Police probe fatal accident

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Wayne police are investigating the death of a 21-year-old Westland man who died during a two-vehicle crash that occurred on a fog-shrouded early morning on Michigan Avenue at Hannon.

Matthew J. Cochick, a landscaper whose hobbies included motorcycles, dirt bikes, hunting, fishing and baseball, died from chest injuries he suffered during the 3 a.m. Dec. 28 accident, Wayne Deputy Police Chief Kerry Webb said.

Cochick was traveling eastbound on Michigan Avenue in his Ford Escort when he collided with a Ford Ranger pickup being driven north on Hannon by 21-year-old Wayne Schumacher of Canton Township, Webb said.

Schumacher suffered head injuries and a broken pelvis, among other injuries, and he was initially placed on a respirator, Webb said. However, he has since been released from the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Webb said.

Schumacher's pickup was struck on the driver's side by Cochick's Escort, he said.

Cochick died about 5 a.m. at Oakwood Hospital/Annapolis Center-Wayne - two hours after the accident. Police believe that he wasn't wearing his seat belt.

"It appears that he wasn't," Webb said. Several witnesses saw the accident, Webb said, but police still haven't pinpointed its cause. They have theories that Webb couldn't discuss at length, but, he added, "we don't know for sure what happened."

Police are awaiting toxicology reports that will show whether alcohol was involved.

Schools seek more funding

Wayne-Westland school board president Patricia Brown has two major goals: obtain renewal of a 3-mill enhancement tax levy and get voter approval of a bond issue for repairs and new technology.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Facing a $5 million budget shortfall, deteriorating buildings and scarce classroom computer technology, Wayne-Westland schools have entered 1997 with a critical need for more money, school board president Patricia Brown said.

Given the bleak forecast, Brown cited two major school board goals during an interview focusing on the rocky year ahead:

- School officials need to convince state legislators to allow them to seek a now-forbidden renewal of a 3-mill enhancement tax levy that expires in June.

- Officials must plan to seek voter approval of a bond issue for school building repairs and new classroom technology.

"Those are two very big goals," Brown said.

School officials have made some strides to reduce a $5 million deficit that had been projected for June 30.

Some district properties have been sold, and officials are now marketing the old Wilson and Monroe schools, Patricia Brand, assistant superintendent of business, said Friday.

Brand is hopeful that the $5 million deficit can be reduced to $1.8 million by June 30, but officials are struggling to erase the remaining red ink.

District leaders want to avoid returning to budget cuts of previous years, when the board eliminated transportation and forced students to pay fees for sports and other extracurricular activities.

But, Brand conceded, "transportation will be evaluated. Every program in the district will be evaluated."

"This is not a Birmingham or a Livonia or a Plymouth-Canton where we have a lot of extra programs to begin with," she said.

Sears project on track

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Construction crews have begun building a new Sears store that is expected to open for business next fall at Westland Shopping Center.

"As far as I know we're on schedule," Sears senior real estate director Chet Wolan said Friday from his Chicago office.

The $21 million project will include a two-level, 170,000-square-foot Sears department store and a separate, 15,000-square-foot automotive center on the mall's northwest side.

"We're delighted to have them at the mall," said Mike Dzman, director of development for Compass Retail Inc., the Atlanta-based owner of Westland Center. "Sears is a dominant department store in the United States, and specifically in the Detroit area."

Casey Hans

Beginning today, Jan. 6, Casey Hans will serve as interim editor of the Westland Observer.

Hans' appointment is in preparation for the Observer's new Sunday edition that will debut in February, said Susan Rosiek, managing editor of the Observer Newspapers.

"We look forward to continuing our award-winning delivery of community news to the Westland community," said Rosiek.

Hans has coordinated health and business coverage for the Wayne County editions and also served most recently as interim editor of the Canton edition.

"Westland is a busy, thriving city, and I am pleased to be here," Hans said. "I look forward to becoming part of the community."

From 1985-93, Hans worked as a reporter for the Farmington and Southfield editions of the Observer & Eccentric and since October of 1995 has worked for the newspaper group as a reporter and copy editor.

From May 1993 to October 1995, she was information coordinator for Canton Township's Municipal Services Department, handling a variety of communication and special project tasks for building, planning, engineering public works and the townships' parks and recreation

Honors graduate

Holly Featherston of Westland has graduated magna cum laude from Western Michigan University. She received a bachelor of science degree in psychology and was the recipient of the WMU academic scholarship.

She is a member of the Golden Key National Honor Society and a participant in the Best of America Volunteer Program, which targeted elementary children for drug prevention and building self-esteem.

A 1992 honors graduate from Franklin High School in the Livonia district, she also attended Schoolcraft College before attending WMU, making the dean's list and receiving the Schoolcraft trustee scholarship.

Council meeting today (Monday), council members are scheduled to consider a revised site plan for the store.

Some parking areas are proposed to be realigned, allowing construction crews to retain the greenbelt along Wayne Road, Westland Planning Director Tod Kilroy said Friday.

Kilroy called the latest plan a positive development in the Sears project.

Ed McHale, the mall's assistant general manager, has said the Sears store will make Westland Center even more competitive with other area malls.

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas has said the Sears project will play a vital role in helping the mall to retain its customer base and to draw new shoppers.

He had earlier voiced fears that the mall could begin to deteriorate and lose customers if Sears had chosen to locate elsewhere.

The Sears project follows completion of a $3 million expansion of Kohl's department store on the shopping center's east end.

Kohl's - No. 2 in business for the 132-store chain - was expanded from 65,773 square feet to 90,773 square feet in time for the 1996 holiday shopping season.

The Sears project is expected to bring 450 jobs to Westland Center, including 150 full-time workers, officials have said.

Construction will continue through much of 1997, amid hopes of opening the store in the fall. Wolan said Sears representatives are excited about having a store in Westland.

"It's a very stable community that's underserved by Sears at this time," he said.

The project last year received near-unanimous support from the city council. Only Councilman Charles Pickering voted against it, because he opposes using $1.5 million in city money for such measures as relocating utilities and realigning parking areas.

The city money comes from the Tax Increment Finance Authority, which uses tax revenues generated in an area surrounding Westland Center to spur economic development.

this accident," Webb said, but he declined to elaborate until the toxicology reports have been received.

Police also are awaiting the results of a study that will determine whether vehicle headlights were turned on at the time.

Again, Webb said it was premature to discuss the issue at length.

At the time of the accident, Michigan Avenue was so shrouded in fog that visibility was believed to be no more than 200 to 300 feet, the deputy chief said.

"It was foggy and misty," he said.

At 3 a.m., Cochick would have encountered a flashing caution traffic light on Michigan Avenue, while Schumacher would have faced a blinking red light on Hannon, Webb said.

Based on witnesses' statements, he said, it doesn't appear that a traffic light was ignored.

It could be several weeks before police receive the results of studies that will help to determine the cause of the accident, Webb said.

Services for Cochick were Dec. 31 at Vermeulen Funeral Home in Westland, with the Rev. Leonard Partensky officiating. Interment was in Knollwood Memorial Park in Canton.

Survivors include his parents, John and Wilma Cochick; a brother, Martin (Julie) Cochick of Garden City; three sisters, Michelle (Chris) Rakovalis of Westland, Melissa (Michael) Majorana of Nashville, Tenn., and Melinda (John) Faunce of Rex, Ga.

ton Township, is planning a second meeting with Wayne-Westland officials to hear their pitch for state approval to seek a renewal of the 3-mill tax that expires June 30.

Under Proposal A - a 1994 voter-approved tax-slashing plan that limits tax-hike requests - the Wayne-Westland board has no power to ask voters to renew the 3 mills.

Bennett and school officials held local talks prior to the holidays, and a second meeting is scheduled Wednesday in Lansing, Brand said.

School officials are well aware that they face an uphill battle in their quest to seek a tax renewal.

Wayne-Westland's revenues plunged about $10 million a year in the wake of Proposal A, Brand said, and officials fear a return to deficit spending.

"We're trying to stay away from cutting transportation and going back to pay-to-play," Brown said.

Aside from the talks with Bennett, Brown has begun sending E-mail to state legislators to raise their awareness of Wayne-Westland's problems.

Meanwhile, Brown said school leaders in 1997 need to prepare to ask voters to approve a bond issue - amount unknown - for building repairs and classroom computer technology.

She said an election could be scheduled next winter.

"The physical condition of our buildings is very poor," Brown said. "We know we have to look at a bond issue."

School board members have given Superintendent Duane Moore and his administration the go-ahead to explore legal issues pertaining to a bond issue, she said.

Some questions still loom, such as whether the board would seek one bond issue or propose separate ballot questions for building improvements and classroom technology.

"We're behind the times with technology," Brown said. "We are sitting right now in some elementary schools with one computer that can get on the Internet. And some schools have 400 or 500 students."

When officials close in on an election date, Brown said a committee will be formed to decide issues such as whether to propose one or two ballot questions.

Moreover, each school would be told what improvements to expect if voters approve the measures.

"The parents will know exactly what's going to come into their schools," Brown said. "It will be up to each building to buy into it. And the money can't be spent on anything else."

Some jobs keep workers out in cold

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
STAFF WRITER

Whether it is dedication to their employers or a love for the job, some Michiganders are facing the cold weather head on. Of course, they put on gloves, long johns and warm socks as they find themselves working outdoors despite the chill of winter.

"I know there are four seasons here (in Michigan), and I just accept it," said Dan Holt, a Garden City resident and tow truck driver.

As assistant service manager at Mel's Auto Clinic at 46460 Ford Road in Canton Township, Holt thinks ahead before going out to rescue a stranded driver.

"I dress in (insulated) overalls," he said. For those especially cold days, he also wears gloves and a baseball cap.

