are those projects? The drawing board includes improvements throughout Hines Park, including new grills and tables, new facilities for team sports, and reopened bridle trails; restoration of trails and foot bridges at the Holliday Nature Preserve in Westland and Canton; and development of an interpretive center at Nankin Mills. Other projects, including a water park and renovation of Historic Fort Wayne, are within the city of Detroit — a long-needed first, since the county currently operates no parks within its largest community.

Agreement seems almost unanimous — even among opponents of this proposal — that these projects, taken as a whole, deserve funding. The main disagreement seems to be over how best to fund them.

County Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, is among the critics of the proposal. He argues that an additional tax is the wrong way to address park needs, and that the county administration could have found adequate funding elsewhere, if only it had looked.

McCotter makes a good point about the genesis of the proposal; it does feel like the administration reached for a tax increase as a first, rather than last, resort. But frankly, we have to deal with the proposal that's before us; and if voters defeat this tax, we can't realistically see the projects being funded any other way.

A sticker system, similar to the state or Metroparks system, would be unworkable and inappropriate, since it would be too hard to enforce and would not tax many low-impact users who don't drive to the park.

At a cost of $12.50 a year for a $100,000 house, the expense of this plan is simply worth it. The county parks system deserves a stable, reliable source of funding to build on its accomplishments and take the next step toward providing residents a truly first-rate operation. This proposal should accomplish that, and it merits a yes vote.

Pig slaughter inhumane

I have been a faithful subscriber to the Observer and I plan on continuing my subscription. However, I feel I must voice my disgust and disappointment at the recent glorification of the slaughter of one of our most intelligent domesticated animals, the pig.

In "Pig roast is a tasty way to entertain," (June 10, Page 1B) Chef Larry Janes discusses the joys of watching a dead animal slow-roasting over a fire. Would he feel the same joy if he had to slaughter the pig himself, in front of those inquisitive children? I suggest that before Chef Larry sings the praises of pig-killing, he might visit a local slaughterhouse.

Slaughterhouses use either a "stun-and-slice" method, or the "pole ax" method to kill animals. Although the stun and slice is supposed to be used nationwide, it is not enforced, and is the more expensive of the methods.

Considered by slaughterers to be humane, it is often the opposite. The pigs' heads are often not stunned enough (or correctly enough) to knock them out before their throats are slit.

They also may fall out of their leg irons, become conscious, and run about in terror before being tackled and stabbed. The pole ax method is presumed to be used at many of the 6,100 slaughter houses in the U.S. (fewer than 25 percent are actually inspected each year).

This barbaric method consists of having a worker knock the pigs unconscious with a heavy sledgehammer. Often, the long overhead swing can't be carefully aimed enough to kill the pig, resulting in the hammer smashing part of the frightened animal's face.

Several more blows must then be given in order to kill the suffering animal. On a fast moving conveyor belt, many pigs are mistakenly thought of as dead, and left to suffer.

Aside from the cruelties that pigs, and others, are subjected to, there are health issues to consider. Has Chef Larry ever looked into the U.S.D.A.'s standards for approving meat for consumption? They are quite low. The U.S.D.A. approves the meat from animals who have cancer and other diseases, as long as those parts are removed. But there is never any testing to see if the diseases are hiding out in other parts of the bodies. Anyone who has ever had a spreading disease knows that it doesn't just stay confined to one part of the body.

If a whole pig, upon slaughter, appears healthy, it will be approved for consumption, considering the confined quarters and unsanitary conditions of a slaughterhouse pig's meager existence, remaining disease-free is a very difficult task. Medical testing does not occur on each pig upon exit! So that pig at the roast may bring some unwanted guests along in his muscles, fat, or skin.

The final important point to this letter is the impact on the children. Chef Larry jokingly recounted the "crazy questions" children may ask at a pig roast.

Might these questions include: "Daddy, why did someone have to kill a pig for our dinner?" or "Mommy, is this like the pig from 'Babe'?"

Why then, should we force them to see their beloved friends burned to a crisp on a rotisserie?

It is common knowledge that pigs make wonderful pets, are as intelligent (if not more intelligent) than dogs, and feel emotions such as fear, sadness, and joy. To subject children to the cruel contradiction of a pig roast is nothing short of child abuse.

Would Chef Larry feel as excited about roasting his son or daughter's puppy? If not, then he should think twice about callously wasting the newspaper's space espousing the wonders of killing and burning childhood hero's like "Babe" and "Gordy." And the newspaper should consider the effect this type of article has on the public, especially the children!

POINTS OF VIEW

Why don't we empower all of the people?

BY JIM O'NEIL
GUEST COLUMNIST

In 1992 President Clinton promised to empower the people. The Republicans also have been advocating empowering the people. A recent TIME/CNN Poll indicated that 76 percent of the people want to be empowered by voting on major issues through National Voter Referendums. President Clinton and Congress can very easily empower the people by implementing the First Amendment for all the people by establishing National Voter Referendums. The First Amendment gives the people "the right to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." However, it has never been effectively implemented for all the people. Presently, only the selfish vested interest groups, such as the Japanese, and convicted felons like the Milken, Keatings and their ilk, with their obscene amounts of money and cunning lobbyists can effectively use this part of the First Amendment. And, they are abusing it, in a conspiracy with the corrupt politicians, in a manner that threatens to destroy our country morally and economically. It is difficult to understand why this constitutional right has been denied the people, in this the cradle of democracy. France and other European countries, Russia and other former Soviet Republics, Canada and even South Africa allow their people to hold National Voter Referendums. Pat Choate's book, "Agents of Influence," indicates that the Japanese are spending over $400 million a year to influence our government and their influence reaches all the way up to the Presidency. He also says the Japanese have more influence over our government than either major political party or any combination of corporations or unions. Isn't it unconstitutional, as well as dangerous, for the Japanese to have more influence in our democracy than We The People? Choate lists over 200 high-ranking government officials who have become agents (turncoats) for foreign governments, one third of them for the Japanese. Kevin Phillips, in his recent book "Arrogant Capital," calls for National Voter Referendums to restore our democracy. Alvin Toffler and Ralph Nader have repeatedly recommended National Voter Referendums. And, former presidential candidate and congressman Jack Kemp calls the National Voter Referendum "A fail-safe mechanism in a democracy." The National Voter Referendum is essential to:

- Stop the plundering of the country by the selfish vested interest groups and corrupt politicians;
- Reestablish the basic value of self-respect and respect for others and the law, including a strict code of ethics for government officials;
- Establish a balanced budget; and,
- Prevent the moral and economic destruction of our country.

The First Amendment was established to protect the people's constitutional rights and it should be fully implemented. We The People should at least be empowered in our own country as much as the Japanese and the selfish vested interest groups. What do you think? If you care to comment or would like additional information regarding The National Voter Referendum, you may write to Jim O'Neil, 16057 Alpine, Livonia 48154. (Guest columnist Jim O'Neil is national chairman of The National Voter Referendum and a former member of the Michigan Board of Education. Guest columns, typewritten, double-spaced and about 2 1/2 pages in length, may be mailed to Leonard Poger, Observer Newspapers Editorial Department, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Mich. 48150.)

Majority of charter schools are merely trough feeders

It was a "bad news" story, and yet there was an element of humor in the June 13 article in the Lansing State Journal. A so-called charter school is in trouble. El-Hajj Malik El-Shabazz Academy has been placed on probation, "plagued by complaints of misconduct and mismanagement on the part of its governing board," the story said. "They're in serious trouble," said Robert Mills, director of Central Michigan University's Charter School Office, suggesting the academy may "self-destruct." CMU, you may recall, is the charter mill that ground out most of the 43 charters in the state. Let us peruse the LSJ story further: "Mills' office is investigating a series of complaints of misconduct, including the dismissal of administrator Angela Scott and possible violations of the state Open Meetings Act. "We're questioning the whole protocol of how hiring and firing were handled, why bitter complaints by parents were not being handled by the board and the abrupt resignation of board members," Mills said. "Board member Larry Scott, who helped found the school with his wife, Angela, and board member Willie Davis, resigned during the school year ... "Mills said his office will work with the board to develop operating policies and guidelines. CMU officials also will interview new candidates to fill the board vacancies. "If matters do not improve, CMU could revoke the charter that allows it to operate," he said. End of quotes. Charter schools, according to the national literature, are supposed to be specialized schools organized by parents and teachers to promote specialized kinds of education, such as the art, theater or science. That's the theory. As implemented by Gov. John Engler and state Board of Education President Clark Durant, the concept has become perverted to state subsidies for private schools. The Shabazz tale suggests some pertinent questions: Charter schools are supposed to be competitive in the free market by catering to the demands of consumers - i.e., parents. But here we have the parents in revolt. A board member, Larry Scott, and the administrator, Angela Scott, are husband and wife. Does that not reek of nepotism and conflict of interest? You wouldn't see that in a real public school. Central Michigan University, located an hour north in Mt. Pleasant, will interview candidates for the board. What's wrong with having voters elect the board, the way we did with real public schools June 10? At the outset I noted there was an element of humor in the situation. It's this: Charter schools are supposed to be free of "bureaucratic red tape" - Engler's term when he proposed charter schools to the Legislature. And yet we have an unelected bureaucrat from a university with an unelected board probing Shabazz's management and board. Note Shabazz's "Afrocentric" curriculum. Glance through the Help Wanted classified ads of this or any other newspaper and find all the job opportunities for graduates with Afrocentric skills. The founders, administrators, Central Michigan University and parents of Shabazz students are playing a mean trick on the kids with such a curriculum. Yes indeed, charter schools are legally "public" schools subject to the Open Meetings Act. In the real world, however, no newspaper has the resources to cover all of them. In the real world, newspapers make most (though far from all) of the squawks about violations of the Open Meetings Act. I submit for your objective consideration the proposition that Engler and Durant want minimal media scrutiny because they want to nourish secret agendas, secretly implemented. Some, perhaps one-third, of so-called "charter schools" may be the genuine thing - specialized public schools. The majority are private schools lining up at the Proposal A feeding trough. And you wonder: How many other charter schools are as bad as Shabazz, just not exposed yet? Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Today's political process both negative and uncivil

The election season is approaching. Pretty soon, the airwaves will be filled with sound bites and the TV screens with negative ads. Charge and counter-charge will be the order of the day. Now, before all this overwhelms us, is a good time to pause and reflect on the state of our politics. One way or another, I've been either covering or participating in American politics for 30 years. I have never seen such negative content and uncivil tone as today infests our political process. It isn't enough merely to disagree with your opponent on the substance of policy. It seems necessary these days intentionally to malign your opponent's character, question his morality and distort his/her record. Much of this, I submit, has come from the general emotional power of political advertising on television and, in particular, on its most recent manifestation, the negative ad. Survey research shows clearly that most people get most of their information about politics from television. Political professionals distinguish between news - "free media" in their nomenclature - and "paid media." Given adequate money, the pros by and large prefer paid media as the medium of choice by which to communicate with the electorate, if only because they thereby avoid having to deal with nosy and mostly uncontrollable reporters. This is especially so when they decide to "go negative," a tactic that usually requires the unchallenging environment of TV time, bought and paid for. Moreover, the pros have discovered that the easiest way to get around the legal limitations on campaign spending is to collaborate with so-called "independent" committees - wink, wink; nod, nod - that have "no links" to the campaign. Independence makes them immune from reporting and disclosure requirements, while the lack of linkage provides the candidate with useful deniability when an outrageous lapse of taste or honesty takes place. In parceling out blame for this downward spiral, the news media bear an important and largely overlooked share. Most television stations, which charge premium rates for political ads, are reluctant to bite the hand that feeds them by subjecting these same ads to the fierce scrutiny of their newsrooms before they are run. Some newspapers try to analyze the content and evaluate the distortions of TV advertising, but the stories usually run too late to promote public understanding. Given our tight local focus at this newspaper, we can't do much about presidential or senatorial elections. But we do cover - and have a clear responsibility to cover, with aggressive integrity - congressional and state legislative races, as well as various local contests. For the record, here's our policy with respect to political advertising:

- We will not accept political ads for our newspaper that we know are untrue. Where we are suspicious, we will check with our newsroom before running the ad.
- We will not accept for publication in the last edition before the election an ad that makes a new charge without contacting the opponent to offer an opportunity to rebut.
- We will review - for accuracy, taste and relevance - television ads run by candidates in our circulation area. In particular, we will assume that ads run by "independent" committees are controlled by the candidate unless offered compelling proof this is not so.
- Our endorsements will be based in part on whether candidates contribute to a rational discussion of the issues and a civil tone to the campaign.

Piano program designed for elementary students

Beginning pianists can get a solid grounding in their art through group lessons, master classes and recitals in Schoolcraft College's Project Piano for Youth.

An 18-week program for elementary school-age piano students, the class offers a weekly 60-minute group lesson and a 30-minute private lesson.

The group lessons enable the student to share music learning and perform for each other on a regular basis. The private lessons reinforce individual needs in technique and musicianship. Students work on weekly assignments, drills in rhythm and note reading, fundamentals of music and creative work, and may use the electronic piano lab, a state-of-the-art facility with 10 full-sized keyboards.

New and transfer students must arrange an interview appointment with Linda Wotring at (313) 261-0318 before registering. Orientation and registration for the fall program are Sept. 7. Fee is $430. For starting dates or more information, call (313) 462-4400, ext. 5218 or ext. 4448.

S'craft offers summer programs for youth

Students can take enrichment classes at Schoolcraft College and learn about fire fighting, the theater, drawing cartoons or how to write their own book.

Schoolcraft College offers two summer programs for students age 4 through high school. Kaleidoscope presents classes in math, computers, the arts and science. A sampling includes "Are you Ready for Algebra?" "Keyboarding & Word Processing," "Cartoon Capers," and "Detective School for Kids."

All Kaleidoscope classes except the fire academy are scheduled for two or three weeks, Monday through Thursday, and begin July 15. Fees for the classes range from $71-78. Mail and fax registrations continue until July 15. Walk-in registration is June 26-27 at the McDowell Center.

The Talented and Gifted program offers two sessions, beginning July 8 and July 22. Both sessions meet for two weeks. A sampling of TAG classes includes "Music and the Computer," "Introduction to Archaeology & Anthropology," "Creative Dramatics," and "Speed Reading," for children ages 4-7. Fees range from $75-95. Mail and fax registrations continue until July 1. Walk-in registration is June 26-27 at the McDowell Center.

For more information, call (313) 462-4448. To fax registration, dial (313) 462-4372. Schoolcraft is on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile Roads in Livonia.

KAREN MEIER

When it gets scary,
just give a whistle

I'm rather beside myself today, and it's kind of obvious. I've been biting my lip, chewing my nails, watching the clock hands move. And for days I've been careful not to walk under any ladders. Or break any mirrors. Or spill any salt. Or step on Sparky, our black cat.

I'm trying hard to keep my good luck chart in perfect order. I'm even working on a few extra credit points. I'm going to need all the luck I can muster. After all, I haven't flown in 14 years.

And that's going to change real soon. I'm going on an airplane. And not just me. All of us. From the baby to the 12-year-old, and none of them has ever even been on an airplane.

We're going to celebrate a 50th wedding anniversary. An extraordinary 50th wedding anniversary. Actually, any 50th wedding anniversary is extraordinary. And worth every bit of hubbub surrounding it. That love abides in their Massachusetts home after half a century is what is drawing my aunt and uncle's extended family together. That feat deserves the sacrifice of my fear and our dollars. What Uncle Bob and Aunt Margret have is rare and beautiful and inspiring and definitely worth hubbub and plane trips.

Knowing that doesn't stop me from worrying over everything about the pending flight, though. From the big serious worries to the small serious worries. Like the way my family will resemble a duck family, with Mom and Dad duck paddling through the airport, followed by their five ducklings. And going through the jet

Teacher introduces

North met South for a brief period when a group of Brazosport, Texas, High School students decided to visit the Detroit area and specifically their teacher's hometown of Plymouth.

Orchestra students at Brazosport High School in Freeport, Texas, could choose to travel anywhere in the United States for their student trip. But they chose Plymouth, the hometown of their teacher, Jane Lindamood.

"We had a choice to go anywhere, but we thought we'd like to go to Detroit," said Tabitha Kirkland, a violin/viola player. "It would cost a lot more to go somewhere else."

The students' whirlwind trip June 7-10 took them to Greenfield Village, Greektown, Windsor, and a Detroit Symphony Orchestra concert. After the DSO show, the students rubbed elbows with the professional musicians and had their pictures taken in the first chair of their respective instruments.

On June 9, a few of the students performed during the worship service at St. Alexander's Church in Farmington.

The one thing that fascinated the students was the opportunity to go to a foreign country.

"One regret they had was they didn't bring a container for what they kiddingly called 'foreign water' from Lake Erie," said Lindamood's mother, Ann, with a laugh.

The kids were equally as fascinated with the sharp grass that grew in the Lindamoods' backyard.

"It's hard; it stabs your feet," said Sommer Lamkins, who had been playing backyard sports games before diving into a barbecue, prepared by Ann and husband Benton.

At Brazosport High School, it's tradition that the ensemble takes a recreational trip out of state every four years, Lindamood explained.

We applaud anyone determined to experience all the joys life has to offer. So to keep right on doing so, take a minute and look at the questions in this ad. If they give you some concern, we can give you some help.

Are you at risk of a heart attack?

- Exercise: Can you exercise for 15 or 20 minutes without shortness of breath or chest pain?
- Work: Do you have a stressful job? People in demanding jobs like clerical or data entry work with little control have higher risk as those in less stressful jobs.
- Blood Pressure: Does your blood pressure stay above 140/90? You may have high blood pressure, a major risk for heart disease.
- Body Fat Distribution: If you're a woman, are you "pear" or "apple" shaped? Women who carry their extra weight around the waist rather than hips may have a higher risk for heart disease.

Like to live life to its fullest? Here's how to start.

Oakwood Healthcare System is committed to helping you have a healthier lifestyle. Just call us at 1-800-543-WELL and we'll send you a complimentary Heart Risk Appraisal. Good spacing of handwriting suggests order in life.

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

Dear Ms. Green, As a child I began to write backward with my left hand. I understand Leonardo Da Vinci and Michelangelo did the same thing. I never really considered myself an artistic person; I can't draw at all. But I do have good taste in choosing clothes and interior design. Thank you for analyzing my handwriting.

A.I.,
Bloomfield Hills

Klara Roman, in her book "Handwriting: A Key to Personality," says "The fact that mirror writing is the natural mode of the left-hander is a well known fact." I would be interested to hear from other left-handed writers regarding this ability.

The writer's combination of good spacing and legibility suggest system and order in her life. Organizational skills are evident. First, she plans and then she implements the planning.

Our writer is also mentally mature. She likes to concentrate on one thing at a time and dislikes distracting influences while working. She reasons with logic as well as intuition. She has a bias for unbelieved facts.

She is both self-disciplined and goal-oriented. Her willpower cannot be missed. She knows how to cut through the extraneous and get right down to the essentials.

When there is work to be done, she will get it done in a productive manner. A strong sense of duty does not permit her to rest and relax until it is done and done well.

This woman has been exposed to culture and refinement. Reading, while providing pleasure for her, can also afford her some time to be alone, which I believe she needs.

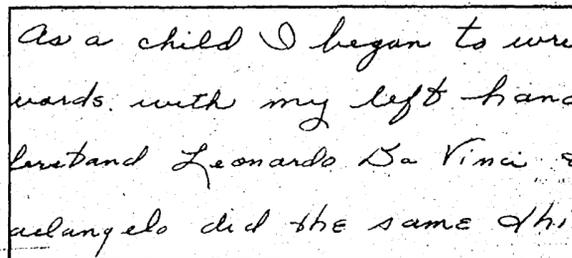

This is an observant person. Little escapes her watchful eyes. Each and every detail is an important part of the picture. Relationships with others are enjoyable but somewhat guarded. She often maintains distance between herself and others. Friendships do not come easily. Although she may wish to make closer relationships, she may find it difficult to bridge the emotional gap.

Possibly, she is more at ease with things she can control than with people who are often unpredictable. Crowds can be unsettling.

She is easily offended by real or imagined criticism of a personal nature. Her feelings are easily hurt. This probably began at an early age and may still dictate her responses.

At times, the writer's self-esteem appears to fluctuate. She seems to perceive herself differently in various situations or times. In addition, it seems possible she is experiencing some guilt feelings. The person represented by the surname in her signature seems to loom large in her estimation.

It is good to see some humor in this handwriting. It can play an important role in putting perspective into one's life.

If you would like your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please write a few paragraphs about yourself, using a full sheet of white, unlined paper and writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful.

way, stepping across into the plane itself, and feeling at that moment like I do when the bar snaps in place on the roller coaster at Cedar Point. There's no turning back. This is it. Have faith.

And I worry about those G-forces pushing me back into the seat as the plane taxis down the runway. And I worry about how hard I'll be squeezing the children's hands as the plane lifts itself off the earth. I'm going to have to struggle mightily to remain calm and in control. For their sake. That would be hideous of me to let on my true feelings.

I'm sure everything will be just fine. I'm sure of it. I am. Really. Oh, you think I'm whistling in the dark now, don't you? Well, maybe I am. Whistling in the dark isn't so bad. Neither's singing or talking real loud.

