Settlement reached in Civic League case

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A former Wayne-Ford Civic League officer will have to pay $10,000 in restitution after pleading no contest to embezzling from the nonprofit organization.

Shari Greenfield, 42, reached a settlement with civic league officials even though she had earlier contended that the league actually owed her more than $20,000.

Greenfield, former league vice president, had pleaded no contest to embezzling $1,000 to $20,000 from 1999 to 2004, although league officials and prosecutors had contended she took thousands more.

Nonetheless, Greenfield and league officials reached an agreement accepted Friday in Wayne County Circuit Judge Gregory Dean Bill's courtroom. It ended a long chapter that tarnished the league's image, although new officials pledged they are repairing it.

The league raises money to sponsor such activities as youth sports and senior citizen activities. Neither side embraced the restitution agreement. "Shari's not happy. I'm not happy. The league is not happy," defense attorney Paul Bricker said. "If neither side is happy, then it's probably a pretty good compromise."

New league President Vic Barra said no amount of restitution could heal the damage the league suffered and the financial losses it incurred due to the two-year loss of its now-restored bingo licenses.

"I can only say that I'm grateful that it's now behind us and the civic league can focus on the good works it does," Barra said, adding that the community has again embraced the league and its activities.

Greenfield will have to pay $4,000 within 30 days, but she will be given three years to pay the remaining $6,000. She has been working as a waitress at a Westland cafe/bar.

She and ex-husband Neal Greenfield had been charged with embezzling from the civic league. Neal Greenfield had earlier settled his case by agreeing to repay $16,000 and by giving up another $16,000 that police seized during their investigation.

The Greenfields will remain on probation for three years.

New history group strives for harmony

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A new group dedicated to preserving the city's history is being formed, just one month after strained relations led the former Friends of the Westland Historical Museum to disband after 19 years.

Organizers hope the new group and the Westland Historical Commission can work closely together without the rivalry and clashes that doomed earlier relations.

"That's been the problem all along," said historian Georgia Becker, one of the new group's organizers.

Commissioners and Friends members had accused each other of being counterproductive rather than trying to work toward common goals. The two sides disagreed on issues ranging from the sale of two acres of museum land to the official naming of the Westland Historical Village Park, on Wayne south of Marquette.

Commissioners such as Jo Johnson supported the name, while longtime Friends member Ruth Dale called it inappropriate. Dale said the park lacked certain buildings, such as a schoolhouse and a church, that would make it a village.

Dale led the charge to disband the fund-raising Friends group, saying "there seems to be a deadlock in getting anything done."

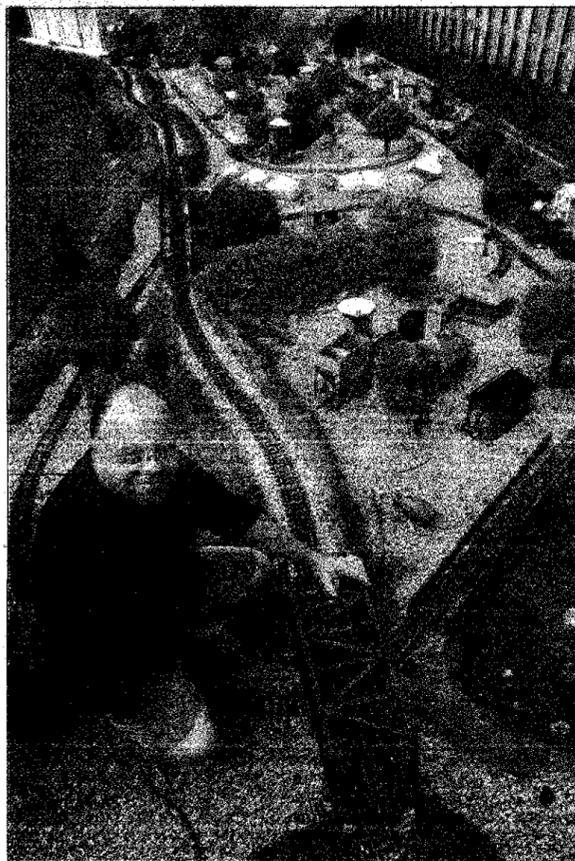

Becker and former Friends member Ernie Johnson - Jo Johnson's husband - have initiated efforts to start the new group, which will adopt a name during its first meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 17, at the Bailey Recreation Center. Anyone who wants to become involved is urged to attend.

Becker and Ernie Johnson have said the new group will be dedicated to raising money, preserving Westland's history and helping to restore buildings such as two 1800s-era houses that sit on museum property. The new group also will help with museum displays and conduct tours.

"We want people who have a love for the city's history and who have a willingness to work with the commission and the city administration," Ernie Johnson said.

The new group will choose a name during its formative meeting. It also will discuss issues such as granting membership to those who had paid dues to become lifetime Friends members.

Westland resident Roy Green sits alongside Greenville, the backyard village and railroad system he built.

All aboard for Greenville!

Local man runs railroad in his back yard

BY DARRELL CLEM

An old steam engine blows its horn as it chugs lazily past a bustling sawmill, an old-fashioned bakery, a filling station where gas costs 22 cents a gallon, and a general store where friendly neighbors talk while they shop.

As the train rolls on, it passes through a mountain tunnel, crosses aluminum bridges and meanders past a coal mine, a windmill, a barnyard, a schoolhouse, a pharmacy, a church, a logging mill with a waterfall, and a town hotel where visitors are made to feel welcome.

It's all in Westland, in Roy Green's back yard.

Green, 58, is the mayor of Greenville, a model town with a G-scale railroad where the calendar never changes from 1948. With 900 residents, it's a peaceful place with no crime, no cell phones, no iPods, no terrorism alerts, no political scandals - a place as old-school America as a Norman Rockwell painting.

"I spend a lot of time out here," said Green, a welder who works as a maintenance supervisor for Severstal North America, formerly Rouge Steel. "I took an indoor hobby and brought

In some ways, Green's town reminds him of his childhood in the small Tennessee town of McMinnville, southeast of Nashville. Green, the youngest of four children, moved to Michigan with his parents, Willie and Thelma Green, in 1959, when many Southern folks migrated north.

Green and wife Brenda now have three daughters and four grandchildren of their own. It was during a family vacation to Gatlinburg, Tenn., seven years ago that the idea for Greenville

37th Summer Festival is a crowd-pleaser

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Officials deemed the 37th Westland Summer Festival a success this week after the city's biggest party culminated Wednesday with a crowd-pleasing fireworks display over Central City Park.

"I just thought the crowds were great," Parks & Recreation Director Robert Kosowski said, adding that many residents likely stayed close to home for the holiday due to high gas prices.

"We had seven days of gorgeous weather for the festival," he said. "All the crowds were really good, especially on the fireworks night. All in all, I thought the festival was a success, and I thought the festival committee did a great job in bringing the entertainment and so forth."

The festival included a parade with grand marshal U.S. Army Staff Sgt. William Boettcher, who served in Operation Iraqi Freedom, the crowning of 2007 Miss Westland April Kersey, scores of events ranging from magic shows to live musical entertainment, and carnival rides that thrilled the young and young-at-heart.

"It appeared that most everything went fine, and the people enjoyed themselves," festival Chairman Kenneth Mehl said.

He thought that attendance may have dropped slightly from last year, but he said events such as the Barnyard Express, which allowed children to pet small farm animals, proved highly popular.

Crowds had to stay outside of fenced-off Central City Park, closed

For her essay on What Will Make Westland a Better Place, she answered by saying more environmental days, recycling, car pools and planting additional trees are a few examples. Ms. Kersey would like to get more involved in Westland.

Salvation Army sponsors 3-on-3 hoops fund-raiser

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

The Westland-based Salvation Army is blowing the game whistle for basketball players, whether they're emerging LeBron Jameses or merely armchair NBA wannabes.

The charitable organization, hard hit by tough economic times, is taking its fund-raising efforts to the street — or, more specifically, the parking lot.

To that end, Salvation Army leaders have announced the hip-sounding "Hoopin' for the $400" a two-day, double-elimination tournament for three-on-three basketball teams with players 12 and older.

Games will be played in the Salvation Army parking lot, on Venoy south of Palmer, starting at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, and again from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11.

"We do a lot of community outreach, and when times get tighter it gets harder for us to run those programs," Capt. Matt O'Neil said.

Those programs range from emergency help with food and utilities to day camps and music programs for youths. The Westland facility serves five communities: Westland, Wayne, Romulus, Inkster and New Boston — working-class cities hard hit by job losses.

To play in the hoops tournament, teams have to sign up and pay an $80 fee by Aug. 8. Entry forms can be picked up at the Salvation Army building. For more information, call (734) 722-3660.

Age divisions are 12-14 years old, 15-17 years old and 18 and up. The oldest division winners will get a 20-inch flat-screen television; the two younger division champs will get trophies and T-shirts.

Players 17 and younger will have to submit signed waivers from their parents or guardians.

Tournament registration will start at 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, an hour before the first round of games.

In a related development,

The Salvation Army is trying to raise money by offering sponsorships for the games, as follows:

■ For $200, a "community hero" sponsor will receive recognition at every game, a backboard decal and plaque recognition during the awards ceremony.

