Clerk: Candidates must file by May 12

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Candidates hoping to campaign this year for Westland city offices will have to beat a deadline of next Tuesday — five weeks earlier than expected — for filing their nominating petitions.

The race really is on, it seems, after City Clerk Eileen DeHart learned that Westland inadvertently has failed to comply with a Michigan statute that sets the filing deadline 12 Tuesdays prior to the August primary.

Westland, which became a city in 1966, has always followed a city charter rule that established a filing deadline just seven Tuesdays before the primary — a rule that DeHart said is superseded by a state law from 1990.

Councilman Dewey Reeves said he and others hoping to get their names on the ballot will now have to scramble to collect the 266 to 1,063 signatures they need from registered voters prior to 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 12, rather than June 16.

"This caught a lot of people off guard," he said.

DeHart confirmed that snafu Monday and said she is sending certified letters to all potential candidates who have picked up nominating petitions from her office. She also has made telephone calls to them.

DeHart learned of the problem when she sent language to the Michigan Attorney General's Office for ballot proposals that city officials had intended to place on the November election ballot. The language would have asked voters to move the filing deadline from the seventh to the 12th Tuesday prior to the primary, bringing it in line with many other communities and easing a work crunch on the clerk's office.

AROUND TOWN

Your choice

Starting Monday, May 11, the Wayne-Westland Community Schools will accept applications for its intra-county Schools of Choice for students in kindergarten-fifth grade for the fall of 2009.

To be eligible, students must reside in Wayne County, and parents will have to provide transportation.

Applications are available from the Department of Instruction in the district administrative offices on Marquette, east of Newburgh in Westland, or on the district's Web site at <http://wwcsd.net>. They can be turned in at the instruction office in person or by mail to the Department of Instruction, 36745 Marquette, Westland, MI 48185.

The deadline for applying is Aug. 24. For more information, call (734) 419-2083.

Garage sale

Looking for a bargain? You're sure to find it from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the Westland Community Garage Sale.

The parking lot west of city hall will be filled with vendors offering an eclectic mix of items, including clothing, books, knickknacks, housewares and more, and the price will be right for bargain hunters.

The event is sponsored by the Westland Parks and Recreation Department and the Westland Youth Assistance Program. For more information, call the recreation department at (734) 722-7620.

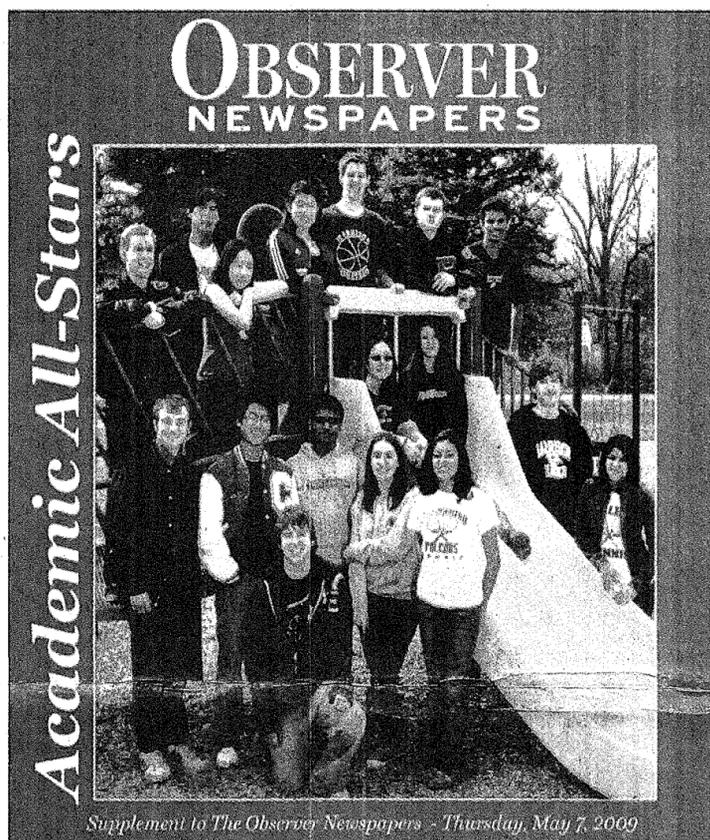

Take a walk

The Westland Summer Festival is asking residents to take a walk as part of this year's festival lineup.

The committee is sponsoring "A Walk to Remember" with the Alzheimer's Association - Greater Michigan Chapter on Friday, July 3. Registration begins at 9 a.m. on the festival grounds at the corner of Carlson and Teresa. The walk will begin at 10 a.m. and head north on Carlson and Central City Parkway to Warren and then turn and head back to the festival grounds.

The route is 2.6 miles long, and all age groups and people of athletic abilities are invited to participate. The funds raised will be used for local programs, services and research efforts to fight the debilitating disease. Currently, Alzheimer's disease affects more than 170,000 people in Michigan and close to 70,000 reside in the metropolitan Detroit area. Alzheimer's is a progressive disease that destroys brain cells. It's the sixth leading cause of death in the United States.

Registration can be done online at www.awalktoremember.kintera.org or at the Westland senior Friendship Center, 1119 Newburgh, south of Ford. For more information, call Pam Martin at (734) 595-0697, the Friendship Center at (734) 722-7632 or the Alzheimer's Association at (248) 351-0280.

Awesome All-Stars!

Students shine in school, community work

Inside today's Westland Observer is the 2009 Academic All-Stars special section. The special supplement salutes the brightest and best students from public, private and parochial schools in Farmington, Farmington Hills, Plymouth, Canton, Redford, Livonia, Westland and Garden City.

This marks the 24th year that the Observer has honored academic excellence with a special team. This year, 18 students were named to the team. Another 24 students are runners-up and they, too, are outstanding in academics, test scores and community work.

The principals committee making the selection was inspired, encouraged and proud that so many students are outstanding in their school work (4.0 GPAs) and on standardized test such as the ACT and SAT. Academic subjects and test scores are the only criteria used for team selection.

Voters bring change to W-W school board

BY SUE MASON

Westland businessman John Goci is ready to find out what issues the Wayne-Westland Community Schools face, in preparation to serve on its Board of Education.

Goci was one of three candidates elected to the school board in Tuesday's election. He will serve the remaining year of a four-year term after defeating incumbent board member Steve Becher and newcomer Angela Hoops-Cossey.

"I want to sit down with the board and the administration and see what the issues are," said Goci, who waited for election results at his U.S. 12 Bar in Wayne. "I want to see if we can do a rapid deployment and develop a film program as the career tech center so our students can take advantage of the jobs opening up in the film industry in the state."

Voters also tapped appointed incumbent Shawna Walker of Westland and newcomer Carol Middel of Canton for the two four-year terms that were up for grabs.

Walker was appointed to the board last September to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Frederick Weaver after he moved out of the district. Middel is a Walker, in her second bid for elective office — she ran for school board in the May 2008 election — was the top vote-getter, gathering 1,491 votes and one of the two four-year terms. She was followed closely by Middel, who received 1,442 votes.

"I consider it a privilege and an honor that the voters thought that much of me," said Walker. "I really didn't know what direction it would go, but to get the top vote, I never would have thought that. I'm going to try to do my best for the families and students of this district. I'm really excited. I look forward to the next four years and to doing exciting things for the district."

Middel, who was out Wednesday morning collecting campaign signs, said she was shocked by the results.

"I'm still in shock, I didn't think I could pull it off," she said. "It was a lot of hard work, but it paid off. I walked

Governor's order is bad news for city

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Westland city officials are bracing for a potential $344,000 cut in state-shared revenue after Gov. Jennifer Granholm rolled out measures Tuesday aimed at plugging a $1.3 billion state budget hole.

The loss could affect revenues for the city budget year that ends June 30, forcing officials to absorb cuts even as they plan for the next fiscal year, which could prove even more painful.

"I think we'll be able to weather it" this year, Mayor William Wild said, but he added that future state-shared revenue cuts could be more devastating.

Wild's administration has kept a $1.2 million general fund surplus as officials prepare for the next fiscal year that starts July 1 — an amount that dropped nearly $1 million during a one-year period.

"We're trying to save everywhere we can and not spend except for necessary items," Finance Director Steve Smith said.

Wild said he believes that, even with potential cuts in state-shared revenue, Westland can maintain a general fund balance "just a little north of the $1 million mark," partly due to another employee retirement and an unexpected uptick in certain revenues, such as in the building department.

However, Wild remains worried about additional state cuts in the city's next fiscal year.

"In the future it will hurt more," he said.

Westland had earlier projected this year's state-shared revenue to be around $8.5 million. With the latest proposed cuts, that could drop to nearly $8.1 million, Smith said.

Westland already has taken painful steps to balance the budget. Smith said that, during the last two years alone, city administration officials proposed cost-cutting measures that including not filling 23 vacant jobs and laying off five employees.

City officials had expected the state's financial problems to trickle down to local governments.

"We don't even know what they will do to next year's budget," Smith said.

Westland City Council members are expected to adopt a new budget in early June for the fiscal year that starts July 1.

LPS challenger awaits vote certification

BY KAREN SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Roger Spence, who lost a Livonia school board seat by 10 votes Tuesday, is awaiting certification of the results, saying it's premature to ask for a recount. "They have to be certified, and those numbers usually change," he said of unofficial tallies.

Spence lost to Dan Lessard, a 12-year incumbent, who received 2,878 votes and newcomer Colleen Burton, the runaway top vote-getter with 4,413 votes. Spence received 2,868 votes.

Spence won in Livonia but lost in Westland.

Westland City Clerk Eileen DeHart said the results were turned over Wednesday to the Wayne County Board of Canvassers, which has 30 days

UNOFFICIAL VOTE TALLIES

Burton: 4,413 (Livonia - 3,678, Westland - 735)
Lessard: 2,878 (Livonia - 2,407, Westland - 471)
Spence: 2,868 (Livonia - 2,443, Westland - 425)

to certify them, but she doubts the outcome will be different. "It's highly unlikely because it's all electronic," she said.

Livonia City Clerk Linda Grimsby said provisional ballots, issued when a voter insists he registered but isn't listed, can sometimes change the totals when they're added in. But she said she doesn't recall receiving any provisional ballots Tuesday; DeHart said she received none.

Provisional ballots are more common in November when more people vote, Grimsby said. In Livonia, voter turnout was 6.79 percent Tuesday; in Westland, it was 5 percent.

There was no doubt about Burton's win. Burton credits her election success to 15 years of school volunteer work.

Lessard joked he won by a landslide, too. He won his very first school board race in East Detroit by six votes. "So this (10) is a big number. We're in the double digits," he said.

and meet a lot of people."

Middel now plans to do a lot of "intense research," delving into the district's finances, finding out what's happening at the state and looking at curriculum changes that are coming.

"I've got a lot of homework to do and I won't be able to say my dog ate it," she said.

