Longtime city retailer T.J. Maxx to close

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland department store T.J. Maxx will close in mid-January, ending a 28-year run as the city faces another business loss amid a lingering economic slump.

Annamarie Farretta, spokeswoman for Framington, Mass.-based parent company TJX Inc., confirmed Thursday that stores in Westland and Warren will likely be shuttered early next year.

"We can confirm that we expect to close our T.J. Maxx locations in Westland and Warren sometime in mid-January; approximately 65 (workers) are affected, mostly part time," she said in a company statement.

Westland's store is located in the West Ridge Shopping Center on Warren east of Wayne.

The latest closing deals another blow to the city's core retail district, although Westland Shopping Center has weathered the economic storm.

T.J. Maxx will be added to a list of mall-area vacancies including Service Merchandise, Sam's Club, Quo Vadis theater, Denny's restaurant and the old Best Buy. Mayor William Wild has pledged that his administration will step up efforts to try to lure new tenants.

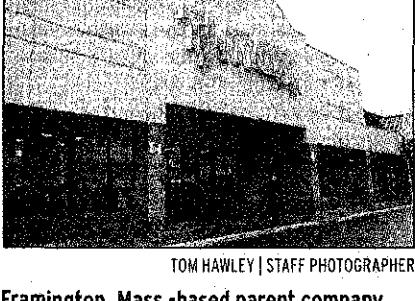

T.J. Maxx will work "diligently" to try to transfer as many Westland and Warren workers as possible to other store locations in Livonia, Novi, Troy and Bloomfield Hills, Farretta said.

Other options, depending on years of service, may include severance packages and "outplacement services" designed to help laid-off employees find other jobs, she said.

"We look forward to continuing to service the metro Detroit market and at this time are not expecting to close other T.J. Maxx locations in the area," Farretta said.

Store brings merchandise to customers

The Dollar Tree at Westland Crossings has a new motto when it comes to residents at the Westland Convalescent and Rehab Center: Have merchandise, will travel.

The store at Warren and Central City Parkway brought selected merchandise to the center last week, letting residents like Esther Alexander do some holiday shopping.

"I like it," she said, "especially since I cannot get out."

"Honestly, it was amazing," said assistant store manager Amanda Coffey who worked the sale with her mother, Vicki Cummins, who also is a Dollar Tree cashier. "The residents were so happy. One lady told me she hadn't been out shopping in five years."

Bring the store to the residents was the idea of the center's events planning committee. Member Cathy Horton and Judy Bianchi, the center's marketing manager, visited the store and selected items suitable for the elderly shoppers.

Westland Convalescent and Rehab Center resident Esther Alexander buys Christmas presents from items brought to the center by the Dollar Tree.

"We had two huge carts full of items — socks, scarves, note cards, greeting cards, crayons, pencils, pens, coloring books, children's toys, stuffed animals," said Bianchi. "It was nice because it allowed the residents to purchase gifts for their families."

"They picked so much stuff that we couldn't fit it all on the tables, we had to sell down and then restock," Coffey said.

Career Tech named center of excellence in engineering, science

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland's William D. Ford Career Technical Center is flying high after learning that it's one of seven "educational communities" to be honored by the Convergence Education Foundation as a 2007 Center of Science and Engineering Excellence.

"Isn't that just the coolest thing," said Center Principal Ginny Kowalski. "I always knew we were good. I always knew we did cool and great things here."

The award "celebrates the success of projects, focused on engineering, science or math, implemented within local educational communities" and was presented to the William D. Ford Career Technical Center, Garfield Elementary School in Flint, Huron County Intermediate School District, Macomb Academy of Arts and Sciences in Armada, Regina High School in South Euclid, Ohio, Traverse City Central High School and University High School in Ferndale.

"The seven educational communities we are recognizing have each demonstrated their dedication to bringing unique, project-based learning opportunities to the hundreds of youth they serve," said Karl Klimek, the foundation's vice chairman and project orchestrator.

The foundation board of directors came up with the award after tests results from the Program for International Student Assessment showed that U.S. students are lagging behind their peers in other countries in science and math.

Meals on Wheels seeks volunteers

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Wayne County program that delivers hot meals to homebound seniors urgently needs volunteers, particularly in Westland and Redford.

"In Westland, we actually have six people waiting for service because we don't have anybody to deliver to them," said Carol Scott, Wayne County Senior Services manager.

To volunteer for the Meals on Wheels program, call (734) 727-7357.

The county provides 2,800 hot meals a day to homebound seniors 60 and older who can't fix their own meals due to physical or mental disabilities, Scott said.

Seniors may make donations to the program to offset costs. Volunteers, including one 90-year-old Redford man, use their own transportation to deliver hot meals between 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. In some cases, cold lunches are brought along for weekends.

The county has a kitchen staff that works overnight to prepare the meals, which are distributed through 41 nutrition sites throughout Wayne County.

"Westland and Redford are the areas where we really need volunteers right now," Scott said, "but we could use them everywhere."

Volunteers in Westland deliver meals from the senior Friendship Center on Newburgh near Ford, the Kay Beard Building on Michigan Avenue near Merriman and St. Bernardine of Siena Church on Ann Arbor Trail near Merriman.

In particular, the county needs volunteers to deliver meals from St. Bernardine, Scott said.

Redford meals are delivered from the Redford Community Center on Hemingway.

In all, Meals on Wheels volunteers deliver 260 meals a day in Westland and 130 in Redford, Scott said.

Aside from providing hot meals, the program also provides a safety net by having volunteers check up on homebound seniors.

"It means that somebody checks on them every day," Scott said.

Volunteers have to pass a background check, have a good driving record and "just have a good heart," she said. "It is a lot of work, especially in the winter when it's snowing."

Volunteers also have to agree to help out one day a week, delivering meals to 15 to 20 seniors. They get paid 36 cents a mile.

Some volunteers have complained that their mileage expenses haven't increased along with rising fuel costs.

"If we paid more for mileage," Scott said, "we'd have to serve less meals."

Franklin focuses on reading, writing skills

BY REBECCA JONES
STAFF WRITER

Under the new graduation requirements, there's no room to fall behind, said Franklin High School principal Dan Willenborg.

Parents of ninth-graders who failed one or more class this fall were invited to learn about "a fight worth fighting."

"This is serious stuff right now in ninth-grade," Willenborg said in a report to the school board Monday, during a presentation about the school's improvement plans.

More than 100 parents and students in attendance were given homework tips and taught how to use the Parent Internet Viewer to keep track of grades between progress reports and report cards.

It was the first time the program was offered.

Freshmen are also paired with upperclassmen through the Patriot Relate program to help make their transition to high school smooth, Willenborg explained.

Those are just two programs he highlighted at the school board's committee meeting, held at Franklin. It was the first of three school improvement presentations that the board will hear this year.

The 1,863-student high school recently received its second straight "C" under Michigan's school report card system.

Franklin's goals, under the North Central Accreditation process are to improve students' writing abilities and reading comprehension, said David Bjorklund, chairman of the school improvement team.

To that end, and to help standardized test scores, teachers in all classes have students read passages, charts and graphs, and summarize what they read. Twice a year, all students are also assigned to write timed essays that not only argue a point, but refute counterarguments.

Tests in other departments give students regular exposure to the types of questions that are asked on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program, Michigan Merit Exam and assessments like EXPLORE and PLAN, which are precursors to the ACT college entrance exam.

Franklin's scores have come in near state averages, but recent reports show the school posting passing rates that surpass the state's in social studies, math and language arts.

"Our performance goal is to score consistently above state averages on standardized tests," Willenborg said.

A higher percentage of advanced placement students are passing AP exams (54 percent last year compared to 43 percent the previous year), said Spanish teacher Lynn Massucci, a member of the school improvement team. In addition, the makeup of the study body is changing. The number of minority students increased from 6 percent two years ago to 13 percent last year.

Getting prepared for the annual Christmas Day dinner hosted by St. Dunstan Catholic Church are Susan Massey (left), director of Christian Service, Judy and Bruce Larry, coordinators of the dinner. For many years, the church has hosted a Christmas Day dinner for people who would otherwise be alone on the holiday. The dinner is free but advance registration is required.

A 'home' for the holiday

St. Dunstan serves dinner for those alone on Christmas Day

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Judy Larry is working hard to get out the word that St. Dunstan Catholic Church is hosting their usual Christmas Day dinner for people who would otherwise be alone on the holiday.

A volunteer at the dinner for more than a decade, this is the first year Larry and her husband, Bruce, Westland residents, are coordinators for the Christmas dinner.

"We get elderly folks who call and say they are so happy that we're doing this even with all the troubles we've had — they are just so gratified," said Judy Larry, a member of the parish since the church was built in 1958.

"I don't get too emotional with the elderly people but this lady called and went on and on about how she appreciated it so much," added Bruce Larry.

The troubles are the June removal of longtime St. Dunstan pastor the Rev.

Donald Demmer amid what the Archdiocese of Detroit called financial irregularities at the parish. That has triggered protests by parishioners seeking Demmer's return.

Garden City Police have sought a warrant against a former employee over more than $100,000 missing from the parish. Additionally, $1.4 million is owed due to employee federal withholding being unpaid for five years.

Despite all the turmoil at the parish this year, there really wasn't any question about continuing the holiday tradition that draws 150 or more people for food and holiday companionship.

"With all the trials and tribulations since June, we tried for some normalcy. We love doing it (the dinner)," said Judy Larry, adding parishioners are fielding a full slate of volunteers to cook and serve the meal.

"We have to continue our ministry. It's our faith and our beliefs that keep us going," added Susan Massey, St.

Dunstan Christian Service director, whose program helps provide food and students to help at the dinner. "There was no hesitation about continuing the dinner with all the turmoil. It's such a wonderful project to have here. It is such a welcoming day."

Since the dinner is for people who would otherwise be alone on Christmas Day, the guests are predominantly senior citizens. Along with notices in bulletins at area churches, Judy Larry said she has also faxed fliers to area senior housing complexes.

"Some of them will come decked out like New Year's Eve and others will be casual. People come from all over the place," said Judy Larry. "People come and stay for the duration to socialize."

Each year, parish members

Al and Donna Spiteri spend weeks thawing, cooking, slicing and refreezing the many donated turkeys needed for the Christmas dinner. Individuals and businesses donate items for the dinner, which is served by members of the parish, as well as provide cash contributions.

"We never say no to a donation," said Judy Larry, adding some donors wish to remain anonymous while others ask where their names will be listed.