■ For $75, a "lend a hand" sponsor will get a sign either at the concession stand or in the grass around the tournament perimeter, with verbal recognition during the awards.

■ For $25, a "doing out part" sponsor will receive verbal recognition during the awards ceremony.

due to lead contamination, but crews who shot off the fireworks still used the park for a dazzling display.

"The fireworks were excellent," Mehl said.

He said Mayor William Wild kept his promise to provide city workers, including police officers, for the festival. Police Lt. Daniel Karrick cited only a couple of arrests for disorderly conduct.

Mehl cited only one disappointing aspect of the festival, saying some city council members and businesses didn't become as involved as they could have in promoting and supporting the event. He said he hopes that will change.

The lack of involvement prompted some festival volunteers to indicate they will stop helping with the event, Mehl said. "If that happens, it's a problem."

Meanwhile, Mayor William Wild said crowds seemed to adapt to Central City Park being closed off until a cleanup plan is worked out.

"I thought it was a great event," he said of the festival. "Some of the surrounding neighborhoods probably picked up a few more people with the park being closed, but all in all I think once again it was a great festival. I take our hats off to those hard-working people on the festival committee."

New LPS board term starts on Monday

The makeup of the Livonia Public Schools board of education won't change, but its leadership could, at Monday's meeting.

The board's annual organizational meeting starts at 6:15 p.m. with the oath of office to re-elected Trustees Lynda Scheel and Robert Freeman. Also elected May 8, Trustee Greg Oke was sworn in later that month.

The board will then vote to fill its three elected officer positions, decide the committee assignments and chairmen, and set its meeting calendar for the upcoming year.

On the agenda for the regular meeting, beginning at 7 p.m., the board will also be asked to vote on projects on this summer's to-do list to be paid for from the district's sinking fund account.

They include paving and underground utilities at 15 school sites, concrete replacement at 17 schools and resurfacing the tennis courts at Franklin High School.

Rod Hosman, director of administrative services, said he does not recommend the press box renovations at the three high schools.

The project went out to bid twice.

The first bid results were too high and the second time, only one vendor replied.

Hosman said the district will rethink this project.

The agenda also includes the recall of two teachers from layoff to part-time positions and 14 new hires.

At 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, the board will meet as a committee of the whole for more discussion of the asset utilization committee's report about what to do with some of the district's empty buildings and vacant parcels of land.

GREENVILLE

was born. "I saw this model train station, and I fell in love with it," Green said. After returning home, he started calling model train dealers, and his collection has grown ever since. He has some 90 train pieces - many of them Lionel brand collector's items - that circle 600 feet of railroad track surrounding Greenville. The engines spew smoke, and Green uses sound cards in his remote-controlled village, which represents about 35 acres to scale.

Brenda Green smiles approvingly as the sound of cows, roosters and other animals emanates from a miniature barnyard. "That's the farm animals talking," she said.

A miniature pickup truck carries crates of chickens, and vintage cars can be seen on the town streets.

Most residents earn their living from the lumbering and mining industries. The town has a coal mine, an iron ore mine and a sawmill where miniature workers can be seen using a vertical blade.

"The village lights up at night," Brenda Green said. "It's really cute."

Greenville stays put even in the wintertime, although railway traffic slows during the cold months. It even has a miniature fire department to protect the residents, including the tiny children who can be seen on the school playground.

Greenville has more than 30 buildings, and Green created many of them with his own hands. He also built mountains by washing burlap in concrete, spreading it over chicken wire and then adding more concrete. He used different hues of sand and ground charcoal for color.

Green used dwarf trees, such as boxwoods and Alberta spruce, to add greenery to his town.

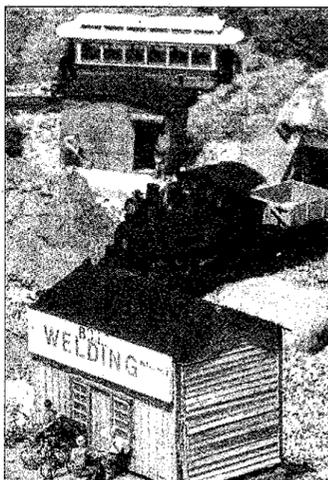

"All the plants are real, so I do gardening while I'm out here, too," he said. "It's about being outside. When I started this, I had an idea of what I wanted to end up with, and it felt good to see it when I got it done."

As another day ends, quiet descends over Greenville. The lights stay on for awhile after residents retreat to their homes for another peaceful night in a peaceful village. They will rest up for another hard day's work in the sawmill or the mines.

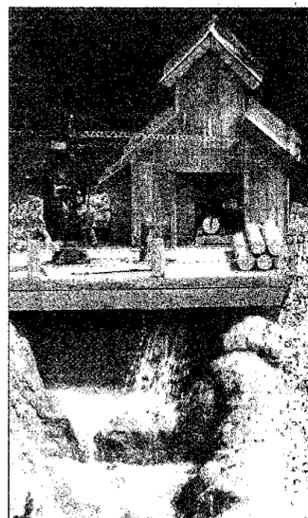

They will rest up for another day that will dawn on Greenville. And it always does. The mayor sees it.

In an era when the world is complicated, Westland resident Roy Green relaxes in his yard and has deep admiration for a model town and railway that he built.

Brought out to scale, Greenville, the back yard town of Westland resident Roy Green, would be about 35 acres and consists of a coal mine, iron ore mine, general store and much more.

Greenville has its own waterfall and logging industry.

Westland resident Roy Green works on one of the many train engines he runs in Greenville.

If you've got that "can't laugh, can't sneeze" leakage, a 30-minute outpatient procedure with GYNECARE TVT SECUR can stop it. It's covered by most insurance, and uses a ribbon-like strip to stop leakage the way your body was designed to - by supporting your urethra. It's also designed to be less invasive, and offer a quicker recovery than other procedures of its type.

INFORMATION CENTRAL

Although it makes sense that the person you know most thoroughly would be yourself, there still remains an intense desire to unearth aspects of your personality of which even you were not aware. Enter the art of handwriting analysis.

This topic has been a popular attraction at fairs, festivals, and special events for some time now, but it is also a skill utilized by criminal justice professionals. Handwriting analysis, or graphology, has been used to provide evidence in instances of forgery as well as forensic investigations, thus giving the practice a more serious reputation than the public may often view at various places of amusement.

The Westland Public Library has tools to satisfy handwriting analysis interests on an individual level. Books such as The ABCs of Handwriting Analysis by Claude Santoy and Hollander's Handwriting Analysis: a complete self-teaching guide allow the reader to gain skills necessary to evaluate his own handwriting as well as that of others.

For some insight into your relationship style, take a look at Lovescript, in which author Michael Watts discusses not only implications of a particularly curly tail on the letter "g", but also the potential meanings behind the most random of doodles.

If you have any interest in handwriting analysis and what may be revealed through your own scrawls, then July is your lucky month. As a part of this year's Summer Reading Program theme of James Bond spy action, there will be a workshop to enable you to know yourself through your handwriting on July 10th from 6:30-8:45. Handwriting expert Ruth Holmes from Pentec, Inc., a forensic and personnel consulting firm, will present how aspects of your personal identity, relationships, and performance potential can be analyzed through the words you write. To reserve your seat at this program, call the Reference Desk at (734) 326-6123 and come prepared to understand the hidden secrets in your signature!

Michigan waits in line to charge cemetery owner

BY ALEX LUNDBERG
STAFF WRITER

Michigan's case against an Oklahoma businessman accused of mishandling millions of dollars in cemetery trust funds will have to wait until he faces similar charges in Tennessee.

Clayton Smart, who owns cemeteries and funeral homes in three states, is being held in a Tennessee jail on a $4.2 million bond. Michigan will have a crack at Smart after Tennessee has had its turn.

Attorney General spokesman Matt Frendeway said Smart is facing much tougher charges in Michigan than he is in other states. "He's still there," he said. "We're still waiting for his arraignment there to extradite him. That may not be until August."

Smart is facing 39 charges in Michigan including 10 for embezzlement, one for racketeering and 28 for failure to trust cemetery funds. In all, the attorney general's office wants to get an accounting of more than $70 million it believes Smart mishandled.

"There are two trust funds a cemetery has to keep: one for merchandise (monuments, caskets) and one for endowed care," Frendeway said. "Both are handled differently."

If someone puts down $1,000 toward a casket and headstone before his or her death and the bill comes to only $900, the cemetery operator can keep the difference. The endowed care fund pays for cemetery maintenance forever and the only funds a cemetery operator can touch from that fund are through investments — and there are state-generated guidelines for what constitutes acceptable investments.

Prosecutors say Smart took $61 million in care and trust funds for investments in off-shore hedge funds, something that is illegal under Michigan law.

A total of 28 Michigan cemeteries are affected in the case including Cadillac Memorial Gardens in Westland, Mt. Hope Memorial Gardens in Livonia and United Memorial Gardens in Plymouth. The Michigan Attorney General's office filed an injunction against Smart in 2006 removing him as the operator of the Michigan cemeteries and putting them in the care of a conservator.

People who have already purchased services (plots, care) will not see an interruption in their contracts.