"I'm out there for about 15 minutes," he said when asked how long he has to bear the cold to get the job done.

Valet service

Enduring the weather is a much greater task however for Farmington Hills resident Jerry Klein. He owns Metro Parking valet service and works outside Ernesto's Restaurant, 41661 Plymouth Road in Plymouth, hours at a time.

"It takes time, but you get used to it," he said about working in cold weather. He stressed the importance of warm clothing. "I dress in layers, and it is very important to wear a hat and gloves," he said.

He also takes Vitamin C supplements.

"It's not as bad as people think," he said, only to remember a night that he worked until 1 a.m. with no cubby to find shelter, "unless it gets to 17 below (or so)."

Klein is careful not to over-dress however, because he believes that can actually cut off blood circulation.

Despite the downs of his business, Klein remains loyal to his job and his customers. He insists he would not want another job.

"I like my job," he said. He admitted he also like the tips, especially in the winter when more people use valet service.

"We're a very service-oriented group," he said. "No one wants to suffer through the cold so they drop their car off at the door."

Airport police

Meanwhile, Bruce Preston of Canton Township is concentrating not only on keeping himself warm those cold days, but also his partner, Angel.

Preston and his canine patrol Detroit Metro Airport, directing traffic, answering questions and searching airplanes.

After 22 years of employment, Preston has learned a thing or two about working in cold weather. Most importantly he said, "You have to dress according to the weather condition."

"You wear heavy gloves and a hat which covers the ears. If you can keep the extremities warm, you can stay out there for a while."

"But once you get those extremities cold, you have to go in and warm up," he said.

Preston, a licensed teacher, admits that while he sometimes wonders what it would be like to work inside on a cold day, he would never trade in his job.

"To me, this is about the best place you could ever work," he said, explaining his reason. "I'm helping people."

Public service

Tom Wilson, a water crew leader for the Westland Department of Public Service, also knows about helping people. The Hamburg Township resident helps restore water to residents after a water main break.

"I've actually had gloves freeze on my hands," said the 13-year city employee. "But if you keep moving, you stay warm."

Wilson and Kevin Buford, a third-year equipment operator for the construction and maintenance branch of Westland's Department of Public Service, spend seven out of eight hours each day working outside.

"But when the wind chill factor drops below zero, we can rotate in and out of the truck," said Buford, of Oak Park. "Unlike his (Tom Wilson's) job, there is no time aspect to our job." For example, they get a list of roads that need to be salted, but no specific time frame by which they need to complete the assignment.

Whereas "if a water main breaks in the winter, we need to fix it immediately," said Wilson.

Firefighters

Fire fighting also requires immediate attention, regardless of the weather.

"I've been on a number of fires where it is 10, 12 degrees below zero," said Gary Burke, battalion chief of the Redford Fire Department. "Our equipment keeps us warm, but only until we get wet."

After that, the public servants rotate people between the action and a warm van.

"If we're out on a long fire, we call the Salvation Army and they come out with coffee, some extra gloves and a heated van," said the South Lyon resident with 23 years experience. "We also keep spare gloves in the truck."

When all the gloves have gotten wet, the men compromise.

"We ring them out and put them over the exhaust," he said, explaining that wet clothing can add as much as 15 pounds to their 50 pounds of equipment.

Station attendant

Oklahoma gas station draws customers from all around, especially during the winter. One reason is the service.

"I've been told that there is only one other gas station in the area (that pumps your gas for you)," said Marie Landin, manager of the gas station, located on the corner of Eckles and Plymouth Road in Livonia. "But I've been doing this for over 20 years."

Like all the others outdoor workers, Landin said the key to staying warm is layering.

"Lots of layers."

What about hats and gloves? "That's a must during the winter time," she said.

Landin will not let Mother Nature chill her spirit however. The Plymouth Township resident said she loves her job and loves working with the public.

"We have got a lot of older people coming in and they rely on us to pump their gas."

News carrier

Andrew Brockie, of Garden City, is another person with a job on which people rely. He has delivered the Garden City Observer for more than 3 years.

"You just have to go with it," he said about the cold weather. With 45 houses on his route, Brockie always dresses warm with a good coat, hat, gloves and shoes. When it gets real cold however, his mom helps by driving him through his route.

Ice festival awaits eager crowd

By JEFF COUNTS
STAFF WRITER

The ice carving display that annually attracts more than 500,000 people to the Plymouth community each January is turning 15 years old, organizers are using "silver" as the theme.

"We've got a special commemorative poster this year," said Mike Watts, who runs the event. "It will be available at local stores during the event."

The poster features a graphic drawing of an ice sculpture done last year and will sell for $10. A limited edition poster signed by the designer will sell for $25.

The poster was designed by Robert Smiley, a computer graphics instructor at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit and at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The festival will kick off on Wednesday, Jan. 15, and run through Monday, Jan. 20. It's located in and around Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

The poster isn't the only thing new slated for the festival. This year a light show will replace ground fireworks.

"We try to offer something new each year," said Watts.

The Bud-Ice 24-Hour Light Show will be ongoing in Kellogg Park and at Fantasyland, a collection of ice carvings at The Gathering, near the park.

A wedding could also take place during the ice festival.

A radio station is looking for a couple that wants to get married during the event, said Watts.

Also new this year will be a carousel made from not only ice carvings, but also painted wood, said Watts. "It's our centerpiece and will be in the fountain in Kellogg Park."

Another new feature will be a food concession and warming place set up at the Plymouth Rock Masonic Lodge near Kellogg Park.

Directory published

The 1997 Westland Chamber of Commerce Membership Directory and Community Guide will be released at the end of January, announced executive director Linda Shapona.

Specialty Communications Inc., took part in advertising sales and production. The directory will be sent by direct mail to more than 26,000 residents and businesses.

The directory consists of two sections: the Community Guide and the Chamber of Commerce section. The Community Guide offer information about community resources, events and relocation information.

The chamber section not only provides information about the chamber, but features members in a categorical and alphabetized section to make it easy to identify local resources for needed products and services.

Directories will be distributed at the chamber office for relocation purposes, new member packets and to interested businesses.

Many business members have advertised in the publication, because it will be used for a reference year-round for residents, businesses and organizations. For membership information visit the Chamber Home Page at <http://www.westland.org>

Speaker planned

The next speaker for the Westland Chamber of Commerce business luncheon will be Gary Fischer of the Madonna University's School of Business.

His topic will be "The Redesign of the Human Resource Function."

The event will be held at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the Hellenic Cultural Center. Admission is $13 for members and reservations are required. Free Expo tables are available and can be reserved when you call in your reservation.

The chamber holds these luncheons to facilitate networking among area businesses and organizations and to educate their members on business topics.

The event is normally held the second Tuesday of the month at the Hellenic Cultural Center, 36375 Joy Road between Newburgh and Wayne Road.

Reservations can be made by calling 326-7222 and a 24 hour cancellation notice is required.

Season tickets available

The chamber has initiated season tickets for the monthly business luncheons. The season ticket is part of the chamber's efforts to make the luncheon more user-friendly.

The cost of the annual ticket is $140. This is a $16 savings off the regular member price of $156 a year. Tickets are valid from January through December 1997 and must be marked at the registration table.

New Leads Club

Businesses who are looking for ways to gain new leads should contact the chamber. In an announcement, chamber officials stated as part of their 1997 Program of Work, the plans call for the formation of a Leads Club.

The first meeting of the club is 8 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the chamber office, 36900 Ford. The Leads Club is an opportunity for non-competing businesses to share leads. The club is limited to chamber members who are in non-competing business categories. Member participation is limited to a first-come, first-served basis.

Solomon wins re-election as commission chair

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

With two new sports stadia, casino gambling and the expansion of Detroit Metro Airport, Ricardo Solomon expects 1997 to be a banner year for Wayne County.

Solomon, a Democrat and commissioner representing the 7th District in Detroit, was unanimously chosen Friday to lead the 15-members of the commission for another year as commission chairman.

Kay Beard, also a Democrat, who represents Garden City, Westland and Inkster, was selected in a unanimous vote to be the vice chair, while Edna Bell, a Detroit Democrat, was chosen as vice chair pro tem for 1997.

All three commissioners return to the same appointed positions they held in 1996.

Conrad Mallett, who just last week was appointed chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, swore in the three commissioners into their leadership posts.

Solomon thanked the commissioners for their faith in him and thanked God for the "season of renewal" in Wayne County.

"I learned the last two years that it isn't easy to chair anything," Solomon said. "But I appreciate the vote of confidence from you."

Solomon cited the commission's work during the 1995-96 legislative agenda, in strengthening the office of auditor general, saving the county millions of dollars through cost cutting measures and the airport expansion.

Solomon also cited the development of the Northville county-owned site for a golf course and various housing developments as the commission working for the positive good of the entire county to include minority contractors. He hoped a one-mill for park development could include improvements in all county parks.

Beard appreciated her colleagues' support to return as vice chair.

"It's been fun to be part of this renewal in Wayne County," Beard said. "As Detroit goes, so does Wayne County, and in many ways, so does the state."

All 15 commissioners — now 13 Democrats and two Republicans — were administered oaths of office.

Commissioner Bruce Patterson, R-Canton, was sworn in by Probate Judge Milton Mack, who formerly represented Patterson's 11th District.

Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who represents Redford Township and part of Livonia, took her oath from her father Edward Plawecki Jr., a former county commissioner and 20th District judge.

Beard received an oath from 22nd District Judge Sylvia James. Beard told commissioners she was "blessed" because she was sworn in by judges in each of her communities she has represented.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, was also administered an oath by Plawecki, who resides in McCotter's district.

The event also featured friends and family members of commissioners. Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer and County Executive Ed McNamara attended the ceremony.

