Parks plan: upgrades, rec center

A parks and recreation master plan calls for new baseball fields, skating pathways, basketball courts, playground equipment and numerous other citywide parks improvements plus a recreation/aquatic center.

An ambitious new plan for upgrading city parks and building a new, upscale recreation center drew support Monday from the Westland City Council.

The five-year parks and recreation master plan calls for new baseball fields, skating pathways, basketball courts, playground equipment and numerous other citywide parks improvements totaling $2.1 million.

The plan also includes a $14 million recreation/aquatic center that city officials hope to build on Central City Parkway, near the Westland public library.

"I think overall it's a great plan," council President Sandra Cicirelli said.

But the 57-page plan still faces revisions, and some council members indicated they will back away from a recreation center unless the city launches an independent survey proving that residents want it.

"I'll be listening to the constituents who are going to be paying the maintenance of that building and using that facility," Councilman Glenn Anderson said.

Some council members also indicated their support may hinge on whether the city addresses recreation needs such as soccer facilities and a second ice rink.

Mayor Robert Thomas, who proposed a recreation center and took a seven-member city delegation on a tour of upscale Colorado facilities, said he won't unilaterally try to impose his wishes on the plan.

"I'm committed to building what the community wants - not what I want," he said Monday.

A new recreation center would be built using Tax Increment Finance Authority dollars - revenues generated in a special taxing district north of Ford Road.

The new parks plan emerged from several months of community study, sessions, workshops, small group meetings and unscientific surveys - all led by parks and recreation officials with help from The Strader Group Inc. consulting firm.

It was a dark and stormy night

Electric avenue: Lightning and headlights light the sky as strong storms moved through Westland Tuesday evening.

Trees, power take hit in strong storms

Heavy storms pounded Westland Tuesday evening, touching off fires, toppling trees and causing widespread power outages.

Despite some damages, police and fire officials and Mayor Robert Thomas said they hadn't heard of any serious injuries to people.

"We were kind of lucky," Thomas said.

He predicted that public services workers will continue to work for several days to remove trees and other debris that littered city streets.

"I'd say we've got at least three or four days of work," Thomas said Wednesday morning. "Everybody's out working on removing trees and branches. What they're going to hit first are the trees that fell on houses.

"They've been working around the clock, and I'd say we probably will be working all the way through the weekend," he said.

Firefighters battled six fires Tuesday night, reporting some of the worst damage inside an upper-story residence at Westland Park Apartments on Tami Circle.

Firefighters evacuated residents and controlled the flames before they could spread to other apartments, emergency medical services coordinator Michael Reddy said.

"The firefighters put a really good stop on that one," he said.

Investigators were trying to determine how the fire started, Reddy

Drunken drivers targeted

Westland police Friday will start clamping down even harder on drunken drivers by beefing up patrols, particularly along Wayne and Ford roads.

Police officials, Mayor Robert Thomas and city prosecuting attorneys unveiled the sobering program Monday during a press conference outside the Westland Police Department.

"If you're driving and drinking in this town," Thomas warned, "then you're probably going to get caught and get into trouble."

Archaeological dig to unearth city's past

Dig this. A Westland historical site will be excavated during an archaeological project that should provide a glimpse of the city's past.

And local volunteers will get to join the fun.

Starting in mid-September, University of Michigan student Jane Eva Baxter will head the project as she earns her doctorate.

She will lead a two-month excavation on Westland Historical Museum property on Wayne Road between Cherry Hill and Marquette.

Baxter will be helped by six to 10 Wayne State University students she is teaching this summer, but she also plans to involve local volunteers such as scouting organizations.

By carefully digging holes no more than 3 feet deep, she hopes to uncover information about those who lived and worked on a former 80-acre cherry farm where a house - the current historical museum - was built in the mid-1850s.

She'll be looking for fragments of glassware, medicine bottles, domestic trash and other artifacts used by former residents.

Westland Historical Commission member Richard LeBlanc finds the project fascinating.

Couple takes leadership reins at local Salvation Army post

They're not in Kansas anymore, but Charles and Betty Yockey don't seem to mind.

These Sunflower State natives are too busy running Wayne-Westland area Salvation Army programs to get homesick.

Lieutenants in rank, the Yockeys took charge of their first Salvation Army posts July 1 after completing a two-year officer training college in Chicago.

They replaced Capts. Mark and Sue Welsh, who ended a four-year stint in Westland with a new assignment in Rochester, Minn.

The Yockeys enjoyed a two-week furlough in Kansas before coming to Westland with their three sons, Danny, 13, Matthew, 10, Christopher, 9, and only daughter Michelle, 8.

The children became hockey fans while living in Chicago, so they welcomed the move to Red Wings country.

"They're real excited about being here," Charles Yockey, 39, said as he and his wife, 35, sat in their office Monday.

Like their children, they, too, are excited about their new home, although for different reasons. A former car salesman, Charles Yockey welcomes the opportunity to help society's less fortunate.

"I couldn't serve mankind with my regular job," he said.

Hoping to ease the homeless problem, the Yockeys are eager to hire a U.S. Housing & Urban Development case worker who will help homeless families and battered women find the services they need to start anew.

"It's a new HUD program, and the contract should be signed any day," Charles Yockey said Monday. "I think this will help us bridge a gap."

The case worker will work out of the same Salvation Army center as the Yockeys, on Venoy Road south of Palmer.

The Yockeys also hope to start an evening hockey league for local youngsters this fall, in addition to continuing a wide array of other Salvation Army programs already in place for youngsters.

"We're not going to be eliminating anything that I can see," Charles Yockey said.

The couple's training in Bible studies, psychology, counseling and business administration has prepared them to address a wide range of local needs. Both of them will be involved in pulpit responsibilities at the Salvation Army church.

Betty Yockey said she came from a family of Salvation Army "soldiers," and she helped lead her husband into a life of serving mankind.

"She invited me on a Sunday night to a family meeting," Charles Yockey said.

Settling into their new roles, the Yockeys will be meeting a lot of community leaders today (Thursday), when they attend a Christmas in July event sponsored by the Westland Community Foundation. The Salvation Army is one of the organizations helped by the foundation.

Already, an October bowling fund-raiser is being planned at Westland Bowl to benefit the Salvation Army.

The Yockeys' first Army appointment has been made easier by the Welshes, who left behind extensive written information about the Wayne-Westland Army and the community it serves.

"I've hit the ground running," Charles Yockey said. "Capt. Welsh did a wonderful job in setting up the change of the guard. I knew a lot within 30 minutes of entering the building here."

Already, the Yockeys are beginning to feel at home, even if they're not in Kansas anymore.

Press conference: Westland Police Chief Emery Price explains a new program that will target drunken drivers in Westland.

Every Friday and Saturday from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m., two officers will watch exclusively for drunken drivers as the city launches its new Alcohol Enforcement Team.

"Those are our busiest times as far as drunk driving goes," Sgt. Peter Brokas, head of the police traffic bureau, said.

A study of alcohol offenses showed that Wayne and Ford roads have more than their share of problem drivers - a distinction that Brokas attributed to the number of liquor establishments along the two main arteries.

"We're going to concentrate our efforts every weekend on those two thoroughfares," Brokas said.

Alcohol patrol officers will be pulled from their duties only when they are needed for other police emergencies, Police Chief Emery Price said.

The city's Alcohol Enforcement Team mushroomed from long-time discussions among city leaders and Westland 18th District Court officials, Price said.

City prosecuting attorneys pledged during Monday's press conference that they will aggressively pursue court actions against drunken drivers.

"We will take these offenses very seriously," attorney James Plakas said.

The city already has agreed to approve budget amendments to pay for possible overtime costs for patrol officers, Price said, but expenses are expected to be offset from court fines.

Brokas called the new program "a remarkable step" toward getting drunken drivers off the roads.

Thomas said most residents know of a friend, family member or acquaintance who has been affected by a drunken driver.

Brokas said Westland already has one of the best track records in the state for battling drunken drivers, even though the number of arrests has declined in recent years.

Westland police made 262 arrests involving drunken drivers in 1997, down from 348 in 1996 and 409 in 1995, Brokas said.

Brokas cautioned that those statistics should be interpreted with caution, however, because the number of accidents involving alcohol has actually increased in recent years.

Moreover, he estimated that 40 percent to 50 percent of the city's traffic fatalities involve alcohol. Westland recorded six traffic deaths in 1997, compared to eight in 1996 and six in 1995.

Westland District Court actually processed 627 alcohol-related traffic offenses in 1997, including 18 felonies, court administrator David Wiacek said.

The court handles not only city police cases, but also those from other agencies such as the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, he said.

Thomas commended the latest effort to crack down on drunken drivers who still haven't gotten the message that their actions won't be tolerated.

He compared them to "weapons who kill people."

Toppled: An unrooted tree came to rest on a house on Sandra Lane in Westland during Tuesday's storms.

said. Apartment manager Leah Spears said the fire marked her first as manager.

"It was self-contained," she said. "I've never had a fire in the 10 years I've been here."

Reddy reported five other structure fires - some involving garages - on streets such as Mackenzie, Hugh and Rolf.

"There were no personal injuries that we know of," he said.

Thomas and some of his directors toured the city in the wake of the fierce storm, and the mayor said he saw downed trees leaning against some houses.

Police Chief Emery Price estimated that the storm toppled or snapped 40 trees, in some cases obstructing streets.

"Our officers assisted the DPS (Department of Public Services) and firefighters," Price said. "We had downed wires and trees obstructing some streets. Some of them were moved by hand."

"We lost power here (at the police station) for a while. The calls were coming in so fast; I'd say we had close to 100 emergency runs," Price said. "Some people got perturbed because we couldn't respond to calls that were non-emergency, but we had to deal with the emergencies first."

Police officials called in some off-duty night officers to help as on-duty officers responded to calls.

"Everybody was just swamped with the initial onslaught of this thing," Price said of police officers, firefighters and DPS workers. "Everybody did an excellent, excellent job."

Price said he and other residents in the area of Joy and Hix roads remained without power Wednesday.

"I didn't have phone service, either," Price said.

Price reported power outages at some traffic lights and said officers placed temporary stop signs in intersections.

Mayor Thomas said power outages seemed to be sporadic, though widespread across the city. Tuesday evening, businesses along commercial strips such as Cowan Road had closed their doors early.

Some falling trees and branches took power lines with them.

"We don't have a ton of full trees down, but we've got a lot of big branches down," Thomas said. "I saw one tree leaning over on a roof on Sandra Lane. The whole tree fell on the house. On Benson there was a tree that just covered the whole front of a house."

"We also had some power line poles on fire - probably a dozen or so," Thomas said, adding that firefighters doused the flames.

While touring the city's far southeast end, he said he saw one tree that had fallen and blocked Dancy Street. He said the city will try to get its trash contractor to work this weekend to pick up debris.

One resident of Mackenzie estimated that nine trees had fallen in his neighborhood, near Farmington and Joy.

"Some of them split, but about six of them were uprooted," he said, asking not to be named. "Some of them fell on houses. One tree hit the front of my next-door neighbor's house, but I don't think it did any damage."

Plan lists project timetable

Council members adopted the plan Monday to beat an Aug. 1 deadline for submitting parks projects to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for possible grants during the next year.

"That's why we need this program intact," Parks and Recreation Director Robert Kosowski said.

The vote followed a public hearing that sparked comments from residents such as John Spaeth, who implored officials to upgrade Corrado Park and address declining conditions.

"Our parks should be an asset to the community, not an eyesore," he said.

Council watcher Dorothy Smith criticized the parks plan for receiving input from the Wayne-Westland school district while ignoring other districts that serve portions of the city.

"We were left out - and that I resent," she said. Smith lives in an area of Westland served by Inkster schools.

Resident Arthur Warren urged officials to survey residents in the city's far southeast end before deciding on features for a new park planned in the Carver subdivision - an area already seeing some revitalization.

Most council members warned Monday that they won't support a proposal to eliminate Tot Town - a cluster of small buildings that children enjoy in Tattan Park near Carlson and Ford.

Rather, the council prefers to renovate Tot Town and make it accessible to disabled children.

"I know my grandchildren - that's the first place they want to go is Tot Town," Councilwoman Sharon Scott said.

Councilman Charles Pickering called for a second indoor ice rink to accommodate increasingly popular hockey and figure skating programs. He suggested that a new recreation center might accommodate two ice rinks, freeing up an existing facility in Jaycee Park for possible indoor soccer.

Cicirelli noted that women's hockey programs are becoming more popular, forcing local groups to travel as far as Monroe to find ice rinks that aren't already leased.

Pickering indicated that his final support for a recreation center will hinge not only on compromises, but also on whether land for the facility is affordable.

The new study shows that Westland has 2,200 acres of park land owned by the city, the county and school districts. Seventeen municipal parks account for 235 acres.

Councilman Charles "Trav" Griffin stressed Monday that the new master plan is merely a blueprint for possible changes.

"It's not carved in stone," he said. "It can be changed in the future."

Tucked near the end of a 57-page parks and recreation report is a five-year timetable for specific projects.

To pay for the proposals, city officials hope to use money from a variety of sources such as state grants, federal Community Development Block Grant funds, local tax dollars, private donations and fund-raisers.

Here's a year-by-year glance at what's included, although the plan is subject to revision.

For 1998:

■ Recreation/aquatic center: Move ahead with a $14 million facility, subject to a survey that city officials want to conduct of local residents to determine needs. The report states that the current Bailey Center "does not meet demand."

■ Curtis Woods/Kiwanis Park: Install a walking path, replace old playground equipment with a play structure and improve landscaping near parking lots. Cost: $95,000.

■ Corrado Park: Replace old playground equipment with a new play structure. Cost: $25,000.

■ Cayley Park (east and west): Replace playground equipment. Cost: $20,000.

For 1999:

■ Jaycee Park: Study feasibility of second ice rink, although some city officials suggest building two rinks elsewhere. Improve ventilation and install new matting at ice arena. This facility, according to the report, "does not meet existing demand (and) a large number of participants are turned away." Cost: Not listed.

■ Carver neighborhood: Develop a park with benches, bike rack and waste containers near the planned new fire station at Annapolis and Irene. This area has no park. Some officials also support a "commons" area with pending new Carver development. Cost: $66,800.

■ Corrado Park: Construct a hockey area and in-line skating pathways. Cost: $40,000.

■ Central City Park: Remove three tennis courts, resurface remaining courts, install hockey area and a new pavilion, relocate gazebo or, some suggest, build a second one. Cost: $73,000.

■ Merriman Park: Construct one basketball court and install a picnic shelter, two grills, four picnic tables and waste containers. Provide small parking area. Cost: $34,000.

■ Tattan Park: Install gazebo and pedestrian path, modify parking and create a greenbelt, construct two basketball courts and remove Tot Town. Cost: $70,000. (The Tot Town plan already has met strong city council resistance.)

For 2000:

■ Voss/Civitan Park: Remove deteriorated tennis courts, create pedestrian walkways, improve landscape near parking lots and install "tot-lot" near Palmer Road parking area. Cost: $70,000.

■ Northgate Park: Install a bench, two picnic tables, a grill and six shade trees. Cost: $6,000.

■ Rotary Park: Improve signs and provide bike rack, benches and waste containers. Cost: $9,200.

■ Hubbard Park: Construct a basketball court to enhance picnic facilities and play structure. Cost: $8,000.

■ Westland Youth Athletic Association property: Build three baseball fields with parking, bleachers and fencing, and create an internal pathway system connecting to adjacent neighborhood. Cost: $800,000.

For 2001:

■ Central City Park: Add an additional soccer field and "reorient" existing field, add waste containers and improve landscape. Install new signage. Cost: $40,000.

■ Dorsey Park: Construct two basketball courts and improve landscape. Cost: $36,000.

■ Stottlemeyer Park: Install restrooms and picnic shelter, resurface two tennis courts and two basketball courts. Cost: $58,000.

■ Public Park: Remove old play equipment and install new play structure, improve landscape and build two new basketball courts. Cost: $41,000.

For 2002:

■ Hix Park: Construct pathways, install a shelter, enhance picnic facilities and improve landscape. Cost: $202,000.

■ Voss/Civitan Park: Construct a basketball court, install waste containers, improve landscape and add new signage. Cost: $36,000.

■ Corrado Park: Install waste containers, new signage and enhance landscape. Cost: $28,000.

■ Westland Youth Athletic Association property: Install entry kiosk, a play structure, new concession/maintenance facility and waste containers, and improve landscape. Cost: $230,000.

■ Central City Park: Construct restroom facility. Cost: $128,000.

Exec contender focuses on airport, roads, job cuts

Wallace Serylo knows he has an uphill battle in his quest to become the next Wayne County executive.

The 72-year-old secretary for Temporary Housing in Redford Township and retired material control supervisor at Ford Motor Co. is a definite longshot in the Democratic primary election. Serylo is running against County Executive Edward McNamara and former Detroit mayoral candidate Sharon McPhail, both candidates with strong name recognition.

So why is Serylo running?

"McNamara is not doing a very good job," Serylo said. I think (Assistant County Executive Mike) Duggan is the person running the county and McNamara shows up for the pictures."

Serylo, who is moving from Detroit to Redford, wonders how much Wayne County spends in tax dollars on Christmas lights in Hines Park. He calls the airport "a mess" and lists the airport, roads and job cuts as the three most important county issues.

WAYNE COUNTY EXECUTIVE

Serylo's staff, Serylo said.

Serylo wants to see a light rail system connecting the airports and downtown Detroit. He thinks the bus transportation system "stinks" in southeast Michigan. "I also want to see SMART and D-DOT merge," Serylo said. "I'm sorry, but the unions are going to have to recognize that we're in the 20th century and work to merge the two systems."

Wayne County. "We spend too much time and gas at lights ill-timed or operating when not needed." He would like to see highway signs announcing road improvements without the county executive's name.

He wants the current access to Metro Airport redesigned to eliminate horrible traffic jams.

Serylo wants to reduce property taxes and increase the personnel count of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. He prefers not to accept endorsements from unions or groups as he "only wants to be beholden" to voters and taxpayers.

Serylo is opposed to a regional millage to support the arts and cultural institutions of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. "It should be self-supporting."

Serylo supports "some privatizing," but said he would have to study the issue further.

Serylo is a current member of the Detroit Police Chiefs Crime Advisory Committee. Serylo was a board member on the former 16th Precinct community relations group. Serylo joined the board at the 6th Precinct, serving in many capacities, the last as treasurer.

Serylo is a board member and president of the Detroit Outdoorsmen, and a board member and district field representative with the Michigan United Conservation Club. He is also a member of the Train Collectors Association, National Model Railroad Association, North Central Region and the Michigan Railroad Club.

LeBlanc said findings of dishes and other artifacts should reveal information about the area's past.

"Hopefully we will learn what these people ate, how they lived, what they planted and what they discarded," he said. "Back then you didn't have (municipal rubbish hauler) Painter & Ruthenberg to pick up your trash, so people dug a hole or burned it."

archaeological excavations," she said in a handout explaining her project.

LeBlanc commended Baxter for involving the community.

"This will allow residents to participate in the excavation, and it's not costing us a penny for any of this," he said. "There will be some minor disruptions, but the fact is we hope to get information from it, learn from it and have a good time."

Baxter said her dissertation research includes studying how children and adults interacted with their environment or, as she put it, "how they used the space around them."

The project will help reveal what the historical site looked like, and it could uncover information that may be missing or misrepresented in historical records.

All artifacts excavated will become the city of Westland's property and may form the basis for a historical museum exhibit.

Baxter praised the Westland Historical Commission for allowing her to conduct the project.

"They're so supportive," she said. "They've done a wonderful job for me. It makes it a nice research partnership."

