The Westland Community Foundation is holding its annual holiday party at 6 p.m. this evening in the media center of John Glenn High School.

An annual event that attracted 300 people last year, the party serves as a fund-raiser for the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army. "There's so much more need out there this year, it's overwhelming," said Glenn Shaw. "There's more people in need and we're asking people to do what they can."

Shaw is asking people to bring two unwrapped toys and pay a $5 admission for an evening the will included hors d'oeuvres and soft drinks.

The money and gifts will be given to the Salvation Army. The foundation, which raises $20,000-$25,000 for the organization, will add in 100 movie passes, including popcorn and pop, for two that it was able to purchase at a reduced cost.

"That way we'll be able to take care of the families," Shaw said.

People need only show up at the high school to attend. John Glenn is on Marquette, wets of Wayne Road, in Westland.

For Nevaeh

Wayne Masonic Lodge 112 with the help of Wayne Assembly 72 of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls, is holding a Pancake Breakfast and Child Identification Program Sunday, Dec. 20.

The Rainbow Girls will cook a pancake breakfast with trimmings from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., while the Masonic Lodge will conduct the Child Identification Program from noon to 4 p.m.

The Child Identification Program is being conducted in honor of Nevaeh Buchanan, the 5-year-old Monroe child who was snatched from her scooter while she was in the parking lot of the apartment complex where she lived. Her body was found on June 4, by fishermen near the River Raisin. Her body was found only seven miles from where she was last seen playing.

Each child that goes through the process will receive a dental impression as well as a CD containing a photo, video, digital fingerprints and their vital information, everything needed for the Amber Alert System. Parents or guardians of children who participate must be present and fill out a permission slip for the child to receive this service.

The Masonic Lodge is at 37137 Palmer, between Wayne Road and Newburgh in Westland. For more information about the identification program, contact Bernie Brewer at (734) 231-4791, by e-mail at bernardbrewer@comcast.net, or on the Michigan Child ID Web site at www.michip.org.

W-W board plans Dec. 14 vote on school closings

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A decision to close six Wayne-Westland elementary schools and go to a new grade configuration could come as soon as Monday, Dec. 14.

School board President Skip Monit's request for the meeting came after the board received a revamped proposal from its 21st Century Schools Committee which recommended that six, not seven schools be closed and that the district stick with its current boundaries for its two high schools.

"The No. 1 thing is that this decision we are making is all about what's best for the children," Monit said. The changes came in response to parents' complaints about the redistricting at the elementary and secondary levels. Many complained that they had bought in neighborhoods to have their children attend one or the other of the district's two high schools.

The committee is now recommending that Patchin, Madison, Kettering, Jefferson-Barns and Lincoln Elementaries in Westland and Vandenberg in Wayne be closed and that Hamilton be kept open, as well as new attendance boundaries for Edison, Elliott, Hamilton, Hicks, Hoover, Schweitzer, Taft-Galloway and Wildwood.

Initially, the committee had recommended that just one elementary — Walker-Winter in Canton — have its students divided between the 5/6 schools — Marshall and Adams. However, with the changes, there would be four elementaries — Hamilton, Hicks in Inkster, Walker-

Winter and Schweitzer in Westland — that would feed students into the two 5/6 schools.

It also recommended that sixth-seventh-graders currently attending Stevenson Middle School who reside in the Wayne Memorial High School attendance area be allowed to stay through eighth grade rather than being sent to Franklin Middle School in Wayne.

While the school district was aiming for an 85 percent capacity in the

MADD kicks off annual holiday campaign

Two years after her daughter was killed in 1992 by a drunken driver, Paulette Gibson became a victim impact speaker for Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

"I speak once or twice a month to first-time offenders — a lot of them really aren't first-time offenders," said Gibson. "It became a passion for me."

But continuing to see 40-50 first-time offenders at each session became disheartening, said Gibson, who often brought along her 4-year-old granddaughter — a child she raised after her daughter's death.

"It had a big impact on people seeing her sitting in a big chair behind me coloring," she said.

Speaking at the kick-off ceremony for MADD's annual Tie One On For Safety red ribbon campaign, Gibson said she returned as a speaker after about a five-year break.

"I realized that the problem was not going to go away unless there was no alcohol and that wasn't going to happen," said Gibson. "I speak from compassion and consequences. Choices have consequences."

Drunken driving impacts the offender's family, too, Gibson said.

"I start by asking them to close their eyes and think of someone they love and who loves them unconditionally," said Gibson.

Metro area law enforcement officials, including Wayne County Undersheriff Daniel Pfannes and Macomb County Sheriff's Department Capt. Anthony Wickersham, attended the kick-off at Westland Center.

"I'm here as a law enforcement officer and also as a citizen. My best friend was killed in the 1980s by drunk driver," said Pfannes. "This is very near and dear to my heart. We can't preach enough that people need to be responsible for themselves and each other. It's a hard task stepping up when someone is getting behind the wheel after drinking alcohol."

Like Pfannes, Wickersham urged drivers to call 9-1-1 when they see erratic drivers who may be intoxicated. In a time when budgets are being cut, Wickersham said that Macomb County Sheriff Mark Hackel and Macomb County Prosecutor Eric Smith have sponsored billboards asking people to call 9-1-1 about possible drunken drivers.

'Real' Santa pays visit to Octagon House

Santa Claus will be visiting the Octagon House Saturday — the real Santa Claus.

At least that's the story from Jo Johnson, president of the Westland Historical Society, and she's sticking with it.

"I'd like people to know we have the real Santa. Last year, a grandson of a (Historical) commissioner sat on Santa's lap with a map showing the way to his house," said Johnson. "A week later, he saw Santa at a mall and said that wasn't the real Santa, he had seen the real Santa at the museum."

The identification was good enough for Johnson.

"You've got to believe him, he knew Santa," she said.

Santa will be visiting the Octagon House in the Westland Historic Village Park 1-4 p.m. Saturday during the annual Christmas Open House. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to bring cameras to get a photograph with Santa.

Tours of the Octagon House will be offered. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served.

Westland Historic Village Park is located on Wayne Road south of Marquette. For more information, call (734) 522-3918.

Roadwork takes bumps out of Warren Road

BY LEANNE ROGERS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There's no dispute that much of Warren Road needs repairs but people do disagree about which section is in the worst condition.

"I've had people say the worst section is Venoy to Merriman while someone else says it's Merriman to Middlebelt," said Westland Department of Public Services Director Kevin Buford. "The entire Warren corridor is in sad shape and you can quote me."

The Westland and Garden City councils have each approved an intergovernmental agreement with Wayne County for resurfacing Warren from Wayne Road to Merriman.

Expected to begin in the spring, the $2 million project is being funded largely by a federal grant administered by the Michigan Department of Transportation. Federal money will pay nearly 82 percent of the project costs. The local share will be divided with Wayne County paying 9 percent, Westland paying 7 percent or $146,366 and 2 percent or $42,122 from Garden City.

"We're absolutely pleased that they are doing this project. We're also anxious for the next project going east of Merriman," said Garden City City Manager David Harvey, who nominated the section from Merriman to Middlebelt as being in the worst condition. "The improvements on Warren have been needed for a long time. They've cut and patched the road, so it's been a little better."

In 2011, plans call for resurfacing of Warren Road from Merriman to Middlebelt and Newburgh to Wayne Road. The section of Warren from Middlebelt to Inkster Road is scheduled to be resurfaced in 2012.

"Since it is five lanes and so long, they are doing the project in segments. It's not that old of a road, it failed prematurely," said Buford. "It's a county road but we do get complaints about it — it's in my city."

The Wayne Road to Merriman project is expected to take two-three months to complete. The work includes repair and sealing of the concrete before resurfacing and replacement of some concrete.

schools, that figure would slip to 78 percent, under the new recommendation. Likewise, the hoped for $5.5-$6 million savings would be more like $5 million.

"Wayne-Westland isn't alone in facing this challenge," said consultant Jeff Rahmberg in presenting the new recommendations. "Every school district around the state has been dealt this same hand and is either closing schools, getting concessions or laying off employees. This community has always risen to the challenge and this is a big one."

Parents continued to press the board to make sure they had all of the facts before making a decision. In the Madison attendance area, Ron and Sally Madison have created a Web site, Parents After the Truth — pattnow.com — to get out information they feel hasn't been considered by the committee.

"No matter what schools close and what schools stay open, it affects the whole community," said Sally Madison. "We've seen the numbers and they don't add up."

"Close the right schools for the right reason and for the right amount of money," Ron Madison added.

Parents also questioned safety issues related to the area around Hicks Elementary and for students at Vandenberg walking to Taft-Galloway.

"You've put Vandenberg in the same situation as Jefferson-Barns and Lincoln, you'll leave a vacant building that won't be safe to walk by," one parent said. "If we face this again next year are we going to move these students again? I think you need to go back to the drawing board."

Since the meeting, Andrea O'Leary has been urging her neighbors to contact Superintendent Greg Baracy and John Albrecht who chaired the enrollment sub-committee in hopes of not having children living in the area of Merriman to Henry Ruff and Avondale to Cherry Hill sent out of Westland to Hicks Elementary in Inkster.

"We are the only area that our children will be leaving our own city to go to school," said O'Leary. "I have looked at the area and know people who work there and it is my understanding that this is not a safe place to send our children."

Board Vice President Cindy Schofield, who had questioned the closing of Jefferson-Barns and Lincoln in the Norwayne community, told the audience that she used the same criteria as what the committee in looking at the closings.

"I looked at the rubric and no matter how I changed it, I came up with the same buildings," she said, adding that Lincoln and Jefferson-Barns are the "two buildings that are the worst in the district."

The board members told the audience that they are committed to make the best decision for the students.