When I was young, I'd whistle in the dark for silly reasons, like a bogeyman living in the attic. Now, I reserve whistling in the dark for big stuff, like airplane rides.

Back when I was silly, I'd whistle to let my family know I was OK as I fed the parakeet in his cage upstairs which stood right by the doorway leading to the bogeyman-infested attic. I told my family that in the event my whistling stopped, they should immediately come upstairs because something horrible would have happened. So whistle I did. For all I was worth. And sing. Loudly. And after Woodstock was fed, I'd come bumping and crashing down the stairs, startled by some last minute awful thought, making a heck of a racket.

"What's your problem?" Beth, my much wiser and older and calmer sister, would snap.

"Shoelace problems," I'd sigh. Then she'd cluck her tongue at me and tell.

Well, fine. Go ahead and tell on me. But just think, how many times did my plan work? My whistle plan? Every single time. Not a once did the system fail. A bogeyman never got me. My parakeet and I were never harmed. Well, that's not quite true. Woody was harmed once. Actually, it was quite a bit more than harmed.

The cat accidentally got past the door leading to the upstairs and the next thing we knew we heard a clattery crash of a bird cage being upset. And then there were scuffling sounds. Presently, the cat ran down the stairs and ran right past the rest of us in the family room, and something greenish and feathery stuck out of his little cat mouth.

We managed to rescue the poor little bird that time. He was never quite the same after that, though. His singing and noise-making became noticeably diminished. And then one day, the bird and the cat met up again. And, well, it was all very sad.

But if that little bird had just been noisier at that last meeting, then when the noise suddenly stopped someone would have come to his rescue. But he wasn't singing or whistling or making noise to begin with. So there was no things-are-too-quiet warning.

So you see, singing, whistling, making a racket in the dark is smart and a good safety rule.

So I'll keep whistling, keep avoiding ladders and loose-topped salt shakers and the like for the next few days. And I'll keep saying, "Everything will be all right." It's worked before.

And off we'll all go, on a wing and a prayer.

Disney World in Orlando, Fla. "The idea of the trip is to reward the students who put the time and effort into the orchestra program," said Lindamood, a 28-year-old 1986 Canton High School graduate. "Even though it's not the same as going to Disney World, they decided this would be something fun to do. "And there was enough to do to make it an interesting and worthwhile trip."

Lindamood, who earned a bachelor's degree in music from Western Michigan University, has been a music teacher at Brazosport and Freeport Intermediate Schools since 1993. Because the orchestra classes begin in intermediate school and continue through the high school, Lindamood potentially can have students for seven consecutive years.

During her tenure at the schools, Lindamood has gotten to know her students and thought it was only fair to let them meet her family in Plymouth.

So for four years, the students raised the money for the trip in traditional ways like selling candy. Lindamood even lent money to a financially strapped student, so she could come along. Marissa Diaz plans on working off her debt by helping to put the orchestra library together during the summer.

Lindamood said that planning the trip was difficult because a lot of tour companies don't consider 10 people a "true group." To save money, Lindamood contacted friends of the family to serve as hosts for the students. She came up with four host families, including her parents who took in three of the students.

"We decided that staying with host families was a good way (to go)," Lindamood said. "Families from the Plymouth and Farmington areas graciously agreed to host those of us who came."

With their children living away from home, Joe and Pat Hanish of Farmington Hills were looking forward to having teen-agers around the house again.

"We thought it would be a great opportunity for these kids to get to see this area," Hanish said. "This is what they needed."

The Hanishes provided the students with their most valuable souvenir, according to Lindamood's mother.

"They all took back what they thought was the great thing - Vernors," Ann said.

Kaleidoscopes

IT'S ALL DONE WITH MIRRORS OF IMAGINATION

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

"Fireworks Captured," Michigan's largest exhibition of kaleidoscopes June 22 to July 7 at Chameleon Galleries LTD in Plymouth will be bigger and better than last year with more than 180 scopes hand-crafted by 20 of the country's top artists. This is a popular show for collectors from the Pacific Northwest to East Coast. During the second annual exhibit last summer, half of the 100 scopes sold on the first day.

"We're going to have everything from rings to hand held and pedestal kaleidoscopes," said Denni Englehart, gallery co-owner.

Englehart and gallery manager Nancy Tilly recently acquired the latest works at the Brewster Society convention in Corning, New York. An organization of kaleidoscope artists and collectors, the Brewster Society was founded by Cozy Baker, the leading authority on the colorful contraptions with a collection of more than 500 antique and contemporary scopes. Baker is the author of four books on the subject including "Kaleidorama," a handy companion brimming with information ranging from history to how to make a scope. Baker will make special appearances in the gallery June 22-23 to sign her books. In addition on Saturday, Kay Winkler will teach an all-day workshop during which participants will make a kaleidoscope. The cost is $150 and includes all supplies. The session is limited to eight students so call the gallery for reservations (313) 455-0445. Sunday, Dean Ashby will teach a kaleidoscope decorative soldering class limited to 15

Cost: $85.

When it comes to contemporary kaleidoscopes, variety is the name of the game. Exterior cases range from wood and brass to blown and stained glass. Some are also encrusted with jewels.

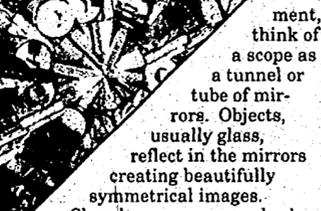

"We'll have Jeffrey Balter's prototype of a planet, when activated by sound, the images inside look like lightning. We also ordered a scope in the shape of a torch to commemorate the Olympic games in Atlanta. J. Phil Coghill created a limited edition of 26 of the all glass torches in red, white and blue," said Nancy Tilly.

Sterling silver rings and pendants by Dean Krause allows wearers to enjoy the exciting and mesmerizing images of a kaleidoscope anywhere they go. Best known for his wearable art jewelry, Krause finds inspiration in the rain forests and ancient cultures of the Mayan and Olmec people in Central America where he frequently travels. He will be available at the gallery on Saturday to answer any questions about his work.

Discovered in 1816 by Sir David Brewster, a Scottish inventor, philosopher, writer and scientist, kaleidoscopes are the ultimate art form because they not only contain color and light, but motion.

When you peer into the tube of a scope, brilliant colors form changing patterns reminiscent of stars, flowers and stained glass. For a layman's understanding of the instrument, think of a scope as a tunnel or tube of mirrors. Objects, usually glass, reflect in the mirrors creating beautifully symmetrical images.

Chamber scopes may also be filled with objects like jewels, seashells, flame-worked glass, and beads or with liquids like oil and floating objects that produce a drifting effect. The invention of new materials has brought about innovations in the art. Scopes using dichroic glass, a technological discovery made by the space industry, create an iridescence reminiscent of dragonfly wings. Metallic oxides give the glass its glow.

An egret scope by Bob and Sue Rioux was crafted from an array of glasses including dichroic. Glass artists since 1976, the Riouxes create scopes from traditional to one-of-a-kind and limited editions using a myriad of mirror configurations in a Kennebunkport, Maine studio. Their work is in the collection of Queen Nor of Jordan.

Kaleidoscopes originally peaked in popularity during the Victorian era when a mania for the instrument spread worldwide. A resurgence of interest among collectors and gift givers occurred after Cozy Baker presented the first exhibition of scopes in 1985 in Washington, D.C. By 1988, the Smithsonian Institution had sponsored a three year touring exhibit with stops in 18 U.S. and Canadian cities.

"Kaleidoscopes make great gifts. The exterior is as aesthetically beautiful as the inside," said Tilly, who's given many of David Kalish's wedding scopes as gifts to newlyweds. A marriage of two scopes in one, each side reflects a different image. According to Kalish, the scope is a "metaphor for marriage or any relationship. It demonstrates that two people can view the same subject at the same time while each perceives a uniquely different vision."

"Scopes are great stress breakers for executives, to sit on a desk or at home," said Tilly. A handsome man's scope by Michael Miron and Lisa Krueger has components of computer chips and watch parts floating in glycerin.

Prices for exhibited scopes range from $80 to $2,000.

An exhibit at the Cranbrook Institute of Science takes a new look at some old garbage.

Part high-tech wizardry, part found art, EarthQuest opened Saturday and continues through Sunday, Sept. 15. Its colorful characters and interactive displays are designed for children but are sure to keep adults occupied as well.

EarthQuest's message is that changing what we do with our trash can save resources, clean up the planet and improve the quality of life. Those changes are summed up in its motto: Reduce, reuse, recycle.

"It's a visual barrage," Mark Pasco, of Cranbrook public relations, said of EarthQuest. When kids step into the exhibit "their eyes light up," Pasco added.

"I'm having a great time every time I come down here with a reporter or someone."

Mechanized talking characters are triggered by motion sensors. Video screens pose questions to test visitors' environmental savvy. A television features a video showing the environmental ugliness caused by pollutants and mountains of trash. And panels on the recycling of aluminum, steel, scrap metal, plastic and paper include the goods that can be made from recyclables.

EarthQuest visitors are greeted by the robot J.D., a junkyard dog and exhibit guide who seeks help in battling Toxicus, "the monster of waste" lurking in a nine-foot-high pile of garbage. Toxicus feeds on what people throw away, and visitors must use three powers — reduce, reuse and recycle — to defeat him as they tour EarthQuest's six zones.

Five of the zones represent areas in which we can make changes to improve the environment: home, neighborhood, transportation, shopping and recycling. In the sixth, the End Zone, pieces of two-sided puzzles can be put together to show Earth as clean and cared-for or as a huge garbage dump — or as something in between.

In the Neighborhood Zone, visitors can spot reusable and recyclable trash in see-through garbage cans and trash bags. Kids can try on vests lined with trash — a day's worth (four pounds) or a week's worth (28 pounds). The vests are a runaway favorite with kids, said Millicent Worrell, also of Cranbrook's public relations office.

In the Home Zone, light-up displays show how much water can be saved by using low-flow showerheads and toilets. The Transportation Zone has videos on vehicles powered with petroleum alternatives.

In the Shopping Zone, video screens show the environmental pros and cons of consumer goods as their bar codes are scanned in the checkout line. For every bad choice — such as a single piece of fruit grown with pesticides and wrapped in a plastic bag, or eggs in a plastic foam carton — there is a "green" alternative.

Some displays are housed in structures built with castoffs — old clothing, empty plastic bottles and the cases of discarded car batteries. The work of Tyree Guyton, who builds junk sculptures and decorates houses on Detroit's lower east side with other people's garbage, comes to mind.

Museum-goers can rest on sturdy plastic park benches fashioned from recycled car parts.

"Every piece here they've saved from just being dumped in a crater in the earth," Pasco said.

EarthLab is an EarthQuest bonus. Here, students can watch worms as they turn compost (mostly shredded newspapers) into rich soil, look at a map of contaminated sites in the Detroit area and watch puppet shows with a cast of animals that live in rainforests.

In conjunction with EarthQuest, a number of special programs are planned at Cranbrook, including a composting class, an art workshop and a concert by a folk musician who will sing about recycling, conservation and the appreciation of nature.

EarthQuest is sponsored nationally by the Ford Motor Co., Hertz and IBM. There are also a number of local sponsors.

Dave Matthews' bass player graduates road 'college'

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Most college students' undergraduate years involve meeting new friends, going to class, studying, getting a fake ID and gabbing until dawn in a 12-by-12 dorm room.

Stefan Lessard earned his "degree" in a non-traditional fashion. The 22-year-old spent his formative years as the bass player for the Dave Matthews Band. Instead of sitting in a lecture hall with a couple hundred people, Lessard showed up to 15,000 people a night a thing or two about fluid funky bass playing.

"For the first four years, I took it very much like school," said Lessard who joined the band at age 16. "I really had to learn from everybody. I feel as if I had gone to school for the past four years and graduated. Now I'm going to let loose and relax for awhile."

"Next year I'll start thinking about 'graduate school.'"

Lessard's diplomas are four platinum albums, each signifying one million sales of the Dave Matthews Band's debut studio album "Under The Table and Dreaming" (RCA), which

'I feel as if I had gone to school for the past four years and graduated.'

Stefan Lessard

spawned the Grammy-nominated single "What Would You Say." The band's latest album "Crash" (RCA) is poised to be just as successful. The first single "Too Much" has inundated the radio airwaves and the video is on heavy rotation at MTV. The song, Lessard said, is representative of the aggressive nature of the album that integrates some electric guitar from Tim Reynolds, who also appeared on the live album "Remember Two Things" (1993) and "Under The Table and Dreaming."

"I think that's just our direction now. We're a lot more rougher now, not rougher as in mean. We're a lot more aggressive when it comes to what we play. We're more confident of this band working together. ... It's a reflection of us - the dark sides of us and the light sides of us. It feels like it's more of a rounded out album."

Matthews credits producer Steve Lillywhite (U2, Talking Heads, Rolling Stones) with the relaxed, yet adventurous attitude in the studio. Lessard said that watching Lillywhite and Matthews work together on the songs was like watching an artist at work.

"Half of the things (Matthews) does in the first part (of recording) he's not really singing lyrics. He's just singing phrases that fit well with the melody that he hears in his head. From his phrasing, words start to appear. Steve would take all those bits and pieces that weren't really words and help Dave pick his brain."

"What we do from there is we grab from the different areas of music - this part would sound good with this part. As a group that's when we really start to fine-tune the song. When Dave plays guitar, it's like he's making a sculpture from there."

The Dave Matthews Band formed in 1991 with Matthews, saxophonist LeRoi Moore, Lessard, and drummer Carter Beauford with violinist Boyd Tinsley jumping on board later that year. Lessard said his parents were pretty relaxed about his teenage obsession.

"At first they definitely had the parental concerns of who I was hanging out with - 30, 20-year-old crazy young people - and what I was doing, going into bars and things like that. They were pretty loose about it, though. Both of them are musicians, but I had a couple of all-nighters that didn't go by quite as coolly as I thought."

Lessard should be soaking in his parents' advice. Lessard takes another class in adulthood in August when he and his wife, who married Wednesday, Feb. 7, in New York, are expecting their first child in August.

"In a way it makes me really want to get the whole touring thing worked out. Boyd has a child, too, so we're trying to plan future tours where we have a baby bus."

The Dave Matthews Band, The Freddy Jones Band and Ben Harper perform a sold-out show at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 22, at Pine Knob Music Theatre, 1-75 and Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. For more information, call (810) 377-0100.

MC5's Kramer reunites on stage with John Sinclair

Former MC5 member Wayne Kramer is promising that his show on Saturday, June 22, at Alvin's in Detroit will be the "cultural event of the summer."

The show will mark the first time that Kramer and John Sinclair have performed together since the days of the MC5.

"We've been friends and we've hung out and we've done things together over the years, but we haven't worked together or performed. We'll tear the roof of the place," said Kramer via telephone from Kansas City.

Kramer, who lives in Los Angeles, said that the show came together by happenstance. Kramer was looking for an opening band, and John Sinclair and the Blues Scholars were looking for a gig at Alvin's. Sinclair was founder of the White Panther Party and manager of the MC5. He is now a poet and musician living in New Orleans.

Tickets for Kramer's 18 and older show are $8 in advance at Ticketmaster. Alvin's is located at 5756 Cass Ave., Detroit. For more information, call (313) 832-2355.

• Last year, one of the most hotly reported stories in Canadian music was the "break up" of the pop band Sloan. Ironically, according to vocalist/guitarist Jay Ferguson the band never did "officially" break up.

"We thought we probably wouldn't continue to do the same stuff," Ferguson said. "We really didn't do much else besides what we had to do. We didn't announce to the press that we were breaking up because if we didn't we'd have to defend ourselves. So we really didn't say anything."

On Friday, Sloan will be joined by Screaming Trees, Girls Against Boys, Seaweed, Jale, Rusty, 7-Year Bitch, Triple Fast Action, 3 Lb. Thrill, and Elephant Ear. The show begins at 10 p.m. at the Phoenix Plaza, 10 Water St., Pontiac. Tickets are $8.90 for the all-ages show. For more information, call (810) 335-4850.

• Besides CIMX, the album rock station WRIF (101.1) is also celebrating a birthday. In honor of its 25th anniversary, the band has invited Peter Wolf, The Verve Pipe, Stabbing Westward and Charm Farm to play the State Theatre in Detroit on Friday, June 22.

THEATER

Clever musical well-done

"A Story Two Sing" 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays to June 29, Players Guild of Dearborn, 21730 Madison (near the southeast corner of Monroe and Outer Drive). Tickets $10, call (313) 561-TKTS.

VICTORIA DIAZ

Talent is simply bustin' out all over the stage at the Players Guild of Dearborn, with their current, world-premiere production, "A Story Two Sing."

The cleverly-titled show is an original musical composed by Dearborn's Paul Bruce, who also directs the production and provides keyboard accompaniment. In it, two authors — Brian and Susan — must collaborate on a novel, in order to save their financially-failing publisher. Neither is very pleased with the idea. In fact, they are repelled at the very thought. Not surprisingly, Brian opts for a lusty, seagoing story with action and high adventure; Susan insists on a sensitive romance, Southern-style.

Kirk and Sue Krekeler of Livonia play the strong-minded writers. Perhaps Paul Bruce could have found two people somewhere in our solar system who were more perfectly suited for these roles, but it's hard to imagine who they might have been. The husband-and-wife team don't just brim over with musical and acting talents as individuals, they play off each other like the notes of a delightful duet. She's a spirited, touching heroine. He's so charming, it's alarming.

Lisa Salazar, playing alternately a housewife, a Southern belle, a barefoot wench, and a princess, possesses a subtly-luminous stage presence and an utterly knock-out voice that will win your heart. Her rendition of Bruce's moving "Pages in a Book of Love" provides one of those moments that make you absolutely fall in love with community theater and all of its marvelous possibilities.

As a fast-talking editor, a swashbuckling buccaneer, and an old-fashioned Southern gent, Tim Meade is an all-around treat. Though he might not physically meet what's in your mind's eye for any of these roles, it ultimately doesn't matter one little bit. His musical talents (plus an engaging, theatrical aplomb) make him seem just about right for whatever he does here.

Other real pluses: All the four-person cast works consistently well, not only as individual performers, but as a team. Also, each player remembers not only that they are singing notes, but words, too. In a musical that runs nearly two-and-a-half hours, and features over 30 numbers, I could count on one hand the off-notes or the garbled words I detected from start to finish. (One imagines the cast backstage after the final curtain, in a state of physical exhaustion. Not only their talent is impressive here, but their staying power, too.)

Musical highlights (in addition to the aforementioned "Pages") include the clever intro number, "Gotta Be a Monday Morning," the bawdy "Lust If We Must" done by Kirk Krekeler and Tim Meade, and the sweet-sad "As Long As I Don't have to Cry," performed by the entire cast.

Costumes by Annette Hissong of Westland are imaginative and numerous. Perhaps, in fact, too many costumes are involved here, with too many necessary changes. Sometimes, performers come onstage looking inappropriately disheveled. Other times, the costumes appear poorly-fitted. A pink satin affair worn by Salazar looks so large that its awkward fit creates a distracting image.

Lighting and design by Steve Gautreau is inventive and nicely-executed. Backdrop gobos project a ship's rigging, a storm at sea, a fanciful willow tree, and more, as highly-effective complements to a number of scenes.

As is, especially on a muggy summer's night, the musical seems a bit lengthy, and some of its tunes overly-similar. Editing in this direction would probably sharpen the appeal of this already well-wrought production.

Jim Carrey's 'Cable Guy' delivers nervous laughs

JOHN MONAGHAN

TICKETS PLEASE
It worked for Charlie Chaplin, eventually for Woody Allen, and not well at all for Bill Murray. Call it the "Tears of a Clown Syndrome" the time in every comic actor's life where he begs to be taken seriously. Jim Carrey's got it in "The Cable Guy," which wants to be both poignant and hilarious and is too rarely either.

In a not-so-clever turn on the "Fatal Attraction" scenario, Carrey plays a lonely cable installer who leeches onto Matthew Broderick's young professional, a guy who has just broken up with his girlfriend. The friendship starts out harmlessly enough with a trip to the satellite dish.

Then things start to get weird. Of the 11 messages Broderick finds on his answering machine, eight are from the cable guy. "Just blow drying my hair, thought you might have been trying to call," one says. Soon Broderick finds all aspects of his life invaded.

There are funny moments in "The Cable Guy," especially when the new friends go to a medieval-themed restaurant. Of course they end up in the jousting ring, engaging in the classic Spock-Kirk battle to the death from an old "Star Trek" episode, complete with Carrey mimicking the music.

What makes this different from Carrey's other outings is actor/director Ben Stiller, who has set himself up as a sort of conscience for Generation X. He proved with this and his earlier

Cable guy: Jim Carrey (left) the Cable Guy, taunts a jailed and helpless Steven Kovacs (Matthew Broderick) in "The Cable Guy."

"Reality Bites" that he can deliver laughs in his comedies, but he wants them to be nervous ones. Here he gives himself cameo parts as twins in a televised murder case involving former child stars that has the country wrapped up like OJ. The idea is funny (especially plugs for Eric Roberts in the inevitable TV movie), but the forced soul-searching only makes Stiller a tedious filmmaker and shallow philosopher.