Local fund-raiser to benefit man

A local fund-raiser dinner and raffle are planned to benefit a man battling a rare type of brain tumor.

Doors open at 6 p.m. and dinner starts at 7 p.m. at Knights of Columbus, 28845 Joy Road in Westland to benefit Bill Stone.

Stone, of Wayne, was diagnosed with the tumor in March, according to his wife, Colleen Stone, who grew up in Westland.

He has health insurance and is undergoing chemotherapy and radiation here, but the fund-raiser is preparing for the possibility he may need experimental treatment in another state, she said.

Stone's friend and co-worker Donnie Turner of Romulus is organizing the benefit.

"It's great. It's my opinion - it's true friends," Colleen Stone said of Turner's help.

An account has been set up at

First of America in New Boston in the name of Friends of Bill Stone. Donations can be sent in care of Donnie Turner, 5826 Culbert, Romulus MI 48174.

Raffle tickets will be sold during the party for $1 for items such as a TV, cooler and gift certificates, Turner said.

Turner hopes the benefit will help ease the financial burden for Stone, with whom he's worked for eight years.

Other fund-raisers have already been held including rummage sales, a cake raffle and 50/50 drawings. More than $4,500 has been raised so far, Turner said.

The goal is around $20,000, he said.

Tickets for the dinner are $25. Those interested can call Turner at (734) 955-7423 or Colleen Stone at (734) 641-1085.

CANTON

POWER OUT AFTER STORM

High winds and heavy rains that whipped through Plymouth and Canton Tuesday night lasted only about a half-hour, but it was enough to inconvenience many people for 12 hours or more as power outages darkened many neighborhoods.

Canton Township firefighters appeared to be the busiest in the area, handling 65 weather-related calls. Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher said they were all for downed power lines. He said there were no injuries or EMS runs related to the storm.

Detroit Edison spokesman Scott Simons said the utility recorded a peak of 309,000 customers without power, which was down to 250,000 by Wednesday morning. That included 2,700 customers in Canton, and another 1,800 in the Plymouth area.

Storm damage: Residents along Fredrick Street in Livonia survey the damage after a giant tree fell on a house.

GARDEN CITY

TRAFFIC SIGNALS OUT

The eastern portion of Garden City was particularly hard hit in Tuesday's storm.

Garden City public service crews were busy on tree cleanup detail Wednesday morning. In Garden City Park at Cherry Hill and Merriman several damaged trees were lying on the ground waiting to be removed by DPS workers.

Motorists driving through Garden City and other areas had their own headaches to contend with. Non-functioning traffic signals at major intersections caused confusion and created extra work for police officers.

"We set up a lot of four-way stops and let traffic take care of itself," Lt. Michael Carr of the Garden City Police Department said.

About 215 storm-related problems were reported to police Tuesday night. About two-thirds involved downed wires and about one-third involved downed trees.

No injuries were reported during the storm, according to Carr.

LIVONIA

SOUTH END HIT HARD

Southeast Livonia was one of the hardest hit areas in the city from the storm that hit the Detroit area about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Because of a power failure at 6 p.m., the big baking ovens stopped dead at Awrey's Bakeries Inc., 12301 Farmington Road, turning the bakery complex into a dark ghost town. Employees were sent home.

Everything baking in the oven was thrown out, and owner Betty Jean Awrey spent Wednesday donating the rest of the baked goods in the bakery to local charities, churches and even Edison crews out working on the power lines.

At the bakery, only two lights and the switchboard powered by auxiliary systems were working Wednesday. "Electricity was not expected to come back on until Friday," Awrey said.

The hardest hit area was between Plymouth and Joy, Wayne and Inkster.

After the storm hit, Livonia firefighters handled 40 runs that were directly related to the storm, but no one was injured, said Fire Chief Ron Engle.

PLYMOUTH

LAW SUIT CONTINUES

Jerry Vorva told the Plymouth Canton Board of Education that he will end litigation preventing the sale of $79.6 million dollars in bonds and, in effect, the construction of a new elementary and high school, if school officials hold a special election.

If not, it's all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. Meanwhile, school district officials say "no thanks." School officials plan to sell the bonds even if Vorva gets to the highest court in the land.

Vorva is fighting the election, claiming 716 people were denied their fundamental right to vote when a new touch-screen voting system failed to record their votes.

A three-judge state Appeals Court panel ruled earlier this month in favor of the school district. Vorva has said he will either ask for a rehearing or take the case to the Michigan Supreme Court. He needs to file either appeal by July 31.

REDFORD

STORM CLEANUP

Redford crews spent Wednesday cleaning up from Tuesday's violent storms that caused dozens of downed power lines and branches in the township.

There were no reported injuries in Redford.

The winds knocked down 50 to 100 power lines in the township, Redford police said. No fires were reported from the downed wires, Fire Chief Leonard Sobieski said.

There have been about 40 calls for fallen trees and branches, said Leo Snage, director of Public Services.

WESTLAND

POWER OUT, TREES DOWN

Heavy storms pounded Westland Tuesday evening, touching off fires, toppling trees and causing widespread power outages.

Despite some damages, police and fire officials said they hadn't heard of any serious injuries to people.

Firefighters battled six fires Tuesday night, reporting some of the worst damage inside an upper-story residence at Westland Park Apartments on Tami Circle.

Five other structure fires — some involving garages — on streets such as Mackenzie, Hugh and Rolf were reported.

Police Chief Emery Price estimated that the storm toppled or snapped 40 trees, in some cases obstructing streets.

Reps discuss road money, tobacco tax, foreign policy

A suburban audience usually hears one U.S. representative at a time.

So the listening becomes all the more interesting when you hear two.

The first was Rep. Joe Knollenberg, R-Bloomfield Township, a third-term member who serves on the Appropriations Committee that writes spending bills. He talked in his Farmington Hills office. His 11th District covers southwestern Oakland County and Redford Township and three-fourths of Livonia in Wayne County. He had been in the insurance business.

Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, also is a third-term member who serves on the Budget, Science and Corrections committees. She spoke from her Congressional office in Washington D.C. Her 13th District contains portions of Wayne and Washtenaw counties, including one-fourth of Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth and Westland, and Canton and Plymouth townships.

Q. Tell us about TEA-21, the new federal highway funding act. How did Michigan get so lucky, after being shafted for decades, as to get $309 million a year more — beyond the $200 million goal set by Gov. Engler?

Knollenberg: "A lot of hard work by a lot of people. In 1997 I voted against taking transportation out of the budget and was criticized for voting against money for Michigan roads. I did that because it would have killed the balanced budget agreement we had just signed.

"There was a consortium of midwest states that hung together. We said we don't have rail or underground transit. But we have bridges, and we drive. Massachusetts had been getting $2, $3 or $4 for every $1 paid in." He gave much credit to Engler as well as representatives and senators from both parties.

Rivers: "We didn't get lucky relative to the other states. We didn't get rid of the equity formula.

"While Michigan got more money, we didn't get more money in relation to the other states. It was a victory because Congress got more money, and everybody got more money."

Q. Every day on the TV news, tobacco companies have commercials saying, "Write to your congressman" to oppose billions in proposed tobacco taxes. Are your constituents writing? And what is your view?

Knollenberg: "I can tell you how I feel, and my constituents say the same thing. I oppose tax increases, period, whether it's on beer or cigarettes. I've been looking to reduce taxes.

"This tobacco bill was supposed to have been a done deal last year, at $368 billion. Then the politicians got hold of it — Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.). They kicked it up from 368 to $516 billion. That's pure tax. Here's the hypocrisy of it: These people were salivating at the money. They said it's for the children; we want to keep them from smoking. Children will smoke if you charge $10 a pack.

"You don't get any revenue unless people smoke. They want people to smoke. They're raising taxes on the lowest percentile of workers. Something should be done about curbing teen smoking. It (new revenue) is in the administration's budget, not in ours (Congress).

"When's the last time you heard Clinton say anything about drugs? ..."

Rivers: "Yes. A lot of them are responding to the tobacco ads and saying, 'I can't afford the taxes.'"

"We don't know what the bill is going to look like in the House. I imagine we'll know more when we return in August...

Rivers

"I don't have a problem with the tobacco companies paying for the liabilities and costs associated with their activities. If we ask the tobacco companies to change its advertising strategy, I don't have a problem with that either.

"What I have a problem with is a general tax on cigarettes and the money is spent on programs directed to the general population, such as child care programs or an educational building. I'm not very comfortable when a smoker — who tends to be a low income person — is financing something directed to a higher income person. I have problem with tobacco revenue becoming another revenue stream for government. I don't think that's correct.

"What costs are imposed on tobacco companies will be 'pass-through' costs onto consumers, whether it is taxes, losses or civil liability. That will be paid for with price increases on tobacco products."

Q. At any time, people are floating a dozen ideas for constitutional amendments. In March 1992 Gov. Bill Clinton told us he favored a line-item veto. Congress put it in a statute (not a constitutional amendment), and the U.S. Supreme Court struck it down.

Is a line-item veto amendment a good idea?

Knollenberg: "Bill Clinton rarely used the line-item veto when he had power to do it. I

Area code change

734 goes into effect Saturday

Starting Saturday, people outside the 734 area must dial 1 + 734 before entering the seven-digit telephone phone number.

Telephones in western Wayne County, Washtenaw County and Monroe County now are included under the 734 area code.

Greater Detroit retains the 313 area code. This area includes Hamtramck, Highland Park, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, the city of Detroit, Redford, Melvindale, Allen Park, Lincoln Park, Ecorse, River Rouge, Harper Woods, the Grosse Pointes and portions of Inkster, Taylor, Romulus and Westland.

Dialing 734 has been optional since the 734 area code was placed in service Dec. 13. Beginning July 25, callers who do not use the 734 area code when required will hear a recording telling them they need to dial the call again using 734.

Business customers are encouraged to test their internal phone system to determine if it recognizes the new area code. Older business phone systems may not be equipped or programmed to accept the newer area codes. Until 1995, area codes always had a "1" or "0" as the middle digit. But because the supply of old codes has been depleted, new area codes have middle digits that use the numbers "2" through "9."

To test their systems, businesses can call 1 (734) 253-9717. Callers will hear a message telling them their call has been completed successfully. Failure to reach the message means phone equipment may need to be reprogrammed, upgraded or replaced. In that event, business owners should contact their phone equipment supplier for more information.

The 734 area code was added because southeast Michigan is running out of telephone exchanges, the telephone company said. The explosion of telecommunications services, including pagers, cellular phones, fax machines and computer modems, has created the need for additional area codes across the country. More than 95 area codes have been introduced in the U.S. since 1995.

For information about the new area code, customers can call 1 (800) 831-8989.

On the court: Ben Maibach III, chairman of the board of the YMCA of Metro Detroit, is a Redford Township native and 20-year-resident of Farmington Hills. He has been a YMCA member for the past quarter century, and he still still plays racquetball weekly at the Farmington YMCA.

Maibach eyes strong role for Metro Y

As in his professional life as president and CEO of Barton Malow, Ben Maibach III, chairman of the board of the YMCA of Metro Detroit, has a master plan for that organization, but he's keeping the particulars under wraps.

"I do have ideas, but I'm using discretion putting together a strategic plan," said Maibach during an interview in his Southfield office in the American Center Building.

Barton Malow, one of the biggest construction contractors in the country, generated $750 million worth of business in more than 20 states last year. Its imprint locally is everywhere from the Joe Louis Arena in downtown Detroit to Royal Oak's William Beaumont Hospital.

One gets the impression that big things are also in store for the metro YMCA during Maibach's tenure as board chairman, a two-year commitment he assumed last April.

'Many people still equate the Y to swimming and athletics. It's so much more now. Our programs have expanded for youth, teens, and in the daycare area. It's really a community-driven organization.'

Ben Maibach, chairman, YMCA Metro Board of Directors

"Strong kids, strong families, and strong communities." That's the motto of the YMCA," said Maibach, a Redford native and 20-year-resident of Farmington Hills.

A member of the YMCA Board of Trustees for 15 years and various executive committees the last half dozen years, Maibach has been a YMCA member for the past quarter century.

He still plays racquetball weekly at the Farmington YMCA, often with Kevin Bush, executive director of the branch on Farmington Road north of 12 Mile. And Maibach likes the Wellness Center there.

"When I first got on the board, I got insight on what was going on at that time. The 'Y' is 145 years old nationally, and always has been fairly strong in Detroit. In the past few years, a lot of positive things have happened.

"Many people still equate the 'Y' to swimming and athletics. It's so much more now. Our programs have expanded for youth, teens, and in the daycare area. It's really a community driven organization."

The Metro Detroit YMCA is growing. This past year, two independent operations, the North Oakland (Rochester) and the Mt. Clemens branches, joined the metro group.

"Independents don't have the resources we do," said Maibach, adding that the metro consortium now includes 18 operations in three counties: Oakland, Macomb and Wayne.

The old downtown Detroit YMCA building brought the organization $5 million in a sale to make way for the new Tiger Stadium. A new building will be erected somewhere downtown.

"We will be working with (Detroit) Mayor Dennis Archer and (Wayne) County Executive Ed McNamara once the casino issue is settled," Maibach said. The YMCA board of directors doesn't want to be neighbors with a gambling institution, he said.

"We grossed $21.2 million last don't know that he's even relevant to this thing.

"The road would be very, very uphill because, with the budget balanced, there's reduced reason for it. As long as there's a Republican-led Congress, you'll see it balanced.

"Of all the amendments, a balanced budget is my favorite, knowing full well that amending the Constitution is very difficult.

"Clinton, the lamest of lame-ducks, wants to increase taxes by $150 billion, spending by $125 billion and add 85 new programs. That's the here and now."

Rivers: "I voted for the statute to see if it would stand up in court..."

"Actually I am exceedingly conservative with the Constitution... I think our founding fathers got it right, there would have to be a real compelling reason to go into this sacred document."

Q. Michigan has passed a set of laws against human cloning. The argument was made in the Legislature that the federal government should pass a national law. Should Congress pass an anti-cloning law?

Knollenberg: "Well, we did. (The House-passed bill is in the Senate.) It was Vern Ehlers' (R-Grand Rapids) bill."

Rivers: "I serve on the Science Committee and heard some testimony from the National Ethics Committee. Given the propensity for abuse, we need government guidelines..."

"I don't have a problem with a ban. I was concerned that a ban may stop other research... I have a staffer in a wheelchair who heard testimony on a ban for any tissue-related research. He was flabbergasted..."

"I agree we should have a ban on cloning, but we should be careful with tissue research. There may be opportunities out there."

Q. We've heard talk of a 0.08 percent blood alcohol content test for drunken driving. Do you favor it?

Knollenberg: "I voted against it. They're letting drunk drivers back on the road and pick up two, three violations. If they (other states) allow that, we're missing the mark. We've got to keep the drunk driver off the road.

"It should be a state issue. Fifty states have a lower BAC level right now. They ought to enforce the laws they've got."

Rivers: "If I was in the state Legislature, I would support it. We should leave it to the states and we shouldn't deprive states from doing it."

Q. U.S. News & World Report said in alarm that in 1987 there were six congressional ethnic caucuses; today 15. In 1988 there were 20 ethnic-oriented PACs (political action committees); last year, 51. There are stories how Clinton is responding to ethnic concerns - the reason we're considering bringing three eastern European countries into NATO is that the mayor of Chicago and his constituents want it; and the reason we're paying attention to Northern Ireland is that Irish constituents in our cities want it.

Do you see this happening to our foreign policy? And is it bad or good?

Knollenberg: "It's been going on for some time. The Irish thing is more recent. What do you do about the India-Pakistan thing?"

"In this community we have a huge number of ethnic groups, a lot of diversity. They tend to be affluent, well educated, and they have links to home. As a president, you have to appeal to their Americanism first."

"Clinton has tried to appeal to everybody. His foreign policy, I think, is flawed... He's trying to be seen as a peacemaker."

Rivers: "I haven't felt any undue pressure from any ethnic group. I'm not sure what the U.S. News article was about, but there is an interest in Northern Ireland across the country and what spillover it might have. Any time there is a political hotspot, you have people paying attention."

year in revenues," Maibach added. "We've seen good growth, and there will be more with expansion of programs. Things are going very well for the 'Y.' We have bridged the transition from multiple issues to one key issue. It's truly a community-driven organization."

What started out as the Young Men's Christian Association was primarily known for providing hotels for transient young men in stately downtown buildings across America during the 1920s and 1930s. The YMCA has metamorphosed into an active force of community life in the 1990s, emphasizing activities for men, women and children in every age group. Many programs are offered off-site. The YMCA works with many agencies, such as the Police Athletic League and community parks and recreation departments.

"We have strong behind-the-scenes partnerships. Our mission is different today than it was years ago when we had the large residential facilities which would be costly to run. Today we serve our communities better. We are now in a position to move strongly forward."

In a joint effort with Chrysler Corp., a new YMCA building will be constructed in Rochester this year. The city of Milford also has plans to build a YMCA facility soon.

Overseeing Barton-Malow construction projects in fields as varied as automotive, health care, sports and education requires a great deal of forethought and planning. Maibach brings that same dedication to his service to the YMCA board.

"It's hard to switch gears and not be yourself," he said.

In addition to the YMCA, Maibach is a director of the American Red Cross and a trustee of New Detroit, Inc. The father of Ryan, 24, a Barton-Malow project engineer, Maibach has received awards from the Boy Scouts of America, the Engineering Society of Detroit, and an honorary doctorate of engineering from Lawrence Technological University in Southfield.

THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1998

County executive McNamara, Scott best choices

On Aug. 4 voters will nominate candidates in the Democratic and Republican races for Wayne County executive. Given the current political demographics in Wayne County, the Democratic primary is tantamount to election.

The Democratic race features incumbent Edward H. McNamara, former mayor of Livonia, and challenger Sharon McPhail, an attorney and unsuccessful candidate for Detroit mayor in 1993. Also on the Democratic ballot is Wallace Serylo of Detroit.

In the Democratic race, we recommend that voters return McNamara to a fourth term to finish the job he started nearly 12 years ago.

The McNamara Administration has been the engine for economic growth and fiscal responsibility in Wayne County. It has improved the parks system (western Wayne County taxpayers need only to travel along Hines Drive to see the positive results), been an advocate for a cleaner environment (Rouge River cleanup and Newburgh Lake restoration) and a champion of public transportation.

McNamara offers voters a proven track record of getting the job done. Unemployment is at a record low, and crime is down. He has put the county on a solid financial track. He has surrounded himself with, and delegated responsibility to, a diverse, dedicated, hard-working group of people.

He has, however, some unfinished business with airport expansion and renovations and deserves to be returned to office to finish what he started. What happens in the next four years will be his political legacy, and we're confident that he won't disappoint the residents of Wayne County.

Edward McNamara Herb Scott

McPhail, McNamara's most viable opponent, is critical of his management or lack thereof at the airport, jail and morgue. Her criticisms may have a certain ring of well-researched fact. However, it's not hard to find fault with someone who has been in office for 12 years.

McNamara has the experience, vitality and vision to lead Wayne County into the 21st Century.

In the Republican race, the Observer recommends Herb Scott of Canton Township. Scott, vice president of Major Pharmaceuticals of Livonia, serves as treasurer for the GOP in the 13th Congressional District. Scott knows the issues and offers Republicans a credible, intelligent candidate for county executive.

County government is no longer a stuffy courthouse downtown but a vibrant player in the economy (Metro Airport) and the environment (Hines Park/Rouge River/Newburgh Lake). Be a player; don't get left on the sidelines. Take time to vote on Tuesday, Aug. 4.