The Larrys took over the dinner coordination duties from Mary and John Shurge, who had been in charge for a number of years.

"They retired after many years. We really thank them for their dedication," said Judy Larry. "A lot of people volunteer year after year."

Over the years, Judy Larry recalled making a lot of mashed potatoes for the Christmas dinner working with kitchen supervisor Monica Dubiel.

"She's our kitchen angel," Judy Larry said.

There is no cost for the Christmas Dinner, but advance reservations are required by calling (734) 595-3049. St. Dunstan is located on Belton, the second street west of Inkster Road, Take Belton south from Ford and it will dead end at the church.

Oakwood throws party for students, families

There will be a party going on Wednesday, Dec. 19, at Lincoln Elementary School in Westland as Oakwood Healthcare stages its sixth annual Caring for Our Kids holiday party.

Once again Oakwood is focusing their efforts on the Lincoln and Jefferson-Barns Schools Healthcare Clinic families. During the celebration, children will have the opportunity to share their wish lists with Santa, enjoy a magic show, holiday crafts and face painting.

ing. More than 70 families will receive a food basket with 30 items to take home and share with their loved ones. Gifts for the more than children will include a hand-made fleece blanket, pajamas, mittens, hats, socks, slippers, underwear, towels, books and toys.

The Caring for Our Kids program is funded by contributions from Oakwood employees through the Combined Giving Campaign and the Oakwood Foundation. Last year, Oakwood employees "adopted" 96 families of the Lincoln and Jefferson-Barns community and provided gifts to 219 children.

Since the program's inception five years ago, Oakwood employees have donated more than $150,000 in food and gifts, 15,500 volunteer hours and $39,000 in cash to assist nearly 800 children and their families who are in need of assistance.

Community rallies around injured shop owner

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

"Phenomenal."
That's the word Jill Gaudet is using to describe the response from the Wayne community to a call for help a gift shop owner who was stabbed numerous times during a robbery Dec. 11.

"Kim (Loveless) called to express how overwhelmed she is with the outpouring of support from the community," said Gaudet, the Wayne Chamber of Commerce executive director in an interview Friday. "She wants to express her heartfelt thanks."

The chamber is serving as a collection point for the names of business and community members willing to volunteer their time at the shop once it reopens, quite possibly next week. It's been closed since last Tuesday evening when Loveless was attacked by a man as she was closing the shop on Wayne Road just south of Glenwood.

Loveless was forced back into the shop by the man who stabbed her and took her purse before fleeing the store. She was treated at Oakwood Annapolis Hospital in Wayne before being transferred to University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

According to Gaudet, the lifelong Wayne resident "is doing very well," but will remain hospitalized a few more weeks.

"This very definitely hurts being closed at this time of the year," said Gaudet.

Gaudet said the names will be given to Loveless and her husband, Brad, who will determine who will work at the shop. Those people will be contacted, but Gaudet isn't sure who will handle that.

A fund-raiser also is planned for Wednesday, Dec. 19, to show support for the couple and collect donations for the Kim Loveless Fund. The event, which includes food, starts at noon and runs through the evening at the Wayne Community Center, 4635 Howe.

The money will go toward a reward being put together by the business community. People with information can call the Wayne police at (734) 721-1414 or through Crimestoppers at (800) SPEAK-UP.

Gaudet added that donations to the Kim Loveless Fund can be dropped off at the chamber office at 34844 W. Michigan Ave.

"The community is outraged by this," Gaudet said. "We're trying to get the word out that this isn't tolerated here. We're also coming together to show support for the Loveless."

For more information or to volunteer, call the chamber at (734) 721-0100.

The honorees have to be current or formerly funded by the foundation, demonstrate a clear focus on engineering, science and/or math, have the support from school staff and administration and have measurable, positive academic and social growth of students and staff as a result of this program. They also had to clearly communicate the foundation's primary mission of fostering cutting-edge of engineering in education.

The William D. Ford Career Technical Center is a long-time Convergence Education Foundation partner. It was a participant in the foundation's innovative design vehicle program and won several awards — the Convergence Education Foundation's Vehicle Performance Award and Ambassadorship Award and the 2007 Excellence in Practice Award from the Michigan Department of Labor and Economic Growth's Bureau of Career Education Programs for the student-built Thunderbolt II IVD.

The designation honors the center for its creation of an engineering curriculum with hands-on projects ranging from rocket development to participation in the IVD program as well as the Ambassadorship program, which sends high school students to middle schools to inspire kids to attend college and pursue a career in engineering.

Kowalski credits school social worker Sue Wilk with initiating the partnership with the Convergence Education Foundation and the IVD program. Wilk wanted "another way to connect with the students." She worked with teachers J.C. Irvine, Oracle Academy, Zach MacLean, electronics, and Jim Schirmer, auto technology, on the two-year project.

"We owe this all to them, they were the core group, and Sue was my cheerleader," said Kowalski. "She coordinated the whole money piece. She's the heartbeat of the group."

The center is already started working on its second IVD car which will be built on a golf cart frame and will be powered by a hydrogen cell, she added.

"We are doing some amazing things here," said Kowalski. "I wasn't surprised we, but I'm pleased because it gives us more visibility."

The foundation will present the award to the center at the Wayne-Westland school board's Jan. 14 meeting.

The "store" was tables set up in a square in the center's dining room. Shoppers lined up early hoping to be the first one. The hottest items were crayons and coloring books, so much so that they had to go back to the store for more crayons, Coffey said. Many residents came back several times, she added.

Bianchi estimates that 50 residents, family members and members of the staff took advantage of the shopping.

Coffey said snacks were popular with the staff.

"I run the school Santa shops, but working with the seniors is different, but seeing the smiles on their face made it all worthwhile," she said. "It was wonderful. It was a great experience. We had one resident asked if we'd be back again before Christmas."

Bianchi would like to do it twice a year — in the spring and before the holidays.

"Absolutely, we'll be doing it again," she said. "We weren't sure what to expect, but it turned out nice. It was quite successful."

Grad, 76, realizes nursing degree dream

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

It's never too late to pursue a dream. Just ask Lillian Anderson.

The 76-year-old Coldwater resident joined 47 other Madonna University nursing graduates Thursday at a pinning ceremony at Laurel Manor. Anderson delivered the keynote/inspirational speech and was honored with the writing award and the O'Neill Award for Humanistic Nursing for her compassion and caring.

"She was an inspiration to her fellow students," said Karen Sanborn, Madonna's marketing director. "There wasn't a dry eye in the room after she told her story."

It hasn't come easily.

"Ever since I was a kid I wanted to be a nurse, but life got in the way," she said Friday. "When I turned 70, I needed a new direction and some friends sat me down and asked what had I always wanted to do and I said I wanted to be a nurse."

Anderson worked 48 years as a secretary, 20 years at Ford Motor Co., retiring in 1995. She already had a degree from Madonna.

"I had graduated from Madonna with a bachelor's degree in business management. I decided to take business because it tied into my work at Ford Motor Co.," she said. "I thought I was too old to be a nurse, but I guess I'm not."

She actually began her business degree studies in the 1960s but had to put them on hold when her son, Kevin Giedre, was diagnosed with bone cancer. She cared for him until his death at 18 in 1973. She finally earned that first bachelor's degree in 1989.

She registered for Madonna's hospice program in 1991 but never attended classes because her second husband became ill and she cared for him until he died in 2000.

She began the nursing program in 2002 but her daughter

Judy Zammit, had been diagnosed with ovarian cancer. She died earlier this year at age 54.

"She was a 10-year survivor," Anderson said. "She was a fantastic example for so many of us."

Next week, Anderson will be making the long drive from Coldwater to Troy to take Kaplan classes to prepare for the state board exam.

"It's like taking the bar exam, you want to get it right the first time," she said.

Anderson admits she might be too old to become a hospital floor nurse but she is interested in working in hospice care.

"For my emergence, I worked at Angela Hospice, a wonderful place," she said.

"What an inspiration, she is," said Teresa Thompson, dean of the College of Nursing and Health. "It's been a pleasure to watch her grow, and care, and give to so many. She's become part of who we are at Madonna."

At Madonna an "emergence" is a real workplace experience allowing students to emerge into the real work world.

"I worked with a preceptor, Paula Bending, who is the epitome of what a nurse should be," Anderson said.

She is looking into doing some home hospice care when

Hannah mania hits the wall

Pop star's image sells big for Livonia-based Fathead

BY ALEX LUNDBERG
STAFF WRITER

Now that Hannah Montana is scaling the heights of pop stardom, a Livonia firm is ready to give her a prominent place on your tween's wall.

The Disney teen-pop phenom is now the newest offering from Fathead, the Livonia-based company that's been putting NFL stars on rec room walls for the past three years.

Fathead LLC public relations coordinator Megan Tarsha said the line is huge.

"We've got entertainment lines like Family Guy, Simpsons and Star Wars, as well as (comic book) heroes, military and the WWE," she said. "We recently licensed with Disney."

Recently, in this case, means two weeks, and the new Disney line of Fathead decorations includes images from Cars and Pirates of the Caribbean. But little is rivaling the quick sales of the image of Hannah Montana (played by Miley Cyrus).

"Sales are going very well," Tarsha said. "Hannah Montana has become one of the top sellers over the weekend."

Particularly, Hannah is No. 3 as of Monday, Dec. 3, trailing only football players Tony Romo and Tom Brady. It's expected to be a big Christmas seller even at $99.95 plus shipping.

Fathead CEO Brock Weatherup said the company's owner, Dan Gilbert, the man behind Quicken Loans and the majority owner of the Cleveland Cavaliers NBA franchise, bought the company a year and a half ago as a way to capitalize on sports excitement.

Livonia-based Fathead LLC recently added Hannah Montana to its stock of life-sized, wall-hanging images of NFL and NBA stars, Family Guy characters and more.

"It's a unique opportunity to create a new category in wall decoration," he said. "It's cheaper than painting and easier than wallpaper. You can take it down in one room, put it up in another and there's no residue."

The company's bread and butter is still centered around its sports lines with NFL images — Brett Favre and Tom Brady — selling best over the company's history. The company also offers soccer, action sports, NHL, NBA, Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Models and NASCAR-themed decorations.

There's no limit to what's next. Really, since it can apply to anything people cheer about, there's only a question of licensing.

"We're adding more components soon," Weatherup said. "We're working with licensing a substantial portfolio of products."

Boxing, he said, is coming, and without naming names he said the "greatest of all time" is on his way to becoming a Fathead, too.