Then again, you wonder how much of Stiller's treatment made it on screen with the temperamental Carrey around. Horror stories from the set of the second "Ace Ventura" movie prove that the $20 million-per-picture comedian is hell on directors.

Take the scene in the men's room of a swanky restaurant where Carrey beats up a scummy guy that's trying to move in on his friend's girlfriend. Stiller has made us dislike the victim, but when Carrey goes to work, we get only the bullying side of his humor. After while we wish he'd just leave the poor guy alone. Broderick makes a decent straight man, though I still have trouble taking him seriously as an adult. Only occasionally does he hit on his fascination with the cable guy, who arrives like a messenger out of nowhere and sometimes offers good advice, even if it is from yesterday's Jerry Springer.

The ultimate message in "Cable Guy?" That Carrey's character (he calls himself Chip Douglas after "My Three Sons") is the nightmare product of neglectful parents who set him, in front of the television set, Carrey's climactic cry of "kill the babysitter" comes off hypocritical from an actor who represents the lowest form of screen comedy.

John Monaghan welcomes your calls and comments. To leave him a voice mail message, dial (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, mailbox 1866.

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

BIRMINGHAM THEATRE
211 South Woodward, Birmingham. Call (810) 644-FILM for information. ($6.50; $4.25 matinee; $4.25 seniors/children under 12)

• "Mission: Impossible" (USA -1996). Tom Cruise and Jon Voigt play super-secret agents involved in a deadly hunt for a missing computer disk in this big-screen version of the sixties TV show. Directed by Brian DePalma.

• "Last Summer in the Hamptons" (USA -1996). Nancy Jaglom ("Eating") directs Victoria Foyt, Viveca Lindfors, Ruddy McDowall, and Martha Plimpton in a celebration of love, art, and family surrounding a matrilineal and her three-generation theatrical clan. Today is the last night.

• "Jane Eyre" (Britain -1996). Charlotte Gainsbourg takes on the role of Emily Bronte's Victorian heroine, an orphaned girl who falls in love with the mysterious Mr. Rochester (William Hurt). Directed by Franco Zeffirelli, still best known for his classy Shakespeare adaptations. Ends Thursday.

DETROIT SCIENCE CENTER
5020 John R. at Warren, Detroit. Call (313) 577-8400 for information and showtimes.

(Free with museum admission. $6.50; $4.00 seniors/students)
• "Titanica." An Omnimax sensation that takes you inside the gulleys and across sunken decks of the world's most famous shipwreck. Also showing: "Destiny in Space," which shows how humans will live in space in the not-too-distant future.

DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS
5000 Woodward, Detroit, 7 p.m. Monday, June 24.
• "Cinema Canada" - Canadian consulate invites metro Detroiters to a free screening of "The Champagne Safari," the biography of an eccentric, driven and disgraced industrialist which garnered a Genie Award, Canada's equivalent of the Oscar, for best feature-length documentary.

MICHIGAN THEATRE
22920 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (810) 544-3080 for information. ($2)

• "Birds in the Hall Brain Candy" (USA -1996). 9 p.m. June 26. The first feature film from the Canadian comedy troupe is five times funnier than a whole season of "Saturday Night Live." Have an anti-depressant drug unlocks your happiest moment, but with a horrible side effect.

MICHIGAN ART THEATRE
183 N. Main Street at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 542-0180

for information and showtimes. (Britain -1996). Through June 27 (call for showtimes). See Main Art Theatre listing above.
• "Cold Comfort Farm" (Britain -1996). In this wicked comedy from director John Schlesinger, a sophisticated young Englishwoman in the 1930s suddenly finds herself orphaned and with no fortune.

• "Welcome to the Dollhouse" (USA -1996). Middle school can be hell for teenager Dawn Weiner, who dreams of popularity and revenge against the beautiful people around her. Todd Solondz' debut film is notable for its honesty, but it's also an uneven piece of work more horrifying than funny.

• "Moll Flanders" (USA -1996). Daniel Defoe's classic novel about a woman born on the day her mother was hung. Starring Robin Wright, Morgan Freeman, and Stockard Channing.

MICHIGAN THEATRE
606 Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call (313) 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students/seniors)

• "Spike and Mike's Festival of Animation 1995." Through June 22 (call for showtimes). A must if you didn't catch it last year: eleven short animated films, including "Denny Goes Air Surfing," "Sleepy Guy," "The Monk and the Fish," and Nick Park's Oscar-winning "The Wrong Trousers."

• "Cold Comfort Farm"

(USA -1996). Through June 27 (call for showtimes). See Main Art Theatre listing above.
STATE THEATRE
2115 Woodward, Detroit. Call (313) 961-5450 for information. ($1)

• " Fargo " (USA -1996). 9 p.m. June 24. The latest from the writer/director team of Joel and Ethan Coen, about a bizarre murder in the Minnesota snowbelt. Less successful than the brothers' previous works, but it does boast a knockout performance from Frances McDormand as an unflappable sheriff.

UNITED ARTISTS OAKLAND MALL
14 Mile at John R, Madison Heights. Call (810) 585-7041. ($6; $3.50 before 6 p.m.)

• "Cemetery Man" (Italy -1995). Rupert Everett plays a gravedigger more at home with zombies than human beings in this ultra-gory horror comedy based on an Italian comic strip. Hopefully not too much will get lost in this dubbed film, complete with 3-D effects.

• "Mystery Science Theatre 3000 The Movie" (USA -1996). The big-screen version of the cable TV phenomena about a guy and two robots who provide a running commentary during really bad movies. The turkey this time: "This Island Earth," a 1954 space opera whose alien villains sport huge brains and lobster claws. Starts Friday.

Construction begins on new Star Theatre

Star Theatres broke ground June 12 for their new "flagship" 20-screen theater and entertainment complex on the lot of the Galleria Offcenter at 12 Mile Road and Northwestern Highway in Southfield. Work has already begun on the Star Southfield Entertainment Complex scheduled to open in Spring of 1997. The 180,000-square-foot building will be anchored by a 20-screen Star Theatre with 6,000 seats and will include several large, high-quality themed restaurants and entertainment-related retail stores. When completed it will be Michigan's largest theater complex. The Star Southfield Entertainment Complex represents the final phase of the 75 acre Galleria Offcenter development.

Radio show celebrates legendary Bill Kennedy

Tune in WDTR FM (90.9) 7 a.m. or 12:30 p.m. Thursday, June 27 to celebrate Bill Kennedy's 88th birthday.

Radio host Tom Wilson of the "Somewhere in Time" Radio Show, spent several days poolside in Palm Beach with the legendary Kennedy who hosted the popular TV show - "Bill Kennedy at the Movies." The knowledge he shared on his show came from lots of experience in Hollywood of the 1940s. Having 60 movies, a TV series, his own movie, and a variety of show biz jobs to his credit, Kennedy has lots of stories to tell.

On the June 27 show, he will share some of his memories. Kennedy always performed his own stunts and recalled a scene in which he was required to fight a vicious dog. After several bites, and three takes later, Kennedy quit.

His most memorable part was that of the executioner of Ingrid Bergman as Joan D'Arc.

Kennedy and his neighbor, Donald Trump, have joined forces to fight the arrogance of airlines flying over their homes and ruining the ambiance of Palm Beach. If you'd like to send Bill Kennedy a birthday card, send it to: Bill Kennedy, 140 Kings Road, Palm Beach, Florida, 33480.

Lark celebrates anniversary with many couples

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

June is a popular month to become engaged, or married, and lots of couples will be celebrating at The Lark.

Jim Lark, who owns the restaurant with his wife Mary, a well-known artist, told me about a woman who said the Lark was special because that's where her husband proposed. She added - "but doesn't everybody get engaged at the Lark." It was one of the nicest compliments he ever received.

Whether you're celebrating a special occasion, or just out for dinner, Jim and Mary want you to feel at ease in their award-winning restaurant modeled after Southern European inns. The atmosphere is relaxed, yet elegant. Original artwork decorates the interior, which features tiled and carpeted floors, and terra cotta walls with Portuguese tile murals. There are lots of fresh flowers everywhere. Cars whiz by on Farmington Road, but all is quiet and serene at The Lark. For awhile you'll forget you're in the heart of West Bloomfield. Gardens, trees and ponds shelter Canadian geese and other wildlife.

"We opened one side with glass doors to an enclosed garden to help create the ambience of an inn," explained Jim Lark. "Our vision hasn't changed in the 15 years we've been open. We're always looking for ways to improve. Our cuisine is always evolving. We've only had three chefs since we opened, and each one has been better than the one before. We let him do what he wants, just as long as he does it

The Lark
Address: 6430 Farmington Road, (north of Maple Road), West Bloomfield, (810) 661-4466.
Hours: Fixed-price and ala carte dinners from 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Closed Sunday and Monday, except for theme dinners on the last Monday and Tuesday of each month. Will be closed for summer vacation Sunday, June 30 to Tuesday, July 9.
Reservations: Required.
Menu: Eclectic and distinctive with French cooking techniques.
Prices: Four course fixed price dinners $50 to $57.50 excluding dessert. Major credit cards accepted, (except Discover).
Highlights: Award-winning country inn, walled garden viewed through the dining room windows.

right, and the best."

Marcus Haight, Chef de Cuisine, joined the Lark in 1986. Prior to joining the Lark he was dinner chef at Gallic Le Bec Fin of Georges Perrier in Philadelphia. He uses only the finest ingredients in his kitchen - garden fresh herbs, extra virgin olive oil, and Guernsey Farms Dairy products to name a few.

Deciding what to order is always a challenge at the Lark. The menu changes throughout the year to reflect the seasons. Dinner begins with cold appetizers, followed by a choice of soup, pasta, or hot appetizer of the day, Italian ice, "for a refreshing interlude," and main course with accompaniments.

Choices include: Atlantic

Salmon with Garden Sorrel, Dry Vermouth & Garlic, Roast Main Lobster with Sherry-Vinegar and Oregano Hollandaise, Black Angus Sirloin Strip Steak with Crisp Onions & Pinot Noir Sauce. Look for veal medallions and White Sturgeon with lemon caper & dill sauce on the new July menu.

"My mother said, 'you can only get out of your head what you put into it,'" said Jim Lark. We travel a lot to search out food ideas and recipes, they become the source of our monthly theme dinners. We also send Marcus to France. It has been, and still is, the source of the best cooking."

The Lark is hosting a Wood-Grilled Brazilian Barbecue Dinner 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, July 29-30. The cost is $75 per person, not including tax or gratuity. Champagne and Mango Granite Cocktail and coffee are served with dinner, other beverages are extra. Call for reservations, the last date for cancellation without charge is July 22.

"Our most memorable meal in Brazil, and the most enjoyable in Portugal on several occasions was at Churrascarias, specialty barbecue restaurants whose splendid feasts put even the best barbecue of our west and south to shame," writes Jim Lark in his monthly newsletter sent to customers.

"Your waiter will present each barbecued offering on a sword-like skewer and slice off as much as you wish. In Brazil, the waiter tries to sneak up on patrons deep in conversation and refill their plates before they know he's there. You get the picture;

Celebrating anniversary: Many couples pop the question or celebrate their anniversary at The Lark, and Jim and Mary Lark are happily celebrating an anniversary too - their 15th in business.

it's a crazy evening which seems perfect to take full advantage of our outdoor grill."

Latin rhythms will be provided by Heidi Hepler and Michele Ramo. The menu features wood-grilled country sausage, giant shrimp, barbecued baby spareribs, leg of lamb, and beef tenderloin, Brazilian rice, black beans with garnishes, banana, Brazil Nut, Caramel & Chocolate bombe, Coconut Ice Cream, Chocolate Sauce, and assorted chocolates.

Reservations are a must at the Lark, which seats 45 to 49 people at eight tables and three booths in the main dining room, and two booths in the cafe (bar). Guys, don't wait until the day of your anniversary to call - it might be too late!

"If you want dinner on a certain night, don't delay," said Jim Lark. "You'll know you have your reservation. For a party of two on a Saturday night you should make your reservation five to six weeks in advance."

Plan on reserving at least a week ahead for dinner on a weeknight. And if something should come up and you can't come, call to cancel as soon as possible.

Beloit signs Culloty

• Ryan Culloty, a first-team All-Observer defensive end from Livonia Stevenson, will play football this fall for Beloit (Wis.) College.

The 6-foot-3, 195-pound Culloty made 66 tackles and had five sacks last fall as the Spartans finished 7-3 and reached the state Class AA playoffs.

He also made All-Western Lakes first-team and is a National Honor Society student who graduated Cum Laude.

Culloty will be the second Livonia native to play for the Buccaneers in the 1990s. Jeff Gray, a Dearborn Divine Child graduate, was an all-conference defensive tackle and four-year letterman.

"Ryan Culloty is an outstanding football player and from a terrific high school football area," Beloit coach Ed DeGeorge said. "We are very excited to have him join us. We expect Ryan to battle for a starting defensive end position in his very first year with us."

Beloit finished 1995 ranked No. 19 in the final NCAA Division III poll after finishing 8-1 overall, tied for first in the Midwest Conference North Division championship where the Bucs have finished first or second eight straight years.

• Livonian Jen Turbiak (Stevenson) was recently selected Most Improved Player on the Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame (Ind.) women's basketball team. Turbiak, who will be a senior this fall, was presented the award at the team's athletic banquet last month.

Crusader spikers win

The Crusader AAU 14-and-under girls volleyball club won the Michigan Junior Volleyball Association championship last weekend in Grand Rapids at the new USA Volleyball Warehouse with a 15-10, 5-15, 15-11 victory over Genesee.

Coached by Lee Cagle, Crusader AAU eliminated Lakeshore Red (14-16, 15-12, 15-8) and Chelsea (15-12, 15-7).

In the Club Division (Pool G), Crusader defeated Lansing Area Volleyball Association Flyers, Adrian Area to advance in Pool BB where they defeated UUSL-North (15-6, 14-16, 15-13), SOVA-AK (11-15, 15-11, 15-13) and Lakeshore-Black (15-6, 15-3).

Members of the Crusader Juniors, who will travel to Iowa for the nationals next week, include Alexis Bowman, Andrea Kmet, Kristin Kmet and Tera Morrill, Livonia Emerson Middle School; Desiree Betts, Redford St. Robert's; Jillian Dombrowski, Pioneer Middle School (Plymouth); Angie Germain and Angela Hundley, Central Middle School (Plymouth); Bree Pastalanec, East Middle School (Plymouth); Amanda Suder, West Middle School (Plymouth); Janel Hasse and Meredith Hasse, Northville Meads Mill.

Other teammates include Lisa Baker of Lowell Middle School and Kristin Leszczynski of Frost Middle School, both of Livonia.

Meteors win division

The Livonia Y Meteors, a under-14 boys soccer team, recently finished first in their Little Caesars Premier League Division, outscoring their opponents, 32-9.

Members of the Meteors, coached by Ed Broderick and assisted by Gary Bewersdorf, include: Grant Bewersdorf, Jason Broderick, David Campbell, Bradley Carroll, Brian Druchniak, Jason Evans, Martin Kennedy, Peter Lin, Shaun Murray, Adam Vincintini, Aaron Vlk and Nicholas Ziobron, all of Livonia; Devin Hopper and Eric Nadeau, both of Northville.

Jansen names assistants

New Madonna University women's basketball coach Marylou Jansen has named her assistant coaching staff for the 1996-97 season.

Jennifer Dempster, 27, a Rochester High and Oakland University grad, and Andrea Fron, 31, a Dearborn Divine Child and Ferris State product, will comprise the new staff.

Dempster played four years at OU where she was member of the Pioneers' 1990 NCAA Division II final four team. She was an All-America in both 1991 and 1992. She was also an All-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference pick three straight seasons and an All-Academic GLIAC pick in 1992.

Her coaching experience includes one year of freshman basketball at Birmingham Marian, one year head softball coach at Divine Child; three years JV softball at Rochester.

Fron played four seasons at Ferris where she was team captain in 1984 and '86. She was also an Academic All-GLIAC choice in '85. Fron has been an assistant varsity basketball coach nine years at Marian.

Junior golfers place

Several area golfers earn top 10 finishes in their respective divisions at the Junior Classic sponsored by Oldmobile Scramble Monday at Atlas Valley Country Club in Flint.

Dave Higham (Livonia) tied for sixth with a 79 in the Boys 16 and up division, while Kelly Kristy (Livonia) took seventh with a 99 in the Girls 16 and up.

Katie McDonald (Livonia) was sixth with a 120 in the Girls 14-15, while Heidi Aittima (Livonia) shot a 120 to place second in the Girls 13 and under.

Boys' All-Stars strut their stuff

It was an entertaining night of soccer action at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park as retired coaches Pete Scerri (Livonia Stevenson) and Ken Johnson (Plymouth Salem) renewed their rivalry.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

There was a twinkle in the eye of former Observerland coaching stalwarts Pete Scerri (Livonia Stevenson) and Ken Johnson (Plymouth Salem), who renewed acquaintances once again during Saturday's inaugural Michigan High School All-Star Boys Soccer Game held at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Between them, the two retirees have won six state championships and had five runner-up finishes.

Johnson, who led the Rocks to the 1995 boys title, made the trek all the way from Ormond Beach, Fla. (just north of Daytona) and his Red Team didn't disappoint, scoring a 4-2 win in an entertaining match featuring many of the state's top seniors.

And life couldn't be much better for the former Salem coach, who led the Rocks to the 1995 Class A boys crown and then headed for the sunshine state (last March) after putting in 30 years as an electrical maintenance leader at Detroit Diesel.

"I'm gardening, riding a bike and swim in the ocean every day," Johnson said. "I'm up at 6 and riding my trail bike. I can feel the ocean breeze. I've gone from 174 pounds to 153. I bought a satellite dish, I watch all the sports. My wife and I just love it. It's something we've always wanted to do."

Johnson, a native of Middlesbrough, England, began working as a 14-year-old at Imperial Chemical, Inc. before moving to Calgary, Alberta to live with his sister and take a job with the Canadian Pacific Airway. He eventually moved her to work at Diesel and began coaching an under-11 club team back in 1975.

"The club was looking for a coach and I saw it in the Observer," Johnson said. "That's how I got started in all of this."

The only boys and girls coach Salem ever had, Johnson led the boys to one state title and a pair of runner-up finishes. His girls took one title and finished second in another.

"I may coach down there (Florida) if my time allows for it," Johnson said. "I've checked things out, but it would be a younger group."

Scerri, who retired from Ford Motor Co. after 33 years as a claims inspector, moved two years ago to San Marcos, Calif. (near San Diego) to be closer to his son.

He also enjoys the warm weather and ventures occasionally to nearby Chula Vista to check out the U.S. National Team's training complex.

But the 67-year-old Scerri, who is just completing three months of chemotherapy after a bout with cancer, was happy to back on the sidelines, but only for one game.

"There's no pressure in a game like this," said Scerri, who guided the Blue Team. "You miss it because it gets in your blood. But when you're old you don't miss it that much."

Scerri had the opportunity to coach Steve Williford, the skillful All-State midfielder who is headed to Michigan State. Scerri coached his older brother Derek, who went on to star at Oakland University.

"That Willy's a player," Scerri said. "These kids are a lot better since I left, just by the passing and from the way they possess the ball. I've seen lots of soccer in California and the only thing we don't have here are the leaders who can push."

Some of Johnson's Red members certainly made their mark, including Canton goalkeeper George Tomasso, who made several acrobatic saves to keep his team in front, 3-2, after one half.

"I was just having fun," said Tomasso, who is headed for Eastern Michigan. "We're just playing. There was only a few kids I haven't played against."

Tomasso was the member of the under-18 Michigan Wolves, which recently captured the State Cup and is headed to the Regional this weekend in Lexington, Ky. He will be joined by fellow All-Stars Drew Drummond and Matt Simmons of Salem, Williford and a pair of defenders headed for the University of Kentucky, Scott Sersen of Stevenson and Todd Stonestreet of Canton.

Drummond's goal, coming off a counter attack at 32:05 of the second half, sealed the victory for the Red Team.

Jason DeJorge (Western Michigan Christian), Damian Nicey (Kalamazoo Hackett) and Jeff Urbats (Stevenson) scored first-half goals for the winners.

University of Detroit-bound Matt Quinter, who suffered a bloody nose in a collision with Blue keeper Brian Baczynski (Salem) in the first half, contributed two assists and praise from Johnson.

"If I had an MVP, he would have been it," the retired Salem coach said. "What a tough player."

The Red team received first-half goals from Hackett's William Purdy (9:46) and Salem's Ronnie Mashni (35:00). Midway through the second half the Red rang a shot off the crossbar, but the Blue came back on Drummond's counter, which proved to be the game-winner.

Overall, it was a good start to what the soccer coaches feel will be an annual affair.

"Hopefully we can keep this going," said Stevenson coach Walt Barrett, who replaced Scerri as the Spartans' coach in 1989. "It was a nice night to play, too."

Girls get high marks in inaugural

Gene Fogel, one of the long-time voices on WJR AM-760 in Detroit, wishes he could have given more publicity to Saturday's Michigan High School All-Star Soccer Game.

But with golf's U.S. Open being held at the same time only miles away at Birmingham's Oakland Hills Country Club, that's easier said to friends than reported on the airwaves.

"When you can talk to a high school all-stater or a Corey Pavin or Jack Nicklaus, who are you going to talk to?" Fogel said, almost apologetically.