Jail millage merits renewal

Observer area voters will decide on Aug. 4 whether to renew 1 mill for Wayne County jail operations, juvenile detention facilities and youth assistance programs for four years.

The millage renewal is a key to continuing the fight against crime in Wayne County and merits voter support.

The mill costs the owner of a $100,000 home with a $50,000 taxable value $48 annually.

Over the last year, the millage received a lot of attention from the Conference of Western Wayne, a legislative consortium of elected officials from 18 communities, including Canton, Garden City, Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Westland.

In February 1996, police chiefs from Garden City and Westland complained misdemeanor prisoners were often released early from the Wayne County jail facilities. They reported to the CWW that communities were not receiving what they believed was a proper return in prisoner housing on the millions sent down by communities each year through the millage.

In fact, it was costing communities more money to send misdemeanor prisoners out-county, because the county had no room for them and because county jail facilities were housing a larger number of felons.

The chiefs went so far as to oppose the 10-year millage unless the county would help them cut their prisoner housing costs. Plymouth Township remains embroiled in a lawsuit over the issue.

Last year, many communities also complained because a new juvenile facility had not been built. Since then, the facility has been finished and is scheduled to open in the fall.

County officials also have compromised somewhat with the chiefs and the CWW communities. Wayne County has agreed to act as a central repository for ordinance violators and misdemeanor prisoners and seek a lower out-county prisoner housing rate.

The county also will examine a tether program where first-time, non-violent offenders, such as shoplifters or drivers with suspended licenses, can serve a 60- or 90-day sentence. That should help cut prisoner housing costs.

While the communities are not getting all their jail needs fulfilled, the compromise is a good start.

In weighing the millage question, voters should consider this: The criminals are being locked up. In 1996, the Dickerson Detention Facility in Hamtramck detained 6,033 inmates from Wayne County suburban communities and townships, including 1,116 sentenced felons, 3,782 sentenced misdemeanants and 1,098 ordinance violators.

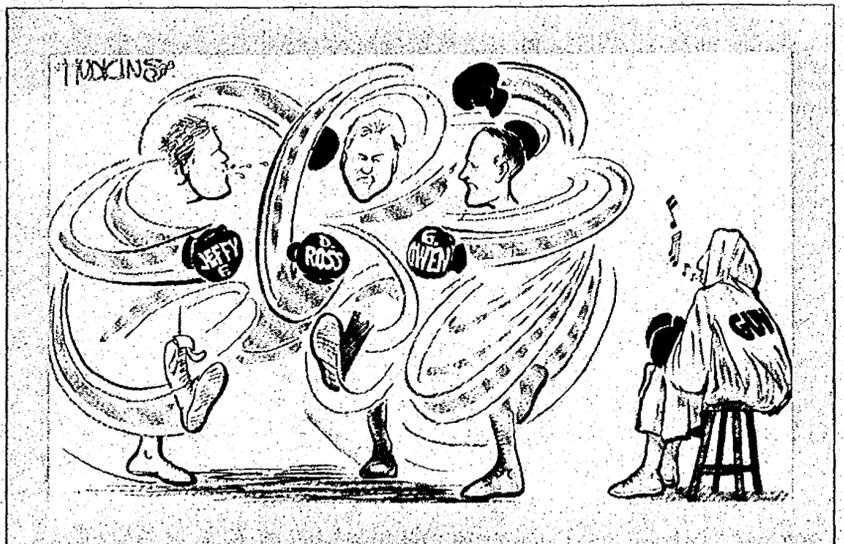

County officials say they have more than delivered on the millage, delivering 2,724 beds in cells for prisoners after promising 1,220.

Although we recommend that voters approve the millage, county officials also need to follow up on promises made to the CWW.

The four-year time period is enough time to review prisoner tether programs and decide where prisoners should be housed.

Public safety is key to healthy, strong, economically viable communities. The 1-mill renewal will continue to build on the successes in battling crime. Vote yes on Proposal J.

Attack on president

After private network consultations, examining facts and opinions, utilizing common sense and common judgment, I have concluded the average thing said and done by President Bill Clinton is attacked with the intent to damage and harass him. It is predicated on the idea of stop the messenger then the message won't be delivered; continuously degrade and harass him then few if any will believe and support his methods in bringing us together.

The foundation was laid approximately five years ago and to view it is like watching a gentle breeze blow into a hurricane.

Shortly after the 1994 election when the Republicans gained a majority in the House of Representatives, a newspaper issued a release with a headline - "The angry white male voters" - revealing it was these voters who gave the Republicans such majority. As it went such anger was explained as "the president didn't keep his promise" he promised to be a "new Democrat," he broke his promise. My belief is no, no, no, that was not the reason for such anger then and none of the reasons given today are genuine reasons.

Let's face it suspicion, suspicious circumstances, surmise and speculation are not sufficient to convict. The state has the burden of removing any reasonable doubt concerning the guilt of the accused. The fact that you have fallen into the clutches of the law does not raise the assumption that you are guilty. Why? Because the presumption of innocence is one of the oldest principles of our common law and one of the better protections against improper verdicts and this presumption exists until a verdict is found against the accused. The effect is to place the burden upon the government to prove the guilt of the accused. The accused is under no compulsion to prove his innocence.

It is my opinion, the media, the press, the talk shows, the Republicans, some Democrats, the racists and the bigots have already found the president guilty and have expressed their opinions over and over again. It is my further opinion, since the innocence or guilt of the president is for the Congress or a jury to decide, it is in their minds that doubt has effect.

Let us not be so fast in giving our opinions on personal transactions between the male and the female. Let an honest legal authority handle it. It should not be done by Ken Starr because I believe he is sold out to the mean-spirited ones who are out to bring down the president because of his method and effort in bringing us together.

Finally, I believe this investigating the president will drag out indistinctly leaving sufficient grounds for a case of malicious prosecution. Maybe then these mean-spirited people will get a meaningful life for themselves. The country saved will be America.

In the end I believe it behooves us all to go to the ant and get some knowledge, consider her ways and be wise for there's wisdom in little things.

Richard clueless

Columnist Tim Richard purports to care for Michigan's children, yet he feverishly opposes any attempt to allow parents more options for improving their children's education.

Tim rejects all forms of school choice, from charter schools to vouchers. He erroneously claims that the Mackinac Center "is pushing vouchers, hard."

Tim needs to rent a clue. The Mackinac Center has proposed a tuition tax credit, not a voucher. There is no transfer of public funds to private schools, as Tim maintains; parents and businesses simply get a credit against their own tax liabilities when they pay a child's school tuition with their own money.

Rather than belittling parental involvement in their children's education, Tim should check his ideological agenda at the door and embrace school choice as a real way to improve education.

POINTS OF VIEW

Retraining program great for older drivers

I don't know if you remember Mildred, the 76-year-old woman who I thought should no longer be driving the roads of metro-Cleveland where she lives.

First, her friends called to complain about her poor driving. And last December when we visited, she drove into oncoming traffic without looking when my daughter, granddaughter and I were passengers in her car.

But Traffic Improvement Association President Frank Cardimen persuaded me otherwise. "I lost my father last year," Cardimen told me for a column I wrote in February. "But I really lost him about seven years ago when his license was pulled. He stopped living. This issue goes beyond just the safety question."

What Cardimen suggested was getting her to take a retraining workshop designed for mature drivers, like the ones the TIA reinstated last year around our towns from Plymouth all the way to Rochester.

So I called Mildred's son to propose it. She didn't respond to the idea. But then another relative experienced a similar near-accident as a passenger in her car.

That broke the impasse. Because this time when she was approached about taking such a class, her response was: "Why I was just thinking about doing that."

Frankly, I'm still not sure I would drive with her again. But, a visit to a TIA-sponsored course held in Farmington Hills reassured me that the 12 women and four men taking the workshop are better drivers for it.

Studies show that older drivers are four times more likely to be involved in traffic accidents. In studies by population and miles driven, they experience an inordinate number of crashes and fatalities.

In fact, two members of the class had been involved in recent accidents. Both said they were not at fault.

"Some dude backed into me," described Ione Schuster of Farmington.

Tressa Jasko's "first accident in 40 years" actually motivated her to take the retraining. "A woman sideswiped me as I was driving along Eight Mile Road," the 76-year-old Redford Township resident said. "It made me a little nervous. I want to feel more at ease when I'm driving."

Over two four-hour sessions utilizing a series of videos, two instructors review: The effects of aging on driving, physical limitations, effects of medication and alcohol on driving, current traffic laws, automobile technology, defensive driving skills and crash preventative measures.

Jasko was proud of how well she did. On her road test, she learned that "I probably should watch a little closer to the right side." Overall, she said: "I really got a lot out of it."

An offshoot of the retraining was meeting new people. Dolores Ferguson of Farmington Hills and Gail Perrin, her former next door neighbor, introduced me to their new acquaintance, Jewel Cooke. The Farmington Hills woman, at 89, was probably the oldest person taking the class.

Perrin gave Cooke the supreme compliment for this westside Oakland County community: "Our new friend drives Orchard Lake Road."

Judith Doner Berne, a West Bloomfield resident, is former managing editor of the Eccentric Newspapers. Upcoming mature driver retraining workshops are scheduled for Sterling Heights, Pontiac, Waterford, Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Rochester, St. Clair Shores and Romeo. Cost runs about $20. Call Joan Rich at (248) 334-4971 for information.

Large schools often perform better than small ones

The latest claptrap emanating from the right wing of the State Board of Education has to do with big school districts versus small schools. The rationalization (it's not reasoning) goes like this:

The poorest MEAP scores come from the biggest school districts.

The smallest schools are public school academies, alias "charter schools."

The way to raise educational proficiency is to charter more little academies that are close to the parents, the way rural schools were organized in our idyllic past.

Ideologically, it's great, as long as you don't let facts get in the way.

But let us consider some of the facts from this spring's eighth grade science tests.

Wayne County

Detroit's 9,549 eighth graders scored 9.9 percent proficient in science and 41.6 percent failing ("not yet novice," in the jargon then employed). In the Caesar Chavez Academy, with 14 tested, zero scored proficient and 64.3 percent flunked. Meanwhile, in Livonia - second largest district in the county and one of the 10 largest in the state - the 1,347 eighth graders scored 29.5 percent proficient with 10.1 percent flunking.

Kent County

Grand Rapids, with 1,395 eighth graders tested, is the second largest school district in the state and the largest in Kent County. Its scores were 11.4 percent proficient, 37.2 flunking.

Second largest in the county is Rockford, whose 600 eighth graders scored 35.7 percent proficient and 6.8 percent flunking.

At the West Michigan Academy of Environmental Science (remember, this is a science test), 28 took the test with 7.1 percent proficient and 42.9 percent flunking - not as good as Grand Rapids, far worse than Rockford.

Genesee County

TIM RICHARD

Flint is third largest in Michigan and largest in the county. Its 1,339 eighth graders scored 2.1 percent proficient and 57.7 percent flunking. Pretty bad, so let's move to the second largest in the county, Grand Blanc, where 425 kids scored 35.1 percent proficient and 7.3 percent flunking. Little Westwood Heights' 67 eighth graders scored 3.0 and 49.3, almost as bad as Flint, far worse than Grand Blanc. (No charter school showed an eighth grade score.)

Washtenaw County

Largest in the county and eighth largest in the state is Ann Arbor, with 1,082 eighth graders who scored 40.3 percent proficient and 8.3 percent flunking. Smallest public school district is Manchester, with 82 tested and scoring 40.2 and 4.9 percent, respectively - little different from Ann Arbor's. Central Academy, with only eight pupils, scores 12.5 and 12.5 - too small a base for a good comparison.

Livingston County

Brighton is the largest with 485 eighth graders scoring 32.2 percent proficient and 9.9 percent flunking. The Livingston Academy tested six pupils with 16.7 percent proficient and 33.3 percent flunking - too small a base for a good comparison.

Macomb County

Utica is the county's largest and the state's fourth largest with 1,811 tested, a proficient score of 32.2 percent and a flunk rate of 9.9 percent. Smallest is New Haven with 65 students scoring 7.7 percent proficient and 36.9 percent flunking - far worse than Utica's.

In sum, there's little evidence to support any ideology about big versus little schools.

Keep in mind that four of the largest districts in Michigan aren't big-city urban schools but suburbs: Utica, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and Wayne-Westland.

As for charter schools, many - not all - continue to be an embarrassment. The state should be thinking in terms of closing the many weak ones.

So what makes a school good? Back in the 1960s, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, then employed by the Nixon Administration and now a U.S. senator from New York State, said: "Schools don't count. Families do."

Backed up, I would add, by inspired teachers.

Focus:HOPE still going strong

It was 30 years ago, when the ashes of the riots in Detroit were still smoldering and people were still looking at each other in shock, that I first started hearing the rumors.

There was this Catholic priest, prematurely gray but with fire in his eyes and quicksilver on his tongue. And there was his sidekick, a soft-spoken woman who seemed much, much bigger than her 5-foot-4 height when she started organizing things.

Together they were supposed to be doing something to rebuild a city that the riots had revealed as a hollow shell. Doing something to bring the races together. It had an odd name and odder punctuation.

I had just started the company that owns this newspaper, and even from a suburban perspective I was horrified and dismayed at what was happening to a once-great city. So it was only logical a little later that I should sit down with Father William Cunningham and Eleanor Josaitis to talk about what they were doing.

In the beginning, Focus:HOPE was little more than its logo, a white hand and a black hand reaching out but not yet touching. But Father Bill and Eleanor soon gathered a cadre of earnest and well-intentioned folks, attracted by the idea of doing something practical at the grass-roots level that would provide some measure of, well, hope.

In 1971 they established The Commodity Supplemental Food Program to provide free monthly food rations to pregnant women, post partum mothers, children up to the age of 6 and seniors more than 60. When I visited Focus:HOPE back then, it was pretty scruffy but effective; lots of surplus food was being gathered and distributed, efficiently and compassionately, to a whole lot of folks who needed it.

Time passed. I was busy with other things. I saw Father Bill and Eleanor from time to time, always filled with hope and optimism, always brimming over with new projects. By then, Bill was certainly the best salesman in Michigan, reaping wealth and help from the mighty, while Eleanor toiled along in the background, cleaning up after the messes that great salesmen always leave behind.

And then the day came when I was serving as chair of the Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council and trying to design a job training system that would provide Michigan workers with the skills and productivity to get and keep good-paying jobs. We had given some grants to Focus:HOPE, and I thought I'd better go down to their headquarters to have a look at what they were doing with our money.

I never will forget the shock of walking into the complex Father Bill and Eleanor had built. The Focus:HOPE I entered was modern, high-tech, lime green and gray, complete with new machine tools and computers and classrooms and filled with earnest young men and women.

Today the Machinist Training Institute provides up-to-date training in precision machining and metal working for more than 300 students. Since it was started in 1981, it has a 100 percent placement record for the more than 1,500 graduates whose skills are in short supply in area businesses.

And today's Focus:HOPE has a bewildering variety of offerings ranging from the Center for Advanced Technologies (granting accredited degrees in manufacturing, engineering and technology) to First Step (a four-week program upgrading math, communications and computer skills) so graduates can enter Fast Track (to prepare students to enter the Machinist Training Institute).

Today's Focus:HOPE is big business, with a $62.5 million budget, one million square feet of space on 40 acres, 786 staffers and 49,000 volunteers, participants and contributors.

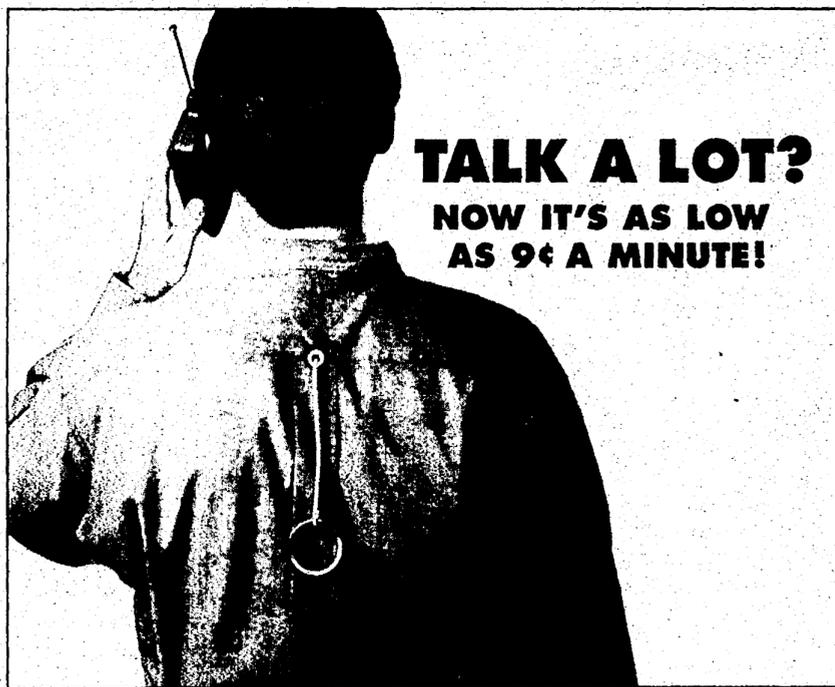

But last year, Father Bill Cunningham died of cancer, and a tornado roared down Oakland Boulevard, ripping a chunk out of the Focus:HOPE campus. Eleanor Josaitis stepped forward into big shoes and started filling big holes.

This Saturday, Focus:HOPE is celebrating its 30th anniversary, just a little bit later than the actual anniversary date of March 8. "There has just been too much grieving for Bill," explained Eleanor. "But we hope everybody will come on down and see what we've built."

The celebration runs from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, July 25, at 1355 Oakland Boulevard, Detroit.

In my view, what they've built is nothing less than a monument to hope.

Metro airport gets $1 billion for midfield terminal project

Wayne County received $1 billion recently on behalf of Detroit Metro Airport, completing the largest bond sale in the history of U.S. airports.

Proceeds from the sale will be used primarily for Metro Airport's new 74-gate midfield terminal project.

The $1 billion check was presented to Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara by representatives of Salomon Smith Barney, lead underwriter for the bond sale.

The underwriting group also included Merrill, Lynch & Co., Seibert Brandford Shank & Co., and a number of Michigan-based and national financial institutions. Several local, minority-owned firms were also principal members of underwriting and selling teams.

The $1 billion bond funding will contribute primarily to the construction of Metro Airport's new midfield terminal, scheduled to open in 2001. Proceeds from the sale will also be used for other airport projects, including construction of a sixth runway, a new 12,000-space parking garage, renovation of the existing terminal complex and continuation of the airport's noise program.

The 30-year bonds will return a maximum interest rate of 5.33 percent tax-free, according to John Reagan, director of Salomon Smith Barney. While most of the bonds were sold to institutional investors, about $90 million of the issue was sold to individuals, most of whom were Michigan residents, Reagan said.

The securities offering was rated AAA — the result of a bond insurance policy provided by Municipal Bond Investors Assurance, Inc. The insurance reduced the interest cost to be paid by Detroit Metro Airport.

The bond issue received an A rating from Fitch Investors Service, AAA from Moody's Investors Service and A- from Standard & Poors. Two of those ratings — from Fitch and Moody's — were upgrades.

SC wins grant for business program

Schoolcraft College has won a $169,000 business and international education grant from the U.S. Department of Education to develop an international trade certificate program for companies interested in exporting their goods and services.

The certificate program will include courses and seminars featuring experts on international topics who will share current information about entering foreign markets and maintaining a competitive edge, according to Katrina VanderWoude, assistant dean of continuing education services.

"We will organize networking events where companies, particularly small firms and their employees, can meet experts and glean information from them," VanderWoude said.