This was the third time Goci had campaigned for elective office; he lost in two previous bids to serve on the Westland City Council. Goci won handily over incumbent Steve Becher and newcomer Angela Hoops-Cossey. In unofficial results, Goci received 2,033 votes. Becher, who had opted for the partial term rather than a second four-year term, placed a distant second with 857 votes.

Hoops-Cossey received 427 votes.

Goci, who had campaigned with retired Westland fire chief Mark Neal, aimed to get his name out in the community in time for absentee voting. It worked, with those votes giving him his margin of victory. However, Neal who was campaigning for a four-year term, placed third with 1,128 votes.

"I'm happy and I'm sad because I was pulling for Mark, I really like the guy," said Goci, adding that "I would have been content win or lose because I know I did my best. Now I have to get ready with all of my ideas."

Incumbent Ed Turner who has served on the school board for 12 years, lost his bid for a fourth term, collecting 935 votes.

"Am I unhappy? Yes, but I'm not upset because I know I can go and put in my two cents as a private citizen," said Turner. "I'm still going to stick up for the kids."

Brian Mulligan, in his third bid for a seat on the school board, received 562 votes, with Lori Mireles-Smith finishing two votes ahead of Greg Maxwell. Mireles-Smith received 368 votes, Maxwell got 366.

Take time to read about Samantha Barber, a senior at Huron Valley Lutheran and a Wayne resident, who wants to be a teacher so she can "positively influence students and help as many people" as she can. Robert Costello of John Glenn High School wants to study engineering to "make the world more efficient" and fellow Glenn senior Amy Selewski wants to be a doctor so she can join Doctors Without Borders and "help others who only dream of receiving the kind of care available in the United States."

Wayne Memorial student Solomon Shurge hopes to work at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, design rockets and shuttles while classmate Christopher Burtraw plans to study engineering and then pursue a master's degree.

These students shine in many ways and their futures are bright as they move on to study at colleges and universities close to home and far away.

A special thank you to Madonna University, our long-time partner and sponsor of the

The environmentally friendly building is Madonna's first stand-alone building in 40 years and Livonia's first "green" building to be certified in Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design. The 60,000-square-foot structure is in the heart of Madonna's campus at Schoolcraft and Levan roads.

DeHart was notified by Assistant Attorney General George Elworth that Michigan statute already sets the 12th-Tuesday rule and that Westland would have to immediately comply, pushing this year's filing deadline up by five weeks. Other cities may face similar issues.

Elworth couldn't be reached for comment, but DeHart said she was assured by him that the error doesn't retroactively invalidate the previous city elections.

DeHart said she researched the issue after hearing from Elworth, and she learned that the 12th-Tuesday state law had been on the books since 1990. Apparently, local officials weren't aware of it, and DeHart said former city clerks had no way of knowing the implications.

Four council seats and the mayor's position are on the ballot this year. As of Tuesday morning, incumbent Mayor William Wild had filed for re-election, and Westland Planning Commissioner Adam Hammons had filed petitions for city council.

However, other candidates had taken petitions and are expected to file for election. In addition to Wild's post, council seats on the ballot will include those occupied by Reeves, Cheryl Graunstadt, Charles Pickering and Robert Stottlemeyer.

Graunstadt and Stottlemeyer already have confirmed that they will not seek re-election.

Potential candidates who want to get their names on the ballot will have to collect the required signatures. The city has no provision for paying a filing fee in lieu of circulating petitions.

Canton woman announces run for Congress

BY KURT KUBAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

When Canton's Natalie Mosher attended Barack Obama's inauguration in January with millions of other Americans from across the country, she had a hard time finding words to describe the experience. Less than four months later, she says the emotional event was the catalyst for her to get more involved in helping the country make a change. On Wednesday, the 65-year-old lifelong Democrat announced she is running for Congress and will challenge Republican Thaddeus McCotter of Livonia, who is currently in his fourth term representing Michigan's 11th District.

"Yes, the inauguration inspired me," said Mosher. "When you watch where we've been the last eight years, you realize how much work we have to do to get back on track."

Mosher, who has never held elected office before, calls herself a different kind of candidate who will "solve problems and get things done." She says her approach would include working with member of all parties.

"I believe that voters are sick of the finger pointing that is only compounding the hard work it takes to develop and implement solutions to the urgent issues of our time," Mosher said. "Whether it's job losses, the credit crunch, falling home prices, affordable health care or the myriad of other challenges facing us, Democrats, Republicans and Independents are looking for one thing — solutions. I'm running to offer solutions that get Michigan back to the prosperity that we enjoyed just a few years ago."

Mosher, who was born and grew up in Detroit, has worked as a public school teacher and in the field of non-profits. She worked for the American Cancer Society when she lived in Ohio, and more recently was the chief development officer for the Detroit Riverfront Conservancy. She has lived in Canton since 2004.

If elected, Mosher said she would make health care, developing alternative energies, and creating jobs her top priorities. A big proponent of the domestic automotive industry (she says relatives, including her husband, have a total of 154 years experience with the auto companies), Mosher said she would work to stop bad trade deals like NAFTA and CAFTA (Central America Free Trade Agreement), which she believes have hurt American auto workers.

The 11th Congressional District represents parts of western Oakland and western Wayne Counties.

Not all creditors are created equal

While Chrysler and General Motors are working out a variety of arrangements to stay in business, it is important to understand what is happening to unsecured bond holders. Many of the bonds issued by GM and Chrysler are held by individuals and they are going to take a substantial hit.

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

It is important to understand that not all creditors are created equal. Creditors can be divided into two distinct areas: secured creditors and unsecured creditors.

A secured creditor will typically have a security interest in an underlying asset that protects its debt. For example, when you and I purchase a home using a mortgage, the mortgage company (the lender) becomes a secured creditor. A secured creditor has the underlying asset to protect its loan. The mortgage company has the lien on the home. If the mortgage isn't paid, the company can sell your house and the proceeds are used to pay off your obligation to the mortgage company. Similarly, in business, secured creditors could sell a secured asset to discharge the debt. If the sale discharges the total amount owed, great; if not, the creditor becomes an unsecured creditor for the remaining balance owed.

Unsecured creditors are not as fortunate or protected as a secured creditor. Unsecured creditors have no security interest — no specific asset securing their obligation. In times of financial crisis such as a bankruptcy, once secured creditors are taken care of, unsecured creditors are paid only if there is money remaining. In most bankruptcies, unsecured creditors usually get pennies on the dollar.

Fixed-income security investments such as corporate bonds and government bonds are an important part of an overall portfolio. In the portfolios I manage, I always have a portion of the portfolio invested in fixed-income obligations in order to have a balanced and diversified portfolio. With regard to investing in fixed-income securities, investors should know, but unfortunately many do not, that not all fixed-income securities are the same. Too many investors will only look at the yield on the investment and use that to decide whether they should make an investment in that security or not. I believe when you buy fixed-income securities, you need to focus on two issues — maturity of the obligation and quality of the bond.

Bonds can have durations from 90 days to 30 years. Generally, the longer the term of the bond, the greater the risk. In today's economic environment with low interest rates and a potential for higher inflation, I generally recommend short- to intermediate-term bonds.

The higher the quality of bond, the better the chance of being repaid. If you buy a fixed-income security, you must be sure to receive the interest due you as well as your principle upon maturity. The highest quality bond that one can buy is any bond that is backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. On the other hand, bonds issued by corporations that are rated as not investment grade have the greatest risk of default.

Non-investment grade bonds are also known as high-yield bonds and sometimes referred to as junk bonds.

When purchasing a fixed-income obligation, the primary focus must be the quality of the obligation. In today's turbulent times, with interest rates so low, many investors are purchasing more and more junk bonds in order to increase their yield. From a risk standpoint, not all junk bonds are the same. From a risk/reward standpoint, some junk bonds make sense, however, investors need to be cautious.

When you purchase a junk bond, you must recognize that there is substantial risk of default and that is the reason it pays higher rates of return. Having a small portion of your fixed-income investments in high yield or junk bonds can make sense. However, investing a large portion of your portfolio in these types of securities is not prudent.

It wasn't that long ago that investors thought of GM bonds as rock solid. I remember the saying, what's good for GM is good for America and visa versa. Unfortunately, those days are gone. In today's changing economy, it is necessary to invest without emotion and recognize that looking forward is much more important than looking in the rear-view mirror.

Man finds secret shopper ad a scam

1 A 58-year-old man was defrauded of money after he responded to a bogus ad offering to hire what was described as "a secret shopper," Westland police said.

The man, who lives south of Cherry Hill between Merriman and Venoy, told police he was supposedly hired by a Canadian company to work as a secret shopper and evaluate retailers. He said he was sent a $4,945 check, a list of businesses where he was supposed to spend the money, and how much he should spend at each place.

The victim said he deposited the check into his bank account in late April and later withdrew money to spend at certain retailers. He also was told to wire a large portion of money back to the company to make sure the arrangement worked.

The man went to his bank on May 1 and found that he had no money in his account. He learned that the check he had deposited from the supposed secret-shopping company was no good.

Police learned that the money he wired had been sent to a location in Niagara Falls, N.Y., just across the border from Canada.

Police are urging others not to become victims of such scams.

Couple caught shoplifting

2 Westland police arrested a 63-year-old Detroit woman and a 30-year-old Westland man following a retail fraud incident shortly before 7 p.m. Sunday at the Meijer store southeast of Warren and Newburgh.

Police went to the store after store prevention loss officers notified them of an apparent theft in progress. The suspects had gone to their car when officers arrived.

Officers approached the vehicle, ordered the suspects out and ultimately arrested them.

The pair had selected a baby seat inside the store and taken it to a customer service desk where they turned it in for a gift card with store credit. They then purchased some cigarettes using the card, then continued to walk around the store selecting and concealing other merchandise.

Police recovered all the merchandise inside the vehicle and returned it to the store.

Man escapes without beer

3 A would-be beer bandit didn't quite get away with the prize during an incident that happened about 4:20 p.m. Sunday at the Kroger store on Ford between Newburgh and Wayne.

Police officers were sent to the store amid reports of Kroger employees chasing a possible shoplifter, described as a white male in his 40s with dark hair and wearing a black T-shirt and black pants. The suspect had just fled the scene.

A store manager told police that the suspect walked out with a shopping cart full of beer without paying for it. The manager approached the man outside the store, tapped him on the shoulder and tried to escort him inside, but the suspect turned, ran across the parking lot and left behind the beer he had tried to steal.