Tips help keep holidays safe

The holiday season can turn tragic — even deadly — unless people use caution.

With that, the Westland Fire Department has issued some recommendations.

Because a burning tree can rapidly fill a room with fire and deadly gases, officials urge residents to carefully choose and maintain Christmas trees. When you bend a needle between your fingers, it shouldn't break. When you get it home, cut an inch from the bottom to help it absorb water, and mount the tree in a stand designed not to tip. Water the tree frequently.

A 6-foot tree will use a gallon of water every two days.

ach. Call 9-1-1, if a child has ingested a holiday plant.

Keep candles a safe distance from other things. Never use them on a tree, and keep them away from other decorations and wrapping paper.

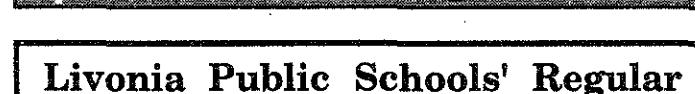

Fire officials recommend fire detectors as Christmas gifts. More than 90 percent of fire deaths occur in homes between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. when residents are sleeping.

Dispose of gift wrappings soon after presents are opened. Don't burn the paper in the fireplace; it can ignite suddenly and cause a flash fire.

Also, use caution when cooking during the holidays. Unattended cooking is the leading cause of home fires in the United States. Don't use ovens or other cooking equipment to heat a home.

Finally, check smoke alarm batteries and replace them if necessary. They should be replaced twice a year. Test alarms once a month by using the alarm's "test" button.

Replace smoke alarms every 10 years. And, have a home fire escape plan.

Livonia Public Schools' Regular Board Meeting of January 15, 2008 has been cancelled, and is replaced by a Regular Meeting of January 14, 2008 at 7:00 p.m.

Free health class
Are you or your children suffering from allergies, digestive problems, headaches, personality changes, or any other unexplained health problems? These problems may be caused from the foods you are eating. Attend a workshop to find out which foods in your cupboard have been "genetically modified." Learn what the long-term implications are from "genetic modification" to your DNA, why buying organic food whenever possible will make a big difference, and why you should think twice before buying the most common snack foods. Dr. William H. Kari, a certified wellness doctor and nutritional expert, will share secrets about genetically modified foods, and provide insights on how they affect your health, at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 19. This workshop will be held at the Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile, Livonia. It is co-sponsored by The Foundation for Wellness Professionals, a non-profit organization. Call (734) 425-8588 for more information and to reserve a seat.

The Barbara Ann Karmans Cancer Institute needs volunteers to transport cancer patients to mammogram and doctor appointments in metropolitan Detroit. Drivers are needed for Macomb and Oakland counties, Dearborn and Detroit. Volunteers must be at least 18. Mileage reimbursement is provided. Call (800) KARMANS to volunteer.

First Step

First Step, which has been active in the effort to end domestic violence and sexual assault in western Wayne County and Downriver communities for more than 20 years, is looking for volunteers. Interested people must be at least 18, willing and able to travel to the Downriver area and complete a 55-hour training program. Call (734) 416-1111, Ext. 223.

Traditions make holidays magical

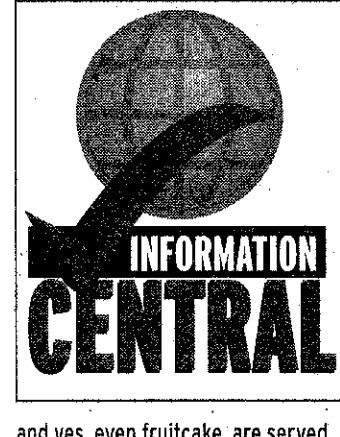

What makes a holiday tradition more special than any other? Traditions are passed down from generation to generation and the holidays seem to be filled with special people, ideas, meals and customs. These may vary from culture to culture or from person to person, but it's what makes the holiday time even more magical.

Traditions can be as simple as going to the Thanksgiving Parade, no matter what the weather, or at least watching it on television and waiting for Santa to arrive. There are the traditional Christmas photos that are taken to be used as the annual card to be sent to friends and relatives near and far. And don't forget that visit to Santa or the Christmas Eve church service.

Even shopping can be considered a tradition. Look at all of the people who get up early in the morning the day after Thanksgiving to try to get that great bargain and then go out again the day after Christmas to hit more sales.

Many people have special ornaments to put on their Christmas tree that remind them of special times and people in their lives. And does it really feel like the holidays until you hear that favorite carol of yours or watch your favorite holiday special on television?

Even what is served as the family meal can be considered traditional. Green bean casseroles, yams, ham, and yes, even fruitcake, are served every year in many homes and it wouldn't be the holidays without them.

The William P. Faust Public Library of Westland can help you continue your traditions or maybe start new ones. Check out the library's holiday music collection for that special carol or maybe some new versions. We have many books on Christmas crafts and holiday meals. There even is a section (394.266) devoted to Christmas and the winter holidays, such as Kwanzaa and Hanukkah, which include how holidays are celebrated around the world.

Have you ever wondered why decorating your house with lights is such a big deal? Take a look at Georgia Skinner's "The Christmas House: How One Man's Dream Changed the Way We Celebrate Christmas." The William P. Faust Public Library is open 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and noon-5 p.m. Sunday. The Library will be closed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, Dec. 24-25, and Jan. 1-4.

Tim Roth, 17, and his mother, Tammy, were helped by The Arc.

Arc eases way for developmentally disabled

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
CORRESPONDENT

Wondering how to steer your children down the right path is agonizing enough and when you add mental disabilities to the mix, the quagmire thickens.

But, for Tammy Roth, a Redford resident with an autistic son, The Arc of Northwest Wayne County helped her find a way through. In fact, more than half the staff members at The Arc have children with mental disabilities.

"We weren't sure where to turn," Roth said.

Her son, Tim Roth, 17, was in the eighth grade and was removed from Hilbert Middle School for behavior problems when she was referred to The Arc. He was being taught at home by a visiting teacher, but Tammy Roth wanted help for Tim to make the transition back to the school.

Tim Roth is extremely high functioning and you likely wouldn't recognize a problem when you first meet him. But, he has difficulty with socialization and reading, said Roth, explaining that Tim is now in ninth grade and earning A's and B's.

"We got together as a team at the school to see what support he would need to make that transition and how we could help him overcome his behavioral issues," Roth said.

The Arc helps around 2,000 people annually and most often provides information about how to access programs in schools and mental health services, as well as entitlements like Social Security benefits and Medicaid, according to Christine Lerchen, The Arc executive director, who is also the mother of a 27-year-old daughter who is severely multiply impaired as the result of birth defects. Lerchen's daughter isn't verbal, but has managed to hold a job for 7½ years and is living in her own condo.

"Our purpose at The Arc is to help them receive services they need to live in the community," Lerchen said. "One of the most important things is providing self-determination to purchase services. They can hire their own staff, pick their own food and people who can help them. Being self determined and having control in their life is important to us."

The Arc has five full-time and three part-time staff.

"And three of us are parents with sons and daughters with disabilities," Lerchen said.

"We're professional and experienced, because we've walked in the shoes of the people we help. Because our staff is knowledgeable and connected, parents really get relief when they call here. They get information they need, they're connected to sources and there's support from our staff."

The Arc serves residents from infants to adults with developmental disabilities in Redford, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton and Northville and is located on Five Mile in Redford.

"In the past people with developmental disabilities were sent off to institutions and their parents were told to just forget about them and there was nothing you could do," Lerchen said. "As time has gone on parents didn't like that decision. Many parents kept children at home and they realized they really needed more help."

The Arc was initiated in 1961 by a group of parents who called themselves the Redford Association for Retarded Children. Over the years that group evolved into The Arc. There are state and national branches, as well.

A lot of programs are offered, including the Just Fun Club, which offers adult social activities.

"It's a wonderful committee of parents who put together a calendar of social events for people and arrange all the outings and dances," Lerchen said. "They can do things in the community like anyone else in their age groups."

The Arc also has an athletic program with 100 volunteers and 200 athletes who compete in the local Special Olympics events.

Lekotek, a program provided by The Arc, is for infants to children 12 years old who meet monthly with their families for play sessions. Families meet with play leaders, who introduce specialized and regular toys. They're also invited to borrow toys they like best. Lekotek also provides free sign language classes.

Another program "After I'm Gone" helps parents and their developmentally disabled child plan for their future. It addresses wills, trusts, housing options and other needs the developmentally disabled people need when their parents die.

"We all need to be self-actualized and self-determined to learn and grow and be the best they can be just like anyone else," Lerchen said.

For more information about these and many more programs offered at The Arc, call (313) 532-7915.

Plan preserves funds for local 9-1-1 centers

A Westland lawmaker joined the Michigan House in passing a plan that preserves funding for local 9-1-1 centers. The plan would ensure that first responders throughout Michigan can act quickly to help residents in life-threatening situations and protect rural communities.

"As lawmakers, we have a responsibility to keep our communities safe," said Rep. Richard LeBlanc, D-Westland, chair of the State Police and Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. "Michigan's 911 call centers must be functioning and reliable and our first responders must be able to act swiftly and appropriately. Oftentimes, a 9-1-1 call is the difference between life and death."

The plan passed by the House last Thursday protects the state funding that helps establish, maintain and operate 911 systems throughout Michigan.

Under the plan, users of any 9-1-1-enabled device – landlines, cell phones and Internet phones – will pay the same user charge of just 19 cents a month. The money will help ensure that counties can operate their life-saving 9-1-1 systems.

The plan requires that counties use all of the funding solely for the purpose of implementing, maintaining and operating their 9-1-1 centers.

"All sorts of emergency situations arise, from crime to health emergencies, and no matter what the circumstance, Michigan's residents must be able to count on a getting a quick response when calling 9-1-1," LeBlanc said.

Maintaining the necessary resources to support our 9-1-1 call centers ensures that Michigan families receive the emergency services they need to keep them safe."

It's time to get into holiday spirit despite noxious fumes t's time to become enthused with the holiday spirit.

I am running late this year because I have been swamped with other issues both at the office and at home. For some inexplicable reason I decided to renovate my bedroom in the shack that I call a home.

The house is nearly 80 years old and has been virtually untouched for most of that time. So I have such charming amenities as crumbling walls and 30 coats of paint on the baseboards. That is especially troubling because the baseboards are the finest thing in the house, as they are large and made up of beautiful old oak.

For the last month I have been stripping them back to their original state and refinishing them. As a result I am now infused with a different type of spirit — chemical paint stripper and vapors from a heat gun.

