District investigates possible bond request

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school officials will begin researching the possibility of a bond proposal for next year after getting the go-ahead from the school board Monday evening to do due diligence.

The board resolution opens the door for Superintendent Greg Baracy to work with the district's architect, bond counsel, construction manager, technology designer and financial adviser in preparing an application to submit to the state Department of the Treasury.

"The district is in the position of having a window of opportunity to replace a small part of the bonded debt and restructuring the 1998 bonds," Baracy told the board. "This resolution would let us continue to conduct further inquiries and do due diligence. We could then come back with a proposal for replacement of the 1998 bond and the amount that fell off."

In question is .34 mill which will drop off this year as the amount needed to pay off the $108 million bond decreases. The bond will be paid off by 2020, however, by refinancing that bond for a longer period of time and replacing the .34 mill, the district could issue a $50 million bond at "almost no cost to citizens," Baracy said.

According to Baracy, the impetus for the request comes from parents who have asked if the district can do more improvements at their schools. He added that air conditioning has been parents' No. 1 request.

"Many of our schools were built in the 1950s when air conditioning wasn't a priority," he said. "Air conditioning and parking are two issues we hear a lot about. Back then they didn't make parking lots for 400 cars."

Baracy added that initially a citizens committee had recommended $250 million in projects, which was pared down to the $108 million bond request.

"Significant things were eliminated and air conditioning was one of them," he said. "That was 10 years ago."

"I remember being on the bond committee, we looked at the needs and found them overwhelming," said board

President Skip Monit. "There were real basic things we needed to deal with, we couldn't go for the extras."

Baracy said it will take a year to prepare a bond proposal and the request will depend on residents.

"If we're going to do anything, we're going to have to do it ourselves," he said. "The state will not fund these kinds of capital projects. They have to be funded by the district."

Deputy City Clerk Nancy Bonaparte, who rose from the position of clerical worker to become the city's last appointed clerk, plans to retire Friday. 'I wouldn't hesitate to do it all again,' she said.

Bonaparte ends career on quiet note

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Nancy Bonaparte could never have predicted a career path that would lead her from a clerical job into the political spotlight as Westland's last appointed city clerk, before a public revolt that was no fault of hers made the job an elected position.

By all accounts, she handled her roller coaster ride with class, skill and a penchant for getting the job done despite seemingly impossible odds.

Bonaparte graciously stepped aside as the Westland City Council's appointed clerk in January 2004 after holding the job for two years. She accepted the second-ranking deputy clerk's job after local voters for the first time elected their own clerk, Eileen DeHart.

Bonaparte will retire as deputy clerk Friday, three days after celebrating her 60th birthday. She worked just over 11 years for the city, but she saw unprecedented upheaval in the clerk's office.

"I wouldn't hesitate to do it all again," she said Monday, reflecting on her career.

Bonaparte, a Canton resident, had worked as a United Auto Workers legal services office manager before she was hired as a clerical worker in Westland's finance department in January 1997. She became the council's secretary and then was chosen as deputy clerk in early 2000 by then-Clerk Joann Seaberg.

Seaberg and Bonaparte were suddenly thrust into their jobs after four council members in January 2000 fired City Clerk Patricia Gibbons, unleashing a public uproar that prompted voters to recall Councilmen David Cox and David James. Two other council members, Charles "Trav" Griffin and Sharon Scott, resigned.

HARD TIMES

Bonaparte, who knew and respected people on both sides of the turmoil, remembered how the controversy shocked the clerk's office and ripped apart the city.

"It was quite a trauma. It was heart-breaking, to a degree," she said.

While working to calm the clerk's office, Seaberg and Bonaparte also had to steer a record number of elections, including the recall vote.

"There was a lot of missed time with family and a lot of work on holidays and weekends," Bonaparte said. "It was a difficult time, but the staff really came through. That's one of the outstanding things about this department. It's a team effort."

Bonaparte became the appointed clerk after Seaberg retired. But she rejected any thoughts of trying to become the city's first elected clerk after voters approved a ballot measure making the job an elected position. Her husband Charles, a retired Detroit Diesel engineer, was waging his successful battle against cancer, and Bonaparte said she couldn't just pull up roots, move to Westland and wage a political campaign.

"It would have been too much," she said.

But she certainly has local ties. She has a mother and a daughter who live in town, and she's more knowledgeable about Westland than she is of her hometown of Canton. She smiles as she readily admits that Westland gets a greater

Workshop helps residents deal with foreclosures

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Amid a mortgage meltdown that has forced hundreds of Westland residents from their foreclosed homes, city leaders have announced a seminar aimed at protecting others from a similar fate.

Mayor William Wild plans to host the seminar, "Keeping Your Home: A Workshop for Westland Residents," from 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, at the city's Friendship Center, on Newburgh south of Ford.

The seminar will follow Wild's pledge in January to form a task force to help educate homeowners who may be on the brink of losing their houses. Some residents surviving the foreclosure crisis have told city leaders horror stories of once-proud families who simply walked away from their homes.

City officials hope to do whatever they can to avoid a deepening crisis that has not only swept through Westland but, indeed, the entire nation.

"It is imperative that our residents who are facing foreclosure have access to resources that may help them retain their homes," Wild said in a prepared statement. "Even if a homeowner is

Seminars educate vets on benefits

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

They may have fought in different wars and served in various branches of the military, but all veterans may be entitled to certain benefits and not even realize it.

A new veterans group and two Lansing legislators hope to change that.

The Westland Veterans Association, state Rep. Richard LeBlanc, D-Westland, and state Sen. Glenn Anderson, D-Westland, will sponsor a pair of informational seminars in April for area veterans, not just those from the sponsors' hometown.

"Our goal is to provide an avenue for veterans to learn what they're entitled to and the various types of benefits they can apply for," said Vietnam veteran Kenneth Mehl, who chairs the Westland Veterans Association. "We have reason to believe that a lot of veterans don't know what's entitled to them or what benefits may be available to them."

The sessions will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, April 19, at the Harris-Kehrer VFW Post 3323 on Wayne Road south of Cherry Hill, and at 1:30 p.m. on the same day at the Stanley Romanowski VFW Post 6896 on Joy Road east of Middlebelt.

Seating will be limited. To sign up, call Mehl at (734) 261-5955, Tony Wager at (734) 637-7992 or Joe Tebor at (734) 377-8329. Veterans expect large crowds at both seminars.

"Other cities have sponsored these seminars and the seating has been full," Mehl said.

The Westland Veterans Association became an offshoot of a group that worked on bringing The Moving Wall — a smaller version of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. — to the Westland Summer Festival in 2006.

The group hopes to educate veterans about benefits they may receive.

"This might sound morbid, but some people don't know that every veteran (and spouse) can apply to be buried in a national cemetery," Mehl said, "and we have one in Holly."

If the April 19 seminars prove successful, he said, it's possible another one may be scheduled in the fall.

share of her shopping dollars.

VOLUNTEER WORK

She has volunteered her time, such as helping every year to plan to city's observance of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

"It really made me feel like I was honoring him," she said. It seems fitting for a woman who, as a teenager, joined King's 1963 civil rights march in Detroit.

Bonaparte has worked for the city under three mayors, Robert Thomas, Sandra Cicirelli and William Wild. Although she took a pay cut, she adapted to becoming deputy clerk when DeHart took the helm of the department in January 2004. Bonaparte kept her promise to work as the deputy during DeHart's first four-year term.

"Nancy was a great teacher, and she really helped with the transition from appointed to elected clerk," DeHart said. "She was invaluable to me for all these years that I've been clerk, not only before I knew the job but after I knew the job. She always had a Plan B, and that's Nancy's persona. She's going to be greatly missed."

DeHart has strong confidence in Bonaparte's successor, Tina Stanke, but she will remember Bonaparte as the deputy clerk who helped her settle into her job.

"Nancy was a good co-worker and a good friend, and she will continue to be a good friend even though she will now have the freedom to do what she wants to do whenever she wants to do it," DeHart said.

Bonaparte said she will miss the clerk's office, which is the keeper of city records. The office has five workers other than the clerk and the deputy. Bonaparte also said she will miss the camaraderie she had with the city's election workers.

Bonaparte, who has five children and seven grandchildren, will have more time for her family, including her 90-year-old mother. In coming years, she and her husband plan to move to Florida, but she will never forget her time in Westland.

"This is a great community," Bonaparte said, "and I really feel like I'm part of it."

current with their payments but foresees a change in income, we hope to encourage them to be proactive before they actually fall behind."

The workshop will delve into topics like budgeting, credit repair and choosing the best refinancing option. Seminar speakers also will explain the foreclosure process and offer advice on how to slow it or stop it.

Wild's decision to form a task force came after he attended a November foreclosure summit hosted by Detroit and organized by the U.S. Conference of Mayors. At that time, Westland already had recorded 424 mortgage-related foreclosures for 2007.

Even some long-standing institutions, such as the nonprofit Wayne-Ford Civic League, have narrowly averted foreclosure for falling behind on bills they owe. League President Vic Barra said the organization, which sponsors youth athletics and senior citizen programs, paid $11,000 in back taxes this month as it continues to try to erase its debts.

Meanwhile, Wild said the April 2 seminar will be sponsored by his foreclosure task force and Lighthouse Community Development. It will be the first major public meeting arranged by the task force, which includes Westland City Council James Godbout, Deputy Mayor Courtney Conover, city Assessor James Elrod, Planning Commissioner Adam Hammons, Purchasing Director Jade Smith, Chamber of Commerce President Brookellen Swope and community leader Barb Moracco.

Judge orders trial for man charged with crime spree

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Westland man accused in a north-end crime spree will face trial on multiple felony charges, including armed robbery, home invasion, stealing a neighbor's property, felony firearms and identity theft.

However, 21-year-old Deidre Carrell Scott will not face trial for earlier charges of attempted kidnapping and assault with intent to rob while armed — charges that have been dropped because a woman couldn't identify him as her assailant.

If convicted in Wayne County Circuit Court, Scott could face penalties ranging up to life in prison. A not-guilty plea has been placed on record for him, and he remains jailed in lieu of a $750,000 cash bond.

Scott was ordered to stand trial after he was implicated in testimony last week in front of Westland 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos. His live-in girlfriend, 19-year-old Tyesha Tarnay Thomas, already was facing trial for identify theft due to statements made against her during an earlier preliminary hearing.

The pair lived at Warris Farms Apartments, on Newburgh south of Joy, when a crime spree occurred that led to criminal charges against them, Westland police Sgt. Brian Miller said.

On Jan. 8 at the Warris Farms complex, Scott is accused of breaking into a neighbor's apartment and stealing a computer, a camera, a bed and other belongings.

On Jan. 30, Scott is charged with robbing a woman at gunpoint as she was going to her residence at Scotsdale Apartments, on Newburgh south of Joy. The victim told police her assailant took her purse and fled on foot, trailed by an apparent getaway car that had been idling in the parking lot.

