Voters show strong interest in Tuesday's primary

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland voter interest in Tuesday's presidential primary appears relatively strong, even though Democrats will be limited to casting ballots for certain candidates or declaring themselves as uncommitted.

More than 4,000 voters had requested absentee ballots by Thursday afternoon, and 2,300 people already had returned theirs, City Clerk Eileen DeHart said.

"That's pretty amazing," she said. "They're coming in droves.

I am a little surprised."

Voters will have to show a personal identification and declare themselves as voting Democratic or Republican.

"There are no independent ballots," DeHart said.

Polls for Westland's 59,655 registered voters will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The GOP ballot will list candidates like Arizona Sen. John McCain, former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney, ex-Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee, former New York City Mayor Rudy Giuliani, U.S. Rep. Duncan Hunter, U.S. Rep. Ron Paul and Fred Thompson. It also will include Colorado Rep. Tom Tancredo and Kansas Sen. Sam Brownback, who already have dropped out.

But the Democratic ticket is a wildly different situation. With the party opposing the Michigan primary's timing, the only high-ranking candidate on the ballot will be New York Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton. Others listed will include Ohio Congressman Dennis Kucinich, former Alaska Sen. Mike Gravel and Connecticut Sen. Chris Dodd, Annual ceremony to honor Dr. King

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

The Rev. Terrance McClain will be the keynote speaker when his Annapolis Park Church of Christ hosts a city observance honoring the life and the legacy of slain civil rights pioneer Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

McClain, a Wayne-Westland school board trustee, drew accolades a few years ago for a crowd-inspiring speech he gave at his church to honor King's birthday, observed on the third Monday in January.

Westland's ceremony this year will be at 9:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 21, and the public is invited. The church is located on the southeast corner of Annapolis and Henry Ruff roads, in an Annapolis Park neighborhood that earned a state historic marker for being one of the first U.S. suburbs to welcome African-American residents in the 1950s.

Westland Deputy Mayor Courtney Conover called the city's King celebration an important, annual event that has grown in attendance.

"The legacy of Dr. King affects all of us as Americans," she said. "What's so great and unique about this event is that it draws individuals not only from our community, but from neighboring communities as well."

Youngsters again will carry flags representing countries from across the world, in a show of peace and unity. Conover confirmed that inspirational songs will be performed by such groups as the Detroit Male Ensemble from the Detroit School of Arts.

Reather Everett, area representative for the Southeast Westland Homeowners Association, said word is being spread to city residents to encourage them to attend the King ceremony.

"We're hoping it will continue to be as successful as it has been in the past," Everett said. "It's something that the city of Westland can be proud of."

Chamber gives Swope vote of confidence as its new president

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland organization that strives to boost the city's business community, despite Michigan's gloomy economy, has a new leader.

The 360-member Westland Chamber of Commerce's new president, chosen Wednesday by the board of directors, is Brookellen Swope.

"I am very excited," she said. "It will be nice to serve the business community in a different capacity. It will be a nice, new challenge."

Swope has worked for the chamber for seven years, most recently as executive assistant to the former president, Lori Fodale. Fodale will start a new job Monday as the city of Westland's new economic development director.

"I couldn't have left the chamber in better hands," Fodale said Thursday. "Brookellen will pick up right where I left off, and I have all the confidence in the world in her. The chamber members have great respect for her, and I think the chamber is going to continue to grow under her leadership."

Chamber board Chairman Gary Bulson confirmed that the board voted unanimously to offer Swope the job.

"The board was overwhelmingly confident that Brookellen could handle the job," he said. "The work that she has done during her seven years with the chamber has been second to none."

Bulson conceded that Michigan's dreary economy has forced some local businesses to close their doors.

"Our membership has tailed off a little due to a tough economy," he said.

However, he, Fodale and Swope have voiced confidence that the Westland business community will continue to thrive and, hopefully, become part of a larger economic rebound.

Swope's duties will include helping to promote local businesses and to instill a sense of community among local merchants. She also hopes to draw new businesses into the chamber's fold.

She also will continue with three of the chamber's fundraisers, including a golf outing, already in the works for June 24; the holiday Taste Fest, which brings restaurants together in one place to give ticket-buyers a chance to sample food; and the Restaurant Rally, which allows food connoisseurs to shuttle among various eateries to try their cuisine.

In coming weeks, Swope will be working to hire her own executive assistant. She said working with Fodale has helped prepare her for her new role as chamber president.

"I've been working with Lori for so long," Swope said, "and she has set a wonderful example."

LPS lawyers deny whistleblower claims

BY REBECCA JONES
STAFF WRITER

In answer to a whistleblower lawsuit filed against the district, lawyers for Livonia Public Schools claim that two administrators had "legitimate, non-retaliatory" reasons for their actions.

In a response filed Jan. 2, attorneys with the firm Keller Thoma assert an affirmative defense and state that plaintiff Margaret Flower cannot make a case under the Whistleblower Protection Act.

In September, Flower, an LPS employee since 1986, filed suit against the district, Supt. Randy Liepa and director of business services Lisa Levesque. They were served with the suit last month.

Flower, who formerly served as the district's controller, filed for whistleblower protection. She also claims breach of contract and that the district did not comply with requirements of a state law that governs non-renewal of an administrator's contract.

Flower, who is represented by attorney Douglas Webster, said she criticized accounting practices related to the district's Legacy Initiative school closings and reconfigurations. She states that Levesque asked her "to engage in deceptive accounting practices on several occasions."

She stated she took concerns to three school board members last spring and that the elimination of her position was a result of that discussion.

Flower has been on leave since November 2006. Since then, the district reorganized the business office, eliminating the position she once held.

LPS denies many of the statements claimed in the lawsuit.

The district does not deny that Flower was suspended from her job in November 2006, after she used a profanity directed at Levesque when she called in sick.

In the suit, Flower states that that was joke and she wants the suspension removed from her record.

She's also seeking damages in excess of $25,000, including the loss of the position that she held for more than 20 years, a reduction in salary that would come with a new position and loss of vacation pay.

LPS response also states that the plaintiff failed to mitigate her damages and failed to exhaust other remedies before going to court.

The case, assigned to Third Circuit Judge Kathleen MacDonald, now moves to the discovery phase. According to a court clerk, the parties will also go before the Mediation Tribunal Association, which provides alternative dispute resolution services, before a trial date is set.

Hoover students learn chess rules, piece by piece

BY REBECCA JONES
STAFF WRITER

They don't yet know the name of the chess piece that looks like a horse, let alone how the knight moves.

That's next week's lesson for the Hoover Chess Club.

On Monday, students learned the pawn's complex rules, including the little-used en passant, conditions that allow for a pawn's capture, "in passing."

"(Pawns) are very different from all the other pieces we have learned about before," parent Dawn Gilmore told the students, who assembled during recess for their weekly lesson. "They have a special power that no other piece has," she went on, describing how a pawn that makes it all the way across the board can be promoted, up to queen.

After a five-minute explanation, students played a few quick games with just pawns and kings.

Fourth-grader Marlene Magewick collected five of Katherine Golinski's pieces.

"Payback," Magewick said to her classmate. Golinski won their first game.

"I always wanted to play chess," Magewick said. "I think it's cool because it's a really old game."

Fifty-two Hoover third- and fourth-graders signed up for chess club. That's more than 20 percent of the students.

TOM HOFFMEYER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Hoover Elementary School students Kimberly Beier, left, and Tristan Bonifield join other classmates for a chess club meeting during recess.

"I've been thrilled at the response," Gilmore said. "They catch on fast. They seem to really be enjoying the Chess Club and that makes it fun for me, too."

Soon students will learn chess notation.

"In just a few weeks, they can play with anybody in the world whether they speak the same language or not," Gilmore said.

Gilmore picked up chess in high school, but wanted to help students get off to an earlier start. In addition to Chess Club twice a week, she volunteers as a Masterworks presenter and helps in the school library.

Gilmore developed 20 five-minute chess lessons and tries them out on her kindergarten daughter, Heather, at home.

Gilmore's third-grade son, Ian, a member of the Chess Club, opted to learn the game along with friends at school.

Hoover principal Andrea Oquist said her fourth-grade opponent gave her a run for her money in Monday's matches.

"He kept setting me up," she said, adding that even though she's been playing for years, she's still learning.

"I didn't know en passant," Oquist said.

Prosecutor: Officers acted appropriately in shooting incident

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office has cleared two Westland police officers of any wrongdoing in the shooting death of a man who fired a 22-caliber pistol at them when they went to his house to investigate an earlier domestic dispute.

Prosecutors last month ruled that two officers involved in the Dec. 13 incident acted appropriately after 41-year-old Kenneth Sundman Jr. fired at them in the 5900 block of Morley, near Ford and Newburgh.

The officers had gone to Sundman's house to investigate an earlier incident in which he threatened his wife at gunpoint. She had gone to the police station for help.

An internal investigation by Westland police had found no wrongdoing, and the findings by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office have supported the conclusion.

Westland Police Chief James Ridener had indicated early on that it appeared the officers acted appropriately after being fired upon, but the case was turned over to the prosecutor's office for an independent review.

who already has dropped out.

Two high-profile Democratic candidates, Illinois Sen. Barack Obama and former North Carolina Sen. John Edwards, will not be listed on the ballot due to their party's concerns about the primary. Many of their supporters plan to cast their ballots as "uncommitted" in the primary.

Write-in candidates cannot be counted, DeHart said.

Some people didn't realize they could cast uncommitted ballots until recently, she said.

"We've had several people come in and ask to get their ballots back," DeHart said. "We can spoil their ballots and give them a new one, but we can't give the ballots back to them."

Absentee voters may go to City Hall until 4 p.m. Monday to cast a ballot, but if they wait that late they'll have to fill it out on the premises. Voters may cast absentee ballots on Tuesday only in "dire emergencies," DeHart said.