The first-ever boys and girls games, virtually ignored by every media outlet in town, gave fans their last glimpse of some of the best high school seniors in the state.

Fogel happened to be one of the few media present as coach of the Navy Team, which lost to the White, 2-1, under perfect weather conditions at Plymouth Canton Centennial Education Park.

Fogel formerly coached at Farmington Hills Mercy from 1983-88. His counterpart on the White Team's bench was Cathy Cole-Kansman, the former Farmington and North Farmington girls and boys coach from 83-88.

Cole-Kansman plays for Fogel on the 30-over Shooting Stars women's team that won a national title in 1995 and was runner-up in '94.

"The talent level since I coached has improved a hundred fold," Fogel said. "I attribute it to the youth leagues, premier leagues, that get kids playing at a young age."

Both Fogel and Cole-Kansman said they were honored to coach the first all-star game.

"When I think about how many coaches I put as mentors and role models, I'm totally honored," said Cole-Kansman, who broke out in laughter when she added, "They must not have been available."

The state's Miss Soccer, Amber Berendowsky of Brighton, scored the game-winning goal for the White with 2:19 left. Berendowsky, stopped a couple minutes earlier on a breakaway by Plymouth Canton goalkeeper Sarah Warnke, didn't waste her second opportunity.

"Sarah Lawton (Birmingham Marian) carried it down, the defender went to her and she crossed it," Berendowsky said. "It was just me and the goalie (Warnke) and I just touched it in."

Berendowsky hopes this was the last time she has to play against Livonia Churchill's Marie Spaccarotella, Plymouth Salem's Mari Hoff and Troy Athens' Emily Schmidt, who were members of the Navy Team.

The four all will play together at the University of Michigan. "We'll have a great team next year. I can't wait to start," Berendowsky said.

Along with Berendowsky, Hoff's opponents on the White Team included Salem teammates Julie Buczek and Andrea Sudek.

Buczek is continuing her career at Michigan State University and Sudek will play at Kalamazoo College, where she won't see this kind of competition.

"I had to mark Emily (Schmidt), Marie and Mari - it was rough," said Sudek, a tired victor.

The Navy's Amber Wiersmen of Holland Christian opened the scoring, converting a penalty kick at 4:58 of the second half. The White's Laura Montecillo of Troy Athens tied the score with a goal assisted by Marian's Meghan Kolbe at the 22:00 mark.

Hoff compared the game to those she's played in the Olympic Development Program. There were more adjustments to make, however, since there was no practice prior to the game.

"You don't know how fast they are, what they're going to do," Hoff said. "You just guess."

The game was fun for most, painful for Dearborn Edsel Ford's Heather Nelson, who had to apply an ice pack to her nose after being hit by an errant ball.

"I'm trying for the hockey player look," Nelson joked with her teammates on the bench.

"I had my right ankle taped all year," she said. "I injured my left ankle during the game."

Warnke will attend Wayne State University on a basketball scholarship but says she hasn't played her last soccer game.

"I love it too much not to play it anymore," Warnke said.

1996 ALL-AREA GIRLS GOLF TEAM

Class A qualifiers lead prep parade

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

In Observerland, there are two leagues that feature girls golf: the Western Lakes Activities Association and the Catholic League.

It's a testament to teams from this area that both were dominated by Observer-area squads.

In the Catholic League, Farmington Hills Mercy gained the first-ever official conference championship. A league tournament has been conducted every year for the past five - and Mercy has won all five - but this was the first season there were enough schools competing for it to be a sanctioned league sport.

The league medalist was Laura Kowalski from Livonia Ladywood with an 89.

In the WLAA title meet, Livonia Stevenson simply blew away the competition, winning the championship by 50 strokes to complete an unbeaten season.

The medalist for the WLAA was Katie Collins of Plymouth Salem, who carded an 84.

So there was no lack of choices to fill the spots on this season's all-Observer team.

Coach of the year honors were also up for grabs. Vicky Kowalski of Mercy not only took the Marlins to the Catholic League title, but also guided them to the state meet for the third time in four years.

John Wagner of Livonia Stevenson also had some solid credentials, what with the Spartans' lopsided win at the WLAA final and their qualifying for the Class A tournament, too.

In the end, however, the honor went to Kowalski. Mercy went on to finish ninth at state, even with a lack of seniors (just two in the top six players).

Among the seven chosen to represent the Observer area, only three are seniors - which means we'll be hearing a lot more about those that remain.

FIRST TEAM

Laura Kowalski, Ladywood, senior: Selection to the All-Observer team is hardly anything new to Kowalski.

"This marks the third-straight year she's been chosen to the first team. A four-year letterwinner at Ladywood and team captain, she certainly earned her way with a stroke average this season of 44.

Besides gaining medalist honors at the Catholic League Tournament, Kowalski was individual medalist at the Pinckney Invitational with an 82 and placed third at the Class A regional at Sylvan Glens. At the state final at Forest Akers in East Lansing, Kowalski shot a 98.

"During the 1996 season, Laura earned a place as one of Ladywood's finest players of all time," said coach Phil Heyer. "Laura's 44 scoring average led the team for the second year in a row.

Laura also leads in the classroom with a 4.1 GPA, ranking fourth in her class.

Kowalski is headed to Florida State University in the fall, where she will be part of the golf team.

Andrea Khoury, Stevenson, senior: Much of what the Spartans accomplished this year could be attributed to Khoury, a senior co-captain.

She was a team leader, both on the course and in the clubhouse. A four-year letterwinner, Khoury posted a 91 at the WLAA tournament to earn all-conference honors, shot a 93 at the Class A regional at Brighton's Huron Meadows, and earned medalist honors with a 92 at the Monroe Jefferson Invitational. She had five nine-hole scores under 45.

"Andrea Khoury has contributed her skills to our team for four years as a varsity standout," said Stevenson coach John Wagner. "Her fiery spirit and determination have been a part of our team that we will sincerely miss.

"Andrea has helped and influenced our new team members with a positive, never-say-quit attitude."

Emily Blischoff, Churchill, senior: Blischoff was another senior who contributed mightily to making her team even better.

A co-captain, Blischoff had a 49.7 stroke average and fired a 92 at the WLAA Tournament, placing sixth and earning all-division honors.

Her other top performances were at the Class A regional (104) and the Monroe Jefferson Invitational (108).

"Emily really committed herself to golf this year," said her coach, Sharon Laskowski. "She set some high goals, worked hard on her short game and it paid off.

"She was a real delight to coach. She was our No. 1 player all year and will be missed."

Katie Murinas, Salem, junior: Murinas was one-half of a powerful one-two punch for the Rocks.

Her numbers were perhaps the best in the area. Murinas posted the best score of anyone in this area at the Class A final with a 90, missing the state cut for individuals by two strokes.

Her nine-hole average was an equally-impressive 45.7, which was a clear indication of her greatest strength: her consistency. Murinas was third at the WLAA with an 87, earning all-WLAA honors; she was third in the Class A regional with an 85; and she teamed with Katie Collins to card a 79 in winning the Pinckney Best Ball Tournament.

"Katie has a passion for the game and is truly a student of the game of golf," said Rick Wilson, her coach at Salem. "In a relatively short career, Katie has achieved much in high school golf."

Katie Collins, Salem, junior: Perhaps the worst day of the past season came and has the short game to complement. Katie will return as a senior and will be considered one of the top players in the state.

Kelly Kristy, Stevenson, junior: What made Stevenson so powerful this season was exceptional talent throughout its lineup. Kristy was at the top of that scale.

She led the Spartans by earning medalist honors in eight of 10 dual matches and never really faltered. She was medalist at the Stevenson HS Invitational, was second at the Monroe Jefferson Invitational, was on the all-tournament team at the Traverse City Invitational with a season-best round of 80, earned all-division honors at the WLAA Tournament, finished fourth at the Class A regional with a 90, and finished the season with a nine-hole average of 45.7.

"Kelly led our team to the most successful season in Stevenson High School history," said her coach, John Wagner. "Her athletic and mental abilities have matured to a level of excellence.

"Kelly has the work ethic that will allow her to continue her growth as an individual with superior skill. Her love for the game is every coach's dream."

Jennifer Borowiec, Mercy, freshman: Borowiec is a vision of the future, in terms of golf in the Observerland area.

She set a Mercy record for freshman by shooting 42 for nine holes, at Sycamore Hills vs. Mount Clemens Lutheran North. This at the school that produced LPGA standout Meg Mallon.

Borowiec was second at the Catholic League Tournament with a 93, averaged 45 for Catholic League duals (47 overall), shot 93 at the regional at Sylvan

BOOTING UP A CV JOINT

Constant velocity (CV) joints are flexible joints used in front-wheel-drive (FWD) automobiles to permit smooth application of power to the wheels. In the event that a FWD car should display clicking noises coming from the front of the car during turns, it may be due to a worn outboard CV joint. Each side of the CV has an inner and outer joint, both of which are covered by protective seals known as "boots." If there are no unusual noises coming from the front of the car and there is no shudder or vibration, but the boot is torn, only the boot needs replacing. If this bit of maintenance is performed immediately, it can prevent the destruction of the CV joint and its costly replacement. For this reason, it is a good idea to make sure that the CV joint boots are inspected every time the car is lubricated.

CV joints can be expensive to replace which is why it's a good idea to check the boots around them during routine service checks to make sure they aren't punctured. At HOLIDAY CHEVROLET INC., we are your one-stop full-service facility, where you get value for your dollar. We also keep a large top-quality parts inventory to save you time waiting for a repair. "Your Today and Tomorrow Dealer"

HINT: A properly adjusted boot (over the CV joint) will stretch in accordance with changes in axle length as the car goes over bumps, or else the boot will be subject to tearing.

For Women Only Challenge benefits breast cancer fund

There'll be no shortage of inspiration for competitors in Ann Arbor's 14th Annual For Women Only Challenge 5-kilometer Run at 8 a.m., Sunday June 23.

The large field in Gallup Park will include many breast cancer survivors, among them

Anne Spencer, 62, of Plymouth, and Valerie Stowe, 54, of Madison Heights. The race benefits the Breast Cancer Fund, a public-trust foundation dedicated to research, education, advocacy, and patient support.

The run also honors an outstanding woman athlete each year. The 1996 honoree is world-class runner Ann Boyd of Ann Arbor.

A veteran of four national teams, Boyd has competed in the world half-marathon championships and World Cup Marathon. She competed in the U.S. Olympic Marathon trials in February and has represented the U.S. in Japan, Spain, Norway and China.

Boyd coaches the Dexter High School boys' cross country team and is assistant coach for the boys' track team. A dedicated officer with U.S.A. Track and Field, she holds weekly track workouts for women runners and speaks to students and community groups.

The race also will benefit the Allyson Mann Scholarship Fund, honoring the late 1993 graduate of Pioneer High School and former all-state runner.

"Many women from the area are running in memory of someone they've lost to breast cancer," said race director Pat Bauer. Among them will be Suzanne Boyle and her mother, Eugenia Singer of Livonia.

The 5K run will include mother/daughter and open teams. There will also be a 5K race walk, and a USATF state championship. Also on tap is a 5K fitness walk. For Girls Only events include a quarter-mile on the Huron High School track for girls 6-and-under; a half-mile for girls 9 and under; a mile for girls 12 and under; and a 5K for girls 19 and under to be run with the 5K adult run. Glen to place seventh, and shot a two-day total of 98-94/192 at the state finals, the best score for a freshman.

She was also good enough to earn medalist honors for Mercy in seven of eight dual meets.

"Jennifer is very dedicated to the game of golf and to the Mercy team," said her coach, Vicky Kowalski. "She will continue to work hard to improve individually and to help the team finish higher next year."

SUMMER BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Hines Park hurler nearly no-hits foe

Steve Hornsberger was just two outs away from a no-hitter, as Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury had to hold on for 5-4 victory over Little Caesars in a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League game June 14 at Ford Field.

Hornsberger, a lefty from Brighton and member of the Central Michigan University baseball team, held Caesars hitless for 6¹/₂ innings before Aaron Racey broke up the bid with a single.

Racey then advanced to second on a balk and Hornsberger proceeded to give up three straight singles to Aaron Babicz, Scott Carden and Aaron Cagnon, accounting for two runs.

Jason Schniers then greeted reliever Brian Reynolds with a two-run double, closing the gap to 5-4.

Reynolds, however, got the final out to preserve the victory.

Kevin Uzarski, the losing pitcher, gave up six hits, two walks and three balks in six innings. All five runs were unearned as Caesars committed three errors.

Stacy McCollum had a three-run double to spark a four-run fifth for Hines Park. Brian Kalczynski added two hits and an RBI. John Papp also added two hits.

On Sunday, first-place Hines Park improved to 11-0-1 by sweeping a pair of one-run games from Michigan Honig's, 7-6 and 6-5, at Ford Field.

Papp had two hits and two RBIs in the opener, while Kalczynski and Chance Beam also collected two hits apiece.

Chris Hesse, the starting pitcher, worked 5¹/₂ innings to pick up the victory. Mark Fleming went the final 1¹/₂ to earn the save.

In the nightcap, Hines Park rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull out the win.

Scott Barrett's RBI single tied it and McCollum came through with the game-winning RBI single.

Barrett and McCollum each finished with two hits.

Jerry Nozewski, who pitched the seventh, notched the win. Darric Terry started, working 4¹/₂ innings before giving way to Fleming.

Mitch Jabczynski, the winning pitcher, went six innings, allowing three runs (all unearned). He struck out five, walked one and allowed just four hits. Joe Fabris finished up.

Alex Wozniak, the first of three Caesars pitchers, allowed six runs on eight hits over four innings before giving way to Cotner and Brian Crumley.

In the nightcap, Caesars rallied for a pair of runs in the bottom of the eighth to beat Decision.

Uzarski and Jay Harrington opened the inning with singles and Racey brought Uzarski home with a single.

Decision reliever Jason Carter then intentionally walked Cagnon to load the bases, setting the stage for Carden, who ripped a shot between third and short, bringing home Harrington with the game-winning on a fielders choice.

Carden tied the game in the seventh, 2-2, when he scored on an error. That came after DCI had taken a 2-1 lead when DeShetler scored on a wild pitch.

Babicz and Racey each had two hits for the winners. Babicz had an RBI double in the fourth.

Pete Quinn collected two hits for DCI. Harrington, the winning pitcher, went all eight innings. He gave up just four hits and three walks. He struck out five.

Carter, who took over for Fabris in the fifth, suffered the loss.

Rams sweep Adray

Jason Mitchell hit his third home run of the season during the Michigan Rams' double-header sweep over Detroit Adray Appliance, 5-4 and 5-0, on Adray Metro Baseball Association action Sunday at Henry Ford Community College.

Mitchell, a 1994 Redford Union graduate who plays at Eastern Michigan University, went 2-for-3, including as solo homer, scored twice and stole a base in the nightcap.

Greg Rogers (Redford Catholic Central/Oakland University) was 1-4 with an RBI and a stolen base. Schuyler Doaks (Detroit DePorres/Jackson State) went 4-4 and stole three bases.

The Rams didn't need much offense with winning pitcher Jason Horn tossing a two-hit shutout with three strikeouts.

The Rams scored four runs in the fifth and one in the sixth to overtake Adray in the opener. Starting pitcher Brian Berryman (RU/University of Michigan) earned the victory, allowing four runs, three earned, with five strikeouts and five walks. Dave Susalla (Redford CC/University of Detroit-Mercy) earned the save in one inning of work.

Horn had a two-run single and Mark Lantzy and Doaks each had RBI singles for the Rams.

On Friday, the Rams lost to Birmingham Lynch, 3-1.

Starting pitcher Jake Lawson (Farmington Hills Harrison/Oakland) suffered the loss despite allowing only one earned run with three strikeouts and five walks in 5¹/₂ innings.

Horn pitched the remaining 1¹/₂ innings without allowing a run.

Lynch, a collection of mostly former college and minor league players, scored three runs in the first inning on a walk, error and three singles.

Mitchell, hitting .660, hit a solo homer in the sixth for the Rams' only run.

Former Taylor Center standout and minor league player Bill Kostich was the winning pitcher.

Lynch's Jim Solak (Redford/Madonna) had a two-run single in the first inning.

LBC wins twice in Mantle loop

The Livonia Baseball Club notched a couple of wins last week in the Little Caesars Baseball Federation's Mickey Mantle (Closed Division), improving to 3-2 on the season.

On Friday, LBC defeated host South Farmington at Founder's Park, 14-0, as Steve Anderson (Livonia Stevenson) got his first start of the season, pitching to the minimum number of batters in a no-hit five-inning mercy game.

He walked just two, but both runners were erased, one on a pick-off and the other on a double play.

Kirk Damas (Livonia Clarenceville) led the offensive attack, going 3-for-3 with a pair of doubles.

On Thursday, LBC downed Canton, 8-5, erasing a 4-0 deficit, exploding for five runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Chris Goins (Stevenson) hit a two-run single to tie it and Jon Marlin (Stevenson) followed with a two-run double to pull out the victory.

Reliever Brett Wojtyniak earned the victory.

No regrets for Big 10 ace Temple

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

It was fun while it lasted, but Mark Temple figures the run is done.

Temple recently completed a fine senior season and four-year career as a University of Michigan pitcher, being named to the All-Big Ten team and winning the Geoff Zahn Award.

But when he wasn't selected earlier this month in the Major League draft, Temple figured it was time to focus on other career choices.

"I was disappointed after the draft, because I thought I had chance. But I kinda prepared myself for it," said Temple of Farmington Hills and North Farmington High School.

"It's easy to leave after having the best year of my life. A lot of guys don't go out on their own terms. I think this is a good ending for me, knowing I pitched better this season than I ever have."

Temple came into his own this year as the team's No. 1 starter, posting a 6-1 record in the Big Ten regular season with a 2.72 earned run average, 19 strikeouts and four walks in a team-high 46¹/₃ innings.

He started the season 0-3 but then won seven straight before finishing 8-5 overall. In 70 total innings, his strikeout-to-walk ratio remained outstanding at 35 to 11. He also led the Wolverines in complete games with five.

"I always had high expectations of myself," Temple said. "I always felt I was as good as other guys, and this year I showed it."

Temple, who was co-recipient of the Zahn Award with John Arvai as the team's top pitcher, said the return of Zahn to coach the Wolverines this year was a plus for him.

HEALTH News

Cardinal Maida blesses new facility

Adam Cardinal Maida of the Archdiocese of Detroit last week blessed the new Mission Health facility in Livonia and expressed hope this would be a first step among Catholic healthcare organizations to establish a "wider partnership throughout southeastern Michigan, the state of Michigan, the country and even the world."

Maida was the featured guest at last week's formal dedication of the new 68,000-square-foot facility on the southwest corner of Newburgh and Levan roads in Livonia.

The center is a collaborative effort between Mercy Health Services and the Daughters of Charity National Health System Inc.

Mission Health is a community-based network of four hospitals: Providence in Southfield, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, McPherson in Howell and Saline Community in Saline.

"Caring for the whole person in the impetus behind the design of his facility," said Maida who called the new facility an exciting venture as health care reforms from focusing on "sickness to wellness."

Maida said eight years ago a call for collaboration among Catholic health organizations went out and "Mission Health is a response to that call."

Brian Connolly, president and chief executive officer of Mission Health Corp., described the collaboration as one in which mutual values which include respect, justice and advocacy for the poor are of prime importance.

Peter Karadjoff, administrator of the Livonia facility, marked the dedication by accepting special items placed in a time capsule. Items included a picture of the advisory board, chaired by Alberta Muzzin, a Livonia business owner; a copy of the June 13 Livonia Observer, a picture of the former Livonia Providence healthcare facility, a key to the city of Livonia presented by Mayor Jack Kirksey, copy of the strategic plan and a religious medal.

The brief ceremony included prayers by Sister Lucille Marie Beauchamp of the Daughters of Charity and chair of the Providence Hospital Community Board, Ruth Slasor, administrator of Providence Primary Care Physicians and Sister Yvonne Gellise, senior adviser to the president for governance of Mission Health Corp.

Special recognition was awarded to artist Georg Vihos, creator of "Transformation," a painting donated by physician Stanley H. Levy and his family in memory of his wife, Susanne Jackson Levy.

The central focus of the painting which hangs in the lobby of the new center is a butterfly which creates the reality that all things center themselves in a perfect relationship with the creator.

A sculpture, "Caring for Our Community," created by Frank Varga stands in front of the new center. Varga has created pieces at both Providence Hospital in Southfield and Providence Medical Center- Providence Park in Novi. The Livonia sculptures symbolize togetherness, a sense of community.

The new Mission Health facility which opened to the public in May provides a comprehensive range of services from community health education to diagnostic testing and treatment including cardiac diagnostic testing, diagnostic radiology, women's imaging, lab services and physical therapy.

The center also features a pharmacy. More than 70 primary care and specialty physicians will see patients in office. Urgent care services are available to adults and children 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. 365 days a year.

Leading the way to a healthier tomorrow. With your help.

Dear Friend:

Oakwood Healthcare System has recently completed the data gathering and planning phase of our transition process, which involved more than 400 people (including 147 physicians and dozens representing communities we serve) during the past six months. We are now moving ahead to ensure a healthier tomorrow for our patients/members and our organization as a whole.