In that case, Miller has said in court that he was able to trace credit cards used at a Detroit gas station. He obtained a store video that ultimately led him to Scott and Thomas, resulting in nine counts of identity theft against them.

Earlier, Scott had been charged with attempted kidnapping and assault with intent to rob while armed for a Jan. 28 incident involving a woman at Parkcrest Apartments, on Warren east of Newburgh. But Miller said those charges were dropped because the victim couldn't identify Scott as her attacker.

In all, Scott is facing trial on charges of armed robbery, second-degree home invasion, felony firearms, receiving and concealing stolen property, and nine counts of identity theft. Thomas is facing trial only for the ID theft charges.

Scott already was on probation for a carjacking incident, Miller has said. Thomas has said in court that she had been attending Wayne County Community College.

Brother, sister plead to charges in assault case

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Taylor woman and her brother have been placed on probation for attacking her boyfriend — the father of her 6-year-old child — during an incident on Westland's south side.

Amanda Pugh, 25, and Nicholas Pugh, 20, received two-year probationary sentences in February after entering pleas in Wayne County Circuit Court, according to the Michigan Department of Corrections.

The Pughs were charged following an attack last October at Westland Meadows, a mobile home park near Van Born and Merriman. The assault initially left the victim paralyzed from the waist down, but police Sgt. Michael Harhold said the man regained use of his body.

Amanda Pugh's plea to assault with a dangerous weapon stemmed from allegations she drove a van into the victim after he grabbed onto the vehicle and then stood in front of it.

Nicholas Pugh's plea to assault with intent to do great bodily harm (less than murder) arose from accusations he got out of the van and beat the victim with a metal object.

The Pughs had gone to Westland Meadows to pick up Amanda Pugh's son when the incident unfolded. Amanda Pugh could have faced a four-year prison term, while her brother could have received up to 10 years behind bars.

Their pleas averted a trial and potential prison sentences. Both of them have been ordered not to violate any laws; not to leave the state without permission; to be subject to drug testing; to receive outpatient substance abuse treatment; to report for monthly probation appointments; to participate in adult education programs; and to pay certain costs associated with the case.

Good dining experience is restaurant's goal

BY SUE MASON

There's no reserved sign on the table, but according to Gus Sherwin, Bill Madden and Gary Howard, booth 29 at Leo's Coney Island is "reserved" for them.

Friends for more than 40 years, the three men can be found there around 8:30 a.m. most mornings, drinking coffee and talking.

"The food is good, the service is good, it's a great place," said Sherwin, a Westland resident. "It has pleasant people."

"And they give you a lot of coffee," added Madden of Dearborn Heights. "Although they could meet me at the door with my coffee."

Their comments are music to the ears of Martin George, who owns Leo's Coney Island along with Mike Kasira.

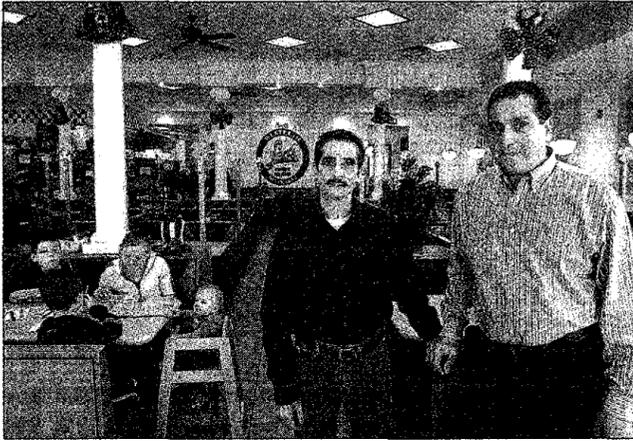

"We listen to what the customers want to make their dining experience good," said George. "We want customers to come here, so we listen to them. If we don't know what they want, we're not doing our job."

This is George's first venture into the food industry after 25 years in construction. He changed careers because of the state's lagging economy. Kasira has been in the business since coming to the United States from the Middle East 20 years ago.

"I started in Leo's and I'm still here," he said. "I love the connection with the people."

Leo's is a franchise business that George hooked up with it because he liked the concept and the food.

"Breakfast, lunch, dinner, there's a lot of choices on the menu, very reasonably priced," he said. "You can feed a whole family for $25-$30 bucks. That cost is excellent in this economy."

Leo's shares space with Starbuck's and Qdoba Mexican Grill at Warren Road and Central City Parkway. Its corner location allows for 138 seats inside and up to 36 diners on a covered patio in warmer weather. George had "good feeling" when he first saw the building. It was inviting and the patio was "attractive."

Inside is an open floor space with walls feature hand-painted murals of food — feta cheese, olive oil, tomatoes, lemons and eggplants. There are also festive holiday touches, provided by George's wife Monica.

"She brings a lot of flair to the restaurant, she does a good job," he said.

ON THE INCREASE

Business has slowly increased for the restaurant. Weekends are busy and breakfast is getting busier. And the restaurant has developed a cadre of regulars like Sherwin, Madden and Howard. George believes it's because of the good food and the fact that the restaurant is 100 percent nonsmoking.

"We're here to be successful, make money and do a good job," said George. "We want our employees to be happy and enjoy their work. We want the customers to feel like family."

The three men agree about the friendliness. They discovered the restaurant shortly after it opened in February 2007 and have been coming there ever since. They know the wait staff and George and share jokes with them like having their coffee ready for them at the door.

And there's something more. "My wife really likes it," said Howard, who lives in Plymouth. "She doesn't have to cook and she can hang out with people she likes."

Don't forget EIT credits when filing your income taxes

Residents should take advantage of a special tax benefit designed for working families, the federal Earned Income Tax Credit, according to State Rep. Richard LeBlanc, D-Westland.

According to LeBlanc, the EITC is a tax break for workers with moderate or low incomes.

"Tax time is here and it's important that our working families know about all the opportunities they have to get back the money they deserve," LeBlanc said. "We need to ensure that our hardworking men and women who are fighting to pay higher mortgages and put food on the table know about tax breaks like the Earned Income Tax Credit. The more money we can get flowing in to the local economy, the better it is for everyone for creating good paying jobs for our workers and increasing our quality of life."

About 665,000 EITC returns were filed in Michigan in 2006. But about $300 million in federal Earned Income Tax Credits went unclaimed. Residents who meet one of the following guidelines can qualify for the tax credit:

- Families with one child that earned less than $33,241 in 2007 (or less than $35,241 for married workers) are eligible for a credit of up to $2,853.

- Families with two or more children that earned less than $37,783 in 2007 (or less than $39,783 for married workers) are eligible for a credit of up to $4,716.

- Workers without a qualifying child who earned less than $12,590 in 2007 (or less than $14,590 for married workers) are eligible for a credit of up to $428.

Residents can learn more about the EITC and other important tax information, such as the federal tax rebates scheduled to be mailed out starting in May, by logging on to www.housedems.com. Residents must file their 2007 taxes so they can receive the federal tax rebate.

Michigan will debut its own state EITC starting with the 2008 tax year. Workers who qualify will be able to receive a percentage of the federal EITC from the state on next year's tax return, in addition to what they get from the federal credit. To learn more about the EITC, and to use a free e-filing system for taxpayers with a household income of less than $50,000, go online to www.MichiganEIC.org.

"This is a tax credit designed to make a difference for our working families," LeBlanc said. "Many families are living paycheck to paycheck, and as Westland's state representative, I encourage everyone to call to see if they are eligible for the Earned Income Tax Credit. It will not only help our families, it will boost local economies."

Homeowner's insurance protects your biggest asset

The winter has been long and tough for those living in southeast Michigan. As we look forward to the spring, don't forget Mother Nature has a tendency to make her presence known and the result sometimes is substantial damage.

Since a home is generally one's single largest purchase, it is important to protect it with homeowner's insurance. Unfortunately, the majority of people buy homeowner's insurance when they buy their house and then generally forget about the policy until they have a claim.

It pays to be proactive to protect yourself. So before spring storms arrive, it is important to review your homeowner's policy to make sure it is up to date.

Unfortunately, a homeowner's policy can be difficult to understand. They tend to be written by lawyers for lawyers. That is why in most cases it is important to deal with a homeowner's insurance agent who is more than just a salesperson. A good agent should be able to explain the terms of your present policy and look at your present situation to make sure you are properly insured. A good agent also should be your advocate if you ever have a problem in dealing with the insurance company. One of the keys is to find someone who you can communicate with and with whom you feel comfortable asking questions. In addition to insurance, other ways to protect your home and its contents is to have a videotaped inventory. It's inexpensive and the benefits are invaluable in case of a natural disaster.

Money Matters

A videotape will help you remember what you have and provide some documentation. Once it's complete, store the videotape either in a safety deposit box or some sort of fireproof box.

If you own collectibles such as artwork, make sure you videotape the artwork and also any appraisals or receipts that you may have. Talk your way through the video. Remember, the purpose is to remind you of what you have and to provide proof to the insurance company in case of a disaster. Therefore, the more information you have on your videotape, the better it will be.

For individuals unhappy with their current homeowner's policy it pays to receive competitive bids. Make sure you ask about discounts. In addition, if you belong to a credit union ask for a competitive bid. Credit unions offer very good discount programs.

How often should you shop around for a homeowner's policy. Although, there are no hard fast rules, I generally recommend at least every two to three years. We live in a very competitive society and you'd be surprised how fast homeowner's policies change. You may find that shopping around gets you a better policy for less money.

Don't assume that the cheapest bid is the best bid. That is not always the case. In addition, just because one policy may be good for your neighbor does not necessarily mean it's good for you. The key is to take your time and find the right policy that's priced appropriately and matches your individual situation. Good luck!

Remember, the few minutes that you spend with your homeowner's policy may literally save you thousands of dollars down the road.

Dick Purtan Radiothon raises over $2,310,070

The Salvation Army of Metro Detroit, Oldies 104.3 WOMC, Dick Purtan and Purtan's People joined forces for the annual Dick Purtan Radiothon on Friday, Feb. 29, live from Oakland Mall. The 16-hour event raised $2,310,070 to benefit the Army's Bed and Bread Program.

The Bed and Bread program brings food, shelter and services to countless destitute people within our community, providing them with their basic needs and assisting them to get back on their feet.

More than 4,900 meals are served each day to the hungry by the program, which includes Bed & Bread trucks that make stops in metro Detroit's most depressed areas every day of the year. In addition, the Bed & Bread program shelters 565 men, women and children each day. The need this year has been greater than ever with Michigan's economic state and with recent bitter cold temperatures.

"We are grateful for the outpouring of kindness and support metro Detroit has shown the Dick Purtan Radiothon and, in turn, The Salvation Army over the last 21 years," said Major Norman Marshall, divisional commander of The Salvation Army Eastern Michigan Division. "The need is great and growing in our community. The funds raised will help us to provide daily bread for those who are hungry and a place to sleep for those without shelter."

Donations to The Salvation Army's Bed and Bread Club program can still be made by calling (248) 307-1043 or by visiting: www.salmich.org.