My goal is to have the job done by Christmas, which is a key reason I will be off next week, and thoroughly immersed in the world of do-it-yourself home repair. And then I will set up my tiny Christmas tree on the dining room table. At least I have that down to a science. I keep the 2-foot artificial tree in a box in the attic until Christmas when I pull it out, already fully decorated, and plop it on the table.

This is very different experience from when I was growing up and each Christmas and we had a giant, allegedly alive, Christmas tree in the living room.

That was mainly due to my father, who loved Christmas. He loved it so much he kept a Christmas tree fully decorated in the basement all year-round. It would start off alive, but by July the needles would become as brittle as glass and the slightest touch would send them falling like raindrops.

The living room Christmas tree only stayed up until Three Kings Day, a week or so after Christmas. But by then it too had been ravaged by dryness and suffered invasions by our cats, which liked to climb into the branches.

It was weird. You would sit on the sofa and get the feeling that someone was watching you. Then you would look to the tree and see a pair of eyes peering at you from among the branches. The cats loved the Christmas tree too. They would often knock it down. My dad would swear at them. They were unimpressed.

My dad tied a ribbon around the top of tree and nailed it to the wall to keep it from falling. It fell over anyway. My two brothers and my sister usually left the house in the care of my ever-patient mother while my dad set up the Christmas tree or did any plumbing around the house.

Every job he did was measured in the amount of God damns. The Christmas tree usually rated four or five. But installing the garbage disposal, whew, that was a whole litany. Yet the disposal was installed and the tree did get set into place, although sometimes a bit precariously.

If all this sounds a little like the movie A Christmas Story, I'm not surprised. I grew up in a house and neighborhood very similar to what was depicted in that movie.

I get nostalgic every time I see it, so much of it hits so close to home. My dad did not have a table lamp shaped like a woman's leg. But he sure would have liked one.

Truth about aborigines

An Observer letter writer wrote, "Personally, I find it a great irony that aboriginal people of North America are being labeled immigrants to this country."

Now I agree with this statement, unfortunately, you received and printed an opinion letter that believed native Americans, aborigines of North America are "not Mexicans, Central Americans ... or even Canadians ..." This is misleading and inaccurate.

Historical facts do identify Indians as the first inhabitants of the North American region and they have occupied it for at least 20,000 years, roaming freely throughout North America for centuries, relocating when the need arose before European settlers came. Many native Americans were nomadic and came from Canadian or Mexican territories to U.S. territories and many native Americans now in present-day Canada and Mexico came from what are now U.S. territories.

Further more The World Book Encyclopedia Volume 4 printed in the United States of America, Library of Congress catalog number 64-7000, defined the following fact: "When Europeans first settled in North America, the largest number of native Americans (aborigines) lived in present-day Mexico and Central America." It also states: "Today many people in these regions have pure Indian ancestry, and even larger numbers are mestizos of mixed Indian and European descent."

These are native Americans, aborigines but because they are born outside of U.S. territories they are labeled immigrants to our country. This is the irony I see that aboriginal people, people of Indian ancestry in North America are now labeled immigrants in lands their ancestors roamed freely for centuries.

Ron Paul is good choice

As you know, the 2008 presidential election is coming up in a year. I believe that electing our next president is a very important decision to make. There are many candidates running, but only two are widely known. I have asked more than 100 students and people of my community who they believe would be the top choice.

Every single one of them drew a blank. Their only response was "I don't think it would be Clinton or Obama." I also asked if they could name a few candidates and only a few could. Others named were Mitt Romney, John Edwards, "that mayor of New York," and to my surprise, John Kerry.

This is a problem. The only known candidates are two unacceptable choices in my opinion. It's not that I feel Clinton or Obama are bad people, but I feel Obama's lack of political experience and Clinton's past as first lady could get in the way of important decision making.

My vote in 2008 is going to a man named Ron Paul. This is my choice through many hours of research. I am not trying to force my opinion of Ron Paul for president on people, but I do feel the lesser known candidates deserve more news coverage. The media is turning a critical election into a popularity contest. This election is for leadership, responsibility and honesty for the future of our country. If you give less attention to the nonsense and more to the candidates, people will be able to make an educated choice. This is a very important subject and I want society to be more aware of it.

I am just 17, soon to be an 18-year-old student who has not yet had to face the harsh realities of the world, but I am concerned for my future. When the time comes for me to face life, I want to be sure it's a world of order and what's right.

I have a message and I will make sure it gets heard. I only ask for your cooperation.

Michael Joseph Van Cott

Don't believe them

With all the job losses and foreclosures in Michigan, most of the mortgage companies are offering to help customers. They say just call and we will work something out. Well, let me tell you, if the rest are anything like ours, don't you believe for a minute that they really care or want to help you.

First you have to give them a complete financial report of all income and expenses, all of it documented, of course, which is understandable. But if your income doesn't meet or exceed your expenses, you are not eligible for any of their help programs. If we had income to cover all of our expenses, we would not need any help, this is totally absurd.

All we were asking for was a three-month forbearance and add those three months on the end of the loan with any appropriate interest, which would be no skin off their noses, if they weren't so greedy. When I get my lump sum payment from SSDI, I will pay everything up to date and never be late, as it was before my disability.

But no, they won't do that because we do not qualify for their program, so now we stand to lose our home of 27 years because my wife who is presently our only source of income has to have surgery. Also, after nine months on the market, we could not sell it either.

So if you're having trouble paying your mortgage, don't believe them when they say they want to help.

Ronald Ross

Tired of Quicken talk

I don't know Dan Gilbert, owner of Quicken Loans personally, nor do I know if he was actually contemplating moving his mortgage company out of Michigan. I have never talked to him about it. I don't believe most of the people that have an opinion about who is responsible for letting him move from Livonia to Detroit have talked to him either. I do know that I'm tired of hearing about it.

Most of the employees will stay with the company because it's a good place to work. I know quite a few that work in the Livonia office and they come from Livonia, Detroit, Canton, Westland, South Lyon, Taylor, etc. Some will be driving a little farther and some will have a shorter drive. Most of them probably stayed on the premises for lunch because it was inconvenient to give up a parking space for that short hour, so nearby restaurants probably didn't get a lot of their business and won't lose much.

The buildings will remain in Livonia, so someone will still have to pay property taxes on them and eventually another business will move in. The decision to relocate was done on Mayor Engebretson's watch and I'm also sure Mr. Kirksey read about the possibility long before it happened just like the rest of us. Why didn't either of them stop it then? The fact remains that Dan Gilbert is moving his company to another Michigan city in three or four years and may have planned on doing that all along. Maybe he was just playing a game with everyone. Enough already!

Fee-only financial advisers avoid conflicts of interest

Dear Rick: I was approached by a financial adviser. He told me that I pay nothing for his services and that he is paid by the different mutual funds to help people like me. I am somewhat suspicious. Should I be?

Your instincts are correct and you have every right to be suspicious. You were really dealing with a financial salesperson not a financial adviser.

All too often, financial salespeople who work on commission do not want to disclose how they are compensated. Mutual funds and other investment companies make it easy for them to hide what the consumer is paying. It appears the person who you are dealing with is a commission-based salesperson. When you invest in one of the mutual funds that he/she is selling, the money comes off the top and goes directly to the salesperson.

When you purchase a commissioned mutual fund, there are two components of the investment, the commission and the amount actually going into the investment. For example, if you invest $10,000 in a 7 percent commission (loaded) mutual fund, $700 goes to the salesperson and only $9,300 of your money is actually invested.

In addition, some mutual funds have 12b-1 fees, additional sales charges assessed on a year-by-year basis through higher management fees. Money comes out of your account in the form of higher management fees and goes directly to the salesperson as additional compensation.

My problem with commissions and 12b-1 fees is they are typically very difficult for the individual consumer to know what they are paying. The mutual fund companies and the financial salespeople do their best to hide these fees from you.

Anyone who has listened to my radio show or read my columns over the years knows I am not a fan of commissions. I believe commissions create a conflict of interest. After all, why do you think companies that work on commissions such as mutual fund companies and variable annuities offer their salespersons sales incentives such as free trips to sell their products? Obviously, they want the salesperson to concentrate on the sale not on proper planning for the individual.

As far as I am concerned, when someone deals with someone in the financial world, they shouldn't be dealing with a salesperson. They shouldn't be dealing with someone whose loyalty is to the investment company instead of the client.

Over the years, I have seen many commissioned people in the financial world. Unfortunately, all too often

Money Matters

whether it is because of pressure from employers or a lack of understanding, there are only concerned about selling products.

On the other hand, there are commissioned salespeople who are up front about commissions and have no problem informing the client how they are compensated. The best commissioned salespeople I know of never worry about commissions. They worry only about taking care of their clients.

Unfortunately, there are too few good commissioned financial advisers.

My firm employees and I recommend fee-only advisers who charge for their services and make no compensation from any product they recommend. When advisers are not burdened by conflicts of interest that commissions create, they can operate for the benefit of the most important person — the client.

Rick Bloom is a fee-only financial adviser. Observer & Eccentric readers can submit questions at moneymatters@hometownlife.com. For more information, visit Rick's Web site at www.bloomassetmanagement.com. You can hear him noon to 3 p.m. Sundays on WDTK 1400 AM.

Spartans post 9th straight win vs. Patriots

Stevenson likely to be No. 1

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The unbeaten Livonia Stevenson hockey team completed an impressive three-day, three-game sweep Friday by earning its ninth straight victory with a 3-0 win Friday over Livonia Franklin at Edgar Arena.

The Spartans, carried 1-0 lead into the third period before senior captain Mike Voran tallied a power-play goal from R.J. Kierdorf and Cole Rochowiak with 5:43 to play to give Stevenson some breathing room. Voran then scored again on assists from Ian Curran and Sean Lerg just two minutes later to put the game away.

Curran, a senior forward, scored what proved to be the game-winner on a four-on-four situation at 6:45 of the second period with Kierdorf and Voran adding assists.

"It's not only tough physically, but mentally as well, but that can't be an excuse," said Stevenson first-year coach David Mitchell, whose team defeated Lake Orion (3-1) and Plymouth (5-0) on the previous two nights. "We like the challenge that it presents, and hopefully it will help us later on in the season."

Stevenson netminder Pat McHugh had to make only 10 saves to record his eighth win of the year. It was also the senior's fourth shutout.

His counterpart on the other end of the ice, Franklin senior goalie Austin Mesler, made several key saves throughout the first two periods to keep it close.