"It's not about the money for me," said Trustee Carol Middel. "It's about the students, it's always been that."

"I know the decision I have to make and it will be tough for me," said Trustee John Goci. "It's going to be tough for me to close schools, but I'm confident that this is right for the district."

"I've been on this board for 15 years and this is one of the hardest things I've had to do and experience," said board Secretary Martha Pitsenbarger. "Not one of us wants to close one school, we have to do this. We need to do what's right and to look out for our school district."

Comment called 'offensive, inappropriate'

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

"Those kids."

It was a remark shouted out during the Wayne-Westland school board's Nov. 30 public forum that brought several parents and a school official to the podium Monday evening to speak up in support of the students who live in the Wayne Memorial High School attendance area.

"I'm here to let you know what a jewel you have in Wayne Memorial," said Valerie Orr, the Wayne High principal and a Wayne High graduate.

Citing the school's nationally ranked JROTC Raiders unit and the many community service projects students are involved in, including a Christmas program for elementary students this week, Orr told the school board that her decision to speak was an easy one after hearing the remark.

"To hear such a disparaging remark is hard," she said. "People need to consider that when they're judging others, this isn't the Wayne district, this isn't the Westland district, this is the Wayne-Westland district. I understand that this is an emotional time, but people should redirect their frustrations to contacting their lawmakers to get them to properly fund schools."

"I want to apologize to the parents and the children for the people who came and referred to them as white trash," said Shawnn Maxwell. "I am one of the fortunate ones whose school isn't closing, but at Taft-Galloway, any child will be welcome to our school, not as those children, but as our children."

"Each child deserves an education, instead of tearing this district apart, we need to support it," she said.

"It makes no sense in running down the schools, we have great schools," said Tim Tennant of Wayne. "I have no problem with my kids going to Taft, it's one of the better schools. I don't have a problem with you closing my school."

"Those people, what they said was inappropriate and totally offensive," added another parent.

School board Treasurer Shawna Walker said the comment was disheartening to hear.

"All of our children are important, we don't want to make anyone of them feel they are less important," she said.

"I take that comment personally because my kids are those kids," added school board Vice President Cindy Schofield. "They went to Adams and Wayne Memorial and they are both very successful."

A story about school closings in the Thursday, Dec. 3, issue of the Observer should have identified Ron Madison as the son-in-law of Florence Richards.

Elle Dare, owner with her husband of Genuine Toy Co. in Plymouth, said that toys made in China are now much safer than was true in the past. The comments were in a Sunday, Dec. 6, Observer article. She said regulations now make China-made toys much safer.

Celebrate the holidays with us

Take a break from the holiday bustle by sharing your holiday wishes and fondest memories with us.

We're asking readers to send us their favorite holiday memories and photos to the Observer for the special holiday edition we're planning for Thursday, Dec. 24.

Did you get a favorite gift for Christmas, or do you have a special memory of Hanukkah? Is there a special tradition your family has that makes the season merry and bright? Share those memories with your neighbors through us. Send your items — be sure to include a photo, if you can — to Observer editor Sue Mason at smason@hometownlife.com.

It is our intention to make that issue a "keeper," something our readers will savor — and save.

And for youngsters, Santa Claus is making his list and getting close to checking it twice, but there's still time to send him wish gift list.

The Observer wants to make sure Santa Claus knows what children would like this Christmas and is asking youngsters to send us letters to him. We'll send them on to the North Pole after we make copies to publish in the newspaper Dec. 24. It's been a holiday tradition that we at The Observer have thoroughly enjoyed and hope children will help keep it going.

The letters can be sent by e-mail and need to include a snapshot of the child writing the letter. They can be a list of toys, a holiday greeting for the Jolly Ol' Elf or whatever information youngsters want Santa to have.

Send Santa correspondence to smason@hometownlife.com and be sure to put "Letter to Santa" in the subject line. Letters also can be sent the old-fashioned way, via the U.S. Postal Service, to Letter to Santa, c/o Sue Mason, 615 W. Lafayette, Second Level, Detroit, MI 48226.

"We took this concept from Neighborhood Watch. We need people to be our eyes and ears and call 9-1-1 with as much information about the vehicle as they can," said Wickersham. "Then we hope an officer will be able to stop them."

From Thanksgiving to New Year's Day nationally close to 1,500 fatalities occur involving a driver with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .08 or higher and thousands of individuals are injured, according to MADD. In 2008, 317 people were killed and 5,700 injured in alcohol-related accidents statewide. In the seven counties that make up Southeast Michigan, 104 fatalities and 2,085 injuries occurred in crashes where the drunken driver had a BAC of .08 or higher.

Noting his relationship with MADD dated back to his time as Wayne County sheriff, Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano said that the organization has changed the dynamics and discussions that relate to alcohol consumption and driving.

"Ten years ago, you wouldn't have known what a designated driver is. There is a lot more discussion at parties about drinking and who is driving home," he said. "But the job isn't complete if one family is injured by a drunk driver."

have known what a designated driver is. There is a lot more discussion at parties about drinking and who is driving home," he said. "But the job isn't complete if one family is injured by a drunk driver."

Tying a red ribbon around a vehicle antenna wasn't just a reminder of the Tie One On For Safety campaign, Westland Mayor William Wild said, but also shows a commitment of the driver to drive sober and wear a seat belt.

The MADD ribbons are available at local State Farm Insurance offices — the insurance company is a sponsor of the Tie One On For Safety effort.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Cash, equipment taken from restaurant

Embezzlement

1. The owner of Mancino's, 37636 Ford, told police Nov. 30 that approximately $16,000 in cash, food and equipment had been stolen from Aug. 14 when the business opened and Oct. 31. He identified the suspect as a Livonia man who had been his partner in the business and was in charge of handling cash at the location.

Break-in

2. Police were called to a home in the 36000 block of Booth just after 8 p.m. Dec. 2 when a resident told police that a man had broken the bay window and entered the house. The resident was outside in the back yard when the officers arrived and searched the home without finding anyone.

A landscaping brick was found on the kitchen floor and the officer noted mud on the outer and inner window frame consistent with someone climbing in. Since there was no mud on the floor, the officer said he appeared to have been leaning in trying to grab a purse that was on the kitchen table.

The resident told the officer she was watching television nearby when she heard the brick come through the window. When she walked into the kitchen, she said a man in a black coat, knit hat and gloves was climbing through the window. The man ran, she said, when she started screaming.

Damage to the window was set at $400.

Larceny

3. Numerous televisions were reported stolen after 19 different fifth-wheel/camping trailers were broken into at Westland Camping Center,

WESTLAND COP CALLS

1475 S. Newburgh, Nov. 25-30. The televisions had been mounted in the camping vehicles. Officers said the perimeter fence had been cut and some type of pry device or key had been used to open the vehicles.

Various tools and a generator also were missing from a show trailer on the site.

Dog gone

4. A resident in the 2100 block of Edgerton told police Nov. 29 that someone had stolen her dog, a chocolate lab/pit bull mix, from the back yard of her home. She said the dog, valued at $100, had been outside for about 30 minutes.

The officer noted there were also pry marks on the rear door but no entry was made.