A small number of voters who live in the Taylor school district on the city's southeast side will help to decide whether to renew an 18-mill, non-homestead tax. In all, DeHart said, 336 voters in Westland may help to decide that issue.

Some political observers aren't happy that Michigan voters will have to ask for either a Democrat or Republican ballot. Just ask Paula Bowman, president of the Northwest Wayne County League of Women Voters.

"Here at the league, we're all about voting," she said. "But the closed primary, where you have to choose one party or the other, makes that ballot public knowledge."

In Tuesday's primary, the actual vote will be secret but the party ballot chosen by voters will not.

after-school program called Bright Futures. "We're really trying to increase their life experiences and open up possibilities for them," said Lynn Malinoff. "We have the luxury of not basing programs on standards and as a result, so they get to have fun."

Malinoff is director of the 21st Century Community Learning Centers for EMU's Institute for the Study of Children, Families and Communities. A former Wayne-Westland school psychologist, she was approached by the university to write a grant that would provide a new program to address the different needs of at-risk students and the community.

She agreed and was successful in landing a five-year $749,694 grant from the Michigan Department of Education to fund the Bright Futures. The program is being offered at the three Wayne-Westland schools as well as Willow Run Elementary and Willow Run Middle School in the Willow Run school district.

Four days a week students gather in a classroom at each of the schools where they play games like Set and Deal or No Deal, write stories, create art and even spend time doing their homework. There also are clubs focusing on art, drama, sports and leadership.

A lot of what they do has academics as an underlying theme, but students don't mind it, according to Jefferson-Barns site coordinator Kate Porter.

"The students love it, they really love it," she said. "For them, it's a place to go after school and be safe and do activities."

DIFFERENT STYLES

No two programs are alike. While all three sites offer the same basics, they have different ways of presenting them. Porter concentrates on behavior and socialization and works on team buildings with her students. She has Abakadoodle provide the art and EMU dance students come in to teach the students how to dance. Adams coordinator Sam Froomkin has representatives of Rocker Soccer come in and do drills and hang out with the students and a leadership club that lets his middle school boys focus on social growth and becoming good members of the community while the girls work on self-image.

Sara Bliss has her Lincoln students cooking cold recipes in a cooking club and learning the fine art of digital and video photography.

"The average attendance is 30-35 kids, they're excited about the program and continue to come even though they don't have to," said Bliss. According to Malinoff, the objective and goal of the program is to go beyond what students do in the classroom. Parents had to attend a presentation and register their students for the program which also includes a six-week summer session as well as opportunities for parents to participate in activities, like technology workshops.

"I was surprised to get so many parents at the middle school," said Malinoff. "Sam was successful in getting the students. But the biggest success seemed to be with the kids talking to their friends. We had to cut off the number of kids."

FUN ACTIVITIES
One student who got in the Adams program was seventh-grader Nina Tolentino who admits that initially she didn't think she'd like the Bright Futures.

"It only took one day for me to realize it was going to be fun," she said. "The outdoors club is my favorite because we do a lot of fun activities. We play Deal or No Deal. We're the bankers. We do the averages and win candy. We're doing math, but it's still fun."

Sixth-grader Alexandria Kudlinski knew from the get-go the program would be fun. She doesn't even mind doing her homework there.

"I used to do it at home, watching TV," she said. "No, I leave here and it's done. It's a lot easier. I even made the honor roll this year."

"It's a good activity to have after school, we do different things," added eighth-grader Dylan Dottor. "I used to do my homework at home and then call my friends. Now I do it here."

The program is starting out small with enrollment around 35 students to work out the bugs. A new round of sign-ups started in December and the plan is to increase enrollment to 50 students at each site. Over the next six months, student and parent advisory boards also will be developed and become the program's driving force.

"We present an opportunity for them to take what they learn and apply it," said

Froomkin. "Each week they get better because they're responding to an adult."

"We're trying to increase their life experiences and open up possibilities for them," added Malinoff. "I think they care that they're in school for three more hours. They don't mind doing homework, they don't mind the academic time."

Adams Principal David Ingham is glad to have the program at his school. It partners well with Gear Up, a program that helps seventh-graders.

"This program and Gear Up are great, but this one touches kids that can't be touched by Gear Up," he said. "I hope students make some connections so it can keep them in school."

Gunman holds up 7-Eleven

A masked gunman robbed the 7-Eleven at Cherry Hill and Hix roads Friday morning, police said.

No shots were fired, and no one was injured. Police Lt. Daniel Karrick said the incident happened around 5 a.m. The gunman, described as a black male of medium height and 170 pounds, revealed a handgun and demanded money out of the cash register, Karrick said. He escaped with an undisclosed amount of money.

The incident was similar to robberies in several other communities, Karrick said.

Families donate land to conservancy

Two families from Westland and Plymouth have donated an eight-acre parcel of land in Ocoola Township to the Livingston Land Conservancy.

Ron and Diane Winfrey of Westland and John and JoAnn Normile of Plymouth made the donation, now known as the Logan Lakes Nature Preserve, to the conservancy in memory of Joseph and Victoria Fink, Diane and JoAnn's parents.

The eight-acre wetland is located on Hughes Road, south of M-59, and is part of a vast wetland complex in the Logan Lakes ecosystem.

"We are sincerely grateful to Dianne and Ron Winfrey of Westland and Jo Anne and John Normile of Plymouth who donated this piece to the Conservancy," said Sara Thomas, president of the Conservancy. "Protecting part of such a nice wetland ecosystem is very rewarding since it helps preserve good wildlife habitat."

The Finks purchased the property in 1971 as a potential "get-away" spot from their home in the Detroit area. The family spent time there fishing and picnicking and eventually the sisters brought their own young children there. They developed a genuine appreciation for the natural area and have many fond memories to take with them, Thomas said.

The Conservancy will be planning a spring dedication and look forward to seeing the extended Fink family to honor their donation, she added.

The eight-acre parcel of land has been donated to the rattlesnake grass, sweet scented water lily, and the wild black currant — just a few of the unique plant species that exist eight-acre parcel, and since the habitat is appropriate, the property may also be home to the Massasauga rattlesnake, a species of special concern, although there haven't been any sightings as of yet, Thomas said.

Founded in 1991, the Livingston Land Conservancy is a private, non-profit, tax-exempt organization working to protect the natural heritage and rural character of the Greater Livingston County Area. In recent years, the fastest growing means of protecting land has been through the use of conservation easements, a legal agreement between a private landowner and a land trust that permanently limits the scope and type of development while leaving the land in private ownership.

Sorority turns 100

Jan. 15, 2008 marks the 100 year anniversary of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, the oldest Greek-letter organization established by African American college-trained women. The sorority was founded in 1908 at Howard University by Ethel Hedgeman Lyle and eight other women, just one generation removed from slavery.

Alpha Kappa Alpha has more than 200,000 members in more than 975 chapters in the United States and several other countries. Members work with communities through service initiatives and progressive programs relating to education, family, health and business that have a direct impact across the country.

The motto of Alpha Kappa Alpha is "By Culture and By Merit." The purpose of the sorority is to cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards, to promote unity and friendship among college women, to study and help alleviate problems concerning girls and women, to maintain a progressive interest in college life, and to provide service to all mankind.

Some famous members of Alpha Kappa Alpha, both regular and honorary, include opera singer Marian Anderson, jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald, author Maya Angelou, TV personality Star Jones, Nobel Prize winning author Toni Morrison, actress Jada Pinkett-Smith, Marietta Tree, the first female U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and Georgiana Simpson, the first African American woman to get a doctoral degree.

Alpha Kappa Alpha will celebrate in a week of tributes in Washington, D.C. More than 20,000 members are expected to make the pilgrimage to Howard University to honor the sorority's founders and celebrate its 100-year history.

Benefit moved to larger site

Friends and those wishing to help a tragedy-touched family have overwhelmed organizers so a fund-raising dinner to help that family has been moved to a larger location.

Ten-year-old Jordan Griffin is dead and her sister, eight-year-old Sidney, is in critical condition following the Dec. 30 traffic crash that took the lives of four other members of their family on an Ohio interstate. The two attended Clarenceville

Schools' Grandview

Elementary, where their mother, Jodie, is a paraprofessional.

A 24-year-old Adrian man is facing multiple felonies including aggravated homicide in connection with the crash; police say his blood-alcohol level was three times the legal limit at the time.

Because of great public response, a spaghetti and pizza dinner fund-raiser to help the Griffin family after its loss will still be held at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 18, but has been moved to Ward Evangelical Church, 40000 Six Mile Road, Northville.

Bob Evans, Munchies Pizza, Westborn Market, Jet's Pizza, Gordon Food Service and The Deli — all of Livonia — are supporting the event.

Tickets are $12. They're available at the school after Jan. 7 or by calling Charlotte Tripp at (248) 471-2075.

Equity-index annuity provides tax-deferred investment option

Money Matters
 Rick Bloom

I just received a settlement from a lawsuit for about $90,000. I have a very specific goal for this money. I bought property Up North a number of years ago on a land contract and I have a balloon payment in seven years. I want to use this money to pay off that land contract. I want to be very conservative with this money and, therefore, I am considering either a CD or an annuity. I am 60 years old and I expect to retire in about five years. What would you recommend?

I lean towards an annuity — an equity-index annuity vs. a traditional fixed annuity for a number of factors. The first is the time frame you have to achieve your goals. By investing in a no-load quality equity-index annuity you will have more money at the end of the seven years than if you invested in a CD.

The second reason is taxes. Although I have always been a believer that you never let the tax tail wag the dog and that you should do things that make good economic sense, that doesn't mean you forget about the tax consequences. In a CD you will pay taxes on the interest on a year-by-year basis. Since you are working, I am making the assumption that you are in the highest brackets. On the other hand, the equity-index annuity grows tax deferred. You only pay taxes when you withdraw the money. It would be doubtful that in seven years, when you are not working, that you will be in a higher tax bracket.