Earlier this month, Oakwood's board adopted recommendations emerging from the process, and approved new strategies for the organization through the year 2000. You will hear more about these from us during the next several months.

Why do we feel new strategies are necessary?

Changes in healthcare are occurring in the Detroit area and in virtually every community in the United States. They are affecting every hospital and healthcare system nationwide. These changes include a decrease in inpatient volume, and increase in the demand for outpatient care and other non-acute services, the future decline of Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement, increased pressure from payers and purchasers to reduce costs and increase efficiencies, and managed-care reimbursement which sets fixed dollars per person and dictates a shift toward wellness.

We need to listen to our customers or we won't be in business long. And, we owe it to you and others to be as healthy and strong as possible — so we can meet and exceed your expectations for years to come.

Like any good business, we need to step up and make the adjustments necessary to meet our customers' long-term needs. Those adjustments will require large investments of time and money. However, we recognize our responsibility to make decisions — as difficult as they may be — keeping tightly focused on the best, long-term interests of all those we serve. We've set the strategies and, as customer demands dictate, we will make specific decisions on ways to follow them.

What will the changes achieve? They will ensure that you benefit from consistent, high-quality care across the Oakwood system; make it easier for you to access Oakwood services; make it easier, effective and more desirable for you to move out of the hospital and into the most appropriate non-hospital settings (such as being treated in doctors' offices or at home); promote wellness by increasing education on prevention; and replace unneeded hospital beds with a network of 24 outpatient centers.

You will learn more about these changes and how they will affect you and your family. In the meantime, a special toll-free phone line has been activated through September 30th to receive your questions and comments on this. Please call 1-800-861-4630 to offer a question or comment that can be considered by us in future communications with you. Also, please feel free to write to any of us with your ideas and thoughts at: A Healthier Tomorrow, Oakwood Healthcare System P.O. Box 2500, Dearborn, Michigan 48123-2500.

We are excited about these changes, and need your support and thoughts as we move forward.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Aird

Pulte's Forest Creek off to a good start

Pulte Homes of Michigan, the largest volume-builder in the state, has apparently hit a responsive cord with Forest Creek Estates in Westland.

"Buyers have snapped up nearly a third of the 123 lots and the model won't be finished until August.

"Typically, they're impressed with all the standards we include at base price, quality of the work," said Sean C. Strickler, sales representative. "The location is close to highways, malls - everything is easy access."

"It's a smaller community," said William Smith, project manager. "It has location, availability to major thoroughfares, affordable tax base. It's an affordable piece of real estate."

Four floor plans are available. The ranch, 1,506 square feet with three bedrooms and two baths, carries a base price of $164,990.

A 1,950-square-foot colonial with three bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths goes for $182,990; a 2,070-square-foot colonial with three bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths for $193,990; and a 2,270-square-foot colonial with four bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths for $198,990.

A fireplace, oven and dishwasher, first floor laundry, two-car garage and basement are included in the base price of all plans.

Air conditioning ($2,500) is extra.

The model under construction, the three-bedroom colonial, will showcase a family room with sloped ceiling, formal dining room, kitchen/eating nook with island and family room with sloped ceiling.

A staircase extends from the two-story foyer, a second staircase from the family room. A planter shelf will top off the hall closet in the foyer. A nine-foot ceiling in the kitchen will allow for a decorator shelf over cabinets.

Chair and crown moldings are standard.

The master with sloped ceiling will include a separate tub and shower, a dual sink vanity and walk-in closet.

Two bedrooms and a second full bath upstairs also will be upstairs. The Aspen carries a base price of $193,990.

Buyers can get a feeling for the Aspen by visiting Pulte's Lexington model at Glengarry Village in Canton. In fact, Forest Creek sales will be handled at that sales office off Canton Center Road south of Cherry Hill until the model is completed.

Visitors who drive through Forest Creek, off Joy Road between I-275 and Hix, will notice that the 39-acre sub is nearly surrounded by trees.

Exterior materials on houses include vinyl and brick.

Forest Creek is serviced by city water and sewers. It's within the boundaries of Livonia schools. There will be sidewalks.

"We're finding a lot of people within Westland moving, some Downriver people moving into this area," said Deen Hyde, marketing manager for Pulte.

All of the floor plans are selling well. "You get a lot of house for the money," Strickler said.

The property tax rate for Forest Creek is nearly $35 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owners of a $183,000 house there would pay about $3,200 the first year.

The annual association fee to maintain the entrance and common areas is $200 per house.

"We can take advantage of our buying power - our ability to buy in large volumes and negotiate national contracts - and pass that on to the customer," Smith said.

"We have pre-construction conferences where we discuss what to expect as we build the house," he said. "That helps eliminate questions, makes us more efficient. We double check to make sure everything is right."

Jeff and Dianne Williams, along with daughter, Meghan, will move into a ranch.

"We always wanted a new home. This is affordable," Jeff said. "Pulte is a high quality builder that has a good reputation."

"We liked the floor plan. It's wide open and spacious," he added.

"The whole house has cathedral ceiling except for two of the bedrooms. The great room opens to the dining room with an archway in between. The kitchen sink is built on an angled corner that faces the great room and dining room," Williams said.

Andrea and Dion Hogan and son, Drake, also will move into their first brand new house, a four bedroom colonial.

"I really like the double staircases, plus we wanted an extra bedroom for a den," Andrea said. "I love the island kitchen."

The subdivision, itself, also has a charm, she added.

"We liked the way it sets back from the road and kind of opens up. "We like trees all around the sub."

"Pulte is very reputable," Andrea Hogan said. "That made us confident as well."

The sales office for Forest Creek, (313) 453-1700, is based out of Glengarry Village in Canton and open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Burglar gives expert advice on house protection

By RON BROWNING
THE DAILY LEDGER, FISHERS

NOBLESVILLE - Floyd Poore says no house is safe from burglars.

He should know. The 47-year-old Tennessee native spent the better part of three decades breaking into houses and businesses.

He made a good living at it, too, because people made it easy for him, he said.

"I could make more doing that than working," Poore said, then grinning widely. "People make the mistake where they leave stuff out in the open. People do it to themselves."

Poore has been in prison since April 1983, serving time for burglary and theft convictions from five different counties, including Hamilton.

He is expected to be released from the Pendleton Reformatory in the year 2008.

Sitting in a conference room at the facility, tattoos cover the arms of the self-confessed career criminal.

Poore speaks in a slow, southern drawl as he recalls his past outside the prison walls.

He's robbed more houses than he can remember.

He would strike when his victims were most vulnerable when they were out shopping or away on vacation.

As temperatures increase, more people take vacations. That is when burglars go to work.

"More burglaries occur in the summer than any other season because more people are away from home," said Phil Bell, a home security expert.

Bell is vice president and general manager of SecurityLink from Ameritech, the country's second largest security monitoring company.

Burglaries increase 10 to 18 percent in the summer, Bell said.

Most thieves don't want to confront anybody, Bell said, so they wait until everyone is gone.

Poore would watch a house for a few days before making his move.

People are creatures of habit, Poore said. They wake up, leave home and return at the same times everyday.

"I'd watch you for about a week and get your pattern down," Poore said. "Then I'd hit you on your vulnerable day."

But Poore wouldn't break into a house unless he knew it was going to be worth his time.

His victims would let him know.

People love to show off their possessions, Poore said. But nice stereos, antiques and gun cases attract more than just innocent admiration.

"That's advertising," Poore said. "Somebody goes down the road and looks in the picture window and there it sets."

He never entered a house blindly, Poore said. He would target specific items before ever planning a burglary.

More often than not, someone familiar with the house would hire him to break in and steal a certain item. While inside, if something else caught his eye, he'd take it too.

It would take only 20 to 30 minutes to clean out a house, Poore said.

He never kept items he stole. That's an easy way to get caught, Poore said.

Like a wholesale distributor, Poore had regular customers who would buy the items he took. Guns are the easiest to sell, Poore said. But his biggest payday came in 1967 when he was hired to steal $180,000 worth of gold coins from a house.

Getting into a house was even easier than finding out what was inside, he said.

Locks, dogs and alarm systems couldn't keep him out. He could always find a way to get into even the most secure homes.

"I ain't seen the house yet that can't be burglarized," Poore said.

If a burglar wants to get into a house, they'll find a way, Bell said.

The trick is to make the burglar's job as hard as possible, Bell said.

Many home owners are turning to expensive security systems that include closed-circuit TV, motion detectors and glass-breakage detectors, Bell said.

But police say a few common sense safeguards can be as important as any state-of-the-art alarm system.

"Society, overall, makes it easy for people to steal because we're lazy," said Ken Whisman, a County Sheriff's Department sergeant. "We don't take precautions to protect our property."

Little things such as checking locks on doors and windows to make sure valuables are not out in the open are the first steps in thwarting burglars.

Engraving your name and Social Security number in valuable items like stereos and TVs deters burglars because it makes them harder to sell, Whisman said.

Being a good neighbor may be the best way to keep burglars out of your house, Noblesville Police Chief Dick Russell said.

"Know your neighbors and help each other out," Russell said. "If you see something suspicious in your neighborhood, report it."

Have a neighbor collect your mail and newspapers, even cut your grass, if you're on vacation, Russell said.

Neighbors were Poore's biggest enemy when he was breaking into a home.

"If you're going to leave the house, notify your neighbors, I don't care if you're just going to the store," Poore said.

Any house can be broken into, Poore said, but a perceptive neighbor can make it a lot harder.

Tips

Law-enforcement and security officials say residential burglaries increase during the summer because more people are on vacation. If you plan to be away from home for even a few days, they say you should:

- Notify your neighbors so that they can watch for any suspicious activity.

- Check the locks on your doors and windows. Install dead-bolts on your doors if they are not already there.

- Secure sliding doors with pins. Placing a board or bar in the track might not be effective because burglars may take the entire door off the track.

- Don't stop your mail or newspaper service because burglars will notice. Instead have someone pick those items up each day.

- If you plan to be gone longer than a week, have someone cut your grass while you are away.

- Don't leave a message on your voice mail or answering machine giving a specific time when you will return. While you are away, check your messages each day.

- Install timing devices that will turn on lights and stereos at a specific time each day. Have them come on at times you would normally turn on those appliances. Also, place a radio in a room that cannot be seen from outside the house.

Metal roofs add a unique touch, but require special maintenance

FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Metal roofing, while adding a unique or period touch to your home, often brings up questions regarding maintenance and installation. As far as painting goes, Terne (copper and tin plate), should be painted as soon after application as conditions will permit with a red iron-oxide, linseed-oil vehicle primer to prevent corrosion. This paint, which is brush-applied, is very slow drying with a 72-hour drying time. This is followed with a compatible linseed-oil finish coat.

In the old days, folks just used two coats of the red iron-oxide primer, which is the reason many of us picture old metal roofs as red. Today, the compatible finish is available in a variety of colors. Depending on environmental conditions, expect to repaint about every eight years.

Some of the metal shingles manufactured today are made from galvanized steel, the same way they were at the turn of the century. Like Terne, galvanized steel should be painted. This smooth, slick and shiny surface must be etched or roughened up before paint will adhere to it properly. Today, most of the major paint companies sell self-etching primers for use on new galvanized panels.

Terne-coated stainless steel (TCS) blends the best of yesterday and today: the durability and permanence of Terne make it a virtually maintenance-and-corrosion-free product. TCS is type 304 stainless steel that's coated on both sides with a Terne alloy that's 20 percent tin and 80 percent lead. It's considered self-healing because the Terne coating is anodic to the stainless steel.

In other words, if it is scratched, the Terne will act sacrificially to protect the base plate. Because of the way it resists corrosion, TCS is a good choice for severe marine or industrial climates. Under most conditions, its unpainted surface will weather to a warm gray.

Another self-healing alloy used in the manufacture of metal roofing is Galvalume, a sheet-metal product with an aluminum-zinc alloy coating. This material also requires no paint and, if left to its own devices, will weather and eventually look like dark zinc. It's also available in a variety of factory-finished colors.

Fortunately, installing metal shingles isn't much different from installing any other composite single roof. Any roofing contractor will be able to do it. So should any of you do-it-yourselfers who aren't afraid of heights and are willing to tackle a roofing job. Basically, most metal shingles interlock and are secured to the roof with two nails driven through a nailing flange.

Although installing a seamed metal roof is a bit more complicated, it can be done by a sophisticated do-it-yourselfer if it's a pretty straightforward job. A lot of the craftsmanship that is used to go into this type of installation has been replaced by machinery.

THE ENCLAVE

The Ponder: This rambling ranch has an unusual design that provides for special entertainment areas and lots of privacy. There is also an extensive deck area for outdoor living. See plan below.

Ponder designed for relaxing

The 2482-square-foot Ponder exhibits an unusual floor design that caters to those needing a proportionate amount of relaxation when the work day is done. If you like to have a good time entertaining family and friends, give the Ponder a good look.

An accessible ramp ushers your guests into a generous front foyer. Take a right turn, and you are in the family room/theater.

Set up the VCR or projector and there is plenty of room here for the whole gang to enjoy an evening of entertainment.

After the show, move over to the dining room, where the built-in buffet is waiting to appease the biggest appetites.

Following the trip through the buffet line, step through the sliding glass door and spend a relaxing hour in the Jacuzzi, or find a soft chair in the living room and take a little rest. The well-appointed master suite, isolated for privacy, features a large skylit sleeping area, access to the patio, a huge walk-in closet and bathroom with separate toilets and basins.

Immediately next to the master suite is a home office. Install a computer and monitor the household accounts, or finish up weekend work that you brought home.

The secondary bedrooms, on the opposite side of the house, are ideal for older children or can serve as accommodations for overnight visitors. A full bathroom is located in the hallway.

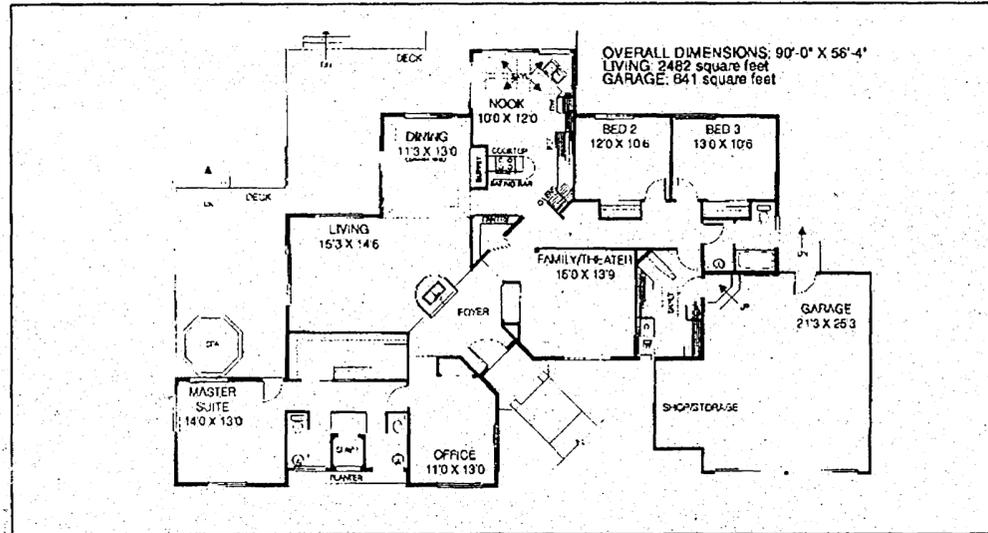

The walk-in kitchen, with a skylit breakfast nook extension, provides a bright atmosphere for casual meals. Other kitchen features include garden windows, pantry and double ovens.

Placed conveniently by the garage is a substantial utility room. There is a built-in ironing board and sink in addition to a wide skylight. Soiled clothes can be dropped off here before entering the house.

The two-car garage has an area set aside for a shop and extra storage. The hobbyist in the family can set up a full complement of tools and work without disturbing the rest of the household.

Proper insulation improves resale value

(NAPS)—One of the easiest ways to make your house more comfortable and increase its resale value is often the one that's most overlooked.

Know what it is? Here's a hint. It's the most preferred insulation on the market today.

It's fiber glass and contractors say it offers a wealth of energy efficient benefits. Whether you're remodeling a family area or building an addition, insulation can be the most important ingredient in making that room more comfortable. There's also a pay-back as it is relatively inexpensive and will improve your home's energy efficiency.

Maintaining proper insulation can also make your home more attractive to potential buyers. In fact, most buyers list energy-efficiency as a prime consideration. The reason?

When adding insulation, it's important to look at the attic, sidewalls and the crawlspaces in your floor or garage.

Here are a few suggestions:

■ First, use a ruler in your attic to measure the amount of insulation currently installed.

■ To check sidewalls press your hand on the wall. If it feels cold in the winter and hot in the summer, it may need more insulation.

■ Check under the floors and in unheated spaces. Finally, whether you are doing the work yourself or through a contractor, it pays to familiarize yourself with all the recommended R-values for your region and insulate accordingly.

New Home Construction and Remodeling, write North American Insulation Manufacturers Association, 44 Canal Center Plaza, Suite 310, Alexandria, VA 22314.

Copper plumbing designed to last for years

(NAPS)—Homeowners with copper plumbing correctly believe their piping is the one thing they never have to think about. Why? Because except for highly unusual circumstances — copper simply lasts for scores of years. Before you make a hasty decision based on what appears to be a lower installation fee, ask the following questions before you buy, build or remodel your own house.

- Does your plumbing material have long-term, proven performance?
- Can harmful substances penetrate its walls?

- Are the joints reliable? Will they withstand rapid pressure and temperature changes?
- Will it perform equally well in hot and cold weather? Is it easily thawed, if necessary?

- Does it resist punctures and abrasion and not embrittle with age?

- Can it inhibit the breeding of germs?

- Does it burn, or give off smoke or toxic fumes when exposed to fire?

- Does it have a low lifetime cost, with virtually no maintenance?

- Are other homeowners confident about it; will it increase the home's investment and resale value?

- Does it have widespread approval of building inspectors and engineers?

- Does it have inherent quality and value, or is it false economy?

Copper is the only plumbing material that can answer "yes" to all these questions. It is used in more than 85 percent of all U.S. homes. With its dependable lead-free solder connections, it requires no maintenance, because joint fittings don't break down or pull apart. Copper meets, or exceeds, building codes in all 50 states. It's governed by strict, long established standards and is permanently identified for home inspectors. It's a natural, environmentally friendly material, not a synthetic.

Plumbers know how to install and test it — year-round, through a wide range of temperatures. Since copper is rigid, it doesn't sag over long runs and requires few supports. It can handle extreme conditions; it will withstand more than 1,000 pounds of pressure, even though normal system pressure is about 50-80 pounds per square inch. And it can endure repeated freeze-thaw cycles...although, of course, no plumbing should be allowed to freeze.

For today's health conscious consumer, copper is almost the perfect material. It is impermeable and biostatic—contaminants cannot penetrate it, and it actually inhibits the growth of harmful bacteria.

Finally, the cost for copper quality and reliability is surprisingly low. An all-copper plumbing system costs about the same as other, less reliable materials. Any, usually minor, higher cost will be quickly eliminated when you find you don't have to keep calling the plumber to repair it. Moreover, and perhaps even more importantly, your local realtor will confirm that all copper systems add value when it comes time to sell your home.

In a study conducted for the Copper Development Association, the overwhelming majority of residential plumbing contractors throughout the country said they prefer copper. Nine out of ten said they have it in their own homes.

To learn more about copper, call the Copper Development Association at (800) 741-6823. And visit <http://pipin.copper.org>.

Staple gun handy for a variety of home repairs

BY READER'S DIGEST BOOKS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

With a staple gun, you can do a wide variety of home-repair jobs.

Safety First

Because it fires staples that can cause severe injuries, handle and store a staple gun with care. Keep the staple gun's handle locked with the safety catch when it's not in use. Never point a staple gun or fire one at anyone or anything other than the work at hand. And — very important — keep a staple gun out of the reach of children.

Types of Staple Guns

A hand staple gun drives staples into types of material, usually wood, with a squeeze of the handle. Available in lightweight or heavy-duty models, look for a gun that loads and operates easily. Some heavy-duty models have a variable power button that adjusts firing strength to requirements of the job, to accommodate staples of different sizes, and to reduce recoil and jamming. For heavy, time-consuming jobs, such as installing insulation or carpeting, consider renting an electric staple gun.

Staple Gun Use

A staple gun is easy to use. Grasp the handle and place the gun firmly against the material to be stapled. Disengage the safety lock and release your grip so the handle springs up. Then squeeze the handle down sharply to fire the staple. If possible, to eliminate recoil and increase firing strength, press down the head of the gun with the heel of your free hand.

Use a lightweight staple gun to replace or repair screening. To repair a screen that has pulled out its wood frame, staple the screen to the frame, folding a hem as you go. Double over the screen to make the fastening stronger and avoid unraveling. Another tip for stapling a screen mesh: place the staples at an angle to the mesh. The staple then has more material to grip and is more secure. Similarly, set staples going through fabric so that they are at an angle to the weave.

A staple gun can also be used to install insulation. Hold the insulation in place with one hand while firing the staple gun with the other.