Larceny from a vehicle

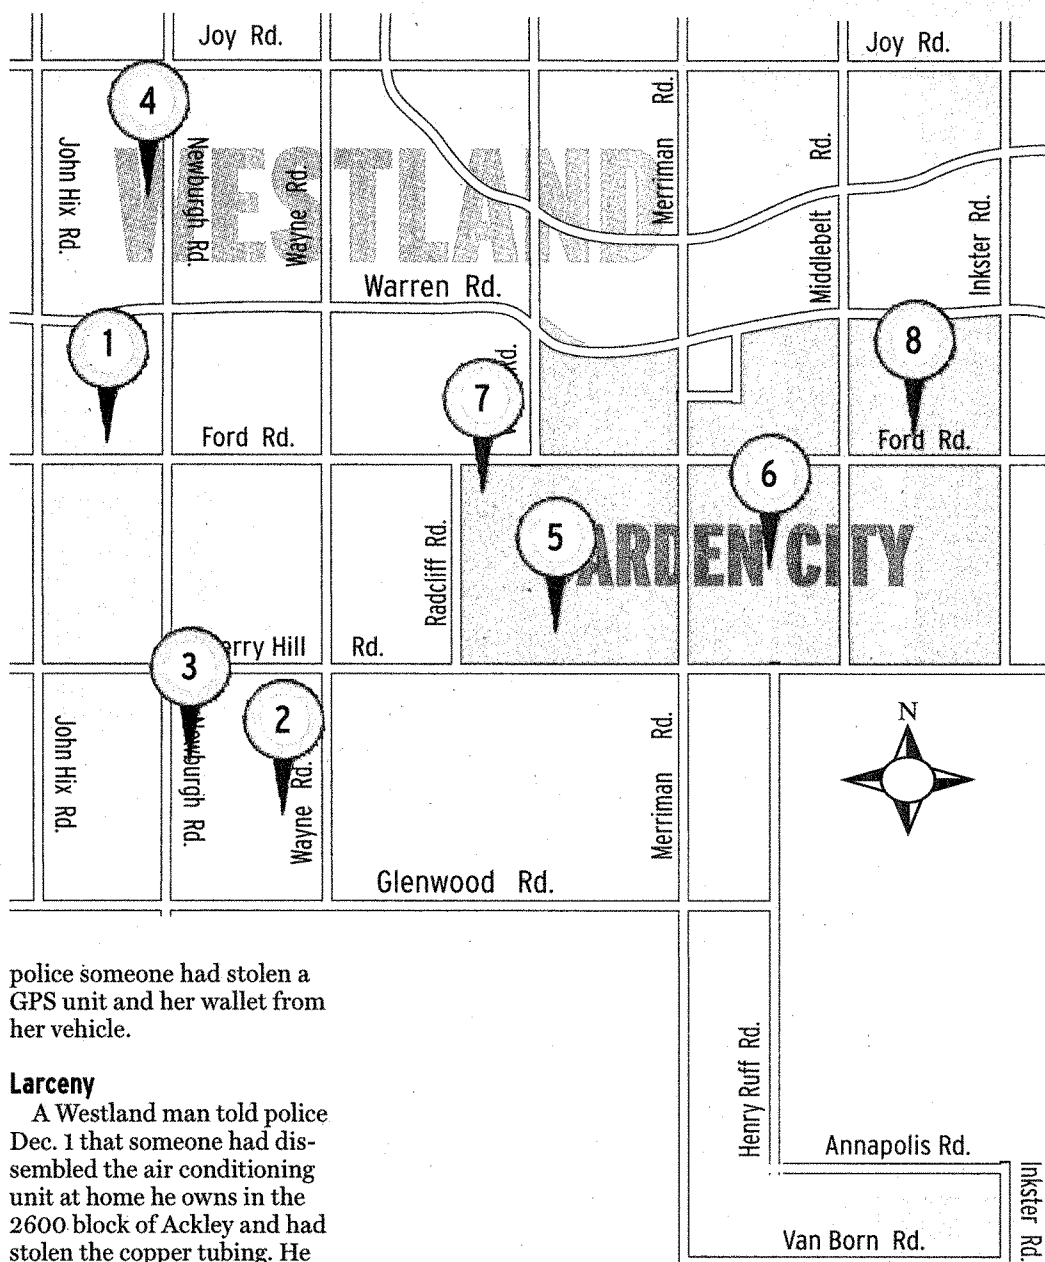

A resident of an apartment at 37500 Scotsdale Circle told police Dec. 2 that her vehicle was parked overnight and in the morning she found the driver's side window smashed out. Reported missing from the vehicle was a touch-screen radio valued at $300. Additional damage to the dashboard was also reported.

Purse stolen

A Canton woman told police Dec. 2 that her purse had been stolen from her boyfriend's vehicle while they were at Powerhouse Gym, 34520 Ford. The boyfriend, a Farmington Hills man, said the vehicle window had been smashed. The purse contained identification and $10 cash.

Larceny from a vehicle

On Dec. 1, a resident in the 38000 block of Oakwest told police someone had stolen a GPS unit and her wallet from her vehicle.

Larceny

A Westland man told police Dec. 1 that someone had disassembled the air conditioning unit at home he owns in the 2600 block of Ackley and had stolen the copper tubing. He said he had last been at the home on Nov. 27.

Break-in

On Dec. 3, a resident in the 2400 block of East Rhead told police that someone had entered his garage and stolen assorted tools valued at $700.

Larceny from a vehicle

A resident of an apartment in the 33000 block of Trafalgar Square told police Dec. 3 that someone had damaged both door locks on his vehicle and stolen 30 CDs. No damage estimate was included but the stolen CDs were valued at $400.

Vandalism

6. A window at the Greek Flame Restaurant at Cherry Hill and Venoy was found smashed by a cement landscaping brick Dec. 2. The manager told police that the brick matched landscaping under the broken window. He added that he has had no recent employee/customer troubles.

The rear window of a pickup truck was shattered by a BB or pellet gun while it was parked in the driveway of a home in the 29000 block of Rosslyn Dec. 5. The owner said it appeared nothing had been taken from the truck. Damage was set at $500.

A resident in the 32000 block of Sheridan told police she was in her kitchen Dec. 5 when she heard a noise like glass breaking and saw that the glass in her doorwall was shattered. It appeared the damage was done by a BB or pellet gun and that the shot had come from north of the home on Barton street. However, police found no one who had heard or seen anything. Damage was set at $500.

Larceny from a vehicle

7. A radio face, three CDs, 90 oxycontin pills and $7 in change were among items taken from a vehicle that was parked and locked in the driveway of a home in the 31000 block of Barton Dec. 2. The driver told police that the incident happened sometime between 10 p.m. Dec. 1 and noon Dec. 2. Police found rips in the molding around the top of the driver's door that appeared to be new.

Two dollars in change was found missing from a truck parked in the driveway of home in the 29000 block of Chester Avenue Dec. 5. The owner told police the truck had been parked about 11 p.m. When he went out at 5 a.m., he found the small center window had been broken out and the money missing.

Counterfeit money

8. The owner of One Stop Liquor at 33439 Ford called police Dec. 2 after a customer attempted to purchase cigarettes with a fake $5 bill. The customer told police that a man handed her the money and told her to go buy some cigarettes and didn't notice it was fake until the store owner showed her the bill.

The woman said the man is her manager at group home in Westland and that he had told her he had found it on the ground and didn't know it was counterfeit. The man went to the store to retrieve the bill, but left when the store owner told him he had called the police.

Woman finds her missing ID used at pawn shop

Identity theft

5. A Cement City resident told police Dec. 1 she believes her brother's ex-girlfriend used her identification to pawn several chain saws that were taken in a break-in of his home in Wayne.

The woman told police she her identification had been lost or stolen recently and she wasn't certain what had happened to it until an employee at the pawn shop identified a photograph of the ex-girlfriend as the person who produced identification in her name when she brought in the chain saws.

Understand estate taxes, Roth IRA conversions

Recently I have been asked a number of questions regarding changes in the tax laws for 2010. The questions have dealt with two issues — changes in rules with regards to estate taxes and changes with regards to Roth IRA conversions.

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

It is a good idea to briefly explain the changes. However, there is one caveat and that is with tax laws anything and everything can change. It used to be that when you talked about long-term tax planning you were talking in terms of years. That is no longer the case. Fortunately, or unfortunately, depending upon your view, our tax laws are ever changing and that's what makes long-term tax planning difficult. As I write this column there are heated discussions in Washington regarding tax law changes, in particular, estate taxes.

Estate laws tax an individual upon their death. The tax is determined by the fair market value of someone's net worth at the time of their death. Currently, the majority of Americans are not subject to an estate tax. Under the law that is set to end on Dec. 31, the first $3.5 million of your estate is not subject to estate taxes. However, in 2010 there is no estate tax. In other words, if someone with substantial wealth passes away next year their estate would not be subject to estate taxes. The downside is that same law states that in 2011 estate taxes will return. In addition, there would not be a $3.5 million exemption. That number would be reduced to $1 million. Obviously, if the exemption went to $1 million many more Americans would be subject to estate taxes.

The other change in tax law which is much more beneficial to many Americans deals with rules regarding converting traditional IRAs into Roth IRAs. Under current tax law, adjusted gross income must be less than $100,000 to be eligible for a conversion. The $100,000 figure applies whether you are single or married. That provision in the law terminates at the end of this year. In 2010, anyone will be eligible to convert an existing IRA into a Roth IRA.

There is another change in the law with regards to Roth conversions that is beneficial to taxpayers. Under today's rules, taxes owed must be paid in the year of conversion. For 2010 only, if you do a conversion you will not be required to pay the entire tax in 2010. Half the tax can be paid in 2010, the other half in 2011. This option is only available for 2010.

In regard to estate tax changes, I'm not sure there's much of anything to do at the present time. I will not be surprised if it happens sooner than later. Congress will amend the law to provide for an estate tax in 2010 and a higher threshold moving forward. Therefore, there's not much that anyone should do at this point in time. However, for individuals who have large estates, the same strategy that I have recommended for years still applies and this is to consider a living trust. In today's world with the $3.5 million exemption, husbands and wives, through the effective use of a living trust, can shield upwards of $7 million from estate taxes. Even if the law does not change and the exemption drops back to $1 million in 2011, a trust could shield $2 million of assets from estate taxes.

As to the Roth IRA, the one thing that taxpayers can do in preparation for the 2010 conversion is to put aside some money to pay the taxes. It does not make sense to use the money that you are converting to pay the taxes. Therefore, if you plan to do a Roth IRA conversion in 2010, do set some money aside for taxes.

I believe you never let the tax tail wag the dog. In other words, you don't want to do anything for tax reasons alone. That being said, I also believe it is not more patriotic to pay more taxes than required.

Good luck!

Loves 'still dancing' after 70 years

Dorothy and Clyde Love met at a dance in Garden City and 70 years after they married, the Westland couple is still dancing through life.

Clyde Love was a farm boy who met his sweetheart, Dorothy Odell, at a local dance in Garden City. More than 70 years later, they all still together or as Dorothy puts it, "still dancing."

The Westland couple recently celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary. They were married On Nov. 25, 1939, at Garden City Presbyterian Church in 1939 and settled in a home they built on Ann Arbor Trail near Nankin Mills.

According to their daughter, Geri Conser, the Loves built a home where they could raise their family. Clyde Love cut the wood, sawed it and they built it with hand tools. The couple moved in on Nov. 2, 1940, just shy of their first anniversary.

The Loves had four children. First came two daughters - Geraldine, followed by a second daughter Dorothy. They became known as the "first family." The reason - World War II.

"In 1944, he joined the Army and served in World War II on the Philippine Islands for two years," Conser said. "Upon his return, they completed their family with two sons, William and Myron."

According to Dorothy Love, "the youngest one didn't know her dad when he came home."

Clyde Love worked in factories as a tool maker, but his heart was with the land. With the help of Dorothy's father, Jack Odell, the Loves started a small roadside farm stand, Clyde Love's Farm Produce. The whole family worked on the farm and at the stand.

The kids learned their mathematics and manners with the help of their parents.

"He was a farmer through and through," said Conser. "They were known for having the best kids, the freshest fruits and vegetables in the area. The local kids all wanted to work for the Love's because there was always lots of work and lots of fun."