"Austin's a solid four-year goalie no doubt," Mitchell said. "We had our chance to score, but he played very well as he usually does. He's a top-notch goalie."

Stevenson peppered Mesler with a total of 26 shots.

"Our goalie is excellent every night," said Franklin first-year coach Scott Wirgau, whose Patriots stand 3-3 overall. "I'm never concerned how my goalie plays. He surprises everyone, including me, every night."

The Spartans did a good job limiting Franklin's scoring opportunities as McHugh made a nice first-period save on Jordan Chisholm in the first period and robbed Erik Volk on a breakaway early in the second period.

The Patriots opened the game with a 5-on-3 opportunity, but couldn't cash in.

"It seems like we start slow and build momentum," Wirgau said. "But I'm proud that we played hard until the end. I cannot feel good about the score, but I feel good about the effort."

Franklin tried a different forecheck system in order to slow down the state's No. 2-

Trenia Barbee was virtually unstoppable Friday night.

The 5-foot-8 senior guard from Wayne Memorial poured in 14 of her game-high 34 points in the decisive fourth quarter to lead the visiting Zebras to a 51-38 Western Lakes Activities Association crossover girls basketball win at Livonia Stevenson.

"She'd drive it to the paint and make that fadeaway jumper," said Stevenson first-year coach Pat Cannon, whose team was outscored 18-8 in the fourth quarter. "We gave up only 10 transition points and I thought Rebecca Bartek did a heck of a job on her."

Wayne, 1-20 a year ago, is now 3-2 overall.

Nastassia Goines chipped in with 10 points for the Zebras, who rallied after trailing by six points in the fourth quarter. Bre'Ana Sims grabbed eight rebounds.

the Chargers, who shot 12-of-21 from the foul line.

Franklin made 15-of-23 free throws.

CHURCHILL 45, GARDEN CITY 26: Darcy DeRoo scored 16 points and added eight steals Thursday to lead Livonia Churchill (2-3) past the host Cougars (1-5) in a non-league encounter.

Churchill bolted out to a 12-5 first-quarter advantage and led 26-11 at halftime before coasting home.

Karen Greficz scored 16 points for the Cougars, who committed a total of 30 turnovers.

NORTHLAKE 43, JOHN GLENN 31: Chelsea Atsingler scored 11 points and teammate Sarah Stern chipped in with 10 Thursday as the visiting Mustangs (2-2) downed cold-shooting Westland John Glenn in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover.

"We played hard, but we must have shot 10 percent from the field," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said.

Nyah McReynolds scored 10 for the Rockets, who couldn't overcome a 25-17 halftime deficit and scored just 12 second-half points.

Eso Akunne (13), Jeff Lemanski (12) and Dan Gasco (10) also scored in double figures for the Fighting Irish, who pulled away in the second half with quarter runs of 13-7 and 19-13 after leading 26-21 at intermission.

Junior guard Robert Woodson paced the Zebras (3-1) with 20 points.

Mike Lee chipped in with 16 points, while John Glenn added 10 points and eight rebounds.

Bryan Bollin, a 6-foot-6 sophomore center, led the Bulldogs (2-2) with 17 points. Sophomore guard Jackson Armstrong added 11. Brock Armstrong and Kyle Bollin added eight and seven, respectively.

Wayne led 31-24 at intermission and took control with a 19-12 third-quarter run.

Brighton was 7-of-13 from the foul line, while Wayne was 3-of-10.

On Monday, Wayne hosts 2-0 Glenn in a battle of preseason top 25 teams. Game time is 7 p.m.

INTER-CITY 51, LUTH. WESTLAND 42: On Friday, Nick Packwood netted 21 points and Garret Daniel chipped in with 17 as host Allen Park Inter-City Baptist (3-1) turned back Luthern High Westland (1-3) in a non-conference game.

Josh Kruger led the Warriors with 14 points, while Sam Ahlersmeyer contributed nine for the Warriors, who shot just 7-of-21 from three-point range.

"Our effort was there, but we did not shoot the ball well," Luthern Westland first-year coach Brandon Bekius said.

Pauza makes cut

Grand Valley State University freshman Jeff Pauza (Livonia Stevenson) earned a NCAA Division II National B cut recently in the 1,650-yard freestyle with a time of 16 minutes, 25.39 seconds at the Wheaton College (Ill.) Invitational.

Pauza also set a Laker freshman record in the 500 freestyle (4:43.33) at the same meet (Nov. 30-Dec. 1).

MU softball camp

Madonna University softball coach Al White is hosting a hitting camp 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, Dec. 22.

Prospective participants can also register for Madonna's softball fundamentals camp, which includes two sessions.

The first session is from 9:11:30 a.m. on Saturdays beginning Jan. 5 through Jan. 26; the second is set for while 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sundays beginning Jan. 13 through Feb. 3.

The fundamentals camp sessions will focus on all aspects of fast-pitch softball, according to White.

Livonia gymnasts eye statewide attention

BY BRAD EMONS

Even after last year's MHSAA mandated break-up of unified girls gymnastics in Livonia, there wasn't much of a drop-off following a runner-up finish in 2006 state finals.

Livonia Blue, made up primarily of gymnasts from Stevenson and Franklin, took fifth place overall in the 2007 state finals with a score of 143.900 points.

Meanwhile, Livonia Red, made up girls from Churchill, was right behind in sixth place with a mark of 143.330.

freshman, was seventh in the all-around for Division I, including a tie for second on floor exercise. She was also all-around and uneven parallel bars regional champion, as well as Western Lakes champion on vault and bars.

Nomura, a junior, competed in Division 2 where she took sixth in the all-around, including a fifth on floor.

Powers, also a junior, is coming off a 10th-place finish in Division 1 floor exercise (9.25) and recorded a pair of season-high 9.5 scores on the balance beam.

Tapella, a junior, placed seventh on the Division 2 uneven bars and was 16th overall.

The two teams still practice and travel together to meets as the season gets underway Monday night at Brighton.

Livonia Blue coach Lisa Fierk has maintained strong team with the return of first-team All-Observer selections Emily Quint, Laura Nomura, Meghan Powers and Kelly Tapella.

They were a major part of last year's third-place regional finish and 10-1 overall dual-meet record en route to a divisional championship. The only notable loss to graduation was Laura Ambers.

Grosse Pointe North upends Churchill for 1st defeat Stevenson pins down invite crown

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Grosse Pointe North continues to be a major thorn in the side of the Livonia Churchill boys hockey team.

Despite an 1-4-1 season start, the Norsemen got a hat trick Wednesday night from Dante Deserrano to upend the state's No. 1-ranked team in Division 1 at Livonia's Edgar Arena, 6-3.

"It was not one of our better games, but hats off to North," said Churchill coach Pete Mazzoni, whose team dropped to 6-1 overall. "They (North) came ready to play and deserved the victory. We had too many mental mistakes and did not take care of the puck in the defensive zone."

North, which upended the No. 1-ranked Chargers 3-2 in last year's Division 1 state quarterfinal, led 1-0 after one period on Mike Neveux scored from John Neveux and Anthony Raymond at 8:03.

The second period featured a flurry of goals as Nathan Milam notched an unassisted shorthanded goal at 0:28 to knot the count at 1-all.

Deserrano answered with goals at 3:27 and 8:48 to make it 3-1 in favor of North before Churchill's Garrett Miencier answered on a power-play with an assist from Keith Yackley at 9:04.

Deserrano struck again just 51 seconds later from John Neveux and Milam scored his 18th of the season on a four-on-four situation at 11:05 to cut the deficit to 4-3.

But the Norsemen gave themselves some breathing room at 11:57 of the second period on a power-play from Justin Kovacs and Kevin Gibson followed by Scott Brown's goal at 14:31 from Deserrano.

Churchill goal tenders Greg Wirick and Derrick Daigneau each let in three goals and combined for 20 saves.

North goalie Erik Rohrkemper made 26 saves.

Churchill was 1-for-7 on the power play, while North was 1-for-5.

STEVENSON 3, LAKE ORION 1: Look for Livonia Stevenson (8-0) to move into the No. 1 state ranking in Division 1 following Thursday's non-league win over the host Dragons (2-3) at the Detroit Skating Club in Bloomfield Hills.

Ryan Baratono led the victorious Spartans, ranked No. 2 in the latest statewide coaches poll, with a goal and two assists. R.J. Kierdorf and Mike Voran each contributed a goal and assist.

"Getting two early goals definitely helped our cause," Stevenson first-year coach David Mitchell said. "Even with those two goals, it took us awhile to get going. We knew that playing a top team like Lake Orion at their place would be a challenge, especially since they play on an Olympic-size ice surface."

"It was a good up-and-down hockey game, and it was a nice win for us."

Stevenson goaltender Pat McHugh had to make just 11 saves to notch his third consecutive shutout and his sixth win of the year.

Lake Orion netminder Jason Stross made 31 stops.

LADYWOOD 2, KINGSWOOD 0: In a Michigan Metro High School Girls Hockey League game Wednesday, Livonia Ladywood (4-4-1, 4-2) downed host Bloomfield Hills, Cranbrook-Kingswood (0-4-4 league).

Abby Kienbaum tallied the game-winner in the first period assisted by Kaitlin Gaule and Emma Freij.

Ashley Ballarin's short-handed goal in the second period from Heather Sartorius completed the scoring.

Ladywood netminder Michelle Wynniemko (11 saves) notched the shutout.

Kingswood goalie Nana Kikuchi stopped 19-of-21 shots.

STEVENSON 5, PLYMOUTH 0: Goaltender Pat McHugh recorded his second straight shutout and Ryan Baratono scored a pair of goals and added two assists Wednesday as host Livonia Stevenson (7-0), ranked No. 2 in Division 1, cooled off the Wildcats (4-3) in a WLAA crossover.

Jake Harbowy chipped in with a goal and two assists, while Mike Voran contributed a goal and one assist for the victorious Spartans, who outshot Plymouth 50-10.

Ryan Schulz (45 saves) stood out in goal for the Wildcats.

"It was another good start," Stevenson coach David Mitchell said. "Plymouth is a good club which had scored 24 goals in their first six games, so I was pleased with our effort defensively as a team. We need to continue improving as the season goes on."

Ryan Mazzacco tallied the other Stevenson goal.

Yankee, Refenes spur Warriors to 67-47 win

The oldest play in the book worked to perfection Friday in Lutheran High Westland's 67-47 Metro Conference girls basketball victory at Harper Woods.