Solomon acknowledged that the commissioners "do not always" agree with McNamara.

"I do believe he is a good decent man who believes in what he is doing," Solomon said.

Terminal improvements on tap for Metro Airport

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Air travelers at Detroit Metropolitan Airport can expect to see $60 million in interim improvements at the airport's terminals throughout the year.

This year's improvements are part of the $1.6 billion airport expansion expected to be completed by 2000.

Gates will be added. Federal inspection services will be increased in the International Terminal. Rampside passenger shuttle will be extended from Concourse G to Concourse C.

"Northwest expects to complete the Concourse C expansion this year," said Mike Conway, community relations manager for Metro Airport. "They will complete a walkway, which we've never had before."

The baggage claim area also will be expanded, Conway said.

County officials believe the expansion will create thousands of jobs in the Detroit area, increase international service and make flight connections quicker and easier.

Metro Airport handled over 28 million passengers in 1995. It is the 9th biggest airport in North America, and 13th in the world in passengers.

Nearly 1,400 flights arrive and depart daily. Annual passenger growth has been 10 percent annually, twice the average of U.S. airports.

Design work on the midfield terminal is expected to be completed this winter.

That terminal will house 74 gates, midfield ramps, taxi ways, arrival and departure roadways, an international and domestic terminal and 5,000-car parking garage.

Plans also call for the construction of a fourth parallel runway and a new south access road.

The midfield terminal — a $786 million project — is expected to be completed by December 2000. It will house 64 domestic gates and 10 international gates, with an option to add nine additional domestic and two international gates by 2010.

The additional parking will give the airport 17,000 spaces. Motorists will have access from I-275 from the south and allow less taxiing time from runways to gates.

Plans also call for wider corridors, increased curb-fronts, and pickup and dropoff areas for arriving and departing passengers. An overhead tram will be added to quicken movement between the gates.

The $1.6 billion project will be split among several funding sources. Northwest Airlines will pay $765 million, while other airlines finance $285 million. Federal funds are expected to equal about $276 million, and $225 million picked up from other sources.

Officials expect the expansion will help add to international business. Additional non-stop international flights is expected to attract business from Europe and Asia.

At least 678 foreign-owned firms operate in Greater Detroit and employ 75,840 people. More than 81 percent of these firms are headquartered in Japan, Germany, France, Canada or the United Kingdom — countries that are served with direct, non-stop flights from Metro Airport.

Habitat seeks area volunteers for summer building program

By ZACHARY GORCHOW
STAFF WRITER

A semi-annual project that has played an instrumental role in revitalizing a northwest Detroit neighborhood returns this June and is looking for suburban support.

Habitat for Humanity/Detroit plans to build 20 homes in an area located near Evergreen and Schoolcraft roads as part of its "Blitz Build 1997."

Donna Crabtree, Habitat for Humanity/Detroit development director, said the organization is looking for "thousands" of volunteers to help build homes and make the program successful. The homes are designed for low-income working families.

The neighborhood has made remarkable progress, Crabtree said.

"It's incredibly exciting to watch holes in the ground become full-fledged houses," she

■ '(Blitz Build)' is a real linchpin because it gives the community some hope and optimism. We got that same type of renaissance mentality because we can now leverage some reinvestment into the city.'

John O'Brien
neighborhood director said. "Obviously, that tells you that Mayor Archer and (Wayne County Executive) Ed McNamara are in full support of this."

Crabtree said the new emphasis on housing development in Detroit has helped produce neighborhood renewal.

"It's critical from the aspect that Habitat for Humanity is trying to rebuild Detroit one house, one brick at a time," she said. "It's been a long time since new homes have been the focus in Detroit."

Building new homes has boosted community morale because the new housing has improved the neighborhood's safety, Crabtree said.

"This is a way for them to get out of poverty housing and quite possibly from a neighborhood that would be considered unsafe for their family," she said. "It's a neighborhood that has a lot of promise."

After helping build the house, the family must commit 400 hours to working on other Habitat for Humanity projects, Crabtree said. Both conditions are a part of a contract to which new homeowners must agree.

"This is a way out, not a hand-out," she said.

Rebuilt: Habitat for Humanity is looking for volunteers to help build houses like this one at 14306 Plainview in Detroit. The Plainview street home was built by volunteers in August 1995.

John O'Brien, Northwest Detroit Neighborhood development director, said the gradual renovation of the neighborhood required a commitment to breaking through apathy that had gripped its residents.

"We've been working in this community for six years now," he said. "There has been a real sense of helplessness — people wanted to get out of the community."

Helping residents escape decrepit homes for new ones has improved the neighborhood's morale, O'Brien said.

"The 'Blitz Build' has been a key component in making it happen," he said.

A key element to restoring the community's pride in itself was that the neighborhood still had a core of hardworking residents to build on, despite drug use and prostitution, O'Brien said.

"Logic said we knew there were still enough good people living in the community," he said. "We've taken control of the streets back from adolescent gang activity. This is a place to move into."

The June project is vital to the neighborhood's continuing success, O'Brien said.

"(Blitz Build) is a real linchpin because it gives the community some hope and optimism," he said. "We got that same type of renaissance mentality because we can now leverage some reinvestment into the city."

Persons who wish to contribute money or volunteer to help build the houses can call (313) 521-6691.

Local family looks for closure in tragic death of daughter

BY ZACHARY GORCHOW
STAFF WRITER

The arrest of two suspects in the murder of Livonia native Deborah Iverson has been met with relief from her parents, who hope forthcoming court proceedings will help put closure on their daughter's death.

After a seven-month investigation that had seemingly hit a dead end, police arrested Clawson residents Anitra Coomer and McConnell Adams Jr., both 21, Tuesday for allegedly kidnapping, robbing and strangling Iverson on May 16. Officers had received an anonymous tip.

Barbara Budd, Iverson's mother, expressed gratitude that her daughter's killers may have been found.

"It's in the hands of the law now," said Budd, who has lived in Livonia since 1953. "There were times when we wondered what was going to come next. But with the detectives that were working on it, we knew they'd keep working at it until it was resolved."

Dr. Richard Budd, Deborah's father, said the arrests relieved him because the public would hopefully stop speculating on who killed his daughter. Iverson's husband, Robert, was an initial suspect in the slaying, but was later cleared.

"It helps remove the shadow of suspicion over family members," he said.

In an apparent random act of violence, the couple allegedly kidnapped Iverson, who grew up in Livonia and graduated from Stevenson High School, from a Birmingham parking lot and forced her into her Toyota Landcruiser, according to police.

The pair allegedly kidnapped Iverson by parking next to her vehicle and blocking the entrance to her car by opening the passenger side door of their vehicle, police said.

Iverson had gone to an appointment with her psychiatrist. After that, she was going to pick up her son from Detroit Country Day School in Bloomfield Township.

Adams and Coomer allegedly then forced her to write two checks for $1,300. After allegedly cashing the checks, they drove out to rural Macomb County, near Stony Creek Metropark and strangled Iverson to death with a belt.

Budd said the apparent random nature of the act should give area residents reason to pause.

"I think people are going to have to back off and take a look at society," she said. "There's too much of this going on. People shouldn't have to live this way."

Adams and Coomer were arraigned at a Rochester Hills district court Wednesday. Because they stood mute when asked for a plea, Judge James Sheehy entered pleas of not guilty for them on charges of first-degree murder, felony murder and kidnapping.

Festival to showcase student films, videos

The 1997 Michigan Student Film and Video Festival will be Saturday, May 3 at the Detroit Film Theatre in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

This festival is the only event of this kind in the United States which showcases productions from children in kindergarten through 12th grade. The major focus of the festival is to positively reinforce children's participation in film and video production.

All entries are awarded with a certificate and medal. Selected winners also receive various special awards including scholarships. The festival is organized by Detroit Area Film and Television (DAFT), a charitable statewide educational association.

The festival is open to students from Michigan public schools, private schools, cable companies, community service organizations, or can be produced by children independently at home. Students compete in either the elementary, junior or senior levels, depending on their age.

In addition, handicapped children may choose to enter their programs in a special division where they would only compete against other handicapped children of their own age.

The festival is a juried event. Student entrants are given the judges' evaluations plus written suggestions on how to improve their production, as an educational support for their growth and development as student media makers.

For more information contact festival director, Margaret Culver, Harrison High School, 29995 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills, 48334 or call (810) 489-3491.

Dentistry in the 90's

by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.

BRIDGE TO THE FUTURE

The fixed dental restoration known as a bridge is commonly used to replace no more than four adjacent front teeth or two side teeth. Like a highway bridge, it is supported by two abutments, which are sound teeth on either side of the gap. The span, or "pontic," is a metal framework attached to the abutments at each end, with the necessary number of attached artificial teeth. When properly crafted, the artificial teeth and abutment crowns should not only match the contour and color of natural teeth, but they should appear to be growing out of the gums. However, the pontic should barely touch the gums because exerting unnecessary pressure on the gums and underlying bone can damage them. There should also be sufficient space on the underside of the pontic so that dental floss can be passed beneath it to keep it clean.

If you need answers to your questions about bridges, don't hesitate to contact us at LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES. Our recommendations for dental treatment are always in the best interest of the patient. We are located at 1971 Merriman Road, where you can enjoy dentistry of the 21st century in an up-to-date setting with the latest techniques and materials. For family oriented dental care, please call 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. Smiles are our business.

A.S. The fixed bridge known as the "Mansfield Bridge" utilizes metal onlays bonded to the inside surfaces of the front teeth and the biting surfaces of the molars, instead of complete crowns, to anchor the pontic.