Here's another chance to 'Dine with the Stars'

Buddy's Pizza and the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are back for a second season of Dining with the Stars.

This month's lucky winner will have lunch or dinner with Trudi Daniels, the popular news host of the Drew & Mike show on WRIF-FM (101.1).

To enter the contest, tell us in 100 word or less why you want to dine at Buddy's with Trudi Daniels. E-mail your entry to BuddysDiningStars@gmail.com by midnight Sunday, March 16.

Daniels, the recipient of Hour magazine's Sexiest Voice Contest and the recent host of the WRIF Rock Girl Competition, describes herself as a wife and mom who enjoys inline skating and scuba diving. She's a certified open water scuba diver just back from sunny Mexico.

Her favorite music? "I still love Stevie Ray (Vaughan) — he's immortal — the (Red Hot) Chili Peppers and, of course, my iPod is crammed with AC/DC! Favorite new album is Stadium Arcadium and best new song, Worldwide Suicide," Daniels said.

This month's lucky winner will be treated to a limo ride to Buddy's by All Class Transportation & Limousine Services, a $100 gift certificate to the Reaver Diamond Co. in Southfield, a makeover by Utopia Salon in Northville and a dance exhibition courtesy of Fred Astaire Dance Studio in Bloomfield Hills.

Buddy's Pizza reviews all entries for "Dining With The Stars" and selects the top four to five "fan" letters. The star featured for the month makes the final selection.

'Raccoon Tune' named Michigan Reads book for kids

The Library of Michigan today announced that it has selected Raccoon Tune by Michigan author Nancy Shaw as the featured title for the 2008 Michigan Reads! program. Michigan Reads! is a one-state, one-children's-book program devoted to increasing early childhood literacy, with programming, events and author visits slated to take place throughout September 2008.

"With the tremendous success of last year's Michigan Reads! and the program's continued growth each year, we expect hundreds of thousands of Michigan children to take part in sharing Raccoon Tune," said State Librarian Nancy Robertson. "It's a wonderful book, the kind that can jumpstart young imaginations and the interest in reading that's so key to lifelong learning success."

For the second year in a row, Target is the sole sponsor of Michigan Reads! Thanks to Target's support, the Library of Michigan will provide a copy of the book and programming materials to public libraries, elementary schools, Head Start and Michigan School Readiness programs across the state.

Raccoon Tune — written by Ann Arbor resident Nancy Shaw and illustrated by Howard Fine — tells the story of a family of mischievous raccoons on a rollicking night outing, rifling through sleeping people's trash in search of treats.

More information about Michigan Reads! 2008, including dates and locations of author visits, will be posted on the program's Web site at www.michigan.gov/michigan-reads in the coming months.

OUR VIEWS

Flag ceremonies are good policy

It's a custom for the two elected bodies in Westland to invite youngsters to their meetings to lead the gathering in saying the Pledge of Allegiance. It's a custom we think is great experience for the youngsters who stand there and recite the pledge as well as for the people watching them.

It's been a practice of the Wayne-Westland school board since 1983 to have students conduct the pledge ceremony, and it speaks volumes to the district's commitment of being for and about children.

Likewise, the Westland City Council has been inviting youngsters to participate in its meetings for many years.

The youngsters attend elementary schools in the district and the city and provide biographies about themselves. While they talk about their families, their teachers and their favorite subjects, it is hearing what they want to be when they grow up that brings smiles to the adult faces. You cannot help but smile when you hear a second-grader tell you he wants to be a doctor, "the kind that makes you feel better."

The courtesy and the attention afforded the young guests is as fresh and inviting as the first time the council and school board had students to come to the meetings. And who knows how the chance to say the pledge can affect the child. Bill Clinton was 16 years old when he shook the hand of then President John F. Kennedy and said the encounter inspired him to get into politics and eventually become president of the United States.

Will any of those young children who do the flag ceremony go on to be president of the United States? None of them have expressed such an interest in their biographies, but the contact with a member of the school board or the city council may inspire them to become involved in their communities as adults.

We're glad to see the school board and council involve youngsters in the governmental process and hope they will continue to do so. Participating in the ceremony fits nicely with the core democratic values youngsters must study in elementary school. It also gives the two bodies an opportunity to showcase today's youth who may grow up to be the school superintendent, the mayor or even president of the United States.

Northwest, Delta merger could be a boon to area

In February, talks began about a merger between Delta and Northwest Airlines. Pilots from the two airlines are currently in negotiations on merging their contracts and ironing out ticklish seniority issues.

Delta and Northwest are two old, "legacy" airlines. They have both emerged from bankruptcy, but continue to face serious cost issues, especially as oil prices continue to rise. The large pre-deregulation airlines have had a difficult time competing against more nimble, smaller carriers like Spirit and Southwest.

The airlines hope to streamline their operations, eliminate duplicate service and build on their different strengths. Delta flies trans-Atlantic, while Northwest flies trans-Pacific.

As a hub for Northwest, Detroit Metro might hope to capitalize on the merger, especially as Wayne County continues to emphasize the development of an airport city. The strong international schedules could make Detroit a hub for both passenger and freight service from all corners of the world.

While all of that may be good news for the emerging "aerotropolis," the proposed merger has raised some serious concerns. How will it affect air rates? Will the merged airline, the largest in the country, drive out its smaller competitors? Will streamlining service eliminate routes to some areas that are now served? Will the merger result in large job losses at a time when unemployment is high?

These are questions that the U.S. Justice Department needs to examine.

We support the airport city concept and believe that a strong Delta-Northwest could play a key role in that development if those questions can be answered.

Disappointed about vote

I am writing in response to the news article that was posted in the Westland Observer Thursday, March 6, 2008 — "Council gives OK to fitness center."

I guess you can say I have a couple of issues.

I am sad and disappointed that Westland City Council has yet approved another fitness center in Westland, not to mention that this new proposed fitness center will be directly across the street from another fitness center. Patrons will get their exercise walking back and forth to the fitness centers.

I am also disappointed that Westland did not announce the City Council meeting for this proposed demolition of the Quo Vadis movie theater/approval of the fitness center. It was not mentioned in the Westland Observer, Free Press or The Detroit News. Had it been published, teens, Zachery Gizicki and Don Gurka from Churchill High School would have attended this meeting, probably bringing more supporters with them, trying to convince the proposed developer to save some of this historic building or using this building not for a fitness center but perhaps a performing arts theater. (These boys had a lot of ideas).

I was at the Westland Planning Commission meeting when these young men got up to speak in front of the commissioners, stating their concerns. These teens had done a lot of research on this building and the history behind it. (They have created a Web site www.savethequo.org and also a MySpace page "Quo Vadis Preservation Foundation"). One city commissioner asked where these boys were when the Quo Vadis was being closed. I will tell you where these boys were. These boys were only 9 years old then. What could they do?

I thought Zachery Gizicki and Don Gurka did an excellent job presenting their viewpoints about the Quo Vadis.

The news of the approval to demolish the Quo Vadis to build a fitness center is especially disheartening since the announcement of Westland Showcase theatre in Westland being closed. This was the only movie theatre that was now left in Westland.

The City of Westland wants to keep people here in the city, doing business, but where are residents of Westland now going to see movies? I guess we will have to go to Canton to see movies (Canton has a lot of movie theaters), and while we are there we can go get our exercise, too, and walk across the street to their fitness centers!

Kilpatrick must go

"I saved them $3 million" is what Kwame Kilpatrick said to reporters about the almost $9 million settlement to the police officers.

What a shame. He has pretty much ruined that city. The City Council makes a resolution, then tables it, until after Kym Worthy makes her ruling as to the possible prosecution. The mayor's people talked to the council members and then they show they have no backbone. This goes to show that nothing will be done. He will walk away scot-free and so will Beatty. They lied on the stand, they perjured themselves. The entire city of Detroit is in the worst possible situation ever because of the crimes they committed. Now they want to sell dozens of parks to make up the nearly $9 million they lost to the officers who were doing their jobs.

With the stuff this guy has done since his first day in office — spending of public money, the Navigator and having the chief of police lie about it, the nearly $300,000 he put on the credit card, buying family members tickets for vacations — the sad thing is, the people of Detroit are just too blind to see any of this.

The Wayne County prosecutor will not do anything, the City Council will back down and life will go back to the way it was. It's time for the U.S. government to step in and clean up the entire mess before Detroit goes down the drain any further. Recall everyone in office, they all have to go. They're a cancer that is growing daily.

I lived in Detroit, I love going down there. I have met Kwame on several occasions. I told him to his face pretty much exactly what I said here. He was smug. He's for Kwame and nobody else. He is a thug and always will be. The sad part is, they say justice is blind and they're absolutely correct. The people and officials are blind and will turn their heads and look away.

At a time when the city is being built up, it's being torn down due to the thug mayor. Get rid of them before it is too late. Maybe all the people who go down for sporting events, concerts and casinos should stop going until something is done. Maybe that will show them that someone cares.

Something wrong with case

I read, with great interest, the recent article regarding Alex Letkemann, and the fact that he took (and passed) a polygraph test that refutes the ACO manager's testimony. She has said that she saw Alex in her store two days before the murder, looking at hatchets and blow torches.

I cannot understand why the prosecutor is not interested in this polygraph. If the goal is to seek the truth and ultimately find justice, why would they not want to consider a polygraph? Is it because it does not fit their original theory on this crime? I understand that Alex even offered to take a police polygraph on the issue.

I have to believe that the detectives involved would want to know everything related to this case, especially if a key witness is mistaken. Does anyone remember the Duke lacrosse player that was on TV screaming that he took a polygraph showing his innocence, but the prosecutor was too arrogant to care?

It seems to me that the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office should want to look at all aspects of this case and not ignore things that may tell a different story.

Something is wrong here and I don't know how anyone could read that story and not feel the same way.

Hollywood hurts UAW

A message to the UAW: Why aren't we protesting the advertising voice-overs Hollywood stars make for foreign cars and other products? I keep hearing Kevin Spacey shilling foreign cars as well as many others and I don't hear a peep from the UAW leadership or rank and file.

While the Hollywood types are big Democrats and UAW leadership pushes millions toward the Democrats, the Hollywood crew is busy swinging a wrecking ball at U.S. car manufacturing sales — not only through advertisements but by the cars they choose to "promote" when filming and the companies they choose to support in their advertising endorsements.

Yes, they have the right to sell their voices to anyone they please. However, we have the right and should expect that the UAW sit down with the Democratic National Committee and have someone encourage the Hollywood crowd to not help our major competitors sell their foreign cars. In the end it is in their interest too because by putting us out of business, who is going to pay $9 to go to see a movie here in America?

Certainly the workers at GM, Ford and Delphi are going to struggle at being able to do that in the near future without a little help from Hollywood as well as others. Perhaps we should vote against Hollywood with our feet by not seeing the films of back-stabbing Hollywood stars who promote foreign cars.