The one-two punch of Allyson Yankee and Becca Refenes combined for 48 points as the Warriors improved to 5-1 overall and 3-0 in the Metro.

Yankee, a 5-foot-9 junior guard, scored 24 and dished out three assists.

Refenes, a 6-2 junior center, also scored 24 and grabbed 12 rebounds.

The Warriors led 30-26 at halftime, but gained some breathing room with an 18-12 run sparked by Sam Terranella's defense in the third quarter.

Rachel Stork and Abi Gieschen chipped in with six and five points, respectively, for the Warriors, who shot 21-of-29 from the foul line.

Sara Deramo scored 18 for the Pioneers (0-4, 0-2).

MU men's cagers gain final

Madonna University's men's basketball team survived a late surge Friday by Northwestern Ohio, earning a 74-71 victory and advancing to Saturday's Crusader Classic championship game against Albion.

The Crusaders (7-6) led 43-34 at halftime, but nearly saw that lead evaporate by shooting just 40 percent (10-of-25) from the field in the second half.

Leading MU to the win were senior forward D. J. Bridges

(Canton) and senior guard Jon Battle, who both tallied 18 points. Chipping in with 13 points and six rebounds was senior forward Mike Rashad (Wayne Memorial) while senior point guard Charlie Henry (Canton Agape Christian) contributed 12 points along with five assists.

Josh Vorst and Kyle Gillette netted 15 and 14 points, respectively, for Northwestern Ohio (2-10).

Holiday hassles

Experts offer tips on sailing through the season stress-free

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

STAFF WRITER

It's no wonder Dr. Jackie Odom is seeing more patients under stress. All of the shopping, parties and family gatherings leave little time to sleep, eat properly and exercise. According to the Beaumont Hospital psychologist, healthy living is essential to balance the demands of the holidays.

"You have to look at the sources of stress, the increased commitments and responsibilities. The other big source of stress is financial. As much as you might want to give, there might be restrictions. People can't afford to give as they used to give to the economy in Michigan. They're getting themselves into debt by buying more than they can afford," said Odom, a licensed marriage and family psychologist. "If there's family conflict they're having to confront that. Dealing with loss at a time when you're supposed to be happy creates stress. If you already have depression when you're supposed to be happy that creates a stress."

As director of psychology for Beaumont Weight Center, Odom helps patients reduce their intake of food and alcohol. That's especially difficult when holiday parties offer calorie-laden beverages and trays of goodies.

"Stress eating is the worst thing you can do," said Odom of Bloomfield Hills. "They need to identify the sources of stress, the issue of loneliness for people who don't have families. The second step is to develop strategies to try to minimize stress. It's important to develop a support system, if not your family, make a family of choice. Surround yourself with friends who are caring, a church group, volunteer to serve at a soup kitchen, deliver gifts to a children's unit of a hospital, just wrap packages at a store to get yourself out."

STRESS FACTOR

According to Odom, stress is related to 80 to 90 percent of illnesses.

"Stress decreases immune system functioning making us susceptible to colds, etc. There's a whole list of symptoms like headaches, pain syndromes, digestive problems that may be exacerbated with stress," said Odom. "It also increases cholesterol, hypertension. Studies have shown that fat building up in the abdomen can be related to stress. The body is designed to deal with chronic stress as if there's a food shortage so a lot of this makes sense."

Odom says it helps to raise spirits by focusing on what you have to be grateful for and writing it down.

"I suggest to patients during the holidays to look at the year that's just passed, look at the goals you've accomplished and what goals you still need to work on for 2008, all the different areas of your life. Look at trying to balance yourself as best as you can," said Odom, who is challenged by gift buying for her 9-year-old daughter's teachers and preparing to visit relatives in Florida with her daughter and husband.

"I exercise, walk a lot on an indoor track every day and eat healthfully," said Odom. "I enjoy spending time with my daughter. We have two puppies who I love walking and I enjoy helping the Michigan Humane Society to support cancer research and trying to raise funds."

Sandra Finkel meditates early in her day and then again later in the evening. Throughout the year, she shares stress relieving techniques in prevention and rehabilitation classes for the cardiovascular medicine division at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

"There are a lot of links between stress and heart disease. The stress alone can increase risk factors," said Finkel, a stress management specialist and manager of stress management services at the University of Michigan Hospital. "The first thing is to recognize how much we increase our stress through our thoughts. We need to have more of an awareness that we're creating more stress by worrying, holding onto the past."

WAYS TO COPE

Finkel suggests practicing techniques such as relaxation, deep breathing, meditation, journaling and imagery, and to eat more fruits, vegetables and whole grains, lean protein sources like legumes, and drink plenty of water. Finkel exercises during her lunch hour in the fitness center at work.

"Plan activities according to your values. That may mean saying no to going to the party you hate if you want more family time, more time to yourself," said Finkel, who celebrated Hanukkah with her husband's family in Chicago. Finkel works full time and is the mother of two children, ages 10 and 14. "And let whatever actually happens be fine. You make your plans but you have to let go and recognize what the reality is. Find aspects in every situation to savor and enjoy. Young children have this wonderment that we can adopt. There are a lot of strategies I teach people that don't actually take a whole lot of their time like breathing for five minutes with your eyes closed."

Finkel teaches a six-week stress management class beginning 5:30-7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 16. The cost is $118.

Martha Kimball teaches beginning meditation 6-7:30 p.m. Wednesdays starting Jan. 23 for four weeks ($82). For information about either class, call (734) 998-5679.

Neil, new studies have shown that blood pressure can be harder to control in the winter. Researchers studied more than 440,000 Americans with hypertension in 15 cities. They found fewer people saw their blood pressure levels return to normal when treated in the winter months compared to the summer. In fact, about 60 percent of the patients saw a change in blood pressure control in the winter. Experts believe the cause could be weight gain, different eating habits and less exercise during the winter months.

Peggy from Romulus e-mails asking what can she do to relieve the pain from osteoarthritis.

Peggy, you can not cure osteoarthritis, but there are some things you can do to slow its progression, reduce pain and improve your function.

The first thing you need to do is exercise. I know you are saying: Peter you are crazy! I can't even move. But exercise will help ease pain and stiffness and maintain mobility. Exercise will also strengthen your muscles and improve flexibility, balance and overall health. I would recommend an exercise routine which includes cardiovascular exercise, some light weight training and stretching.

If you have a health or fitness question you would like answered in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, e-mail Peter through his Web site www.peternielsen.com. Contact him Peter Nielsen's Personal Training Club in West Bloomfield or Nielsen's Town Center Health Club in Southfield.

Friend's stealing costs everyone

My friend did something, like stealing. What should I say to him? Should I still be his friend?

Good Friend Garden City

It sounds like you don't like what your friend did. Good for you! It's important not to do things that break the law.

Breaking the law has consequences

— some of them are immediate (like getting caught by the police), but some of them are far removed from us. Take shoplifting, for example ... when someone steals clothes from a store, that person causes the price of the pair of jeans you want to buy to increase.

Why? Because businesses are in the business of making money. If a department store loses inventory due to shoplifting, then they have to increase the price on the other items in their inventory in order to make up the money they lost (because they can't sell the item that was stolen). Plus, they have to hire more security to help reduce their loss in inventory. But, more security costs more money. Where will the company get this extra money to pay for added security? From the extra money you and I pay for the items the store increased prices on! So tell your friend that by stealing or shoplifting, he's costing you more money! Then you can tell him that you won't be friends with someone who continues to break the law!

I know it's hard to fall in and out of love. What do you do when the person you loved doesn't love you anymore and they tell you they've moved on?

Lost in Love
Garden City

I'm sorry to hear that this relationship didn't work out. It's very painful, isn't it? Unfortunately, I can't say anything that will make the pain disappear overnight. It will take time ... but, I can tell you that it's important to focus on yourself during this tough time. Your self-esteem can take a big hit when you're rejected by someone you care deeply about. Remind yourself every day that you're a good person. Look in the mirror and tell yourself that the perfect match for you is just around the corner. Try not to focus on how perfect you thought the relationship was. Besides, it couldn't have been all that perfect if it didn't work out! If you spend too much time thinking about it, you might miss the perfect match. In short, if he's moved on, you need to move on too!

My parents always say I run my mouth too much. How can I control my mouth and still get

Magical evening

Performance troupe fills evening with wonder

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Stand-up comedy, sleight of hand and razor blade swallowing magically blend into one act when members of The Wonder Merchants speak about their performance troupe. Each of the men bring their special form of entertainment to The Village Theater in Canton as part of a New Year's Eve celebration that includes a late night buffet and champagne toast at midnight.

Although they've never appeared together before, the troupe of four friends have been rehearsing a program that takes their different talents and turns them into a night of wonder to match their name. Andrew Dakota has been a full-time magician for 25 years.

Ron Aldrich was awarded the Order of Merlin by the Brotherhood of Magicians for a career spanning more than four decades.

Craig Alan uses walk-around magic to entertain the crowds at Albert's on the Alley every Friday night in Garden City. His first memory of wanting to do tricks goes back to a Cub Scout meeting at age 9 or 10 when a magician performed. Alan combines his improvisation training at Second City with psychology and theater classes at Schoolcraft College to develop his brand of performance.

In addition to corporate functions, awards banquets, employee appreciation days, holiday and house parties, graduations and weddings, Alan entertains at Malarkey's

Retreat makes great gift for Christian women

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Marilyn Olszewski has the perfect solution to gift giving dilemmas for women this Christmas — a weekend at St. Mary's Retreat House in Oxford. The peaceful setting is actually the Motherhouse grounds of the Dominican Sisters, but the two-night and two-day stays are open to all faiths not just Catholics.

"It's well worth the time and money. It's a good way to start off the new year, what an excellent Christmas gift if you don't know what to give somebody, your wife or friend," said Olszewski of Plymouth Township.

Olszewski is coordinating the Jan. 11-13 retreat with the Rev. John Martin Shimkus on Learning Forgiveness, Learning Christ. Throughout the weekend, women will have the opportunity to attend conferences with the priest between times for reflection and prayer. For more

Need a Santa? Troy man will 'ho, ho, ho' at no cost for nonprofits

BY SHARON DARGAY

And when he dons his new red coat, with jingle bell-studded boots and a fluffy white beard, he looks the part, too.

"Betsy Reich, one of our members is heavily involved in Childhelp and she sent out an e-mail looking for a Santa for an event they have coming up," said Grady, a member of the Birmingham Rotary Club.