Program components will examine the culture, language, currency and business practices of targeted countries; customs laws; the role of brokers and development bankers, trade consultants and international laws.

"Schoolcraft has a long history of providing special seminars, workshops and community forums to a variety of audiences for professional development and personal enrichment," said Richard McDowell, college president. "Our ability to train individuals and groups is second to none."

VanderWoude said the program will focus on entrepreneurs, small businesses and women and minority business owners. Representatives of southeastern Michigan's education, economic development and international trade communities will join with Schoolcraft in the venture. Partners include Michigan State University's Center for Canadian Studies, the Michigan Small Business Development Center, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, the Michigan Jobs Commission, the Edward Lowe Foundation and Comerica Bank.

Funding begins in September, and classes are expected to be offered in 1999. For information, contact Continuing Education Services at (734) 462-4448.

Helping kids reframe envy as admiration

If you pay attention to your subconscious thoughts, you will be surprised at what is just below the surface. I'm not proud of it, but envy lurks in my subconscious.

As I walked into the grocery store last week, my thoughts meandered around aimlessly until I spotted HER. She stood in the vegetable aisle. She was attractively thin and looked like she exercised frequently. Judging by the care she took in picking out the fresh produce, she obviously ate healthy foods, and it showed.

And wouldn't you know, not two minutes later, another woman pops into my line of sight, and darn it, if she wasn't about the same age as me, dressed in a colorful shorts and shirts combination, again enviably thin.

I would not say that I am a person who spends a great deal of time envying other people, but I'll candidly admit, I do envy thin people. The thing that really ticks me off about them is that permanently thin people don't have any conception as to how hard other people work to stay reasonably thin.

My problem is I am a medium-sized person with a very fat mind. If it weren't for the enormous amount of time I spend exercising each week, my fat mind would grow to be a 200-pound body. It is always difficult for me to maintain or lose weight, and I'll tell you right out - I spend way too much time thinking about it.

A common feeling

We've all felt envy at times, wishing we had someone else's qualities, possessions, achievements or luck. But let's face it - envy is destructive and, in the worst case, can be the root cause of other destructive behaviors.

I will never have a skinny person's thin-thinking mind, so I need to GET OVER IT, be content with what I have and thankful that I can control my weight to the degree that I can.

So how does envy apply to our children? Is it natural for them to be envious of others? Envy is common to the human race and we mistakenly think that in order to find contentment, significance and fulfillment, we have to act on our envy.

By contrast, persons who get control of their envy can reframe it as admiration. Then they are in a position to support and encourage other people instead of having to work so hard to gain an edge. They move from selfish to selfless, a much more desirable trait.

Envy can push children and teens into unhealthy behaviors. You've no doubt heard your children talk about other kids. They might talk about a smarter classmate in a disparaging way, gossip about an attractive friend, or they might go so far as to vandalize a schoolmate's new bicycle, destroy their sibling's favorite toy, or tattle to get their friend in trouble.

Dealing with envy

We can help our kids with envy in three ways. One, acknowledge their feelings. If they tell you that they feel mad about their friend getting chosen to the all-star team when they didn't, let them know that it is OK to have that feeling - "I know you're feeling bad that you weren't chosen and Jason was because you probably think you were just as qualified."

Letting them have the feelings is not the same as allowing them to act on them.

Two, our integrity shows when we're down. Remind them that it's easy to be kind and generous when things are going your way and you're feeling good, but that the true test is to be kind and admiring when you're feeling bad - "It's not about Jason's success that makes you mad, it's about you not getting on the team. I know you think that Jason got on the team because the judge is his dad's best friend, but to say that makes you look selfish. You're not a failure; Jason was just fortunate to get

Best friends, there's nothing like them. They have broad shoulders, big hearts and unbreakable funny bones. They challenge and accept us ... and sometimes annoy us.

Best friends listen more than they talk, and they seldom ask what's wrong. They already know.

"She's always there when I need her," said Marilyn Griffith, 66, of Livonia about her best friend, Beverly Hogue, 65. "She's the kind of person who does things for you and wants no credit for it."

"She knows instinctively what you need."

Those are the same sentiments expressed by 33-year-old Laura Zain about her best friend, Kristin Senne, 27, of Northville.

The Livonia resident met Senne 13 years ago. Zain's son had just been born with his intestines on the outside of his body. Kyle, now 13, wasn't expected to live. Many of her friends dropped out of sight.

But not Senne, who lived across the street. She shared Zain's bedside vigil.

"She stuck it out with me, and I got so much from this 14-year-old kid," said Zain. "I became her big sister, and she was my big sister even though she was little."

Senne saw Zain through a divorce; earlier this year, Senne's boyfriend died.

"Laura was right there by my side," said Senne, a scholarship student at Madonna University.

Both women were born on Aug. 28, and every year they try to outdo each other's birthday surprise. Sometimes they don't wait until their birthdays. This June Senne surprised Zain with two tickets to the final game of the Stanley Cup championship. She also had two airline tickets to Washington, D.C.

"Oh, she couldn't believe it until I went there and spent the night before we left for the airport," said Senne.

When Senne leaves for Europe this August for a much needed vacation, it will be the second time in 14 years they've been apart on their birthdays.

"Everything about her is like me," said Senne. "It's like we're connected. It's weird, but it's in a good way."

Girl next door

Barb Dempkowski, 49, of Garden City is married with three daughters. Her best friend, Jerri Allen, 55, of Dearborn Heights is single. Both have younger brothers.

"I tell my daughters, Jerri and I had to adopt each other to fight our brothers," said Dempkowski. "Jerri loves animals, kids, flowers. She loves everything."

"Barb is always happy, always has a smile," said Allen.

The two women met 33 years ago when Dempkowski's family moved next door to Allen's family in Dearborn Heights. Both families were active in the Lions Club's Blind Bowlers. They became best friends when they shared a hotel room two years later during a Blind Bowlers meeting in New York City.

Allen still lives next to Dempkowski's mother and father, who is now blind, and helps out a lot, including taking them out to dinner.

Dempkowski's daughters adore Allen - "She is their best aunt. Aunt Jerri is right up there with God." - and they "are my nieces," according to Allen.

Dempkowski and Allen routinely blow up at each other to let off steam, but they've never had a serious argument.

"I can't imagine getting in a fight with Jerri," Dempkowski said. "I can't imagine her fighting with anybody."

Allen said they're more like sisters than friends - "We like the same things. We do the same things."

A while ago, Allen's brother asked her to move out to Colorado, where he lives. Allen assured Dempkowski she wasn't going to do that. "We don't want to think about it."

"Jerri truly is a person from God," said Dempkowski. "She is more than a sister could ever be." Eight-year-old Chelsea Washko and Amanda Rummel are second graders at Douglas Elementary School. They met in first grade.

Other than swimming, making beaded necklaces and selling toys they don't want anymore, Chelsea and Amanda haven't experienced much of life together.

But there's plenty of time for life. Meanwhile, they're friends for the simplest and best of reasons:

"She shares with me and she is always with me," said Chelsea.

"Well, she's really nice and we like to share," said Amanda. "And she makes funny faces."

Hospices team up to offer children's bereavement camp

Did you dream of going to camp, but never had the opportunity?

Well, you can experience camp life now as a volunteer for the fifth annual Camp Phoenix, sponsored by Community Hospice and Home Care Services and Hospices of Henry Ford Health System.

Some 40 volunteers are needed to work with the anticipated 70 children who will attend the three-day camp Friday-Sunday, Aug. 21-23, at Camp Tamarack in Ortonville.

"We really need men, and we're looking for teens age 15 and up," said Kathleen Dattolo, CHHCS director of social work. "The teens are great. They play with the younger children when they're not in their sessions and are there in the cabins, but they're not seen as authority figures."

Camp Phoenix is designed to facilitate a healthy grieving process for children age 5-17 who have experienced a significant loss due to death in the past 24 months.

The camp staff includes the trained volunteers, social workers, counselors and child life specialists. It offers comprehensive training and a job stipend related to the job duty at a camp for all volunteers, said Dattolo.

The ratio of volunteers to children depends on the age group. For the 5-8-year-old campers, the ratio is one adult for every two children. For 9-12-year-olds, it's one adult to three children and one adult for three to four teens.

"The camp offers so much to children who are grieving the loss of someone loved," said Peggy Nielsen who manages the "Sand Castles" children's bereavement program for Hospices of Henry Ford Health System.

Activities include group interactions, art, music and play activities. Children are assigned to small age-specific groups to encourage the sharing of feelings with the ultimate goal being the development of coping strategies for dealing with grief.

Teens also work on a high rope challenge that's good for team building and self-esteem, while the 9-12-year-olds work on the low ropes challenge that focuses a lot on team work. For the young children, it's hayride to a petting farm.

There also will be skits and a memorial service on Saturday evening, according to Dattolo.

"Giving children an opportunity to be with their peers helps normalize the grief experience," said Jean Butrice Cooper, child life specialist for Hospices of Henry Ford Health System. "The child may not know other children who have experienced a loss, so our program can help a great deal."

The children's parents or guardians attend an informational meeting before the camp and are invited to a family picnic on Sunday when they pick up their children. Last year more than 200 attended the picnic.

This is the second year the two agencies have teamed up to offer Camp Phoenix. By sharing resources, the camp can now accommodate up to 100 children and has expanded the financial commitment.

Such funding has allowed the agencies to offer the camp free of charge. However, there is a $20 registration fee due at the time of application. Scholarships are available.

For more information or an application, call CHHCS at (734) 522-4244. The deadline for registering is July 31.

As with many friendships, hardship brought Livonia residents and neighbors Rhoda Bogros, 75, and Joanne Mateer, 65, closer together. Rhoda and her husband Albert, 80, lost their 51-year-old daughter to cancer a few months ago.

"They were right there for us," said Boros.

When Albert had a heart attack last April and recent surgery for skin cancer, the Mateers were there, going to the hospital with Boros and bringing Albert home.

"It's people like this who help us carry the load that allows us to carry one," said Boros. "It's exceptional people like this who deserve recognition."

Boros sometimes wonders about her friend's broad shoulders. While Boros was coping with her daughter's death, Mateer was dealing with her own mother's serious illness.

"While I was crying on her shoulder about our daughter, she was waiting for word on her mother, who died," said Boros. "I've always said she was my guardian angel, and she truly is."

Abe Barroga of Canton has two best friends who help "keep my feet on the ground" - Mike Smokavitz and Chris Skoglund. All three men are 20 years old and have been friends since middle school.

"Mike is the dreamer, Chris is spontaneous, and I'm the organizer," Barroga said. "I make it possible to do things, to make it flow easily."

In other words, Barroga supplies the car and cash at times. That's OK with Barroga because best friends don't keep tabs on favors or money.

"Just as long as they're going to be there when you need them," he said.

Men the age of Barroga's father have "buddies" who come over and watch football games. But buddies are not best friends, according to Barroga.

"A friend and a best friend are two different things," he said. "You don't really share all the intimate things you tell a best friend. You don't think about best friends criticizing you."

Carol Napier of Garden City counts Art Stump and Lavelle Jenkins. Napier gets a lot of help raising her 8-year-old grandson from them.

"He helps me with my grandson, Allen, and is always around when I need a helping hand," she said of Stump. "Lavelle is always buying Allen things. She's always here for me."

Redford resident Terry Masek met her best friend Lisa Mausolf more than 10 years ago at Ladywood High School.

"We had the same personality; she was just as bubbly as I am," she said. "It started there and slowly grew."

Canton teenagers Mallory Urban and Kate Kerm, both 13, are best friends. Why?

"Because I can trust her and tell her everything and rely on her," Mallory said.

"She's always there," Kate said. "She's always helping me when I need help. I can tell her secrets. We're always doing stuff together. She's my movie buddy, and we drool over the same men."

Livonia residents Amie Cerullo and Jenny Burgess graduated from Stevenson High School this year and have been friends since ninth grade.

"Through high school we've been through everything good and bad... Boyfriends who came between us, vacations," said Cerullo. "We have different interests, but we still have time for each other."

"When she has a problem, I'm there for her. When I'm having a problem she's there for me."

Lasting friendship

Westland resident Bertha Row-

den said Rosa Rupp has been her best friend since they met in the fourth grade more than 60 years ago.

"We talk about things we don't even tell our sisters," Rowden said.

Plymouth resident Nancy Chapman has been best friends with Barbara Rydeski of West Bloomfield for more than 40 years.

"When we get together we tell the same stories, laugh at the same things," Chapman said. "Days go by and weeks go by, but when we talk, we just pick up where we left off."

Plymouth resident Susan Heimbaugh and best friend Shelly Manville see each other four times a week.

"We both thought that being friends was cheaper than going to therapy," Heimbaugh said. "I never had a sister, but this is different."

Redford resident Kathy Kitzmann has been best friends with Nancy Borden since their parents bought homes back-to-back in 1950 when they were born.

"She knows me better than anybody," Kitzmann said. "Our lives have taken different paths, but we're always able to come back and pick up on our friendship."

Redford resident Kathy Lloyd met her best friend Laurie Harris when both were 7 years old and Lloyd's family moved into Harris' neighborhood.

"Mom made me take her a Kool-Aid," Lloyd said. "You don't need to detail things out (with her). We're on the same wavelength."

Livonia resident Pam Caraher met best friend Sharon on the job six years ago. They went to Ireland together three years ago. And Caraher loves Urso's thoughtfulness and gentleness.

"I just can't explain what a good friend she is," Caraher said. "She's soft-spoken, generous. She's just incredible. She had a sweet smile. I'd go home and say 'Ma, I met the nicest person in the world today.'"

"She's just the best friend anyone could dream of having. I mean it from the bottom of my heart, she's something else."

Close to home

But best friends can be more than the kid next door or a school chum. For some, their best friends are as close as a family member or spouse.

"She knows all my secrets," said Livonia resident Kathy Combin about her sister Bridgett. "Sometimes we buy things at different stores and find out later we bought the same thing."

For Nancy Andersen of Canton, her best friend is her father, Tedd Grakawski of Auburn Hills.

"He is my No. 1 all-star, confidant and picker-upper. He is the wisest man I know," said Andersen. "He insists that I call him when I get home after visiting him. He is a role model, a hero."

Garden City resident Debbie Likeric said her best friend is her husband, J.B., whom she met in 10th grade more than 20 years ago.

"He just accepts the ups and downs we go through," she said. "I'm never afraid to tell him anything. We have no secrets from each other. I'd rather spend time with him than anybody else."

Ditto for Mary Beth King of Canton, who's best friend is her husband Jeffrey.

"We just had a baby six months ago and I've had trouble dealing with it," she said. "He's been unbelievable. It's been unbelievable for the past four years."

Canton resident Nancy Phalin and husband Randy Phalin, married for four years, are best buddies on the go.

"We go biking, inline skating, scuba diving, church, shopping, Jazzercise and weightlifting," she said. "We just have fun together. He's the best friend anybody could have. We do everything together. Buddies should always be together."

Phalin said they hesitated about getting married because Randy is considerably younger than she.

"Then we said, 'No, age doesn't matter.' It's just gotten better since we've gotten married."

Sometimes we mistakenly play into our child's envy by permitting the child to get away with comments or actions that are destructive. If the child gripes that Jason only got on the all-star team because of who his dad knows and you play into it by agreeing, you are doing a great disservice to your child. Your child will never learn "frustration tolerance" and will continue to have to put others down in order to feel good about themselves.

Just remember that children who spend lots of energy resenting other people's advantages will be least liked by their peers and most often rejected. As the following anonymous quote says, "Happiness consists of not longing for the things that make us happy."

Polish dance instructor has right moves for 'Wedding'

Susan Marzec and her Stoneleigh Village neighbors are about to rename their Livonia neighborhood "The Polish Connection."

"There's so many people in the subdivision who are Polish. I've found people who are from my childhood. It's 'The Polish Connection' now," Marzec said with a chuckle.

Quickly, however, she changed the name.

"It's going to have to be the 'Famous Stoneleigh Village Polish Connection.' People walk up to me and they say, 'You're not the ...' (She responds) 'Yes, I am.'"

The 44-year-old Marzec, the choreographer for the Polish dance troupes Radomanie and Centennial Dancers, has made a name for herself as a choreographer for the movie "Polish Wedding."

"Polish Wedding" tells the story of Polish immigrant parents Jadzia and Bolek (Lena Olin and Gabriel Byrne) and their rebellious daughter Hala (Claire Danes), a high school dropout who becomes pregnant by a Hamtramck cop named Russell (Adam Trese). The movie, directed by Royal Oak Dundero High School graduate Theresa Connelly, opened Friday, July 17.

Marzec almost missed the chance to work on the movie. She had just returned from studying in Poland, when she heard a message on her answering machine asking if she would perform in "Polish Wedding." Believing it was just another wedding gig, Marzec didn't return the call.

"Then I got a phone call from a person in our dance troupe who works at the Athenum (hotel in Greektown) where they were staying; she said they wanted us to dance in the movie. I had no idea this was entitled 'Polish Wedding.' I didn't know it was a film," Marzec said.

Marzec walked into her interview in an old warehouse "so overdressed." The clothing of choice for her interviewees was jeans and T-shirts. Three interviews later, they explained the scene to her and asked her to suggest music. Upon suggesting a "real romantic dance," she got the job.

"I walked out of there screaming. 'What a fool I was.'"

Teaching others

The first day of her eight-week job, she walked in and the stars were waiting for her. They listened to Polish music and Marzec began her lessons. When the actors and actresses had down time, Marzec was reached via a cell phone or pager to return to the set to teach dance.

Byrne, Olin and other participants in "Polish Wedding" also came to the Centennial Dancers' practice at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Livonia.

"Gabriel was very nervous at first," Marzec said. "Toward the end, I asked him 'Do you indulge in any type of alcoholic type of activity? Or work out? I think you need to loosen up.'"

"Finally, during the taping I told him to act like you're dancing and I'm just going to dance around you. We must have done the shot 20 times," she added with a laugh.

Connelly was interested in hiring Marzec's sons, Ken, 21, and Jason, 19, former football players for Detroit Catholic Central High School who now play for St. Norbert College in Green Bay, Wis. They said thanks, but no thanks.

"They said, 'We dance for you but don't make us give up football for this.' They said, 'You being in it and you doing it is good enough for us,'" said Marzec who also has a son, Gregory, 4. "Still I make them Polish dance. They went to Poland with me and I'm hoping they go with us in June to perform," said Marzec.

Her husband, Ken, however, appears in the movie dancing with Olin during one of the climactic scenes.

For the movie, Marzec chose adult dancers from both of her groups, the Centennial Dancers and Radomanie, including Brad Platek of Livonia, who dances with Olin.

Not only did she introduce the actors and actresses to Polish dance and her dancers to movies, she made them try some of the cuisine.

"They tried the food. Although Lena and Mili (Avital, who plays Sophie) didn't eat that much, they were very accommodating," she said. "It was like a dream in a sense."

Marzec's friend, actress Nancy Kendall, said she couldn't believe that Marzec made it into a film, to which she responded "I knew I didn't have to go out there (west) to make a film. They were going to come to me."

Although she saw the movie on Friday, she returned to the theater with the dance troupe on Sunday where they cheered when her name flashed on the screen during the credits.

"It was nice to get this respect from people; it's a nice way to end everything."

The weekend didn't start off that well, however. The Polish American Congress asked her to boycott the movie because it believes that the movie is "a deplorable depiction of the Polish-American community." She reserved opinion until she saw the film.

"I wanted to see the movie to comment on it," Marzec said. "I would not want to do anything to disgrace my heritage or my family. I don't know why there's such an outcry from the Polish American Congress. Everybody has their opinion. I'm Polish and I'm Catholic and everybody makes mistakes in their family."