The M-CARE Senior Plan is a product of M-CARE, a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) with a Medicare contract. Anyone with Medicare may apply, including those under age 65 entitled to Medicare on the basis of Social Security Disability Benefits. Members must continue paying Medicare premiums. Senior Plan Members must use M-CARE Plan Providers and contracted pharmacies. An M-CARE Sales Representative will be present at the informational meeting and provide more information and application forms. Persons receiving Medicare benefits for End-Stage Renal Disease (ESRD) or Hospice Care are not eligible for the M-CARE Senior Plan.

BEAUTY AND THE BEST

Finding a stylist takes some work

From the mail I've been receiving, I'm led to believe that a lot of you have many questions about hairdressers — like how to find one. Though I am not one, I have certainly had plenty of experience working in the salon environment over the years.

There are many professional, talented and pleasant stylists, colorists, and shop owners out there. The key of course is to find one that fits your needs.

I think that you should approach this search the way you would for a new doctor. You need to be in charge of the situation. Ask friends who have hair that looks great, seek recommendations everywhere, and you will notice that some names come up repeatedly. That is your first indication of where to begin your search.

You need to find a stylist who will take the time to listen to you, and to tell you what is realistic for your hair type and lifestyle. These people should not be treated as gods. Do not "put yourself in their hands." Never let the words "just do whatever you like" cross your lips.

The salon worker is not a mind reader — you have to give them something to work with. Explain how much time you are willing to spend each day on your hair. Are you in business, work around the house, spend the day training horses? Information like this is what they need to make an informed opinion.

In the past, if you have spent all day at the salon, spent $500, tipped everybody, and walked out to your car and cried — then you need to examine the way you were treated, the way you communicated with both the stylist and the owner, and determine a way to get satisfaction. The salon would dearly love to keep you as a client, unless of course you do this just for a hobby.

If you are considering a real change, a new color, or something major, if you are visiting a salon for the first time — before you let anyone touch your hair, ask to speak to the owner. Tell him/her what you would like, what you are aiming for, and that if they agree to do this, then you will not pay for the services if you are not satisfied. Do not go into the salon demanding something without being willing to listen to their professional advice. If they sound unwilling to do what you want, perhaps try to persuade you to do something else, get a second and a third opinion. If all of these opinions do not go your way, then maybe they are right, and what you are expecting is not achievable.

When you go to a salon, put your best face forward. Take the time to do your hair, put on make-up and give the salon an idea of how you want to present yourself to the world. As with most things, lack of communication causes 90 percent of the problems. If you ask for a trim, you should be able to tell with the first snip whether the stylist is going to give you what you asked for, or whether you will end up looking like me. That is the time to stop them, not after half-an-hour of hacking.

If a stylist recommends certain products to you to maintain the look, they are not just trying to make a sale. You will be walking around for the next six weeks as an advertisement for their work, and it is important to them that you look your best. You may be in the habit of browsing at Bloomingdale's and buying at Walmart, but don't expect to achieve the same results. Your face and your hair are the first things that people notice, not your wardrobe or shoes.

When all is finished, and you have a new look/successful cut, keep in mind that you hair may go into shock. Don't be dismayed if the next morning your hair flops — doesn't look as great as it did yesterday. Just re-wash it, re-style it, and you'll find it was just the initial shock that made it look different. Whatever you do, don't panic and go storming back to the salon.

You've heard me talking about the Ginger Rogers and Barbara Eden syndromes. The last thing you want to be is an object of ridicule with your hair a cliché. If you see somebody in the salon getting a better haircut or treatment, don't be afraid to change stylists. It can be handled diplomatically, ask the owner for guidance.

I feel a little like the one-legged man who coaches runners, but I think you'll agree that with a sense of humor most problems can be solved. Well at least your hair will grow back in time — wish I could say the same.

I work, personally, with over 50 salons in the metropolitan Detroit area. Give me a ring and I'll be more than happy to recommend one.

SPECIAL WRITER

Almost until the day Jules R. Schubot died, customers would approach him at social functions and ask, "What's in your pocket, Jules?" You see, from his days as an usher at the Bonstelle Theater in downtown Detroit, Schubot was a pocket peddler of sorts. He always carried rings, necklaces and jewels on him. Backstage, the likes of Jack Benny and Milton Berle would literally buy the merchandise from his pockets.

Eventually, Schubot set up shop, first on Madison Avenue, then in the Metropolitan Building in Detroit, but he never stopped the practice of carrying jewelry in his pocket.

He would call on Henry Ford and well-to-do industrial executives at their place of business, pulling strings of diamonds and pearls from his pockets for their perusal.

"My dad started in 1917 as a pocket salesman," said Douglas Schubot who carries on the family tradition of selling fine jewelry at Jules R. Schubot Jewellers in Troy. "One time, he was at New York Yankees game when a woman asked him, 'What's in your pocket?' He pulled out a 27-carat emerald-cut diamond ring. It fit her and she bought it right on the spot! My dad was a big sports fan. When they were in town, all the Yankees would come to him. He did business at the Standard Club in the Book Building, not sitting in an office."

During a recent interview on WJR radio, Douglas Schubot carried one million dollar's worth of diamond necklaces and rings into the studio in his coat pocket. Just like his father Jules, the jewelry business is in the 66-year-old Schubot's blood. Now, he's passing down the love for selling upscale jewelry to his 34-year-old son Brian.

"An impressive, imposing man, my dad had a talent for knowing what people wanted. He knew where to get it and how to sell it," said Schubot who started in the business some 52 years ago.

Douglas and his wife Sydel, who sold her first piece of Schubot jewelry in the mid 1960s, have the same knack. They travel throughout the world in search of the finest designers and manufacturers of 18 carat and platinum jewelry, then the husband and wife team hand-select each piece.

"You can take three diamond necklaces and they look dead. They don't sparkle. Even if it's an earring you notice the quality of the diamonds," said Sydel.

After his father died in 1970, Douglas, gave himself a year to make the business work. In 1977, he moved the business to the Big Beaver/Golden Corridor of Troy. In 1991, renovations expanded the luxurious space from 2,000 to 4,000 square feet. Appointments such as Lalique door pulls and glass, not solid doors, invite the customer inside. The extensive selection of jewelry and watches by Piaget, Patek Philippe, Vacheron & Constantin, Cartier, and Rolex sells itself.

Douglas Schubot, jeweller

"The nature of the business has changed over the years. From the hard times of the Great Depression to today, it's been up and down. We were cresting the 1980s until the government imposed the excise tax on luxury items. Sales dropped 30 percent in 1990. The tax killed us. Our sales over $10,000 were nil."

"Boat companies went out of business, but we hung on. It came off in 1992-93 but by then the casual look at the office came in further setting back luxury items. But it's starting to turn around again. People are tired of casual Monday through Friday and want to dress up Saturday night," said Schubot.

Trends in jewelry have fluctuated as well. In the Roaring '20's, 18-carat gold and platinum were all the rage. "In the 1940s, jewelry was mostly rose-gold because the military needed the silver during World War II. Back then, the style was big, clunky pins set with aquamarine," recalled Schubot.

Family ties: The Schubots weathered several different storms to stay afloat in a very competitive, topsy turvy business. Now they say, the tide is turned in their favor, as the quest for quality motivates consumers.

"Ten years ago, it was flash. The classic example of the 80's is the tennis bracelet. In the 70's, we were selling them as blue jean bracelets. Women wore them with their blue jeans on their watch hand," added Brian, a Michigan State University graduate and a Certified Gemologist Appraiser who began working in the business 11 years ago.

"Where we are going as an industry is back to a respect for quality. Craftsmanship is to be valued. It's a throwback to 50 years ago when the customer wasn't buying for price but quality, design and something they liked. Jewelry is one of the few areas where the independent has the edge. We don't carry duplicates. Our community isn't big enough to sell duplicates of the same piece of jewelry."

Service is just as important as the quality and individuality of Schubot jewelry. No matter when a customer walks through the door, they can be assured a Schubot is on the premise, offering nearly 100 years of combined knowledge.

"If a man is looking for a gift for his wife, a bracelet is the easiest to sell, earrings are the hardest. Most men couldn't tell you if their wife has pierced ears. If she hasn't expressed an opinion, it is safest to go with a bracelet," said Douglas.

Married for 42 years, Douglas and Sydel, work side-by-side six days a week. On the seventh day, he plays golf while she takes some time for herself in their Franklin home.

"Working together gave us a great opportunity to know one another. How can you not like working here surrounded by all this beauty?" asked Sydel. "But communication is the key. We're on the same wavelength."

New team takes reins at Hudson's

Dennis Toffolo, Hudson's retiring president, announced management appointments in three positions.

Tom Tennyson has been promoted to regional director, John Graber to store manager of Hudson's Twelve Oaks and Tom Nugent to store manager of Hudson's Westland.

Tennyson began his retail career as an intern with Dayton's in 1981. Since that time he has held several buying positions for the Dayton Hudson Department Store Division and most recently was the Divisional Merchandise Manager of Jewelry and Hosiery.

As Hudson's regional director, Tennyson will be responsible for supporting the company's strategic direction focusing on guest service, distinctive and trend forward merchandising, company-wide communication and internal management development for a group of seven stores: Oakland, Genesee Valley, Lakeside, Lansing Mall, Meridian Mall, Grand Traverse and Fashion Square.

Tennyson will also oversee Hudson's 23rd store, scheduled to open in fall of 1997, in the Birchwood Mall, Port Huron.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree in merchandising from the University of Wisconsin and resides in Rochester Hills with his family.

Graber was most recently store manager of Hudson's Westland store.

He began his retail career in 1982 at Foley's Department Store in Texas. He held several positions at Foley's before joining the Dayton Hudson Corporation group of stores as assistant store manager at the Target store in Houston, Texas.

In 1995, he joined the Hudson's team at Westland. As the Twelve Oaks store manager, Graber reports to Steve Prebelich, regional director.