He answered his fellow Rotarian's call for help and bought a Santa suit online, figuring he'd extend his services to other nonprofit groups for free and to private events for a donation to Childhelp, a national organization with offices in Southfield that works to prevent and treat child abuse.

"I put some ads online at craigslist and on a couple of radio station Web sites. I had one animal rescue call me. Hopefully people will spread the word," Grady said.

Although he's had no formal training in portraying Santa Claus, he's been doing his homework, downloading tips from the Internet.

"One tip was to get a quality suit," he said, pointing out that he had done just that. "Probably one of the biggest 'don'ts' is don't promise anything, especially pets."

He'll tell youngsters that animals "don't travel well in the sleigh," and will suggest they talk to their parents about their request.

"There are probably a lot of things I haven't thought of yet," he said, adding that he might "fly by the seat of my pants" during his first Santa performance.

Those pants will be a few sizes smaller than what Grady wore the last time he portrayed Santa several years ago at the elementary school his children attended. Now 21 and 19, the Michigan State University students have seen a photo of their dad in his new Santa suit, but haven't watched him perform the character.

Grady said his wife, Nancy, supports his Christmas time endeavor and plans to accompany him to his Childhelp gig.

"Oh, she's all for it. I tried to talk her into being Mrs. Claus, she didn't want to invest another $500 to get a quality suit. By the time you get most of the stuff, it's about $500," said Grady, who's proud to say he needed padding to create Santa's ample waist.

"I needed the whole nine yards. I just got the suit after Thanksgiving. I thought this year might be slow and by next year it will start to snowball. This is all about the kids."

Arrange for Grady to play Santa Claus by calling him at (248) 229-7612 or by e-mailing him at gradypat@juno.com.

Psst that's really Pat Grady of Troy in the Santa Claus suit, but don't tell the kids.

in Southgate. He began mesmerizing the crowds at the Westland location of Malarkey's about six years ago. After the holidays he plans to resume the talent shows at Albert's on the Alley to give other entertainers the opportunity to perform. Between acts, he and John Thiede, a member of their improv troupe 94 East, perform.

At Albert's on the Alley Alan goes around to customers' tables, entertaining and making the time pass until food orders arrive.

"Magic has always been kind of a hobby that tapered off in my early teens and came back in my late high school years," said Alan, a graduate of John Glenn High School in Westland. "My job is to keep people entertained, bring something different to the atmosphere with card tricks to coin effects to mind reading. I use psychology, misdirection and magic, take advantage of basic human behavior, the usual way people would think. I ask a person to think of a favorite number up to 10, but not 7. Kids usually say 5 or 8, adults 3 or 4. You have to learn to think on your feet, take a situation and roll with it and get people to interact with you."

While much of the show is interactive with the troupe members calling people up on stage, Pooch works alone. The stand-up entertainer has spent years practicing to swallow fire and razor blades.

"It's a unique variety show from razor blade eating to poetry, mentalism such as mind reading, telepathy, and the audience will be allowed to participate," said Pooch, a local funeral director who prefers not to reveal his name. "Other than razor blade or fire eating, it's mostly geared to comedy and enjoying the start of the new year. Every element of the show is meant to amaze or amuse."

Pooch is more of a humorist than a magician. He bought his first trick at a magic shop in Las Vegas.

"I found out it wasn't about the trick," said Pooch of Farmington Hills. "It's about entertaining people, that's why many magicians later turn to acting or stand-up comedy. Ultimately the audience doesn't remember the trick. They remember the performer. I do a lot of gags in my show instead of magic tricks. We all enjoy having a laugh, seeing a smile on someone's face."

"We're incorporating four different acts into one show. There's no blue material. I think it's going to be a fun night. We're merchants of wonder, men of wonder for hire."

For details about the talent shows at Albert's on the Alley, call Craig Alan at (734) 546-5207. For information about The Wonder Merchants, visit www.wondermerchants.com.

Items needed for soldiers and their pets

The Canton Petco is sponsoring a drive to collect items for the K-9 Off Base Housing Program for Military Pets, and the men and women who serve in the American military. The fund-raiser continues to Monday, Dec. 31, at Petco on the south side of Ford Rd., west of Lily.

Donna Law of Mutts & Mutts Rescue of Redford is asking for donations of travel size deodorant, hand sanitizer, baby wipes, shampoo, tooth paste and brushes, tampons and sanitary napkins, Rolaids, cough drops, hard candy (no chocolate) shaving cream, razors, package vitamins, powder drink mixes, playing cards, pens and notebooks, AT & T calling cards, white men's socks, and monetary donations to help ship packages.

The K-9 Off Base Housing Program currently has 5-dogs that are being cared for by Mutts & Mutts. Because many military families have no one to care for their pets while overseas, Law started the program which is in need of Pro Plan Lamb and Rice/Chix and Rice Dry Dog Food, wet canned food (Pedigree chopped beef), blankets and sheets, rugs, bleach, paper towels, 13-gallon garbage bags, brewer's yeast and garlic tablets, squeaky toys, and adult dog vitamins.

In August Law returned two dogs to a sergeant returning after an 18-month deployment in Iraq.

All donations are tax deductible. For more information, call (313) 232-0382. To adopt a dog or cat, go to www.muttsandmutts.petfinder.org or visit the Canton Petco noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 22.

RETREAT

information, call Cynthia Wishart at (734) 591-6435. The cost is $150. Deadline for registration is Dec. 28.

Olszewski has gone to about eight retreats in the last 15 years. She was raised in a Catholic family in Alpena and went to the Felician Academy in Detroit before receiving a degree in chemistry and theology from Madonna University in Livonia. She taught at Our Lady of Refuge, St. Hillary's in Redford, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, and was director of religious education at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth where she's been a member since 1977.

"If they go in with an open mind and heart they can expect to be re-energized in their faith life," said Olszewski. "The surroundings are very peaceful in the midst of all the busyness. It's a time to rest and relax and re-energize. It's more of a spiritual gift, if you're looking for an uplift. It's a Christian retreat."

The women arrive at 7 p.m. Friday and gather for snacks, evening prayer and a conference with Shimkus who leads the retreat. Saturday morning begins with prayer, breakfast and conference followed by free time, lunch, more conferences and time for private prayer and reconciliation, and private counseling with Shimkus. After dinner, there is time for evening prayer and another conference. Sunday morning begins with Mass and then breakfast, conference and lunch. The day concludes at 1:30 p.m.

"It's very relaxed with comfortable clothes and walking shoes," said Olszewski whose husband, Dan, attends retreats at St. Paul of the Cross in Redford.

Paula Madigan went to her first retreat in 1972 and by 1979 was volunteering to serve on a committee to choose the speakers. The Livonia woman is one of the coordinators for the Jan. 25-27 retreat, The Tapestry of Our Lives, with Sister Sue Tracy who spoke at the Nov. 2-4 retreat on Unwrapping God's Gifts. The deadline for registration is Jan. 11. For more information, call Madigan at (734) 422-2689.

Madigan was born into a Catholic family in the Detroit area.

"A couple of my daughters usually go and my sister usually goes," said Madigan, 91, who coordinates the weekend with her sister Theresa Stuve of Livonia.

"It's a time to reflect and pray, a spiritual weekend basically. There are friendships. Some of the women have been coming for years. It's very friendly, not the silent retreats. You meet new friends and look forward to seeing the ones you saw last year."

Madigan helped select Sister Tracy to speak after hearing her at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit. Sister Tracy is a Dominican sister of Grand Rapids.

"She was very informal and wide open for questions and comments and has a tremendous sense of humor," said Madigan.

my point across?
Big Mouth In Garden City

It sounds like you agree your mouth is a problem. But it also sounds like you feel you have good reasons for "running" your mouth ... like maybe you're trying to explain yourself or your behavior?

One word of advice:

Timing. Timing is everything. I wouldn't try to justify the behavior your parents are angry about while they're yelling at you. Wait until everyone calms down and then ask them if you can explain why you did what you did. But, don't try to get out of whatever consequence they've given you.

If you did something wrong, then own up to it. If you had a good reason for doing something wrong, find a good time to explain your decision-making process. It might give your parents an opportunity to give you some guidance.

Monica Fulton is the supervisor of the Family Resource Center in Garden City working on youth and family problems. She has a master of arts degree in clinical psychology. She can be reached by e-mail at monica.fulton@sbcglobal.net.

DON'T STOP MOVING

This time of year brings on heavy work. You have leaves to gather, spring clothes to put away and winter gear to bring out of storage. The effort strains the knee, necessitating in some cases, a doctor's appointment to drain excess fluid from the knee.

Usually, taking fluid out of the knee and injecting a steroid into it suffices to resolve the knee problem. But not always. The fluid may return bringing up the question: "Am I doing too much?" Your doctor is not likely to agree with you. Rather, he will take the view that you should do less, but that he should do more. If your knee problem was only one of an unexpected twist with irritation, then the first draining should suffice. If you get return of the fluid, he needs to investigate further to answer why the swelling has re-occurred.

The medical community is aware of the importance of activity in preserving your mental and physical stamina. Return of knee swelling requires investigation, not the recommendation for you to just do less.

In most instances recurrence of swelling indicates that you have osteoarthritis of the knee. If x-rays of the knee do not confirm this diagnosis, then an MRI is in order. This imaging delineates internal damage such as ligament tears or injuries to the knee meniscus. In turn, treatment can provide sufficient relief to allow you to maintain the activity needed for good mental and physical well being. Therapy may include joint injection for osteoarthritis and knee arthroscopy for ligament and meniscal tears.

Today the job of medicine is to keep you moving.

EVERY CHRISTMAS STORY EVER TOLD

By Michael Carlson, Jim Fizzgig & John Alvarez • Original Music by Will Kepp

This is a unique attempt to seriously perform a annual stage production of Dickens' Christmas Carol. Two of the three actors even include other plays, "Beloved Holiday Classics" & "They Call Me Santa". The show is a combination of the classic story of the poor man who wants to see his wife again and the joyous spirit of the season. It's a Christmas Carol and other holidays from around the world, including the first ever "Japanese Christmas". This is a show that tells all of your favorite Christmas stories with fun energy fun

Applicants wanted for spinal cord therapy grants

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

The Mary and Charles A. Parkhill Foundation for Spinal Cord Rehabilitation has extended the date to apply for scholarship grants to Monday, Dec. 31.

The Foundation's goal is to raise funds that will be granted to individuals with spinal cord injuries, in the form of scholarships, to obtain therapy services at The Recovery Project in Livonia.