"It's like seeing 'Moonstruck.' The story line is very real. She (Danes' character) is 17 years old. Seventeen-year-olds act like this. There's a lot of peer pressure."

Marzec said she has gotten phone calls at home from Polish folks commenting on the film. Despite the controversy, Marzec said that she, along with her mother and mother-in-law suggest that every teenager see this movie.

"Here are two people who speak the language," she said. "I was kind of embarrassed with some of the scenes, but it doesn't matter what nationality you are, your family has problems."

"I thought the movie was well done. You see all this garbage today. Look at movies like 'Toy Soldiers' and 'Lethal Weapon' that have no storyline. This is a pure, simple movie. For a low-budget project, she did a wonderful job."

Dreams of dancing

Marzec's aspirations didn't involve film at all. Her goal was to earn a degree in Polish folklore dancing. She took up dancing 31 years ago, inspired by her father, who was born in Poland.

"He wanted me to start dancing, and I've been dancing all my life," she said.

For 18 years, she has taught creative dance at the YMCA, the last four years at the Livonia Family YMCA.

During the summers of 1988-1992, Marzec worked to accomplish her dream by attending Marie Currie Sladowska in Lublin, Poland. It was a rigorous schedule. Studies and dance rehearsals were held from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. with a two-hour break in the afternoon.

"I would come home and my hands are swollen and my feet are swollen, but I love it. I look at my job not as a job because I enjoy it."

After graduating in 1992, she returned the following year with her group Radomanie as the choreographer. They performed in front of 4,000 people and received a standing ovation.

Marzec's dance troupes rehearse 8-9:30 p.m. Mondays at either St. Paul Lutheran Church in Livonia or West Middle School in Plymouth. For more information, call (734) 427-8640.

While she doesn't speak the language every day, her goal is to keep the Polish tradition alive.

"It's very hard in America. We don't have it like we had before. If we can keep it a little alive, they will be proud to say they're Polish."

Ladywood shows Teeters the door

Divorce, Livonia Ladywood style.

The apparent happy 12-year marriage between varsity volleyball coach Tom Teeters and the administration ended last week because of irreconcilable differences.

Teeters, whose contract was not renewed Wednesday after a meeting with athletic director Sal Malek, leaves Ladywood with a 532-97-14 record. His record ranks among the top five winning percentages among active coaches in the state.

Under his direction, Ladywood won back-to-back state Class A championships (1988-89) and seven consecutive Catholic League A-B Division titles (1992-98), including 10 in 12 seasons. He led the Blazers to a Class A runner-up finish in 1990 along with eight district and regional crowns.

Teeters also coaches the women's volleyball team at Schoolcraft College, where he is 437-169 entering his 14th year this fall. His 1988 team captured the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament.

Ladywood principal Sister Mary Ann Smith said she supported Malek's decision to fire Teeters.

"If Tom was going to stay, he had to agree to all our terms," Sister Smith said. "The decision was made by our total administration along with our athletic department."

Sister Smith said Teeters' firing was "more difficult" than when she made the decision to let go basketball coach Ed Kavanaugh in 1994.

"Tom's a good man, but it was time for him to move on," Sister Smith said.

Two major issues surfaced, leading to the acrimonious parting.

•The two sides clashed over how to run the freshman and junior varsity programs.

Teeters wanted to remove both his JV coach Larry Wyatt, and his freshman coach, Amber Wells (who played for Teeters at Schoolcraft College), for the upcoming season.

•The parties also differed on moving players up and down from the freshman, JV and varsity levels.

"I was told that one kid could not be on the varsity team," Teeters said. "And the parent of that kid didn't object to being moved up."

"I was told at the end of the meeting that the job is going to be posted, and that I'm not fired. I have been told I would have my choice of coaches. I've always had a choice in the past, but for some reason this coming year I did not."

Sister Smith, however, disputed Teeters' claim.

"Tom recommended those people, then he didn't want to work with them," the Ladywood principal said. "He gave us input all those years as far as who would be good for the program. But there were always others interviewed, but we had the final say."

Brothers formidable in hydroplane class

In one respect, the timing for what happened to the Linn Racing team Sunday in the 81st Annual Sylvan Lake Regatta couldn't have been worse.

Then, again, maybe it wasn't. Brothers Steve and Randy Linn had been undefeated in 1998, having won all four previous races in the 2.5-litre modified class.

Their victory streak came to an abrupt end Sunday when their engine malfunctioned for the first time this season during a pre-race test run.

"It didn't even last two laps," said Steve Linn of Farmington Hills, who does the driving. "We had a rod bearing spin on us, and the engine seized up."

"There's nothing really wrong with it; we have to do some minor reworking of the engine. We have to rebalance the crank shaft and replace a piston. We have enough parts to get ready for the next two weeks."

Steve and Randy, a Livonia resident and the boat owner, along with race engineer Jim Sechler of Farmington Hills had just finished putting the engine together Saturday afternoon.

"We did a test run on the boat Saturday when we had it on the trailer, but you don't start producing a load on the boat until you put it in the water," Steve said.

Unfortunately for the Linns, the Sylvan Lake race is the only one in Michigan, and they had about two dozen friends and family members in attendance Sunday.

But aside from disappointing their following, Linn said that was the race in which to have something like that happen.

"We didn't have to spend all weekend" — most races are two-day events — "and the expense of going away to find out we weren't going to be able to race," he said.

The day was not a total loss, however.

Steve Linn, 31, also drove a boat owned by Terry Collins of Westland and won the 1.5-litre class race. It was a combined race that include 2.5 stock boats; Linn was third overall but first in his class.

"I got a good jump and held off the bigger boats for three laps until they finally caught up to me," Linn said, adding all races are five miles long and the Sylvan Lake course is a one-mile oval.

Furthermore, when the Linns were unable to go in the 2.5 modified class, they lent a propeller to Bob Dabrowski of Farmington Hills, and he won the race.

Despite a lack of success on Sylvan Lake in recent years, the Linns have fared well, otherwise, as evidenced by their 4-0 start this season.

"Last year we had a pretty powerful engine," Linn said, adding they turned it back a little bit. "It's not as high-powered but has given us more consistency and reliability."

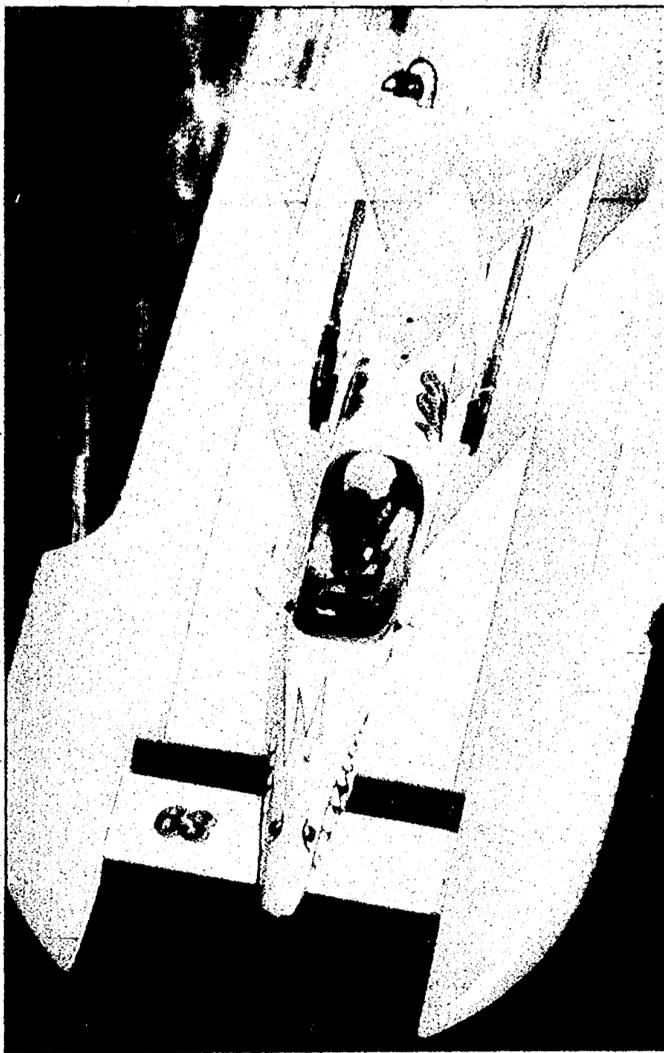

"It was a matter of taking a few steps backward to make a bigger leap forward."

Linn remains the Region 6 point-leader in the Mid-America Championship Hydroplane Series in the 1.5 and 2.5 classes. He won the title as a rookie 10 years ago but hasn't won it since then.

Linn Racing hopes to be back in action in two weeks for the Thunder at the Bowl in Dayton, Ohio. Then comes the prestigious Summer Nationals next month in Hampton, Va.

"We're pretty confident we have what it takes to put (the engine) together," Linn said. "If we can get some consistency out of it like we have, we think

Holowicki gets cold feet, turns down Allen Park

Bernie Holowicki apparently is staying as men's basketball coach at Madonna University and will not take a boys high school varsity head coaching job at Allen Park.

Allen Park Schools Supt. William Kiefer had recommended the hiring of Holowicki and the school board voted July 1 to support the decision.

Holowicki held a couple of open gym sessions at Allen Park Middle School, but never submitted a letter of resignation from Madonna.

Holowicki's move to Allen Park apparently hit a snag earlier this week when three major Detroit media outlets reported that Joseph Dougherty, father of a Jaguar junior varsity player, had initiated a petition drive to recall five school board members.

Dougherty is upset with the fact that the Allen Park board bypassed Michael Wilkinson, JV coach the past 18 years, for the varsity job. (The petition request will be heard before an election commission on Aug. 3.)

Holowicki, working the nationally-renowned Five-Star Basketball Camp in Pittsburgh, Pa., was unavailable for comment.

"I heard all kinds of things, but he (Holowicki) has never officially resigned," Madonna athletic director Ray Summers said. "I talked with his wife this morning. She had talked with Bernie and he told her he had no intentions of taking the Allen Park job."

"The only thing I knew is that he told me he was considering the position, and that was it."

Allen Park assistant superintendent Dan Danosky was caught off-guard by the recent turn of events.

"Bernie called us this morning (Wednesday) and said he will not take the position," Danosky said. "I'm disappointed, but not surprised, especially after it became public and it was on Channel 7."

"I'm not disappointed with Bernie, just the whole situation in general."

VOLLEYBALL

Malek said he now is in the process of taking applications for the varsity post. He said Wyatt and Wells have been asked to return next season in their same positions.

"It was a tough decision for me because I have a hard enough time keeping good coaches," Malek said. "Nobody disputes Tom is a great coach. He knows his volleyball and is an outstanding 'Xs and Os' type."

"But due to philosophical reasoning, we had a difference on how to run the program in general for the sake of the freshman, JV and varsity levels. It was best to go our separate ways and best for Ladywood. And the best time is to do it now."

Teeters became Ladywood's varsity coach in 1987 after Mike O'Toole left for health reasons. He made an immediate impact as the Blazers finished 32-9 and won the Catholic League playoffs.

Teeters has been successful nearly at every stop on the coaching carousel.

He guided Livonia Clarenceville to the 1978 state Class B championship and has coached at Farmington Hills Mercy, Wayne State University, Garden City and Schoolcraft.

Ironically, Teeters left the Garden City varsity program in the mid-1980s when he clashed with administrators over the hiring of middle school coaches.

Last season, Ladywood finished 53-9-1, winning the district, regional and Catholic League titles before being

Roadrunner Classic attracts talent

Both the defending men's and women's champions are expected to return Saturday for the 15th annual Roadrunner Classic in downtown Northville.

Paul Aufhammer, who recently moved to Redford, will try to defend his 8-kilometer men's title.

The 1997 Michigan Runner of the Year has won the event three of the past four years. He won last year's race under the sweltering heat in 26 minutes, 16 seconds.

Also expected to challenge for the men's title is Keith Stopen of Farmington Hills.

Stopen recently earned a spot in the U.S. Olympic marathon trials by running 2:21:35 at last month's Grandma's Marathon in Duluth, Minn. Stopen shaved five minutes off his previous personal best.

He is coached by Roadrunner Classic race director Doug Kurtis, the Livonia Stevenson High product who holds the world record for most sub-2:20 marathons.

"Keith made a big breakthrough at Grandma's," Kurtis said. "He's upped his mileage. He's running more comfortable miles and is just more consistent. And he's pacing himself better."

Four-time women's champion Laurel Park, who ran 29:21 last year, is also expected to return.

Her competition could possibly come from three others who have yet to commit to the race.

Among those who may enter include Ann Boyd, 1998 Michigan Runner of the Year and Free Press Marathon winner; Jodi Beck and Cindy Barber-Keeler, the 1998 Boston Marathon women's masters (over-40) winner.

The 40-year-old Keeler, a Lincoln Park native who now resides in Lake Worth, Fla., was the second American at Boston with a personal best of 2:39:37.

Defending men's masters winner Tim Emmett of Redford, fighting a back injury during last weekend's 258-mile Toyota Great Lakes Relays, may also return.

Some elite runners, however, may have backed off because the $3,800 in prize money given away last year was eliminated after chief sponsor First Finance pulled out six months ago. (Gold sponsors include the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Jack Demmer Ford.)

"I don't think it will change the field much at all," Kurtis said. "Last year was the first year we offered prize money."

The Roadrunner, however, is more than just an 8K race for elite runners.

It's considered one of the most popular races in the Detroit area.

"We've increased our participation every year by five to eight percent," Kurtis said.

"Last year we had 1,300 including the party.

"Normally 65 percent of our participants show up on race day."

Race day fees for the 8K run, which starts at 7 p.m., and 5K walk, which starts at 7:15 p.m., are $15. (Age group awards will be given to the top three finishers.)

The 1-mile Classic Junior Series, for youngsters 14-and-under, begins at 6:30 p.m. (cost $5 includes gifts for all). The 1-mile fun run (15-and-up) also starts at 6:30 (cost is $8 with ribbons to all finishers).

And don't forget the party afterwards ($5 only for food, refreshments and prizes). Joy Ride, Detroit's up-and-coming dance band, will perform at 7:30 p.m. (through 11 p.m.)

There will also be a series of speakers and performers with the band Superdot opening the festivities at 1 p.m.

Buck, a physical therapist, and Boyd will also speak at 4 p.m. with Mitch Albom, WJR Radio host and New York Times No. 1 best selling author "Tuesdays with Morrie" doing a signing at 5 p.m.

At 6 p.m., Karen Newman, Hockeytown's anthem singer, and Richard Fitzhugh, renowned watercolorist from Washington, D.C., will autograph race T-shirts.

Pre-registration check-in is from 4-6 p.m.

Prestige emerges 1st

MEN'S SOFTBALL

Prestige/Calvert of Taylor stole the show last weekend in the 22nd annual Leonard J. Anderson Softball Tournament, featuring some of the Midwest's elite men's slow-pitch teams.

Host Jimmie's, which fell 27-22 to Prestige in the championship final of the double-elimination tournament, finished second. Metro Glass of Westland was third.

The tournament, which drew nearly 600 fans Friday night in Wayne, also included the Anderson Hall of Fame induction ceremonies.

David Gibson and Wade Evans were enshrined into the hall, sponsored by Central Distributors of Beer, Inc., presented by Kevin Niemiec, Special Events Coordinator.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the City of Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation, was named in honor of Leonard J. Anderson, a Wayne police officer killed in the line of duty.

Prestige was led by tournament MVP Pat Wayne, a pitcher who was joined on the All-Tournament by teammates Dale Dorton, Bruce Woods and Todd Wallace.

The champions won five straight games en route to the title including victories over Journeymen (23-11), Plumbers & Pipefitters (22-21), Expert (30-25) and Jimmie's twice (17-15 and 27-22).

Jimmie's also sponsored by Varsity Athletics, Que's Sports and Easton, had three players named to the all-tourney team including Scott Janack, who led the all hitters with a .773 average; Scott Hille and Tom Lengyel.

David Ballentine and Mike Urban made it for Metro Glass, while Andy Peterson and Jason Broyles, who had tournament best 10 homers, took individual honors for Plumbers & Pipefitters.

"This year's crowd was able to see some of the finest softball in the country," tournament director Larry Quartuccio said. "The weather really made it nice this year."

"In the past, we've had our share of rain on this weekend, but we finally got a great payback from Mother Nature.

"My assistant director Rick Powell and his wife Debbie really helped me keep things running smoothly for another great tournament."

"And as always, the City of Wayne Parks & Rec did a great job in helping co-sponsor the event."

Eighteen teams started tournament play.

Roger Breeding homers, doubled and singled in the championship final. Dale Dorton added four singles, while Bill Kostich had three.

Janack and Hille each homered twice in the loss, while Lengyel tripled.

Scott Nastally suffered the loss.

In Game No. 29, Jimmie's eliminated Metro Glass, 22-21, as Jason Riggs homered twice and John Simpson collected four hits.

Urban had a pair of homers for Metro Glass. Tom Hannah added three hits, but it wasn't enough as Jimmie's scored the game-winning in the top of the eighth.

In Game No. 27, Prestige handed Jimmie's its first loss, 17-15, as Wayne homered twice and doubled. Wallace also had three hits including a homer as Prestige got three runs in the bottom of the sixth to overcome a two-run deficit.

John Samson singled three times for Jimmie's, while Lengyel had three hits, including a double and homer.

Prestige beat Expert in Game No. 21 in a wild 30-25 shootout.

Wallace collected four hits, two for homers. Bruce Wood singled, double twice and homered. Breeding added three hits with a homer.

Gene Capaldi singled four times in the loss.

Prestige also edged Plumbers & Pipefitters, 22-21, as Joe Gerdes clubbed two homers.

Broyles had four homers and eight RBI in a losing cause.

In a 23-11 win over Prestige, Dorton hit for the cycle with five RBI, while Bob Stewart contributed two homers and four RBI.

New recruits bolster Lady Ocelots

It won't be a big team, in size or numbers. But it will be a Tom Teeters team, which means it will be competitive throughout the season.

In his 15 seasons at Schoolcraft College, Teeters has guided the Lady Ocelots to one NJCAA championship (1988) and to four other top-five finishes in the NJCAA Tournament. Can his 1998 team match that?

Well, Teeters will have a nice blend of experience and incoming talent to work with. But he won't have much of it, not in numbers, anyway. He has four returnees — Stacey Campaign, Megan McGinty (from Livonia Churchill), Melissa Plave and Donna Logedon (Plymouth Canton).

Joining that nucleus are five newcomers: Kathy Aschenbrenner, a 5-foot-9 middle hitter at Pinckney HS who graduated from high school in 1997; Danielle Wensing, a 5-6 outside hitter at Livonia Franklin;

COLLEGE VOLLEYBALL

Cindy Maloof, a 5-8 outside hitter who graduated from Coventry HS (located outside of Akron, OH) several years ago; Kelly Johnston, a 5-7 outside hitter at Plymouth Salem who graduated in 1995; and Breanne Toppa, a 5-5 defensive specialist from Canton Agape Christian Academy.

The Ocelots came on strong after a rough start last season to post a 19-20 record, going 7-3 in the Eastern Conference and finishing in a tie for second.

Can they improve upon that this year? Gone are 6-1 middle hitter Sara Gregerson, to Eastern Michigan; 5-6 outside hitter Mindy Sullivan (Livonia Churchill), to University of Michigan-Dearborn; 5-6 outside hitter Janet Hinz, to Concordia College; 5-5 setter Amber Wells (Plymouth Canton); and 5-5 defensive specialist Jennifer Smith (Westland John Glenn).