As the children got older, Dorothy Love became involved with their 4-H groups. Clyde Love taught many of the kids to hunt and fish.

"There was always room for one more kid in the very small kitchen," Conser said. "They were always part of the kids' activities."

As the years passed and their children married and moved away, Dorothy and Clyde Love spent more time doing the things they loved.

Dancing became a weekly ride to Saline Dance Club. Walks in the woods and travel became part of their life, Conser said.

Today the Love family includes Conser and her husband John, Dorothy and Charles Grabowski, Janet and William Love and Ruth and Myron Love. Their grandchildren include Anne and Glenn Driver, Kari and James Hornsby, Christiana Conser and Larry Berlin, Deanna and Chris Hansen, Joshua Grabowski, Sara and Jon Love, CherylAnn and David Love, Jessica Love, Valeri Love, Teresa Walker Lamton and great-grandchildren Sean Grabowski, Samantha Grabowski, Sadie Grabowski, Katrina Hornsby, Stella Berlin, Kyle Love, and Alex Love.

LOCAL OPINION

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve, and contribute to the business success of our customers.

OUR VIEWS

Shop locally during holidays

Many people will be cutting back on spending this holiday season because of the economy.

They have less money for gifts, decorations and festive foods than they have had in past years. Some may even be cutting out gift-giving entirely.

That isn't all bad. Simpler celebrations may mean people will focus more on the true meaning of each holiday.

We encourage readers to shop locally this holiday season, whether it be for food or gifts or both.

However, people still need to purchase food even if they don't host extravagant parties. And, many people invariably will still buy gifts for their loved ones, even if they spend less than they have in the past.

We encourage readers to shop locally this holiday season, whether it be for food or gifts or both.

By doing so, they will help local businesses, which, in turn, will benefit them.

If every Michigan household spent $10 each week on Michigan-made products, $37 million would be put back into the local economy on a weekly basis, according to the grass roots Made in Michigan Movement.

More money is kept in the community because locally owned businesses purchase from other locally owned businesses, service providers and farms. Purchasing locally helps other local businesses to grow.

When businesses grow, they hire more people. Small local businesses are the largest employer nationally.

Local businesses also support the local community, donating money and/or services to local schools and service organizations benefitting local children and residents.

And, customer service is usually better. Local business often are willing to order items specially for customers or offer more services than national chains.

Businesses like Orin Jewelers in Garden City and Copper Cricket Collectibles in Westland are family owned and operated. They've built up a reputation of providing quality products and service to its customers.

This Christmas shopping season plan to buy as many gifts on your list as possible from local merchants.

Your gifts will not only benefit your loved ones, they'll also help the local economy and put local merchants in a better position to survive and, we hope, thrive in the new year.

• About W-W school plan

It's funny the central office administrators are still making the big money. In this plan there is no talk about consolidating central office personnel. This district has been told time after time there is too many chiefs and not enough Indians. Please note that the lower union groups have been taking concessions for years, including this year to help out the district ...

You2haveavoice

Not sure how many CO personnel you would be satisfied with removing, but likely you will be first in line to complain later when certain 'needs' are not met when they are short of staff. Though it would be prudent for CO staff to take concessions in light of the deficit this district faces, it is probable that everyone will need to do so in order to meet the shortfall. Since 85 percent of budget is salary, then 85 percent of $150,000,00 is $127,500,000. Take 5 percent from everyone and you get $6,325,000 or just about what is needed to balance. That's 5 percent from everyone. But at least all of the staff are spared and the budget shortfall is met ...

or a member of the Mafia (family not included). Joke! It was a joke — get real).

What I can't understand is why it has such an awful rap. One would believe that once you set foot over the state line, you were taking a huge risk with your life.

Why is it every novel that I have ever read with Michigan as its theme has a dead body in it? Every movie whose local is Michigan is rated PG for its violent content? Hey, other states have problems too. Been voted murder capital U.S.A. once or twice, and Michigan is branded for all eternity.

Think Michigan — The Great Lake State, Motor City or Motown. Hometown to Madonna (OK, she never comes and visits or anything), Jack Kevorkian (bad example, erase that, doesn't sound good to have Doctor Death from here). What about Kid Rock or Tim Allen and Tom Selleck, who always wore symbols of our great state proudly on their TV shows. Still we hang on to that other darker, creepier vision.

Makes me wonder about the other states. Are they all filled with Ozzie and Harriets and June Cleavers? Where was Roseanne Barr born, or Pee Wee Herman or the late great (couch-couch) Tiny Tim? Were they just hatched? Come on; some state should have to face up and take the blame.

Do birds twitter each morning and it never rains on anyone's parade in other states? Yeah, yeah, what about smog, hurricanes, locust attacks or earthquakes? Michigan may not be all sunshine and 80-degree weather, but snow never destroyed anything. (Avalanches do not count because we don't get those in Michigan either.) We have four seasons and they are not all summer. Don't be such big babies. It gets cold here; handle it.

So stop bashing us. That is all that we are asking. If you don't like it here, best start packing.

AARP endorsement

Sen. Debbie Stabenow states AARP has endorsed the Senate's health care bill. Let it be known that AARP received $18 million from the stimulus package. Not one new job has been created at AARP, but they are using the money for training of their employees.

Now, first of all, I think it is a crime to render taxpayer dollars to AARP. Also, in the Senate health care bill, Medicare will suffer $118 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage, and total cuts to Medicare are estimated at $400 billion. AARP, who sells supplemental insurance to seniors, stands to reap the reward of endorsement.

Senior citizens will have to purchase supplemental insurance to get any quality care after the cuts are made to Medicare. The people who have paid into a system all their lives will now have to choose to pay for supplemental insurance to receive quality care. AARP will be there to save the day.

Vickie Kahle
Farmington Hills

Too much influence

The health care industry is plying Congress with huge amounts of money to protect that industry's interests.

These are some statistics that I have read:

Some $1.4 million per day is spent by the health care industry to lobby Congress. The health care industry has hired six lobbyists for every member of Congress. These people are paid to protect the interests of the health insurance companies, the pharmaceutical industry and other corporations that make up the health care industry.

Max Baucus, who is a Democrat from Montana, is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Five of his former staffers are involved with companies in the health and insurance sectors. Max Baucus has received over a million dollars from health care and insurance companies. Even worse, 23 members of the Senate Finance Committee receive millions from health care interests.

We can put a stop to this kind of influence by writing or calling our Senators, urging their support of the Fair Elections Now Act (FENA). When we show our outrage over the influence of corporate lobbyists in Congress this type of influence peddling will stop.

Support the home team

When you drive a vehicle from a foreign manufacturer you cut off your nose to spite your face. You destroy your home value, threaten your employment and reduce your school funding — and that's just for starters.

Manufacturing is the heart of the economy, and the automotive industry is by far the largest element of manufacturing. George Bush chose to ignore many things like Katrina, financial oversight and manufacturing, to name just a few. Along with Cheney and Greenspan (at least he admits it), they chose to let the old boy network of short-sighted greedsters run amok. Meanwhile, Cheney and Bush love big oil, that is their wealth. What market forces? This toxic economic soup created the catastrophic Bush Depression — some call it a recession because they don't include the affect of trillions of dollars sacrificed by Americans, multiplied throughout the world.

Jennifer Granholm, to be fair to the other party, is just like George; she does nothing. Quite frankly, Jim Hiller with his grocery stores has done more for Michigan than Granholm can dream of. Blown away yet? While the ship sinks she is courting foreign automotive companies, and that's on a good day. What's wrong with fighting every day for the home team?

Someone in the world (all over the world) has to build 70 million (and growing) new vehicles every year. That is a lot, and it is not going away. Why not us? Have the leaders of the Big Three also been short-sighted greedsters for decades? Absolutely, but do we really want to send our standard of living overseas to spite them? Is the mess really this simple? Manufacturing is the heart of the economy; anyone that tries to tell you differently is a liar.

Go ahead, cut off your nose — at the neck. Or support the home team.

Data is corrupt or falsified

Obama is traveling around the country as I am writing this asking (once again) for ideas on how to stimulate job growth in this country. The answer is as plain as egg on his face yet he won't go that route because that is not his mission.

The Democrats in Congress are even considering a second stimulus package, seeing the first one worked so well. Less than 40,000 have been created by the first bill although "recovery.org" states that 640,000 have been "saved or created" by the plan. If you look as to where the job growth occurred, you will see that a lot of states had job growth in districts that do not exist. The data is either corrupt or falsified, in either case their claim is a lie.

Until Obama is replaced or the Congress is better balanced, we can continue to look forward to this massive spending, tax increases and our decent into socialism.

Scotch specialty items draw customers near, far

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
CORRESPONDENT

Allan Ackroyd Jr. proudly displays his new shortbread creations alongside a refrigerated case of specialty items at his store in Redford. The second-generation baker threw out about 100 pounds of dough before perfecting the take-off on the traditional treat, but it's the pasties, steak pies and sausage rolls that keep customers coming back to Ackroyd's Scotch Bakery. The store on Five Mile, east of Beech Daly, is about the only place around where Scotch and non-Scotch alike are able to buy foods such as shepherd pies, bridies, and black or mealie pudding (blood sausage). One customer stopped in Wednesday to find out the deadline for sending meat pies to his mother down south for Christmas. Ackroyd sells his baked products across the U.S. throughout the year but especially during the holidays. "What's popular for the holiday? Everything in volumes," said Ackroyd, who puts in 12 to 14 hours, 7 days a week at this time of year. On Christmas he celebrates by sleeping.