Ushering at Showcase Cinema: A job that never felt like work

Everyone has a favorite job, a rollicking, freewheeling workplace that never really felt like "work." It was a place where lasting friendships were forged and fond memories of being young and (relatively) responsibility-free were formed. For me, that job was toiling for years as an usher at Showcase Cinemas Westland.

On Sunday, March 2, Showcase showed its final film and closed its doors for good. My wife and I visited the theater on that day to take a final look around, snap some pictures, and say our good-byes. As we walked up to the front glass doors we passed the marquee proudly facing Wayne Road; I had spent many a warm summer night and frigid winter snowfall perched precariously off a ladder, hanging from the upper reaches of that marquee, struggling to replace the letters for the week's departing films with the new incoming titles. It was always nice when drivers would pass by and honk as I worked; I would try to wave back, if I dared release a hand to do so. Being terrified of heights, I was reluctant to do this much.

My wife and I approached the front doors and as we entered, I stole a glance back to the large circular globe lights that lined the sidewalk up to the entrance; the old usher's trick was that if a globe light burned out, a solid whack with a broom to its lightpost would usually cause them to blink back on. How many times had I done that? How many times had I shoved that walkway in thick, blowing snowstorms?

The large lobby had not changed much; some new paint on the walls in places, but otherwise the same. No familiar faces at the box office or behind the bold white concession stand anymore. We sat on a bench and looked around. I had patrolled this space for years with broom and dustpan, struggling to keep up with the popcorn that seemed to be endlessly strewn about the carpet. I must say I took great pride in the appearance of the lobby and the theaters I cleaned; to a movie lover like me the theaters were like cathedrals and demanded the utmost respect and cleanliness.

I remembered the lobby during the holidays when staff Christmas decorating parties would take place: the tree would go up, the trim and bows would be hung and the managers would spring for pizza. The lobby would be absolutely abuzz during that time of year; the mixture of holiday excitement (and holiday movies) along with the genuine camaraderie amongst the staff made working holidays such as Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year a joy. I never really minded it at all.

We stood up, wandered over to the cashier and asked if a manager we knew, Mr. Erickson, happened to be working that afternoon. He was not, but he would be in later that evening. We wouldn't be able to make it back that night, but we thought it fitting that he would be here as the final movie played. He had been here for years, and I fondly remembered him as one of the place's finest managers and one of the best bosses I ever had.

My wife and I had a newborn at home; we knew we couldn't stay long. I wished I could see one more movie here. A man was removing the video games from the lobby's gaming areas. I smiled to myself as I recalled when there was down time between movies, a certain manager would retreat to the game room to play Mortal Kombat alone. We couldn't stop cracking up when we would hear a fist pound and a quick flurry of loud profanity from around the corner; our poor manager had been executed in gruesome fashion yet again.

We had one more stop to make before we left the theater for the last time; I dragged my wife over to one of the lobby's box offices and we took a quick self-portrait in front of it. We had both started working here at Showcase back in 1992. We had spent countless hours talking in this lobby; I would be circling the floor picking up popcorn and she would be sitting prettily in her box office and we would exchange pleasantries and talk movies. Ten years after we met at Showcase, we were married. She is the greatest gift the place gave me, along with the years of memories I have of working there.

We made our way out the front doors and back to the car. I made one final circle around the back of the theater building; the outer reaches of the parking lot had not been plowed and were snow-covered. They probably had not needed to use that lot space for years as business had not been good. We recalled how the entire lot used to be packed for summer and holiday busy seasons. For me, the ultimate Showcase movie was Jurassic Park, which opened in June of 1993 and played there all summer long, unheard of when compared to today's here-and-gone blockbusters. The projectionists cranked up the volume in the auditoriums that played the film so the staff could hear the roar of the T-rex out in the lobby. The parking lot was packed all summer long for that one.

And that was all. We turned out of the lot and pulled away, leaving a vital chapter of our younger years behind. It's a shame it ended as it did, with the inability of corporate management to adequately upgrade the theater to remain competitive along with paranoid governmental red tape derailing last-ditch plans for renovation. I dread the day the place is torn down. But even if that day comes, I will try to be here, watching and remembering the people I met and the memories that were made here, and doing so with much gratitude.

AAUW show 'good for the soul' for kids, performers

There was a little bit of magic this past weekend at Garden City High School. Members of the Plymouth-Canton Branch, American Association of University Women, took to the stage for performances of Snow White, a proud tradition dating back to 1959.

The cast kept busy with five performances, Thursday and Friday nights, and three daytime shows Saturday. Rehearsals started in January.

Elaine Bain of Plymouth Township recalled getting involved years back when asked to handle publicity, which included stacks of fliers throughout her house. "I worked my way up to being the house manager, and I liked that," said Bain, a retired English teacher from East Middle School in the Plymouth-Canton district.

Bain was then asked about taking on the role of the dog in Peter Pan (AAUW members rotate a series of plays to keep things fresh from year to year, rewriting dialogue to appeal to today's youngsters).

"I thought 'You know, that might be fun' and I was hooked," she said.

"When we come together and do the play it's almost like we're a family," she noted. Bain's been ill in recent years, but determined to continue with the annual children's play.

"I often don't feel good and I have to go out because of the play. I've discovered once I get there after about half an hour I don't feel sick anymore. It's good for the soul."

She and other cast members like to get into their characters. Many of the women are local educators, and it's fun for their students to spot them on stage in costume.

Bain was pleased with the 780, near capacity crowd at Garden City High for opening night, Girl Scout Night. "Of course, being an English teacher one likes to do this kind of thing," she said. Her topic for the Scouts was speaking clearly, with other women covering body language, costumes and other theater-related topics.

"We had them up and down in their seats doing different things," Bain said.

"You can be the antithesis of who you are," she added. "It's fun to go up there and be a goofball." Her Snow White character fit that description, Sir Dandiprat Bombas.

A major contributor to the play's success is co-director Becky Copenhaver of Canton, a third-grade teacher at Hoover Elementary School in the Livonia district. "This is my 28th year" of being involved, said Copenhaver, who shared directing duties with Shirley Zaetta, Kay Paupore and Diana Wilcox. She saw Cinderella done by AAUW when her own boys were 3 and 5, and thought she'd like to get involved.

"A lot of children haven't even been to a live performance before," Copenhaver said, noting the branch values being able to bring live theater to area families each year. "You can't beat the price," she added — $5 in advance, $6 at the door, with proceeds for scholarships.

The organizers do a lot of interactive efforts with children at each show. "Afterwards, of course, meeting everybody is just so exciting," the co-director said. The cast lines up outside the auditorium after each show, with eager youngsters meeting the performers. Some girls Saturday arrived in costumes, such as Snow White, and were thrilled to have photos taken.

Copenhaver recalled when she played the White Rabbit in Alice in Wonderland a child said "I have your movie." This year, the Canton resident took to the stage as the Skunk. After the show, she asked children, "Who was your favorite character other than the Skunk?"

My role in Snow White this year was minor and offstage, baking banana bread for the Saturday cast lunch and ushering that morning. Even so, I shared in the camaraderie that kept these women going strong all these years. This and many other community projects, some in the arts and in other fields, make our communities better places to live for the young and old alike.

A highlight Saturday was the cast lunch, coordinated by hard-working Sue Sayers. The group shared some laughs and applauded all the work that went into making Snow White a success.

"That's a great way to catch up with everybody," said Copenhaver, Plymouth-Canton branch president. "These friendships are special. You see their kids grow up, too."

These days, kids spend so much time in front of computers and TVs, and the educators and others in AAUW like to take this time every year to balance that with live performances. I don't like to sound like a Luddite, but I agree with the play's organizers that it's a great idea for kids to see live theater — and I'm grateful to those who provide it year after year.

Glenn grappler Austin earns state runner-up honors

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

PREP WRESTLING

Individually, no area team had a better weekend than Westland John Glenn. The Rockets, led by 125-pound state runner-up Jeremiah Austin, also got a third from Anthony Pavlich (103) and a fifth from Jared Stephens (130) during the MHSAA Division 1 state championships held at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

Austin, a senior, finished the year with a glittering 53-2 record, his only two losses coming against eventual state champion Zac Stevens of Monroe.

Not bad for a district qualifier from a year ago.

Austin reached Saturday's championship match with a 6-5 decision Friday over Zach Davis of Davison after winning by a 21-6 technical fall over Dan Sabin of Grand Haven and an 18-7 major decision over Michael Dibble of Rochester Stoney Creek on Thursday.

"Jeremiah is the most talented athlete I've ever coached," Glenn's Bill Polk said. "He's an example to his entire team as a student and leader. He has been a positive influence on and off the mat to all of our guys.

"Jeremiah was one our captains this year because he was often the biggest cheerleader on the sidelines for everyone from the JV to the other captains. It has been a pleasure coaching him and watching him become a young man."

Pavlich, a sophomore, ended the year 52-4.

He reached the semifinals Friday before losing to eventual state champion Andrew Brackins of Waterford Kettering, 7-5. Pavlich bounced back to win the consolation final over Jon Rangel of Lansing Everett with a pin in 2:31.

"He was very close to being a state champion and I'm sure his third-place finish will fuel him to work even harder to accomplish his goals," Polk said. "He arguably had the best sophomore season in the history of John Glenn. He has been very dedicated to his sport for several years and this year his hard work paid off."

Stephens, who finished 47-9 overall, earned fifth place with a 3-2 decision over Nick Bara of Romeo.

Holt's Grant Ankney decided the Glenn junior in the second round, 10-7. Stephens then decided Kevin Hayter of Salem, 9-5, and Steve Sattler of New Baltimore Anchor Bay, 3-2, before losing to Josh Houldsworth of Holly on a major decision, 9-0.

"Jared wrestled outstanding at the state tournament," Polk said. "He was arguably in the toughest weight class in the state from top to bottom. He showed us that he has the potential to become a state champion his senior year."

Signlines

Kemp spurs Lions

Neal Kemp (Lutheran High Westland) captured a pair of matches as Lindenwood (Mo.) University repeated last weekend as NAIA wrestling team champion at the Iyson Events Center in Sioux City Iowa.

Kemp, a senior who hails from Melvindale, is transfer from Triton (Ill.) Community College. He finished 17-14 on the year.

Teammate Lance Shunia (Southfield), a junior and Walled Lake Central High School placed sixth in the heavyweight division to finish 27-5 overall.

Rogowski returned

Livonia native and former Catholic Central High standout Casey Rogowski was reassigned Monday to the Oakland As minor league development camp.

The non-roster invitee, an infielder, went 2-for-11 in his spring training stint at the plate and will likely be assigned to AAA Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

Richardson hailed

Madonna University junior catcher Danielle Richardson (Lapeer West), who hit .600 (12-for-20), was selected the first Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference women's softball Player of the Week (ending March 9).

Against ninth-ranked Dickinson State (N.D.), Richardson went 4-for-4 with a walk and two doubles. For the week, she collected seven RBI, three doubles and scored four times, while throwing out 60 percent of base stealers. Richardson is hitting .487 overall with five doubles and 13 RBI for the 8-4 Crusaders.