Convalescent, Rehab Center wins Award of Excellence

Westland Convalescent and Rehab Center recently received the prestigious Michigan Award of Excellence for Improving Care in the Nursing Home Setting from MPRO, Michigan's Quality Improvement Organization.

Westland Convalescent and Rehab Center received the accolade for working to improve the quality and safety of care in high-risk areas and for chronic pain identification and management.

This marks the first year that MPRO has honored skilled/short-term rehab facilities statewide that are actively engaged in quality improvement initiatives.

Recipients of the Michigan Award of Excellence showed notable improvement in quality measures designated as national health care priorities by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

Merrilee Spry of Westland Convalescent and Rehab Center led specific departments to spearhead improvement using verified evidence-based practices to spur better outcomes. Nationally recognized standards were used to assure that consistent care and protocols were carried out to realize notable improvement in care and satisfaction.

On April 26, MPRO honored Westland Convalescent & Rehab Center for its quality improvement efforts at a special ceremony was held at the Eagle Eye Golf Club in Bath, Mich.

ARTHRITIS IN MULTIPLE JOINTS

If you have arthritis in many joints, with each joint needing attention, how will your doctor proceed?

Bilateral knee arthritis is the most common occurrence of multiple joint impairment. If both knees require replacements, the orthopedist usually replaces both knees at the same operation. In turn, the best way to undertake the bilateral knee replacement is to operate on both knees at the same time; your orthopedist replaces one knee and another orthopedist does the other knee.

The advantage to this approach is that you are under anesthesia only as long as would be needed for a single replacement. Also, replacing both bad knees at once makes rehabilitation more efficient. Your regimen is not held back by having to step and bear weight half the time on an impaired joint.

In instances when you have a bad shoulder or hand and a hip, knee or ankle requiring surgery, the hand or shoulder operation comes first. The reason is that you need a good grip for rehabilitation of a hip or knee replacement as holding on to hand rails or a walker will be a vital part of lower limb rehabilitation.

In the leg, an ankle needing reconstruction takes precedence over a bad hip or knee. You need reasonable ankle or foot mechanics before knee or hip motion can proceed.

With 40 years of experience in joint replacement, the orthopedic community has ample experience in judging what joint comes first when multiple joints need replacement.

Corporations prosper; workers get squeezed

"Right to Work for Less" people at the Mackinac Center for Public Policy and various Chamber of Commerce are again hacking at unions with policy positions that are largely misleading. It is axiomatic with these groups that unions are undesirable because, in some instances, wages make them a costly condition of employment. Unions are monopolistic and coercive. They should be voluntary.

Al Churchill

In essence, they say, unions are driving employers to other states.

An independent study done by the Center for Automotive Research found that the hourly wage of UAW members at the end of the current contract, including benefits and overtime, will be around $66 per hour. On the other hand, aside from the burden of health care costs, non-union transplants have comparable costs. What is never mentioned by "Right to Work for Less" advocates is productivity in the form of added value. In the domestic automobile industry, $292,000 in value is added to production by each employee. Compared to the average $73,000 of value added nationally, $292,000 easily justifies a paycheck that allows for a diet beyond grits and bacon grease.

Market share loss has occurred, in part, because there are more choices available to consumers. It is a natural economic phenomenon that what was once a Big Three oligarchy will lose customers to increased competition.

Beyond that, the location of new plants has followed the population shift to the South. Indeed, incentives come only after a regional site search establishes a location. Southern states are offering incentives packages that are 70 percent more than states with established plants. They lean heavily to infrastructure changes, employee screening and recruitment rather than tax abatements. Less competition for skilled workers, freight and utility costs are also a primary concern.

Union labor costs are a non-issue. On the other hand, there are times when monopoly and coercion are useful and appropriate. Patent and copyright laws create socially acceptable monopolies intended to protect intellectual property of creative people and groups. Without patents, there is no incentive for drug companies to research life-saving drugs. Without copyright laws, writers would not be compensated adequately for their creativity. These governmentally induced monopolies are, oh my, coercive in the same sense that law generally is coercive. Obeying the law is not a voluntary activity. Not paying your income tax isn't going to be greeted with an "Aw shucks" from the Internal Revenue Service. Indeed, the intent of American law is to create widespread fairness and civility. Prohibiting monopolies and laws that achieve that end is not good public policy.

Ask those who favor "right to work" laws if they would do away with legal monopolies created by patent and copyright laws. The answer, of course, will be "no." Then ask why labor unions should not have the same right to protect their members through a collective bargaining process that removes a gigantic imbalance of power tilted toward management.

Contrary to what the Mackinac Center and Chambers of Commerce say, American citizens would benefit if more people joined unions.

Here's why. Comparing the "free trade" situation today with Japan's earlier entry into America's market, Morgan Stanley chief economist Stephan Roach notes this distinction, "Today you have a different situation, with profits at record highs and the share of income going to labor at a 40-year low ... today, U.S. companies, as seen through the lens of corporate profitability, are thriving as never before while the American workforce is increasingly isolated in its competitive squeeze." The Economist, perhaps the most pro-business magazine in print, states that the United States "risks calcifying into a European-style, class-based society."

It is noteworthy that 42 percent of members of the House of Representatives who left office in 1998 became lobbyists, according to a report by Public Citizen, 50 percent of senators, ditto. With some elected representatives likely casting votes with an eye on their next job, Congress is now an apprenticeship on the way to journeyman status as financially lucrative lobbying shops. The end result is trade deals and other legislation that leave America's workforce hopelessly unprotected, while those with monopolistic copyrights and patents have ironclad protection.

Fact is, we are in the middle of the second Gilded Age, with an attendant disparity in wealth and power characteristic of the first Gilded Age.

One way to fight back is to unionize. Unions are among the very few fighting for people who have a cup of coffee and toast in the morning before going to work and contributing to America's well-being. The alternative is to watch an American democracy become a historical aberration, a pause between the passing of a hereditary European aristocracy to a moneyed global aristocracy.

Solidarity and strength for American working people is found only in America's unions.

Investors need to know cost to buy, sell or hold an investment

I read your weekly column that talks about the five tips for picking a mutual fund. You indicate to watch for fees. When choosing a no-load, no-transaction fee fund, what would be considered an acceptable fee? What would you suggest to be the maximum number of funds in a portfolio to limit the affects of fees?

First, with regard to the maximum number of funds, I do not believe there is a magic number. There are so many variables involved when establishing a portfolio such as goals and objectives and comfort level that I believe it is impossible to say how many funds someone should own. For example, someone may not feel comfortable having more than $10,000-$15,000 in a fund. If that's the case and if they had $45,000 to invest, there is no problem having four different funds. From a fee standpoint, when you use no-load, no-transaction fee funds, it is rare that having more or less funds will impact the fees in your portfolio. The exception to the rule is that in some fund companies, if you have a large amount of money invested in one fund, i.e. $100,000, then it is possible to qualify for a different class share of mutual funds that would have a lower management fee. The area where owning less funds makes a difference is when you use commission-based funds. There are more break points so if you invest more in one fund, you potentially do pay a lower commission.

Money Matters

As more investment opportunities arise, it does require investors to diversify a portfolio by adding different types of funds into the mix. For example, adding an international real estate fund to provide further diversification and take advantage of certain opportunities is wise.

Don't focus on the number of mutual funds in a portfolio. Aim for a diversified and balanced portfolio to achieve your goals and objectives.

In regard to fees, my general rule is total management fees of 1 percent or less. The exception is in international and specialty funds. In those types of funds, you typically will pay higher management fees. For those types of funds, I typically look for total management fees of less than 1.5 percent.

When it comes to management fees, I look at the bottom line number. One ingredient is to consider whether a fund has high 12-B-1 fees. These are marketing fees that companies sometimes tack on. If a fund charges 0.25 percent or less on a 12-B-1 fee, then it generally means the money collected is paid back into the fund. On the other hand, when you see high 12-B-1 fees, anything over 0.25 percent, you generally know that that money is being used for marketing purposes, including additional compensation to financial sales people.

I believe investors must always understand the cost of an investment. Know what the costs are to buy, sell and hold. Understanding these ingredients can make the difference of literally tens of thousands of dollars extra in your portfolio. Fees do matter. My question pertains to required minimum distributions for IRAs. My mother turns 70 on July 12, which means she will be 70½ in January 2008. Does she take her first RMD by April 15, 2008, and is that the only RMD she will have to take in 2008, or does she take her first annual distribution by April 15, 2008, and have to take another by Dec. 31, 2008?

Unfortunately, our tax laws are confusing and difficult which can lead to the situation where two qualified individuals have different opinions as to the state of the law.

Your mother will turn 70 next week and 70½ in 2008. Technically, her first required minimum distribution would be by April 15, 2009. The law says that required minimum distributions are due when you are 70½, however, there is an extension of time on that due date for your first required distribution. You are allowed to take your first required distribution by April 15 of the year after you turn 70½.

The downside of following this provision is that if you wait until the year after you turn 70½ to take your minimum required distribution, then another distribution is due by Dec. 31 of that year. In other words, in the situation where you delay your distribution until April 15 of the year after you turn 70½, then in that year only you must take a double distribution.

My recommendation is to have your mother take her first required minimum distribution by Dec. 31, 2008. She will not have to take another distribution until Dec. 31, 2010.