Ackroyd jokes he has a lot of elves that work hard in the large kitchen at the back of the bakery. Last year those six employees helped Ackroyd make 700 dozen meat pies the week before Christmas. "Two days before Christmas is usually orders only. If you haven't placed an order by then it's usually too late unless we have a few items left in the case," said Ackroyd. "People come from all over and we've shipped as far as Hawaii and last week Oregon. I love doing it. A lot of the customers I know by name or face." The new shortbread cookies are made the traditional way with butter, flour, sugar and a little salt before adding flavorings or covering with chocolate. The Apple Cinnamon was inspired by Plymouth Orchards and Cider Mill, which carries the shortbread seasonally. Pumpkin Spice and Dark Chocolate Dipped round out the offerings stocked by several local merchants. Allan, Jr. believes Ackroyd's has been in business for 60 years because of the quality. The bakery case beckons with trays of oatcakes, cherry and sultana (golden raisin) pound cake as well as fern cakes made from a shortbread crust and strawberry jam on the bottom then topped with almond-flavored yellow cake and icing. Cubes of steak in gravy fill pies covered with puff pastry made from scratch just like all of Ackroyd's products. "They're family recipes, primarily dad's recipes and a master baker from Scotland who worked with him," said Allan Jr. Allan Sr., 83, still helps out at the bakery. "Dad started with meat pies and formed the dough over Mason (canning) jars until he was able to buy a special machine from Scotland for making crusts. There were about 7 Scotch bakeries back then. We're the only one in this area now and one of a few Scotch bakeries in the U.S. that does a full line of meat-filled products." Allan, Sr. and his brother Silas immigrated to the U.S. from Scotland in 1947 and opened their first bakery in Detroit about a year later. Ackroyd's has called Redford home for 37 years. The family owned a Birmingham store for 21 years until closing about 5 years ago. In addition to baked goods, the store carries imported Lemon Curd and Bramble Jelly to spread on their well-fired bread and serve along with a cup of Yorkshire tea from the U.K. Ackroyd's three new flavors of shortbread are available at the bakery in Redford; Hiller's Markets in Plymouth, Northville and West Bloomfield; Hollywood Market, Bloomfield Hills and Royal Oak; Harvest Fresh Market, Farmington; Westborn Market and Joe's Produce and Gourmet Market, Livonia, and Market Square, Birmingham, to name a few. For a complete list, visit the Web site at www.ackroyd-bakery.com. Ackroyd's Scotch Bakery is at 25566 Five Mile, Redford. Call (313) 532-1181 or (866) 532-1444.

Impressive start

Still room to improve for 13-0 Lady Ocelots

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Ever the perfectionist, Schoolcraft College women's basketball coach Karen Lafata gives her team a "B plus" grade entering the semester break.

That's despite the fact that the Lady Ocelots extended their home court winning streak to 42 games and improved to 13-0 overall following Saturday's 83-52 conquest of Kalamazoo Valley Community College in the finals of the Schoolcraft Invitational.

"I'm not complaining, I'll take 13-0," said Lafata, whose team is ranked No. 2 nationally behind defending champion Kirkwood CC (Iowa) in the latest NJCAA Division II poll. "We've been beating some good teams. We've had some good, solid wins."

Against Kalamazoo Valley, the Lady Ocelots led 46-24 at halftime and cruised home to victory with a 13-0 second-half run.

Four players scored in double figures for Schoolcraft including Antania Shepherd (18 points), April Goins (17), Amber Avery (15) and Jasmine Brown (11).

Avery also grabbed a game-high 15 rebounds as the Lady Ocelots held a 55-37 edge.

"We just rebound – we kill most of the teams we play on the boards," Lafata said. "The only game we didn't do it was against Owens (a 66-65 win on Nov. 29). That was a tough ballgame."

Point-guard Angela Burrell also dished out eight assists in the championship final as Schoolcraft shot 50 percent from the floor (33-of-66).

The 5-foot-4 Burrell, a second-year player from Detroit Northwestern, has filled in nicely for the graduated Brittany Collins.

Burrell is coming off knee surgery which limited her play last year to a backup role.

"She (Burrell) is 100 percent, she's crafty," Lafata said. "Last year we had Tayler Langham (now at University of Detroit Mercy) – she was a jet. And with Brittany out there they brought a lot of quickness. Brittany was like Chris Paul (of the New Orleans Hornets) whereas Angie plays like John Stockton (formerly of the Utah Jazz). She just knows how to play."

The Lady Ocelots finished 32-3 last season and went all the way to the NJCAA Division II championship game before losing to Kirkwood.

"I hate comparing because we're a different kind of team than last year," Lafata said. "We still get up-and-down the floor, but we're more of a half-court team."

The only minuses in the win over Kalamazoo Valley were turnovers (24) and free throw shooting (16-of-30).

"There are times when we don't take care of the ball, but there was one game when we had only seven," Lafata said. "Last year we went to the line a lot more. We now have some time to work on it (free throw shooting)."

Betsy Hoeflinger and Kaitline Vincke tallied 13 and 10 points, respectively, for the Kalamazoo Valley (3-6). Dee Closson also grabbed 11 rebounds.

The Cougars shot only 22.2 percent from the floor (14-of-63) and committed 26 turnovers.

Meanwhile, the emergence of 6-foot freshman forward Kimberly Bee (Detroit CMA) off the bench has enabled returnee Goins (committed to Florida Atlantic University) to move to more of a guard role from last year's post position.

SIDELINES

Lakers swim fast

Livonia Stevenson grads Jeff Pauza, Mike Cruce and Joey Wingett figured prominently last weekend as the Grand Valley State men's swimming and diving squad captured the 2009 Calvin College Winter Invitational team title in Grand Rapids.

The Lakers scored 1,392 points to beat Kalamazoo College (948.5) and host Calvin (379).

Pauza, a junior, won the 1,650-yard freestyle with a pool-record time of 16:08.99 and added a first in the 500 freestyle (4:38.62). Both times were NCAA Division II "B" cuts. Pauza also placed fifth in the 100 backstroke (53.04).

Cruce, a freshman, earned an NCAA Division II "B" cut in the 200 butterfly with a third-place time of 1:55.39. He also added a third in the 1,650 freestyle (16:34.49) and a sixth in the 100 butterfly (52.79).

Wingett, another freshman, contributed a sixth in the 200 breaststroke (2:11.82) and a seventh in the 100 breaststroke (1:00.24).

Patriots iced, 5-4

In a close, hard-checking game the Livonia Franklin boys hockey team mounted a late rally, but fell Friday to visiting Dearborn Unified at Edgar Arena, 5-4.

The Patriots (0-3) scored three times with a span of 2:29 during the final four minutes to make it a one goal deficit — Aaron Hoffmeyer (from Jacob Wirgau and Robbie Ringe); Kevin Webb (from Brian Bekkala and Ringe); and Ringe (from Webb and Bekkala).

Dearborn led 2-0 after one period on goals by Michael Sears and Keith Woziak. The Patriots then took a 3-1 second-period lead on Bobby Abram's goal before Philip Mitchell (from Webb and Mike Dibble).

Dearborn then opened up a 4-1 lead in the third period on goals by Justin Harned and Sears.

Dearborn outshot the Patriots, 34-27, as netminder Anthony Crechiolo stopped a penalty shot in the final period.

But Franklin took 12 penalties and gave up a pair of power-play goals.

Free open skate

The three Livonia varsity hockey teams — Churchill, Franklin and Stevenson — will stage a free open skating party from 3-4:20 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 24, at Eddie Edgar Ice Arena, located at 33841 Lyndon (just west of Farmington Road).

Skates will be provided. For more information, e-mail Churchill hockey coach Pete Mazzoni at pmazzoni@livoniapublicschools.org.

John Glenn boys ready to orbit way to state finals

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

PREP BOWLING PREVIEW

Westland John Glenn second-year boys bowling coach Ron Brusseau has a problem most coaches would like to have — loads of talent.

During a recent tryout, Brusseau had seven bowlers average 193 or better during a nine-game span.

The Rockets, who everybody off last year's 9-6-1 squad, will try and duplicate what rival Wayne Memorial did last season — make it all the way to the Division 1 state team championship match.

While Wayne took runner-up honors, the Rockets placed 17th overall in the qualifying block held last March at Northway Lanes in Muskegon.

This season, the goal for the Rockets is to earn a spot in the Division 1 state team finals, March 5-6, at M-66 Bowl in Battle Creek.

Glenn has a slew of returnees including Kyle Hamlin, who led the tryout session with a 220 average, along with state singles individual qualifiers Chris Harper and Brian Monty.

"Having experienced going to the state finals last year has the returning players, as well as the newcomers, wanting more," Brusseau said. "Our only focus is building on last year. There is no looking back with this team. They are re-energized and want more. Our goal this year is to win."

Wayne, meanwhile, must replace four key performers lost to graduation including state singles qualifier Mark Shiemke, along with Ryan Gabriel, Josh Vojtkofsky and Jesse English.

Coach Bob Jawor does return talented sophomore Elliot Arnold, a state singles qualifier who averaged 221, along with junior T.J. Lave and senior Kellen Collison.

Another area team that could be strong in the boys ranks is Livonia Clarenceville, a Division 2 regional runner-up which finished 15th in the qualifying block at last year's state team finals.

Coach Phil Horowitz lost state singles qualifier Philip Heidler, but returns seniors Chris Diaz, who also qualified individually, Jason Bertera, Cody Kissandi and Garet Hintzman.

On the girls side, Clarenceville took ninth in last year's Division 2 qualifying block at the state team finals. But the Trojans, despite the return of state singles qualifier Amanda Dailey, a senior, find themselves scrambling to put a team together after only four girls reported for tryouts.

Clarenceville will be an associate member of the Kensington Lakes Activities Association, but will not be able to compete for medals and team titles.

Both the Glenn and Wayne girls teams, along with the boys, will compete in the KLAA's Central Division.

Both Glenn and Wayne will feature new coaches.