MU duo hailed

Madonna University teammates Kevin Zerbo (Farmington Hills Harrison) and Will Kennedy (Westland John Glenn) were named Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference Player and Pitcher of the Week, respectively, in the first week of honors for the 2008 season.

Zerbo was MU's leading hitter over a 10-game stretch as the Crusaders posted a 7-3 record, including seven straight wins in the RussMatt Collegiate Tournament in Arizona. He is hitting .394 (13-for-33) with two homers and eight RBI. He has a career-best 12-game hitting streak.

Kennedy, 1-1 on the mound, went 1-0 for the week, including a 1-0 no decision. He fanned 15 over eight innings, including a career-best 12 in a complete-game shutout over Montana State-Billings while allowing only two hits. He fanned three of four batters in a relied outing vs. SIU-Edwardsville.

Luke sparkles at state meet, Spartans 11th

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A top-10 finish eluded Livonia Stevenson in Saturday's MHSAA Division 1 boys swimming and diving championships held at Oakland University. The Spartans, Western Lakes Activities Association champions, placed 11th overall with 68 points.

Ann Arbor Huron edged rival Ann Arbor Pioneer for the team title, 279-260. Grand Haven was third with 188, while rounding out the top 10 were Birmingham Brother Rice (170), Grand Rapids Forest Hills Unified (161), Northville (153), Hartland (128), East Kentwood (123), Saline (113) and Grandville (109).

A disqualification for two infractions in the 200-yard medley relay, where Stevenson was seeded tied for fourth, got the Spartans off on the wrong foot.

"We took an extra stroke in the backstroke and we left early in the breaststroke," Stevenson coach Jeff Shoemaker said. "It was big because we probably would have been fourth. It kind of hurt us for dang sure."

The Spartans didn't earn their first points until the sixth event, the 100 butterfly, as senior Robert Luke placed seventh (52.55) and junior teammate Mike Cruce finished 10th (53.67).

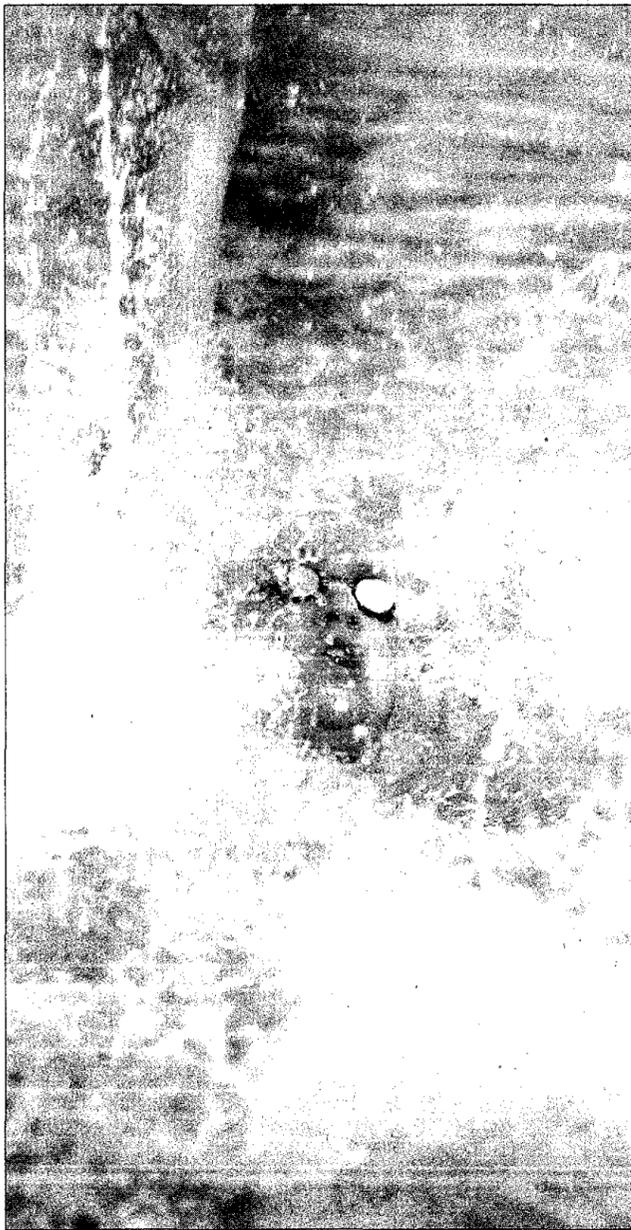

The Spartans' foursome of junior Chris Behler, sophomore Aaren Marecki, junior Ryan Scott and senior Kyle Hermann added an 11th in the 200 freestyle relay (1:30.53).

Luke garnered Stevenson's best finish on the day with a fifth in the 100 backstroke (53.44), while junior Joey Wingett contributed an eighth in the 100 breaststroke (1:01.27).

Stevenson also lowered its time in the 400 freestyle relay as Behler, Marecki, Hermann and Cruce took 11th in 3:18.55.

In Friday's prelims, Behler earned an alternate spot with an 18th in the 50 freestyle (22.62). Hermann was 21st in 22.75.

Behler added a 21st in the 100 freestyle (50.57), while Cruce was 21st in the 500 freestyle (5:00.05).

Quint, Guzik lead individual places at D-1 state meet

Livonia Blue's Emily Quint and Livonia Red's Paula Guzik each turned in a solid all-around performance in Saturday's MHSAA Division 1 individual gymnastics meet held at Plymouth High School.

Quint, a sophomore, finished third overall with a score of 37.65, tied with Karen Verbrugge of Forest Hills and only behind the Grand Ledge duo of Meaghan McWhorter (38.60) and Alexis Byington (38.40).

Quint's best finishes included runner-up on floor exercise (9.55); third on vault (9.6); and a tie for fourth on balance beam (9.475), earning All-State recognition in three of four events. She also added 9.025 on the uneven parallel bars.

Guzik, a senior, capped her outstanding career by taking sixth overall with 36.90 thanks to fourth on vault (9.575) and floor exercise (9.5). She also scored 9.075 on the balance beam and 8.75 on the uneven bars.

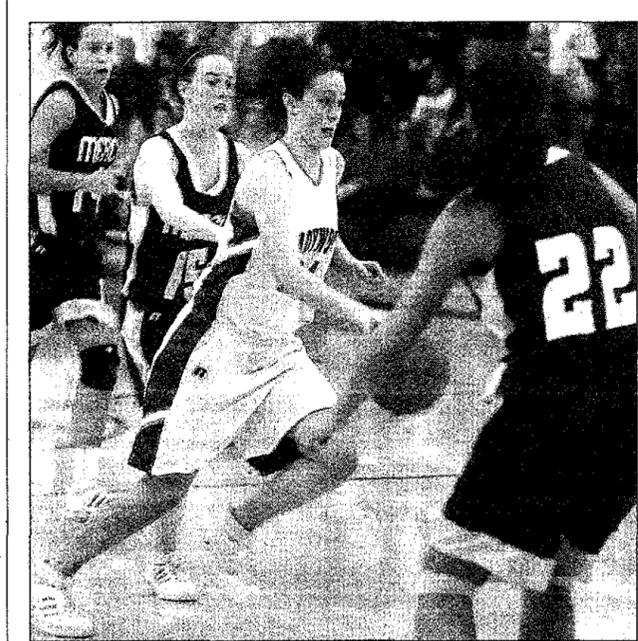

Livonia Blue junior Meghan Powers also earned All-State honors by tying for eighth on floor exercise with 9.35. Teammate Brittany Janis, also a junior, took 12th on the uneven bars (9.05).

In Division 2, Livonia Blue's Kelly Tapella and Laura Nomura placed 11th and 12th, respectively, in the all-around with scores of 35.30 and 35.05.

Tapella, a senior, tied for seventh on floor (9.175) and added an eighth on bars (8.775). Her other scores included 8.9 (vault) and 8.775 (beam).

Nomura, a junior, placed third on floor (9.325) and tied for fourth on vault (9.15). She also added 8.45 on the uneven bars and 8.125 on beam.

Despite losing tourney bid, Adrian hockey team shines

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

This wasn't the way the season was supposed to end for the Cinderella story of the NCAA Division III hockey season. Winners of 20 straight with a 26-3 overall record, first-year program Adrian College awaited the call that never came Sunday night.

The Bulldogs, hopeful for one of the four at-large bids in the 10-team NCAA field, had their bubble burst in a cruel and unusual manner.

The NCAA selection committee extended the bids to Elmira, Hobart, Manhattanville and Wisconsin-Stout, while the Bulldogs were left wondering.

"I guess the clock did strike midnight," said Livonia native and Churchill High grad Adam Krug, Bulldogs' leading scorer. "It's awful, my stomach is in knots not to get invited."

"I have a 100 theories and I won't pinpoint one wrong thing. I just think some people did not want to see us get in. We put more pressure on the committee. We made them feel uncomfortable."

Krug

Stansik

Detroit Free Press sports columnist Mitch Albom campaigned vigorously for the Bulldogs to get their shot on Sunday's ESPN Sports Reporters.

He called it a "Miracle on Ice" and made reference to the nationals being playing in Lake Placid, N.Y., site of the infamous 1980 Olympics when the U.S. upset the Russians.

"It's kind of disappointing not making the tourney, we had a great season and it's a shame they did not take us," said

Spartans' Kharbush gets 4th in 160-pound Division 1 class

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Taking fourth-place was nothing to sneeze at last weekend for Livonia Stevenson's Ziad Kharbush at the MHSAA Division 1 state individual wrestling championships held last weekend at the Palace of Auburn Hills.

Kharbush, who finished 4-4 overall, fell to an all-time family opponent, Jeremy Epley of Salem, in the consolation final at 160 pounds, 1-0.

Epley beat Kharbush twice this season, including a 4-2 overtime win in the district. Kharbush won the first encounter in the Western Lakes Activities Association final, 7-6.

Kharbush lost a 7-3 decision to state runner-up Jake Bohn in the semifinals and then beat Jason Bonham of Grandville, 5-1, to reach the consolation final.

"Ziad wrestled very well at the Palace," Stevenson coach Dan Vaughan said. "He earned a fourth-place in what I think was one of the toughest weight classes in the state this year."

"Both of his losses could have gone either way and both came down to the last seconds in the third period."

Kharbush, whose older brother Imad was a former prep state champ and two-time NCAA national qualifier from Stanford, will continue his wrestling career at Brown University.

"Ziad is a wonderful student and will make an excellent college wrestler," Vaughan said.

Patriots place pair

Livonia Franklin sent two wrestlers - seniors Dan Woodall (171) and Jared Pieknik (112) - to the Palace and came away with two medals.

Woodall finished 4-2 on the weekend to up his record to 60-4, which puts him first all-time for wins in a season by a Patriot.