Senior citizens must have an overall game plan regarding required minimum distributions.

Many people believe that you should not touch your IRA before 70½ so that you can continue to let it grow tax-deferred.

I don't necessarily agree with that strategy at all times. For example, I sometimes have someone begin to withdraw money from his/her IRA when they first retire. This may keep them from paying exorbitant taxes down the road when they must take distributions. Remember, money outside the IRA grows at a capital gains rate which is a maximum of 15 percent. Money in the IRA does grow tax-deferred, however, when it is withdrawn it is taxed at the ordinary income bracket, which for most people is approximately 28 percent and can be as high as 35 percent. Therefore, sometimes deferring money only increases taxes.

When someone retires, he/she should begin to set forth a game plan on how to handle a tax-deferred account. There is no one strategy that works for everyone. The key is to have a strategy that works for you.

Hawks thumped by Cleveland in 1st W-League loss

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The Fourth of July fireworks apparently didn't quit exploding Thursday night as the Michigan Hawks Women got scorched in W-League soccer action by the host Cleveland Internationals, 6-1, at John Carroll University.

Under-21 National Team player Danesha Adams, who plays for UCLA, scored four times for third-place Cleveland, which improved to 5-2 in the W-League's Midwest Division of the

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Central Conference.

It was the Hawks' first defeat in the W-League. The are 6-1-1, a game behind the first-place Minnesota Lightning.

Cleveland also featured two other Under-21 National Team pool players in Amanda Cinalli (Notre Dame) and Jessie Rostedt (University of Virginia), each tallying a goal.

"It's a tough loss for sure," said Hawks assistant coach Amanda Wallo, who was filling in for head coach Doug Landefeld.

"They have the three U-21 players who play up-top. She (Adams) is quick. She broke through our defense and made it look easy. And we normally have a strong, tight defense. Hawks goalkeeper Kathryn Cumming found herself at the mercy of Adams' one-on-one attacks.

"Our defense did the best they could, but Danesha did a great job of playing and dribbled right through," Wallo said.

Northville's Lauren Hill (Michigan State) tallied the lone goal for the Hawks, who get another crack at the Internationals beginning 7 p.m. this Friday at Livonia Churchill High School.

"It was a tough loss for the women," Wallo said. "We'll chalk this one up to experience. We'll move forward and learn from our mistakes."

The playing field for this Friday, however, will be more level as Adams and Cinalli will be away with commitments to the U-21 National Team in the Nordic Cup (being held in Finland).

"It will make for an interesting game," Wallo said.

As Art Linkletter would attribute: "Kids Say the Darndest Things."

Fourth-round draft pick A.J. Davis found that out Friday as the Detroit Lions Youth Football Camp closed Friday at Plymouth's Central Middle School.

Davis, a defensive back from North Carolina State, fielded questions from 106 campers, who weren't adverse to asking the darndest things.

Here's a sample: "Do you think Jon Kitna could throw the ball over the roof of the Silverdome?" Davis was at a loss for an answer.

"Are you famous?"

Davis replied: "Just a little bit."

"Did you play any other sports?"

Said Davis: "I ran track and

And then there was this one.

Michigan Bucks continue PDL mastery

BY DAN STICKRADT
STAFF WRITER

MEN'S SOCCER

Teams within the Premier Developmental League have been trying to crack the codes of solving on just how to beat the Michigan Bucks.

They have been trying for a year now - and counting.

The Bucks toppled the Chicago Fire 2-1 Thursday night at Toyota Park in Bridgeview, Ill., to run their franchise league unbeaten streak up to 19 games. The Bucks (8-0-3 in league games this year) have not lost against another PDL team since July 9, 2006, a 2-0 loss to Chicago. The Bucks have now defeated the Fire on three straight occasions, twice this year and once last year in the PDL playoffs.

"We're just rolling right now," admitted Bucks head coach Dan Fitzgerald, whose team finished second in the Great Lakes Division of the PDL to the Fire last season. "We've got a solid group of 15-16 players and we've only had a couple of minor injuries, nothing major. That's been a key."

Super-sub Kenny Uzoigwe continued his hot streak with his third game-winning goal of the season, coming off the bench at halftime to deliver some more heroics in the 86th minute.

"He's just so quick," said Fitzgerald of Uzoigwe. "We usually bring him on at halftime or early in the second half. The other teams don't usually sub their central backs, so with Kenny fresh in the second half, he causes problems for the other teams when they're getting tired."

The Bucks would strike first in the 19th minute against their arch-rival when Ty Shipalane (Lindsey Wilson) blew by two defenders and sent a cross along the six-yard box that was neatly slotted into the back of the net by Bucks leading scorer

Future basketball stars invade at AAU nationals

BY DAN STICKRADT
STAFF WRITER

There's going to be some company in the area this week. Young, but good company.

The AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) will host its U-15 Boys Basketball National Championships with Lake Orion serving as the epicenter of the event, which is being held in conjunction with the Detroit Metro Sports Commission. The tournament will run July 10-15.

"This is the second straight year that this has come to the Detroit area, and that's pretty good company because it's never easy bringing these types of events in," said Kurt Kosmowski of the Kosmowski Group, a marketing and public relations firm that is promoting the event for the DMSC. "This is the second year that we've helped with this event. It's kind of a warmup for future events we hope to bring into the area."

The AAU tourney is expected to bring in close to 2,000 players, coaches and parents of teams from more than 30 states. There are 92 teams officially registered as of Friday. In past years, the event has served as a decent draw of basketball junkies wanting to gain a sneak peak of future collegiate stars today.

There will be even more this year. The AAU tourney is now a sanctioned event with the NCAA, which will allow college coaches to attend to view potential prospects. College coaches will still not be allowed to talk directly to student-athletes until July 1 before the start of their senior year, meaning it will be July 2009 until college coaches can talk to anyone in this age group.

In past years, several rising stars have made appearances at the AAU tournament in Oakland County. In 2000, current Phoenix Suns standout Amare Stoudemire played with a Florida-based team that participated in games at Lake Orion, which will have three courts going through the first four days of the event.

Other sites in the area include the Lake Orion CERC building (the old high school adjacent to the current high school), along with Scripps, Oakview and Waldon middle schools in the Lake Orion district. Additional games will also be played at Lutheran Northwest High School in Rochester Hills.

"I think what might help draw people is that this event is sanctioned, which allows college coaches to attend the event," Kosmowski said. "That was not the case last year. I expect there will be plenty of (college) scouts there this year."

As for spectators, it's a chance to see tomorrow's stars today.

"You look at these rosters and five or six years from now, some of these guys will be tremendous college players or maybe even pros in the future," Kosmowski said. "There is already one kid from Ohio, Jared Sullinger, who has made a commitment to Ohio State. These kids are only going to be sophomores in high school, but there are some very talented kids playing in this tournament. It's worth checking it out."

Several other of the top 100 rated players in the Class of 2010 age group, according to a variety of national recruiting sources, are expected to play, including some from Michigan. Among that group are Christian Vaughn (Saginaw HS), Jonathon Horford (Grand Ledge HS) and Patrick Lucas-Perry (Grand Blanc). Other top prospects from Michigan include Mohamed Conde (Belleville HS), Juwan Howard Jr. (Orchard Lake St. Mary's) and Evan Webster (Orchard Lake St. Mary's).

Rosters, brackets and schedules with times and locations of the tournament can be found on the DMSC's Web site at www.detroitssports.org/events.

"We'll have some of the best in the country here for this age group," Kosmowski said.

CAMP

est 191 pounds, told the campers he always dreamed about playing in the NFL.

"It wasn't about the money or the fame," he said. "I just love the game. I still feel like I'm playing a little kids' game. I'm living proof you don't have to be big, but I'm fast (he's clocked a 4.28 in the 40-yard dash). I'm just trying to remain humble and I'm thankful I have the opportunity to play. It's a blessing to play in the NFL."

Davis, who comes from a football and track family, has two cousins in the NFL (Jamal Brooks of the St. Louis Rams and Don Davis of the New England Patriots).

He got his first exposure to football through a camp in his hometown of Burlington.

"I went to a lot of them and I just loved it," Davis said. "I was bad when I started. I was an offensive lineman. I had to toughen up. Then I was a flanker. I also played quarterback and receiver. I went through the passing leagues. As far as technique for this age group (6-14), it really starts here, the little fundamentals, the footwork you get down that lasts a lifetime. It's also about having fun."

The Lions conduct 12 summer youth camps throughout the state. The cost is $159 for 14 hours of instruction.

"We got two days of offense and two days of defense," said

Lions Youth Football Camp director Chris Fritzsching gets his players together.

Chris Fritzsching, Director of Detroit Lions Youth Football. "We go with position groups. We don't try to give them too much, just understand the game more. We give them a taste of every position that they can take with them wherever they decide to play in the fall."

Canton's Kyle Cameron, 12, goes to Discovery Middle School and plays running back. He picked up some valuable nuggets from the Lions Youth camp that he can use this fall with the Plymouth-Canton Steelers.

"I learned you never give up and keep your eye on your goals," he said. "Always listen to the coaches because if you don't listen, you'll mess up in the games. It's all about mental toughness."