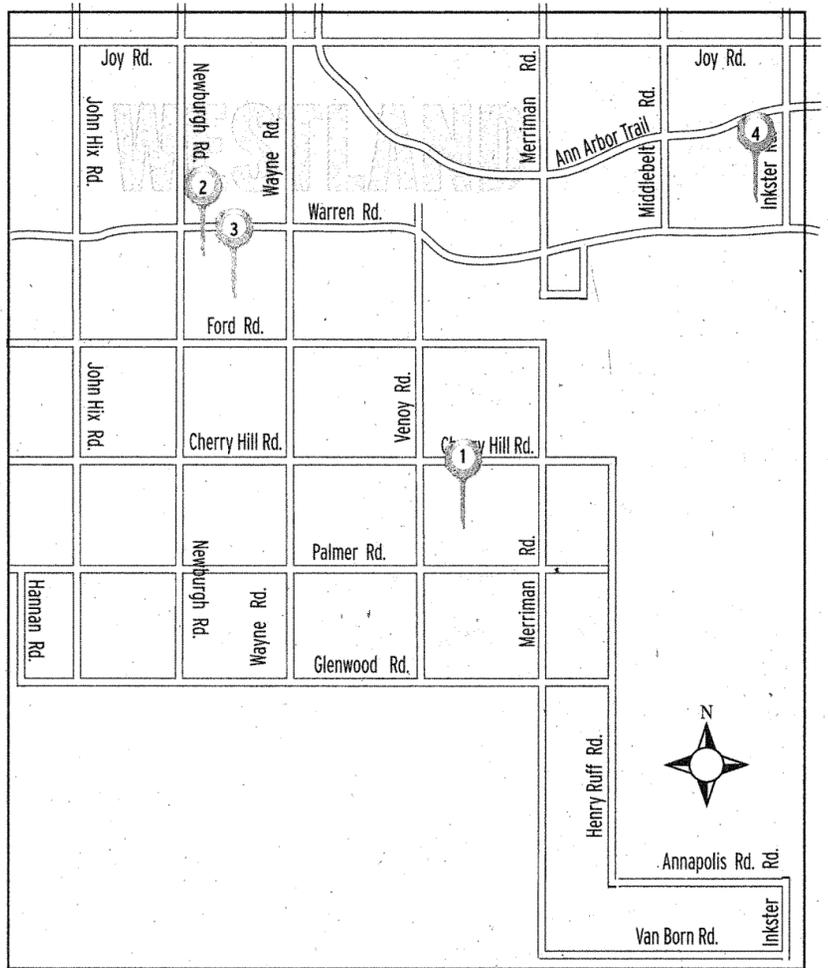

Woman assaulted at bar

4 A 28-year-old woman told police she was assaulted around 2 a.m. Saturday at Sidelines, a bar near the northwest corner of Warren and Inkster roads.

The victim reported she was approached by another woman who claimed the victim had made a remark to her two years ago that she didn't like. The victim turned away from her, but the woman began punching her in the back and on the side of the head, according to police reports.

The assault was finally pulled off the victim by another customer.

Man sentenced to prison in taxi holdup

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

An Inkster man who took a taxicab to a Westland apartment complex and then robbed the driver at gunpoint has been sent to prison after he pleaded guilty in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Marcus Laron Terrell, 18, was sentenced to three years/six months to 15 years in prison after he admitted robbing a taxi driver last Dec. 21 at The Landings, a sprawling apartment complex southeast of Warren and Central City Parkway. Terrell will spend an additional two years behind bars for a felony firearm charge.

That means the earliest he could be released would be during the summer of 2014, according to the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Terrell's sentencing, part of a plea agreement, averted a trial and a potentially longer prison stay. It also resulted in two other robbery-related felony charges being dropped.

Terrell was sentenced in April, just four months after he was accused of robbing the taxi driver. He had been ordered to stand trial earlier this year after he waived a preliminary hearing in front of Westland 18th District Judge Mark McConnell.

Charges against Terrell stemmed from an incident last Dec. 21 in which a lone bandit caught a taxicab to The Landings and tried to rob the driver of money, police Sgt. Brian Miller has said. However, the suspect escaped with only a cell phone after the two men struggled.

No shots were fired during the incident.

The taxicab driver told police the incident happened after he picked up a passenger near Inkster and Annapolis roads.

Terrell was arrested at his Inkster home following an investigation by the multi-agency Metro Street Enforcement Team, Miller has said.

Senate panels take up Hire Michigan bill

Senate Democrats expected a Senate committee this week to take up the Hire Michigan First legislation. The flagship plan for Senate Democrats which gives incentives to companies to hire Michigan workers, guarantees that state contracts do not go to companies hiring illegal immigrants, and ensures a prevailing wage to support Michigan families.

"It's about time the business community and Republicans finally join with us to put Michigan's working families first," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Prusi, D-Ishpeming. "Senate Democrats have been fighting everyday for this legislation and we're glad the efforts are paying off."

Key components of the Hire Michigan First Package include:

- Awarding state tax incentives and other economic development incentives to companies that hire 100 percent Michigan residents. This rule would apply to projects handled by the Michigan Economic Development Corporation and other state-funded programs, including the Michigan Economic Growth Authority and Renaissance Zone Act.

- Encouraging transparency and accountability by requiring companies that take economic development incentives to report on who they hire to ensure that Michigan residents are given priority.

- Discouraging the hiring of undocumented workers by canceling state contracts and tax incentives for companies that employ illegal labor, requiring them to pay back incentives they received and barring them from future contracts.

- Protecting the pocket-books of Michigan families by guaranteeing a prevailing wage for workers.

Sen. Glenn S. Anderson, D-Westland, a lead sponsor of the Senate package said, "Every job, and every dime of someone's paycheck matters, so moving this legislation as it was approved by both Republicans and Democrats in the House is crucial."

Three Senate Committees were scheduled - two Tuesday and one Wednesday - to advance the Hire Michigan First legislation.

"Michigan workers are the hardest-working and have all the talents and skills to get jobs done, we just need to make sure they have a chance to compete," said Sen. Hansen Clarke, D-Detroit, Democratic Vice-Chair of the Commerce Committee. "I look forward to our committee taking the first steps to finally passing this important legislation."

"With these measures in place, I hope to never again have to stand on another work site where Michigan workers watch as workers from other states or countries are trucked in to do their jobs," said Sen. John Gleason, D-Flushing.

Observer honors academic stars

The Observer Newspapers presents the 2009 Academic All-Star Team, some of the most accomplished high school students in the Detroit metro area.

A special section inside today's Observer profiles the team — 13 students from throughout our coverage area in western Wayne County and Farmington and Farmington Hills — and another 24 students who are runners-up and deserve applause, too.

This year's team is one of the strongest in the program's history. The Principals Committee comprised of Terry Piper of Birmingham Seaholm, Charlie Hollerith of Bloomfield Hills Lahser, Lara Dixon of Troy Athens, Carolyn Witte of Farmington Hills Mercy and Dan Willenborg of Livonia Franklin was awed by the academic success of the nominees. This year's high grade point averages in academic subjects and outstanding performance on the SAT and ACT make this one of the largest teams, too.

This newspaper started the Academic All-Stars program 24 years ago at the urging of Robert Schramke, who was principal at Redford Union High School in Redford Township. Schramke believed academic success should be honored and celebrated in a public way. We agreed and a tradition was born.

In recent years, the Townsend Hotel and Huntington Bank have also played a major role in honoring the best and brightest students.

Peter Wilde, managing director of the Townsend, and Rebecca Smith, regional president of Huntington, are committed to making sure the All-Stars are honored and rewarded for their outstanding academic success. We say thank you to them and salute their commitment to the program.

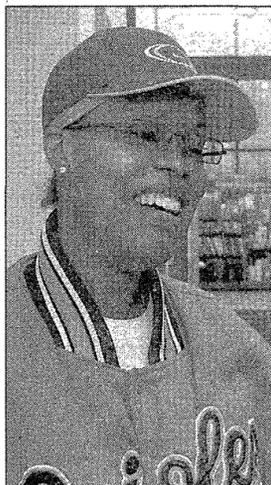

Take time to read the section inside today's newspaper or online at hometownlife.com and gaze into the future. We guarantee you'll like what you see. You will find future physicians, teachers, musicians, government officials, scientists, engineers and most likely world leaders. You will find people who continue to have great expectations for their generation. You will find young men and women who have contributed significantly to their communities and many who want to change the world. You will find students who are thankful to supportive parents and teachers who encouraged imagination and instilled a love of lifelong learning and helped them navigate their educational paths.

We congratulate and salute the 2009 Observer All-Star Team: Edward Tremel of Churchill High School, Willa Chen of Canton High School, Tejas Karnati of North Farmington High School, Nikita Counsil of Salem High School, Linda Ling of Salem High School, Mara Minasian of North Farmington High School, Joshua Corriveau of Belleville High School, Matthew Charnley of Churchill High School, Kevin Joseph of Farmington High School, Robert Klosek of Harrison High School, Ke Ding of Canton High School, Nandini Abburi of Farmington High School, Sarah Jaslow of Stevenson High School, Corey Lightner of Harrison High School, Kurt Tseng of Plymouth High School, Timothy Baker of Thurston High School, Matt Laing of Plymouth High School and Michelle A. Frazer of Stevenson High School.

We also salute our runners-up: Craig Sanders of Lutheran High Westland, Shawna Walsler of Garden City High School, Solomon Shurge of Wayne Memorial High School, Christopher Burtraw of Wayne Memorial High School, Samantha Barber of Huron Valley Lutheran High School, Lauren Gieschen of Lutheran High Westland, Robert Costello of John Glenn High School, Amy Selewski of John Glenn High School, Emily Skarbinski of Franklin High School and Joseph Garrett of Garden City High School.

COMMUNITY VOICE

What are you doing to be part of the "green revolution"?
We asked this question at the Garden City post office and the William P. Faust Library in Westland.

"Not really anything. I think about it, but I really haven't done anything."

LaDawn Craig
Garden City

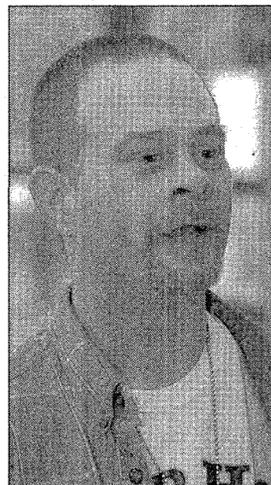

"I recycle plastic bottles, that's about it."

Adrian Boyd

"Every year I try to do recycling to help the environment."

John Trujillo

"I'm trying to recycle whenever I can. I'm trying not to litter."

A greener tomorrow

Two recent decisions bode very well for the citizens of Westland and ultimately for surrounding areas. The first is the approval by Westland City Council of contracts for the Recycle Bank curbside recycling program soon to be implemented throughout the city. The second is the historic decision April 17 by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), issuing a proposed ruling that global warming pollution endangers the health and well being of American citizens.

The innovative Recycle Bank program approved by the council puts Westland at the forefront of an ever-increasing and ever-necessary call for common sense and it establishes a common cause for Westland's citizens to be stewards both of our city and of the Earth.

The EPA ruling, issued after years of politically and ideologically motivated obstruction by the Bush administration as well as other misguided and selfish corporate and conservative interests, will set the stage for the federal government to use authority under the Clean Air Act to establish national emission standards for large global warming emitters.