Woodall pinned Josh Meinzer of Jenison in 3:23 for fifth after losing to Kyle Summerfield of Hartland on a 9-6 decision. Woodall bounced back from a 19-13 second-round loss to beat Rodger Kropp of Canton, 9-2, and Devin Duncan of Monroe, 4-2.

"There are so many kids in the sport that start at a young age, but it's also nice to know that kids that join their ninth-grade year can still have success," Franklin coach Dave Chiola said. "Dan was cut from the basketball team, so we got him late and he was behind some very tough kids. He just kept taking his lumps and eventually got used to his height and took off from there. He came real close to qualifying last year and I think he used that as motivation in the off-season."

Pieknik, meanwhile, wound up 50-11 overall.

He was pinned in 29 seconds by Davison's Cody Robins in the opener, but clawed back with decisions over Jeremy Stoian of Troy Athens, 10-4; Gerald Parker of Flint Carman-Ainsworth, fall in 4:55; before losing to Jake Byers of Rockford, 10-4. He then lost to Wyandotte's Leon Shannon for seventh place, 11-3.

"Jared joined as a freshman because I had my team scour the halls for a back-up 103-pounder," Chiola said. "They came back with this skinny kid that would just get beat up in practice, but eventually he became a technician and was one of the guys we relied on for wins."

Both Woodall and Pieknik will be missed.

"They always put the teams' goal first, never complained, taught the young wrestler and are team leaders," Chiola said. "They are definitely proof that hard work and off-season dedication will help you achieve your goals."

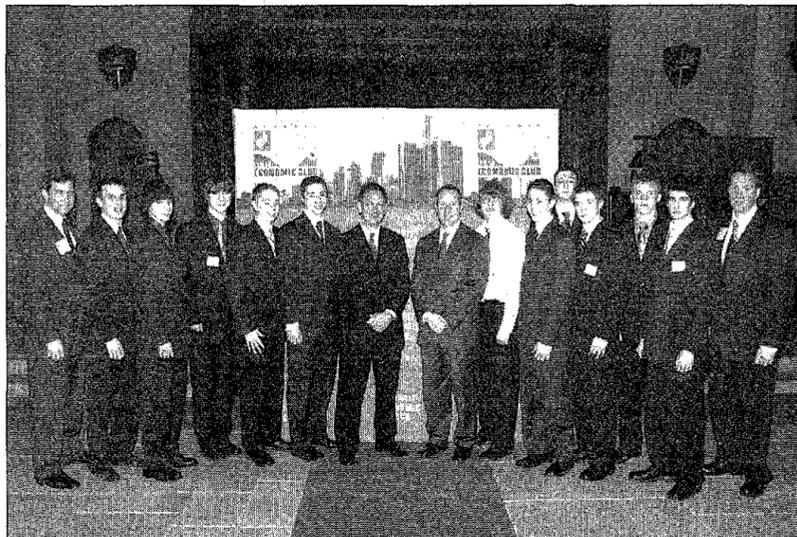

Kemp finishes 5th

In the Division 4 draw, Lutheran High Westland junior Stephen Kemp, the Observerland Invitational champion, decisioned Cody Eyer of St. Louis, 4-2, to finish 50-5 overall.

Kemp reached the semifinals of the winner's bracket before losing to eventual state champion Dan Yates of Hesperia, 14-2.

Kemp then fell 4-3 in overtime to Payden Armstrong of Jonesville before rebounding to beat Eyer.

Stevenson students meet with Red Wing brass

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

It's not every day you get to rub elbows with the Detroit Red Wings players and management, while also making it a classroom experience.

But that's what 10 students from Livonia Stevenson High, including five members of the varsity hockey team, experienced last Friday at the Economic Club of Detroit's luncheon at the Masonic Temple.

They were guests courtesy of Bank of America, which sponsored the group which included Stevenson coach David Mitchell.

"It's a great opportunity for these kids," said Mitchell, who sat at a table with Red Wing defenseman Chris Chelios. "It's a great experience for the students because they're able to see it more than just a game, but also from a business side. They were able to see how it translates from the rink, to the coaches, to the classroom."

The Stevenson contingent, along with other sponsored high school groups, were part of an invitation-only reception which featured question-and-answer session with Red Wings general manager Ken Holland and team vice-president Christopher Ilitch prior to the luncheon.

"Know your business, work hard and do it with passion," Holland advised the career-minded students.

Among the Stevenson students in attendance included R.J. Kierdorf, John Vella, Sean Lerg, Alex Soave and Jake Wilson, all members of the varsity hockey team. They were joined by Adam Kleven, Tim Pruchnik, Cam Hymnitz, Jake Vert and Jake Poynter.

Marshall Kleven, from Bank of America, and Livonia Chamber of Commerce president Dan West served as the team chaperones, along with Mitchell.

"It was good to see how an organization runs," said Vella, a junior forward on the Spartans' hockey team. "And it's little things that go on. You appreciate them more often."

"I wanted to know how does he spend a typical day and how much time he spends on the phone."

Following the luncheon, both Holland and Red Wing coach Mike Babcock gave packed room their state-of-the-team address. Each team member and assistant coach was then introduced.

Vella counts Pavel Datsyuk as his favorite player, but he was also pleased recently re-acquired Red Wing Darren McCarty, stationed just a table away, was among the luncheon audience of 750.

"I'm glad to see him back," Vella said.

Livonia native and Stevenson High grad Chris Stansik, a freshman defenseman who earned All-Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association honors. "Right now it's more of a disappointment than anger."

The 24-year-old Krug, who played two years at Wayne State before transferring to Adrian for his junior year, scored 30 goals and added 47 assists in 29 games. The Adrian captain's 77 points led all players in Division III and he was featured last week in Sports Illustrated's Faces in the Crowd.

"This is a once in a lifetime thing to set records at the Division III level," Krug said. "It's an incredible feat and it's really special what we accomplished. We got our rings from winning the MCHA. And we'll look at those right before the finals."

A year ago, Adrian didn't have a team or even an arena. But when the $2.4 million Arrington Arena opened last fall, the Bulldogs became the talk of the town and the 500-seat complex was packed on a regular basis.

It all culminated with a 1-0 overtime win March 2 in Milwaukee over Finlandia (Mich.) for the Harris Cup.

Stansik, who played two seasons in for the Lincoln (Neb.) Stars of the USHL, was recruited originally by Bowling Green State University assistant coach Ron Fogarty, who later took the Adrian job.

Prior to going to Nebraska, Stansik played for the Victory Honda, an 18-under AAA Midget Major program, which is owned and run by his father John. (Chris also has a younger brother Kyle in the program.)

"I did not pass the NCAA Clearinghouse (on academic standards), so I began to look at other options," Stansik said. "I was 13 hours away (in Lincoln) and now I'm 55 minutes from home. I wanted to be near my family."

The 22-year-old Stansik, one of 22 freshmen on the Adrian squad, adapted quickly. He finished with 11 goals and 23 assists in 29 games, including a plus-rating of 43.

And he was pleasantly surprised by the caliber of play.

"I had a great time," said Stansik, who like Krug is majoring in business. "I had to learn to play with the guys, but I'd say there's more competition (than the USHL). It's a higher level because it's different when you have to balance out school. In Lincoln, I just played hockey and took a class here and there."

Also expected to rejoin the Adrian team next year is freshman forward Justin Stadler, a former Churchill High standout who played most recently for the Junior Alpena Ice Diggers of the NAHL.

Stadler, dealing with a concussion issue, appeared in just two games.

"He's hopeful to play next year," Krug said. "And he said to me that even though he hasn't played, he loves being a part of this team."

Meanwhile, with the entire team returning, Krug said the Bulldogs will be more determined than ever entering the 2008-09 season. Next year Adrian won't have to wonder because the MCHA will receive an automatic bid.

"The guys talked about it yesterday (Monday) and today (Tuesday)," he said. "We want to make it 50 in a row."

BURNS IN THE DANCE

Although the Adrian College hockey team did not get an at-large invitation in the NCAA Division III tournament, Trinity College (Conn.) made the cut as the New England Small College Athletic Association champion following a 3-2 overtime win Sunday over Middlebury (Conn.).

Trinity, 16-10-2 overall, features junior defenseman Bill Burns, who anchors the blue line at 6 feet, 4 inches, 200 pounds. The Livonia native, who has two assists, played for Catholic Central High and the Green Mountain (Vt.) Glades of the Eastern Junior Hockey League.

Trinity opened first-round NCAA Division III tourney action Wednesday night against Massachusetts-Dartmouth (18-8-1), which gained an automatic bid by winning the ECAC Northeast Hockey League.

SPARTANS FROM PAGE B1 Sophomore Bryan Bielicki wound up 28th in the 100 backstroke (57.78). "They switched the format of the meet — there were less qualifiers — and the meet ran faster," Shoemaker said. "Mike Cruce was swimming two events — the butterfly and the 500 free — that were close together and he probably didn't have enough time in between. "But he did well on Saturday." Stevenson loses only two key seniors — Luke and Hermann — to graduation. "We'll have 18 seniors, so we look pretty deep," Shoemaker said. "It depends what we do in the off-season. If we put in the time and want it, we look pretty good."

Crusaders end Arizona road trip with 8-4 mark

The Madonna University baseball team wrapped up a successful Arizona trip with a weekend split at Snidegar Field in Chandler, a suburb of Phoenix.

On Saturday, the Crusaders slugged their way to a 8-2 triumph over Bemidji State (Minn.), but gave up an early lead Sunday to Southern Illinois-Edwardsville and wound up falling, 6-4.

MU improved to 10-5 on the season, with all but two of those games taking place at the RussMatt Invitational.

In the win over Bemidji State (2-3), a two-run triple in the seventh by sophomore outfielder Rikco Rhoades (2-4) broke the game wide open.

Also going 2-for-4 was junior first baseman Kevin Zerbo (Farmington Hills Harrison), who earned Wolverine-Hoosier Player of the Week honors. (Westland John Glenn alum Will Kennedy was also named WHAC Pitcher of the Week.)

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Going seven strong innings for the victory was senior pitcher Richard Lindquist (one earned run), while Garden City native Richard Hammer, a junior, pitched the final two innings giving up one run but striking out three.

In the loss to SIU-Edwardsville (4-3), a four-run sixth against MU senior starter Ryan Bardon and two more in the eighth against reliever Carl McDevitt (Canton) put the Crusaders into an inescapable hole.

The bright spot for Crusaders head coach Greg Haeger had to be a 4-for-5 day by senior third baseman Pat Kenny, who doubled twice among his hits.

Next up for MU are four games in three days, beginning Thursday, in Louisville (Ky.) against host Spalding.

Local lanes getting ready for USBC national tournaments

Ten Pin Alley

Al Harrison

sterling Lanes in Sterling Heights and Century Bowl in Waterford.

The USBC Pepsi Tournament will be July 14-16 at Sunnybrook, while the Adult/Youth tournament is slated for July 7-10 at Taylor Lanes in Taylor.

Attendance numbers are not yet available, but the events will draw youth bowlers from all over the USA.