Which means Teeters will have to groom at least a few of his newcomers to be starters, come September. It's not a new task for the long-time coach, nor an unfamiliar one.

"All players are challenges," he said. "I probably take on more challenges than other coaches don't."

A good example, in his current recruiting class, is Maloof. Teeters discovered her in one of his adult volleyball classes at SC, which Maloof was taking with her husband. "She said she was a student at Schoolcraft, that she had been pursuing her degree, and that she played a lot," Teeters said, even if it wasn't on a collegiate competitive level.

Teeters could see that Maloof had talent. "She has good high hit position, and a good serve," he noted. So he talked her into taking a full credit load and playing volleyball for him.

Another long-time recruit was Johnston, the '95 Salem grad whom Teeters knew from his days at Livonia Ladywood coach (Johnston attended Ladywood for two years). "I've been trying to get her to come out for the last year-and-a-half," he said. "She was a strong defensive player — we're hoping to get that back. She'll have a good chance at outside hitter, depending on what we need."

Wensing is another of those players with all the stuff Teeters looks for in his recruits: "She has speed, she gives a strong effort all the time, and she's a very positive player," he said. "We may try to turn her into a setter. She's probably the quickest player we have, with the highest jump on the team."

Toppa is a player with solid credentials from high school, including all-conference. "She's left-handed, with quick feet," said Teeters. "And she's very comfortable playing defense. She doesn't mind making the quick digs."

So how good can these players be? Who knows? As Teeters said: "Time will tell."

ousted in the state quarterfinals for the third straight time by longtime nemesis and eventual state-champion Temperance Bedford.

"What I'll miss at Ladywood is the kids and the parents," Teeters said. "And I've always enjoyed working for the Felician Order."

"The most important thing is the kids first. The experience I've had at Ladywood has been a very rewarding one for me."

Where Teeters may end up is anyone's guess, but two premier prep jobs are open — Plymouth Salem and Birmingham Marian.

Teeters said he has not spoken with Sister Smith since the decision was made by Malek on Wednesday. He hoped to have at least one more meeting with the principal.

"If Sal says she supports his decision, then I guess I'm gone," Teeters said.

When reached on Tuesday, Smith reiterated that Teeters would not return.

"All three coaches were spoken to at one time, this is the end decision," the principal said. Jenny Young, a 6-foot-1 senior-to-be who made first-team All-Observer last spring, was somewhat stunned by the news.

"I don't know what's going on," she said. "I haven't heard officially. Nobody has told me anything, but if it's true, I'll be very disappointed because he's such a good coach. It's been fun having him as a coach."

Young, an honor student who will probably sign sometime later this year with a Division I school, credits Teeters with much of her volleyball development.

"He's very knowledgeable and he knows the game," Young said. "And he doesn't yell. He's always very calm. As I prepare to go off to college, I'm looking for a coach a lot like Tom."

"I think it would be hard to get used to a new coach. I don't want a new coach. I want him back."

Malek said Wyatt is free to apply for the job, along with any other interested coach.

"Larry, from what Sal has told me, is not interested and satisfied where he's at, but I guess he could apply like anyone else," Sister Smith said.

Swider's 9 goals shatter summer hockey game record

It is, quite likely, the highest scoring game in the history of the Metro Summer Hockey League. And the Bulldogs were the winners.

Building a 9-2 lead after one period wasn't enough. The 'Dogs (8-2) added seven more goals in the second period, and nine in the third to outdistance the Falcons 25-15 Tuesday at Plymouth Ice Arena.

Ferris State's Kevin Swider (Livonia) must've threatened, if not shattered, the single game scoring record by netting nine goals and assisting on nine others.

"I certainly can't remember anything like this," said MSHL commissioner Keith Pietila. "Our games can be high-scoring, but not like this."

Pietila said the inclement weather was the likely cause, since neither team had its full complement of players.

Ben Blackwood added four goals and eight assists for the 'Dogs, who also got five goals and four assists from Corey Swider (Livonia); two goals and 11 assists from Eric Bratcher; three goals and one assist from Mike Schmidt (Livonia); and two goals and one assist from Andrew Domzalski (Livonia).

Scott Goleniak led the Falcons (2-8) with four goals and five assists. Paul Goleniak added four goals and three assists, with Paolo DeCina (Canton) getting three goals and three assists, Mike Mattila adding two goals and an assist, and Kevin Telep and Brad Yonemura (Garden City) each scoring one goal. Yonemura also had three assists.

Bob Harrison was in goal for the Bulldogs. Matt Wierzbza played in the net for the Falcons. HUSKIES 9, WOLVERINES 8: The Huskies (8-1-1) trailed 6-2 with less than nine minutes left in the second period, but battled back to beat the Wolverines, thanks to three goals by Jesse Hubenschmidt (Redford) and two more from Sean Kass Tuesday at Plymouth.

Hubenschmidt also had two assists, while Kass had three. Other goal-scorers for the Huskies were Jeremy Sladovnick, David Scott (Canton), Bobby Davis and Tony Guzzo. Guzzo also had four assists.

The Wolves (3-7) were led by Bill Trainor (Canton), with three goals and two assists, and Dan Trainor (Plymouth), with two goals and two assists. Other goals were scored by Jim Wheaton (Plymouth), Jason Lawmaster (Westland) and Brent Bessey (Canton). Bessey also had two assists.

Ed Souilliere (Livonia) was in goal for the Huskies. John Trainor (Canton) was in the net for the Wolverines.

HUSKIES 7, BULLDOGS 6: Dan Hunt (Livonia) scored three goals — including the eventual game-winner — and assisted on two others as the Huskies edged the Bulldogs Sunday at Plymouth.

The game featured two of the MSHL's top three teams, with the top team in the Eagle Conference falling to the Huskies, second place in the Bakes Conference.

The 'Dogs did have the early advantage, leading 2-1 after one period and 3-1 on Ben Blackwood's second goal of the game with 10:13 left in the second period. But the Huskies rallied, scoring the next four goals (two of them by Hunt) to go in front, 5-3.

From that point on, it was a dog-fight. The Bulldogs' Matt Grant (Livonia) narrowed the margin to 5-4 in the final seconds of the second period, but a Bobby Davis' goal early in the third pushed the Huskies' advantage back to two. After Chad Theuer again drew the 'Dogs to within one (6-5), getting a goal with 12:26 left, Hunt got the game-winner with 10:53 remaining, keeping the Huskies in front, 7-5.

Blackwood got one more goal for the 'Dogs, with 6:30 to go, but Huskies' goalie Ed Souilliere (Livonia), who shared time in net with Ryan Davis, frustrated the Bulldogs the rest of the way.

Other goal-scorers for the Huskies were J.P. Hunt (Livonia), Pete Mazzoni and Kevin Huggard (Redford). David Scott (Canton) had three assists.

The 'Dogs' other goal came from Kevin Haggerty. Eric Bratcher had two assists.

J.J. Weeks was in goal for the Bulldogs.

BRONCOS 16, SPARTANS 5: A nine-goal second period gave the Broncos (4-5-1) all the cushion they needed Monday at Plymouth.

Nick Smyth led the winners with three goals and two assists. Keith Pietila, Glenn Pietila, Eric Heltunen and Dwight Helminen each had two goals, with Helminen getting five assists. Matt Langley added a goal and six assists, with Darrin Sylvester getting a goal and three assists, Frank Bourbonais a goal and five assists, Corey Almas a goal and Lewis Lanway a goal.

The Spartans (1-9) got scores from Mike Hendrie, Joe Kustra, Craig Petser, Mark Pietila and Brian Halas (Canton). Mark Pietila and Halas each added two assists.

Kevin Brady (Livonia) was in goal for the Broncos, while Mark Lavender played in the net for the Spartans.

WOLVERINES 12, FALCONS 8: The majority of the first period was a tightly-played, defensive game Sunday at Plymouth. Then Shaun Harrington (Livonia) erupted for the Wolves, scoring four goals in a 2½-minute span, and the Falcons never recovered.

Harrington finished with five goals and two assists to pace the Wolverines. Dan Trainor (Plymouth) added three goals and an assist, and Dennis Schimmelpfennig (Canton) had two goals and an assist. Other goal-scorers for the Wolves were Daryl Schimmelpfennig (Canton) and Brent Bessey (Canton). Bessey also had five assists, while Daryl Schimmelpfennig and Dave Street added two assists apiece.

The Spartans scored the game's first three goals, two by Mike Swistak. Swistak and Mike Hendrie accounted for all the Spartan goals in the game, each getting three. Chris Regner added two assists.

Chuck Schervisch was in goal for the Wildcats. Mark Lavender played in the net for the Spartans.

For the Falcons, who put together a four-goal rally in the third period — three of them by Scott Goleniak — to narrow the Wolves' lead to 10-8, Mark O'Connor added two goals and Josh Shuryan, Scott Kale and Vic DeCina (Canton) scored one apiece. Goleniak also had three assists, while Rick Field, Vic DeCina and Paola DeCina contributed two assists apiece.

John Trainor (Canton) was in goal for the Wolves. Casey Osting and Matt Wierzbza split time in goal for the Falcons.

WILDCATS 13, SPARTANS 6: After a slow start Sunday at Plymouth, the Wildcats (5-5) caught fire and buried the Spartans with a 9-2 burst over the last two periods.

Tom Taylor led the 'Cats with four goals and three assists. Kyle McNeilance (Livonia) added three goals and two assists, while Matt Henderson (Livonia) accounted for two goals and six assists. Other Wildcat goals came from Troy Taylor, who also had four assists; Brian Caika (Livonia); John Brodun (Livonia), who also had two assists; and Shaun Davis.

The Spartans scored the game's first three goals, two by Mike Swistak. Swistak and Mike Hendrie accounted for all the Spartan goals in the game, each getting three. Chris Regner added two assists.

Chuck Schervisch was in goal for the Wildcats. Mark Lavender played in the net for the Spartans.

Linn from C1

we can do pretty well. "We've gone up against some of the faster boats in the country and done well."

Linn added the 2.5 modified is the most diversified class in the country. Of the 12 boats at Hampton last year, there were 12 different engines in use. The Linn's use a highly-modified Alfa Romeo automobile engine.

"Some have a little less of an engine and a better boat, and others have a little less of a boat and a better engine," Linn said. "It just depends on your philosophy of things."

At one time all five Linn brothers were involved in racing boats. Now it's just Randy, the oldest, and Steve, the youngest, who remain as part of the team. "Randy has been in it since I was a kid; he's been doing it about 25 years," Steve said. "I grew up watching the boat until I was old enough to actually drive. It started as a family thing. Now it's just my brother and me."

Final Decision suits 1st-place intentions

Livonia D.C.I. improved its hold on first place in the Collegiate Division of the Adray Metro Baseball Association with a 5-3 win over Downriver Adray on Monday at Livonia's Ford Field.

D.C.I. is 13-7-1 for 27 points, three points ahead of the second-place Michigan Lake Area Rams (11-11-2), with three games in hand.

To overtake D.C.I., the Rams have to win all three of their games and hope D.C.I. loses at least five of its remaining six games.

The winning pitcher was ace John Stieger, who went the distance.

Bill LaRosa (Rochester Adams/University of Michigan) had three of the five D.C.I. RBI.

Jason Brooks (Taylor Center/Henry Ford Community College) had an RBI single.

RAMS 10-3, HINES PARK 0-7: The Michigan Rams earned a double-header split on Sunday, beating Livonia Adray, 10-0, and losing to Hines Park, 7-3.

Aaron Lawson (Farmington Hills Harrison/Wayne State) hit the first home run of the season for the Rams and added a single and triple, just missing the cycle in the first game.

He didn't get a chance to finish the cycle since he only batted three times. The game was called after five innings due to the 10-run mercy rule.

Tom Willeher was the winning pitcher, giving up one hit and walking one with seven strikeouts in going the distance.

Lawson led the Rams with four RBI. Matt Pike was 2-for-3 with three RBI and Lance Slegwald 2-for-2 with two runs scored.

Kevin Prader finished 1-4 with an RBI and Todd Miller (Farmington Hills/Madonna) 1-for-3 with an RBI and two runs scored. Luke Humphreys (Redford Union/St. Mary's College) had a triple in two at-bats.

The Rams led 3-0 in their second game before Hines Park erupted for six runs in the sixth off losing pitcher Josh Axelson. Dave Wampler (Livonia Franklin/Wayne State) pitched in relief.

Miller was 2-for-3 and Humphreys 1-for-3 with an RBI to lead the Rams.

Ryan Rumberger (Plymouth Salem/U-D Mercy) was 2-for-4, including a two-run double, for Hines Park. Josh Colvin delivered a two-run single, Bill Styles (Plymouth Salem) was 2-for-3 with a run scored and Mike Daguanno (Detroit Catholic Central/U-D Mercy) was 2-for-3 with an RBI and run scored.

Nick Latra (Farmington/Central Michigan) pitched the first four innings for Hines Park before Nick Reeder finished up and earned the win.

DCI on Johnstown watch

Mike George is happy having Livonia Decision Consultants Inc. as a sponsor again for his Adray Metro Baseball Association team.

But at times he must feel tempted to put Twist 'n Shake, the ice cream store he owns at 10 Mile Road and Meadowbrook in Novi, across his players' jerseys.

D.C.I. is 13-7-1 overall and leading the Collegiate Division of the Adray Metro Baseball Association, making the slumping sales at his new store the only downer of the summer.

George surprisingly points to the muggy weather for declining sales.

"I love the hot weather, but it's almost too hot, people don't come out of the house, and when they do (the ice cream) melts," said George, the former Madonna University baseball coach. "It's better if it's 75 and sunny, no humidity. We'd be rocking all day long, like we were in May."

George said he's lost 40 pounds since the store's opening and it's not because he smokes again.

"I don't go out anymore," he said. "It's like 12 hours of aerobics every day."

Players come over from time to time for an ice cream treat, George said. Once earlier in the year, after a practice at the nearby Sports Academy in Novi, George had the whole team over.

"They got a team discount, like all the little leagues - it was just like being back in little league again," George said. "Our strength has been our pitching and defense and the fact that these guys get along very well. It's a very close group of kids for a summer team. They're a real competitive team, fun to be around."

The champion of the Collegiate Division receives an automatic bid to the All-American Amateur Baseball Association national championship in Johnstown, Pa.

It would be the perfect topping to the regular season for D.C.I., which last went to Johnstown in 1995, the year George brought a team into what was then the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

D.C.I. placed second in 1996 and was eliminated in the Altoona, Pa. regional before slumping to a 9-18 record last year. George hit the recruiting trail hard this year, inviting only a handful of players back, and bringing a large contingent of Henry Ford College players aboard.

Infielder Ron Blackmore (Livonia Churchill/Henry Ford Community College), pitcher Ryan Andrzejewski (Plymouth Salem/Henry Ford), leftfielder Storm Kirchenbaum (Country Day/Detroit Country Day) and first baseman Andy Maki (Wyandotte Mt. Carmel/Henry Ford) are back for a second season.

"I'm happy for the kids we brought back who stuck it out," said George, who is assisted by Jim Solak and Frank Corej. "We appreciate (Henry Ford coach) Stu Rose sending his kids our way. We have seven or eight of them and all of them do a good job."

ADRAY METRO

Said Blackmore: "I think the guys on the team this year love playing baseball. Last year we had guys show up here and there. And we've heard about Johnstown, how much fun that is. Everyone wants to go to a tourney. Coach George is disciplined but he lets you play, swing on 3 and 0 and stuff like that."

The ace of DCI's pitching staff is John Stieger (Webberville/Michigan State University). Stieger drives nearly an hour to and from his home, which says something about his loyalty to DCI since the Lansing league is much closer.

"Whether he's throwing or not he's there," George said. "If he's not the best pitcher in the league, he's one of the top two or three."

Tim Miller (Livonia Franklin/Wayne State) has been D.C.I.'s second most reliable hurler. Miller played for Livonia Little Caesars last year.

"He's really improved for us this summer," George said. "He doesn't throw quite as hard as Steiger, but has a decent fastball, good curve and throws a change-up."

Andrzejewski (Salem/Henry Ford) Matt White (Willow Run/U-D) and Jake Mathison (Walled Lake Central/Henry Ford) also have been used starting rotation.

The catcher and cleanup hitter is Chuck Vanrobby (Adams/Henry Ford), who will be attending Oakland University next. Vanrobby leads D.C.I. in RBI.

"He's had some very timely hits for us," George said.

Blackmore, who has signed with the University of Detroit-Mercy, and Billy LaRosa (Rochester Adams/University of Michigan) give DCI a strong double-play combination. Both have played shortstop and second base and contributed offensively.

"They give us a pretty good combination," George said.

The starting third baseman is C.J. Ghannam (Farmington Hills Harrison/U-M) and Maki and Anthony Jones (Newport/Southern Illinois) split time at first base.

Patrolling centerfield is Jamie Linton (Wayne State), while Jason Brooks (Taylor Center/Wayne State) and Tim Donohue (Adams/Henry Ford) split time in rightfield and Kirchenbaum is in left.

The team also has received a boost from Ryan Kravetz, perhaps the youngest player in the league. Kravetz will be a senior in the fall at West Bloomfield High School, where George coached in 1997.

He resigned last spring because of his business endeavors and Pat Watson, the former junior varsity coach, took over, leading the Lakers to a 20-win season.

Kravetz has filled in for Vanrobby on occasion. "He's done a great job for a high school kid playing in that league," George said. "The kids like him and he's playing very well."

YOUTH SOFTBALL

Devon-Aire marks 40th with picnic

Three All-Star games are on the docket Saturday as 2,500 are expected to celebrate the Devon-Aire Softball League's 40th anniversary.

Wayne County Commissioner Thad McCotter will deliver the ceremonial first pitch at 8 a.m. as the Junior Boys (ages 7-12) take the field behind the Devon-Aire Ice Arena, located at W. Chicago and Sunset on the south side of Livonia.

State representative Lyn Bankes will throw out the first pitch for the Junior Girls (ages 7-12) All-Star game beginning at 10 a.m.

The Senior Coed (ages 13-18) game follows at noon.

The all-day picnic for family and friends in the Devon-Aire program will start at 10 a.m. Free hot dogs, chips and refreshments will be offered along with a raffle.

A trophy presentation follows each All-Star game.

For the 10th straight year, Time-Warner Cable will tape all three games.

"We're the third largest league in the city and the only neighborhood league," said Linda Trudell, Devon-Aire's 40th anniversary chairman. "This is a teaching league where we let kids learn various positions."

"Don't think that it's a competitive league, a lot have gone on to play at Franklin High School, but the basic purpose is to have fun."

Trudell said this year's Devon-Aire Softball League, founded in 1958, has 203 participants.

"We get people from all over the city," she said. "We give a lot of teenaged kids an option to play who might not want to be involved with a travel team or another baseball league."

"And we charge only $25 to play, which is probably the cheapest around. It includes uniforms, the picnic and trophies."

"We also go out and get sponsors for each team."

WYAA Travel All-Stars win Colt district tourney

The Westland Youth Athletic Association Travel All-Stars used a game-winning 3-run homer from Dave Lewandowski in the fifth inning to beat South Farmington, 4-3, in the championship final of the Colt district baseball tournament Sunday in Garden City.

Manager Jeff Childs' squad now advances to Friday's state Colt tournament in Farmington Hills.

Lewandowski, estimated at 400 feet, came after a 1-hour rain delay and WYAA trailing 3-1.

Pat Barter, in relief of Lewandowski, was the winning pitcher.