Climate change deniers will most certainly continue whining and throwing around phony and discredited statistics that are gleaned directly from the fossil fuel industry and from bought and paid for "scientists." However, the facts of anthropogenic (human-caused) climate change are settled and are undeniable. The empirical truths of real science have won, and right-wing political agendas have lost.

Under the Obama administration, the EPA and other federal agencies are once again free from political obstruction and censorship and can now return to their mission of serving the interests of our nation and its citizens. Decisions and policies will be based on real science and real facts instead of ideological considerations. Green technology, already a rapidly growing industry, will create thousands of jobs while ensuring that our nation's future is both secure and sustainable.

Elections do have consequences, and we can all be very thankful that they do.

Government is problem

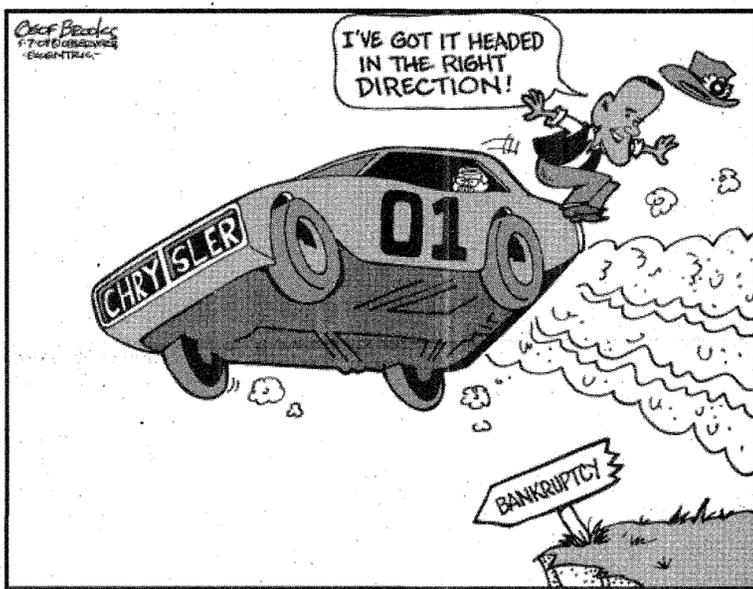

Looking through this paper, it was nice to see another one of my opinions published and I am grateful to the people that have called me and written in support of my articles and also for this newspaper for not only publishing my thoughts, but for being there for our community.

I agree with Bob Doroshewitz and his article about newspapers being important to a free society by reporting corruption and scandals and keeping our government in check. The mainstream media has lost their audience because of poor journalistic integrity, plain and simple. Most TV news stations have become "infotainment" stations and Americans are done with them.

The mainstream TV media has been relentless in their coronation of President Obama as is seen by the people that were polled in the "Community Voice" section of this paper. These people no doubt get their news from these channels or from word-of-mouth.

The paper asked: "How well do you think President Obama is doing?"

One answer was "not well in Michigan, he's not doing enough for the unions and workers." Obama is not concerned about the "workers," he is only concerned for the union leaders, they are the ones that convince the union workers to vote for the Democratic Party as is seen by our government taking half of General Motors and giving 39 percent of the remaining GM stock to the union. This will benefit the union bosses, but the members will not see any of it as their jobs go out the window with the "restructuring" imposed by the car czar panel.

Another respondent thinks he's doing a good job by bringing the troops home, he is not. He's moving them to Afghanistan and doing it while there is an ongoing war and he's reducing our military spending and talking of reducing nuclear weapons at a time that countries that despise us are building up their arsenal of nuclear war-heads and delivery systems.

Another respondent states "he's trying to get the economy going. What would that be? He's done nothing so far. All the jobs his stimulus plan creates are government-sponsored jobs which means, we the taxpayers have to support them and these jobs will not exist for another year or two!"

The final respondent states "he's trying to make the world a better place and give people money to get us out of the recession."

Obama's trip to Europe did nothing but make Americans look weak. He apologized for us being "arrogant" and our allies turned him down when he asked for military support in Afghanistan.

The only money I saw was an $8 a week increase in my take-home pay and this will be taken back next year at the same time the Bush tax cuts expire. I realize it is a pain to keep a check on our government and we shouldn't have to, but some of these people are outright crooks and their greed shows no shame.

These people in the Community Voice need to pay attention and do a little investigating as to what our "servants" are doing in Washington, read some papers, turn to a different channel to see what the other side is saying and make the judgment for yourself

For 30-plus years, I've been hearing politicians say that they will fix education, social security, welfare and so on, but none of these ever get fixed. Republicans are for lower taxes, Democrats are for lower taxes, so why do our taxes keep going up? To actually repair one of these would cut into their re-election campaign fund, which is all they are concerned with. The first priority is to keep the job. I cannot stress this enough and people need to realize that our government is the problem. They have created this mess over the last 40 years in small steps so that we would not notice. They've taxed and legislated almost all of our manufacturing jobs out of this country, the last bastion is our automakers and they are about to do them in now.

They have created an incredibly unfair trade agreement that keeps American manufacturers and suppliers from competing and/or making a profit abroad. They are right now trying to pass another incredibly unfair "Cap and Trade" bill that will raise all of our energy bills to the tune of $3,100 a year for an average family all in the name of "capping" carbon emissions while India and China state they are not willing to adopt this piece of legislation, stating that they "are always going to be a developing nation."

China has now surpassed the U.S. in carbon emissions in the last few months. When China and India are ready to step up, then and only then should we consider this type of bill and maybe by then, we will have gotten an answer to the global warming question and whether it is caused by us or not.

Insensitive move

We share in the reported disgust of President Obama with the low flying Boeing 747 accompanied by an F-16 fighter jet over the Manhattan skyline. Apparently an FAA official "genius" authorized this photo op for later FAA propaganda. Once determined, the official responsible for this terror stunt should be fired immediately. If convicted, they should be required to view 9/11 tapes over and over. Then meet with the 9/11 survivors individually.

This is a supreme act of stupidity and insensitivity. There is simply no rationale for terrorizing Manhattan citizens who have already been traumatized for life.

We voted for Obama and are supporters of his administration. However, this outrage must be dealt with swiftly and certainly. Expressing disgust without consequences is simply ventilating useless hot air.

For those interested in cutting useless federal programs, this one is at the top of our list.

Storyteller crafts tales of 'strength,' value

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Storyteller Debra Christian is a firm believer in her craft.

"I will tell a story until I can't breathe anymore," the Plymouth Township resident said. "It's that connection and humanity that people need."

Christian is a speech and language pathologist at Douglas Elementary School in Garden City. The mother of sons ages 23 and 24 has been storytelling for 23 years, and is glad she could share stories with her children at school and Boy Scouts.

Christian is the speaker for the Plymouth-Canton branch, American Association of University Women, began telling stories at work. She found children responded.

"I realized there was more than just an educational value," said Christian, just back from Kalamazoo, where she spoke at the state PTA Conference. "I told stories about strength."

At her AAUW program at Karl's Cabin, she began with a story of a trip years ago to Morocco in Africa with a girlfriend.

"I was really excited," she said. "We took a ship across the Straits of Gibraltar."

They went to Fez, traveling through the Sahara which wasn't flat as she imagined. She became ill, and needed a Coca-Cola to settle her stomach. She ended up with the local mint tea - and more than she bargained for in the appearance of a handsome man.

"I thought that it was Omar Sharif," she recalled. "My stomachache went away."

Abdul turned out to be a government agent assigned to travel with them. He was solicitous and got them settled in at their hotel, then asked her out. Each day in Morocco got better with the two spending time together. She rode a camel, and was in Tangiers her final day where Abdul arranged a private tour of the Malcolm Forbes estate. He'd lavishly filled their hotel room with flowers and gifts.

Abdul told her he had both bad and good news, the bad that he was leaving: "The good news is I still have 30 minutes," she told her laughing audience. "That's a whole other story."

More recently, Christian took the 21-hour flight to Cambodia in Asia. "I was again going into a culture I didn't really have time to research," she said. From Phnom Penh she and her friend traveled into the jungle, where they needed to traverse a challenging course.

"I'm looking at this mile, thinking I don't know," she remembered. "I'm not 23 anymore."

They managed the trek, and a group of Japanese tourists took their photo to record the accomplishment.

Christian also visited Vietnam and its silk markets and wanted a blouse made. There was a big sports event on, and the local women didn't want to sew that night. At 11:30 p.m. her hotel phone rang, and the blouse was delivered to the lobby. "Very good for big woman," the merchant said. "Very good."

Great stories come from home, too. Last fall, she had a kindergarten student who reached her heart. "I've been all over the world but sometimes it really hits when you're home."

The boy said he missed his grandma. "She's in heaven. Do you know how to get there?" He said travel is in an airplane flown by angels. The boy told Christian she couldn't get to heaven just yet: "No, not now, because once you go you can't come back. It's out of the mouths of babes."

She urged her attentive audience to share stories with loved ones. "Through stories, we share our life experience. We all have a story to tell. There's so many places, so many stories."

Christian noted the importance of storytelling in high-tech times, when the oral tradition can be forgotten. She also spoke of her belief in global diversity, keeping the stories of children she meets alive.

She shared photos from her travels. "Storytelling is an ancient art and there aren't that many people that do it," said Christian, who praised those who helped her learn the craft.

AAUW members and guests were glad to be at the Saturday program, which originated from President Jan Blumberg, principal of Henry Ruff Elementary in the Garden City district and Plymouth-Canton AAUW president.

"Jan knows Debra from Garden City schools," said Dawn Parker of Canton, program chair and a second-grade teacher at Hoben Elementary in the Plymouth-Canton district. "It's very nice she agreed to be here."

"She is a busy woman," Parker said in her introduction. "It was so nice of her to come."

CC back in Observerland winner's circle

Rocks runners-up; Chargers get third

BY BRAD EMMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Detroit Catholic Central boys track and field team has been traditionally known for its talented throwers and distance runners.

But Saturday, the Shamrocks of Novi threw in some speedy sprinters, hurdlers and middle distance talent to earn their first Observerland Relays title since 1993 and fourth championship overall in the 39th annual event.

CC led the 17-school field with 83 points to win comfortably over runner-up Salem (60) and third-place finisher Livonia Churchill (52), the host team.

Two-time defending champion Livonia Stevenson was fourth with 49 and Farmington Hills Harrison took fifth with 42.

"It's been that long?" veteran CC coach Tony Magni asked, referring to the 15-year Observerland drought. "That was a pretty good team in '93. We had Eric McKeon in the middle distance and Mark Eden in the hurdles, and a good distance team. We were second in the state that year in cross country."

CC captured five of the 16 events to gobble up 50 of its points (10 for each first) in the predominantly relay format.

The Shamrocks produced a balanced attack by winning the shot put relay, 4 x 1,600 relay, 3,200 relay, 1,600 relay and individual 1,600 (sophomore John Paul Zembrowski in 4:29.65).

Junior Spencer Hall anchored the 4 x 800 relay in 8:19.63 along with the 4 x 400 relay in a blistering 3:23.89. J.P. Zembrowski's twin brother Austin also was a member of the victorious 6,400 and 3,200 relay teams.