It's too early to tell if Kyle Cameron will become the next A.J. Davis, but Fritzsching is glad he has the forum to make a difference, not only through his 12 summer camps, but year-round programs.

"We have different 11 programs," Fritzsching said. "We do school assemblies. We have our Lions Leaders for Life. We do football education, coaching education and character education."

The Lions tap into different markets around Michigan each summer, but plan to return again next year to Plymouth.

"We've had this camp (Central M.S.) four years now and it's always active, high energy, and the bottom line is that they're having fun doing it," Fritzsching said.

Davis, meanwhile, is getting ready for the rigors of the NFL training camp, which is just weeks away.

He calls the Allen Park complex: "Top of the line."

"I like it," said Davis of his new surroundings. "Being from North Carolina and going to school there, this is my first time being away from home. I've only been back twice, so I must be getting pretty comfortable here."

And how about one more question? This was probably the most perplexing of all to the rookie DB.

"Who is the worst player on the Lions?"

Davis obviously danced around that one: "I really can't say. Everybody there has got to be pretty good."

(The next Lions Youth Football Camp in the area is July 23-26 at Lake Orion and July 30-Aug. 2 at Detroit's Ford Field.)

OUTDOORS

will boost them into the FLW Tour's Forrest Wood Cup Championship, Aug. 2-5 in Arkansas.

In FLW Tour tournaments, professionals and co-anglers (amateurs) are randomly paired each day. Co-anglers fish from the back of the boats against other co-anglers. Pros fish against other pros. The top 10 amateurs and top 10 pros, based on an accumulative weight from Thursday and Friday, advance to fish on Saturday.

Weights are wiped clean and the co-angler champion is crowned following the weigh-in on Saturday night. Pros return to the water on Sunday for one more day of competition. Anglers also earn points for their finish in each of the FLW Tour events and the top 50 to 55 in total points at the conclusion of the six tournaments, advance to the championship in Arkansas.

Entering the Chevy Open, Ferguson is in 62nd place in the point standings and Long is in 71st.

"This is the most important tournament of the year for a lot of people who are trying to make the championship," said Ferguson, who runs Art of Fishing Guide Service (586-531-2821) when he's not competing. "I'm right on the bubble. I'm 62nd in points and the top 50 to 55 will advance to the FLW championship. I need a top 50 (finish) in this one to qualify for the championships in August. Of course, you always want to win it, or to finish in the top five." Ferguson, who fished his first tournament 28 years ago and has been a full-time pro since 1990, fishes in four professional series, including the FLW Tour, FLW Eastern Series, Stren Midwest Series and the BASS Southern.

He's had his share of good luck fishing his home waters, finishing in the top 10 twice, including a third-place finish in an FLW Tour event in 1999.

"It's on my home water, so I have no excuses," said Ferguson, who is sponsored by Marathon Oil and Kars Nuts. "The (week) leading up to the tournament I'll be out there trying to learn some new stuff to combine with what I already know. Your home water can be an advantage, but sometimes it can hurt you, too. Sometimes you'll be fishing (a pattern) you know will work, but if it doesn't you can be reluctant to make a change."

The tournament is equally important to Long, who is in his second year of fishing the FLW Tour.

"This is a big one for me," said Long, who runs Longcast Guide Service (888-536-3474) when he's not fishing in tournaments. "I've had three good finishes this year so far and two bad finishes. After all is said and done, I'm in 71st place, so I have a pretty good shot at making the cut. I think with a top-30 finish I might make it, and with a top-20 I'll probably make it for sure."

Long, who is sponsored by BF Goodrich, Evenrude and Ranger, agrees with Ferguson that it can sometimes be difficult to fish your home waters.

"I'm glad we're here. I love to fish at home, but to be honest, I've done better on waters I'm not so familiar with. (For the Chevy Open) I'll have to keep an open mind and fish with blinders on as far as past history."

Anglers will take off at 6:30 a.m. each morning from the Elizabeth Park Marina in Trenton. Thursday and Friday's weigh-ins also will be held at Elizabeth Park Marina beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday's and Sunday's weigh-ins begin at 4 p.m. at the Cobo Center in Detroit.

FLW Outdoors is hosting a free Family Fun Zone and outdoor show at the Cobo Center from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The event includes a meet-and-greet with pro anglers, new fishing products, and fishing-themed games and rides for kids.

The first 300 children ages 14 and under to attend the event on Saturday will receive a free FLW Outdoors hat. The first 300 children ages 14 and under to attend the Family Fun Zone on Sunday will receive a free rod and reel combo. On Sunday, a member of the audience will also win a free trip for two to Hot Springs for the $2 million Forrest Wood Cup championship, and a chance to win a $53,000 Ranger Z20 bass boat and a Yamaha outboard. Participants must be present during the 4 p.m. weigh-in Sunday to win.

Coverage of the Chevy Open will be broadcast on FSN (Fox Sports Net) on Aug. 26 and Sept. 2 as part of the "FLW Outdoors" television program.

Bill Parker covers the outdoors for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Contact him c/o Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009.

Wishes on Wheels

The Foresters Group, along with Compuware Corp. and Credit Union ONE, have teamed up for a common goal when they embark July 27 on the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan 300-mile bike ride throughout the state. Team WOW (Wishes on Wheels), with over 80 area registered riders, is striving to raise a total of $100,000 to grant wishes for children who suffer from life-threatening medical conditions. This year's Team WOW will be riding for 19-year-old Lyz Schultz of Grosse Pointe Woods, who was diagnosed in Dec. of 2005 with Acute Lymphoblastic/Lymphocytic Leukemia (ALL). Currently undergoing chemotherapy at the Van Elslander Cancer Center, Lyz is a student at Macomb Community College. Prior to her diagnosis, Lyz was a goalie on the Grosse Pointe South High girls lacrosse state championship teams (2005-06) and rowed for the Blue Devils girls team at the former Detroit Boat Club (Belle Isle). Among the riders for Team WOW includes Kevin Degen, who lives with cerebral palsy. His determination and enthusiasm continue to inspire the entire team. The Foresters (Branch Benevolence of Livonia) hopes the community will match the $650 it has already pledged to sponsor Degen. Recently, the Foresters' (Branch Arrowhead) Fran Teeple (front row, center) presented Compuware's chief administrative officer, Denise Knoblock-Starr (top row, second from right), with a check for $12,800. Also joining in the efforts are (front row, from left) Tom Hutson, Fran Teeple and Howard Teeple, all of the Foresters; (back row, from left) Tom Hutson (Foresters), Krista Snow (Compuware), Amy Casey (Credit Union ONE), Gary DesChenes (Foresters), Starr and Tom Anderson (Compuware). If you would like to help Team WOW reach its goal, visit www.wishmich.org. BUCKS

Khelli Dube (Coastal Carolina).

Dube's ninth goal of the season would not hold up into halftime as Chicago won a goal-mouth scramble in front of Bucks goal netminder Steve Clark (Oakland), who made two fine saves before the third rebound was put by him by Chris Jackson for the 1-1 tie late in the first half.

With the win, the Bucks (27 points) move further ahead of the Fire (6-3-4, 22 points) in the eight-team Great Lakes Division with the season sweep of Chicago. The Bucks are one of only three unbeaten teams of the 63 clubs in the PDL.

"I think we pretty much have it sewed up," said Fitzgerald. "We would have to fall apart not to make the playoffs. I think we might start resting some guys to get ready for the playoffs. Other teams come out and play us hard every time."

What's up with Webkinz?

Sophia left for camp today, entrusting me with the care of her 1-week-old Persian cat. Over the next three days, I must feed my 7-year-old's kitten, give it love, and make sure it takes a few spins on its skateboard. Quite a to-do list for a stuffed animal.

But Princess is no ordinary plush. This fur-ball has a virtual persona as well. In cyberspace, Princess can jump on a trampoline, eat popcorn, and cheer for Sophia as she plays games to earn so-called KinzCash, with which she'll buy cute kitty clothes and, undoubtedly, more popcorn.

My two kids recently purchased Webkinz pets — the super-popular, super-hard-to-find toys that come with a secret code used to register at Webkinz.com. It's easy for kids to fall head-first into Webkinz World, I've discovered. And their parents aren't far behind.

I have a friend who, after tucking in her kids for the night, logs on to their Webkinz accounts and cleans up their toys. Their virtual toys. In their virtual rooms. I teased her — until I became a Webkinz Mommy myself. Now I've given enough thought to these $12 toys to have compiled a pro and con list. First, Things I Don't Like About Webkinz:

■ The Entire Premise Is Materialistic. Almost everything kids do on the site earns them KinzCash, which they must save and spend on things their pets want and need. On the one hand, I appreciate this early lesson in capitalism. (Watching 5-year-old Jackson set aside funds for a virtual swimming pool gives me hope that 16-year-old Jackson won't fritter away his entire McDonald's paycheck on dollar store miscellany when he's actually saving up for an iPod or iCar or whatever iThing Apple will be selling in 2018.) But it seems a sad reflection on society that a pre-K kid should be indulging in retail therapy.

■ Greed Is Encouraged. I assumed that once each kid had a Webkinz, we'd be set for life. But one pet equals one year of membership. When that year is up, the child's account is deactivated — unless he registers a new pet. With each subsequent adoption, kids get more KinzCash and finer welcome gifts. There are not-so-subliminal messages everywhere on the site encouraging multiple acquisitions, such as, "Adopt a new Webkinz. You can never have too many furry friends — or too much KinzCash!"