Equity-index annuities are like mutual funds — some good, some bad. They are not all the same and you have to be careful.

Some equity-index annuities have high fees thus making it difficult for investors to make money.

One of the problems with annuities is companies have many different types of annuity products. It's not unusual for an annuity company to offer a half dozen or so different types of equity-index annuities. Unfortunately, in most cases, only a few make sense for investors.

The majority of annuities are sold through representatives of the company. Individuals cannot purchase them directly.

One of the first issues is to deal with an individual you trust. You may also consider dealing with someone who specializes in equity-index annuities. There are a lot of nuances and different ways you can structure an equity-index annuity and you want someone who understands the differences between different products.

I recommend Jim Hutton from Hutton Financial, (800) 870-4444.

Another important issue to consider is the time period. Just about every annuity program requires a time period similar to CDs. However, the typical period of time for an annuity is longer than in a CD. In most cases, I recommend a five to seven-year period for the equity-index annuity. I am not a big fan of annuities that require a 10-15-year commitment period. Unfortunately, many people who sell annuities tend to encourage investors to lock up for longer periods of time so they can receive higher commissions.

One of the many changes that have occurred for equity-index annuities is the expanded index options. For example, Jackson National, a Michigan-based company, now has an equity-index product that offers U.S. large and small company stocks as well as international companies. This product allows an investor to have a diversified portfolio.

Bill prohibits use of undocumented labor for state jobs

As a means of putting Michigan workers first, State Senator Glenn S. Anderson, D-Westland, has announced legislation that would prohibit state government contracts from being awarded to companies who hire undocumented workers.

"This legislation represents a tangible reform in the way our state conducts business," said Anderson. "Michigan's citizens have a right to know how their tax dollars are being spent by the state. We shouldn't be rewarding businesses who hire undocumented workers when we already have access to such a talented workforce right here in our own backyard."

"We must make sure that if we're going to dedicate scarce tax dollars to stimulate the economy, they're supporting Michigan workers."

The legislation would require vendors who want to conduct business with the State of Michigan to meet several requirements. Among them:

- The company may not directly or indirectly employ a person who is unauthorized to work in the United States in performing the government contract.

- The company cannot have been convicted of employing, or found in an administrative or civil hearing to have employed, persons not legally authorized to work in the United States for a period of at least five years.

"I am confident that Michigan workers can compete for 21st century jobs in the global marketplace," said Anderson. "However, we shouldn't keep them at a competitive disadvantage by rewarding companies who don't play by the rules."

"In order to get our economy back on track, we need to put Michigan workers first, which is exactly what this legislation will do."

Friends of Rouge look for volunteers for annual frog, toad survey

The Friends of the Rouge have scheduled training workshops in preparation for the 2008 Frog and Toad Survey.

The workshop will offer training on how to identify frogs and toads in area streams and rivers. The information will help in keeping the river system healthy. To participate, volunteers must attend one of the four scheduled workshops, where they will receive everything necessary to do the survey.

The workshops are free but pre-registration is required. Workshops are 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, at Novi Civic Center, 45175 W. 10 Mile Road, Novi; 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, at Bloomfield Township Hall, 4200 Telegraph Road, Bloomfield Township; 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 1, at Livonia Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile Road, Livonia; and 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, March 5, at Canton Summit on the Park, Walnut Room, 46000 Summit Parkway, Canton.

To register, call (313) 792-9621 or e-mail picoordinator@therouge.org.

Surveying involves visiting a nearby wetland site at least twice a month beginning as soon as temperatures are above 46 degrees (late February or early March) and continuing through July. Surveys are done after sunset and require listening for three minutes.

Data collected by volunteers is mapped and summarized and this information is provided to participants, Rouge communities and other interested parties.

The Rouge Watershed is 466 square miles and there are more than 1,000 blocks that need coverage. Surveys are best done in teams to increase safety at night.

Because amphibians depend on clean water for breeding and need good quality upland habitat for the adult portion of their life, their presence is an indication of a good quality habitat. The more species a site can support, the better the habitat.

Eight species of frogs and toads call the Rouge River Watershed home. They are the wood frogs, chorus frogs, spring peepers, American toads, leopard frogs, gray treefrogs, green frogs and bullfrogs. American toads and green frogs are the most abundant.

Friends of the Rouge are also holding a Winter Stonefly Search, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, at Environmental Interpretive Center on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, 4901 Evergreen Road, Dearborn.

Volunteers will be assigned into teams prior to their arrival on Jan. 26. Teams of volunteers, led by trained volunteers, will travel to two different sites in the headwaters of the Rouge River Watershed to sample. Volunteers sort through samples collected from the stream by team leaders for stoneflies. Results are given to Rouge Rover watershed communities, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, volunteers and others.

Registration is required. Call (313) 792-9621 or send an e-mail to picoordinator@therouge.com.

Kucinich promises Iraq pullout in 3 months

BY SANDRA ARMBRUSTER
STAFF WRITER

A wildly cheering crowd of several hundred Thursday night heard Congressman Dennis J. Kucinich promise that if he is elected president, he will eliminate the Patriot Act.

"I'm the only one in Congress who voted against it," he said, pausing, "because I read it."

Kucinich, who was introduced by Mike Whitty of Birmingham as "a Democrat's Democrat," spoke at the Troy Community Center. While the Ohio congressman was there to address members of the Troy Democratic club on the first stop of his five-day stay in Michigan, the largely middle-aged audience came from throughout southeastern Michigan and drew national media attention.

His anti-war stance that took up the bulk of his speech, and his call for a federal department of peace, resonated with Shelly Browning who said she had "come back to the community to read up on the different candidates."

"When I was at Yale, I heard the idea for a department of peace," she said. "That was a paradigm shift for me. It was innovative. If you don't want war, why would you have a department of defense?"

Browning and others who came "to see him in the flesh" applauded so loudly they sometimes drowned out the words of Kucinich, who is one of the few candidates on the Democratic ballot in Tuesday's primary election.

Kucinich, who didn't participate in the Iowa caucus and who placed fifth in the New Hampshire primary, attacked those who urged Michigan voters to cast their ballots as "uncommitted," saying that "I'm one person in the race to challenge my party."

Michigan was "punished," he said, for holding an early primary. The congressman is the only Democratic candidate expected to campaign in Michigan.

He added that he is asking for a vote recount in New Hampshire, though he concedes it "won't change my numbers."

The candidate said that his proposals for economic reform would return the country as "a manufacturing power," something that he said would help Michigan's economy. "I want to put America back to work."

He added that if elected, he would establish a WGA — a Works Green Administration, saying that "peace and sustainability ... can go together."

Calling for fuel efficient cars, Kucinich said he wanted automakers to build cars that "people will buy and buy."

One of the students from Cranbrook Kingswood asked the congressman in a meeting with the press how he would attract young people to his campaign.

"By telling the truth," murmured his wife, Elizabeth, who sat near him on an adjacent couch.

"By telling the truth," repeated

Democratic presidential candidate Dennis Kucinich answered questions from Leah Spink (left) of Berkley and Stephanie Babb of Huntington Woods during an appearance before the Troy Democratic Club on Thursday. The 11-year-old girls attend Norup International School.

Kucinich. "That's a novel idea."

During his speech, Kucinich claimed that the U.S. was sent into war on the basis of lies.

"It's time for a new direction in America, a new approach to deal with the challenges ... I call it peace," Kucinich said.

He added that, within three months of taking office, he would have all troops out of Iraq and an international security force in place.

Later asked where his anti-war leanings originated, Kucinich said it was from his religious upbringing, including reading the epistles of Paul who, he said, spoke of love.

Referring to his effort to impeach Vice President Dick Cheney, Kucinich said that he plans to introduce a 50-count article of impeachment against President George Bush.

Kucinich, taking a question from two sixth grade girls, said he would abolish the federal No Child Left Behind act.

As part of his education program, he said he would set up a pre-kindergarten program for ages 3-5. To pay for it, he said he would cut the Pentagon budget by 15 percent.

The congressman also would provide for a free public school college education for everyone, in return for two years of community work. The candidate's call for a single payer health care system that he said would take the overhead "skimmed off" by private insurers and provide everything from medical to dental care received a standing ovation.

"I can't be bought and I can't be bossed," he told the cheering crowd. "This is a new day and it starts here in Michigan."

Donation keeps meals rolling

Homebound seniors received their holiday meals on Christmas Day, thanks to a donation by AT&T to The Senior Alliance.

Responding to a TSA request, AT&T contributed $5,000 to the agency's Holiday Meals on Wheels and Information and Assistance programs. The donation helped offset some of the costs needed to meet the increased demand for these services.

According to Lori Vail, TSA program manager, requests for the holidays meals, served on Christmas Day by volunteers to homebound seniors, increased by more than 300 over last year. The AT&T donation helped meet the demand, especially at a time of reduced state and federal funding.

TSA also provides a crucial service to thousands of disabled and older adults every year, helping them navigate through all the community, state and federal programs and accessing assistance that's available, Vail said.

Committed to providing pertinent information to enable older adults to stay in their home of choice, TSA is working diligently to create a computerized resource directory that is intended to be shared with the entire state upon project completion, she added.

The Senior Alliance is an Area Agency on Aging that is dedicated to preserving and enhancing the independence of older persons and individuals with disabilities in southern and western Wayne County. Its services include home delivered meals (Meals on Wheels), Holiday Meals, care management, family caregiver support, home care, information and referral, advocacy, support services and many other services critical to the welfare of older adults.

The agency has offices at 3850 Second St., Suite 201, Wayne. For more information, call Vail at (734) 727-2017.