The Pepsi tourney also draws bowlers from many other countries. Many of the competitors will be here with their families and the numbers of total visitors combined with the women's tournament will be huge and the economic impact on this area will be like a much needed shot in the arm.

The women will be going for cash prizes, while the kids will be shooting for scholarship money only.

For local bowlers, these tournaments present an opportunity to bowl in top level competition without the added cost of travel.

The Detroit area certainly has enough talent in great numbers to enjoy the thrill of victory as many of our local bowlers, both women and youth are going to give it their best shot.

The regular Men's USBC Open championships are currently underway in Albuquerque, N.M. with the Detroit-area Lodge Lanes squad, led by Mitch Jabczynski, currently in first place in the team category with a total of 3,172 pins.

Mitch's teammates are Bob Jawor, Keith Runyan, Steve Szabina and John Gaines. They will have to wait it out until the tournament ends in July.

Of course, they were also lucky enough to be in a warm and sunny place while the rest of us enjoy this wintry weather.

I wonder if they make any of those bowling bags with ski runners instead of wheels, or at least interchangeable.

■ Oak Lanes in Westland was a perfect condition for Jerry Krupinski of Dearborn Heights as he recorded a series of 696, which is not bad for a 185 average bowler.

Mathematically speaking, he was 140 over average for the three games of 243-229-224 and that also adds up to an award from USBC for a 140 over-average series.

Nice going, Jerry, keep it up and the higher your average goes, the harder it will get to do it again.

SC signs Glenn spiker Kirk

A Rocket will get a chance to launch her collegiate volleyball career at Schoolcraft.

Westland John Glenn senior Kirstin Kirk recently signed her national letter of intent to play for the Lady Ocelots beginning this fall.

The 5-foot-7 outside hitter and 2007 second-team All-Observer selection brings excellent defensive and leadership skills as well as solid ability in the front row, according to Schoolcraft College head coach Rich Lamb.

"Kirstin is known around the area as a defensive player," Lamb said. "But what sometimes goes unnoticed is her ability in the front row. She has high vertical jump and we are looking to enhance that with our training programs. We're going to look at her as an outside hitter as well as a defensive specialist."

According to Lamb, the fact Kirk -- team captain her senior year at John Glenn -- is

"battle tested" in the tough Western Lakes Activities Association could be a big plus as she makes the adjustment to junior college.

"This experience will help her fit into our program seamlessly and hopefully (help her) contribute during her freshman year," Lamb said. "We expect big things from her and anticipate she will have a great career at Schoolcraft."

Kirk, who carried a 3.6 grade-point average at Glenn and was an Academic All-Region as a sophomore, averaged nearly 11 defensive digs per game with only 102 errors in 1,183 attempts -- good enough to be voted the team's best defensive player.

Other accolades include being a two-time member of the WLAA All-Lakes Division and Division I All-Region teams.

All-Observer cagers net well-deserved honors

FIRST-TEAM

ALAYA MITCHELL, SR. G, SALEM: The senior guard, headed to Marshall University with a full-ride scholarship, was honored by the Associated Press as one of the top 10 players in Michigan for the 2007-08 season. She was a multi-threat, averaging 14.9 points, 2.4 assists, 2.0 steals and 4.6 rebounds. Among her season highlights were two buzzer-beating game-winners: one in an early-season game against Farmington Mercy and one in the WLA title game against Walled Lake Western.

"Alaya was the driving force of this year's team," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "As the only senior, she really did a great job of leading the young players. She figured out what she had to do to be successful and her experience made a ton of difference."

ALEX SEROWOKY, SR. C, LIV. LADYWOOD: The 6-1 senior center averaged 10 points, 6.5 rebounds, 2.6 assists and almost two blocks per game.

"Alex was our main inside threat offensively and provided a big defensive presence in the paint," Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski said. "Her ability to score in multiple ways make her hard to defend. She's a great passer for a post player and can handle the ball as well."

Serowoky, who earned All-Catholic honors, is bound for Lafayette (Pa.) College.

BRIAUNA TAYLOR, JR. G, LIV. FRANKLIN: The 5-9 junior point-guard averaged 18 points and 13 rebounds per game, while shooting 46 percent from the floor (including 35 percent beyond the arc) and 68 percent from the foul line.

"She was our go-to girl," Franklin coach Dave McCall said. "Whenever we need to get momentum back, we got the ball in her hands. She can do everything, but she really got better defensively this season."

Taylor was an All-WLAA selection.

CHELSEA CARRADINE, SO. F, RED. THURSTON: The 5-8 sophomore forward played much bigger than her size, with team-leading averages of 16 points, 14 rebounds and four blocks as the Eagles finished 15-6 and made a strong push for the Mega Blue championship.

The All-Mega Blue first-teamer capped off her season in the district semifinals against Livonia Franklin, tallying 24 points and 24 boards as she nearly lifted Thurston to an upset victory.

"She's been playing fantastic ball," said Eagles head coach Bob Ostrowski late in the season. "She really understands the game and plays well."

JENNA ANASTOS, SR. F, LIV. LADYWOOD: The 5-10 senior played both guard and forward for the 20-4 Blazers averaging 9.2 points and five rebounds per game.

"Jenna was our do-everything player," Gorski said. "She could score from the inside-and-out, as well as defend from the perimeter and post. We counted on her to provide a little bit of everything for our team."

"She would often guard the other team's bet offensive threat and provided leadership and energy on both sides of the court."

The All-Catholic selection signed with Northwood University.

CHELSEA DAVIS, JR. F, SALEM: The forward enjoyed a stellar junior season, averaging 10.8 points, 8.0 rebounds, 2.9 assists and 1.6 blocked shots. Davis's efforts earned a first-team All-WLAA nod.

"Chelsea was clearly our top inside scoring presence," said Thomann. "She was also second on our team in assists and her shot-blocking and rebounding ability triggered a lot of our fast breaks."

SECOND-TEAM
BRITTANY TAYLOR, JR. F, LIV. FRANKLIN: The 5-9 junior forward averaged 12 points and 11 rebounds per game for the Class A district champions.

The All-Western Division pick shot 42 percent from the floor and 55 percent from the foul line.

"Brittany really got better the last five games, the light bulb went on," McCall said. "She was our go-to girls inside. She likes to post-up and bang around. And like her sister (Briauna), she got better on defense."

BAYLEE HOLLOWELL, SR. C, CANTON: The senior center was the bright spot of the Chiefs' season as she averaged a double-double (14.2 points and 12.4 rebounds) despite drawing double and triple teams. The 6-footer's efforts earned her a scholarship at Siena Heights University.

"Baylee had a great senior season, she worked extremely hard her four years at Canton High School and experienced a lot of success," said Canton coach Brian Samulski. "Her dedication and work ethic will help take her game to a new level at Siena Heights."

TRENIA BARBEE, SR. G, WAYNE: The 5-8 senior guard averaged an area-best 22.1 points per game, while shooting 44.7 percent from the field and 70 percent from the foul line.

Barbee, who missed four games because of minor knee surgery, made All-Western Division in the WLAA and has signed with NCAA Division II Henderson State (Ark.).

"Trenia's a scorer, a rebounder and aggressive on defense," Wayne coach Leslie Williams said. "She often put the team on her back. She did well and we expected a lot from her. She just needed some help."

SHAAKIRA HAYWOOD, JR. C, PLYMOUTH: The junior center was a force at both ends of the court for the Wildcats, averaging 14 points, nine rebounds and three blocked shots. Haywood promises to be among the WLAA's top performers in 2008-09.

"Shaakira brought a lot to our team both offensively and defensively," said Plymouth coach Richelle Reilly. "On the defensive end, she blocked a lot of shots and altered a lot more. A lot of her scoring came as a result of offensive rebounds when we couldn't get her the ball. She stays after it and is focused."

BECCA REFENES, JR. C, LUTH. WESTLAND: The 6-2 junior center averaged 14.5 points, 10.8 rebounds and shot 48.7 percent from the floor en route to All-Metro Conference honors.

Refenes already ranks as the school's all-time leading rebounder for a season and career. She is one of only three players to score 300 points in a season.

"Becca is a tremendous athlete," Lutheran Westland coach Kevin Wade said. "Her height and athleticism inside is very difficult to defend. She gave us a severe threat inside that forced people to double and sometimes triple-team her, but even with that, she was able to produce and get her teammates involved."

"She knew when to shoot and when to kick it out; she was very unselfish."

ALISON SZCZYPKA, SR. G, LIV. LADYWOOD: The 5-10 senior guard-forward averaged 9.6 points and 5.5 rebounds for the Central Division champions.

"Alison added the toughness factor to our team," Gorski said of the All-League selection. "She also improved greatly as an offensive threat this season. She was one of our top three-point shooters and often was vital in breaking the other team's press."

"Her ruggedness under the basket and passing ability made her extremely versatile. She played every position except center for us."

COACH OF THE YEAR
DAVE MCCALL, LIV. FRANKLIN: The first-year varsity coach guided the Patriots to an 18-5 record and their first Class A district championship since 1993.

"It's a great honor, but I did not do the conditioning or score the baskets, the girls just worked their tails off," said McCall, who previously served as Franklin's JV girls coach for four seasons. "And once they started to believe in themselves, things started clicking. They realized what their capabilities were and they realized what hard work can accomplish."

The 49-year-old McCall, a self-employed contractor, is a 1997 Garden City East High grad who played basketball, football, baseball and ran track.

The future, meanwhile, looks bright for the Patriots with the return of the three starters, including Taylor twins, and some key reserves.

"We also have a couple of girls who did a great job on the JV and they'll be coming up," McCall said. "It looks good."

House of Fun

The kitchen and dining room were not left out of the design as they too are covered in '60s and '70s era pop culture colors and items.

Artist enhances his house with pop collectibles

BY LANA MINI
O&E STAFF WRITER

"It's all about color contrast," Livonia resident Daniel Moran said about the jaw-dropping, wild decor inside his home.

"And it's about waking up in the morning and smiling at everything you see. You're home should make you happy."

From the outside of Moran's normal suburban house, it seems difficult to guess that inside is a pop-culture lover's fantasy. Trinkets, posters, lunchboxes, automobile and motorcycle art, retro furniture and surfboards from the '60s and '70s all make up Moran's decor.

Part of what turns Moran from a collector to an artist is the presentation of his valued items.

His collections aren't just lined up in rows on shelves. Rather, Moran has designed and painted the house, walls, doors and trimmings to keep with his retro theme.

Pink, purple, green and orange psychedelic shapes are painted as a wall backdrop to display the statue of a Munsters car, original lava lamp and Frankenstein miniatures of the same colors.

Pale turquoise walls, trimmed with violet accents and a black and white zebra-striped door provide a clean, yet fun contrast to the vinyl record 45s attached to the walls.

And why have a regular, brown wooden coffee table when you can use a magenta and hot pink vintage surfboard on a yellow base as a place for your drinks? Surrounding that conversation piece is a red vinyl '70s sofa and a pale blue and orange Charger automobile advertisement.