■ It's Addictive. And not just for the kids but for their mom as well. I test-drove several games — all in the name of research for this column, of course. Two hours and multiple Solitaire sessions later, I had accumulated a few hundred in KinzCash for each kid but felt a little sheepish about the whole thing. Especially when my husband remarked, "You're on fire over there; do you have a story due tomorrow?" and I had to admit I'd actually been playing Lunch Letters, a speed-typing game.

■ But then there are Things I Like About Webkinz:
 ■ The Parental Propaganda. Jackson's pet utters missives such as: "It's good to know how to swim!" and "Healthy food makes me happy!" He seems to take these nuggets of wisdom more seriously when they're exclaimed by an adorable black bear rather than droned by a grouchy mother.

■ Readers Are Rewarded. The great majority of material presented in Webkinz World is written rather than spoken. My pre-K son is quickly accumulating words he recognizes by sight, and Sophia is keeping her skills sharp this summer not just during her turns but also as she helps her brother navigate the site by reading aloud to him.

■ It's Safe. Once a child logs on, Webkinz World exists in a self-contained window that doesn't include an address bar — meaning younger ones can't accidentally end up in unsavory sections of the Internet. What's more, the site is designed to keep personal information such as e-mail addresses, hometowns and even names private.

■ Inspires Imaginative Play. One day, Webkinz World was down for repairs. Although initially disappointed, Sophia redirected her enthusiasm. Instead of decorating her pet's online rooms, she got motivated to build a cardboard house for her plush Webkinz. Cost: 0 KinzCash!

Rebecca Kavanagh is a Farmington Hills freelance writer who interrupted the creation of this column to log on to Webkinz.com so she could earn a bonus spin on the Wheel of Wow for her daughter, who couldn't do it herself because she was too busy having a life. ## Yankee Air Museum is hub of activity

Dick Sprague raises his right arm signaling the pilot to start the B-25 bomber. Sprague was part of the Yankee Air Museum crew that spent hundreds of hours replacing then testing the number 2 engine in time for the public to purchase rides on the World War II era aircraft during Thunder Over Michigan. The event features performances by the Blue Angels U.S. Navy Aerial Demonstration Squadron Saturday-Sunday, July 7-8, at Willow Run Airport in Belleville. Proceeds from the performances and rides in the B-25 and B-17 go toward a fund to rebuild and expand Yankee Air Museum.

Like the mythical bird the Phoenix, the museum is rising from the ashes after the 1941 hangar housing vintage aircraft was destroyed by fire in October 2004 at Willow Run Airport. Earlier this week, Hangar 2 was a hub of activity. The museum is temporarily located in the hangar.

"The B-25 Bomber is the only Model D still flying in the world," said Sprague, 80, of Livonia. Sprague used his skills as a master modeler for Ford's Design Center for 38 years to build the bomber's machine guns. "This is the first flight since changing

A GOOD PLAN

Bob Paul is as anxious about putting up a new hangar for the museum's historic aircraft. Paul, a 64-year-old Garden City resident, worked seven days a week to change the B-25 engine. Over the last two years he helped restore the bomber's tail. A member of the museum since 1996, Paul served in the Marine Corps and was crew chief on the F-4 Phantom and A-4 Skyhawk tsunami and Hurricane Katrina disasters, Hurricane peace, and the Lake George, New York, boat tragedy that killed 21 people including Charles and Louise Greenwald of Livonia in October 2005. The Greenwalds were longtime volunteers with the Michigan Jazz Festival. The first track, Unexpected Passings, is dedicated to the victims. Beautiful, lyrical selections definitely convey peacefulness throughout the CD.

"Why global peace? I've spent almost 40 years on concert tours in Europe, guest conducting choral concerts, teaching in South Africa. I've seen a lot of problems and difficulties in the world. I've been concerned and committed to having people understand each other and it evolved into this new album project," said Tini, distinguished professor of music at Wayne State University. Tini returns to Europe the day after the festival for a three-week tour with Soave. He performs 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, at a B'jazz Vespers concert at First Baptist Church at Willits and Bates in Birmingham. "Throughout the world we're not viewed as positively as in the past. I became part of the music relief effort in South Africa in 1992, bringing textbooks and equipment. I'm trying to use positive ways to use music to inspire peace and a more cohesive existence."

Tini took on the challenge of organizing Playing with the Pros at the request of Eileen Standley, a professional pianist and jazz festival volunteer. The session takes place 3:30-4:30 p.m. on the Inmart/CRH stage in the Presentation Room of the VisiTech Center. Bob Harsen (drums) and Jeff Halsey (bass) join Tini in welcoming Matt Ryan, bass, of Livonia and saxophonists Evan Pedder of Troy and Victoria Williams of Detroit to the stage.

"I'm a past president of International Association for Jazz Education so I was all for it," said Tini. "The idea was they're going to come up and give us the music to play with them. It's going to be a performance clinic and they're going to be featured playing with a trio. The whole process is going to unfold before the audience right in the moment. It's going to be spontaneous and creative."

Festival goers of all ages can learn about jazz as well at the hourlong Cohen/Steinway Jazz Cafe educational sessions featuring Buddy Budson, Bess Bonnier, Alma Smith, Bob Seeley, and Taslimah Bey, beginning at 12:15 p.m. Tini shares the concept for compositions on his new album 6:15-7:15 p.m. More than 215 musicians perform a variety of jazz styles from noon to 9:15 p.m. including the Johnny Trudell Big Band, Los Gatos, Chris Collins Trio & Jazz Harp, World's Oldest Sax Section, saxophonist George Benson and his quartet, Tom Saunders Detroit Jazz All Stars, Jerry McKenzie's Just Jazz, Jim Ryan Trio, and the Richko/Keller/Siers Trio with a tribute to Oscar Peterson. The Schoolcraft College and Wayne State jazz lab bands also perform at the 13th Michigan Jazz Festival which takes place on five stages and is free.

"It's a fantastic festival," said Tini. "They've really worked hard to feature Michigan, Detroit area artists. The venue they've chosen makes it easy to hear on the various stages."

Lynne Standley is especially excited about seeing her 14-year-old son, Matt, play with a professional trio. Matt and brother Brendan volunteer at the festival every year.

"He loves jazz," said Lynne Standley. "He was accepted in Wayne State's Jazz Week, a new initiative with the Detroit Jazz Festival (Labor Day weekend). He's at Blue Lake (music camp) until Sunday night. This is his second year in the jazz program there."

Eileen Standley is equally as proud of her grandson, Matt Ryan. Eileen has been playing show tunes and jazz professionally since the 1970s. She taught classical piano for 20 years.

"I suggested Playing with the Pros because I love young people," said Eileen Standley of Plymouth. "Two-thirds of our audience is over the age of 50. The festival committee agreed to give me one hour and I called instructors looking for exceptional students. They did their own arrangements. They will call the tune and set the tempo and its their tune but there will be no rehearsal. We want to show other people that the Michigan Jazz Festival is interested in educating the public about the music and being able to educate young musicians. I would have loved to have had that experience."

Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six Mile and Seven Mile, Livonia. For more information, visit michiganjazzfestival.homestead.com or call Midge Ellis at (248) 474-2720 or Eileen Standley at (734) 459-2454.

MUSEUM

jet attack aircraft.

"It's a good plan for the museum," said Paul. "It's just going to take some time to get money."

Dick Stewart estimates the entire project will cost more than $100 million and take at least 15 years to complete. An official groundbreaking for a temporary visitor center and classroom located in an about to be restored school house took place April 16.

Stewart as museum president is working with Prentice Co. museum consultants in Illinois, URS (Grand Rapids) and Quinn Evans (Ann Arbor) architects, and Exhibit Design Central (Illinois) to come up with plans for the 12-building campus by the year's end.

A concept drawing features the main museum, galleries, historic aircraft hangar and restoration facility with machine shop, visitor reception building with corporate offices, theater, aviation theme restaurant, banquet facilities, and aerospace charter high school.

A private individual has donated $650,000 for the restoration of the Willow Run School House built in 1938 by Henry Ford for workers' families and kids who attended Camp Ford for disadvantaged and at risk youth who would then go on to trade school. Stewart expects work to begin in the next 90 days and continue to early winter.

"A classroom will be used for educational programs. We now go into schools to teach kids about aviation history through the Wright Flyer Program," said Stewart, a Vietnam veteran. "We're partnering with Eastern Michigan University for the education program and school districts and the state to update all of our programs. We want to let kids know what really goes on with aviation and what it took. Our main museum is going to tell the story. President Roosevelt called this the arsenal of democracy."

Stewart says plans call for reproducing Henry Ford's Willow Run bomber plant during World War II. Many Michigan companies took part in the war effort as plants changed over from making cars to aircraft. An influx of people came up from the South to work in the plants, creating a melting pot of peoples.

The museum will educate visitors about the Victory Gardens, the drives for rubber, gasoline rationing, the sacrifice of people at home and the Boy Scouts who delivered messages for civil defense.