On Saturday, WYAA ripped

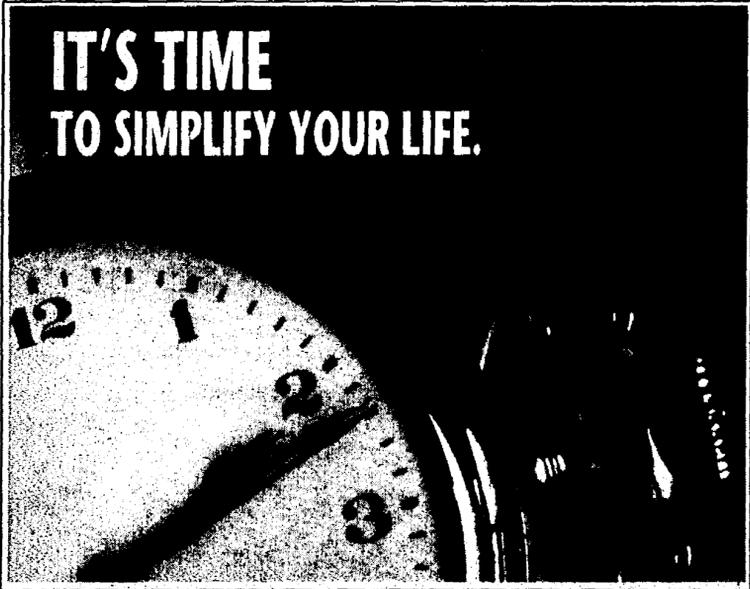

YOUTH BASEBALL

Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills, 18-1, in a four-inning mercy as Jim Priebe was the winning pitcher.

On Friday, Barter gave up just one run in six innings as Westland downed South Farmington, 5-1.

Other members of the WYAA Travel All-Stars include: Derek Garbarino, John Skope, John Hicks, Nick Sheroian, Tony Cashero, Jeff Kozlowski, Ed Orehek, Tom Howard, Steve Tracey, Ryan Tracy, Tom Riney, Jim Priebe and Dan Horning.

Terry Tracey is the assistant coach.

YOUTH BASEBALL

Concealed edged in AABC district

The Concealed Security 11-under baseball team bowed out of the 13-under American Amateur Baseball Congress district tournament with an agonizing 9-5 loss in nine innings to the Troy Tigers.

Concealed's tournament record was 1-1 but its season is far from over.

Concealed, which fell to 42-8 overall, still has the Continental Amateur Baseball Association World Series to look forward to, beginning July 29 in Missouri.

Coach Lou Pirronello's team warmed up for the World Series by playing a district against teams a year older and the experience is expected to pay dividends.

The Tigers, who trailed 7-0 at one point, used a couple hits and a balk to score the winning run.

Concealed's four pitchers walked 10 batters and allowed five hits. Concealed collected 16 hits, led by Eric Wojtkowski (Wayne), who was 3-for-4 with two RBI.

Scott Szpryka (Orchard Lake), Chris Rasin (Canton) and Casey Sargent (South Lyon) had two hits each.

Gavie Tournament kicks off in August

The traditional kickoff of the bowling season is less than a month away as the 62nd annual John P. Gavie Memorial Tournament will be Monday, Aug. 17 at Allen Park's Thunder-bowl Lanes.

AL HARRISON

The difference this year is that Mr. Gavie is no longer with us. From now on, the event will be his living, enduring memorial.

John Gavie made his mark in our community in many ways, and those bowlers who take to the lanes will forever be grateful for the many good things that occurred under his guidance and leadership.

The tournament is open to team entries with three divisions: men's, women's and seniors. Each division has its own prizes based on the number of entries. All contestants will receive nice commemorative gifts, which will also serve as mementoes of the event.

The entry fee is $75 per team (five to a team), prior to Aug. 1 and $80 after that date. One out of five entries will cash. This is a scratch tournament; that means no handicaps. It is sanctioned through ABC and WIBC.

For those who have been bowling in past John P. Gavie Tournaments, your entry forms have been mailed. For newcomers, the entry blanks are available on most bowling counters all over town.

This event is far more than just a bowling tournament. It is an opportunity for old friends to get together and even rub shoulders with some of the great bowlers, past and present.

It is a good chance to get the competitive juices flowing again just prior to the season. For those who truly enjoy good sportsmanship experience, it is the place to be.

If your team would like to enter the Gavie Tournament, I suggest that you get the entries in soon, as this one gets booked pretty solid, and about 550 bowlers will be in competition.

In case you don't know who John P. Gavie was, he was the organizer and promoter of the All-Stars and served as commissioner of the All-Star leagues until he passed away last October at the age of 90.

They called him the "Night Mayor" of Detroit back in the early days, and he had a lot of pull that enabled him to get the job done.

In fact this event was always started with a parade down Woodward Avenue to the State Fair Grounds with Gov. "Soapy" Williams in the lead car as the grand marshal, with the Mayor's car right behind followed by all the great bowling teams.

Times have changed, but the John P. Gavie Tournament is pretty much the same. It's just a gathering of the people who are very much involved in the sport to compete on friendly terms and enjoy the camaraderie, the competition and the official beginning of the 1998-99 season.

For information or entry forms, call Gary at (313) 381-2226 or Frank Gavie at (810) 285-1304.

It is mid summer and the bowlers are boating, golfing, fishing and all that good stuff. Perhaps it's a bit early to think about the new season, but take a minute and plan ahead.

Are you all set with your league? How about your team? Is it full and ready to go? All too often we seem to wait until the last moment to realize that we need another bowler or need to bring in a few more teams.

This is where the local bowling center can do its job. The centers usually have names of people looking for a spot to bowl. It's time to ask around among friends and neighbors or make some calls.

I will also place your requests in upcoming issues of Ten Pin Alley if you will send the information to my attention at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150.

Host Jimmie's loses in tournament finals

Prestige/Calvert of Taylor stole the show last weekend in the in the 22nd annual Leonard J. Anderson Softball Tournament, featuring some of the midwest's elite men's slow-pitch teams.

Host Jimmie's, which fell 27-22 to Prestige in the championship final of the double-elimination tournament, finished second. Metro Glass of Westland was third.

The tournament, which drew nearly 600 fans Friday night in Wayne, also included the Anderson Hall of Fame induction ceremonies.

David Gibson and Wade Evans were enshrined into the hall, sponsored by Central Distributors of Beer, Inc., presented by Kevin Niemiec, Special Events Coordinator.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the City of Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation, was named in honor of Leonard J. Anderson, a Wayne police officer killed in the line of duty.

Prestige was led by tournament MVP Pat Wayne, a pitcher who was joined on the All-Tournament by teammates Dale Dorton, Bruce Woods and Todd Wallace.

The champions won five straight games en route to the title including victories over Journeyman (23-11), Plumbers & Pipefitters (22-21), Expert (30-25) and Jimmie's twice (17-15 and 27-22).

Jimmie's, also sponsored by Varsity Athletics, Que's Sports and Easton, had three players named to the all-tourney team including Scott Janack, who led the all hitters with a .773 average; Scott Hille and Tom Lengyel.

David Ballentine and Mike Urban made it for Metro Glass, while Andy Peterson and Jason Broyles, who had tournament beat 10 homers, took individual honors for Plumbers & Pipefitters.

"This year's crowd was able to see some of the finest softball in the country," tournament director Larry Quartuccio said. "My assistant director Rick Powell and his wife Debbie really helped me keep things running smoothly for another great tournament."

"And as always, the City of Wayne Parks & Rec did a great job in helping co-sponsor the event."

Eighteen teams started tournament play.

Roger Breeding homers, doubled and singled in the championship final. Dale Dorton added four singles, while Bill Kostich had three.

Pipers AND Dancers ARE Game FOR Fling

Scottish tradition: Harold Higgins plays the pipes while Alexandra Bennett dances.

They're calling it "The Fling in the Motor City," said co-chairman Bill Phenix of Plymouth, and if you're Scottish, or interested in all things Scottish, you'll want to be at the 149th Annual Highland Games, Saturday, Aug. 1, at Greenmead Historical Park in Livonia.

"It's a chance to see the absolute best Highland dancers in the United States and Canada," said Gordon Miller who is in charge of dancing for the event sponsored by St. Andrew's Society of Detroit. "There will be some world and former U.S. champions. It's the cream of the crop."

Dancing is one of the highlights of this year's games, the second to be held at Greenmead. In the morning, dancers from the Midwest area and Canada will compete in a dance competition hosted by the St. Andrew's Society. "There's always the possibility that there will be some dancers from Scotland," said Miller.

The United States Inter-Regional Highland Dance Championship competition begins in the afternoon. "Premiere dancers from all over the U.S. and Canada will be competing for the national title in five different age categories from children to adult," said Miller. To qualify for this competition, the dancers had to win regional competitions.

Playing The Palace: Tori Amos and her band perform tonight at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

Tori Amos says her songs want a band

The dark, dank St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit is one of the last venues you'd expect a quiet attentive crowd. Then again, Tori Amos fans are known for their discipline.

Some fans sat Indian-style waiting for the flame-haired pianist to hit the stage. Others talked about how they, like Amos, were raped and how the singer inspired them to seek help.

The late April show was one of a handful offering a sneak preview of Amos's latest album "From the Choirgirl Hotel" (Atlantic), her first written specifically for a band.

Wearing cut-off khaki shorts and a T-shirt, Amos straddled the piano bench alternating between a grand piano and a keyboard. As she threw her hair back, Amos showed a newfound confidence as her band, including noted rock drummer Matt Chamberlain, accompanied her.

In a phone interview late Friday night, Amos explained that she needed to stray from her piano-only setup.

"I think I took it as far as I could for myself and that unless I had challenged myself as a musician, I was just going to fall asleep. You can't keep repeating yourself all the time. You have to make shifts here and there," she explained.

The band-driven "From the Choirgirl Hotel" was inspired by a river where she sought solace

Boston Pops, "the orchestra people aren't afraid of," will play at Interlochen Centers for the Arts and Fox Theatre during its "American Visions" tour. "A lot of people like music in an informal setting, they don't think of themselves as classical music fans," said conductor Keith Lockhart explaining the Pops popularity. "We manage to sneak music we'd like these people to hear, and it doesn't hurt a bit. We offer something for everyone."

Their Michigan performances will feature guest pianist Lynn Bates. "We're coming to Detroit to pay homage to Motown," said

Lockhart. "It's one of the great musical traditions."

The concert will open with Boston Pops Laureate Conductor John Williams' "Liberty Fanfare," written for the centennial of the Statue of Liberty.

Bates will join Lockhart and the orchestra for a centennial salute to George Gershwin with a performance of "Rhapsody in Blue."

The second half of the program is sure to be a hit with baseball fans. It features Frank Proto's "Casey at the Bat," narrated by Curt Gowdy, and John Philip Sousa's "The National Dance events continue on Sunday at the Field House on the University-Michigan Dearborn campus. A pre-championship competition in the morning is open to all dancers who have never won a championship. The North American Highland Championship will follow. Three premiere pipers will accompany the dancers.

Alexandra Bennett is only 7, but she has been dancing since she was 4, and has won lots of medals. "It's fun," she says. Her mom, GERALYN, teaches Highland Dance and has fond memories of going to the games and competing.

"My mom was from Scotland," she said. "We still have family there. Dancing made me feel connected to them. It's something I did that was different from the other girls in school who were taking ballet and tap. It was neat. I still hang out with people I danced with when I was 8."

Harold Higgins of Livonia is a piper. "The pipers set the pace for the dancers," he said. Higgins has been playing the pipes for six years. His grandmother's from Scotland, and playing the pipes was something he always wanted to do. His family is pleased with his decision.

"I've been taking lessons and learning. It's difficult, you have to be disciplined, and prioritize," said Higgins who works for the Livonia Police Department. "I practice a half hour to an hour a day."

He'll be competing in the solo pipe competition at the games, and with the St. Andrews Society Pipe and Drum Band.

Frank Stasa III enjoys competing in the athletic events. He's one of those big guys who does all those crazy things like throwing a cabre, the thing that looks like a telephone pole, and a hammer. These tests of strength are a Scottish tradition.

Last year Stasa took third overall in the heavy athletic competition. "We do five events," he said. "It's like the Strongman Competition, not as demanding, but you need more skill. Everything pivots, you're spinning on one foot. Notice, I'm wearing a different shoe on each foot. You have to practice. It's hard work, but I enjoy it."

He's got some Scottish blood, is also of Czech and French ancestry. "When you come to this event you can be Scottish for a whole day," he said. "You get the flavor of Scotland. They overcook their peas, but they're good somehow. I like the meat pies.

It's a nice layout. It's going to be crowded, but there's enough room to walk around."

The games are a good place to dig for your Scottish roots. Over 30 clans will be represented. "We're hosting the Clan Hunter General Membership Meeting," said former chairman Bill Kinkaid, a past president of the St. Andrew's Society of Detroit. "The Chief of the Clan, Pauline Mullen Hunter, is coming from Scotland. The clan traces its lineage to the 1200s. We haven't had a Clan Chief in recent memory. This is a big thing."

Last year's event drew 12,500 people. They're talking about making the games a two-day event next year. It will be the 160th annual.

"The whole Scottish tradition of clans is family, and this is a family event," said Kinkaid. There will be vendors selling Scottish goods, Scottish food for sale, and activities for children.

They're bringing in Long-haired Highland Cattle, and there will be sheep herding and duck herding demonstrations by Highland Border Collies and Sheep Dogs throughout the day.

Be sure to visit the 18th Century Scottish military camp. You can watch military drills and hear the firing of muskets.

after losing her baby on Christmas 1996.

"It really is about igniting this rhythm, an ancient primal rhythm that really got me through after losing the baby. I couldn't become the woman I was before. As a woman, I really didn't know what I could draw on to even wake up in the morning and want to be a part of the living room with the spirits of the dead," Amos explained.

"I was trying to make contact with the being I wasn't able to save or even bargain her life for. It was completely out of my hands so I spent a lot of time by the water, by this river where I was. I just started to see how the water had this rhythm in its structure. Sometimes it was really turbulent, sometimes it was quite fluid. I wanted to feel that inside of my being."

While sitting by the river, she explained, it "dawned on her" to go back to the piano.

"After staring at the water for many, many days 'Pandora' (the song 'Pandora's Aquarium'), started coming. I knew there was a rhythm to build into the writing of the songs. I knew I had to record it live. Once I made that decision, I knew that then I would have to take a full instrumentation with me," Amos explained.

The change brought about a domino effect, she added.

"The other songs (from previous albums) got jealous. They said, 'Why can't I have that too.' So a lot of the old songs are being reworked."

The thick, rich sound in songs like "Spark" required that Amos bring along a band on tour, something she knew would be challenging.

"It really is challenging because you have to work as a unit. It can't be all about you all the time," Amos said accompanied by a chuckle.

"It's not a backing band. As you know that's not the intention. It's very much about the musicianship. You work as a team."

Adding a band to her live shows isn't the only major change that Amos has made in the last year. She married her boyfriend, Mark Hawley, the father of her baby.

"I think we bonded, he and I, out of that experience. So when after we'd gone through so much he asked me to marry him, I was one of those people where I was never going to get married but it just was like this feels right. Not because of the religious side of it, but the ancient kind of just promise you make to somebody."

With all this, Amos has embarked on her first arena tour which comes to The Palace of Auburn Hills Thursday, July 23. Her fans, as always, have been receptive, she said.

"I'm really lucky to have people that will say, 'Look, we'll give it a go. We're open enough to give it a go.' A lot of artists out there have people who are only with them because of one song. If you don't play that song like that every time they're out of there."

"With my fans, they're willing to give it a go. You can't ask for more than that."

The Gamut Theatre Group presents "And the Winner Is" 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, July 24-25 and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 26, at the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford, 15138 Beech Daly, south of Five Mile. Tickets are $10 and available by calling (234) 274-6493.

BY BOB WEIBEL
SPECIAL WRITER

The Gamut Theatre Group affirms once again the abundant musical talent in the Detroit area. Gamut's current production, "And the Winner Is," celebrates 50 years of Tony Award-winning Broadway musicals. From the rousing opening number ("Another Opening, Another Show" from Kiss Me Kate in 1948-49) to the radiant ("Circle of Life from The Lion King in 1998), the show is a winner in every respect.

Valerie Mangrum (Inkster) and Brian Townsend (Dearborn) conceived, staged and perform in this 90-minute non-stop buffet of savory songs. Joining them are Annette Hissong (Westland), Jim Mead (Ann Arbor), Megan Meade-Higgins (Southfield) and Tom Morgan (Livonia).

Musical director Ken Pletzer (Dearborn), accompanies them on the piano and with computer-aided instrumentation sounding like a full orchestra. Very impressive indeed.

Tying the whole thing together is a history lesson of interesting trivia. Each number is introduced with a brief comment. For example: there were two winners in 1960, "Fiorello" and "The Sound of Music." The movie "All About Eve" inspired the authors of the 1970 winner "Applause."

Shining most brightly in the galaxy of 50 sparkling numbers are Megan Meade-Higgins and Tom Morgan in "The Phantom of the Opera." Meade-Higgins shows her versatility with a gusty go at "Cabaret" from Cabaret (1967). And Morgan gives a lovely rendition of "The Impossible Dream" from The Man of La Mancha (1966).

Jim Meade delivers a powerful knockout performance of the song "Glory" from the 1996 Rock Opera winner Rent. And his satirical "One Last Kiss" from Bye, Bye Birdie (1961) is a hoot, especially his Elvis Presley ending.

Brian Townsend has the gestures, facial expressions and vocal inflections of an accomplished performer. He handles different styles with equal aplomb.

Annette Hissong's "Memory" from Cats (1983) is indeed memorable, and she scores again with "With One Look" from Sunset Boulevard (1995).

Valerie Mangrum's appealing style teased us with a short version of "Don't Cry for Me Argentina" from Evita (1980). She gives us the full treatment in "Hernando's Hideaway" from The Pajama Game (1955).

Conducting: Keith Lockhart leads the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra at Symphony Hall in Boston. They will perform in Detroit Aug. 1 at the Fox Theatre.

institution. Now in his fourth season conducting the Pops, Lockhart who succeeded Williams in the role, says a lot of people say he looks too young to be conductor. "They remember a gray haired man in his 80s," said Lockhart. "They forget Arthur Fiedler was the same age as me, 35, when he got the job."

Although he's following in the footsteps of two superstars, Lockhart is casting a shadow of his own without changing the things that audiences love about and expect from the Boston Pops. "It's a successful tradition. There's no reason to go and try and change everything," said Lockhart.

He says he has a different personality, set of strengths and interests than his successors, and that more than anything else plays a role in the decisions he makes. Examples are his collaborations with guest artists such as Buckwheat Zydeco and k.d. Lang. He snuck a Van Morrison tune into "The Celtic Album," the second of three he recorded with the Boston Pops.

"The audience for pops is more diverse," he said. "There's a significant amount of younger people. It's becoming a date night for college kids, we're seeing couples in their 30s. We provide a significant amount of great symphonic music. I cut my teeth in the classical music world, but I like being involved in a lot of genres - from Mozart piano concerts and Tchaikovsky to Buckwheat Zydeco to Motown."

Musically, Lockhart said Fiedler was more contemporary than he is. "Whatever was on the top charts that month he played. We give a heavy dose of American composers and music we think will excite our audience. We don't do much of whatever it takes. I'd rather let U2 do U2."

Part of the problem is arranging the music. It's hard to imagine "I Heard It Through the Grapevine," performed by an orchestra without sounding like elevator music. "We have a new staff arranger, Pat Hollenbeck, who has an orchestra background, but hip enough to know how to make something sound good," said Lockhart.