CC added seconds in the distance medley and 800 relay.

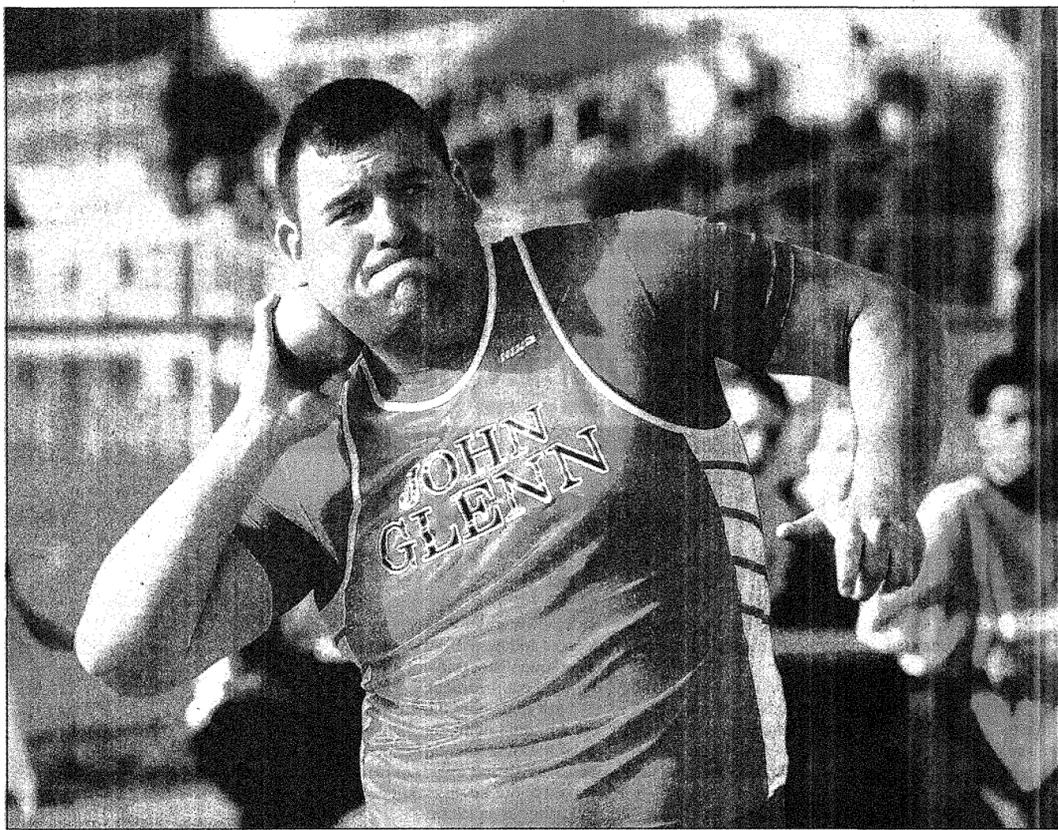

"When you get good quarter-milers and good half-milers, you'll have a good track team," Magni said. "We knew if we could score 80 points we'd be in the hunt."

Meanwhile, Salem's second-place showing proved to be an encouraging sign for coach Kyle Meteyer.

His Rocks won the discus and high jump relays as Courtney Frazier figured in both firsts. Salem also posted seconds in the shot put relay (school record), 6,400 relay, 3,200 relay and 1,600 relay (season-best 3:28.7 thanks to the efforts of Scott O'Connor, Dan Martin, Zack Gaskell and Dom Williams).

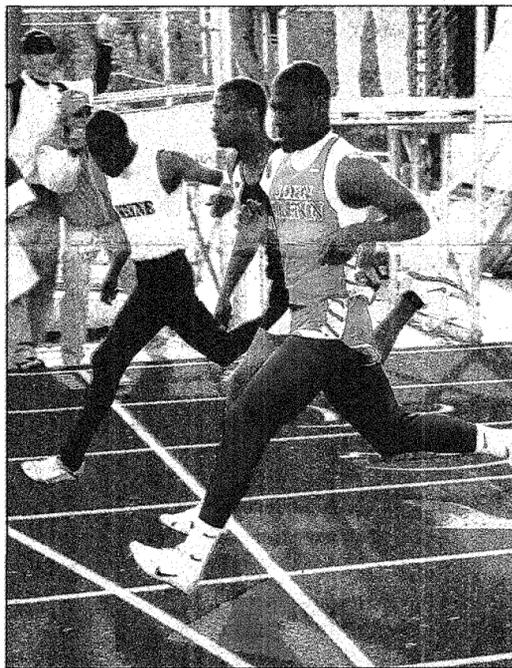

"We knew CC was strong in just about every event," Meteyer said. "They were good in the field events, sprints and distance — and we were, too. But That's because the Crusaders will be at the mercy now of the NAIA selection committee after losing Sunday at Ilitch Ballpark to Indiana Tech, 11-7, in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference playoffs.

Alabama-bound MU celebrates

BY BRAD EMMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Madonna University softball coach Al White summed up his feelings with only three words following Monday's conquest of the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference playoffs. "Sweet home Alabama," said White, whose No. 1-seeded and No. 15-ranked Crusaders locked up their bid to the 2009 NAIA nationals with an 11-3 win over Aquinas College in the championship game at Flannery Field in Battle Creek.

Sophomore pitcher Jess Irwin tied the school record for wins in a season with her 31st as MU improved to 51-10 overall and earned a spot in the NAIA Tournament, set for May 14-20 in Decatur, Ala.

Irwin scattered seven hits, walked three and fanned eight in the five-inning mercy. She worked all five WHAC playoff games, including three Monday, as the Crusaders edged University of Michigan-Dearborn, 4-3, before falling 3-2 to Aquinas. "You might beat her one game, but not two," White said of his ace from Monroe. "The girls came up excellent with everything on the line. It was a long day, but it was all well worth it to punch our ticket to Alabama."

Mary Kate Setta's two-run homer keyed a seven-run, third-inning MU surge in the championship final of the double-elimination format.

Ashley Shay, Danielle Richardson and Kathleen Smiley all went 2-for-3, while Cat Sidor (Livonia Churchill) knocked in a pair of runs.

MU started the day by edging U-M-Dearborn by a run as Irwin struck out 13, walked only two and allowed five hits.

Kady Cooper's two-run blast in the first inning staked the Wolverines (22-18) to a 2-0 lead, but MU answered with four in the top of the fifth off losing pitcher Stephanie Miller (5-8), who scattered six hits.

Brittney Scero (Canton), who went 2-for-4, scored on a throwing error and Tara LaMilza contributed an

The Livonia Ladywood softball team is no longer flying under the radar screen.

The upstart Blazers capped off a stellar week by capturing the Michigan Stars Classic held at Liberty Park in Sterling Heights.

Ladywood won three games

Saturday and three more Sunday. The Blazers, a Division 2 school, downed six Division 1 teams, five that were ranked and two of which were undefeated, including last year's state semifinalist Anchor Bay.

The Blazers eliminated Lake Orion, which had scored 44 runs in its first four games, 6-0, in the semifinals followed by a 9-0 triumph over Romeo in the championship game. Ladywood also defeated No. 1-ranked Anchor Bay (7-1), St. Clair Shores Lake Shore (7-5), Detroit Renaissance (7-1) and Utica (7-1).

The Blazers were led by tournament MVP Briana Combs, a freshman pitcher, who went 5-0 during the two-day Classic.

Jenny Kelley, Alyssa Gietl, Gina Sykes and Cara Miller also earned All-Tournament honors along with Combs, daughter of second-year coach Scott Combs.

On Tuesday, Ladywood split a double-header at home with Farmington Hills Mercy, but clinched at least a share of the Catholic League's Central

JOHN GLENN 2, WAYNE 1: On Tuesday, host Westland John Glenn (2-6, 2-4) turned the tables on rival Wayne Memorial (1-11-1, 1-6) in a KLA South Division game.

Megan Maynor gave Wayne a 1-0 lead, but Glenn sophomore Jenna Williams tied it before the first half on an assist from Katie Yax.

"We learned the last game, we're playing good ball and moving it up front," said Glenn first-year coach Jimmy Mortada, whose team fell to the Zebras 2-1 in an earlier meeting.

On Friday, Glenn fell to host Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 5-3.

After being down 5-0 at halftime, the Rockets rallied on goals by Nikula, Williams and Lexi Gagliardi.

LADYWOOD 2, MERCY 2: Alessia Vagnini's goal in the 68th minute from Emily Chrzasz off a scrum in front of the net enabled Livonia Ladywood (6-4-3, 4-4-1) to tie host Farmington Hills Mercy (5-5-2, 3-5-2) and earn second place in the Catholic League's Central Division.

Ladywood led 1-0 at halftime on Caitlin Szczypka's goal off a rebound from Vagnini in the 24th minute.

Third-place Mercy rallied back to take the lead on goals by Cassidee Downs (29th minutes) and Michigan State signee Jordan Mueller (61st minute on a shot from 25 yards out).

Ladywood goalkeeper Michele Ring had four saves, while Nicole Gaudino had six for the Marlins.

CLARENCEVILLE 6, HANTRAMCK 0: In Tuesday's Metro Conference matchup, host Livonia Clarenceville (2-7-1, 1-4) routed the Cosmos (1-8, 1-4) thanks to a two-goal performance from Jerrica Clements and shutout goalkeeping divided by Kristen Jolly and Britney Olds.

Teresa Parent and Tori Bunker each added a goal and assist, while Jordan Fyffe also scored and freshman Sadie Zachos notched her first varsity goal.

KINGSVILLE 2, LUTH. WESTLAND 1: Goals by Malia Hain and Ariel Roddy propelled Bloomfield Hills Kingswood (5-3-1, 4-0-1) to at Metro Conference win Tuesday at Lutheran High Westland (2-4-1, 2-4).

Kelsay Martin assisted on Roddy's goal against the Warriors.

"My team played strong," first-year Lutheran Westland coach Sara Schaffer said.

COUNTRY DAY 2, STEVENSON 0: Kayla Addison's two breakthrough goals powered unbeaten Beverly Hills Detroit Country Day, the state's No. 1-ranked team in Division 2, to a non-league win Monday over visiting Livonia Stevenson (5-6).

Addison scored what proved to be game-winning goal 30th minute.

Michelle Krawczyk was in goal for the Spartans.

LADYWOOD 3, REGINA 0: On Saturday, Caitlin Szczypka's natural hat trick carried host Livonia Ladywood (6-4-2, 4-4-1) to the Catholic League Central Division triumph over Warren Regina (1-6-2, 1-5-2).

Szczypka's goal in the 26th minute gave the Blazers a 1-0 halftime lead. She outworked a Regina defender with Emily Chrzasz drawing the assist.

Szczypka scored in the 44th minute from 25 yards off an assist from Kelly Capocchia followed by her third in the 61st minute when she finished a rebound off a long shot from Mary Vance.