Staple Removal

Some fastening jobs, such as stapling plastic sheets over a window, are meant to be temporary. Here's a way to make staple removal hassle-free: Slip a heavy-duty rubber band around the head of the staple gun. The rubber band acts as a spacer, leaving the staples sticking up slightly so that they are easy to take out. To remove staples, use either a pincer-type office staple remover or the lever type that looks like a can opener, which often comes with a staple gun kit. You can also use the rubber band trick to keep staples from cutting through very thin materials.

Wiring, Hammer Tacker

There are two other specialized tools that drive staples.

A quick, neat way to run phone and stereo wire is to staple it in place with a wiring tacker. It shoots staples that bridge the wire without damaging it. Many staple guns come with an attachment that turns them into a wiring tacker.

There's also a hammer tacker, which is handy if you are doing construction jobs that don't require great accuracy of placement, such as attaching roofing felt. To set a staple, you just swing the tacker and strike the surface with the tacker head as if you were using a hammer. The tacker makes it easier to work overhead and is kinder to arm muscles and hands.

Library gateway to AIDS info

EMORY DANIELS

An agency in the region has a special program to assist Michigan residents in learning to use Internet to tap the wealth of information available on AIDS and HIV.

The Detroit Community AIDS Library (DCAL) is working with Michigan State University's AIDS Education Project in East Lansing to accomplish this goal.

DCAL is a partnership of libraries and community-based organizations in Detroit formed to provide resources and outreach to HIV/AIDS affected persons. DCAL's home page on the World Wide Web, billed as the "Gateway to HIV/AIDS Information for Detroit and Southeastern Michigan," can be accessed at <http://www.libraries.wayne.edu/dcal/aids.html>.

The Website provides local news and announcements, information on public hearings, listings of national, Michigan and metro Detroit hotlines/helplines, a subject index to organizations, descriptions of organizations and support groups, a link to Local Libraries Resources (LUIS), and a link to HIV/AIDS Resources on the Internet arranged by subject and alphabetically, including a link to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention home page.

The Michigan statistics on HIV/AIDS are available online from the DCAL site. This is the complete quarterly report from the Surveillance Section of the Michigan Department of Community Health (formerly Michigan Department of Public Health). Also many of the community public libraries provide access to the Website from their home pages or will assist with locating HIV information using the DCAL site.

Michele Klein, medical librarian at Children's Hospital, saw a need to provide access to information for people affected by HIV and AIDS and came up with the idea of using medical libraries in collaboration with community-based organizations that serve persons with HIV or AIDS.

DCAL has made available resources from the Internet, AIDS databases from the National Library of Medicine, the Health Reference Center database, and catalogs of books, pamphlets, videos and journals.

DCAL's efforts are funded, in part, by an 18-month grant from the National Library of Medicine and in-kind donations from Children's Hospital and Shiffman Medial Library at Wayne State University.

Staff at the seven library and community organization sites in Detroit have been trained by DCAL in cultural competency, human sexuality, and social diversity. Each of the seven sites has a personal computer with monitor and printer, attached by modem to the National Library of Medicine AIDS databases and other HIV-related information files.

The library sites are at Children's Hospital of Michigan, Detroit Public Library, Harper Hospital, and WSU's Shiffman and the community organizations are Friends Alliance, Project Survival, and Community Health Awareness Group.

The DCAL home page was created in January 1995. E-mail inquiries may be sent to Linda Draper, the project's librarian coordinator, at LDRAPER@SHIFFMAN.MED.WAYNE.EDU, by snail mail to Detroit Community AIDS Library, 4325 Brush St., Detroit, Mich. 48201 or by phone at (313) 577-8943.

BUSINESS PEOPLE

This column highlights promotions, transfers, hirings and other key personnel moves within the suburban business community. Send a brief biographical summary, including the towns of residence and employment and a black-and-white photo, if desired, to: Business People, Observer Business Page, Observer Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Our fax number is (313) 591-7279.

Grace & Wild Digital Studios in Farmington Hills has added new staff members.

Carl Scott of Livonia has joined the teleproduction facility as graphics manager and facilitator. He has 11 years of experience in graphics and animation, including positions as animation director at Orbis Broadcast Group and The Film & Tape Works in Chicago. His responsibilities at Grace & Wild include coordinating projects that combine graphics with post production services and assisting in preparing project budgets for graphics and animation projects. He is a graduate of Heritage University's teleproduction program.

Shelley Wanshon of Canton Township has joined Grace & Wild as a billing clerk. She comes to the company from NBD Bank, where she served as a teller. In her new position, Wanshon prepares invoices and handles accounting duties.

Jeffrey Sielaff of Canton Township has joined Grace & Wild as a courier. Sielaff's responsibilities will include pick-up and delivery of film and video materials, as well as general assistance in Grace & Wild's shipping department. Sielaff is a recent graduate of the Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts.

Grace & Wild offers studio and remote production, film animation, film transfer, computer graphics and video editing to commercial, corporate and industrial clients.

John Matthews of Plymouth has been selected as the director of retail marketing for Clark Refining & Marketing Inc.

Matthews will be responsible for all retail marketing and promotional activities for Clark's 825 gasoline and On The Go convenience stores. He will be based at Clark's Retail Business Center in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

"John Matthews will be a great asset to the Clark marketing team here in Chicago," said John Hanner, vice president of operations. "His experience in executing successful marketing programs and promotions in the restaurant industry will be invaluable to Clark as we continue to expand our business and further develop our On The Go concept."

Matthews most recently served as national marketing director with Detroit-based Little Caesars Pizza, where he was responsible for all marketing activities for 850 restaurants nationwide.

Clark's Retail Business Center, which is responsible for the retail operations of more than 820 gasoline and On The Go convenience stores throughout the Midwest and Gulf Coast, is in Glen Ellyn, Ill. Clark also owns and operates two Illinois refineries, a Texas refinery and 16 distribution terminals.

Steven J. Gach has joined the hydrogeological team of Toltest Inc. in Plymouth as an engineer.

Gach is a certified underground storage tank professional and has eight years of experience in environmental assessment, engineering, consultation and project management.

Gach has conducted assessments for financial institutions and commercial, industrial and governmental clients.

Kathryn M. Brugman has joined the air quality team at Toltest Inc. in Plymouth as an environmental engineer.

Brugman has three years of experience in environmental consulting and specializes in assisting industrial and governmental clients to comply with requirements of the clean air act.

Toltest has provided consulting engineering services since 1927.

J. Michael Washburn, superintendent of Forest Hills Public Schools, recently was named 1996 "Superintendent of the Year" by the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

Washburn is a former superintendent of Garden City Public Schools and a former teacher, principal and associate superintendent of Wayne-Westland Public Schools.

Washburn holds bachelor's, master's, and specialist's degrees from Eastern Michigan University. He received a doctorate from Wayne State University and has completed post-doctoral work at the University of Colorado and the University of Northern Colorado.

The association cited Washburn for leadership, support of more equitable financing of schools, involvement of community members in Forest Hill schools and the educational program in Forest Hills.

Susan Martinico has joined the Amerisure Companies as human resource manager at Farmington Hills. She is responsible for overseeing staffing activities for the claims and policyholder services departments.

Martinico has 19 years of experience with St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Company where she served as human resource representative.

Martinico and her family live in Livonia.

The Amerisure Companies include Michigan Mutual Insurance Company, Amerisure Inc. and Amerisure Insurance Company. All the companies have headquarters in Southfield.

Denise Sigworth has been promoted to executive director of grants and research at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. The appointment, which is a newly created position, took effect June 1.

Sigworth, whose former title was director of grants and institutional research, came to Schoolcraft in 1985 after working at Wayne State University and Washtenaw Community College. As Schoolcraft's chief statistician, she and her staff are responsible for compiling data for state and federal reporting, for the Michigan Department of Education program evaluation, for new program development and future planning and for faculty program research.

She also is responsible for processing and implementing state, federal and private grants, and teaches a business statistics class. Sigworth earned a bachelor's degree at Eastern Michigan University and a master's in education from the University of Michigan.

She lives in Plymouth with her husband, John, and their daughters, Courtney, 5, and Katelyn, 10.

Expo gives small businesses exposure

By BETH SUNDRILA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Things got down to business as small business people from all over the Metro area gathered last week to display their wares or services in Livonia.

A Business-to-Business Expo was held at Burton Manor in Livonia, sponsored by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce. More than 120 businesses manned expo booths all day June 13, with special workshops, a lunch and a reception.

Susan Dillon, president of Graphic Visions Inc. of Plymouth, was having a busy day showing off the products Graphic Visions offers. "The nice thing about this one (expo) is that it is business oriented," she said.

A firm with 10 employees, and in business for 8 years, Graphic Visions offers design and printing of graphics and logos on items such as business cards, signs, and brochures.

At the expo, the booth had examples of the company's work, which Dillon pointed out is all done in-house.

Some expo booths had eye catching props, such as the Crain's booth's large newspaper poster and Midwest Illumination's booth which had lighting fixtures illuminated in a display.

Others had inviting items such as a bowl of candy at the Solution Management booth.

At the NBD Bank booth, expo visitors could put their business card in a box and, if their card was drawn, they won the chance to grab as much money as they could in 30 seconds in a glass booth.

The money booth is always popular. P.J. Green, a branch manager at NBD Bank in Detroit, said. While the bank was showcasing its small business services, the booth was attracting interest from passersby.

Ralph Santaripa, an account executive at Brown and Bigelow Remembrance Advertising in Ann Arbor, showed off a variety of items businesses could use to promote themselves.

With items like mugs, bottles, calendars, T-shirts, pens and backpacks printed with the business's name, businesses can give customers a gift and send an advertising message, he said.

"You take something functional and put a name on it," he said. Some of the more unusual items are a champagne-type bottle filled with graffiti, a can of dirt labeled "Grow with us" and CD with an advertising message.

At the Credit Reporting Information Services booth, Ron Thierry was winning over many of his fellow exhibitors who are in the position of hiring employees. The company does background and credit checks on potential employees.

After giving out a folder explaining the Livonia company's services, Thierry, vice president of information services, said it is unfortunate, but the company's services have become necessary.

He said the response to the booth had been terrific, adding it's "the right product, or service I should say, at the right time."

Livonia's New Horizons Computer Learning Center was also in the right place at the right time as it gave out information on the company's computer class offerings. Account executive Peggy O'Keefe manned the booth and said a seminar on Microsoft and the Internet at the expo had generated a lot of interest.

Meanwhile Sophie Wang, president of Business Information International of Carleton Township, was showing the company's local business directories.

"It's a franchise business, and it's expanding fast," she said.

Business people can use the directories for sales leads because it contains detailed information about companies with contact names, so it ends "cold calling" she said.

Joanne Potter, owner of Aunt Clara's Cookie Cupboard in Plymouth, was a visitor at the expo. She found the booths interesting, although she had just begun looking at them. "You see what different companies are doing. You try to keep up," she said.

DEALER OF EXCELLENCE

Yale Materials Handling-Michigan Inc. of Livonia, a fork-lift truck dealership representing Yale Materials Handling Corp., has been honored with the Yale Dealer of Excellence Award. The award is the highest honor in the Challenge of Excellence program the Yale annual dealer recognition program which recognizes superior performance in sales and business management. Yale Materials Handling-Michigan was one of eight Yale lift truck dealers out of 48 nationwide to be named a dealer of excellence.

NATIONAL ATTENTION

Madonna University's on-site baccalaureate program at Rouge Steel in Livonia was the subject of a workshop at the national conference on workplace learning held in Milwaukee, Wis., this spring. Three Rouge Steel students, Tom Smith, Ken Diegle and Pamela Smith, along with Madonna's Rouge Steel coordinator Marty Keck, adjunct professor JoAnne Isbey and two UAW Local 600 representatives presented a workshop titled "Implementing Worker-Centered Learning: See How UAW Local 600 and Madonna University Do It." "There has been a great amount of interest in workplace learning," Keck said. "Our students at Rouge Steel are smart, ambitious and want to learn. Many of them are planning second careers in areas such as social work, teaching and clinical psychology." The program began in 1993 with a few students and has grown to 30 workers.

INTERNET ADDRESS

Dearborn Federal Credit Union, which has opened a branch at Newburgh and Seven Mile in Livonia, has established a home page and an E-mail address on the Internet. The home page address is <http://www.dfcu.org/dfcu> and the E-mail address is dfcu@aol.com. Dearborn Federal Credit Union has assets of more than $900 million and serves more than 160,000 members worldwide. Membership is open to employees and families of any Ford Motor Company or subsidiary unit in the United States that is not served by another Ford employee credit union. Employees of Henry Ford Health System, members of Greenfield Village, tenants of Ford Motor Land Development Corp. and selected employee groups are also eligible to join.

COMPANY RECOGNIZED

ZenaComp Inc. of Livonia has been recognized as number 20 in the Michigan Private 100. ZenaComp's compounded annual growth rate since 1991 is 51.9 percent. The company has more than 50 employees. The U.S. Small Business Administration sponsored a dinner at the Amway Grand Hotel in Grand Rapids to honor the Michigan Private 100 winners. Mark Lichtman is ZenaComp's founder and owner. The company specializes in mainframe conversions with database connectivity, Internet services, and database warehousing.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

The Detroit district of the U.S. Postal Service has received a mail delivery rating above the national average. "Providing customer service is our number one goal," Carl T. January, Detroit District manager of the U.S. Postal Service, said. "Our mission for first class mail is on time, every time, every piece, every day." Mail delivery is rated by how fast a first class letter is received. The Postal Service is also offering a "We Care" program, in which mail received after the carriers have left their stations is delivered. This mail will be marked with a yellow smiley face sticker.

CELLULAR SPECIAL

Buy a Pick-Up & Go cellular phone between now and July 6 and Ameritech will donate $3 to Special Olympics. "Our goal is to generate more than $30,000 in donations for the Special Olympics," said Deborah J. Ravetta, Ameritech Cellular vice president/regional market manager. "In addition, we've already pledged $290,000 to the organization as a statewide sponsor of the Law Enforcement Torch Run this summer." Ameritech is also offering new cellular subscribers free weekend calling for the rest of 1996, free long distance for the rest of 1996 and a free Motorola portable phone. Certain restrictions apply.

QUALITY AWARD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Angileri of Livonia have established the Angileri Quality Award to encourage quality achievements in the automotive industry and to recognize the value of the master's degree in quality and operations management at Madonna University in Livonia. The award will be available to a Madonna University student pursuing a master's degree in quality and operations management or the certificate program leading to a master's degree in quality and operations management. Frank Angileri is president of Quality Concepts and Strategies Inc. in Livonia, a consulting firm. He is retired from Ford Motor Company, where he worked in quality control for 34 years as a senior quality engineer. "I hope to make a small contribution to the enhancement of quality through this award," Angileri said. The first award will be $2,000. A second award of $3,000 will be given to an applicant in the second graduating class. An endowed and unendowed scholarship fund was established to administer the Angileri Quality Award. The Ford Motor Company Fund will match the gifts.

AWARD WINNER

McNeely & Lincoln Associates Inc., a Livonia civil engineering and land surveying company, won first and second place in the boundary/cadastral maps category of the Bethesda-Md. based National Society of Professional Surveyors' 1996 ACSM/NSPS Map/Plat Design Competition.

WAIT AND SEE

Ameritech customers in the Detroit area can see name and number information on call waiting calls. "Wait & See" became available earlier this month. "With Wait & See, customers can decide whether or not to interrupt their conversation to take another call," said Linda Alperin, director of marketing for Ameritech Consumer Services. Customers will need special equipment - a display unit or telephone - that's compatible with the service. The special equipment is available from Ameritech. There is no additional charge, but customers must have caller ID or call waiting and call Ameritech to subscribe to the new service.

SCHOOLS HONORED

GMI Engineering & Management Institute has honored high schools for "actively supporting their students by preparing them for the rigors of higher education" and two local high schools were honored. Plymouth Salem High School in Canton Township and Detroit Catholic Central High School in Redford Township were honored as top feeder schools to the college. GMI is an independent college of engineering, science, and management in Flint. The college offers a cooperative educational program with all students alternating between classroom work and on-the-job sessions with one of nearly 600 employers throughout North America

COMPUTER TRAINING

New Horizons Computer Learning Center of Michigan has announced that the company's systemwide revenues for the first quarter of 1996 were $41 million. New Horizons has a center in Livonia. The company offers training in software and network applications. New Horizons achieved $103 million in revenues in 1995. "Our success is a result of our being flexible and able to quickly adapt to fast changing technology and the needs of our customers," said Mark McManus Jr., president of New Horizons Michigan. "Customer demands have been the catalyst to help us provide the best service possible to our clients."

PENTASTAR AWARD

Plymouth-based Freudenberg-NOK's Cleveland, Ga., and LaGrange, Ga., seal manufacturing facilities have each recently received Chrysler Corporation's Gold Pentastar Award. The Cleveland production facility received the Gold Pentastar Award for excellence in quality, warranty and delivery of its valve stem seals used in several Chrysler engines. The LaGrange facility, which manufactures automotive seals, was also presented with Chrysler's gold Pentastar Award for excellence in quality, warranty and delivery of oil seals. The Chrysler Gold Pentastar Award - initially called the Pentastar when established in 1985 - recognizes supplier manufacturing plants which have met or exceeded Chrysler's standards in quality, delivery and warranty of its products. Freudenberg-NOK is a general partnership created in 1989 which operates 15 facilities in North America and is part of a global network formed between parent companies Freudenberg & Company of Germany and NOK Corporation of Japan.

CHOSEN BY SEMCOG

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments has chosen C.M. Althoff Company and the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority as its representatives for property and liability coverages. Workers' Compensation coverage has been placed with the Accident Fund Company. SEMCOG is a voluntary association of governmental units in Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties that fosters intergovernmental cooperation by providing a public forum in which local elected officials may coordinate planning and decision making issues which cross jurisdictional boundaries. C.M. Althoff Company is a risk management and insurance firm located in Royal Oak.

HIRING PACE

A pleasant employment climate is forecast for the Detroit area this summer, based on company responses to Manpower Inc.'s staffing survey released recently for the third quarter. "For July, August and September, 31 percent of participants in the Employment Outlook Survey foresee more workers on their payrolls while 5 percent predict a reduction in personnel. Another 54 percent expect current workforce levels to prevail and 10 percent haven't finalized their plans," Jeanne Heller of Manpower said. Hiring projects for the third quarter can be among the strongest of the year, Heller said. "Here in Detroit, the outlook was not as strong last quarter, when additional employees were budgeted by 23 percent of respondents and 3 percent expected to cut back. Last summer's results showed 33 percent intending to increase and 3 percent saying decreases were planned."

Flowering trees help brighten your yard

MARTY FIGLEY

As our landscapes mature, they become more shady and the consideration of new plantings changes. Then, too, narrow lots with houses or buildings nearby are often shady areas that require plants that perform well there.

Consider trees. There are several small flowering trees that are ideal for these situations and add a note of brightness. Now, I'm not talking about heavy shade, but light shade, perhaps under tall trees. By the way, it's good practice to remove some of the lower branches on tall trees to allow enough light to reach the shorter ones.

Often these "second story" trees are found naturally near the edge of a woods. Some of them to consider are Serviceberry, Redbud, Flowering Dogwood and Mountain Ash.

There are several species and cultivars of each and before you make your selection, visit local nurseries and/or learn about them from a book. "Landscaping With Native Trees," Guy Sternberg and Jim Wilson (Chapters), is an excellent one. It includes a list of mail-order sources, several in Michigan.

The folks at Ray Wiegand's Nursery, Macomb, (800) 955-3658; Alexander & Associates, Washington, (810) 286-1500; or Bordine Nursery Ltd., Rochester Hills, (810) 651-9000, or Clarkston, (810) 625-9100; may be able to help.

Varieties

Downy Serviceberry, Amelanchier arborea, and smooth serviceberry, A. laevis, are the most tree-like of the group. Others are more shrub-like.

Serviceberries bloom in the early spring with white, airy blossoms. In the summer they produce a sweet berry that birds love — so do people if they can beat the birds to them.

The leaves turn color in the fall and winter interest is provided by the smooth, gray bark.

Redbuds, Cercis canadensis, remain relatively small, which makes them ideal in many gardens. The rose-pink blossoms in early spring are followed by heart-shaped leaves, which turn green after a brief flush of a reddish hue. You may be able to find a white-flowered redbud, Cercis canadensis var. alba, which would be a conversation piece.

Early bloomers:

Redbud trees bloom before leaves emerge.

In the winter, seed pods cling to the arching branches of these trees and add interest to the landscape.

Flowering Dogwood, Cornus florida, is probably the most popular of the flowering trees in our zone 5. It is difficult to choose from the many dogwoods available; some with white blossoms, others with pink or salmon. It is fascinating to watch the changes of the flowers during the period they are opening to their ultimate size.

Clusters of bright red fruit enhance the rich red foliage in the fall and the winter scene is improved by the tree's silhouette. Little, softly pointed flower buds also add interest then.

Mountain Ash, Sorbus americana, likes acidic soils and slightly wet situations.

Golden fall leaf color makes this an outstanding beauty.

Cruise invitation

On a personal note: I encourage you to join me on a "Gardens of the River Cruise" aboard the Mississippi Queen steamboat, April 13-20, 1997. Jim Wilson, host of PBS-TV's "The Victory Garden," and Todd Steadman, editor of Garden Gate magazine, will lead talks and tours during this spring trip.