OUR VIEWS

Voters don't need pollsters to vote

There is an important lesson to be learned from the New Hampshire primary, held last Tuesday. That lesson has more to do with how John McCain and Hillary Clinton topped the list of candidates than with the candidates themselves.

That lesson clearly showed that it's not pollsters or the polls themselves who elect candidates. It's individual voters who listen to everything said and then make up their own minds without having someone tell them what to do.

Voters can do likewise Tuesday, Jan. 15, in Michigan, at least for those who choose to vote Republican, where all the candidates are listed on the ballot.

On the Democratic side, many candidates, like Barack Obama, have chosen not to be on the ballot. Others have dropped out of the race, while some politicians are encouraging Democrats to vote "uncommitted."

If you decide to be part of the political process come Tuesday, here are some things you should know.

First, only those who are registered to vote by Dec. 17, 2007, may vote.

Second, this is a partisan primary, meaning you will be asked to choose either a Democratic or Republican ballot. There is no opportunity to vote as an independent, but you also don't have to be a registered Republican or Democrat to vote. Voting in the primary does not register you as a member of that party.

Third, the Michigan Secretary of State's office cautions that, if you actually write in a candidate's name, your ballot will be tossed out. That's because no candidates filed with that office for write-in status by the deadline.

Fourth, voters once again must show picture identification, or sign a statement saying they don't have it. This is the same voter ID law requirement as was first used in the November 2006 general election.

Fifth, the deadline has passed for requesting an absentee ballot. However, qualified absentee voters have until 4 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14, to cast a ballot in person at their local municipal clerk's office.

Sixth, for other questions regarding the election, visit the Michigan Voter Information Center at www.michigan.gov/vote, or contact your local clerk's office.

That's about it. Voters can show that, in Michigan's primary they can show their own mind by casting a ballot Tuesday.

... It's not pollsters or the polls themselves who elect candidates. It's individual voters who listen to everything said and then make up their own minds without having someone tell them what to do.

COMMUNITY VOICE

Are you going to the North American International Auto Show in Detroit? We asked this question at the Redford Township District Library.

"My mother is a union carpenter who puts (the show) up. Me and five friends go for free every year." Roman Robinson Redford

"No. I went there once as a kid." Kevin Krul Redford

"I go there every year." Bill Cash Redford

"I've been there the last two years. I like to see how the technology is evolving, it's what this area does." Kevin Bennett Redford

Flip a coin in primary

Please vote Jan. 15 in the State-of-Michigan-taxpayer-paid Presidential primary. How should you vote? We'll get to that in a minute.

First, let's point out that the publicly-funded election is actually the property of the two major political parties in our state. They picked who you can vote for. And whether you take a ballot for the Republicans or for the Democrats will be told only to the two parties — who supposedly cannot tell anyone else. (If you believe your ballot will be a secret, then you'll want to invest in the new Disney-theme Casino currently being planned for the soon-to-be-privatized St. John's Seminary in Plymouth.)

The legislators — Democrats and Republican party members every one of them — voted to have taxpayers spend upwards of $10 million to hold these primary elections for their two parties. They'll then use the voters' primary information (that is, which party ballot you take) for future marketing purposes. Add to this outrage: the Michigan Supreme Court ruled this private marketing play was Constitutional.

As voters, what can we do about this arrogance on the part of the parties and their lap-dog legislators? We could skip voting — as many political pundits believe will happen to the great majority of Michigan voters.

But not voting would only play further into the parties' "kingmaker" arrogance. The chair of the Michigan Democrats has issued "instructions" for voting the Democratic ballot which essentially urges voting "uncommitted." Doesn't this defeat the whole idea of taxpayers paying to hold his primary in the first place? Everyone should vote. But how do we do that without jeopardizing our voters privacy?

Flip a coin. When we get to the precinct, we take out a coin and flip it in front of the election clerks. Then ask for whichever ballot the coin flip dictates and use it to vote for "the least-likely to succeed." Later in the year, we'll start receiving campaign literature and phone calls from the party for which we voted — proving that the parties never had any intention of keeping our ballot's partisanship secret.

To further register our disgust with this public-paid debacle, we send that same coin to our state legislator. Imagine if all Michigan voters did that. Would the state representatives and senators then get the voters' point that we do not want to declare our partisanship any more than for whom we actually vote?

To answer that question: Flip a coin!

Where are checks, balances?

In response to the letter from Patricia Linna of Westland regarding Bills: HR 1955 & S 1959 I agree 100 percent with her. Those bills are highly flawed, especially if you read the Constitution.

Why should we allow the president or any government official to tap our phones, spy on us? They say to protect us from terrorism. Who will protect us from them? If we allow these bills to pass, we are giving up our Constitutional rights and moving ever so close to becoming a dictatorship not a democracy.

I was taught in school that our government has three main branches (executive, judicial and legislative) so that our government would have checks and balances so that our government would be fair and balanced. Each division could keep watch over the other. What happened? It sure doesn't appear that way to me.

The Wayne County Young Marines learn self-respect, self-discipline and a healthy amount of drug resistance education. What they don't get, according to club sponsors, is indoctrination into the military.

'Young Marines' looks to draft youth for projects and service

BY ALEX LUNDBERG
STAFF WRITER

A group that grew out of the U.S. Marine Corps is looking for a few good men. And by "men" they mean boys and girls — and they also mean between 8 and 18 years old.

The Wayne County Young Marines is a youth education group for boys and girls designed to promote mental, moral and physical development. The group meets at the Disabled American Veteran's Hall, 30905 Plymouth Road, in Livonia.

Unit Adjutant Charlotte Tripp's children have been involved for the past three years.

"It's an awesome program," the Livonia resident said. "It's incredible how they've developed."

The group just started a new platoon after graduating 14 members. Kids in the program learn drills, rank structure and military history as well as participating in community service projects.

"Last summer they went to Traverse City to be the honor guards for the traveling Vietnam wall," Tripp said. "They do at least 50 hours of community service every year."

The Young Marines have also provided escort at the Michigan State Fair and marched in Fourth of July events in several nearby cities.

What the group isn't, she said, is a recruiting tool for the USMC.

"A good portion of the kids have no interest in a career in the military," Tripp said. "It's about developing themselves. My two girls are not going in the military and they'll never be asked to join or be expected to join. Some kids have already said they would, but the majority are not interested."

Jason McAnalley is a former Marine and member of the Northwest Detachment of the Marine Corps League — the sponsor of the Young Marines. He heard about the organization from Charles Volker who started a Young Marines group in Canton and decided to start one for the county.

"I looked online and liked the program so I got chartered in Wayne County," he said. "I was the first commander, now I'm an instructor."

An instructor is a lot like a scoutmaster and the organization of the Young Marines is a lot like the Cub Scouts or the Boy Scouts in that most of the activities are based around preparedness skills, outdoor living and safety.

His son, 10-year-old Cody, is a member and he gets a lot out of the experience.

"We do a lot of physical fitness stuff, pushups and situps," he said. "I think it's good for me, I like the challenge."

He says he'll stick with the group through his 18th birthday.

Anyone interested in learning more should contact Charlotte Tripp at (248) 471-2075.

Stevenson's Mike Cruce swims the butterfly leg of the 200-yard individual medley on his way to a first-place finish during Thursday's 98-88 dual-meet setback at Northville.

Duel in the pool

Mustangs touch out Spartans in top-tier battle

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

There are dual meets, and then there are duel meets.

And this is one that certainly lived up to its advance billing.

That was the consensus Thursday night at Northville's state-of-the-art eight-lane pool as two of the state's top-ranked Division I boys swim teams collided with the host Mustangs emerging with a 98-88 dual-meet victory over Livonia Stevenson.

It was also a precursor to the Western Lakes Activities Association meet, Feb. 21-23, at Salem, when Northville will try and repeat its title against the rival Spartans.

"This is one of the most fun meets of the year because in every single race neither kid wanted to let it go and contested it to the last stroke," Northville coach Rich Bennetts said. "Both teams will benefit from this. Going into the (WLA) league meet now it's us versus Stevenson. And to see what you saw tonight it was a matter of touches and we got little lucky. It's a learning experience for everyone and it's going to be a great league meet."

Northville (3-0), ranked No. 5 in Division I and coming off a dual-meet triumph over No. 3-ranked Birmingham Brother Rice, rode the waves of seniors Brody Blickle and John Bardsley.

Blickle took firsts in the 100 butterfly (52.57) and 100 backstroke (54.16), while Bardsley won the 200 freestyle (1:49.63) and 100 freestyle (50.06).

Blickle and Bardsley also teamed up with Kyle Adams and Joe Kargula to capture the 400 freestyle relay in 3:22.28.

The Mustangs also got a big boost when freshman diver Kevin Bain garnered first with 192.20 points.

"Bardsley and Blickle carried us tonight, but our diver (Bain) took first and that was huge for us," said Bennetts, a Stevenson grad who also serves as the Spartans' assistant girls coach under Greg Phil.

Stevenson, which slipped to 5-1 overall, was led by senior Mike Cruce, who took firsts in the 200 individual medley (2:02.87) and 500 freestyle (4:52.68). He also teamed up with Robert Luke, Joey Wingett and Ryan Scott to win the 200 medley relay in 1:42.32.

"Mike Cruce is a great worker with a great attitude who never stops," Stevenson coach Jeff Shoemaker said.

Stevenson also got individual wins from senior Kyle Hermann in the 50 freestyle (22.94) and Wingett in the 100 breaststroke (1:03.3). The Spartans' quartet of Scott, Chris Behler, Aaren Marecki and Hermann also out-touched Northville for first in the 200 freestyle relay - 1:33.20 to 1:33.66.

But the Spartans didn't post enough seconds and thirds to win the overall meet.

"We got touched out left and right," Shoemaker said. "Both teams are evenly matched, but they (Northville) wanted it more at this point. We swam O.K., but we did not step it up like we had to at this time of year."