By playing music people want to hear, Lockhart hopes he teaches them something too. "Everything pops does is outreach and education," he said. "We want to push a button, click a little switch to get people excited and enjoy what they're listening to. They'll say 'OK, I'll spend 6 or 7 minutes with Stravinsky. If I don't like it I know there will be something different next.'"

The Boston Pops consists of two ensembles - The Boston Pops Orchestra and The Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra.

The Boston Pops Orchestra includes members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, minus 12 of the principals who tour as the Boston Symphony Chamber Players. It's the orchestra you hear on "Evening at the Pops," broadcast nationally on PBS. They perform in Symphony Hall in Boston from May through mid-June, and at Tanglewood during the rest of the summer. They also present a Christmas Pops series.

The Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra, which consists of freelance musicians from Boston, organized by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, performs annually on the Fourth of July. It's the orchestra Michigan audiences will hear.

They perform in Symphony Hall from mid-June through mid-July; present free outdoor concerts at the Hatch Shell on the Charles River Esplanade during July; and perform Christmas Pops concerts and a New Year's Eve gala.

"Freelance musician is kind of misleading," said Lockhart. "It's a stable group. Their contracts are renewed on a year-by-year basis. There's more demand for concerts than one orchestra can fulfill."

Guild presents plays about love

The Players Guild of Dearborn presents four one-act plays "First Dates and Fickle Hearts," 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, July 24-25, July 31-Aug. 1 and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 2 at its air-conditioned theater, 21730 Madison, (southeast corner of Monroe and Outer Dr.) Dearborn. Tickets $10, call (313) 561-TKTS. For more information, call (313) 277-5164.

"First Dates and Fickle Hearts" is a collection of classic comedies and farces using eight actors as various characters.

All four one-act plays are funny views on love. The show opens toying with our fickle hearts in an Anton Chekov piece known as "A Marriage Proposal."

A reaffirmation of love is humorously discovered in Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband." Memories of first dates will be relived for all us in "Red Carnations." The surprise of unexpected love and romance in the most adverse circumstances flourishes in Anton Chekov's "The Brute."

"First Dates and Fickle Hearts" features Brooke and Don Andres of Livonia; Maria Kovac of Plymouth, and Kerry Plague of Canton.

It is directed by Kirk Hass. Jeff Bartos is assistant director

'Sweet, Sassy' is twisted, funny

BY BRENDA SMITH
SPECIAL WRITER

"Sweet, Sassy & Durang" offers laughs and provokes thoughts that border on homicidal. The short plays done by West End Productions are written by a gifted, yet slightly twisted, Christopher Durang. Many of the topics can be considered touchy to some. His sense of humor is extraordinary, leaving one laughing at one of his topics and later wondering why it was so funny then, yet so disturbing now.

The humor of Durang seems to try to push the audience as far as it can go, then farther. A more mature audience would understand the subtle remarks for their full worthiness. To some people, it may be offending. However, not to see the humor in it would be a waste.

Coupled with the hilarious cast, this performance offered audience members a chance to laugh and sometimes not even know why. While the content of the performance seems to be directed at the twenty-something generation, the more subtle jokes are left for an older crowd.

Imagine Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire" placed in the 1990s, throw in some homosexual references, twist it quite a bit, and you come close to a short called "Desire, Desire, Desire."

Many of the shorts are Durang's strange, insightful look at his own thoughts and feelings. The actors and actresses very aptly dove into this bizarre world of Durang. The shorts were mixed together with some of their own song and dance routines. Don't let them fool you, this wasn't the "Nutcracker." Where on Broadway can you find the song "The Homecoming Queen" where the newly elected Homecoming Queen loses it and blows away half of her class?

The friendship between the players can be seen on the stage. Each one brought something else to add. Even the stage carried the friendliness of the cast. The small venue offered the players a chance to extend the range of the stage beyond the audience. Linda Hammell played the opening character, talking to audience members as she walked onto the stage before offering a welcome to the entire audience.

The acting talents of each of the players were superb. Director, choreographer and actress Francine Jo Hachem overdid herself throughout the play; best shown as she left the audience in tears of laughter with her monologue "Jane Doe."

The stage was set with no backgrounds and little props leaving ample room for the audience to use their imagination. The lack of backdrops left open room to move and flow into the next scene. Clean-up and prop changing was played-off as other skits making a continuous show.

The entire show had more impact than one could imagine. The dialogue, players and even the audience added to the strange and demented world according to Christopher Durang. Anyone looking for a reason to laugh, or just to contemplate, should look into these excellent performances.

Hamtramck stars in disappointing 'Polish Wedding'

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

The word Hamtramck never appears in the film, but metro Detroit's Polish enclave was for me the true star of "Polish Wedding." Former resident Theresa Connelly has captured the unique physical qualities of the flats, factory-filled skylines, moonlit back alleys, even weed-choked empty lots, with the lens of a talented photographer.

And for the packed preview screening last week, seeing their hometown on the big screen was enough to send metro Detroiters swooning. Spontaneous claps, laughs or "that's me" peppered the auditorium whenever a crowd scene with extras appeared.

As a Detroit movie, "Polish Wedding" earns four stars. The problem is: when the independent film, distributed by Fox Searchlight, opens elsewhere on the planet, it will have most viewers scratching their heads. If I was reviewing this movie in Chicago, San Francisco, or even Grand Rapids, I'd probably give it a one.

The movie doesn't lack talent — Gabriel Byrne, Lena Olin, and Claire Danes are members of the Pzoniak family. Papa Bolek is the stoic baker and chain smoker. Wife Jadzia's frequent woman's league meetings are actually excuses for romantic trysts with a bearded businessman.

Daughter Hala, meanwhile, seems to take after the old lady, sneaking off into the night for rendezvous with a handsome young policeman, a friend of her brother's. Her resulting pregnancy compromises her role in her church's annual Parade of the Virgin, where she has been chosen to represent all that is good and virtuous.

Danes was only 17 when "Polish Wedding" was shot here two summers ago, and you can see her searching for a way through this difficult role. Writer/director Connelly obviously wants her to be almost ethereal and sprite-like in her magical fascination with men, but the idea is botched when reality rears its head.

And this is where the movie really flounders. Never once did I believe that I was watching real people. No one has a handle on what is expected of them, especially Byrne, the Irish actor who gorges his lines and spends most of his performance looking resigned and world-weary.

As the family matriarch, Olin does what she does best: look sexy. No other actress can make the simplest task — from kneading pierogi dough to scrubbing floors — look so sensual. Ultimately, these public displays grow embarrassing rather than charming and funny.

Romantic comedy: Gabriel Byrne and Lena Olin star in "Polish Wedding."

John Monaghan welcomes your calls and comments. You can listen to him on Dave Dixon's Radio Show AM 1270, 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays. To leave John a voice mail message, dial (734) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, mailbox 1866.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

Magic Bag - 22920 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (248) 544-3030 for information.

"Spike and Mike's Sick and Twisted Festival of Animation." Through Sunday, Aug. 2 (call for showtimes). An encore presentation of the festival, highlighted by the unaired "South Park" pilot episode, "The Spirit of Christmas." Also on the bill: "Smoking," "Fast Driver" (a gay take on "Speed Racer"), and "Sloaches Fun House," which earns its title as "grossest cartoon ever made." ($6)

Main Art Theatre - 118 N. Main (at 11 Mile Road), Royal Oak. Call (248) 542-0180 for information. ($6.50; $4 students/seniors and matinees; $3 twilight)

"The Opposite of Sex" (USA - 1998). Christina Ricci ("Addams Family," "The Ice Storm") plays a teenaged girl who runs away from her home one summer and wrecks the lives of virtually everyone she encounters.

"The Hanging Garden" (USA - 1998). An offbeat drama about a 25-year-old gay man who returns home to his seriously dysfunctional family after a 10-year absence.

"Buffalo 66" (USA - 1998). In this update of an old "screwball" premise, Vincent Gallo plays an ex-con who hatches a preposterous plan to impress his uncaring parents. With the help of a kidnapped Christina Ricci, he assumes the role of upstanding husband and family man.

Midnight movies - "Heavy Metal," "Pink Floyd's The Wall," and "The Beyond" are the cult films playing at the witching hour Friday and Saturday nights.

Maple Art Theatre - Maple at Telegraph, Bloomfield. Call (248) 855-9090 for information. ($6.50; $4 before 6 p.m.)

"Polish Wedding" (USA - 1998). Filmed in Hamtramck, a focus on infidelity, hardship, and humor in a dysfunctional family. The first film written and directed by Theresa Connelly.

STREET SCENE

England's Jimmy Ray obsessed with American culture

To say that English pop singer Jimmy Ray is obsessed with American culture is an understatement. Looking around his London apartment, Ray lets loose a long list of his pop culture collectibles.

"I've got thousands of books on all things American. A lot of stuff about (John F.) Kennedy - good and bad. A lot of Elvis stuff. A lot of stuff about American music, Muhammad Ali, all the 'Star Wars' scripts. My whole bathroom is black and white photos of my pop idols and a lot of Jimi Hendrix, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck stuff," Ray said pausing to catch his breath.

"I've got the 'Boulevard of Broken Dreams' photo. I've got a Batman jug with kitchen utensils in it. I've got Elvis magnets on the fridge and atop the fridge is Starsky and Hutch's Grand Torino with a New York police car and a taxi cab following it."

"My life is pretty much the American dream gone wrong."

When he pulls into town to open for the Backstreet Boys on Friday, July 24, at the Palace of Auburn Hills, Ray will probably see the store Decades in Royal British rocker: Jimmy Ray, who loves American culture, is making his American debut and playing the Palace.

Oak as his Mecca. It's not as if all of that was unexpected. On the back of his self-titled debut (Epic), Ray, with his hair slicked back into a pompadour, is wearing cowboy boots, an oversized belt buckle and a sparkling cowboy shirt. On "Jimmy Ray," the singer tips his hat to Presley and even Motown.

"One track, 'Trippin' on Baby Blue,' has a bit of a Smokey kind of thing. I certainly don't think it comes anywhere near the stars of the Motown days. I've always been a fan of pop music. Motown made some of the greatest pop records of all time," he explained.

New wave acts of the 1980s also played a part of the creation of "Jimmy Ray."

"The first record I ever bought was by the Human League, 'Dare.' That kind of spells out a little bit about where I came from. I quickly moved onto '80s rock 'n' roll - Little Richard, Elvis and stuff like that. That really meant a lot to me," Ray said.

"I also listened to the Pet Shop Boys and Madonna. I've always been a fan of pop music. I'm too lazy to hunt out underground obscure music."

His debut has spawned the shimmying introduction "Are You Jimmy Ray?" featuring a modified Bo Diddley beat and addictive chorus ("Are you Johnnie Ray? Are you Stingray? Are you Fay Wray? Are you Jimmy Ray?")

"Daddy's Got a Gun" shares his love of westerns and pop music by coupling a tired harmonica with a hip-hop beat.

Ray said he is pleased to be lumped in with acts like the Backstreet Boys, the Spice Girls, Hanson and 'N Sync who are steering away from the doldrums of alternative rock and aiming for "the more colorful side of music."

"You do have a lot of that," Ray said about alternative rock and grunge. "Even when I was in the States recently, I was promoting my song and hearing a lot of records like the Backstreet Boys and 'N Sync. But there would be a very heavy amount of Matchbox 20, and a lot of people who dress in black. I think that there should always be some kind of balance."

The tour with the Backstreet Boys is Ray's first of the United States, aside from promotional appearances at radio stations.

"I couldn't ask for anything more, in terms of opportunities, to play for people. I love the States. I only had one bad experience in Oklahoma and I won't go into that."

"On stage I'm very erratic and kind of impromptu and I never know what's going to happen. I'm looking forward to an exciting opportunity to fool around."

Ray is also excited about exploring the United States.

"I grew up in East London. It's not very colorful. It's not like the United States where there's a lot of sort of glamour and glitz going on. In America everything seems to be more over the top. Even the buildings. And the cars, take an old caddy and compare it to a Ford Capri which you see driving around London. America's got a little bit more get up and go."

Hilberry mixes classic and modern plays

ANN DELISI

First you get together your ingredients, like flour, oil, and yeast or whatever. Then you get together your tools, like measuring cups, bowls, and spatulas. Then you put it all together, creating a blob that's approximately as appetizing as a lump of concrete. Then you knead it, which is such hard work that you'll actually ache the next day. The mass fights back as you attempt to knead it, sticking to everything and forcing you to fling flour on all proximal surfaces. Once kneaded, you let the blob rise, only to mercilessly beat it down with your bare fists. Undeterred by your show of hostility, the blob rises again. Next, you force the goo into formed pans.

Then, and only then, do you finally put the stuff into a pre-heated oven to bake. That's when you finally get a breather. Baking shouldn't be called "baking." It should be called "Is This Really Worth It When Kneeping Is Willing To Do It For Me?"

They only named it after the easy part, "baking," to fool you into thinking it's something you can actually do at home.

Usually, when we enjoy a finished product, a lot of hard work and preparation is invested, work that we rarely have a chance to see. That's why on Backstage Pass on Detroit Public Television we often show the behind-the-scenes work that goes into the arts that we enjoy. And while Fall is the season full of art openings and premieres, Summer is the time when a whole lot of the hard work and preparation is being done.

So I thought I'd call Blair Anderson, who's working hard on the upcoming season at the Wayne State's Hilberry Theatre, to get a preview. "Well, besides offering a diverse selection of classical plays - Shakespeare's 'Hamlet' and Moliere's 'Scapin' - we have varied modern masterpieces, 'The Playboy of the Western World' and 'The Mousetrap,' an American gem in Moss Hart's 'Light Up the Sky,' a staging of Charles Dickens's classic novel 'A Tale of Two Cities,' and a contemporary play on George Pullman and his utopian vision gone awry."

Wow. That's a load. "Yes it is. But we have some new faculty members working with us. Their arrival is exciting because they bring interesting points of view to the Hilberry." OK, Blair, run it down to me.

"Ed Smith, who I believe directs our first show, 'The Mousetrap,' comes via the State University of New York at Buffalo. The Alabama Shakespeare Festival where he was associate artistic director, and most recently at Florida State University. Ed has directed across the country at regional theaters and has a deep and active interest in traditional jazz. He's served as a radio-jazz host and interviewer both in Buffalo and Tallahassee, Florida.

"Jerry Cleveland comes most recently from Hampton University outside Washington, D.C. As far as I know, Jerry directs 'The Playboy of the Western World' in the spring. A Cass Tech graduate in 1970, Jerry worked as a professional stage manager on Broadway, on national and international tours, from Radio City Music Hall to Australia and Nigeria. Most recently at Hampton he directed 'Midsummer Night's Dream' and 'The Piano Lesson.' His experience and energetic spirit will be exciting as he joins our program.

"Finally, Chris Jones takes on the duties of promotion and publicity director for our Hilberry and Bonstelle Theatres. Chris was, I believe, a directing major here at Wayne 15 or so years ago and here most recent experiences have been with various opera companies across the country.

"On top of all that change, we will also have about fourteen new actors joining the company because we just graduated our largest group ever. I hope everyone - the curious who might like to check us out, or maybe folks who haven't been down in years - will join those who have actively supported us and keep coming back."

Finally, Blair, what are you directing? "Moliere's 'Scapin.' It's less a comedy of manners, like 'Tartuffe' or 'The Imaginary Invalid,' but rather it shares his comedic slap-stick techniques he used as an actor when he toured with his troupe in France. It's in the "commedia dell'arte" tradition and a great theatrical romp."

This week, Kim Hunter joins the Salsa dance craze, Marsha Miro's look at Monet at U-M, plus music from "Sweeney Todd" and Dog's Eye View. That's on Backstage Pass tonight at midnight, repeated Friday at 7:30 p.m. on Detroit Public Television.

Birmingham's Avant Garde specializes in alternative dining

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

On the first full day of summer, alternative dining entered the Birmingham restaurant scene in the location vacated by Oliverio's. Avant Garde borrows flavors of Asian, Indian, Italian, French, Southwest and Mediterranean foods and creates meatless dishes, prepared with neither oils nor dairy.

The alternative food idea, conceived by Chef Luis Cartagena and his partner Elaine Pitzer, is an outgrowth of their personal eating habits over the last three years.

"I had the confidence to open this style restaurant after Whole Foods bought the Merchant of Vino," Cartagena said. "They did my advance marketing."

"Now, I can honestly tell people that I cook with the same good-tasting products they can buy at Merchant of Vino-Whole Foods. Non-fat salad dressing is no longer without good taste. You don't need dairy to make a great sauce."

Chef Luis is on a mission to turn diners onto healthier eating. "Avant Garde will give diners something they've not had before and a new way to experience healthier food," Cartagena said. "The concept will work in the art-friendly, downtown atmosphere of Birmingham. It wouldn't work as a free-standing restaurant or in a strip mall."

This statement echoes the way avant garde is dictionary defined as "those, especially in the arts, who create, produce or apply new, original or experimental ideas, designs and techniques."

Avant Garde

Where: 126 S. Old Woodward, Birmingham, (248) 594-4499.
Hours: Monday to Wednesday 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Thursday to Saturday until 11 p.m.
Menu: Exceptionally flavorful, cutting-edge alternative dishes made without red meat, oils or dairy. Same menu for lunch and dinner.
Cost: Starters, sandwiches and salads $5-8; main dishes all under $16.
Reservations: Not accepted.
Credit cards: All majors accepted.

Chef Luis plans to live up to this definition.

At Avant Garde, alternative dining can be experienced in a contemporary environment with white tablecloths and flowers on the table. This ambiance was born out of Chef Luis' sweat equity. He did nearly all the work himself, from stripping and painting the walls to cutting the glass for decorative ceiling lights.

Thirty-two-year-old Chef Luis learned his trade on the job, beginning to work in restaurants at age 15. By age 18, he owned his own pizzeria. He developed his interest in alternative foods as food and beverage director of Good Food Company. Before starting the Avant Garde project, he was food and beverage director for Vic's World Class Markets.

Chef Luis predicted the Vegetable Quesadilla, with veggies sandwiched between lawash with soy Monterey Jack cheese and fruit salsa, to be a top-selling appetizer. He also pointed proudly to the Stuffed Portabella Mushrooms that incorporate house burrito mix and peppers.

If you like burritos and would like to ditch the fat, then the Vegetarian Burrito sandwich is a great choice. It's mesquite-grilled veggies wrapped in sundried tomato lawash. It's taco seasoning taste and the flavor of refried beans all the way, without either the beans or the fat.

Among entrees, the predicted smash hits are the ravioli selections. There's salmon, duck, lobster and turkey, each prepared with a grand array of flavors. The salmon raviolis come with a cointreau cream; duck is flavored with Warre's Port sauce; lobster gets turned up with amaretto tomato sauce; while the turkey has sun-dried cranberry sauce.

You can create your own pizza with organic spelt (low gluten wheat flour) crust, tomato sauce, two toppings and a mix of soy cheeses.

While there's not a kid's menu as such, the noodle dishes, harvest burger, chicken selections, raviolis and pizza will appeal to kids.

Avant Garde does not have a liquor license. The best shot in the house is grass green Wheat Grass made in the juicer. Other beverages include choices of fresh juices (carrot, apple or beet) made to order, and organic What's for dinner: Chef Luis Cartagena presents Eggplant Lasagna with fresh tomato basil garlic sauce and rolled pasta at Avant Garde.

Kona coffee.

Cartagena concluded that he's on a mission of good health and spiritual harmony.

"Adjusting your diet at any age will make you feel better," he contended. "I'm also reaching out to people with cardiac problems and those on restricted diets. They can now get a fine dining atmosphere without fear of salt and high fat."