A graduate of the University of Texas, Graber holds a bachelor of arts degree in history. He and his family are residents of Wixom.

Nugent joined the Dayton Hudson Department Store Division in 1990 as an assistant store manager at Marshall Field's. Before joining the company, he had extensive retail experience with JC Penney, Kmart, Carson's, Lazarus and Kohl's which began in 1974.

In 1995, Nugent was named store manager of Marshall Field's Grand Avenue store. He reports to Mike Gilligan, regional director, as Westland's store manager.

He graduated from the University of Illinois with a bachelor of arts degree in English. The Nugent family resides in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Hong Kong leads retail rents

Hong Kong is the world's most expensive retail location according to a survey by international property consultants Healey & Baker, members of Cushman & Wakefield, worldwide.

At $753.50-per square foot per year, the cost of renting a shop in Hong Kong's Causeway Bay is almost twice its nearest rival - Fifth Avenue, New York City. Moscow ranks third, Paris fourth. The report looks at retail rents, identifies international retail trends, and highlights the countries that "cross border" retailers are targeting. Key findings are:

- Across the globe, retail rents rose in 41-percent of the 168 shopping locations examined in the survey, compared to 42-percent in 1996. Cities in South America have seen the greatest growth followed by Europe, notably Russia, France, Poland, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

- Retailers are looking to expand outside their domestic markets - the hottest over the past 10 years are Portugal, Eire and the countries of Central and Eastern Europe. Over the coming four years, the United Kingdom, Portugal, Germany and the Czech Republic are set to attract the most cross border retailers.

- China remains popular with overseas retailing groups despite the many bureaucratic issues encountered. Shanghai has emerged as the hot spot of retail activity with sales figures around the $10.5 billion mark.

- American retailers have made strong plans to enter the European market, most using London as their starting point. These include Eddie Bauer, General Nutrition, Tommy Hilfiger and Nine West.

Schools get CD Encyclopedias from malls' receipt program

Santa Claus has teamed up with four area malls to donate Encarta '97 CD-ROM encyclopedias to 100 schools in southeastern Michigan. This high-tech gift-giving is an outgrowth of the "Be True To Your School" program sponsored by Lakeside in Sterling Heights, Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn, Twelve Oaks in Novi and Briarwood in Ann Arbor, with partner WXYZ Channel 7.

The recipients include 25 schools that have been most active in the "Be True To Your School" program at each of the four malls, including: Adams High School, Rochester; Rochester High School, Rochester; Mercy High School, Farmington; Plymouth Salem High School, Canton; St. Fabian School, Farmington Hills; Farmington High School, Farmington; Dunckel Middle School, Farmington Hills; Our Lady of Sorrows School, Farmington; Plymouth Canton High School, Canton; West Bloomfield High School, West Bloomfield; and Oakley Park Elementary in Walled Lake.

The "Be True" program, now in its second year, enables shoppers to credit their sales receipts - for anything from a cold drink to a cashmere sweater - to any public or private Michigan school, grades K-12. The malls return a portion of those receipts to individual schools to buy such important items as software, videos and reference materials. During its first year, Lakeside, Fairlane Town Center and Twelve Oaks contributed nearly $300,000 to Michigan schools. This is Briarwood's first year in the program.

For more information, please call Lakeside at 1-800-334-LKSD.

CLARIFICATION

Oops!

More than a dozen readers called to say that one of the answers was incorrect in the shopping quiz published Monday, Dec. 28 - (including one woman who said her husband bet her $100 she couldn't get all the answers right!)

To set the record straight: the answer to question 11, What malls have a Kohl's among their anchors? is NOT Northland and Summit Place, but just Summit Place. Readers pointed out the Kohl's store attached to the Northland Center closed two years ago and was replaced by Target.

S'craft students won't qualify for tuition tax credit

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College students in western Wayne County will be unable to get 1996 state income tax credits because the college didn't hold the line on tuition increases.

Schoolcraft's chief financial officer, A.H. (Butch) Raby, said the community college last year raised tuition per credit hour to $50 from $48, up 3.9 percent.

"The state used the rate of 2.8 percent for inflation or calendar year 1995. Our students, unfortunately, won't qualify for the tax credit," he said.

Neighboring Oakland Community College, however, is among 30 Michigan colleges (10 of the 15 universities and 20 of the 29 community colleges) where students qualify.

OCC also plans to hold the line on tuition next fall: $46 per credit hour for in-district students, $78 for non-residents, $109 for non-Michigan residents. It's one benefit of an 0.8 mill property tax voters approved in mid-1995 that increased revenue by more than one-third.

Maximum tax credit is $250, based on 4 percent of $6,250 in tuition at the University of Michigan level.

A full time Schoolcraft student would pay about $1,700 in tuition and fees, said Raby, and might have been eligible for a tax credit of $68. The average Schoolcraft student takes seven credit hours, so the average deduction would have been $30 to $35 — "but only if they itemize deductions," he added.

"We'll try to keep it (tuition hike) at the consumer price index next fiscal year," Raby said. The fiscal year starts July 1.

"Raby said college officials have only begun to collect spending estimates and won't know what the revenue picture will be until at least Jan. 27, when Gov. John Engler gives his state of the state address.

Students, parents, grandparents and even non-relatives can take advantage of the income tax credit as long as their household income is less than $200,000. Anyone claiming the credit must itemize, using the MI 1040 long form.

The credit, passed by the Michigan Legislature early in 1995, was sponsored by Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton. His goal was to give public higher education an incentive to put a lid on tuition increases.

"The $250 tax credit — which anyone, I think, would be thrilled to receive — is not going to make a difference in the affordability of college," Bennett said late in December. The real savings to students will come if the law encourages colleges to hold down tuition.

Glen Stevens, executive director of the Presidents Council for State Universities of Michigan, said colleges and universities were trying to hold down tuition increases even before the tax credit.

"That has been a high priority of the schools in recent years, and you're beginning to see the results," Stevens said.

Nationwide, tuition costs about $3,000 a year for public colleges and universities, and four times as much for private institutions.

Michigan undergraduate tuition averaged $3,816 for the 1996-97 fiscal year, according to state figures — a 3.6 percent increase from last year and an 8 percent increase in the last two years.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR AND RAY HEALD

Lockwood bases reputation on superior vineyard

Lockwood Vineyard, located at the southern end of California's Monterey County, is an outgrowth of a project conceived more than 20 years ago in the mid-1970s. Even with its unprestigious zip code in Salinas, Lockwood is today a 60,000-case brand that has built its reputation on one of the region's finest vineyards. The winery started in 1989 as a pilot venture with a 600-case release. Because of available fruit source from its vineyard planted in 1981 and 1982, production quickly escalated to 3,000 cases the next year. In 1991 with a full scale, state-of-the-art winery built and current winemaker Steve Pessagno on board, things really got rolling. Plans are for 85,000 cases this year.

Much of the credit for Lockwood's success goes to its energetic financier and managing partner, 78-year-old Paul Toeppen. In 1976, he took over the Monterey Vineyard winery on behalf of the insurance company that owned it. In 1979, he negotiated its sale to Coca Cola. As part of that agreement, Toeppen consented to develop a substantial vineyard operation to supply high quality grapes. Toeppen and his partners Butch Lindley and Phil Johnson have managed vineyards for over 20 years. Controlling their own destiny with cumulative expertise has paid off handsomely.

Monterey County may not be as familiar to you as Napa Valley or Sonoma County, but the region has a proven track record attracting the likes of Kendall-Jackson that now has more than 3,000 acres of grapes planted in the area. Robert Mondavi, Fetzer, Joseph Phelps, Bonny Doon, Morgan, Jekel and Talbot are also prestigious brands banking on the excellent grapes grown in Monterey County. For Lockwood, the annual production utilizes only seven percent of the grapes from a 1,700-acre vineyard. The remainder are sold to other wineries such as Robert Mondavi, Franciscan, Bonny Doon and Benziger Family Winery, to name a few.

In Monterey County, the temperature profile of a vineyard is dictated by winds, which begin blowing and cooling the terrain around noon each day. It has always amazed us that so many prime north coast appellations in both Napa and Sonoma counties claim a maritime effect when they are very far inland. This is not the case with Monterey — it truly has the cooling effects of maritime influence.

"This is important since a cooler climate preserves flavors in chardonnay, pinot blanc and pinot noir because the grapes mature slower," Pessagno noted. "In addition to climate, soils in the Lockwood Vineyard are also important. They are shaley loam, also referred to as chalk rock that's well drained, allowing vine roots to penetrate to depths of ten feet or more."

Pessagno also emphasized that for grapes requiring a warmer climate such as sauvignon blanc, merlot or cabernet sauvignon, plantings are made so that they receive protection from hillsides and valleys while receiving maximum sun exposure.

Significant synergy exists between a large vineyard and a small winery. This is the case at

START YOUR DAY WITH A SPOONFUL OF oats

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Oatmeal never goes out of style. It's good for you, really easy to make, inexpensive, and can, with a little dressing up, be delicious.

"I grew up in Illinois eating oatmeal," said Shirley Streshinsky who wrote "Oats! A Book of Whimsy," (Celestial Arts, Oct. 1, 1996, $5.95) with her daughter Maria. "I would ask people about oatmeal, and they always had stories to tell. Oatmeal is full of wonderful memories. Our mothers gave it to us on cold days. Oatmeal is on everyone's shelf, and I want them to reach up and pay a little attention to it."

January is National Oatmeal Month, and a good time to rediscover this American classic.

"Rolled oats are an American invention," said Shirley. "Rolled oats are groats that have been steamed and flattened on rollers. Groats are oats after the hull is removed."