Shoemaker couldn't pin the loss on the holiday break. He put his team through five hours of training with two-a-day practices. The Spartans posted a double-dual win a week earlier against Saline and the University of Detroit-Jesuit.

"Vacation was frowned upon," the Stevenson coach said. "Last week we stepped up. Today we didn't finish races the way we needed to and if we do the same at the league meet we'll get edged out. But us and Northville should be good stuff because we've been competitive awhile."

The two teams will be back in action again this Saturday in the six-school Salem Invitational, a meet which features Ann Arbor Pioneer, No. 1-ranked in Division 1; Zeeland, No. 1-ranked in Division 2; Northville, Stevenson, Canton and the host Rocks.

"Zeeland might be the best team in the state," Shoemaker said. "There actually may be more competition in Division 2 this year, but that cycles around."

Local umpires call it like they see it: Internationally

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Livonia's Tom Fitzsimmons and Westland's Bobby Allen may never be confused with Henry Kissinger, but the two umpires have certainly become ambassadors when it comes to the game of international softball.

The pair have been selected once again to work games next week in Schiedam, Holland at the World Indoor Cup, a premier women's open fastpitch tournament drawing teams from all over the globe.

It will be the third trip for both umpires, who also traveled to Holland in 2004 and 2006. They will be joined by fellow area umpires Doug Zimmerman (Brighton) and Harold Younce (St. Clair Shores).

The umpires were recommended for the trip by Division I college coaches and will be among a pool of 20 that will work the five-day tourney.

"It's fun, it's different, and I tell myself how many more years can I do this and how much more will I be able to do this?", said Fitzsimmons, who has 10 years experience umpiring women's collegiate games, including the Mid-American Conference, and over 30 years officiating high school football, volleyball and softball. "It's very competitive, but it's a different mindset than Division I ball. There are more things to watch because of the space you're confined to."

Games are played at three different sites in fieldhouses or gymnasiums with a rubberized floor. There are eight players to a team.

"They use a full set of infielders, a pitcher and catcher, and two outfielders," said Fitzsimmons, who works as a stock and mail room employee for the Observer & Eccentric

Westland's Bob Allen (center) and Livonian Tom Fitzsimmons (to his immediate right) will visit Holland for the third time to umpire a series of women's fastpitch softball games in the World Indoor Cup. Churchill nips Vikings; Zebras, Glenn win handily

Livonia Churchill continues to make a habit out of winning close boys basketball games.

The Chargers ran their overall record to 7-2 and remained tied for first at 4-0 with Westland John Glenn in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association following a nail-biting 43-41 win Friday at Walled Lake Central.

Senior center Ryan Rosenick led the Chargers with 13 points and 12 rebounds, while senior guard Andrew Vagnetti added nine points.

Churchill, coming off last-second victories in their last two outings, nearly squandered a six-point lead in the final minute against the Vikings, who slipped to 4-4 overall and 2-2 in the Lakes.

Ryan Woods made the second of two free throws with only 10 seconds remaining to give Churchill a two-point cushion.

Brian Indianer's eight-foot shot rimmed off in the final seconds as Churchill survived.

"It was a great win on the road against a tough team," Churchill coach Jim Solak said. "Defensively we played well the second half and our rebounding was outstanding. We just have to do a better job of finishing the game."

Seniors Cody Rzeznek and Ian Sherman paced Central with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Churchill was only 9-of-17 from the line, but outrebounded the Vikings 27-16.

On Tuesday, Churchill will host Glenn (8-1, 4-0) in a battle for first place in the Lakes Division.

WAYNE 01, FRANKLIN 58: Senior guard Mike Lee blistered the nets for 17 first-quarter points en route to a game-high 26 Friday night as WLAA-Western Division leader Wayne Memorial (7-2, 4-0) rolled past visiting Livonia Franklin (3-6, 2-2).

Wayne jumped out to a 30-11 first-quarter advantage as Lee connected on five of Wayne's six 3-pointers.

Senior forward John Hill added 12 points, while junior Robert Woodson and senior Martez Abney contributed nine each as 10 Zebra players scored.

Senior Jeremy Lovelady, a 6-foot-10 center, pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds.

Franklin had three players score in double figures - Ryan Matthey (15), Israel Woolfork (11) and Jeff Poole (10).

Wayne was 8-of-9 from the foul line, while Franklin hit 11-of-19.

JOHN GLENN 78, STEVENSON 46: Earl Hardison's game-high 21 points propelled WLAA-Lakes Division co-leader Westland John Glenn (8-1, 4-0) to an easy win Friday at Livonia Stevenson (3-6, 1-3).

The Rockets jumped out to a 23-8 first-quarter lead and never looked back.

Senior point-guard Keshawn Martin chipped in with 13 points, while seniors Daris Smith and Dorian Prather each contributed 12.

All of Smith's 12 points came on 4 triples, while Prather grabbed seven rebounds.

"Glenn is very good and well-coached," Stevenson first-year coach Mike Allie said.

The Spartans got 10 points from sophomore Austin White and eight from junior Mark Grisa.

Stevenson was only 6-of-19 from the free throw stripe, while Glenn hit 4-of-8.

Holbrook's triple-double fuels Rockets

Brittany Holbrook made "the paint" her neighborhood Friday night in leading Westland John Glenn to a 69-39 girls basketball triumph over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

The 6-foot-1 junior center finished with a triple-double - 12 points, 12 rebounds and 10 blocks - as the Rockets broke a three-game losing streak to improve to 4-7 overall and 1-3 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"Defensively inside, it was one of her better outings,"

WLAAs GIRLS HOOPS

Glenn coach Mike Schuette said of Holbrook.

Nyah McReynolds and Brittany Brown shared team-high scoring honors for Glenn with 14 points apiece. Andrea Gordon-McClain chipped in with 13.

Stevenson (3-8, 0-4) was outscored 22-7 in the third quarter after trailing 32-21 at halftime.

The Spartans got eight points apiece from Kaylee McGrath and Courtney Lewis.

Stevenson made only 14-of-32 free throws, while Glenn connected on 13-of-23.

FRANKLIN 70, WAYNE 27: On Friday, junior Brianna Taylor scored 23 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to spark Livonia Franklin (8-3, 2-2) to a convincing WLAAs-Western Division win over visiting Wayne Memorial (3-8, 0-4).

Senior center Ashley Price contributed 14 points and nine rebounds in the victory, while Brittany Taylor added 11 points.

Samantha Floyd also pulled down seven rebounds from the guard slot.

The Patriots used a box-and-one to slow down Wayne's high-scoring guard Trenia Barbee, who finished with 16 points. Nastassia Goines added six.

Sophomore Senneca Scott (six points) drew the assignment on Barbee with help from Nicole Emery and Alex Gortat.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 49, CHURCHILL 19: Brooke Gustafson scored 14 points and Kelly Costello added 13, including three 3-pointers, to propel Walled Lake Central (7-4, 3-1) to a WLAAs-Lakes Division triumph Friday at Livonia Churchill (3-8, 1-3).

The Vikings led 19-10 at halftime before pulling away in the third quarter with a 13-4 run.

Chelsea Manasian scored a team-high eight points for the Chargers, who shot 5-of-12 from the foul line.

Clarenceville's Stewart scores 32 in victory

Jamie Stewart was nearly a one-man wrecking crew Friday night, scoring a career-high 32 points and grabbing 13 rebounds to spur host Livonia Clarenceville to a 70-61 boys basketball victory over Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett.

Stewart, a 6-foot-3 junior guard, was efficient from the floor making 14-of-22 shots, including two triples. He was also 2-for-2 from the foul line.

"Jamie played really hard, he got offensive rebounds, handled the ball and played his best game of the year," said Clarenceville coach Corey McKendry, whose Trojans improved to 6-1 overall and 2-0 in the Metro Conference.

Stewart also had plenty of help as senior point-guard Lonnie Fairfax added 16 points and 11 assists. Junior center Jeremy Gainer added 11 points.

Patrick Gustine paced Liggett (4-2, 1-1) with 14 points.

The Knights were 13-of-23 from the foul line, while Clarenceville made 11-of-14 (78.5 percent).

HAMTRAC 58, LUTH. WESTLAND 52 (OT): In a Metro Conference game Friday, the visiting Cosmos (1-6, 1-2) earned their first victory of the season

BOYS BASKETBALL

Friday at the expense of Lutheran High Westland (1-5, 0-3) in overtime.

Hamza Alsadahi and DeWayne Slappy paced Hamtramck with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

The Cosmos outscored the Warriors 9-3 in the four-minute extra session after being tied at 49-all at the end of regulation thanks to Sam Ahlersmeyer's putback with 1.6 seconds left following a missed free throw.

Josh Kruger led the Warriors with 12 points, while Ahlersmeyer and Ryan Baglow each added 11.

"They (Hamtramck) killed us on (20) offensive rebounds," Lutheran Westland first-year coach Brandon Bekius said. "Our free throw shooting (8-of-20) also hurt. We just didn't do the little things to win the game."

MACOMB CHRISTIAN 51, HURON VALLEY 45: Senior forward Joel Battjes scored a game-high 21 points Friday to lift host Warren Macomb Christian (3-7, 1-0) to the MIAC-Red Division victory over Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (1-5, 0-1).

Ryan Jones, a senior point-guard, paced the Hawks with 17 points. Junior center Kyle Tacia added 16.

Both teams shot 11-of-21 from the foul line.

State-ranked Ladywood cagers romp at home

State-ranked Livonia Ladywood earned its eighth straight girls basketball victory of the season Friday at home with a 52-28 triumph over Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard.

Nine players scored as the Blazers, who jumped out to a 31-12 halftime lead, improved to 8-2 with the Catholic League inter-sectional victory.

Alison Szczycka and Jenna Anastos led the way with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

Stacey Szerlag scored 13 for the Fighting Irish (6-6), who hit only 6-of-35 shots from the floor (17 percent) and 13-of-24 free throws (54 percent).