Ladywood goalkeeper Michele Ring notched her third shutout with seven saves.

"Our back three — Allison Bielski, Mary Vance and Allison Krueger — were excellent today," Ladywood coach Ken Shingledecker said. "It was nice to get Szczypka back from vacation (she missed two games because of a family trip). We struggled without her presence on our front line for the past two games."

they were just a little stronger. When you win five or six events, that's hard to compete against. But I'm really proud of them. We were in double digits -- 14th place -- two years ago, fifth last year and then second. We're moving up the ranks and it's good to see. Our strongest class are the juniors and we look to be back next year."

Churchill coach Rick Austin was pleased with his team's third-place finish.

The Chargers, led by the state's top-ranked pole vaulter, senior Derik Paterman, took that highly specialized event.

But a big surprise came in the 4 x 100 relay as Tony Frezzell, Scott Coppola, Travis Toney and Devon Easterling took first in 43.26, the first time ever a Churchill team had won the event in the 39-year history of Observerland.

"Those kids are the hardest workers on the team and they deserve everything they get," Austin said. "And I thought our throwers did well, too. They're our hardest workers, too."

"I'm very proud of the kids' performance. They've been growing all season. Third place makes me happy. It means we're headed in the right direction. But my hat's off to coach Magni and a CC team that had many outstanding performers."

Meanwhile, Observerland's fastest man title goes to Livonia Franklin senior Paul Voegel, who tied the school record with an official time of 10.86.

Voegel was able to hold off Westland John Glenn's Jeremy Langford, Farmington's Charles Anthony and Stevenson's Nick Anagnostou -- all clocking 10.9

"Paul really deserves it," Franklin coach Pat Koelzer said. "He's worked harder than anyone on the team since day one of preseason conditioning and fought through some early season injuries. He's finally 100 percent healthy."

Officials deliberated for more than five minutes before sorting out the finishers, but there was no question the Franklin senior crossed the line first.

"It feels great," said pencil-thin Voegel, who stands just 5 feet, 7 inches, and weighs only 125 pounds. "I got a good block start and ran a pretty good time, a personal best."

"I knew I was first or second, but didn't know until I got the (placing) stick. I was concerned, worried, anxious to know."

Another impressive individual performer was Wayne Memorial junior Renaldo

Powell, who captured the 110 hurdles in 14.15. He finished just ahead of Vanier Joseph of Redford Thurston (14.41) and CC's Scott Sansovich (14.51).

Another highlight was Stevenson's 4 x 200 relay team of David Simor, Jacob Gudeman, Nate Sergison and Anagnostou, which took first in 1:28.89, breaking the school record set in 2007.

But the day overall belonged to the Shamrocks, one of the few teams in the area which requires mandatory workouts during spring break.

"If you go on spring break, you can't run," Magni said. "We lose a few, but our guys know that from day one when they come in as freshmen. We can do it at CC and I realize some schools can't do it. You have to be here that week-and-a-half because I know they're not going to be training in Cancun."

Great Expectations: Your golf game will change while you are pregnant

By Susin Smiley

When Michigan State University women's golf coach Stacy Slobodnik-Stoll discovered she was pregnant six years ago, she visualized being able to propel the golf ball further down the fairway than she ever had before.

"So many people said they hit the ball farther when they were pregnant," said Slobodnik-Stoll. "It did not work that way for me. I really struggled. I just felt like I could not get through the ball. But I didn't want to give up playing, so I participated in all of the events I usually play in and just got used to hitting a little shorter."

Women can expect to make adjustments to their game when they are pregnant, but just what those changes will be is tough to predict. Not only can it vary from golfer to golfer but from pregnancy to pregnancy as well.

Meredith Weaver is a mother of three and says she had to make new adjustments each time she was pregnant.

"With my daughter I felt like I gained weight all over where with my two boys the weight was all right out there in front," Weaver said. "So it was completely different each time. I think you just have to adjust as you go along."

For Weaver, one of the toughest things was getting used to having her hands so far away from her body when she gripped the club.

"People are probably different depending on what their swing plane is like to begin with," Weaver said. "I think when you are pregnant you are more likely to swing within yourself and you maybe have less of a tendency to over swing."

Once she got her swing under control, it was a matter of dealing with her aching legs and first-trimester nausea.

"I always felt really crummy the first trimester so that it was harder for me to play than it was later in my pregnancies," Weaver said. "I also had a problem with veins in my legs so my issues were more to do with walking than with my swing."

Julie Massa, who is typically a walk-and-carry golfer, also remembers using the cart more when she was pregnant but for her the biggest issue was balance.

"I moved a little slower so I just had to tell myself that I wasn't going to hit it as far and to just play with what I had and try to keep it down the middle and make it easy on myself," Massa said. "My balance was different and it kept changing as I went along so that was an issue I didn't think of. It was a constant state of adjustment."

Massa found her putting was affected because she could not bend over as far as she was used to. She never changed putters but changed her stance to compensate for the lack of flexibility.

"I don't know exactly where the point was in my pregnancy where I knew I had to do something different but I think you just know," Massa said. "I just went with how I was feeling. I think you have to listen to your body -- that's what I did."

Slobodnik-Stoll still remembers playing in a tournament in mid-July when she was seven months pregnant with her daughter, Olivia. It was 95 degrees and humid and she remembers questioning her sanity for just a moment during the tournament.

"I just remember thinking 'I'm huge and why am I doing this right now?'" Slobodnik-Stoll said. "My expectations were so high and I was not playing like I wanted to but I didn't want to use the pregnancy as an excuse."

Some golfers find their game improved after the baby is born. Both Weaver and Slobodnik-Stoll say they gained upper body strength and muscle after their babies were born just because they were carrying their children with them everywhere.

"I was happy because I had more arm strength," Slobodnik-Stoll said. "It was a benefit for my game."

No matter what losses or changes their games suffered during their pregnancies, the golfers all agree that once the baby arrives, you get a new and refreshing perspective on everything -- including your game.

"You have something going on in your life that is so much bigger than golf," Weaver said.

Slobodnik-Stoll agrees: "Competitive golf is something that we do because we love it. Know that when you are pregnant, your life is going to be changing in the best way possible and you are going to have something you love more than golf."

Spartan Invite brings out best

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There were some head-turning girls track and field performances starting with Saturday's non-scoring Spartan Invitational hosted by Livonia Stevenson.

Some of the state's top talent was on parade in the non-scoring meet led by Ann Arbor Pioneer's Ariel Roberts.

The University of North Carolina-bound Roberts took the high jump (5 feet, 6 inches), long jump (17-6.75) and 300-meter hurdles (45.53).

Pioneer also won all four relay events including the 4 x 100 (51.09), 4 x 200 (1:46.81), 4 x 400 (4:01.98) and 4 x 800 (9:37.85).

Not to be outdone were performers from Livonia Churchill, Franklin, Stevenson and Ladywood.

Churchill junior Sara Kroll ran only one event, shattering Michelle Phillips' 2001 school record of 2:17.02 with a time of 2:14.71.

Teammate Taylor Byron threw a season-best 36-6 to win the shot put over Ladywood's Bridgid Molloy (35-9.75), who took the discus (101-5).

Franklin had two school records set as junior Emily Quint bettered her own mark in the pole vault when she cleared 11-0 en route to first.

Teammate Megan McPherson also wiped out the 3,200 run mark by over 16 seconds with a first-place clocking of 11:27.0. The previous mark was 11:43.6 set by Kari Saarela in 2007.

And not to be outdone was Stevenson senior Courtney Calka, who captured the 1,600 in 5:05.7. She followed that up on Tuesday by eclipsing her own school record in dual meet victory over South Lyon East by going 4:57.94.

Calka is believed to be only the second Livonia prep runner to break 5 minutes joining Ladywood's Jennifer Rioux, a former Wake Forest University standout who went 4:56 in 1983.

Also on Saturday, Westland John Glenn's Chanel Payne won the long jump (17-3.25) and 100 dash (12.3) at the Tory Clark Relays hosted by Adrian.

Lutheran High Westland bounced back from a Saturday loss with two Metro Conference wins including a 9-7 triumph Tuesday at home against Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook in a battle for first place.

Austin Baglow got the win with 6.1 innings of work, but he needed relief help from Micah Hausch after the Cranes rallied for six runs.

"It was definitely a good day for us despite the wild finish," Warriors coach Kevin Wade said. "We were in complete control for six solid innings and just couldn't put them away. They are a good team but we were up to the challenge today."

Ryan Rakovalis went 2-for-4 with a 3-run homer and four RBI to lead the Warriors, who improved to 8-2 overall and 5-1 in the Metro.

MU BASEBALL

The WHAC regular-season champs, 38-10 overall and ranked 16th in the country, will be searching for one of 15 at-large berths and hope to be among the field of 45 teams assigned to one of nine regional sites.

"We'll be watching the computer," MU coach Greg Haeger said. "I don't expect to lose much ground. We're still 38-10 and you've still got to like our chances getting in. I even told the Indiana Tech coach (Kip McWilliams) that we're still probably the No. 1-ranked team in our conference. We'll see what happens. Our body of work is still very good."

MU bounced back from Friday's opening-round 13-6 loss to last-place Concordia University to win three straight in the double-elimination tournament.

After sweeping a pair of games Saturday, the Crusaders returned Sunday to Ilitch Ballpark and ousted Concordia, 13-4, as Matt Kay (Canton) belted his 13th and 14th homers of the year to go along with four RBI, while Kevin Zerbo (Farmington Hills Harrison) added his team-leading 15th round-tripper.

The Canton connection of Shawn Little (3-for-5, RBI) and Tarik Khasawneh (2-for-4, two RBI) also contributed to MU's 15-hit attack.

Winning pitcher Tom Hansen (8-1) went the first six innings, allowing three earned runs on nine hits and three walks. Andy Omilian worked the last three innings to pick up the save.

Tony Pounders (Livonia Stevenson) went 2-for-3 and homered for Concordia, which bowed out at 25-30 overall. That set the stage for a meeting with the tournament's only undefeated team, Indiana Tech, which had lost three-of-four regular season meetings against the Crusaders.

The Warriors (30-24), the home team on the scoreboard, jumped out to a 10-4 lead through three innings and never let MU get closer than three runs the rest of the way as Lance Hamner (2-for-4, two RBI), Gordie Murphy and Steve Dowling (2-for-4, RBI) all homered.

MU, however, squandered a big opportunity in the top of the seventh.

The Crusaders cut the deficit to 10-7 and had runners on first and third with nobody out, but Indiana Tech reliever Zach Brown got out of the jam when courtesy runner Mitch Gansser was cut down at second base by Tech catcher Gordie Murphy after a pitch to the plate squirted into the dirt.

The same thing happened in the eighth when courtesy runner Adam Bailey, trying to advance from first to second on what appeared to be a single to right field by Ryan Morrow (2-for-5), couldn't get out of the way of the ball and was called out.