Jim Bowles takes over the Rockets' program for Shirley O'Hara, while Traci Skye replaces Dianne St. Louis at Wayne.

Glenn's top returnee is senior Alysson Kassab, a state singles qualifier who averaged 182.

Wayne, meanwhile, lost three of its top five to graduation, but returns junior Stephanie O'Harris and senior Chelsea Preiss.

In the Catholic League, Livonia Ladydough returns four of its top five bowlers from last year's squad led by All-League selection Jessica Stamper, a senior. The Blazers are coming off a fifth-place finish in the Division 2 regional.

This year's Division 2 state finals will be at the Super Bowl in Canton.

Crusaders fall on buzzer shot

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It just wasn't in the cards Saturday afternoon for the Madonna University men's basketball team.

The host Crusaders certainly had their chances before falling at the buzzer, 62-60, to Alma College in the WHAC/MIAA Challenge.

Inbounding the ball with only 3.1 seconds left, Tommy Erickson's putback followup of Greg Silverthorn's missed three-point attempt from the wing proved to be the game-winner.

Alma, which won both games in the Challenge, improved to 2-4 overall.

MU, meanwhile, drops to 1-8 after losing the previous night at home to Olivet College, 79-55.

After Kevin Henry's layup tied the game at 60-all with 1:37 to go, the Crusaders committed two costly turnovers during the final 40 seconds to set up the game-winning play by the Scots.

"We've been in three games where it's been anybody's game in the last minute," MU first-year coach Noel Emehiser said. "In the end it looked like a lack of execution. But we played so bad the first half. We lacked discipline and our defense was horrendous."

The Crusaders fell behind 10-0 at the start before pulling within four at intermission, 29-25.

Alma junior guard Jordan Redditt, who led all scorers with 31 points, tallied 19 first-half points.

Please see CRUSADERS, B3

Madonna's 6-foot-8 junior center Geoff Gaylor (33) had 15 points and 16 rebounds in Saturday's last-second 62-60 setback to Alma College. The Scots' Tim Rodell (30) tries for the block.

Churchill rules boards, routs Dearborn, 62-35

Livonia Churchill brought out the Windex Tuesday night in its season boys basketball opener.

The host Chargers wiped the glass clean thanks to a 42-20 rebounding margin en route to a lopsided 62-35 win over Dearborn High.

Tony Frezzell, a senior guard, led Churchill with a game-high 16 points.

Adam Bedell, a 6-foot-6 forward, added 12 points and 15 rebounds, while 6-5 senior D'Juan Cooks chipped in with 10 points and eight rebounds.

The Chargers led 14-9 after one quarter and upped their lead to 35-17 at halftime with a 21-8 second-quarter run.

"We came out with a lot of energy early," said Churchill coach Jim Solak. "We played solid defense, got some steals and were able to finish. We were patient offensively. We took good shots, especially the first half."

Senior forward Nores Fradled Dearborn with nine points.

KENNEDY 62, JOHN GLENN 52: On Tuesday, Brandon Jenkins scored 12 points, while Raphael Danson and Ryan White each added 11, as Taylor Kennedy (1-0) toppled host Westland John Glenn (0-1) in the season opener.

Junior Brett Hudy led the Rockets, who trailed 36-28 at intermission, with 12 points.

Marcus Davis and Jeremy Langford each added 10.

Glenn was 15-of-21 from the foul line, while Kennedy made 6-of-8.

MILFORD 50, FRANKLIN 45:

Chris Cunningham and Joe Miller each scored 18 points Tuesday to power the host Mavericks (1-0) to a season-opening victory over Livonia Franklin (0-1).

Franklin trailed 25-17 at halftime and 34-31 after three quarters, but couldn't get closer than three during the final period.

"We came out sluggish, we got within three numerous times," Franklin coach Jeremy Rheault said. "We had numerous chances, but we made some bad turnovers and got outrebounded."

Senior guard Andy McCaffery led the Patriots with 13 points, while Alontae McElhaney and Nate Coleman each added eight.

Franklin was 11-of-15 from the foul line, while Milford shot 12-of-22.

Annapolis derails Trojans in opener

Livonia Clarenceville's bid to get the 2009-10 boys basketball season off on a high note fell by the wayside Tuesday night as visiting Dearborn Heights Annapolis registered a decisive 61-49 triumph.

The Cougars opened up a 14-6 advantage after one quarter before the Trojans fought back in the second to close the gap to 23-18 at the break.

Led by the efforts of Levonte Brooks and Ben Watts, the Trojans trimmed the deficit to just three points at 37-34 after three quarters only to see the Cougars come out firing in the fourth.

In those final eight minutes, the Cougars outscored the Trojans 24-15 to walk away with the win.

Brooks and Watts each scored 14 points to lead Clarenceville.

"It all happened so quickly in that fourth quarter," first-year head coach Justin Johnson said. "We started really putting everything together, and then, in a minute or so, they went on an 8-0 run and gained control."

Mount Carmel (0-1).

Senior point-guard Mark St. John added 10 points for the victorious Hawks, who opened up a 21-9 halftime advantage.

Huron Valley made 10-of-18 free throws, while Mount Carmel hit 6-of-12.

LUTHERAN N'WEST 49, LUTH. WESTLAND 47: Gage Flanery scored 18 points and Austin Baglow added 15, but it wasn't enough Tuesday as host Lutheran High Westland (0-1) dropped its season opener to Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (1-0).

Alex Massell led the victorious Crusaders with 14 points.

Swine flu postpones Stevenson hoop opener

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The 2009-10 boys basketball season opener for Livonia Stevenson has been put on hold until Friday.

The Spartans were scheduled to open their season Tuesday at home against Howell, but the Highlanders asked to have the tripleheader, including the JV and freshman games, postponed until a later date because of the swine flu.

Stevenson athletic director Lori Hyman was informed by Howell A.D. Dan Hutcheson that entire Highlander varsity squad, with the exception of one player, were all out of school on Monday.

The three games have been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16.

"We want to stay with a tripleheader for cost reasons in travel for Howell and game workers for Stevenson," Hyman said. "We wish the Howell team a speedy recovery."

That means that Stevenson will open its boys season Friday, Dec. 11 at Livonia Churchill.

Ladywood takes down Nouvel

Patience on offense was a virtue Tuesday as host Livonia Ladywood earned a 41-32 girls basketball win over Saginaw Nouvel Catholic.

Senior forward Molly Gacioc and senior guard Mary Fitzgerald scored 12 and 10 points, respectively, for Ladywood.

The Blazers bolted out to a 15-9 first-quarter advantage and never looked back in improving their overall record to 2-1.

"Nouvel ran a 2-3 zone (defense) and the first quarter we moved the ball well," Ladywood coach Pat Cannon said. "We pressed them and got some scores off transition. And late in the game we were able to knock down some free throws."

Ladywood was 8-of-14 from the foul line, while Nouvel was 2-of-8.

Jessie Franz, who burned the Blazers last year for 22 points, was held to nine thanks to the defensive effort to Teresa Wojnarowski and Christina Butkiewicz.

Taylor Hengesbach also tallied nine for the Panthers.

LUTH. WESTLAND 31, CRANBROOK 20: Senior center Emilie Freeman scored eight points and senior guard Nicole Zehel chipped in with six Tuesday as Lutheran High Westland (2-0) posted the non-conference win over Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood (0-2).

Lashay Edwards led the Cranes with seven points.

HURON VALLEY 29, MT. CARMEL 14: Katie Nell's 14 points and eight rebounds propelled Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (1-1) to a non-conference win Tuesday at Wyandotte Mount Carmel (0-1).

Devon Linderman grabbed 10 rebounds and sophomore Gab LeClerc added six points for the victorious Hawks, who led 13-8 at halftime.

HAZEL PARK 31, CLARENCEVILLE 28: Carmen Diaz tallied 17 points Monday as the host Vikings (1-1) squeaked out a non-conference triumph over Livonia Clarenceville (1-2).

Kristen Jolly led the Trojans with 12 points, while teammate Jenna Burgess grabbed a team-best 15 rebounds.

Clarenceville trailed 12-6 after one quarter, 20-15 at halftime and 26-21 after three periods, but couldn't get any closer than three.

FRANKLIN ROAD 50, HURON VALLEY 21: In a matchup of Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Red Division matchup Monday, host Novi Franklin Road Christian (2-1, 1-1) had three players score in double figures in a victory over Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (0-1, 0-1).

"We put in a half-court trap and picked up full-court into a 2-1-2 zone press," Emenhiser said of his second-half strategy. "We got moving and got out of the watching them play in the offense-mode."

Redditt, who was 11-of-27 from the floor, added 12 second-half points. He was the only Scot to score in double figures.

"It was better than the 19 that he had in the first half when he ate us up, but he still got 12 points," Emenhiser said of the University of Detroit Jesuit grad.

The Crusaders clawed their way back during the second half led by four, 60-56, with 1:48 to go, when Henry split a pair of free throws.

MU, however, wouldn't score again, missing its last three shots coupled with two turnovers.

Erickson added nine points and 10 rebounds for the Scots, who went 2-0 in the Challenge.

Henry, a 6-foot-4 freshman from Toledo, led MU in scoring with 18 points. Geoff Gaylor, a 6-8 junior, came off the bench to record his first career double-double with 15 points and 16 rebounds.

Slaughter, who hails from Westland, added 13 points.

Both teams shot identical percentages from the field — 22-of-63 (34.9) — and nearly the same from the foul line. MU was 12-of-22, while Alma hit 11-of-22.

But it was a missed opportunity this weekend for the Crusaders. The combined record of the four teams entering the Challenge was 3-20 overall.