Ladywood was 22-of-57 from the floor (38 percent) and outrebounded Richard 31-28.

LUTHERAN WESTLAND 64, HAMTRAC 17: Becca Refenes, a 6-foot-2 junior center scored 17 points and grabbed seven rebounds Friday night as Lutheran High Westland (7-1, 5-0) romped to a Metro Conference triumph over the Cosmos (0-10, 0-3).

Junior guard Allyson Yankee chipped in with 16 points and three assists. Rachel Storck added eight and Jessyka Welser added five as all 10 Warrior players scored.

Dazshavon Hall scored 10 for Hamtramck, which couldn't overcome a 40-14 halftime deficit.

CLARENCEVILLE 50, LIGGETT 29: Cheney Kemp and Jenna Burgess combined for 20 points and 16 rebounds Thursday as Livonia Clarenceville (6-5, 3-1) rolled to a Metro Conference win at Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett (2-9, 1-3).

Janelle Harris scored 18 points, while Heidi Warczinsky and Antoinette Brown each added 16 to lead Schoolcraft College to a convincing 72-52 win over Flint Mott CC.

The Lady Ocelots, ranked No. 5 in the latest NJCAA Division II poll, are 12-2 overall and take over sole possession of first place in the conference at 5-0.

Newspapers. "They have special indoor rules. The sidewalls and ceiling are foul balls."

Allen is no stranger to working big games.

He recently officiated the Livonia Stevenson-Macomb Dakota Division 1 state football championship game at Detroit's Ford Field, his second MHSAA title game. Allen has also umpired two MHSAA girls softball finals and has over 30 years officiating softball, football and basketball. Now retired, he also stays busy as an assigner for both the Kensington Valley and the Michigan Independent Athletic conferences.

"This keeps me young and running," said Allen, who retired from Armco Steel in 1992 followed by working six years in the door and window installation business. "It's fun experiencing the different cultures. And it's an honor for these guys to select us."

Each umpire will do approximately 10-to-15 games during the tournament, which attracts teams as far away as Japan, Egypt, Canada, England, Germany, Czech Republic and the U.S. (which features high school players).

"This year they have four U.S. teams," Allen said. "An American team won it the first time I was there (2004) and the Dutch National team won it the last time (2006). The Holland team had a Division I pitcher from Florida State. There are a few different rules, but it's great because all three places are within walking distance. Everything is pretty much (communicated) in English, so the language is not a big problem."

While Fitzsimmons was planning a side trip prior to the tournament in Rome, Allen was making a return visit to Paris.

"There's some things there I didn't get to see the last time I was there that I need to see this time," Allen said.

Meanwhile, Allen remains amused by cultural differences — even when it comes to the softball tournament.

"You'll see the German women sitting there drinking beer and smoking cigarettes, and the U.S. kids are there drinking Cokes and eating French Fries," he said. "It's kind of funny."

Yes, that's why even softball makes the world go-round.

Blazer icers hitting their stride

The combination of solid defense and timely scoring has propelled Livonia Ladywood to a five-game winning streak in the Michigan Metro Girls High School hockey League.

The Blazers, coming off a 4-0 win over previously unbeaten and Metro leader Port Huron, improved to 7-5-1 overall and 7-3 in the league.

Goalie Michelle Wyniemo made 22 saves in the victory for the Blazers, who led 1-0 after two periods thanks to Ashley Ballarin's power-play goal from Heather Sartorius.

In the third period, Sartorius tallied a short-handed goal from Ballarin. Northville's Carrie Pichon cut the deficit to 2-1 with seven minutes left, but Kienbaum put it away with a goal from Elise Sawarski and Niki Jacobs with five minutes remaining.

Northville falls to 3-7 in the league.

NORTHVILLE 5, FRANKLIN 3: The WLLA-Western Division leading Mustangs (8-2-1, 3-0) scored three unanswered goals over the final two periods to hold off Livonia Franklin (4-8, 0-2) in a WLLA-Western Division game Friday at the Novi Ice Arena.

CHURCHILL 8, W.L. CENTRAL 2: Hat tricks by Garrett Miencier and Nate Milam carried Livonia Churchill (11-2, 2-0), the state's No. 3-ranked team in Division 1, to a convincing WLLA-Lakes Division boys triumph Wednesday night over visiting Walled Lake Central (2-11, 0-2) at Edgar Arena.

Milam now has 29 goals on the year as the Chargers led 2-0 after one period and 5-2 after two periods. Keith Yackley added a goal and three assists for the Chargers, while Cody Atkins tallied the other Churchill goals.

Miencier also finished with two assists as the Chargers outshot Central 34-14.

Brett Malbin made 26 stops in net for the Vikings.

FRANKLIN 7, A.A. GABRIEL RICHARD 3: Dan Ostrosky scored a pair of goals and added one assist as Livonia Franklin (4-7) snapped a six-game losing streak Wednesday with a non-league boys win over visiting Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (0-10) at Edgar Arena.

Tyler Miller also scored twice for the Patriots, who led 4-2 after one period and 6-2 after 30 minutes.

Alex Wypych, Eric Volk and Brandon Pump also scored for Franklin, which outshot the Fighting Irish, 34-25.

Jordan Chisholm finished with three assists, while Jacob Wirgau and Jordan Short added two each.

Pain in the neck

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Find relief online for computer-related pain

Rob Tworek started thinking about a way to help people in offices everywhere after more and more of his physical therapy patients were mentioning the stiffness in their necks and backs from working at a computer.

First came the e-book, How To Avoid That Pain in the Neck at the Office, and shortly after the Web site which offers exercises to do while at the keyboard (www.officecoachplus.com).

So far, Tworek's had visitors from more than 60 countries. The Pain in the Neck e-book and Web site provide streaming video of a model performing exercises to relieve the discomfort but warns users to seek medical attention when there is severe, continuous neck pain lasting a week or more; pain, numbness and tingling that radiates to the arms or legs, and muscle weakness.

"I gave them exercises when you can't get away from your computer. They want relief now," said Tworek, a physical therapist for St. John Providence Health System and Heartland Rehabilitation. "The problem is when you start getting discomfort you need to break up that activity."

"At a computer you want people moving around, getting up and down out of their chair, but it's usually a static position. Even if you use the best posture over time those muscles will have a tendency to fatigue. It's advisable every hour to

21-DAY EXERCISE WORKSHOP

What: Physical therapist Rob Tworek leads a one-hour session featuring exercises and a discussion about starting and maintaining a program
When: 1 p.m. Saturdays, Jan. 26, at the Livonia Recreation Center, 15100 Hubbard; Feb. 9, at Costick Activities Center, 28600 11 Mile, Farmington Hills; and Feb. 23, at the Ford Community & Performing Arts Center, 15801 Michigan Ave., Dearborn Cost: $25 in advance, $29 at the door. To pre-register, call (313) 244-8048 or send e-mail to 21dejs@officecoachplus.com.

Rob Tworek hopes his Web site helps people around the world relieve the neck and pain discomfort caused by working at a computer for extended periods.

take a break, to get up and do movement. As soon as you enter the Web site you're prompted to get moving."

The Web site and e-book offer simple movements to prevent neck or low back injury before medical treatment is required.

"I wanted to make it convenient for people," said Tworek of Livonia. "The Web site is set up as a resource. They can go to the stretch pages follow these along and work out the stiffness."

Lisse Egler first tried the exercises after a physical therapist friend told her about the Web site. A mechanical engineer in the automotive industry, the South Lyon resident uses the movements whenever her muscles feel tight.

"On the Web site there's lots of stretching that I wouldn't have known to do before," said Egler. "I like the exercises because they can be done at work at your desk. I like that they have a little video with Liz (the model). That helps me a lot. It's good to have that visual."

After initially doing the suggested movements, Egler progressed to Tworek's Three Day Exercise Jump Start. The program helps prevent and reduce neck and low back pain caused by extended periods of time at a computer. All that's needed is a stationary chair and two optional weights (one for each hand), either books, bottled waters or hand weights.

"It helped me get back into moving on a regular basis," said Egler. "I felt comfortable, I wouldn't be overstraining myself or my heart."

Tworek is expanding the exercise jump start to 21 days in time for people to start moving on a regular basis in the new year.

The program is intended for anyone who spends most of their workday at a computer or simply wants to exercise. The American Physical Therapy Association, American Heart Association and the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention recommend 30 minutes of activity five days per week.

"It's a 30-minute workout for 21 days straight and by then you have established a habit of exercising," said Tworek, who is giving one-hour workshops on the new program beginning in late January and early February at the Livonia Recreation Center and Costick Activities Center in Farmington Hills.

"Once they build the habit they want to keep on going with it. It allows them staying power at the computer."

Hospital seeking patients for study to regrow lung tissue

Henry Ford Hospital is seeking patients for a new treatment option that shows promise for regrowing lung tissue in emphysema patients.

Emphysema is a debilitating lung disease caused in large part by years of smoking.

It is the fourth leading cause of death in the U.S. Patients suffer from shortness of breath, coughing and limited exertion because their lungs are less elastic, cutting off oxygen to the bloodstream.

Several treatment options exist to relieve and prevent complications including lung volume reduction surgery and transplantation.

"This is the first emphysema study that will use computed tomography (CT) scans as well as standard lung function tests to measure participants' lung function," said Paul Kvale, a Henry Ford pulmonologist and lead study investigator. "CT scans can assess the extent of tissue damage in the lungs and whether the study drug is making a difference."

Eligible participants in the two-year study will be randomly selected to receive either a placebo or gamma specific retinoid agonist, a new drug that in earlier studies has shown to effectively regrow lung tissue.

The study is open to former smokers who have not smoked for the past year, were diagnosed with emphysema, are age 45 and older, and have a history of smoking more than 10 packs of cigarettes a year.