Gallery buildings will tell the stories of pilots and aircraft mechanics with exhibits of tools, equipment and uniforms. The history of aviation continues through the space program. Stewart refers to the overall concept for the museum as Moments in Time.

"We're going to have our historic aircraft in building No. 1. Hopefully we can get someone to donate the steel for it. That's 75 percent of the cost. One company has already donated landscaping for the campus. Someone else has promised a steel roof for the school house," said Stewart. "About 300 volunteers give their time on a fairly regular basis. Almost $1 million of volunteer hours were donated last year."

A TON OF HISTORY

Doug Duff of Amherstberg, Ontario, comes twice a week to volunteer as a B-25 crew member with Paul and Sprague. He explains the crew is testing number 2 engine to check for extreme temperatures and rattles.

"For every one hour flown, we have about 10 hours of maintenance," said Duff. "It costs about $40,000 for a typical engine rebuilt. This plane saw combat in Corsica with the 340th Bomb Group of the 12th Air Force in the Mediterranean. After the war it was used for training in Canada. The new museum is dedicated to veterans of World War I and World War II, Vietnam, Korea, all of the veterans of all the wars. There are a lot of air museums in the U.S. but Yankee is an international museum. This area has a lot of history. Willow Run built B-24s during World War II, GM built Bearcats. There's tons of aviation history."

"And it's one of the few museums that you can touch the airplane and take them into the (B) 25," said Paul.

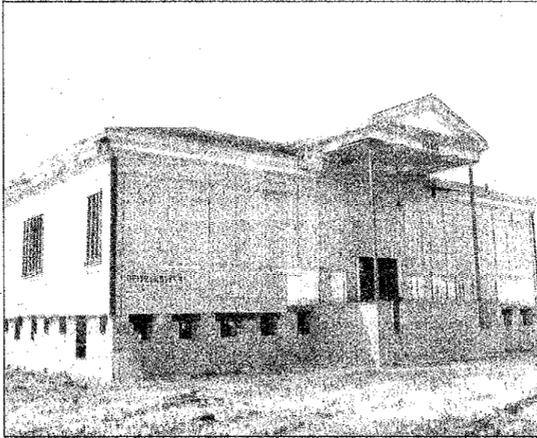

"It's a live museum," added Duff. "We work, restore and fly the aircraft."

Humane Society launches Cat Independence Days

With cat intakes at record levels, the Michigan Humane Society (MHS), the state's largest animal welfare organization, is adopting a cutting-edge program to place more cats in responsible, loving homes.

Dubbed the "Cat Independence Days" program, the Michigan Humane Society is launching an initiative that will waive the adoption fee for cats age six months and older for a limited time.

"The 'Cat Independence Days' program is cutting-edge with the specific design to generate awareness regarding the severe and ongoing cat overpopulation problem within our communities," said Mike Robbins, director of marketing and communications for the Michigan Humane Society. "By bringing attention to the significance of the issue and the reality that cats make great companions, we're optimistic that we, as a community, will create more good homes for these fantastic four-legged friends."

Throughout "Cat Independence Days," MHS' same thorough adoption process will take place to ensure each cat is placed in a loving, responsible home. Adoptions will still include the same great adoption package: sterilization surgery, age-appropriate vaccinations, a medical check-up, the Michigan Humane Society 10-day health plan and much more.

MHS' adoption fees help cover a portion of the costs MHS incurs while caring for an animal - including shelter and food, medical treatment, sterilization surgery, vaccinations and much more. The adoption rates have never been a reflection of the value of an animal, as no price can be put on the lifetime of love and devotion a companion animal provides.

Regarding the financial impact of the "no cost" adoption, Robbins added, "Without doubt, the funds from our modest adoption fees are critical in supporting MHS' programs and services, but right now finding homes for more cats is paramount. In turn we will need the support of our concerned citizens more than ever."

Cat overpopulation in our communities is a concern many animal care organizations throughout southeast Michigan face every spring and summer season. Last year, almost 20,000 homeless cats and kittens were sheltered and cared for by the Michigan Humane Society.

Ultimately, the "Cat Independence Days" program is the first major step in a series of MHS initiatives designed to aggressively address the cat overpopulation problem within Michigan.

"Even with the success of this program, we cannot adopt our way out of the overpopulation problem. Education, sterilization and the overwhelming support of our communities are critical components to long-term success," Robbins concluded.

To help more cats find loving homes, MHS encourages the community to visit our three metro Detroit adoption centers, or visit www.michiganhumane.org to meet their potential new furry family member. MHS adoption and veterinary centers are located in Detroit at 7401 Chrysler Drive; Rochester Hills at 3600 W. Auburn Road; and Westland at 900 N. Newburgh Road.

All three adoption centers are open Saturday/Sunday/Monday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

If you are unable to open your home to a new family member, MHS needs your support. To help support the "Cat Independence Days" program and help more cats find loving homes, call 1-866-MHUMANE, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or visit www.michiganhumane.org.

In plein air

Artists use paints, pastels to capture scenes in the out-of-doors

BY SHARON DARGAY
COMMUNITY LIFE EDITOR

Jan Davison of Oakland Township chose oil paint for her canvass and sunblock for herself while painting in a Traverse City vineyard two weeks ago.

"The thermometer registered 102 degrees," Davison said. "We do have umbrellas that they make to hang over our easels. You have to work fast and you have to bring sun lotion and hats and mosquito repellent."

Bug sprays, sun guards, umbrellas — it's all in a day's work for a plein air painter, like Davison. The retired Avondale High School art teacher is among professional and amateur artists who often prefer to trade the comforts of their studios for the unpredictable climate outdoors.

Plein (pronounced "plain") air painting is a French term meaning painting from life outdoors, according to the Great Lakes Plein Air Painters Association (GLPAPA) Web site. It says a true plein air painting is completed from start to finish on site, in a few hours.

Davison, a member of the GLPAPA, also paints twice weekly outdoors with friends and recently worked on site at Van Hoesen Farm in Rochester Hills during the community's garden walk.

"On Tuesdays, I have a group I paint with. I meet with artist friends and we go to Cranbrook or Meadow Brook (Hall) gardens or Van Hoesen Farms," she said. "The group I meet with on Thursday is called Company of Art. We do still life and plein air."

Davison also paints portraits and figures with other professional artists on Mondays at Margot's Gallery in Oxford.

Her Thursday group will show their works beginning Monday, July 9, through the end of the month, at the Birmingham Corporate Training and Conference Center, 31301 Evergreen, Beverly Hills. The show will include portraits and plein air works. She and others also the summer during the 30 years she taught high school art, but couldn't devote as much time to her art then as she does now.

■ Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association A seven-session plein air painting class wraps up July 14. A class for independent professional artists and for those developing their own aesthetic, runs Monday-Friday, Aug. 13-17. Cost is $185 for members and $225 for guests. The group will travel to a different location each day. Artists work in the dry or wet medium of their choice. will paint on site during Scripps Days, Sept. 21-23, at the Scripps Mansion, in Orion Township.

"We like to paint in the early morning or late afternoon. The idea is that it's a quick sketch and the aim is to finish in two hours because the light changes too much after that. We learn to do gestures, which is fast, capturing the essence of what is there," Davison said.

"When you're out-of-doors, you get the true dimension. Photographs flatten things and doesn't show true values and colors."

The out-of-doors also offers "fresh air, smells and ambiance" that artists don't find indoors. Although Davison doesn't work outside in the winter, some of her friends don "big boots and hand warmers," to set up easels in the snow.

Retired Avondale High School art teacher Jan Davison paints outdoors at Van Hoesen Farm in Rochester Hills. Davison, one of several artists who painted outside during a community garden walk on June 21, regularly paints on location with a handful of friends.

"We're trying to capture realistic perspective and light. Once you paint something outdoors, you never forget what it looks like," she said. "I love to do gazebos. There's something romantic about a gazebo. You can picture yourself just sitting there and reading a book." She encourages artists of all skill level to give plein air a try. A basic painting or drawing class with instruction in perspective will help the beginning artist get started.

Davison also offers these tips:

■ Make sure the location permits on site painting. Davison and her friends, for example, call Meadow Brook Hall before setting up easels in the mansion's gardens.

They buy a garden pass to paint at Cranbrook to paint on site.

■ Consider safety. "I've painted in downtown Detroit and the Eastern Market is a good place to paint in the morning, but by 2 p.m., everyone is drifting away," Davison said.

■ Remember to take bug spray, a hat, umbrella, sunblock or other items for a more pleasant experience.

■ Consider obstructions, such as foot traffic and cars, that might appear during your painting session.

■ Enjoy the setting. "It's fun to watch people walk by. Some try to ignore you and others will come right up and ask, 'Do you mind if we look?'"

Fibromyalgia experts offer advice on managing mysterious syndrome

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Twenty years ago, Sharon Ostalecki went from doctor to doctor trying to find out what was causing her to hurt all over. Her decades of research since then resulted in the new book, Fibromyalgia - The Complete Guide from Medical Experts and Patients, published by Jones and Bartlett this spring.