"There's something about the '60s and '70s items that really turns me on," Moran said.

When asked about the painted animations on his walls and other artistic endeavors

Hanging on one of the posts in the basement is some of Daniel Moran's lunch box collection.

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with emerald foods

Try a key lime pie for a green St. Patrick's Day.

We stumbled upon a fun web site to make St. Patrick's Day a little different this year.

When you think of green, think fruits and veggies. Just for fun make an emerald green buffet.

At the web site fruitandveggieguru.com we discovered suggestions like hummus guacamole — just mix guacamole with hummus and top with cilantro. Or, wasabi-pear-lettuce-wraps that blend pears, mushrooms, radishes and wasabi in green butter lettuce leaves.

And for dessert a key lime pie made with regular lime juice to brighten then green. Here are some recipes to try this holiday.

KEY LIME PIE

3 cans sweetened condensed milk
1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs

6 tbsp. unsalted butter
7 large eggs
12 oz. key lime juice
Key lime slices (to garnish)
Whip cream on top, optional

Preheat oven to 250 degrees. Melt butter. Mix together graham cracker crumbs and butter in bowl. Press mixture into bottom of 12-inch springform pan. Bake at 350 for six minutes. In large bowl, combine milk and eggs using mixer on low speed. Add lime juice and continue mixing. Place whipped mixture into pan. Bake for about 2 hours and 15 minutes. Cool before slicing. Garnish with fresh key lime slices.

EASY SPICY WASABI PEAR LETTUCE WRAP

Makes 15
1/2 cup Mayonnaise
3 tbsp. rice wine vinegar or white wine

vinegar
1/4 tsp. Wasabi paste
2 pears
1 head butter lettuce leaves, washed, trimmed
2 cups mushrooms, thinly sliced
2 cups radish sprouts
1/2 cups carrots, peeled and grated
4 teaspoons sesame seeds, toasted

Whisk mayonnaise, vinegar and wasabi paste in medium bowl until blended. Slice pear stem side up into 12 vertical planks about one-quarter inch wide. Cut pieces into thin julienne slices. Place in bowl with wasabi dressing and toss until coated.

Place lettuce leaves on plate and top with mushrooms, sprouts, carrots and pears. Drizzle any remaining dressing in bowl over pears. Sprinkle with sesame seeds and serve.

ors in his home, Moran shrugs off the idea that he's an artist. Moran, who also collects cars and motorcycles, won't even say how many he owns — "a lot," he said.

"If I call myself an artist, there will be someone out there who says 'that's not art.' If I call myself a biker, someone out there will say I'm not, even though I'm on my bikes constantly. I'm not here to prove anything to anybody. I just do this because it makes me happy. And because I hope the people who see my home are also happy."

He's modest about certain questions, but does proudly talk about his 1966 427 Corvette, as well as his vintage and newer Harleys, including a 1998 Softtail Springer.

"I'm a retired engineer and I have promised myself that I am going to give myself what I want in life — and also for my son," he said.

So how does he find his toys? "Ebay has really leveled the playing field for collectors."

Years ago he scoured flea markets and garage sales in search of random items or specific goods that he craved, then he would price compare. It was big work.

"Today, if I want a Beatles lunch box, I can go on ebay and compare. And it's leveled the costs too."

If your home or the home of someone you know would make a good "Artist in Residence" feature, contact Lana Mini at lmmini@hometownlife.com.

The fear of 'pitbulls' comes from bad press

I'm an animal rescuer, but never wanted a pitbull because he might snap and eat me alive. I'm embarrassed to admit until recently that's how I felt.

Flash forward to last night: I fell asleep with my arm around a pitbull — her head resting on a pillow next to me. Her body warmly tucked under the same comforter as mine. Sometimes in the middle of the night she'll stretch, glance up at me, lick my nose to say hello and fall back to sleep nuzzled under my hands. My pitbull's name is Macy, her former owner — a military man — couldn't keep her anymore. When first asked to foster her, I said no, out of fear. Now I'm grateful to have opened my mind to research these amazing dogs. She loves kids, they climb all over her. She loves my other dogs too and lays all over them. She's lived with me almost a year now.

I'm discussing pitbulls because of the "vicious dog" issue in Plymouth. One question there is whether the animals should be allowed to live in the city. City commission officials, I'm sure, are sophisticated enough to avoid a witch-hunt mentality against a whole breed. City-after-city nationwide, as people become more educated, are now welcoming the animals.

People are realizing it's time to punish the deed of dog-fighting, rather than ban an entire breed of dog. Irresponsible media has helped create paranoia.

"First it was the Bloodhound, sensationalized in the dramatizations of Uncle Tom's Cabin. Then it was the Doberman Pinscher, symbol of the Nazi menace for a nation at war. Today, it is the pitbull that is vilified for the depravity of his master," author Karen Delise writes in her well-documented book, The Media, Myths and Politics of Canine Aggression.

Her studies reveal three factors play a role in canine aggression toward humans:

■ Owner responsibility: Was the dog trained to fight or be a junkyard guard dog?

■ Owner responsibility: Does the dog roam loose and therefore become confused? Is the dog left unsupervised with kids who don't understand boundaries (when I was a kid I knew not to take away our beagle's bone or I might get bit)? Is the dog encouraged to be protective?

■ Owner responsibility: Does the dog have puppies and is in protection mode? Is the male dog un-neutered?

Remember there are millions of pitbulls in the U.S.

Dog attacks are rare and that's why they make news.

From 1965 to 2001, there have been at least 36 different breeds of dog involved in fatal attacks in the United States. Delise says there's hysteria, without actual fact, placed upon pitbulls.

A pitbull isn't even a breed of dog. It's actually a term to describe the American Pit Bull terrier and American Staffordshire terrier. My dog is a Staffordshire.

Pet of the Week

Here's a plea for a gentle dog who needs a home immediately. Paco was found frightened and wandering the streets of Garden City — severely underweight and thirsty. He's extremely sensitive, friendly, gentle and affectionate. Rescuers say he's easy-going and wants to be a lap dog even though he's a 1-year-old St. Bernard/Great Dane mix. This smart boy adores women — and is still uncertain about men, but wants to trust them. He's neutered, healthy, well-behaved and likes to be hugged. He would do best in a home without cats and he will snuggle on the couch with you. For more information, call Metro Area Animal Adoption Association at (313) 571-2985; e-mail metroaaaa@aol.com, or fill out an online application at www.metroaaaa.petfinder.com. P.S. Stevie, the beige lab seen here two weeks ago was saved. He was adopted by an Observer & Eccentric reader. Let's hope the same for Paco. Time is ticking.

learned about these smart animals.

The American Pitbull Terrier is the most unfairly discriminated against dog in history — because of fools who choose to make a few of them violent.

Dog-to-human aggression isn't a natural characteristic of the pitbull. Loyalty and a desire to please are.

PETEY FROM LITTLE RASCALS, A PITBULL
Helen Keller's dog was a pitbull. Fred Astaire, President Theodore Roosevelt, General George Patton and Michael J. Fox had them too.

Last year in Alaska, a pitbull saved a 6-year old from a house fire. He literally grabbed her by the shirt with his teeth and moved her to safety. They serve as police/armed services dogs, search and rescuers and therapy animals.

They don't have powerful locking jaws.

"To the best of our knowledge, there are no published scientific studies that would allow any meaningful comparison to be made of the biting power of various breeds of dogs," said Dr. I Lehr Brisbin of the University of Georgia on www.nyxnet.com. "All figures describing biting power in such terms can be traced to either unfounded rumor or, in some cases, to newspaper articles with no foundation in factual data."

The dogs are very loyal and eager to please. They become aggressive if their owners encourage it.

Dogs don't just "snap" and kill. Just as normal humans don't just snap ... do we?

A pitbull may be aggressive toward another animal, just like any dog. We know that dogs may kill squirrels. Cats may kill mice, etc. Sometimes animals get into scraps. Dogs are aggressive when their irresponsible owners encourage it. Remember pitbulls want to be loyal.

In Plymouth, there's a family who has a pitbull and neighbors are afraid. It's become quite heated. The fence is too low, they say. That issue can be solved with a higher fence. But after that, to prevent bad blood between the humans who are now fighting, well, let's be more like dogs.

Forgive, forget, ignore ego, and be the first to show kindness.

Celtic shops set to paint the town green

With St. Patrick's Day upon us, it starts to feel like — no matter your actual heritage — everyone is at least a little bit Irish March 17. Or at least that's the scene at area shops with a Celtic twist.

Whether you're getting together some green gear to wear while you run the Corktown Races in Detroit, or you're just looking forward to the parade in your own community, places like Ferndale's Twisted Shamrock and Livonia-based Colleen's Gaelic Gifts have got you covered. "I opened The Twisted Shamrock in June of 2005," said Jim Monahan. "I wanted the store to be somewhere in southeast Oakland County and I found great space in downtown Ferndale."

He sells everything from the expected to the unexpected at his shop at 276 W. Nine Mile Road. Even men's and women's wool sweaters and capes carry the traditional appeal with a modern twist.

"Of course this time of year I'm stocked and ready to paint Detroit green," Monahan said. "We have all of your fun St. Paddy's Day wear including green boas, elf shoes, sequin hats and vests just to name a few." Every year around this time he sells a slew of themed tee shirts, hats, and Irish trinkets — but one of the most meaningful gifts for a family member or friend has to be the Claddagh icon. A symbol of friendship, loyalty and love, it's replicated in jewelry and home decor.

The Twisted Shamrock also offers high-end goods, including Nicholas Mosse Pottery, Jerpoint hand-blown glass and Belleek Parian China. "I am always on the hunt for new Irish artists and unique things from or about Ireland," said Monahan.

The same might be said of Colleen Haggerty, owner of Colleen's Gaelic Gifts in Livonia. For the past four years her shop has been located at 15373 Farmington Road, just north of Five Mile.

"There is a wonderful mix of customers that come in here," said Haggerty. From her "huge following of Irish-born" to plenty of curious passersby, she welcomes them all to browse and enjoy a cup of tea and biscuits.

"St. Patrick's Day is my second largest season, with Christmas outranking it," she said. And simply everything sells this time of year, she added, "from food and music to crazy hats to sweaters and so on — you name it."

If online shopping is more convenient, visit Ann Arbor-based Out of Ireland at www.realirish.com. Owned and operated by husband-and-wife team Meredith McGehee and Stuart Marley, the site sells everything from wool caps to Celtic pendants, music to hand-crafted home goods.

"We've been in business for about 10 years, selling mainly at the larger Irish music festivals across the U.S. as well as our Web-based store," said McGehee. She said this time of year the best-selling items include handwoven tweed caps, Inis cologne and Irish team jerseys.

Whatever your preference, wherever you shop, Irish heritage isn't required to browse or buy. For a comprehensive list of St. Patrick's Day events and Irish organizations, visit www.detroitirish.com.