In their book the Streshinskys explain how Ferdinand Schumacher "set up a small mill in Ohio to turn out oats for oatmeal, in the belief that it was a superbly nourishing and cheap human food. At first, only the German, Scottish and Irish immigrants believed him."

"Thirty years later, Schumacher had made a fortune and was known as The Oatmeal King. Schumacher's innovative milling techniques set the stage for the growth of the Quaker Oats Company. By the 1880s, Henry Parsons Crowell of Ravenna, Ohio, was selling his rolled oats under the brand name Quaker."

According to the Quaker Oats Company, the "Quaker Man" became the first registered trademark for a breakfast cereal in 1877. Henry Seymour, one of the founders of The Quaker Oats Company, selected this symbol to represent virtue and give consumers confidence in the quality of Quaker Oats.

"Quaker Oats is still the biggest-selling hot breakfast cereal in the world," write the Streshinskys.

Take comfort in updated meatloaf

It's a new year! Give your meatloaf an update! The comfort food we remember from our childhood was a moist ground beef loaf seasoned with onions and topped with ketchup or brown gravy. Mashed potatoes were the accompaniment of choice.

Today, we still enjoy meatloaf with mashed potatoes — but, wow! — what a difference a few ingredients can make!

Three Mushroom Meatloaf is a delicious new take on meatloaf. Lean ground beef is combined with sauteed onion, garlic and a mixture of mushrooms — button, cremini and shiitake — as well as traditional ingredients like bread crumbs and egg. Thyme seasons the loaf.

For a moist, tender meatloaf, mix the ingredients lightly but thoroughly. Overmixing can make it compact and dry. Bake the meatloaf just until it's no longer pink in the center; a meat thermometer will register 160°F.

While the meatloaf bakes, prepare Pepper Gravy. Sauté colorful diced bell pepper until crisp-tender, then combine with jarred brown gravy and thyme. Drizzle it over slices of meatloaf and mashed potatoes.

Leave the potatoes a little lumpy. — "Smashed potatoes" they're called these days. Add steamed Brussels sprouts to finish the menu. For dessert, redo a malt shop favorite — a hot fudge sundae with low-fat vanilla frozen yogurt, light chocolate fudge sauce and a sprinkling of dried cherries.

THREE MUSHROOM MEATLOAF

- Total preparation and cooking time: 1 1/2 hours
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
 - 2 teaspoons butter
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
 - 8 ounces mushrooms (button, cremini, shiitake or a combination), sliced
 - 3 cloves garlic, crushed
 - 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 1 egg
 - 3/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Pepper Gravy:
- 1 teaspoon butter
 - 1/2 cup diced red, yellow or green bell peppers
 - 1 jar (12 ounces) beef gravy
 - 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves

Heat oven to 350°F. In large nonstick skillet, heat butter over medium heat until hot. Add onions; cook 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Add mushrooms and garlic; cook 6 to 8 minutes or until mushrooms are tender, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; cool 5 minutes.

In large bowl, combine ground beef, bread crumbs, egg, thyme, salt, pepper and mushroom mixture, mixing lightly but thoroughly. On rack in broiler pan, shape mixture into 8 by 4-inch loaf.

Bake in 350°F oven 1 hour and 15 minutes to medium doneness (160°F) or until center is no longer pink. (Due to the natural nitrate content of certain ingredients such as onions, celery and bell peppers often used to make meatloaf, meatloaf may be pink even if a 160°F internal temperature is reached. Always check the temperature with a meat thermometer).

Meanwhile, prepare Pepper Gravy. In medium saucepan, heat butter over medium heat until hot. Add bell peppers; cook 5 minutes or until crisp-tender, stirring occasionally. Add jar gravy and thyme; heat through.

To serve, cut meatloaf into 1-inch thick slices; serve with Pepper Gravy.

Makes 6 servings.

Oats!

— A BOOK OF WHIMSY —

SHIRLEY STRESHINSKY & MARIA STRESHINSKY

Saluting oatmeal: You'll learn a lot about oatmeal in "Oats! A Book of Whimsy," by mother and daughter authors Shirley and Maria Streshinsky, (published by Celestial Arts, paperback $5.95). This is a great book to curl up with on a cold day. In addition to recipes, the authors share poems, quotes, directions for making trail mix, and even beauty masques.

oatmeal during January than any other month. In January 1996, Americans stocked their pantries with 24 million pounds of Quaker oatmeal, up 20 percent from 1995. You'll find oatmeal in 80 percent of American pantries — either quick, old-fashioned or instant. We eat oatmeal as a breakfast cereal 89 percent of the time; 11 percent of the time we use oatmeal as an ingredient. Of Americans who bake, 79 percent use oatmeal in baking and 77 percent of those who bake with oatmeal bake oatmeal cookies.

Oatmeal is also very good for you. Maria Streshinsky researched the healthful aspects of oatmeal for the book. "The mighty Food and Drug Administration has finally caught on to what our mamas knew all along," she writes. "Hello???? In January of 1996, after reviewing the results of 30 years of research and 41 clinical trials, the FDA proposed the first food-specific health claim — for oatmeal, of course."

The proposed FDA claim reads: "Diets high in oatmeal/oat bran and low in saturated fat and cholesterol may reduce the risk of heart disease. This claim is expected to be approved sometime this month."

Emerging research also suggests that one nutrient, soluble fiber, may also help to smooth out the rise in blood glucose levels. This is good news for individuals with diabetes. Oatmeal and oat bran are good sources of soluble fiber.

If you're dieting, eating a bowl of oatmeal for breakfast can help you reach your weight-loss goal. Researchers have also found oatmeal to be twice as filling as white bread, three times as filling as a doughnut and almost five times as filling as a croissant. Those who eat oatmeal for breakfast feel full long into the morning, and have less temptation to overeat at lunch.

In their book the Streshinskys note: "One cup of oatmeal (that's 1/2 cup dry oats) contains 150 calories, 27 grams carbohydrate, 5 grams protein, 4 grams dietary fiber (both soluble and insoluble), and only 3 grams of naturally occurring fat. They also contain more protein than any other major grain."

Shirley Streshinsky raised her children in California, and "tried her very best to encourage them to eat oatmeal. They would if they could have brown sugar on it," she said.

"Oats! A Book of Whimsy" was "my little labor of love," said Shirley. "My daughter and I did it together. It was a very easy collaboration."

Like oatmeal, their book nourishes the soul. In addition to the historical and nutritional aspects of oatmeal, readers will find recipes, suggested cooking methods, quotes, poems and anecdotes about oatmeal. There's even information on using oatmeal to pamper your skin.

If the memory of a New Year's Day hangover lingers, try "Oatmeal topped with fried onions." The Germans tout it as a cure for a hangover.

Lockwood. It shows in the portfolio of wines at reasonable prices. The 1995 Lockwood Sauvignon Blanc $11 is a pleasurable white wine with fresh, bright fruit flavors in the tropical spectrum. Its balanced acidity makes it a great match for seafood. For an alternative to chardonnay, there's Lockwood Pinot Blanc $15 tantalizing the palate with vanilla, toasty oak and a creamy texture. Two chardonnays, an estate and reserve are made. The 1995 Lockwood Estate Chardonnay $14 is tasty, delicious and very well priced.

Because we're finding many of the merlots currently on the market flabby and lacking good mouth structure, we were delighted with the 1994 Lockwood Merlot $19. If you don't like your merlots flat and flabby, take this tip from Pessagno. Look at the young wine in bright light over a white background. If it has more purple hues than red ones, it will be flabby. If you remember some elementary chemistry, the reason is that the pH of a purple wine is too high and the wine lacks acid. When acid is in balance, the hues are more ruby and the wine comes across as having solid substance. Both the 1993 Lockwood Estate Cabernet Sauvignon $16 and the 1993 Lockwood Partner's Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon $23 are intensely fruity, well-structured and complex examples. The spicy oak and upfront juicy fruit of the Reserve makes it well worth the extra cost.

Tangerines are a source of nutritional sunshine

The citrus fruit with an exotic name, tangerines are a source of nutritional sunshine throughout the winter season. A native fruit of China, tangerines are also known as mandarins. They were introduced to Europe by traders returning from Tangiers, Morocco, where the fruit acquired its modern name. Columbus brought them later to the new World on his second voyage.

Tangerines are rich in vitamin C, provide lots of vitamin A, potassium and even some fiber. Their loose-fitting skin makes them easy to peel and a lunch box favorite.

What else can you do with a tangerine besides eating it out of hand? Take advantage of the sweet and sour flavor in a variety of creative recipes. Use seedless tangerine sections in a salad of wild rice, sugar snap peas, sliced mushrooms and thinly sliced red onion, tossed with a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar and freshly ground pepper.

Prepare a Moroccan-inspired pilaf by mixing bulgur with tangerine zest, raisins and chopped, dried apricots; toss with tangerine sections and toasted pine nuts. Make a summery-tasting seafood cocktail by tossing diced tangerine sections with diced cooked shrimp (or lobster or crab meat) with a dressing made of tomato sauce, lemon juice, black pepper, salt and horseradish.

Serve over shredded lettuce or watercress.

Tangerine juice can help to make a delicious salad dressing, but when used straight it makes the salad watery. For best results, thicken the juice by boiling it in a heavy saucepan until it's reduced to a quarter of its original volume.

When choosing tangerines, look for fruit that is heavy for its size with a skin that has no soft or puffy spots. Fruit with a deep yellow-orange or almost red luster indicates freshness, maturity and good flavor. Tangerines can stay fresh up to a month when stored loose in the refrigerator.

Rubbed with an aromatic mixture of grated tangerine peel and seasonings, Pork Roasted with Tangerine Peel and Thyme is served with a tangy tangerine juice gravy.