Ostalecki called on physicians including pain specialists, physical therapists, psychologists, fibromyalgia patients, and her background as a nutrition counselor to assemble the medical resource for others who suffer from the syndrome. Ostalecki eventually received a diagnosis and found help for the fibromyalgia causing her muscle pain and fatigue. In addition to editing the book and writing chapters on self-management, nutrition and healing, Ostalecki stays busy scheduling speakers for the H.O.P.E. (Helping Our Pain & Exhaustion) support group she founded. The lectures continue in September at the Farmington Hills Public Library. A documentary on the disorder is scheduled to be released by the non-profit H.O.P.E. in early 2008.

"The purpose (for the book) was to help people. The lectures reach only a portion of people suffering with fibromyalgia," said Ostalecki. "I've received e-mails from as far away as England and Australia about the work. It's written at an understandable level and you don't have to read the book from cover to cover. You can read a certain chapter that pertains to you. Everyone with fibromyalgia is different. Every picture on the cover represents one of the issues I had."

Muscle and joint pain, insomnia, chronic headaches, forgetfulness, depression, back pain, fatigue, tingling, intestinal problems - fibromyalgia causes a variety of symptoms throughout the body. Ostalecki says people with fibromyalgia have to be their own advocate to find relief. She practices yoga and walks nearly every day.

Stretching the muscles is important for fibromyalgia patients to relieve the knots or trigger points that develop when a muscle contracts and fails to release causing pain. She recommends exercising, but cautiously. It took a year for Ostalecki to go from walking two to three minutes a day to 50 minutes daily. The routine helped calm her flare-ups from sitting at the computer 10 to 12 hours a day when writing the book.

KEEP MOVING

"My advice is to stay with a routine. Go to sleep at the same time. Get up at the same time. I have to move all the time," said Ostalecki. "They have to work with their doctor. Pick one or two problems at a visit. Try to help yourself. Get your sleep under control. I'm using hypnosis and meditation to help calm down. Medication is also available for sleep. Once sleep is under control people with fibromyalgia hurt less."

Diet can affect fibromyalgia patients as well. Ostalecki says while refined carbohydrates like sweets and munchies are soothing when people are in pain, she suggests avoiding treats in favor of a high protein diet rich in lean meats, tofu and beans, and high in complex carbohydrates. She recommends 60 to 90 grams of protein a day to fibromyalgia patients, but persons with a kidney disorder or cholesterol problem should consult their physician.

Ostalecki refers to Dr. Joseph

Meerschaert as a pioneer in the treatment of fibromyalgia so it was only natural she asked the retired physiatrist to write the introductory chapter with Peter Ianni, a pain psychologist in Farmington Hills. As a physiatrist, Meerschaert specialized in the diagnosis and nonsurgical treatment of pain at Beaumont Hospitals in Royal Oak and Troy where he was chief of physical medicine and rehabilitation. Meerschaert began treating fibromyalgia patients in 1970. Then as now it remains a mystery as to what causes the syndrome.

"We've found out more in the last five to 10 years than the years before that. We believe it's a central nervous system disorder," said Meerschaert of Troy. "It has been around forever. German literature reported it in the 1880s and called it different names. In 1993 the American College of Rheumatology published a list of

When Meerschaert began treating patients, about all he could do was write prescriptions for sleep and pain medications.

"Research is finding medications like anti-convulsant medication we never expected to work," said Meerschaert. "The theory is that the central nervous system is hypersensitive to pain. Originally we used medications to help patients sleep, Elavil, anti-depressants, pain management."

Rob Leider credits Meerschaert for diagnosing the cause of his pain and treating the trigger points with injections. The 56-year-old Bloomfield Hills resident suffers with post-traumatic fibromyalgia resulting from a 1986 automobile accident that left him with a head injury, broken bones and memory problems. At the time he was a high school drama teacher. Leider later went on to become the West Bloomfield High School principal before retiring in August 2006. In fall of 2005 he took a two-story fall that caused more broken bones which exacerbated the fibromyalgia.

Michigan Eye Doctor Helps Legally Blind Woman to See Again

Dr. Sheldon Smith helps those with low vision to enjoy daily activities like reading and driving.

By Elena Lombardi

Low vision is defined as vision that cannot be corrected with regular prescription glasses or contact lenses. For most people, low vision means they cannot drive or do daily activities like reading a newspaper. With specialized treatment people with low vision can get back to doing the things they enjoy.

Michigan Optometrist, Dr. Sheldon Smith helps people who have lost vision from macular degeneration and other eye conditions. Just like looking through a pair of field glasses or binoculars, telescopic glasses make things look bigger, closer, and much easier to see.

"Many of my patients consider me the last chance to help their vision," states Dr. Smith.

Macular degeneration is the most common eye disease among the senior population. Twenty five percent of people over 65 years of age have some degree of degeneration. When the macula, a small part of the retina, degenerates it leaves a blind spot right in the center of vision making it hard to recognize faces, read a book, or pass the driver's vision test.

The cause of macular degeneration is unknown. However, it has been shown that Dr. Smith's Patient with Bioptic Telescopes for Driving.

UV light from the sun, smoking, poor nutrition and aging are contributing factors. In addition, 15% to 20% of macular degeneration cases have been shown to be genetic.

"People don't know that there are experienced doctors who can help them with low vision care," says Dr. Smith. "My job is to figure out anything and everything possible to help a person see at the best level possible."

Valerie Bassett, 79, a music teacher and church organist from Essexville, Michigan was turning down music students because she could not see the music from the teacher's position. Dr. Smith fit Valerie with telescopic glasses with an adaptor to read music. "Now I use my glasses to participate in worship service, sing hymns and read the bible. I can read music. It's wonderful to be able to see again. I have a new lease on life!" says Valerie.

There are as many low vision devices as there are various activities. Bioptic telescopes help some people continue driving, while special prismatic glasses can help for reading and other hobbies. Devices range in price from $500 to $2,500.

"Every situation is unique. Each person's level of vision varies and every patient has different desires," states Dr. Smith. "Our ultimate goal is getting patients doing those things they most wish to do. The impact on quality of life and independence is remarkable."

Dr. Smith has offices in Livonia, St. Clair Shores and the Lansing area. To see if low vision care can help you or your loved one call Dr. Smith today at Suburban Low Vision.

HDL helps mental function

Dave from Ferndale e-mails asking about HDL, the good cholesterol. What are the benefits of keeping his good cholesterol high?

Well Dave, high HDL cholesterol could help fight Alzheimer's disease. A new study found high levels of HDL, the good cholesterol, appears to help preserve mental function in older people.

Now it is just the opposite if you have high levels of LDL, the bad cholesterol. Scientists learned some damage from Alzheimer's comes from deposits of sticky protein in vital areas of the brain. They found people with high levels of LDL or bad cholesterol have more of these proteins and have an increased risk of developing Alzheimer's.

To keep your cholesterol in check, you should avoid saturated and trans-fat foods. Make sure you fill your plate with lean meats, fruits and vegetables.

Nancy from Howell e-mails saying she doesn't seem to have any energy. Is there anything she can do?

Fatigue is one of the most common reasons adults head to the doctor. Numerous studies found people who go to the doctor complaining of fatigue have suffered with it for a while, anywhere from six months to several years. Fatigue can be caused by numerous things, including stress, depression, inactivity or a bad diet, but there are things you can do to get your energy back.

First, eat a well-balanced diet including protein, fruits, vegetables and whole grains. Make sure you are drinking enough water. Some 75 percent of Americans suffer with dehydration. This can lead to depression, mood swings and fatigue. You should drink eight glasses a day. You also need to exercise! Even if you feel too tired, get up and get moving. It is one of the best ways to fight fatigue!

If you have a health or fitness question you would like answered in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, e-mail Peter through his Web site www.peternielsen.com. Contact him Peter Nielsen's Personal Training Club in West Bloomfield or Nielsen's Town Center Health Club in Southfield.

FIBROMYALGIA

walks daily to alleviate the pain in his upper back, arms, neck, and head. He wrote the chapter on a male fibromyalgia patient's perspective.

INTENSE PAIN

"In 1986 things hurt and it was hard in the beginning to know what it was because I had so many physical injuries from the accident," said Rob Leider. "I got to Dr. Meerschaert and he identified it. The pain from the fibro became so intense. Between the brain injury and living in 24-hour pain it kind of makes you crazy. I continually invented new ways to keep going. When you're constantly busy it doesn't bother you as much as when you're still. I had to laugh at the seriousness of what was going on or fall apart crying. There was no other way to survive it. Coping with humor and keeping yourself busy is the key to it. If you give up you're finished."

Fibromyalgia patients referred to Dr. Sander Paul of Huntington Woods could possibly be on their way to reducing their distress. In many cases, fibromyalgia symptoms overlap those of hypothyroidism and adrenal insufficiency. An endocrinologist at Beaumont Hospitals, Paul says he can usually make a fibromyalgia patient feel 20 to 30 percent better by treating the hypothyroidism or adrenal insufficiency.

"Every person with fibromyalgia deserves a workup for hypothyroidism and adrenal insufficiency," said Paul. "Fibromyalgia is a diagnosis of exclusion. A person diagnosed with fibromyalgia may have adrenal insufficiency or hypothyroidism related to fibromyalgia."

Paul has already begun recommending the self-help book to patients with fibromyalgia.

"I think it's a good resource," said Paul. "Sharon addresses a lot of the issues such as does nutrition and acupuncture work? People with fibromyalgia are desperate to get help."