Grantees will be those individuals without the healthcare benefits or private resources required for ongoing therapy and exercise.

The application and additional information are available at the The Recovery Project Web site at www.therecovery-project.net.

The Recovery Project was co-founded in 2003 by Charlie Parkhill who suffered a spinal cord injury while vacationing with his wife in Mexico in 1998. The incomplete spinal cord injury left him motionless from the neck down. Physical therapist Polly Swingle together with Parkhill developed a high intensity rehabilitation for spinal cord injuries. Parkhill took his first three unassisted steps in 2005 and since has increased his range to 104 steps on his own at a time. He still goes through therapy 2-days a week, and works out 6-days a week.

In July 2006, Parkhill and Swingle moved The Recovery Project from the Livonia YMCA into a building devoted solely to therapy. About 40-patients a day receive treatment there.

"The scholarship is for people with spinal cord injuries who want therapy but have no resources to pay for it," said Charlie Parkhill. "You have to show you have the willingness and ability to work hard."

There is no age restriction to apply for the scholarship. The application can be completed online and requires two reference letters.

Volunteers create sturdy leather harnesses for pups at Leader Dogs for the Blind

BY SHARON DARGAY
STAFF WRITER

Brent Fecteau and Bob Griffis craft about 400 dog harnesses from scratch every year. They turn cow-sized swatches of leather into leashes — about 600 a year. And they create thousands of key fobs from leather scraps.

The two retired men spend about four hours twice weekly in the tack shop at Leader Dogs for the Blind, in Rochester, making key equipment for guide dogs and their human visually impaired companions.

And they do it all for free.

"I wanted to do something useful," said Griffis, a Rochester Hills resident, who holds a Ph.D. in chemical engineering. When he retired as an engineer at Ford 10 years ago, he sought out volunteer work at the school, starting first in its mail room and moving to the tack work room six years ago.

"When you retire, you've got to do something to fill in the 40 hours that you worked before," he said, adding that his wife, Doris, volunteers in other departments at the facility.

Fecteau, of Shelby Township, holds an "unused" master's degree in art and retired from teaching math seven years ago. He started volunteering at Leader Dogs for the Blind in the mail room and started working with Griffis about five years ago.

"I Googled volunteer work to see what would come. I saw Leader Dog. I know a lot of people who have dogs and I like them all. I figured, you can't go wrong," Fecteau said.

Together, the pair create all of the collars, leashes, and harnesses that Leader Dogs for the Blind teaches students to use as they follow their canine guides. Randy Horn, a trainer who's also in charge of the tack room, pitches in with sewing when he's not working with dogs or dog-student teams.

USING EQUIPMENT

"The lead is used to connect the person to the dog and the leash is used to facilitate relief time and also to administer corrective measures they have to use or to keep the dog close at

JOHN STORMZAND | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Bob Griffis and Brent Fecteau work together on a harness at Leader Dogs for the Blind. Both volunteer for the Rochester-based organization.

MADE WITH PRIDE

They also maintain high expectations for their own work.

"You want to make sure that whatever you're making, it's like you're making it for yourself. You don't want to put out anything that would hurt the dog," Fecteau said. "You don't want to leave rivets on if there's a possibility you'll cut your hand if you can't see them. You want to make it like it's yours."

"We want everything to be first class," Griffis added.

Griffis and Fecteau learned leather working on the job, in the tack room. The cut pieces, pound out notches for buckles, attach hardware and burn the Leader Dogs logo on each piece. The harness handle is the only part they don't create from scratch.

"It's actually pretty easy," Griffis described the process of cutting the leather with a razor-sharp tool called a draw gauge. "We haven't had anyone here nicknamed 'stubby' yet."

In his spare time at home, Griffis also occasionally makes braided leather leashes that he gives to staff members.

"This has my name on it and everything," said instructor Katie Stamm, showing off one of Griffis' special leashes.

"It's awesome. I love it."

ALEXANDER GRINSTEIN, MD
Died Tuesday, December 11, after a brief illness, at the age of 89. Beloved and loving husband of Adele, his wife of 66 years, beloved and loving father of David and Richard, beloved and loving father-in-law of Christina Camacho and Nancy Taylor, beloved and loving grandfather of Eliana (married to Matthew Johnston), Mark, and Jonathan, Sarah and Rachel, beloved and loving brother-in-law of Louise Richman, beloved and loving brother-in-law of Irving and Elaine Brotslav and Don Scribner. Dr. Grinstein was born in Russia, and came with his parents to Buffalo, New York at the age of 5. Both of his parents were physicians. He received his BA and MD from the University of Buffalo. He and Adele moved to Detroit, Michigan in 1942, where he received his psychoanalytic training. Dr. Grinstein was a practicing psychoanalyst for over 50 years. He was most proud of his clinical work, helping his patients to achieve fuller, happier lives. For many years he was Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at Wayne State University in Detroit. He was past president of the Sigmund Freud Archives in New York City, and of the Michigan Psychoanalytic Institute. Dr. Grinstein was a prolific writer and researcher. He compiled the Index of Psychoanalytic Writings, which, before the Internet, was the only way to do research in the field. He was the author of numerous psychoanalytic books, including On Sigmund Freud's Dreams, Freud at the Crossroads, Conrad Ferdinand Meyer and Freud, and Freud's Rules of Dream Interpretation. He also wrote psychoanalytic studies of Beatrix Potter, Wilkie Collins, and Edwin Arlington Robinson, as well as numerous essays and papers. His wife, Adele, worked closely with him on all of his publications. His warmth, incredible generosity, and great spirit will be deeply missed by all who knew and loved him. Donations may be made in his memory to Beaumont Hospice, 1200 Stephenson Hwy, Troy, MI, or to the Michigan Psychoanalytic Institute, 32841 Middlebelt Rd., Farmington Hills, MI. Private services will be held for the immediate family.

POLICY

All advertising published in the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers is subject to the conditions stated in the applicable rate card. (Copies are available from the advertising department, Observer and Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150 (734) 591-9900). The Observer and Eccentric Newspapers reserves the right not to accept an advertiser's order. Observer and Eccentric Newspaper sales representatives have no authority to bind this newspaper. When more than one insertion of the same advertisement is ordered, no credit will be given unless notice of typographical or other errors are given. Advertisers are responsible for all copy submitted. Not responsible for typographical or other errors. All real estate advertising in this newspaper is subject to the Federal Fair Housing Act of 1988 which states that it is illegal to advertise "any preference limitation, or discrimination". This newspaper will not knowingly accept any advertising for real estate which is in violation of the law. Our readers are hereby informed that all dwellings advertised in this newspaper are available on an equal housing opportunity basis. (FR Doc. 724983 3-1-72) Classified ads may be placed according to the deadlines. Advertisers are responsible for reading their ads the first time it appears and reporting any errors immediately. The Observer and Eccentric Newspapers will not issue credit for errors in ads after THE FIRST INCORRECT INSERTION. Equal Housing Opportunity Statement: We are pledged to the letter and spirit of U.S. policy for the achievement of equal housing opportunity throughout the nation. We encourage and support an affirmative advertising and marketing program in which there are no barriers to obtaining housing because of race, color, religion or national origin. Equal Housing Opportunity slogan: "Equal Housing Opportunity - Table III - Illustration of Publisher's Notice."

INVITE OTHERS TO EMPOWER YOU TO THE FINISH LINE

by
Mildred L.
Culp

Some projects and some objectives seem virtually impossible to meet, particularly if they're isolating. As you near a finish line, you may overlook an important resource -- the potential power of others in helping you complete what you started.

M. J. Ryan, executive coach at Professional Thinking Partners Inc., outside of San Francisco, helps people change. She observes that some people "aren't really good at initiating things, keeping the ball rolling and finishing. If you're not a great finisher, things trail off. This is why we need other people."

"SATISFACTION STOP"

We do need other people, but how can they help us reach our objectives at work? Debi Yohn, counseling psychologist to expatriates in Shanghai, suggests that you draw a line between positive people and the negative ones. The latter, she says, "remain negative, refusing to make the changes necessary to turn their negative experiences to positive." This is an important concept. What do you do next?

Karin Sloan of the Karlin Sloan & Co. leadership development consultancy in Chicago says, "Simply asking for help isn't the best way to go. You might ask a person to remind you of the reward of your project, its benefit, at critical moments when your spirit sags. The reward could be something as simple as an improved retrieval system to cut down on research time, thanks to your computer conversion. She also indicates how restorative and motivational launching out with others may be when you've reached a benchmark or walking around the block together. Recruit someone to celebrate with you at what Ryan calls a 'satisfaction stop.'

Ryan further points out that a conversation with another employer who's skilled at completing projects may be useful in providing "ideas about what you need to do to finish things off. This would vary, depending upon the type of work. It might be that you need more information. He may help you figure out the how."

Sloan directs you to "be specific about the help or resource you need, such as borrowing time from an administrative assistant. The more specific you are, the easier it is to ask for help, and the simpler it is for a colleague to assist you." This tactic brings a strategic benefit, too. Being asked "makes people feel important and necessary, and it ultimately builds healthy, collaborative working environments," she says.

Harriet Vines, author of "Age Smart," suggests "taking stock. Make and prioritize a To-Do list and delegate tasks where possible" (Lumina Press, $13.95). She mentions the importance of "promising to repay in-kind when they need you."

Robert Tuchman, president of sports marketing company TSE Sports & Entertainment in New York City, adds, "The key thing in getting others on board and motivated is to praise their work. Allow them to take the credit for the project. Even if you are the one doing the majority of the work, it will empower them to finish the project and give them confidence in future dealings."

Marathoner Lou Manza, chair of the Psychology Department at Lebanon Valley College in Annville, Pa., says that whether a marathon is literal or not, it can be very helpful to remind yourself, happily, that your co-workers and employer expect you to reach the finish line. In his case, the reminder goes something like this: "My dad and my kids are expecting me to do that. So is my wife, who gave Lou Manza approaches the finish line at the Philadelphia Marathon in 2005. His perspective on getting to the end of a long, arduous task also encompasses insights from the field of psychology. birth three times and suffered." He considers it important to remind yourself of your responsibilities. Meanwhile, he advises, if you need a break, ask for 15 minutes of time out or a slightly-extended lunch break.

"I'll also focus on another runner," he discloses, "one who is about 100 yards ahead. If I concentrate on trying to catch that runner, it takes my mind off the pain. That runner might well be another person in the company who's striving to reach a goal, too."