PORK ROASTED WITH TANGERINE PEEL AND THYME

- 1 3-pound center-cut pork loin roast
- 1 tablespoon finely-grated tangerine rind
- 2 teaspoons fresh thyme leaves
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cumin
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 (1 1/2 ounce) can chicken broth
- 1/2 cup fresh tangerine juice

- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- Fresh thyme sprigs (optional)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Trim and discard any excess fat from the pork loin. Place it on a wire rack in a 13 by 9-inch baking pan. In a small bowl, combine tangerine rind, thyme, 1/2 teaspoon salt, the cumin, and pepper. Rub the mixture evenly over all sides of the pork and set aside in the refrigerator for 15 minutes.

Add the chicken broth to the baking pan and roast the pork, uncovered, for 2 hours or until the meat thermometer registers 160 degrees F. When the pork is done, transfer it to a cutting board and let stand for 15 minutes.

In a one-cup measuring cup or small bowl, combine tangerine juice, flour, pepper, and the remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Remove the wire rack from the baking pan. Stir the tangerine mixture into the broth remaining in the baking pan. Add enough water to the liquid in the pan to get 1 1/2 cups of liquid. Heat the mixture to boiling, stirring constantly, until it is thickened a bit. Pour the gravy into a small pitcher.

Slice the pork and arrange it on a serving platter. Garnish the pork

Trojans end 4-game losing skid

Going strong: Livonia Clarenceville's Jason Merritt scored 17 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in a 65-43 win Friday over Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

Clarenceville gains victory against Cranbrook, 65-43

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Clarenceville coach Rick Larson had his fill of losing.

The Trojans, who dropped their first five games during the 1996 portion of their boys basketball schedule, opened 1997 with a resounding 65-43 Metro Conference victory Friday over visiting Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

"I'm not going to make any more resolutions — we just have to do it right the first time," said Larson, whose team is 1-4 overall and 1-2 in the Metro. "Last month we were going through some changes and we had some problems. Winning this game helped us out a lot."

"It's good to get back on track."

The Trojans struggled during the first quarter, trailing 11-10 due to nine turnovers.

But things quickly changed during the second period as Clarenceville outscored Cranbrook 19-8.

Two players in particular, Jason Merritt and Josh Kilar, each came off the bench to provide a spark with six points apiece.

The 5-foot-9 Kilar hit a pair of threes, while the 6-3 Merritt controlled the boards to give the Trojans a 29-18 halftime lead.

"Josh was on the JV team last year," Larson said. "He gave us good shooting tonight (eight points). It was nice to see our bench players playing a little better."

Clarenceville turned up the heat in the third quarter with a trapping full-court press.

Cranbrook, which had committed only eight first-half turnovers, made 10 in the third as Clarenceville went on a 21-12 run.

"We're trying to do a little more trapping because we have some quickness," Larson said. "And we're able to do that with a bunch of guards."

Cranbrook could not get any closer than 19 the rest of the way as the Cranes fell to 1-3 overall and 0-3 in the Metro.

Merritt finished with a game-high 17 points on eight of 19 shooting. He also pulled down 18 rebounds.

Sophomore guard Albert Deljosevic added 12 points, while Justin Villanueva chipped in with 10 points and eight rebounds.

"We don't handle pressure very well," Cranbrook coach Chris McDonald said. "And we don't read defenses and sometimes we don't recognize what the other teams are doing offensively."

Chris Cole was the only Cranbrook player to score in double figures with 11 points.

"We missed a lot of layups and missed quite a few 10-foot jump shots," said McDonald, whose team was 17 of 57 from the floor (29 percent).

Meanwhile, 5-10 senior forward Terrance Brinkley snagged 18 rebounds.

"He (Brinkley) is our only player back with any experience," McDonald said. "He had 11 rebounds in the first half and 18 for the game, not bad for a kid who is 5-10."

Cranbrook ended up with 23 turnovers, while Clarenceville finished with 25.

"If we're going to get better we're going to have to take care of the basketball, that's been our problem from day one," Larson said. "Our turnovers are very contagious, and that compounds problems. We haven't found a cure for that yet."

Clarenceville, however, controlled the boards.

"One of our goals for the season is to take more shots than the other team," Larson said.

And the Trojans did just that, 66-57.

But even more important, Clarenceville put more points on the scoreboard.

Shamrocks edge Bishop Borgess

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Detroit Catholic Central senior guard Marc McDonald caught the in-bounds pass, dribbled out of trouble, and heaved the ball to celebrate.

The 50-foot toss hit only the backboard and bounced away, which was fine by him because time had expired and CC escaped with a 66-64 victory over host Redford Bishop Borgess in the Catholic League Central Division opener for both teams.

McDonald smiled at the suggestion that some of his earlier attempts had the same chance of going in the basket.

For the second straight game McDonald proved he was human. He made only eight of 23 shots from the floor while finishing with 21 points, tying teammate Chris Young for game-high scoring honors.

McDonald didn't make a shot from three-point range, which is about as rare as this balmy weather Michigan's been having in the New Year.

"Normally I have to work so hard for shots, but today I was open and my shots I couldn't hit them," said McDonald, who had a combined 83 points in CC's first two games. "It feels so good to win. I'll sacrifice shooting bad for a win any day."

Young, a 6-foot-10 junior center, and sophomore guard Nick Moore played their best to date, helping the Shamrocks improve their record to 2-2 overall.

Young made 10 of 11 shots from the floor, including two dunks, and grabbed a game-high 17 rebounds. Moore added 11 points, several assists and nine rebounds.

"When Marc is struggling, everyone else has got to pick it up," Young said. "Marc is great and all but he's not going to score 40 a night."

CC junior guard Joe Jonna also played a key role. After splitting a pair of free throws with 13.6 seconds left to give CC a 66-64 lead, Jonna made a steal with 1.9 seconds remaining, ending Borgess' last hope.

Borgess inbounded the ball to Battle of boards: 6-foot-6 Sam Hoskin of Redford Bishop Borgess snares the rebound in front of Redford Catholic Central's 6-10 Chris Young during Friday's Central Division battle.

Garden City holds off Chargers

Dan Fairchild had a pretty fair night. The junior guard scored a career-high 24 points Friday night, leading Garden City to a 69-65 non-league boys basketball win over host Livonia Churchill.

The outcome left Churchill winless in five games, while Garden City improved to 2-3 overall.

Senior Brad Buddenborg added 16 points and 10 rebounds and senior Brian Latham contributed 10 points to the Cougars' attack. Junior Matt Brooks added nine points.

Senior guard Shawn Woloszyn had a game-high 27 points for Churchill, which outscored Garden City 27-17 in the fourth quarter to make it close.

Lamar Smith and Corey Cook scored 10 points each. Woloszyn and Smith combined for 16 of the Chargers' fourth-quarter points.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Garden City led most of the way, including 19-15 after one quarter and 37-28 at half-time.

Garden City made 18 of 26 free throw attempts and Churchill was nine of 16 at the line.

LUTHERAN EAST 69, LUTH. WESTLAND 52: Senior guards B.J. Condon and Donnie Daggett combined for 36 points Friday, propelling host Harper Woods Lutheran East to the Metro Conference triumph over Lutheran Westland.

Condon scored a game-high 19, while Daggett added 17 as the victorious Eagles soar to 4-3 overall and 2-0 in the Metro.

Senior forward Joe Pruchnik led Lutheran Westland with 16 points and 10 rebounds. Senior guard Kevin Wade added 12 points.

"We shot 26 percent (from the field) and we had too many turnovers," said Lutheran Westland coach Dan Ramthun, whose team is 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the Metro.

East led 24-17 at intermission and 38-27 after three quarters before ringing up 31 fourth-quarter points to Lutheran Westland's 25.

The Warriors shot 55 percent from the free throw line (15 of 27), while East was 14 of 26 (53 percent).

SPORTS ROUNDUP

CRUSADERS NO MATCH

They shot better, they rebounded better, they defended better and they passed better — all of which were reasons enough to propel the Aquinas College Saints to a 96-82 women's basketball triumph over Madonna University last Monday at Madonna.

The Lady Crusaders, who had won three of their previous four games coming into the Aquinas match, fell to 5-8 with the loss.

Dawn Pelc and Katie Cushman each scored 21 points to lead Madonna. However, they were a combined 16-of-41 (39 percent) from the field. Pelc also led Madonna with 12 rebounds, while Cushman had three assists.

Mary Murray added 14 points and Angie Negri had 11 for the Crusaders.

WHALERS EARN POINT

For the second-straight game, the Detroit Whalers needed some third-period heroics from Steve Wasylo to salvage at least a point.

Wasylo powered in a goal with 6:02 left in regulation Thursday, on an assist from Steve Dumonski, to earn the Whalers a 4-4 tie in an Ontario Hockey League game played at North Bay.

It was Detroit's second-straight tie. Last Monday at Windsor, Wasylo scored another third-period goal that gave the Whalers a 6-6 tie.

Detroit's record moved to 14-19-4 (32 points), four points behind the third-place Windsor Spitfires — who have two games in hand — in the West Division.

Against North Bay last Thursday, Detroit trailed 3-1 after one period. The Centennials got first-period power play goals from Greg Labenski and Peter McCague; a third tally by Chris Neil increased their lead to 3-1.

A goal by Jamie Vossen pushed the Centennials' lead to 4-1 early in the second period. Detroit, which got a first-period goal from Anthony Terzo, closed to within a goal on second-period power play markers by Andrew Taylor and Mark Cadotte.

Taylor totaled a goal and two assists, while Wasylo had a goal and an assist, and both Bryan McKinney and Dumonski collected two assists apiece.

For the second game in a row, Nathan West started in goal for the Whalers but failed to finish the first period. After surrendering three goals in the first 10:20, he was replaced by Shawn Gallant. Gallant made 21 saves in his time between the pipes, giving up one goal.