Eligible participants will receive medication, undergo various testing procedures and make 15 office visits, all free, during the study.

To enroll or for more information, call (800) 996-0206.

Privileges of being a grown-up

When Sophia came downstairs 45 minutes after I'd tucked her in the other night, her worst fears were confirmed: Everything fun happens after she goes to bed.

Because my husband Don and I had eaten a late lunch, we'd passed on dinner with the kids, choosing instead to indulge in a late-night snack. Sophia left her room to complain of a sore throat and caught us pigging out in front of Family Guy. Yes, Sophia, it's true. After their kids are in bed, mommies and daddies eat popcorn and ice cream and watch cartoons.

Mom's the Word

Rebecca Kavanagh

"It's not fair," she groused as we escorted her back upstairs. "I can't wait to be a grown-up."

I remember feeling exactly the same way when I was her age. Long after my 8-year-old self was supposed to be asleep, I'd spy down the stairwell at my parents laughing with friends over euchre, sipping drinks from fancy glasses and snacking on — no fair! — homemade Chex Mix.

I had a plastic Holly Hobbie purse that couldn't fit more than a handful of change and my Bonnie Bell lip gloss. My mother's MacGyver-like handbag held everything a person could want or need. In addition to safety pins and tissues, she carried lipsticks I couldn't wear until I was 14, Doublemint I couldn't chew because of my braces and shopping lists devoid of the very items that I personally would have put at the top, such as Twinkies and Faygo. I especially craved the delicious power Mom held when she cruised the grocery aisles to determine whether we'd be eating meatloaf or tuna noodle casserole for dinner that night.

Now, of course, I know better. I've come to discover that although grown-ups do occasionally have fun after the kids go to bed, those precious few hours before we collapse ourselves are filled mostly with the mundane and the essential. We're whooping it up with laundry, bills, work deadlines and, these days, everything necessary to ensure that our sugarplum-dreaming darlings have a magical Christmas.

I laugh hardest these days at my childhood jealousy over Mom's dinner-planning privilege. It's not so much fun, I now realize, to come up with new and different ways to meet your children's nutritional needs when the only foods they're passionate about are pizza and PB&J. The other day, looking to mix things up a bit, I dared to pull out my mom's old meatloaf recipe. Mind you, Don abhors meatloaf. But he'd never tried this particular recipe, I reasoned, so maybe it would change his mind!

The last time I'd made the dish was 5½ years ago, when I was eight months pregnant with Jackson. Don was leaving on a business trip and, craving some comfort food, I decided to take advantage of my husband's absence to make a meal I wouldn't think of serving him. Perhaps I chopped the onion a bit too vigorously, because it was right around then that I felt my first contraction. Luckily, my frantic call to Don's cell phone caught him before he stepped on the plane, and cold meatloaf sandwiches hit the spot two days

365-day art fair

Co-op gallery offers work by local artists

James Ritchie likes to call the gallery at Laurel Park Place mall a year round art fair. The 18 artists make it possible for the cooperative to offer paintings, ceramics, photography and jewelry 365 days a year by each working 30 hours a month.

Debbie La Pratt came up with the idea to share the rent and hours after signing a lease to open Art-is-in-Market in the mall in Livonia two years ago.

"I get over 300 hours of exposure a month," said James Ritchie, a Westland photographer whose images range from classic cars to the last night game at Tiger stadium. "The gallery's open seven days a week and I don't have to be here."

The customers seem to be as enthusiastic about the concept. When La Pratt first opened she planned to only

It's hard for Rachel S. to explain why she stayed in an abusive relationship so long. Family and friends saw warning signs years before the couple married. It wasn't until after Rachel became pregnant that her eyes opened to the controlling and erratic behavior which included outbursts of anger.

"He would yell, throw things or get sarcastic. The twins were 7 months old when he swiped everything off the table while I was feeding them," said Rachel

S. "I was cleaning my daughter's room when he kicked her crayon box and chair and then grabbed me by the arms and threw me against the wall."

Rachel didn't call 911. Instead she fled to her parents' home. A few days later her ob/gyn handed her First Step's card. It took Rachel two to three days to call the hotline for the agency that helps survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault.

Although she's been divorced since March 2006, Rachel still visits the Plymouth office every couple of weeks. She continues later when we all returned as a family of four.

I told the kids that story as I was chopping the onions for this more recent loaf, and I also assured them that I'd loved this recipe as a kid when their grandma made it weekly. All of this emotional seasoning made them, and Don, really want to like dinner, bless their hearts.

Nobody did.

Oh sure, they all gamely chewed that first bite. But after I celebrated the initial chorus of "mmm," and after I pledged to make meatloaf once a week from now on, I noticed that everyone was concentrating a lot of eating energy on their potatoes and corn. Don cleaned his plate, but confessed to me later that it took Herculean effort. Sophia and Jack stopped at one bite, and apologized profusely for not liking this treasured meal.

It's OK, I assured them. I can handle it; I'm a grown-up.

to turn her life around. This semester Rachel resumes classes to earn a degree in social work at Schoolcraft College. In the future she hopes to help people on an individual basis but for now she is speaking to groups to increase awareness about the women and children whose lives turn into nightmares at the hands of an abuser.

"There are still a lot of misconceptions out there, still a lot of stereotypes that it happens to underprivileged women, that it's always physical," said Rachel. "There's a lot of mental intimidation. People would say why don't you leave. You get worn down. It becomes normal. It's important for people to talk about it even if you tell one other person. Don't ignore intuition or gut feelings you have and don't stay for your kids. I didn't know how I was going to do it. You learn to use your resources. You find out you're not alone and it's not always people who are married. Teenagers need to be aware.

It's possible to start over. It's scary, hard but home is all what you make it."

Thanks to First Step Rachel and her three young children are living in a small apartment far from the abusive environment. Their new life wouldn't have been possible without the programs of First Step. That's why fundraisers like Brian Duggan's charity dance on Feb. 8, and the Women of Westland's Chocolate Fantasy Ball on Feb. 16, are so important. The money goes to support the shelter program for those fleeing their homes; counseling services at First Step offices in Plymouth, Redford and Taylor, and a 24-hour help line for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault at (734) 459-5900, toll free (888) 453-5900.

"We don't have a big fundraising staff. When you have an outside group that select us it expands the number of people we can reach and provide these essential, critical services," said Theresa Bizoe, an associate director of First Step.

"We have trained counselors available and it is confidential," added Amy Youngquist, First Step associate director. "You don't have to be a survivor. We get calls from concerned family members, teachers to help the one they're concerned about."

Laura C. received counseling as a teenager when her mother decided to leave an abusive marriage. Laura recently graduated and plans to help others as a police officer.

"My dad always had a real bad temper. We started going to First Step because my mom didn't want us to think it was OK," said Laura C. "What I learned was how to interact and talk to kids in those situations to calm them down. One of the things that stands out the most is First Step had a ton of toys in the waiting area. I always keep stickers and coloring books in the back of the car. That was one of the best things about First Step that it was child friendly."

While many in the community know First Step as a shelter or refuge from domestic violence, the agency also runs a sexual assault program with prevention and intervention services.

"We see a lot of young women," said Youngquist. "The 15-24 range is a crucial time, a very risky time for teens. They become victims of sexual assault a lot of times with people that they know. According to the FBI 1 in 4 women, and 1 in 7 men will be victimized by sexual assault during their lifetime."

"People begged us please don't leave. They liked the Michigan concept featuring local artists," said La Pratt of Sterling Heights. "I signed up for another three months then six months and then a year. Customers can always meet an artist and not a salesperson and it gives people who don't do art shows a spot to have their work."

La Pratt annually exhibits her clay architectural work on Detroit landmarks at the Ann Arbor State Street Art Fair; Art & Apples, Rochester, and Arts, Beats and Eats.

"We offer everything from $6 for a tiny night light to $700 for a large painting," said La Pratt. "I think we have something for everybody in everybody's price range and artists will actually go to a person's home and hang their art work."

Each member of the cooperative has different reasons for belonging. Bev Ellis gets "great satisfaction when people like her work." At age 84 the Farmington Hills jeweler is the oldest artist in the gallery. She taught in Farmington Hills schools from 1960 to 1986. She also has worked at Clothes Encounter in downtown Farmington.

Tony DeCesco of Redford hasn't stopped painting since he took his first class at Schoolcraft College 14 years ago. He also exhibits his acrylic and oil paintings at Native

West in Plymouth.

Like DeCesco and Ritchie, Ro Lambert says the gallery lets customers know about the sterling silver and 14K gold filled jewelry she creates with gemstones, cultured pearls and Swarovski crystals. She does have a showroom in her Farmington Hills home that's open by appointment only to view her fiber tassels for hanging on doorknobs or tying back curtains.

Barb Teubert, who owns Barn Antiques in Northville, displays jewelry at the gallery. Annie Johnston of Northville embellished jackets and handbags.

"What I like about it is coming into contact with other artists," said Alan Casadei of Livonia, who does abstract painting and makes clocks out of 45 RPM records. "I like talking to them about different venues for art. They can guide you to which ones to do, which ones not to do, even where to buy supplies."

Susan Crespo couldn't keep with the demand for her wreaths, swags and centerpieces this holiday season. The award-winning designer has been in the gallery 1 1/2 years.

"I'm doing wonderful here," said Crespo of Farmington Hills. "It's a fun place to work. We all like the same things. You get a whole different perspective."

"It spurs your creativity. You get ideas looking at everything," said Elizabeth Walther of Plymouth.

Walther crafts whimsical clay salt and pepper shakers as well as jewelry and scarves. She is a member of the Greater Ann Arbor Quilt Guild and has shown work at the Ann Arbor Art Center.

Ann Hofman hopes viewers get inspiration from the spiritual images which can be seen in her photographs of clouds. Her series, Divine Faces of God, were not manipulated.