We will sail from New Orleans and visit fabulous Southern gardens and antebellum plantations in Oak Alley, Baton Rouge, Natchez, Vicksburg, Helena and Memphis. On board, we will enjoy entertainment and scrumptious food in a most relaxing atmosphere.

Early April is an ideal time to leave this Northern weather and go South! Free air transportation if you book by Tuesday, Aug. 13. For additional information, call Chuck Randolph Travel & Tours at (810) 645-5050, or me at (810) 644-2178.

Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then her mailbox number, 1859. Her fax number is (810) 644-1314.

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

Watch the attitude, it could cost you

JOE GAGNON

When I call for service on whatever, I always make a point of paying attention to the attitude displayed by the person answering the telephone. Whenever I have received a negative feeling I simply have called someone else. Now let me reverse my position and place myself at work receiving a call from a consumer who is rude to me. Let me give you my thoughts as to what I'd like to do to this kind of customer.

I repeat - what I'd like to do, not what I actually do. This kind of column or speech is not wise to do in some cases, ex: smoke but don't inhale, look but never touched etc. etc. etc.

Caller: I'd like service and I want a senior citizen discount because I'm over 65.

Joe: No problem caller, we'll give you a 10 percent discount off the total bill.

Brain: Let's see now, doesn't this customer realize that we do service as honest as can be and never rip anybody off. The total price is going to be lower than anyone else would charge and he has the nerve to ask for a discount. Why don't I just add the cost of the discount to the price of the part, that way they'll never know the difference.

In actuality: It is done by many in the industry, so it is wiser for the consumer to know this before they demand or expect a senior citizen discount. The Appliance Repair Act would make you aware if this was done to you.

Caller: I called and set up a service call for this afternoon and the guy's not here yet. It's 3:30 p.m. and I just got a call to play golf at 4. Set it up for tomorrow, I should be here.

Joe: No problem, we'll see you tomorrow afternoon.

Brain: Gosh darn it, I had three people call wanting service today and I had to tell them we were booked, and they should call someone else. Now, not only did I lose the income from one of those three callers, I lost the money from this guy who canceled. That's OK, tomorrow when we do go out to his house, we'll make up the loss in the overcharging of a part, or maybe fix something that isn't broke. We'll get him.

In actuality: It is done by many in the industry, so it is wiser for the consumer to know this before they cancel the call for some frivolous reason. It might be smarter to call another service company for service the next day. The Appliance Repair Act would make you aware if this was done to you.

Caller: Yeh, my washer's broke, can you come out and fix the #@&(* thing. You ask what, look, if I knew what was wrong with it, do you think I'd be calling you. I have to have a guy here at 5 p.m. tomorrow and he's got to be out of the house by 5:30. Can you do it.

Joe: Sir, that's a commitment I can't promise and I'd just as soon have you call someone else.

Brain: Give him a telephone number for one of the well known rip off companies in town and let nature take its course.

In actuality: It is done by many in the industry, so it is wiser for the consumer not to make demands that are unreasonable or to swear to the call taker. The Appliance Repair Act would make you aware if this was done to you.

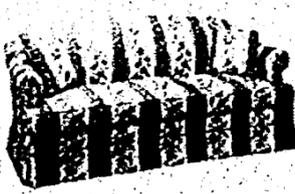

The point of this column is to make you aware that some regulations are needed in this industry very badly. You the consumer are at the mercy of any service technician who walks into your home to fix a major home appliance. To be rude to anyone who has the power over your wallet or purse in terms of repairs is not a wise decision. Be polite and answer the questions asked by the call taker and trust that you have selected one of the good honest service companies that exist out there. The Appliance Repair Act might make them all good honest companies. I sure hope so.

Joe Gagnon, the Appliance Doctor, will answer your questions about maintaining and repairing large appliances. Gagnon is president of Carmack Appliances in Garden City and does a weekly radio program on WJR-AM. He is author of "First Aid from the Appliance Doctor," available at area bookstores.

Backpack in style to enjoy happy trails

RUTH
MOSSOK JOHNSTON

The kids are out of school, the weather is finally beautiful, and we have some vacation time coming up - what to do with these components? Plan a hike - go for a nature walk, "smell the roses," or at least seize the opportunity to see the roses.

Ten years of going to camp has left its imprint on me. I love the outdoors, the smell, sounds, and beauty of what surrounds me. I'm fortunate that my house is fairly secluded with woods and wildflowers - but I don't stop there - I enjoy a quiet day out on the nature trails or visiting my dear friend Betty-Lee in Indiana. She has 80 untouched serene acres. If the weather doesn't cooperate, I take out the movie "Indian Summer," get out a box of Kleenex, and call a few old Camp Petosega friends who I still keep in touch with.

Planning a day out on the trails is invigorating, and sure builds up a hearty appetite!

The days of having to eat jerky while camping or hiking are long gone - sure you can still bring some jerky along, but with the thermal and insulated containers available, it's no longer your only option.

As always, my foremost concern is food safety - keep cold things cold! Plan to bring along finger foods and easily handled edibles - food that don't require utensils. Take plastic, resealable bags for leftovers and discards. Make sure backpacks are durable and lined - if you're borrowing your child's school backpack, clean it out and line it with a plastic bag (the kind they pack your groceries in at the store are ideal). Water bottles now come with shoulder straps, perfect for long walks. Bring along prepackaged wet towels for hands - baby wipes do the trick. Backpacks can be filled with elegant edibles or simple camp-type foods.

Here are a few of my favorite take alongs:

- Vegetable chips (you can purchase these at gourmet food shops and upscale groceries). If you get really ambitious, you can make home-made vegetable chips and deep fry or bake.

- Pickle spears - homemade or store bought. Slice and drain pickles, wrap tightly in a moist paper towel, and then in plastic wrap.

- Sandwiches made with bread slices, lavash (paper thin bread for roll-ups) or biscuits (the cracker type). Make sure filling is something that does not spoil easily. Peanut butter on Quaker Caramel Corn - fat-free corn cakes - is delicious!

- Jerky or dried meats - the game-type are fun - Butcher Boy Meat Products in Warren (810) 779-0600 even has Alligator Chew in what appears to be a tobacco tin.

- Nuts and dried fruits - or a combination - make your own trail mix with your favorite nuts and dried fruits. Try using dried blueberries, cranberries and cherries, not just the common ones like figs, apricots and raisins.

These snack straws are easy to make and quite tasty - make them as spicy as you choose - wrap them carefully, they are delicate. These are quick to prepare, but they do need overnight refrigeration - allow enough time for preparation. It's easiest to make them in a food processor.

SPICY CHEESE STRAWS

- 1 pound extra sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 3/4 cups all purpose flour
- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- Cayenne pepper to taste
- Curry powder to taste

Grate cheese in a food processor or with a cheese grater. In the bowl of a food processor fitted with the steel blade, add the flour, cheese and butter - process slightly, add a pinch of cayenne and curry (desired amount). If you have a small food processor, do this in two separate batches. Process the dough until it looks like dough and is well mixed.

Remove the dough and chill covered or wrapped in plastic overnight. When you remove it from the refrigerator the next day - divide the dough into four sections.

Soften enough to be able to roll - roll out the dough between two sheets of waxed paper to about 1/4-inch thickness. Using a small sharp knife, cut the dough into narrow strips approximately 3 inches long.

Place the dough strips on an ungreased baking sheet - bake at 400 degrees F. until the cheese straws are slightly browned - cooking time should be 8 to 10 minutes. Do not overcook! Cool and serve - or pack up for your trek. Yield: approximately 100 pieces

Greenmead garden walk set June 29

Delight your senses on a journey through the magical gardens of seven Livonia homes 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 29, as Friends of Greenmead present their seventh annual Garden Walk.

Admission for the walk is by ticket only. Cost is $7 in advance, $8 at the door. Tickets are available at Greenmead (Newburgh and Eight Mile in Livonia), the Community Resources Division at Livonia City Hall, any Livonia library and Jacobson's in Laurel Park.

Lush gardens, thoughtful landscaping, the trickle of water from a fountain, the jumping of multi-colored fish in ponds, a tranquil waterfall, and beds of Myrtle, Ajuga, fern and cool hosta create a tapestry of sound and texture for the garden viewer.

Annuals and perennials in brilliant blooms of pink, yellow, orange, blue-violet and scarlet will accent inlaid patios, stylish rock gardens, brick walkways, stone paths, magnificent decks, a Victorian gazebo and a secluded footbridge. "Natural" delights include various wildlife, families of butterflies, birds, fish, herons and ducks in each of the garden settings.

If you're looking for some creative landscape ideas you won't want to miss this popular event. Proceeds will go to the restoration and preservation of Greenmead Historical Park in Livonia.

Bonsai show celebrates variety

BY MARTY FIGLEY
SPECIAL WRITER

Vance Hanna of Birmingham is a bonsai enthusiast.

He has been president twice of the Four Seasons Bonsai Club of Michigan and will be in attendance during its 23rd annual show, which will again be at the Washington Square Building, Washington and Fourth, Royal Oak. Show times are 12:30-9 p.m. Friday, June 21, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, June 22, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 23.

Hanna and Vance Woods of Roseville, another club member, were invited to show their specimens at the Japanese Cultural Club Exchange with the city of Detroit on Belle Isle in early May. During that event, the Japanese consulate introduced them to Kahn Itoh, general manager of Itochu International, who will judge this upcoming show.

Hanna has been growing bonsai for 25 years and grows a variety of plants. Most of them are outside all year; some of them are deciduous, others are evergreen. And, as he says, "I've got 'em everywhere."

"Of all my plants I probably do have a favorite," Hanna said.

When his son was born he dug an Ulmus carissafolia in Bartlesville, Okla., and has won awards with it. It will be in the show in Royal Oak. Hanna recalls the ages of some of his plants using his children's ages as a guide.

An Acer palmatum "Bloodgood" caught my eye with its dark red foliage. He raised it from a seedling and grew it in the ground for quite some time. Now it sits beautifully in a pot. The ultimate height will be 30 inches.

"Classic proportions are literally everything in bonsai — height to width to size of pot, that is, the size of the trunk in relation to the depth of the pot and the height of the tree.

"For example, if the depth of the pot is four inches, the trunk width should be four inches and the height of the plant six times higher than the depth of the pot, or 24 inches.

"With proper pruning the trees will fill in to make a more proportioned classic statement."

An 18-year-old Katsura grown from seed is a knockout. Hanna grows others from seed as well as finding plants in northern Michigan.

I asked him what was the most important thing necessary to grow these interesting plants. He said a high level of commitment, especially time. A person also needs to understand what keeps them alive.

They need a lot of water and sunlight ("it's not that difficult"). Hanna waters the plants every day during the growing season, sometimes twice a day. He holds the small plant in a large container of water, just up to the edge of the pot, until the bubbles stop. This takes just a few seconds. The larger plants are watered with a special Japanese bonsai watering can with a fine hose spray. Rain water is collected for this important requirement.

Very porous soil, almost a non-soil, is used in the containers, some of which Hanna has designed and made. The mix consists of 1/3 each of very coarse chopped granite or sharp builders sand, or chicken grit (easiest to find), for good drainage, Turface (chopped and fired clay pellets), which helps retain moisture in raised beds, and fine pine bark or chopped Spaghnum peat or both, or shredded oak leaf mold (really good), which provides a source of organic matter. Conifers need less organic matter in the mix, but then need more fertilizer.

Hanna uses a slow-release fertilizer, a tri-organic pelleted product called "Bio-Gold" with a ratio of 5-6-3. It is scattered on the soil and when it is depleted he adds more.

Demonstrations on styling, plant selection, soil mix, pruning, wiring, potting and more will take place 1, 3, 7 and 9 p.m. Friday; noon and 2, 6 and 8 p.m. Saturday; and 11 a.m. and 1, 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday. Best of Show judging will be 10 a.m. Saturday.

Hanna also teaches classes through the club as do other members.

Crowning touch: Cupolas by Lawrence Zechmeister give a personal touch to any structure, and bear a variety of vanes.

CUPOLA LOOK IS TOWERING ACHIEVEMENT

BY MARY KLEMIC
AT HOME EDITOR

Cupolas — those slender little towers on rooftops — are genteel beacons of history and romance.

And now they are signs of individual style as well.

Lawrence Zechmeister, owner of Zack's Workshoppe in St. Clair Shores, specializes in cupolas. He makes them by hand to fill custom orders, matching each cupola to the style of the structure to which it is attached and the client's ideas.

"(It's) a feeling of history on their own home," Zechmeister said.

"It just says something about the individual person."

Zechmeister's cupolas feature a variety of window shapes ("I try to match the windows on the home"). Materials are woods from trees grown in Michigan.

Cupola roofs may be smooth, glistening copper, or consist of quaint wooden shingles. They may be topped with a choice of brass or copper vanes, including boats, carriages, ducks that seem to glide in for landings, chubby pigs, majestic eagles, elegant horses and stately whales.

Lanterns activated by solar cells can be installed to coat the cupolas in a soft light at night. The structures are vented, and can be removed if a resident wants to transfer them to other houses or garages. Some cupolas are like little rooms and can be furnished.

A cupola can fit on any style house — ranch, Tudor, colonial, for example — of any age. It can be placed on a garage, a barn, a gazebo or a boathouse as well as on a residence.

"I've put them on $50,000 homes and million-dollar homes, and they never, never looked out of place."

Originally, a cupola was a small room, a form of a "widow's walk," where by tradition women could watch the harbor when they heard that ships were returning, and wait for their loved ones to come back from sea voyages. The structures also ventilated barns or houses.

Today homeowners have different reasons for wanting a cupola. The Finleys of Bloomfield Hills were looking for an anniversary gift.

Looking up: Zechmeister adjusts the vane on a cupola. The craftsman can match the shape and style of a cupola to any structure.

"Every year we always buy something for the house," Genevieve Finley said. "We decided to support an artisan (last year)."

The couple decided to replace a 40-year-old cupola on their garage. Zechmeister made them an octagonal cupola with cedar shingles. It is blue with white stars and is lit at night.

"People love it," Mrs. Finley said. "We had an open house New Year's, and eight people took his (Zechmeister's) card."

"I've always wanted one," said Kathleen Switalski of Northville, whose carriage house bears a cupola by Zechmeister with a "country doctor" vane. "These were the first I've ever seen in my life that I liked. They're just stunning ... I just love it."

Zechmeister is proud of the fact that rather than being mass produced, each of his cupolas is made by hand, a personalized approach that went into the original construction of many antiques.

"It's a real individual piece," he said. "No two cupolas I do will be the same."

Zechmeister's process involves going to the site and meeting with the clients.

"I run out to their home, look at the house and see exactly what they want."

"I sit down with the customer, pulling ideas out of their head."

The craftsman has handled some unusual requests, such as making cupolas for two 92-foot tall silos that were remodeled and converted into rooms. A person in the cupola can see geese fly by at eye level.

Cupola sizes vary, from about five feet to 14 feet across. The pine base octagon measuring 24 inches takes about 10 days to build; the cedar cupola takes longer.

"I'm not interested in slapping things together."

Prices, which include the vane, delivery and installation, range from about $800 to $2,800; most are $1,500 to $2,000.

Zechmeister got started in the cupola business about 14 years ago. He was working as a carpenter on a project for developer Morry Cohen when he was asked to rebuild a cupola on horse stables there that were constructed in the 1800s.

"(I thought) 'What the heck is a cupola?'"

Since then, the craftsman has become a "cupola-holic," understandably enthusiastic about the pieces. He thinks of them as his "calling cards," and has invited clients on neighborhood tours to see the completed cupolas.

"It's not just a job. They're like old friends ... I drive by to see them."

People enjoy watching Zechmeister install the cupolas.

"I still get excited."

WILLIAM HANSEN

Whole hog: Zechmeister has a booming cupola business. People enjoy the structures, from the base to the vane on top.

INTERIOR MOTIVES

Kitchen technology appeals to all tastes

NAOMI
STONE LEVY

Are you prepared for sticker shock? I wasn't! An all-new kitchen with technological appliances galore and all the other amenities can cost as much as $40,000. You need to visit a showroom that displays a number of manufacturers' goodies, because there are a myriad of choices.

Initially your decision rests on whether you prefer gas or electric. I have always cooked with electricity, but there are amateur and professional chefs who would scoff at my choice.

There are now convection ovens as well as broilers and conventional ovens. There are plate warmers and warming ovens. There are six-burner tops, grids and the standard four-burner tops.

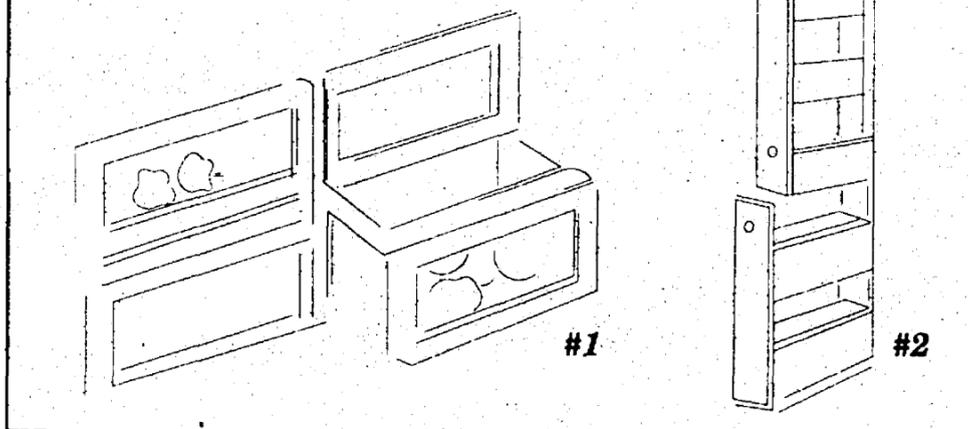

The range hood combines performance with style. They now are quieter and cleaner. If you have an island in your kitchen you must be careful not to cut off everyone's view. If your range is against a wall there are many styles. I know of one hood that is similar to a pullout disappearing slide.

Refrigeration and storage

Refrigeration in the past was limited to a single unit, either with the freezer unit above or below or side by side. Now there are under counter door units. There exists refrigerated drawers with glass fronts, also under counter (see drawing No. 1). You dream it, and you can coordinate it. The refrigerated drawer units accommodate fruits and veggies, and should be placed near sinks, where they can be used conveniently. Don't overlook an ice maker.

The new cabinetry is staggering. There is an array of paneled designs. There is plastic laminate in a variety of colors. Laminate can be obtained in glossy or mat finish. Hint: Glossy is more effective, but harder to care for because fingerprints are immediately evident.

Some pantry units pull out (available from either side) and can be used for storage of canned goods (see drawing No. 2). Other units can be glass above the counter and solid doors below. There are a multitude of specialties such as spice drawers where the jars are tilted for easy reading. What about wine racks with bottles also inclined at the correct downward angle?

Countertops

Countertops need thought. The best of the best is granite, second best is Corian. A minimum of care and a maximum of style. If you can afford it, a "bull-nose" edge adds a special touch. Next down in pricing scale is Avonite, or its equal. And there is the ever-present plastic laminate, ad infinitum.

The sinks should be housed under counter, not over the edge. The height of the counter should be governed by the height of the principal occupant. A tiny person can be accommodated as well as a tall person. Why stretch or bend unnecessarily? I'm all for eliminating backaches.

Hardware resonates good taste. A gooseneck spigot isn't only handsome, it is functional. It can be obtained in white, black, dark bronze or brass as well as the standard chrome. The balance of the hardware should match.

Standard towel rods are more interesting if three or four are stacked one above another, as in a ladder. Even more fun is to run one continuous rod around the entire perimeter of the kitchen, just under the counter. If you have an island kitchen there should be a second continuous rod.

On the floor

Be apprised that floors enhance the entire job. No longer will the ubiquitous rolls of linoleum or congoeum suffice. Squares of vinyl laid on the diagonal, with accent colors, will lend personality. Or large clay tiles are handsome.

One of my favorite floors is very bleached white oak strip. The oak strips are available more narrow than the standard 2-1/2-inch stock and are ever so much more effective. Must be seen to be believed — an awesome floor, it has a very modern aura.

Another wood floor is called "log cabin." The strips are laid in a concentric square design, with each of the four corners alternating as in a log cabin. Very effective. This requires a rectangular or squarish room.

Have I spent all your money? I trust you are an inordinate cook and will love every moment you are in your new kitchen. It will justify the cost.

Taking care: By making sure his equipment was in good shape, Monte Nagler was able to produce this interesting and unusual photograph of Colorado Spring's Seven Falls.

For good shots, care for camera

MONTE NAGLER

Taking good care of your camera will assure that it will perform satisfactorily for you for many years. Here are some basic tips to help you out.

- Never leave your camera in a very hot or very cold spot. Temperature extremes can warp delicate casings and fittings and distort mechanisms.

mechanisms.

- Keep the body free of dust and dirt. A soft cloth works just fine. I've found that Q-Tips dabbed in film cleaner solution is an ideal way to reach those hard-to-get-at spots on your camera.

- It's easier than you think to accidentally have a camera knocked from your hands or bumped into a solid object. Accidents or rough handling can cause severe damage. So always use the camera strap. Having your camera securely around your neck prevents accidents (and theft).