The Crusaders also had another runner cut down earlier in the game at third base.

"Three base running mistakes are out of the ordinary," said Haeger, whose team out-hit the Warriors, 15-13. "When you're fighting from behind, you can't give them outs. It's the stuff we practice, but it's still the game and you've got to execute what you practice."

MU starter Keegan Beaton failed to get out of the first inning, allowing four earned runs on four hits. Reliever Jeff Mann (3-1), who took the loss, pitched the next 1 1/2 innings and was tagged for five earned runs on five hits.

"You can't give up four walks either in the first inning," Haeger said. "It also comes down to pitching. It comes down to the little things."

The Westland John Glenn duo of Robert Fraser, who went the next 5 1/2 innings, and Chris Kangas, who got the final two outs, held the Warriors to two runs on six hits and two walks to give the Crusaders a chance at a comeback, but the damage had already been done.

Tech starter Corey Schwartz, who improved to 5-4, pitched the first six innings and allowed seven earned runs on 11 hits. Brown gave up four hits and held MU during his three-inning relief stint to pick up the save.

Aaron Hacias went 3-for-5 with a homer (his fourth) and three RBI to lead MU.

Little added three hits and one RBI, while Morrow, Zach Flavin and Ted Toune also collected two hits apiece.

Haeger, meanwhile, hopes the Crusaders will be invited to one of the nine regional sites (consisting of five teams each) with the hopes of reaching the NAIA nationals, which will be hosted later in the month by Lewis & Clark (Idaho).

"We're hitting .356 as a team and we have an ERA under 4.00 (3.91), which is really good in college baseball," Haeger said. "So many good things went on with this group."

"I'm sure (pitcher) Jeff Sonnenberg (10-2 after losing Friday against Concordia) is chomping at the bit to get in along with our other seniors. I hope we get in. And I believe we've got a lot to draw from if we get in."

RU too much for Clarenceville

All was all Redford Union on Saturday as the Panthers swept a non-league double-header from host Livonia Clarenceville, 15-1 and 11-0.

RU freshman Kim D'Arcangelo pitched the Panthers (5-8) to victory in both ends, fanning a total of 18 Trojans over her 11 innings of work.

She also was an offensive sparkplug in the opener, going 2-for-4 with three RBI including a bases-loaded double in the third inning.

Seniors Courtney Gagnon and Danielle Sweeney each tallied three hits and scored twice, while Allison Sawyer and Chelsey Gehlhausen each went 2-for-3 with two runs.

Clarenceville's offense amounted to two hits and a run from Brittany Brooks.

Offensive stars for the Panthers in the nightcap included Allison Sawyer (3-for-4, two runs), Gagnon (2-for-4, run), Gehlhausen (2-for-3, run), Hebner (2-for-4), Allison Katterson (2-for-3, two runs) and Brittany Morlewski (2-for-3, three runs).

Charmaine McQueen, Lisa Wilson, Joanna Burling and Brooks had hits for Clarenceville falls to 4-6 overall.

CHURCHILL 11, WAYNE 1: Katina St. Pierre and winning pitcher Abby Jewell collected three hits apiece Monday as Livonia Churchill (10-6, 5-5) downed host Wayne Memorial (0-11, 0-8) in a KLAASouth Division game.

Missy Sidor also knocked in three runs for the victorious Chargers, while Jewell struck out five and allowed just four hits.

Megan Callahan had a hit and scored the lone run for Wayne.

STEVENSON 5, SOUTH LYON 4: Kristina Vaclavak went 3-for-3 with the game-winning RBI and two stolen bases Monday to pace Livonia Stevenson (8-8, 4-4) to a KLAASouth Division triumph over the host Lions (5-10, 3-7).

Becca Zarras also added a 2-run single in the second inning as the Spartans scored three times.

Winning pitcher Laura Deacon helped her own cause going 2-for-3 with a run scored. The senior worked the first 5.2 innings, allowing four earned runs on two hits and five walks. She fanned eight before giving way to Emily Hollandsworth, who got the save.

Danielle Boone had a 3-run triple in the sixth inning for South Lyon. Danielle Godard suffered the loss.

PLYMOUTH 5-11, STEVENSON 4-0: On Friday, the host Wildcats (11-1, 7-1) swept a Kensington Conference crossover twinbill against Livonia Stevenson (6-6, 3-4).

Pitcher Lauren Smith scattered nine hits, fanned three and did not allow a walk to give Plymouth the 5-4 victory in the opener.

Laura Deacon went 3-for-4 with a double and triple in the loss. She relieved starter Emily Hollandsworth with one in the fourth inning. The two Spartan pitchers combined to give up six hits on five walks and nine strikeouts.

In the nightcap, Plymouth scored six times in the sixth inning to mercy the Spartans, 11-0.

Beth Heldmeyer went 4-for-4 with two runs scored.

Winning pitcher Miranda Oliver allowed just five hits, walked one and fanned four.

Deacon gave up three earned runs on two hits and walked five in four innings before giving way to Shannen Serlyo.

Hollandsworth went 2-for-2 in the setback.

RBI single during the surge. Rachael Kethe also came home on an unearned run and Shay crossed home on a wild pitch.

Aquinas, the runner-up during the WHAC's regular season, made things interesting in the second game of the day as winning pitcher Alyssa Fleser (19-6) held the Crusaders to just three hits in another one-run differential.

Ashley Aspinall's two-run homer off Irwin in the sixth broke a 1-1 deadlock.

MU got within one in the seventh when LaMilza walked with the bases loaded, but Fleser got Tedi Johnston (2-for-4) to foul out to left field to end the game.

"We had our chances the first game (against Aquinas), but we couldn't push home another," White said. "I also told the girls it was good to have a game like we did against U-M-Dearborn because it was gut-wrenching, intense, right down to the last pitch. That homer in the top of the sixth (by Aspinall) will prepare us well for nationals because every game is going to be like that."

The pairings will be announced Thursday. It is only the second NAIA nationals appearance for the Crusaders, who last made the tourney in 1994 under coach Jerry Abraham.

open your first business?

Our business began in 1982 with the DJ service, just as an interest or hobby for extra income. A friend had introduced me to DJ-ing after returning from serving in the Air Force. Then in 1986, the same friend turned me onto shooting wedding videos. Today our video experience has expanded to many services under the video umbrella and our mostly referral-based DJ service is flourishing.

How did you decide to locate in the Westland community?

We are proud to be located in the city of Westland. Westland is my hometown, but when we moved from our home to the storefront, we were excited to stay in Westland. We have made numerous friends and contacts over the years in our personal life as well as with our business ventures. We are proud to serve in the community we live.

Do you have a funny tidbit or story to share with our readers about your experience so far as a small business?

It's not a funny tidbit, but more the reason we do what we do. A lot of the older residents of the area have been bring in old film and slides to be transferred to DVD. With the changing of technology, most people don't have the equipment to view these old formats, so these memories have been stored and unseen for numerous years. Knowing what joy it brings to people when they see the old footage again is the most gratifying.

NEW PATIENTS

Students give youth minister a new 'do'

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
OGE STAFF WRITER

The Rev. Jason Nelson was smiling all the while his hair was turning purple. The new "do" was just one of the ways the youth minister reaches out to middle and high school students at Farmington Hills Church of God. Nelson had his hair dyed and part of his head shaved after kids in the church's youth group met his challenge to increase attendance. Three years ago about 18 youth came for the Wednesday evening meetings with Nelson and nine adult volunteers who work with him in the program.

"We have seen such growth," said Nelson, the church's associate pastor. "We had 32 kids at the beginning of 2009. Currently 32 is our low. We're averaging 40 now. The youth are excited. We have a different event every Wednesday night from 7 to 8:30 p.m. We're going to Tigers or Pistons games, pool parties, barbecues. We address issues they deal with on a daily basis. Currently we're on sex."

"Kids are always welcome to come. We have a 'pray for' list. After three weeks they get a T-shirt and the counselors and student leadership team pray for them. I hear stories of people seeing those shirts in the community. One kid was in gym class and a friend said 'can I be prayed for?' He prayed right there for the other kid."

Nelson knows firsthand the difficulties of growing up. He is the third generation of pastors in his family but at one point wasn't sure about following the path of his father Ed and grandfather H.L.

On April 5, Nelson celebrated his pastoral ordination, officially becoming a reverend in front of friends and family including wife Anne. His father and mother Sheri traveled from Colorado for the ordination at which Ed preached and H.L. gave the dedication prayer. After the service the church threw a party attended by 230 people.

"At an early age I felt the call then saw how Christians act the way they are not supposed to act. It turned me away from church. In college I reaccepted the call to the ministry," said Nelson, who earned a bachelor's degree at Asbury College in Kentucky and master's at Anderson University School of Theology, Indiana. "I worked as a camp counselor one summer for the Salvation Army. The junior high camp drew me in the most. Because of my experiences as a teen I feel I'm able to relate to kids, to teach them to live and love as the Bible tells them. I went through some rebellion, the party scene, tried some things. I'm able to relate to kids as they struggle with things today."

Nelson's goal as a pastor is to be an example of God's love.

"Nobody's perfect so we're going to mess up," said Nelson, "but God loves us and forgives us."

Nelson's positive influence on Linda Cook's daughter is the reason the single mother applauds the program. Cook has been attending Farmington Hills Church of God since her daughter was two years old. Victoria Stafford is now 12 and a seventh grade student at East Middle School.

Youth in the group primarily attend sixth through 12th grade at Power and East Middle schools and Harrison and Farmington high schools. Nelson helps coach girls soccer at Harrison.

"She never misses a meeting," said Cook of Farmington. "We have 150 some people. We're not a huge congregation. He's really grown the youth group. He's invited children of different faiths or who don't know God at all. I've really seen the change and the growth for the kids. For my daughter, her father is nonexistent in her life and lives out of state. It's critical for a man to have an impact in her life, to surround my daughter with good role models. He's more of a cool guy cause he's younger. I think he's more on their level. Jason is very direct, tells it like it is."

At age 30, Nelson still knows how to have fun. He came up with the challenge to increase attendance by telling the kids that if they were ever to assemble 60 or more youth for the Wednesday meeting "they could do whatever they wanted" to him. Nelson kept his promise even though his ordination was a little more than two weeks away.

"The kids were calling their friends and ended up having 61," said Nelson. "They voted and decided to dye my hair purple and give me an old man haircut by shaving the top and left the sides. We had a good time. The following week we had 50 something youth show up that day and I promised the kids I'd keep it through worship on Sunday. The challenge is for 100 kids next time. We've had other adults step up and offer to have their head shaved."

Victoria Stafford is looking forward to growing the youth group to 100. She joined a couple of years ago for the activities and camaraderie.

"It's so much fun going, so much to do. My friends are all there," said Stafford. "It's real informal. Jason is a real nice person, unique. It was very fun. We're trying to get bigger. We go to a lot of different places, to camp over the weekend for group building activities. There's so much to do. Everybody's so friendly there from middle school to seniors. Everyone knows each other real well."