"My goal is to bring people back to God, to the Divine, to appreciate God's presence on earth through nature," said Hofman of Farmington Hills. Hofman graduated from the College for Creative Studies in 2006. She has displayed work in a New Mexico gallery; Scatter Joy Gallery of Faith, a local moveable gallery; Art in the Corridor in Farmington Hills, the Scarab Club, and Our Town exhibition. She also does encaustic paintings with beeswax.

"While I was at CCS my instructors wanted me to show God's presence with symbols. As a Catholic for me that was really hard. I took some clouds in and my instructor wanted me to stick with the clouds," said Hofman. "My senior thesis was on clouds. One is a photo of God sitting upon a throne in the clouds. There are multiple images within each photo. I get different reactions from everyone related to their beliefs. It's kind of in the eyes of the beholder."

For more information, call the gallery at (734) 432-9177.

UNUSUAL COMBINATIONS IN ARTHRITIS

Certain arthritic conditions do more than just cause joint aching. For instance ankylosing spondylitis is a form of arthritis that focuses on the low back, sacroiliac joints, and on the shoulders and the knees. Ankylosing spondylitis also causes an inflammation of the eyes known as iritis. The iritis can occur months or years before the back and joint pain of ankylosing spondylitis appears.

Individuals with forms of inflammatory bowel disease such as Crohn's or ulcerative colitis will often experience recurrent swelling of the knees or ankles. The arthritis may come on years before the bowel problem, or the bowel disease may be present for years before the individual notes the onset of recurrent knee swelling.

The theory for these associations between arthritis and other organ involvement is that the joints and these other sites share a common antigen. Therefore an attack on the joint by an antibody will lead to a similar assault on the eye because the eye has the same or a similar antibody-attracting site as the joint.

What remains unexplained is why a time lag occurs between the first attack say in the eye with iritis, and the much later appearance of joint inflammation in the back and sacro-iliac joints.

The doctor's role is to ask the seemingly unrelated questions such as when you first felt back pain or noted an isolated red eye. Knowing these associations allows him to make a timely diagnosis and institute therapy appropriate for the fundamental problem.

A NEW TAKE ON 20-SOMETHINGS' JOB SATISFACTION

by Mildred L.
Culp

The fact that 70 percent of workers in their 20s are unhappy with their organizations, according to Leadership IQ of Roswell, Ga., comes as no surprise. Its survey of 11,244 employees in approximately $150 to $200, Irvine notes, is critical for this generation, which has grown up with many amenities. He points out that sporting goods and electronics are frequent choices, as are luxurious dinners for two and hotel weekends away.

"This generation doesn't take loyalty for granted," Irvine reports. "Corporations are not good at saying, 'Thank you,' to employees." His service creates "a culture of appreciation."

"PSYCHIC INCOME"
Globoforce promotes the "recognition moment, a moment of genuine, well-considered appreciation, which varies greatly across the globe, according to individual circumstances and preferences," Irvine comments. However, in an obsessively-driven consumer culture, external rewards might well not be the answer. Spoken recognition might be. However, why not tip the balance and focus upon achieving job satisfaction from the inside out, rather than the outside in?

Leadership IQ finds that a boss's recognition matters more to this generation than anything else. Doesn't this mean that external rewards confuse the situation? If, as Irvine maintains, "thank you" is an underused expression, this would seem to be a very good time to reverse that trend.

Still, that "thank you" is external. It's one step closer to what the generation wants, but Gen Y needs an awareness of job satisfaction. How do they learn that there is something extremely special about their relationship to their work, which makes their relationship with their boss and organization only secondary? Leadership IQ maintains that job satisfaction increases as people age. How can companies bring maturity to younger workers in relation to job satisfaction?

Job satisfaction emerges when you grasp that your relationship to your work is exceedingly personal, that it's not driven by a boss's reaction or an organization's reward system. Job satisfaction comes from loving the work you do, not from constant recognition of your last step. It is a love of process. A sense of accomplishment is enhanced by external rewards, but the emotional satisfaction that comes from loving your work cannot possibly, in any context, be installed or instilled by anyone or anything outside.

The secret to increasing job satisfaction is to distract employees less with external rewards and teach them the value of doing something they love to do. Of course, that assumes that the employees are on a career track that suits them well. Bruce Tulgan, founder of Rainmaker Thinking Inc., in New Haven, Conn., advises 20-somethings to "figure out what you really need and want out of your job." This might well be the time to awaken them to the fact that one of their options is to enjoy doing their work, period.

Jaime Ryan, Client Services account manager at Boston's Globoforce Ltd., is shopping on the company's reward redemption site in recognition of her excellence at work. Like many Generation Y employees, she enjoys selecting something special from the thousands of merchants available on the site.

Credit: Kim Rosen

"While you are at work," Tulgan recommends, "you should be all about the work. (BEGIN ITAL)your work(END ITAL). Focus on playing the role assigned to you -- your tasks, responsibilities and projects -- before you ever try to reach beyond that role. Focus on doing them very well." Tulgan also suggests developing a "diary of your accomplishments." While doing so may help lead to a promotion or the next job, it nurtures joy in the fulfillment of work.

2008 Dodge Caliber SRT 4 offers great performance, at an affordable price

Advertising Feature

CAReport

By Dave Menard
Avanti News Features

Is there such a thing as an "entry-level" performance car? Is it possible to get a fun-to-drive performance car at a price that won't break your wallet? Dodge thinks so, and offers the 2008 Caliber SRT 4 as proof.

The Caliber SRT 4 (SRT stands for "Street and Racing Technology") is a five-door vehicle, and my first thought when I saw it was that it's the Dodge Charger's little brother.

The front fascia features functional brake cooling ducts and a larger grille opening. The hood features a functional air scoop for better underhood cooling. A large integrated spoiler above the rear glass is tuned for smoother air flow and lift reduction. The headlamps wrap from the grille to the fender and fog lamps are included, as well.

The rear features an integrated spoiler and 19-inch aluminum wheels are standard (chrome-clad wheels are optional). It's a sharp, tough-looking package.

The interior is nicely done, as well. The "alloy silver" finish instrument panel is well laid-out and includes a tachometer and coolant temperature gauge, and there's a turbo gauge on the far left of the dash.

The alloy silver finish extends to the shift bezel, and bright aluminum pedal pads feature rubber studs for enhanced grip.

An optional Reconfigurable Display is available, with "performance pages" that provide lateral and longitudinal G-force, one-eighth-mile and one-quarter-mile acceleration time and speed, 0-60 mph time and braking distance.

The interior offers some cool features, and I mean that literally. Above the glove compartment is what Dodge calls a "chill zone." It's a compartment that will hold up to four bottles or cans of your favorite beverage, and the compartment is cooled by air from the air conditioner.

The center console holds a flip up compartment to hold a cell phone or mp3 player. There are plenty of cupholders and other storage areas built in, and there is a power outlet available, as well.

The seats feature "performance fabric," whatever that is, and provide very good support. The seats can only be adjusted manually, though. The passenger seat can be folded forward to create a table-like surface. And 60/40 rear seats are available that can also be folded flat, giving you a good amount of cargo space.

Of course, if you'd prefer to carry passengers in the rear seating area, you can. While I wouldn't want to go cross country in the back seat, for normal driving distances there's enough room for two adults in the back. In the front, there's plenty of leg- and headroom.

The Caliber SRT 4 comes with air conditioning; a tilt-steering column; a leather-wrapped steering wheel; rear window defroster; a theft-deterrent system; keyless entry; power windows, locks and mirrors; and cruise control. A power sunroof is available as an option.

The standard audio system is an AM/FM/CD system with a jack for an auxiliary source, like an mp3 player, and four speakers. You can upgrade to a Kicker high-performance audio system that includes 13 speakers in seven locations, and is powered by a 322-watt amplifier and 200-watt subwoofer.

So much for the aesthetics - how does it drive? Actually, it's fun to drive. The standard powerplant for the SRT 4 is a 2.4-liter, 4-cylinder, turbocharged DOHC engine that features variable-valve timing and an intake manifold design with flow control valves.

It'll give you amazing power for a 4 cylinder. It's rated at 285 horsepower and 265 lb.-ft. of torque -- enough to get you blazin' off the line; 0-60 mph performance checks in at under six seconds. It's EPA-rated at 21, 26 mpg and you will need premium fuel.

It has a 6-speed manual transmission that is a breeze to shift when you're accelerating, but I found downshifting to be tricky. I had to engage in gear-hunting as the Caliber sometimes seemed to want to select a different gear than I did. Overall, though, going through the gears can be a lot of fun if you consider yourself to be even a little bit of an auto enthusiast type.

Ride and handling is a mixed bag. The ride can be rough, but the Caliber's handling is excellent. The front suspension is an independent MacPherson strut system, with coil-over-spring gas-charged shocks and stabilizer bar. In the rear, it's a multi-link independent system with coil springs, link-type stabilizer bar and gas-charged shocks.

Electronic Stability Program is standard. It's a nice system for a compact car. Rough roads will jar you a little, but the ride is smooth and quiet at highway speeds. Power-assisted rack-and-pinion steering is standard, and the turning circle is tight enough for quick U-turns (don't ask me how I know that; I won't tell you!) and for easy parking.

The SRT 4 Caliber comes with anti-lock 4-wheel disc brakes, which are excellent, and side-window curtain airbags. Side front seat airbags are optional.

The 2008 Dodge Caliber SRT 4 starts at about $22,500. Add the sunroof and upgraded performance tires and you're at about $24,000 -- not bad for a performance car.

There's a lot to like about the 2008 Dodge Caliber SRT 4. You'll get excellent performance, handling and braking, a sharp-looking interior and nice exterior styling, as well.

And if you're looking to dip your toe in the performance pool, this might be a good way to get your feet wet.