"We've got a pretty resilient bunch," Emenhiser said. "We've played a difficult schedule until this weekend. Not to take anything away from Alma (or Olivet), but this weekend the teams were not as good as the other teams we've played."

Freshman Kevin Henry (3) lines up for a free throw during Saturday's WHAC/MIAA Challenge against Alma College. Teammate Ryan Bahnmiller (12) waits behind the top of the key.

But we have a bad habit of playing a little bit worse than the team we've played. We hope to break that habit and change it."

MU returns to action again this weekend at home in the Crusader Classic.

The Crusaders will face Notre Dame (Ohio), 8 p.m. on Friday, and Rochester College, 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Owens rips Schoolcraft

Jonathan Dunn tallied a game-high 26 points to go

Freshman center Aaron Felsner tallied 16 points for the Ocelots, who fall to 2-10 overall.

Warriors' Palka MVP

Justin Palka earned the 135-pound title and unanimous lower weights MVP honors as Lutheran High Westland took fifth out of 10 teams with 102 points Saturday at the Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest Invitational.

Wayne Memorial's Wolfpack celebrate following their second straight Blissfield Invitational wrestling tournament title.

Laith Francis (130) also came home with an individual title for the Warriors.

Other placers for Lutheran Westland included Sean Rowe (140), second; Craig Kowalsky (189), third; Jacob Richter (125) and Glenn Oppenlander (160), sixth.

"I was really happy with my champions," Lutheran Westland first-year coach Joe Schmidt said. "Sean Rowe had a great day losing to a quality opponent in the finals, 4-0."

Spartans garner sixth

Livonia Stevenson, earning eight individual places, finished sixth in the team standings with 92 points at Saturday's Grand Blanc Invitational.

Saginaw Swan Valley, the No. 1 ranked team in Division 3, led the 14-school field with 241.5 points.

Rounding out the top five was Northville (183.5), Davison (147.5), Waterford Kettering (140) and the host Bobcats (134).

Stevenson's top placers included Andrew Schramm (189), second; Ash Alhaj (112), third; Charlie Kokenakes (140) and Danny McCarthy (171), fourth; Nathan Keedle (285), fifth; Omar Mostafa (119), Samer Shebak (130) and Derek Wenderlich (215), sixth.

And Lafata noted that Odessa JC (Texas) transfer Emelda Chew, a 5-11 forward from Northwestern, has been a nice addition as well.

"Defensively, we're a little ahead of last year," Lafata said. "This sophomore class is special. We have some seasoned kids who got major minutes last year. It's a very calm team, a humble group. I love this team and they're great kids."

Schoolcraft, leading the MCCA Eastern Conference at 4-0, wraps up its 2009 portion of its '09-10 schedule, 1 p.m. Saturday, at home against St. Clair County CC (6-2, 1-0).

"We gave them a few days off for finals this week," Lafata said. "Then we'll get back in the gym, take some time off for the holidays, and then get ready for the second half."

Cookie walk grows in its third year at Livonia church

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Lori Barch of Livonia built two dozen houses last week-end.

She suspects the scrumptious, tiny abodes made of Rice Krispie treats will sell fast when Timothy Lutheran Church opens its doors on Saturday, Dec. 12 for its third annual cookie walk.

"It's the second year for the houses," said Barch, adding that "ladies of the church" snatched up the $2.50 creations as fast as customers did last year.

"We don't do a lot of the ethnic cookies," Barch noted. "We do have one parishioner from England who makes shortbread."

What they lack in European-style treats they make up for in highly decorated holiday favorites.

"We make peanut butter mice, reindeer head cookies. I make Nutter Butter Santas. I'm making numerous things. I make a lot of cookies. I enjoy baking," said Barch, a Dearborn firefighter who spent four days off work last week baking and decorating her share of the church's cookie inventory.

"Just about everyone" in the small congregation volunteers to make at least a few batches of cookies for the annual sale that Barch started two years ago.

The first annual walk, designed to help pay for a new church roof and windows, was underway for just two hours when a snowstorm swept through southeastern Michigan.

Members of Timothy Lutheran Church in Livonia finish organizing cookie tables during the second annual sale last year in the church activities center. The event will move to the more spacious church basement this year.

ORTHODOX CHURCH SELLS COOKIES

Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church in Livonia plans its annual cookie walk the same day - Saturday, Dec. 12 - as the Timothy Lutheran Church sale.

Members of the Orthodox church have been baking and selling holiday treats for 16 years. The emphasis is on European-style treats, nut and poppyseed rolls, pierogis, sweet bread and stuffed cabbage.

Members suggest that shoppers come early for coffee and company when the doors open at 8 a.m. The sale starts at 9 a.m. and continues until items are sold out.

Call (248) 476-3432 for more information.

AN ANNUAL TRADITION

"The first year was fantastic except for the snowstorm," said Nancy Bingham of Redford, Barch's co-coordinator and her sister. "It didn't deter us. We looked at it in a positive way."

They closed the sale in just two hours to make sure volunteers and customers travelled home safely, but sold enough cookies in that time to make the sale an annual tradition.

"The ladies of the church have fun making these cookies," Bingham noted. "I think my favorite are my sister's Nutter Butters. One lady last year bought the entire tray of them."

"We've got another guy here who is a phenomenal cook. He comes in each year with the neatest cookies. We might have about 50 different varieties. We have so many different cookies that everyone walks out happy."

Bingham said the church members view the walk and other events such as its annual pumpkin sale and Easter egg hunts as outreach programs designed to "bring the outside world into our church."

"It's a small church but we try to get out there and do what we can."

BETTER FLOW

This year's walk, which will raise funds for the church's general fund, will move from the fellowship hall to the more spacious basement.

"Hopefully there will be more room to move around," Barch said. "We're trying to improve the flow of the cookie walk."

Cookies will be arranged on platters that fill multiple tables throughout the room. Customers choose the cookies they want.

"We give them pie boxes and plastic gloves. They walk from table to table," Barch explained.

Wax paper liners keep the cookies from sticking. Gift boxes also are available.

The cookie walk will start at 10 a.m. and close when the goodies are sold out.

For more information call (734) 427-2290.

Highly decorated cookies, like the Santa Nutter Butters, and holiday favorites, including gingerbread men, fill serving plates at Timothy Lutheran Church's cookie walk.

Plymouth Symphony expands holiday pops offering

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Symphony always sells out its annual holiday pops concert at the Penn Theatre.

But Beth Stewart, executive director, says there should be plenty of additional seats to accommodate last-minute arrivals at the concert this year.

"This year we're offering two performances," she explained. "The Penn seats 400 and our goal is to sell 300 each show and between two shows, it may be a little over that."

The 6 p.m. show is billed as the "family" holiday pops concert and the 8 p.m., the "traditional" pops show.

"They're fairly similar," Stewart noted.

The Symphony's Celebration Youth Orchestra, with members ranging in age from 10-13, will play side by side on Christmas Troika with professional players at the early show.

"It's a real symphony orchestra piece. It gives them a little more meat to work with."

The Celebration Flute Choir, mostly high school students, will perform a variety of Christmas songs during the 8 p.m. show.

"It's a nice opportunity for young people who want more than what they can get at school," Stewart said, describing the Symphony's youth music programs. "All of the groups are under (director) Nan Washburn. We have two levels of strings, a beginning and middle group, and the full (youth) orchestra. Nan rescues everything so everyone gets to play."

The Symphony will play popular Christmas music including tunes from both Canadian Brass, the Charlie Brown animated Christmas show, Polar Express, Christmas on Broadway, as well as traditional holiday songs. The audience will get a chance to sing along during a Christmas carol portion of the show. Santa also will be on hand to greet the audience at both shows.

DOWNTOWN VENUE

"We have been doing it every year since they re-did the Penn and that's been five or six years

Brass musicians perform during a Plymouth Symphony concert.

Young musicians play with the Plymouth Symphony's youth orchestra.

now. It's one of our traditional things to do at the holiday."

Stewart said the theater doesn't offer the best acoustics for live symphony, but the group does its best to improve the sound.

"The theater was made for movies. Movie houses built after vaudeville were built to be quiet places. Everything came through the sound system. It was not built for acoustics at all. That's why we bring in additional speakers. It turns out to be a pretty complicated place to play."

Nan Washburn conducts the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

But in spite of its big theatre curtains "soaking up sound," the audience loves the venue, which is decorated with Christmas trees and situated in a perfect location to shop or dine before the show.

"People seem to love to come downtown. It's a great venue for that."

Tickets for Home for the Holidays POPS are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors and $10 for students of all ages. Under 5 is admitted free. Call (734) 451-2112 for advance tickets.

The Penn Theatre is located at 760 Penniman, Plymouth.

Local theater troupe earns matching grant

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Ticket sales are a bit slow for its upcoming holiday fund-raiser show, but Barefoot Productions can't be happier about a matching grant it received recently from the Wilcox Foundation.

"It's a wonderful opportunity because it's dollar for dollar match. Everyone's dollar goes that much further," said Kristin Heitmeier, marketing director.

Anyone who buys a ticket to the holiday performance on Friday, Dec. 11, can earmark the money for the grant program. Wilcox Foundation will match the $50 advance ticket sale or $65 at the door admission, doubling the revenue Barefoot Productions will take in.

The matching grant was awarded retroactively on Oct. 15, and is valid through June 30, 2010.

Heitmeier said the theater has contacted patrons who bought their tickets before the troupe knew they had won the grant. They're asking them to earmark their donations for the "Barefoot/Wilcox Partnership Campaign," so the theatre can receive the matching money for each seat sold.

The Holiday Celebration Fundraiser, starts at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11, at the Walker-Buzenberg Building, 240 N. Main Street, Plymouth. Desserts, teas and wines start the evening at 7:30, followed by a narrative reading of A Christmas Carol.