Farmington Hills Church of God is at 25717 Power Road at 11 Mile. Call (248) 477-9144 or visit www.fhchurchofgod.org. The church is affiliated with Church of God, a non-denominational Christian movement with offices in Anderson, Ind.

Star-studded lineups slated for summer concerts

Concert-goers will have even more reasons to "Love It Live" in 2009 when DTE Energy Music Theatre and Meadow Brook Music Festival, along with sister venue The Palace, combine to host more than 100 shows featuring the top acts on tour this summer and an overall schedule full of more value-oriented ticket pricing than ever before.

More than 70 percent of the summer events include $10 or $15 lawn tickets or will offer specially discounted four-packs of lawn tickets. Additional shows will be announced as tour plans develop.

DTE Energy Music Theatre, the nation's most-attended amphitheatre for 18 consecutive years, will host such high-profile performers as Nine Inch Nails/Jane's Addiction, Coldplay, Brad Paisley w/Dierks Bentley, Toby Keith w/Trace Adkins, Dave Matthews Band, Jimmy Buffett and The Coral Reefer Band and Mötley Crüe's "Crüe Fest 2."

Meadow Brook Music Festival's 2009 schedule might be its most star-studded ever, highlighted by such notable artists as John Fogerty, Crosby, Stills & Nash, Lyle Lovett & His Large Band, and Chris Isaak.

"Coming off a tough Michigan winter, we are pleased to provide the biggest and most diverse schedule of shows in the country again this summer, including the top concerts and festivals on tour along with traditional favorites," said Tom Wilson, PS&E President and CEO. "To continue to host this quantity of events during these trying times with our current economy, we had to emphasize offering affordable tickets even more this summer so our guests can continue to enjoy shows at our venues."

Cost-conscious concert-goers can find more than 50 shows with $10 or $15 lawn tickets for such well-known acts at DTE Energy Music Theatre as traditional opener Eddie Money, Anita Baker, Travis Tritt, and B.B. King w/Robert Cray Band.

Meadow Brook events offering the special $10 or $15 lawn price include John Fogerty, "Regeneration Tour" with ABC, Wang Chung, Heaven 17 and Cutting Crew, comedian David Alan Grier, and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

In addition, PS&E has more shows than ever providing special discounts on four-packs of lawn tickets.

Belle Tire is returning in 2009 for its fourth summer to sponsor the concert series of DTE Energy Music Theatre and Meadow Brook Music Festival. Michigan's largest independent tire retailer will continue to support the schedules with in-store promotions and giveaways.

PS&E ownership includes The Palace and DTE Energy Music Theatre, as well as the management of Meadow Brook Music Festival on the campus of Oakland University. Combined, PS&E's Michigan venues average 300 events and 3.5 million guests annually.

The Palace has been voted Arena of the Year eight times by Performance magazine, twice by Pollstar magazine and is listed annually among North America's top-grossing arenas. Voted "Best Outdoor Concert Venue" in Pollstar's 2000 Readers' Poll, DTE Energy Music Theatre has been listed as the nation's most attended amphitheatre by Amusement Business/Billboard each of the 18 years of PS&E ownership.

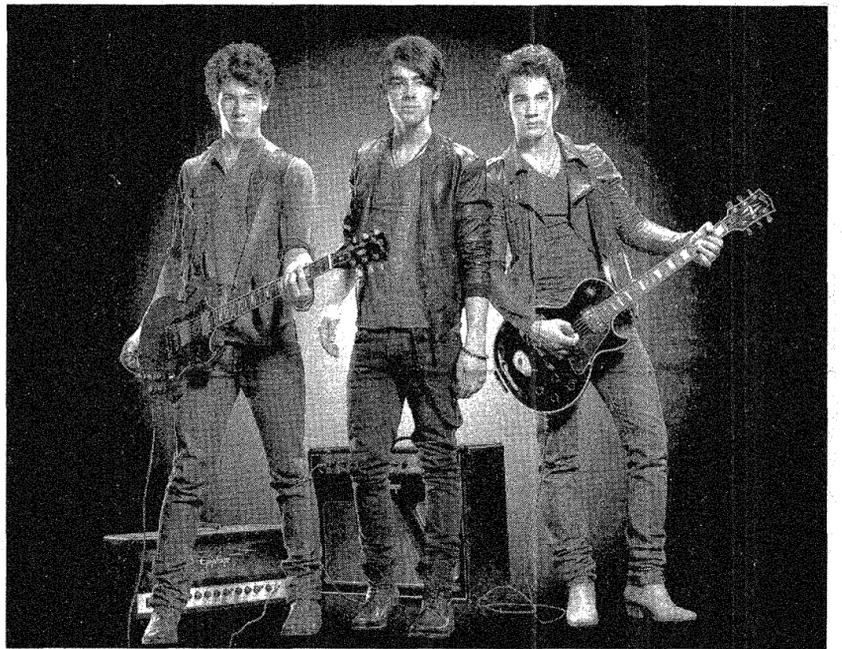

STEPHAN CRANEANSKI

Coldplay will rock DTE Energy Music Festival on June 2.

As is tradition, Eddie Money will kick off summer concert season at DTE Energy on May 22.

Art Birmingham features live music and 180 vendors

Shop for quality art at all price points, like this scarf by Yvonne Stefani, during Art Birmingham May 9-10, presented by the BBAC.

National City Art Birmingham transforms Shain Park into an art gallery Mother's Day weekend with 180 artists from all over the U.S. in a variety of media. In addition to art for purchase, the event features hands-on family art activities and artist demonstrations. This year two performers who are newcomers to the Detroit music scene, Parisian Michelet Innocent and Mystic Warriors, will perform for free at Art Birmingham both Saturday, May 9 and Sunday, May 10.

The free festival runs Saturday, May 9, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Sunday, May 10, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. The Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center produces the festival with support from community partner, the Birmingham Bloomfield Chamber. It attracts nearly 80,000 during the weekend.

Parisian musician Michelet Innocent is always fast-paced, humorous, and never predictable. He may be right in the middle of one of the funniest songs or stories you've ever heard, and launch right into a show-stopping production number. What makes his performance so smooth is that Michelet artfully weaves his show from splash, to nostalgia, to humor, to wondrous excitement, building up to a rousing grand finale that always leaves his audience wanting more. www.micheletinno-cent.com.

The Mystic Warriors believe their music is a fusion that crosses over many genres without leaving the boundaries of Andean music. More important than categorizing their style is their ability to deliver a message of universal peace and harmony transmitted by the combination of Andean ancient flutes and panpipes with contemporary instruments. Joining the ancestral sounds of the Incas with today's newest sounds, Mystic Warriors will transport you to places and times long forgotten, but yet to come. www.mysticwarriors.com.

The 2009 Art Birmingham title sponsor is National City, now part of PNC. Additional support for the event comes from Health Alliance Plan, Renewal by Andersen, Infinity Windows, The New York Times, Bruce White Galleries, Dynamic Life Chiropractic, and 1-800-Mini-Storage as well as Costco and The Henry Ford. Promotional support is provided by Hour Detroit, MetroAlive.com, WWJ-AM, and WDET-FM.

FOOD & WINE

Loire Valley of France sets standards for white wines

Producers in the Loire Valley of France set the standards for three white wines: sauvignon blanc, chenin blanc and muscadet. Here's why. The Loire, France's longest river, 600 miles long, and the last "wild river" in Europe, rises in the region known as the Massif Central and flows north through the heart of France.

Appellations such as Sancerre, Pouilly-Fume, Menetou-Salon, Quincy and Touraine are lauded for sauvignon blanc. Influence of climate, soil and regional winemaking traditions allow each region's interpretation of the grape to be different.

These are decidedly wines of a place and epitomize the French concept of terroir. They do have a commonality in high-toned aromatics, crisp acidity and a minerality not found in sauvignon blanc from anywhere else on the planet.

WORLD'S BEST

For U.S. wine producers, chenin blanc has not been a primary focus. Perhaps it's because the wines can't compete with the excellence of chenin blanc from the Loire. In the hundred miles of the Loire River between the towns of Tours and Angers, chenin blanc achieves an unmatched level that ranges from crisp and dry to luscious dessert style.

Slate and schist soil closer to Angers, is the origin of Anjou Blanc and Savennieres, leaner and more mineral wines that make any fish dish sing.

On the Loire River around the port city of Nantes, the Atlantic Ocean is the most influential geographical factor responsible for the characteristics of muscadet.

The grape is melon de Bourgogne or simply melon.

Don't question the ancient Burgundy origin - just focus on the name muscadet.

If you like seriously dry white wine with citrus aromas, this is your wine. Many versions even have a sea spray salty-like tang that make it a perfect pairing with oysters on the half shell, fried clams, lobster rolls and fish tacos.

OUR LOIRE FAVORITES

The following Loire wines are available at the Holiday Market, Royal Oak, 1203 S. Main St. (248) 541-1414. Holiday Market is one of the area's best Loire wine sources.

FOOD & WINE

Loire Valley of France sets standards for white wines

Producers in the Loire Valley of France set the standards for three white wines: sauvignon blanc, chenin blanc and muscadet. Here's why. The Loire, France's longest river, 600 miles long, and the last "wild river" in Europe, rises in the region known as the Massif Central and flows north through the heart of France.

Appellations such as Sancerre, Pouilly-Fume, Menetou-Salon, Quincy and Touraine are lauded for sauvignon blanc. Influence of climate, soil and regional winemaking traditions allow each region's interpretation of the grape to be different.

These are decidedly wines of a place and epitomize the French concept of terroir. They do have a commonality in high-toned aromatics, crisp acidity and a minerality not found in sauvignon blanc from anywhere else on the planet.

WORLD'S BEST

For U.S. wine producers, chenin blanc has not been a primary focus. Perhaps it's because the wines can't compete with the excellence of chenin blanc from the Loire. In the hundred miles of the Loire River between the towns of Tours and Angers, chenin blanc achieves an unmatched level that ranges from crisp and dry to luscious dessert style.

Slate and schist soil closer to Angers, is the origin of Anjou Blanc and Savennieres, leaner and more mineral wines that make any fish dish sing.

On the Loire River around the port city of Nantes, the Atlantic Ocean is the most influential geographical factor responsible for the characteristics of muscadet.

The grape is melon de Bourgogne or simply melon.

Don't question the ancient Burgundy origin - just focus on the name muscadet.

If you like seriously dry white wine with citrus aromas, this is your wine. Many versions even have a sea spray salty-like tang that make it a perfect pairing with oysters on the half shell, fried clams, lobster rolls and fish tacos.

OUR LOIRE FAVORITES

The following Loire wines are available at the Holiday Market, Royal Oak, 1203 S. Main St. (248) 541-1414. Holiday Market is one of the area's best Loire wine sources.

- Joseph Mellot 2007 Le Chatellenie Sancerre, $27
- Michel Picard 2006 Vouvray, $13 (off-dry)