- Most cameras aren't waterproof and can be damaged significantly if water gets inside. Take care to protect both body and lens from water. If your camera should get wet from rain, dry it off immediately with a soft, clean cloth.

- Don't touch the glass on the front or back of your lens. Fingerprints, if not removed right away, may eventually become permanent. Keep your lenses clean with lens cleaning tissue and lens cleaning solution.

- Store your camera in a dry, ventilated place. The original box with its moisture absorbing silica gel bag is an ideal means of safe storage.

- If you aren't going to shoot for a while, remove all batteries from your camera. This will prolong their life and will eliminate any chance of battery corrosion. Try thinking of your camera as a best friend and treat it accordingly.

LET'S REMODEL

Don't skimp when repairing sprinklers

Q: We winterized our lawn sprinkler system last fall, but when we opened it in the spring the back flow preventer was broken. What would cause this?

A: You may have a couple of issues going on. First of all, older systems are being serviced where there is a gate valve in place. There are two types of valves used to connect the domestic water system to the back flow preventers; gate valves and ball valves. A gate valve is screwed down and over time may not seal completely, causing water to get into your backflow preventer which may expand when the water is frozen during winter, breaking the backflow. Many people purchase gate valves due to initial cost. However, a brass ball valve fastens tight enough so that no water can get through to the backflow preventer. If your current system has a gate valve you may want to consider replacing it with a ball valve for preventative maintenance. This would take approximately an hour of labor costs at $60.

The part will run about $30. To repair a back flow is about $185, labor included.

The second thing to consider is that when fall rolls around, many so-called sprinkler companies drive through neighborhoods offering winterizing at extremely low costs and are often unqualified, some are even uninsured. Remember, saving money now may cause you big money down the road. Keep in mind that an eight zone system will probably cost $5 per zone with a minimum of $40 to winterize. The company should also offer a warranty against damage to the system for the spring opening unless you have a gate valve. Preventive maintenance should include converting to a ball valve and selecting a qualified contractor. Although there is no licensing required for an irrigation contractor in the State of Michigan you will want to look for the following:

■ Ask for a certificate of insurance. You can verify with their insurance company.

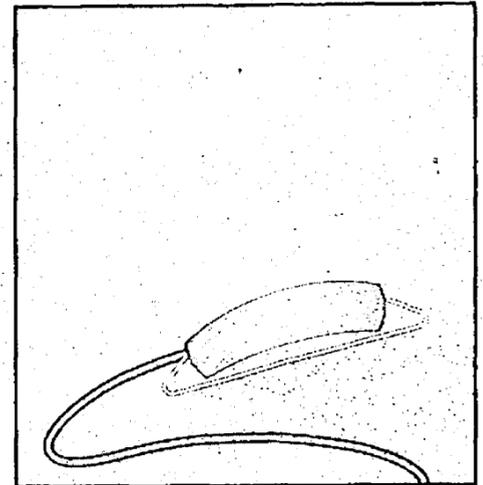

■ Choose a full-time irrigation company that specializes in servicing after the installation.

■ A written work order provided by the company which includes an address and phone number. Ask for a business card.

■ Make sure that the company you choose has been in business for at least three years and intends to continue in this line of work.

■ Keep your receipt and contact the same company in the spring for a spring turn-on, so if damage has occurred, you're now dealing with the same contractor.

In short, a qualified legitimate contractor will gladly do the job right the first time so you will continue to do business with them. A sprinkler business is not unlike any other service business - it boils down to service and backing up your work. Keeping the customer happy. The bottom line is service, service, service.

AROUND THE HOUSE

How to be sure your chimney stacks up

A developer was near completion on a new 75-home development in suburban Philadelphia. A local home inspector was brought in to review one of the properties for a client.

The inspector noticed that the fireplace chimney on the home he was inspecting wasn't the proper height. He noted this in the report.

Before he got into his vehicle to leave for the next inspection, he took notice of the other new homes in the development.

Each had similar chimneys, none of which was the proper height. All 75 homes had similar problems and, subsequently, all the chimneys had to be changed.

Not all chimneys are created equal. There are accepted standards for chimneys, although some of these standards vary based on geographic location and local ordinances. Many chimneys are lacking in one or more of these standards.

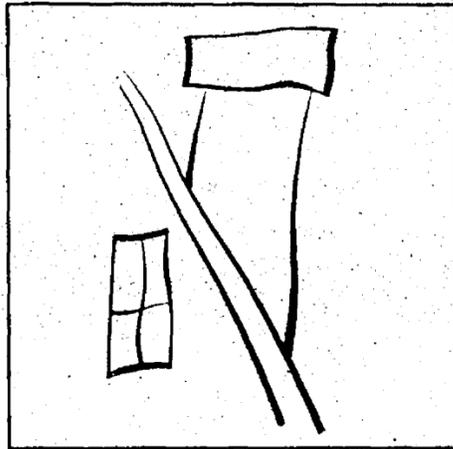

■ How high your chimney should be: Your chimney should be at least two feet above any portion of the building within 10 feet of the chimney and at least three feet above the point where it passes through the roof.

■ What size flue the chimney should have: Your chimney shouldn't be smaller than the collar from the heating appliance.

■ How far the chimney should be from combustible material: The chimney should be two inches away if it is built partially or entirely within the structure, and one inch if it is built outside the structure.

■ Height requirements for metal chimneys: The height requirements for metal chimneys are the same as for masonry chimneys: at least two feet above any portion of the building within 10 feet of the chimney, and at least three feet above the point where it passes through the roof.

■ How to know your fireplace will draw without lighting a fire: Generally, you can know if your fireplace will draw without lighting a fire by checking just a few things:

— 1. Check for smoke stains on the front of the fireplace or mantel. These stains indicate that something has gone wrong. What that is will be determined later, but there is a problem if stains are present. However, if a fireplace is new or if the mantel has been recently painted, the stains may not be evident.

— 2. Check the size of the flue and firebox opening.

2a. The chimney flue should be one-tenth (if square or rectangle) to one-twelfth (if round) the size of the firebox opening or larger. For example, an eight-by-12-inch chimney flue, or 96 square inches, should have a firebox opening of 960 square inches, about 30 by 32 inches.

2b. The chimney should be two feet above the roof or any roof structure within 10 feet and a minimum of three feet above the roof.

2c. Other criteria such as the throat and smoke shelf should be considered. However, if the flue to the firebox ratio is correct and the chimney height is acceptable, the chimney will probably draw.

Many chimneys need some form of repair or cleaning. Consult a chimney specialist from a recognized chimney association for an annual cleaning and safety review.

Know your limits in battling garden pests

You've got inchworms and aphids. Blackspot and powdery mildew. Scab and fusarium. You try to do all the right things and still, pests and pestilence persist in bugging you and your plants. What's a gardener to do?

Learn to live with it is the advice of the H.D. Hudson Manufacturing Co., manufacturer of a broad line of quality compression sprayers and dusters. Insects and disease have shown a remarkable ability to adapt to the sophisticated natural and manmade environment we use in our struggle to have beautiful lawns and gardens, Hudson said.

It is impractical to attempt to eradicate all pests or plant diseases. It is far better for the gardener to learn to limit the damage they cause. An excellent place to start is in understanding how, when and why to "do battle" with dangerous pests.

Most pest-fighting chemicals are formulated to be used in very small quantities. Using more than is recommended may be harmful to the environment and is also expensive. Equipment that applies the precise blend of active ingredient and carrier (usually water) is a must.

Versatile compression sprayers, such as those engineered and manufactured by Hudson, are extremely useful. Unlike hose-end sprayers, compression sprayers consistently and dependably spray insecticide, herbicide or fungicide at a consistent pressure and in a precise amount and pattern to strike at the heart of the problem. This precision cuts down on waste, and by doing so, is easier on the environment and will save the user money.

Another benefit of compression sprayers, such as the Leader brand from Hudson, is freedom from dragging a hose around the yard. Compression sprayers from Hudson come in a variety of sizes and have working capacities from 1/2 to 2 1/2 gallons of spray. Yet another benefit: Compression sprayers eliminate the need for premixed sprays that are mostly water and are much more costly per ounce.

Interestingly, compression sprayers let the gardener reach many trees with insecticide to help ward off gypsy moth

So many inches, so little time and other pests that feed on early summer foliage. Slide-type sprayers, such as the Trombone sprayer from Hudson, are ideal because they create enough pressure to spray up to 40 feet into trees.

While expert opinion differs on timing, the general thinking is that pesticides should be applied when damage is first seen, rather than after damage is pronounced. Early damage means that pests are present and at work and, chances are, they can be easily controlled.

For example, rose growers may wait to apply a systemic insecticide when the first cluster of aphids appears on new growth. Since systemic-type insecticides last up to six weeks, applying them before pests are present is wasteful.

Time of day is another "when" factor. Generally, pesticides should be applied when foliage is dry and the air still. This usually means early evening or mid-morning after dew has dried. Avoid windy days because spray is easily carried and may damage non-targeted plants.

"Live and let live" is the approach some gardeners take, forsaking all manmade means to control pests. There's nothing wrong with this approach as long as practitioners realize their yield of flowers and vegetables is likely to be diminished, or marred, because of the presence of pests.

In recent years, gardeners have become more savvy in their understanding of the value of modern pesticides and equipment, and take the approach that care in use of these materials means that pest, pestilence, plants and people can exist nicely together.

The choice of no pesticide or selective pesticide is yours. Whichever way your thinking goes, a free and useful pamphlet from Hudson will help you choose the best approach for your lawn and garden. Home safety checklist (NAPS)—Most of us don't think much about electricity unless we are forced to go without it. But just like light bulbs and appliances, the electrical system in your home deserves your attention.

The National Electrical Safety Foundation urges consumers to take an electrical tour throughout their homes to look for potential hazards.

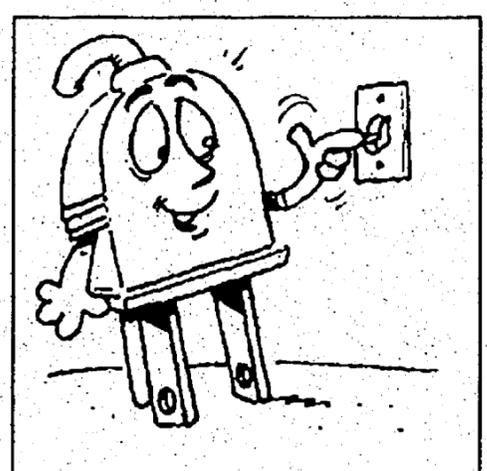

Many potential hazards are easily identified and corrected.

■ You can check to see that lamps and extension cords aren't cracked, frayed or covered by rugs or furniture.

■ Check light bulbs to determine that the wattage is appropriate for lighting fixtures.

■ Electrical appliances should be kept away from damp and hot surfaces and have appropriate air circulation.

Dim or flickering lights, arcs or sparks, sizzling or buzzing sounds from your electrical system, odors, hot switch plates, loose plugs and damaged insulation, among other things, are signs of potential hazards and should be looked at by a qualified electrician.

For more information, send a 55¢ stamped, self-addressed No. 10 (business size) envelope to National Electrical Safety Foundation, 1300 North 17th Street, #1847, Rosslyn, Va. 22209.

Cranbrook holds tours of Saarinen House

Cranbrook Art Museum offers "Saarinen House and Garden: A Total Work of Art," docent-guided tours of the restored Saarinen House, now through Oct. 31.

The tour lasts about one hour and 15 minutes, and features the history of Cranbrook, as well as the development of its architecture, focusing on Saarinen House.

Saarinen House was restored in 1994. Initially completed in 1930, it was the home, studio and garden of Finnish-American architect Eliel Saarinen, Cranbrook's resident architect from 1925 to 1950. It was identified by scholars as one of the most significant domestic interiors designed in America in the 1920s.

Tours introduce visitors to Saarinen's role at Cranbrook Academy of Art and feature an in-depth look at the architect's American masterwork. All tours of Saarinen House begin and end at Cranbrook Art Museum and are geared for an adult audience.

The tour begins in the art museum with a brief history of the development of Cranbrook and the importance of Eliel Saarinen as its master architect. The tour continues with a short walk over to Saarinen House along the Triton Pool detailed with sculptures by the Swedish master Carl Milles, through the Crafts Court of the art academy and down Academy Way to the house.

Once inside the house, the tour features the impressive living room with its handcrafted furnishings and Pewabic Pottery tile fireplace, as well as the dining room, a masterwork of detail finished off with a golden dome. The tour continues on the second floor and features the master bedroom with the suite of furniture designed by Eero Saarinen, the son who was the architect responsible for such architectural wonders as the St. Louis Arch and Dulles National Airport.

General tours of Saarinen House are limited to 12 people each and are available 11 a.m. and 1, 1:30, 2:30 and 3 p.m. Thursdays; and 1, 1:30, 2:30 and 3 p.m. Saturday-Sunday. Tickets include admission to Cranbrook Art Museum and are $6 for adults, $4 for seniors (65+) and full-time students, and $2 for children under age 7 and art museum members. Tour tickets may be bought on the day of tour only.

All tours begin and end at Cranbrook Art Museum, 1221 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, and include walking and several flights of stairs.

Private tours of Saarinen House are available for groups of eight people or more, with advance notice, between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and Friday, 4 and 7:30 p.m. Thursday, and 10 a.m. and noon Saturday. Large groups will be divided into smaller tours of 12 people each. Private tours must be booked two weeks in advance. Private tour tickets include admission to Cranbrook Art Museum and are $10 per guest, no discounts. For information or to book a tour, call (810) 645-3323.

Cranbrook Art Museum, including The Store at Cranbrook Art Museum, is open to the public for general viewing 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday; and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. General museum admission is $4 for adults, $2 for children, senior citizens (65+) and full-time students, and free for children under age 7 and art museum members.

For recorded information, call (810) 645-3312.

Downtown lifestyle: The ease of getting around and plenty of things to get around to make living in suburban downtown communities attractive.

Downtowns thrive in suburbia

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Living in small-town America with a well-defined downtown, even inside suburban rings of a metropolis, still draws a great amount of interest.

Communities such as Birmingham, Rochester, Plymouth, Farmington and Clarkston thrive for lots of different reasons.

You know firsthand if you've ever visited. If you haven't, there are plenty of folks who will promote the splendor.

"I think the thing about living in downtown Farmington, number one before anything else, is people perceive it's a safe place," said Judy Downey, executive director of that city's downtown development authority.

"Plus, we keep it clean, as attractive as possible," she said. "We work hard to offer a variety of businesses so a person could shop downtown without driving to a mall."

Then Downey cut right to the chase. "I lived in a community once where I went from rural to downtown living. I didn't realize how convenient it was to walk to eat out, walk to the post office, library, park."

Nancy Austin, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Preferred, has lived in the city of Plymouth and has sold in that downtown community.

"I can tell you why I moved to town. I wanted my kids to walk to school and, after school, get to a job under their own power with a bicycle or walking," she said.

"They have a lot of family activity right in the heart of downtown - concerts in the park, movies are right there, shopping is right there. Bicycling and walking everywhere is wonderful," Austin added.

Janette Engelhardt, a Realtor with Max Broock in Birmingham, has lived in that community with a vibrant downtown for 32 years.

'People want to go back to small-town activity, to know and be known by people and a more personable lifestyle. People in a subdivision can go for months without seeing neighbors. There's no center of activity.'

"Whether you're a young, two-career couple, a young family with kids or empty-nesters... there's something for everyone," she said.

"People want to go back to small-town activity, to know and be known by people and a more personable lifestyle. People in a subdivision can go for months without seeing neighbors. There's no center of activity."

Linda Rea, a multi-million dollar annual producer with Real Estate One in Troy, says she's seen a trend back to living in suburban communities with downtowns in recent years.

"People want a sense of belonging," she said. "Before, it was wanting that country feeling."

"There's a sense of continuity in a downtown area," said Yvonne Teevens, an associate broker with Quality Better Homes & Gardens in Plymouth.

"You feel this is the center where you're living. You shop, not necessarily all the time (downtown) but it's available to you. Community events are available to you, the feeling of small-town charm," Teevens said.

Even residential builders who build houses with all the modern conveniences in outlying areas near suburban downtowns have touted the downtowns when promoting their projects.

Those include Bridge Valley and Clarkston Bluffs in Independence Township, Rolling Oaks in Plymouth Township and Carroll Farms in Farmington Hills.

"Plymouth still has the mystique of a small-town atmosphere still in demand," said Mike Zeid of Encore Custom Homes.

"People are wanting to come out here to enjoy what Clarkston is all about - a quaint, rural town," said developer A. Mathew Kiriluk II.

While the lifestyle can be highly attractive, houses in downtown communities generally aren't any more or less hot than houses in other subdivisions, agents concur.

"It's like anything else - if they're in good condition and priced right, they will go overnight," Austin said. Downtown living isn't for everyone.

The older housing stock needs more maintenance and won't have all the amenities of newer houses. Property taxes usually are higher. And it can be difficult to get around when crowds pour in for special events.

The owners of a $150,000 house in the city of Plymouth will pay $700 more annually in property taxes than the owners of a $150,000 house in Plymouth Township.

Taxes on a $150,000 house are nearly $700 higher in Birmingham (with a downtown) than Bloomfield Hills, $550 higher in Rochester (downtown) than Rochester Hills, and $500 higher in Farmington (downtown) than Farmington Hills.

"There's different levels of services sometimes provided by cities not provided by townships," said Paul J. Sincoc, assistant city manager in the city of Plymouth.

"You look at our community. We operate a cemetery, we operate a recreation department, we operate a parking system, we contribute pretty substantially to events in our community," he said.

"We sweep the streets and we collect everyone's leaves through bulk collection in fall," Sincoc said.

Judy Donegan, who lives in Plymouth with husband, Andrew, and daughter, Sarah, loves the downtown atmosphere.

"I guess the biggest thing is being able to walk to the bank, library, movie theater, shops and not feel every time I go somewhere I have to get in a car," she said. "I like being able to hear church bells."

Donegan concedes that while older houses are solidly built, they don't contain the amenities of modern construction like luxury master suites.

There's a limit to how much you can spend on remodeling, she said. "We don't want to be the biggest and best in a neighborhood. That's never a good real estate investment."

New rules make senior housing more available

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q: Senior citizen housing has become easier to obtain based on recent governmental regulations. Do you have any insight in that regard?

A: Yes. It appears that HUD has made a policy decision to make the rules as flexible and liberal as possible for senior citizen housing. Basically, while communities can no longer be adult only based on the Fair Housing Amendments Act, there is a loophole for housing for older persons if they meet the following criteria: (1) 80 percent of the units must be occupied by at least one person over the age of 55; (2) the community publishes policies and procedures demonstrating an intent to provide housing for people 55 and over; and (3) the community provides "significant facilities and services specifically designed to meet the physical or social needs of older persons." It is this latter requirement that has proved the most difficult but recent regulations published by HUD have liberalized and loosened these requirements. You are best advised, of course, to consult with an experienced attorney who can analyze your particular community association in regard to the recent regulations.

Q: I am a landlord of a shopping center and our anchor store has breached its contract and is moving out. They claim that they are obligated to pay the rent. Do you have any suggestions as to what my measure of damages might be since they were an important store in the shopping center attracting business?

A: I believe that you have a good argument that your measure of damages is more than ordinary contract damages that you would be entitled to in a breach of lease situation. Arguably, the measure of damages is the present worth of the property with the anchor store, less the present worth of the property without the anchor store.

Your argument, based upon a recent opinion of the North Carolina Court of Appeals, is that your shopping center had a loss in terms of its diminished market value. This is because the presence of the anchor store had presumably enabled it to draw customers, attract and keep other tenants, and obtain financing. Obviously, you may not be able to do this if your prime retail space is taken up by someone other than a prime anchor store.

Naturally, the contribution of each store determines the flow of business of the entire center and likewise, the store was the focal point of the entire shopping center and then you may well have a good argument for additional damages.

REAL ESTATE BRIEFS

Real estate briefs features news and notes on professional associations, office activities, upcoming meetings and seminars, new services/products and consumer publications.

Write: Real estate briefs, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, 48150. Our fax number is (313) 591-7279. ■ ERA to expand

ERA Franchise Systems, a residential real estate network, is expanding its franchise sales force in advance of an aggressive campaign to double the number of franchises by the year 2000.

Currently, ERA has more than 2,500 independently owned and operated offices throughout the U.S. and 14 other countries.

HFS, publicly-owned franchiser of hotels and real estate brokerages, acquired ERA in February.

"The way to increase market share is to sell more franchises to quality brokers and help our current base of broker members and sales associates become even more productive," said Fred Beilstein, ERA president and chief operating officer.

"This will be accomplished through the use of improved technology to support our product and service offerings," he said.

ERA has 16 franchise offices in the Detroit area, 13 in western Michigan.

■ Schweitzer acquisition
Coldwell Banker Schweitzer Real Estate, a member of the Coldwell Banker

Residential Affiliates, has acquired the Red Carpet Keim office at 1955 Woodward in Birmingham.

Schweitzer plans to relocate its current Royal Oak office to that Keim location.

Al Butts, broker/owner of the Keim office, will remain in the organization as associate broker in sales. Gary Jones, manager of the Schweitzer Royal Oak office, will remain as manager of the new mega-office.