Detroit was without regular goalie Robert Esche, who was playing for Team Canada in the World Junior Tournament.

Wasylo's goal with 15:10 left in regulation last Monday at Windsor assured the Detroit Whalers of at least a point.

Wasylo's marker, on assists from Andrew Taylor and Luc Rioux, knotted the game for the fourth time, this time at 6-all.

Mark Cadotte scored twice for the Whalers, who led 4-3 after one period and were tied at 5-5 after two. Other Detroit goals came from Harold Druken, who also had an assist, and from Jan Vodrazka and Taylor.

West started in goal for the Whalers but was replaced early in the opening period by Gallant. Gallant made 35 saves in more than three full periods of play (with overtime included), allowing four goals.

The Whalers play at Sarnia Thursday before returning home for two weekend games, against the West Division-leading Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and against the London Knights at 6 p.m. Sunday.

BASEBALL REGISTRATION

Registration for the American Little League in Redford and Livonia will be held 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 11 at Redford Ice Arena. Boys and girls ages 6 through 12 are eligible.

Williams warns leagues not to 'jump the gun'

"Don't jump the gun," a precautionary message from Don Williams, President of the Bowling Centers Association of Michigan to all of the area's members of the organization.

His message states clearly that the House Bill 6114 will not go into effect until signed by Gov. John Engler.

The Governor has 14 days from the date that he is formally presented with the bill.

As of today's date (12-30-96), he has not yet been presented with the bill. Since the legislation passed so overwhelmingly in both the House and the Senate, it is expected that Gov. Engler will sign.

But, until he does so and the BCA notifies it's member bowling centers, these games (mystery, strike ball, etc.) are still not considered legal. Those leagues who might decide to go ahead anyway would also be in violation of ABC/WIBC rules, which state that a game which violates any applicable law is also prohibited (ABC/WIBC rule 15).

"Praise the Lord, and set 'em up again," as Father Tim Murray registered his first ever 700 series (245-245-214) in the St. Linus Classic League at Garden Lanes last Friday night in Garden City.

Father Murray had been a member of the St. Linus Classic for about 10 years starting when he was with this church. He then moved away to St. Martin DePorres in Warren.

He has been averaging about 189 in the league and has now achieved one of his goals, a 700 series to go along with his hole-in-one in golf.

"Now I can quit this game and take up fishing," said Father Tim, as his prayers were answered just a few days after Christmas.

A word to the wise: Don't let the mild weather fool you, there is still plenty of harsh winter ahead.

If you leave the bowling ball in the car overnight it can become damaged.

Temperature extremes should be avoided, and a cold ball does not perform as well on the lanes.

Who wants to put their fingers into ice cold holes anyway? It is possible for the weight block to become delaminated in extreme cold and that nice expensive piece of equipment can get "trashed" very easily.

Winter weather also means to watch out for the soles on your bowling shoes. Many outsiders come in to the bowling center when you are bowling and track it up with melted snow or just plain wet boots.

If your sliding sole gets wet, you will "stick" at the line, possibly injure yourself, or worse, go over the foul line.

When you come into the bowling center from the cold outdoors, it's a good idea to do some light stretching before you toss that first ball, get those muscles loosened up before you bowl.

Kevin Jordan, who couldn't get past a trap set up by Young, Moore and Jonna. Jordan, who scored 14 points, made his last three-point shot to cut the lead to 65-64.

"We knew he was going to take their last shot and I had to step in and help out," said Jonna, who scored three points and grabbed nine rebounds.

"I had visions of him launching the three," CC coach Rick Coratti said. "We wanted Nick to deny him the ball in the front court and get it in the backcourt. Nick played with a lot of poise. And that's why Joe is out there — because he does the little things."

The Shamrocks outrebounded the Spartans 46-45, which was easier for Borgess coach Rosey Barnes to hear than the final shooting tally.

Borgess fell behind 10-0 to start the game, missing its first 12 shots from the floor. The Spartans didn't get much better, finishing 23-of-36 for 27 percent.

"We missed a bundle of layups," Barnes said. "As a coach you can't get any better looks — we missed at least 15 to 20 bunnies. Their big guy (Young) played exceptionally well and their point guard did an excellent job. We had our opportunities. It was a well-played Catholic League game and their coach (Rick Coratti) does an outstanding job."

Durand Bynum led the Spartans with 20 points before fouling out with 13.6 left. John White scored 10 of his 15 points in the second half, before he too fouled out with 2:41 remaining.

Before he left, White scored on a three-point shot and layup on consecutive possessions to end a 7-0 run and give Borgess a 58-55 lead.

The Shamrocks scored the next six points, including a pair of free throws by reserve Darrell Kennedy, to go up 61-58.

Borgess tied the score at 61 with a three-pointer from the corner before Young put the Shamrocks ahead to stay with a hook shot after an entry pass by Moore.

Young's totals were especially impressive since he missed nearly five minutes of the first half with foul trouble.

Young picked up his second foul with 5:22 remaining in the second quarter and didn't return until the Shamrocks' last possession of the half.

The Shamrocks led 24-14 when Young went to the bench and 32-30 when he returned.

"We were buying time so we kept him out," Coratti said. "You saw why we needed him."

Cute-as-a-button Suzuki X90: It's fun, fun, fun

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

There's no question about it. The 1997 Suzuki X90 4x4 is radical.

You wouldn't believe the amount of people who stopped to look at this really strange-looking multipurpose vehicle that may just be the cutest wheels on the road today.

Suzuki has always been known for its fun-to-drive vehicles. And for affordability. It's just that hardly anyone notices. Lots of people notice this car.

The Suzuki X90 is a two-seater with a T-top. It's really little. But not so little on the inside. You'd expect a skinny college kid would be the only demographic that would fit in the X90. Quite the contrary. Two portly adults can fit inside without knocking elbows or being uncomfortable.

On the outside, the X90 has really unique styling. There are rounded edges all around — including really pronounced bumper treatments. It looks like a sporty subcompact.

For Pete's sake, its got a wheelbase of just 86.6 inches and its overall length is a fit six — maybe more — of these in my garage.

But looks are deceiving. The X90 sits high off the ground. It's not like a full-size pickup, mind you, but you could actively go off-roading and not have a care about running into any trouble.

The X90 is available in two models: The 2-wheel-drive and 4-wheel-drive. Both models are outfitted with a 1.6-liter 16-valve electronically fuel-injected 4-cylinder. The 5-speed is matic transmission with over-drive is optional.

I drove the X90 outfitted with an automatic transmission and 4-wheel-drive. It handled well in most driving conditions and during hard cornering stuck to the road like glue.

There's a scant 95 horses powering the X90, so don't even think of drag racing with your sister in this one. Acceleration was slow, but consistent. The power/normal switch made little difference.

I had only one other complaint with the X90: It feels like those 95 horses are trying to buck you. It's outfitted with MacPherson struts. And the rear axle sits on coil springs with wishbone and trailing links. The X90 is small, but the ride really should be better.

I know, I know, Michigan's roads are awful (probably the worst of the whole country), but I actually got a headache from much after one 55-mile trip. Enough about that.

The trunk was surprisingly large enough to hold just about anything you throw at it. With almost 8.5 cubic feet, even a mom could do a weekly shopping trip without a problem. And the X90 can tow up to 1,000 pounds — just about what a jet ski and trailer would be.

The interior looks nice and is fully carpeted. The seats are solid-color cloth and the inserts are a coordinating wild print that's also on the door inserts. And the center console holds two large drinks without a problem.

Everything from the radio to the heating controls in the center instrument panel are easy to reach. The radio controls are a bit tiny, but still, not at all hard to use.

One thing I did like was how quickly the X90 warmed the very efficient.

The X90 has all the creature comforts usually found in pricier models. Stuff like standard power windows and door locks, power steering, power brakes, dual outside mirrors, rear window defogger, locking fuel-filler door, tinted glass, tachometer, 2-speed intermittent wipers, stainless steel exhaust, a center console with dual cup holders, distinctive aluminum alloy wheels and 15-inch all-season radial tires.

The X90 4-wheel-drive models comes equipped with all that and more: A security alarm system, automatic front hubs, 2-speed transfer case, Alpine AM/FM stereo cassette with four speakers and a remote key fob.

Safety has not been forgotten here. The X90 is outfitted with driver and passenger air bags, side impact beams, a rear spoiler with stop lamp, three-point seat belts and daytime running lights. Four-wheel anti-lock brakes are an option on both models.

There are just four colors to choose from — black metallic, red, blue metallic and silver pearl. The blue metallic was really pretty.

The X90 is fun to drive, good on mileage and really neat to tool around town in. But it's really radical, dude, and it even makes GenXers do a double-take.

Sharing The Road With Trucks:

(NAPS) — Each year there are more than 200,000 crashes involving at least one passenger car and one large truck. Many of these crashes can be avoided if motorists knew about truck limitations and how to steer clear of unsafe situations involving trucks.

Here are some tips from the safety experts at the U.S. Department of Transportation that will help you understand the differences between cars and trucks so you can improve your road sharing skills and help reduce car-truck crashes.

The key to safer highways is to know the No-Zone. The No-Zone is the area around trucks where cars (1) disappear into "blind spots" or truck driver's ability to stop or maneuver safely. Both types of No-Zones greatly increase the potential for a crash.

While most people realize that it's more difficult to drive a truck than a car, many don't know exactly what a truck's limitations are in terms of maneuverability, stopping distances, and blind spots. So here's a handy rule of thumb —

Generally speaking, the bigger they are:

- The bigger their blind spots.
- The more room they need to maneuver.
- The longer it takes them to stop.
- The more likely you're going