"We were just notified of this grant and are still awaiting this paperwork. The Wilcox Foundation earmarked the grant for marketing purposes. That's our single largest expense," Heitmeier noted. "Marketing encompasses so many aspects of bringing a production to stage. We're thrilled."

Marketing includes programs, posters, brochures, photography, advertising and other public relations efforts.

"Now we can earmark some of the money that might have been spent for marketing, for costumes, props and royalties."

Find an 'arty' gift at a gallery holiday shop

Santa may have elves hammering toys and gifts together by hand — but they're also mass producing their Christmas inventory.

If you're looking for a one-of-a-kind holiday gift, something that exudes individuality, search local art gallery holiday shops. You'll find unique items made by Michigan artists. Here's a sampling:

ART-IS-IN MARKET

functional pieces, like Jan Bostwick's ceramic serving plates, and decorative items, such as James Ritchie's photos and Patti Monroe-Mohrenweiger's calligraphy, at this store in Laurel Park Place, 37700 Six Mile, Livonia. No mass produced works allowed. Find handmade pottery, glass, sculpture, jewelry, paintings and more. (734) 432-9177

NORTHVILLE ART HOUSE

The fifth annual Holiday Art Market continues 1-5 p.m., through Saturday, Dec. 12, at 215 W. Cady, two blocks west of Center and one block south of Main, in downtown Northville. Hand-crafted work in pottery, fiber, jewelry and painting is priced for holiday gift giving by local artists, including Jan Sadowski, Marilyn Grinnell, Katherine Wickersham, Shadia Zayed, Beth Jones and Jan Robb. At 33, family-run café innovates, maintains following

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
CORRESPONDENT

More than three decades ago, Adriano and Rina Tonon bought an apple orchard on three acres of land on West 10 Mile and Orchard Lake Road with a dream to serve the freshest Northern Italian, Venetian-style dishes, in an elegant, yet comfortable setting.

After three additions to the building and creating a reputation for authentic Italian food, the Tonon family is celebrating 33 years on Dec. 21.

The history of Ristorante Café Cortina is interwoven with the story of the lives of Adriano and Rina. They met after he came from Italy and worked as a gardener and baker at her parent's restaurant, Rina's Pizzeria, in Detroit.

When they married, she was 18 and he was 20, and not long after they bought the land in Farmington Hills. Adriano died in 1993 and their son, Adrian, came into the family business.

Over the years the seating capacity grew, from 85 to 175. The fireside dining in three intimate rooms makes you feel like you might be sitting in someone's home in Italy.

"Through word of mouth, it took off, because of our food and our service," Rina Tonon said. "We always want to bring new things to the table. We have people from all over the world who appreciate this as an artisan restaurant."

The intimate setting has become a destination place for small weddings, showers, business meetings and other celebrations. In fact, the restaurant hosts an average of two weddings weekly.

PEACEFUL SETTING

Outside the dining area are two private enclaves with brick walks, seating, vines and flowers that make visitors feel like they left the city and entered another country in another time when dinners lasted a few hours and things didn't move quite so fast.

Aside from the fresh herbs and vegetables, all the pastas and bread are handmade every morning in the restaurant kitchen. Tonon applauds chef, Jeffrey (Hoffa) Hoffman, for maintaining the highest standards.

Oleta Chavez, Chef Hoffa, Rina Tonon, Adrian Tonon, and Timoria Bailey welcome you to Cafe Cortina.

Chef Hoffa removes hot bread from the oven. Even bread sticks are made fresh.

"He's very passionate, as we all are here," she said.

"A restaurant is not just about the owners. We have a team. In fact, two staff members, Tammy Chavez and Timothy Bailey, have been with me for more than 25 years. The people we have working here (18 employees) have brought it to where we are today. We don't rest on our laurels. We consistently strive for excellence and care for people," she added.

HONORS

Three years ago, Ristorante Café Cortina, was invited to plan a dinner at the James Beard House in New York.

Considered the "Oscars of the food world" by Time magazine, the James Beard Foundation Awards are a coveted honor for food industry professionals. In 2003 Ristorante Café Cortina was also named Restaurant of the Year by Hour Magazine.

Referring to the way her son trains staff, she added: "If they're not a seasoned professional when they come here, they go out seasoned professionals."

Before Adrian began working at the restaurant he went to Italy and apprenticed at Hotel Cipriani in Venice.

"I told him he couldn't go into the business unless he had a passion for it," said Rina. Adrian said "something clicked there and getting into the family business seemed right."

"It's always been instilled in us to never rest and to strive and innovate and that's what we'll do for the next 30 years," Adrian said. "It's souls serving souls. We're very fortunate to create moments of happiness. People come here to get away. They come to play. Every night is a party here. We celebrate every day."

Adrian, 37, is warm and articulate, all the characteristics that any young actor would want. He is working on a local television show mixing food with charitable works, especially those focused on children's causes. Pieces of it can be seen at www.culturecafe.com.

Café Cortina is weathering the economic storm. Business is good but Adrian said people are ordering simpler, less expensive dishes, like pasta, but since pasta is their specialty he said "that's fine, too."

Rina added: "We're seeing that people are ordering more moderately priced wines, or sometimes sharing appetizers or desserts."

"I didn't think 33 years would come as fast as it did," Rina said. "I still want to go another 33. I never want to lose my enthusiasm."

Restaurant goes 'green' with garden

An Italian home wouldn't be complete without a garden in back for the cook in the family to have ready access to fresh herbs, vegetables and most importantly tomatoes.

The vegetables and herbs growing behind Ristorante Café Cortina provide the same fresh, home cooked meals to customers.

A long, narrow stretch of dirt has been cultivated, planted and harvested ever since the restaurant opened. It was a tradition started first by owners, Rina and Adriano Tonon, and carried on by their son, Adrian.

"My dad planted a theory 33 years ago and it's here today," Adrian said.

Before the term "green" became popular, the Tonon's relied on their all-natural garden, free of pesticides, to adorn their dishes.

While the garden is done for the year, the rows of greenery during season are robust with rapini, arugula, radicchio, Swiss chard, basil, rosemary, sage, pumpkins, peppers, zucchini, eggplant and more. The tomatoes burst forth from 75-year-old heirloom seeds given to the Tonons by family in Italy.

Their tomato sauce is distributed throughout the country and can be found at their Web site, www.cafecortina.com.

Pair a glass of chianti or other wine with your entree at Cafe Cortina.

Hospice aide recognized in national publication

When it comes to providing excellent patient care, Pati Uhlian's dedication and compassion definitely shine. The Westland resident has been a hospice aide for 15 years, and is featured in the November/December 2009 issue of Home Health Aide Digest, the first and only national publication devoted solely to home health aides.

"Pati Uhlian belongs to this important group of paraprofessionals," said Nathan Unseth, publisher of Home Health Aide Digest. "They are the backbone of the home care industry."

Unseth said Uhlian was selected to be profiled because of the special spirit, skill, style, commitment and compassion she brings to her work.

Uhlian's fellow healthcare workers at Angela Hospice in Livonia have described her as hardworking, loyal, conscientious and, of course, caring. Uhlian said she strives with each visit to a patient's home to make that person feel better than when she arrived. Her warmth and smile immediately impress those she meets, and the 12 hours a week she spends ironing her scrubs, her devotion to those she serves comes through in many ways.

"We are all so proud of Pati," said Terry McGrail, hospice aide coordinator at Angela Hospice. "She provides exceptional care, adding a patient to her schedule at the end of the day, making the family comforted, visiting at a funeral home. Seeing her on the cover of Home Health Aide Digest is a testimony to the care all of our Angela Hospice aides give everyday."

Uhlian became involved with hospice when her stepfather was terminally ill. She helped care for him around the clock, and saw firsthand the important work that the hospice workers were doing to help her family. When Uhlian saw the chance to work as a hospice aide herself, she jumped at it.

Pati Uhlian of Westland has become a celebrity of sorts after being reported on in the November/December issue of "Home Health Aide."

"I realized that hospice had always been in my heart," Uhlian said, who has worked in health care for 20 years. "If I'd known what a blessing working in hospice is, that's where I'd have started."

Uhlian is a blessing herself to those she works with. Her sensitivity to the needs of the dying has made her work as a hospice aide profound, and rewarding for her as well. "Their world is changing moment by moment, and just by holding their hand, listening to them, and gently caring for their needs, I can feel good because I've made a difference in their life," said Uhlian.

Uhlian has been with Angela Hospice for four years. Angela Hospice serves more than 1,500 clients a year through its home hospice and inpatient hospice programs. For more information, visit its Web site at www.AskForAngela.com.

New sign points way to Westland Floor Covering

Longtime business owner Richard Strausbaugh recently added a new touch to his Westland Floor Covering shop on Ford Road in Westland.

The brightly lit new sign at the store reads "Carpet Carpet Carpet/Westland Floor Covering," and is visible from a distance.

"The old one was in dire need of repair," said Strausbaugh. It seems to have helped business: "We've been selling a lot more."

He and others at the business adjacent to North Bros. Ford are pleased the sign went up at Westland Floor Covering Dec. 3.

"It's been much needed," said Linda Strausbaugh, his wife. "I think it's much better."

Brookellen Swope, president of the Westland Chamber of Commerce, has seen the sign and is pleased with it. "I am encouraged to see" the new sign, Swope said. "It shows there is a commitment to the city, and our businesses are doing well."

Other local businesses have also added signs, although Swope sees more of those within the Downtown Development Authority district of which Strausbaugh's business isn't within. She said it sends a message of stability and boosts customer confidence in the future of local businesses.

"It shows that they plan to stay in Westland," Swope said.

Westland Floor Covering can be reached online at www.westlandfloors.com or by calling (734) 525-7888 or toll free at (800) 525-7898.
