Cruisin' U.S. 12 and All-American Cruise events roll into area

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

There will be cars and more cars Saturday as the cruisers return to Michigan Avenue in downtown Wayne and cruise along Wayne Road in Westland for the first time.

This is the sixth year for classic and custom cars to come to Wayne for the Cruisin' U.S. 12 event but the first year for the All-American Cruise in Westland.

Both day-long events will feature plenty of car and people watching but also a variety of activities sponsored by local businesses and community groups.

Cruisin' U.S. 12

This year, the event has expanded to include children's activities, the sidewalk sales and the annual downtown Wayne tradition: 25-cent hot dogs at Northside Hardware.

Among activities scheduled for Cruisin' U. S. 12 are:

» A Hearse Club and Zombie Party in the parking lot of Icon Computer Solutions at the end of the line.

All-American Cruise

This first official cruise in Westland will focus on Wayne Road. An official kick-off party with cars on display is scheduled beginning at 4 p.m. Friday at the Westland Charhouse on Warren Road west of Wayne Road.

On Saturday activities include:

Throughout the day, the first 100 drivers with vehicles made before 1967 will receive free parking and dash plaques.

There will also be a Grand Prix car on display courtesy of the Detroit Grand Prix.

» Westland Car Care will be hosting Benny of Benny and The Jets. Cruisers can also collect a commemorative mini street sign.

$10 charge, rain keep down festival crowds

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

No major problems were reported during the Westland Summer Festival which wrapped up Sunday night with its traditional fireworks display.

"We only had a couple of minor incidents. The rain helped us, there was only about 60 percent of the normal crowd," said Westland Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik. "That made it easier on us."

Security had become a particular concern for the 43rd annual festival held on the City Hall grounds after problems with large groups of youths at an earlier carnival in Westland and in other communities.

In addition to a zero tolerance policy for any misbehavior, Westland and Wade Shows, the carnival and midway provider, implemented a $10 advance purchase requirement for anyone age 12 and older on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Those are the busiest days for the festival.

'Enjoying festival'

"It was not a like a cover charge or admission fee. It was pre-pay for food, games and rides. They got a wristband," said Jedrusik. "The idea was to prevent people from coming to hang out and loiter. It let people, who were there to enjoy games, rides and food, have access to the midway."

People congregating without interest in the festival/carnival have been a problem in the past and the $10 pre-pay system curtailed that, Jedrusik said.

Earlier this year, a crowd estimated at more than 100 youths descended on a carnival sponsored by the Westland Fire Department Safety Committee at the northeast corner of Wayne and Warren roads. The ensuing melee spread across Wayne Road into the Westland Shopping Center parking lot.

It's not yet known if the fire department will sponsor a carnival in 2014 but police would be looking at similar crowd control method.

"The $10 prevented overloading of people who were here to loiter. That certainly provides at least a program to work off for other carnivals," said Jedrusik. "It gave us much better control over the crowd."

Barking Bones: treats for a cause

Westland Police dog to be national mascot

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

As one of Westland's two police dogs, Narco usually spends his days sniffing for narcotics, tracking people and subduing suspects.

Now Narco, whose handler is Officer Derek Trospen, has been selected as a national mascot for Jillybean's Barking Bones, a Louisville, Ky.-based preservative and additive free healthy dog treat company.

Former Canton resident Jill Brzezinski Conley founded the company which will donate a portion of each purchase to the Good Dog Foundation, a charitable organization which promotes the use of animal assisted therapy in health care awareness, research, education and disaster response.

"Animals are so compassionate. It doesn't matter if you have you have had the worst day, they unconditional love you," said Conley.

The healthy treats and raising funds for the Good Dog Foundation were inspired by Conley's experiences with her cockapoo Honeybear and rescue cat Hope as she has battled cancer.

A 1995 Canton High School graduate, Conley was living in Las Vegas when she met her future husband Barton. The couple had been married seven months and had just relocated to Louisville in 2009 when Conley was diagnosed with breast cancer a day before her 32nd birthday.

At her side

Conley's grueling treatment included 16 rounds of chemotherapy, 33 radiation treatments, a double mastectomy and several surgeries to remove a severely infected implant.

"Through the whole process, the dog was at my side. I remember when I was diagnosed. She acted so different - she was glued to me and still is," said Conley. "She's my baby. I don't have kids, so my pets are my kids."

Following 2½ years of treatment and a short remission, Conley's cancer re-occurred in January 2012 attacking the bones in her rib cage.

"I thought I had broken ribs. Then they told me the cancer was back - stage 4 in my bones," said Conley.

This time the chemotherapy regime wasn't successful.

"I knew something was wrong, I was short of breath," she said. "I am on a hormonal treatment. It's like meno-

Helping out

Westland police received assistance patrolling the festival from Wayne County Sheriff's deputies, Michigan State Police and reserve officers from the Dearborn Police Department.

The Westland Summer Festival Committee agreed to pay $10,000 for police overtime although Jedrusik said the tab runs over $17,000. The committee had balked at a higher tab for police services.

"The city negotiates with the festival committee. That is a city business decision," he said. "As chief, my opinion is we provided the services needed to keep the citizens safe. How the city wants to handle it is up to them."

pause. It's working - the cancer in my sternum is contained and not growing."

Conley again has received great comfort from Honeybear and Hope as she has gone through her illness and treatment.

"I'm not going to lie, it sucks. I hate the way I feel on the days I get treatment. There are days when I'm not getting treatment when I feel OK," she said. "Focusing on Barking Bones keeps me positive and motivated. I'm so excited it's up and running."

Dog therapy

Due to her illness, Conley had been forced to leave her job as a leasing consultant. Founding Jillybean's Barking Bones was aimed at bringing in extra income to help with medical bills, she said, but also to promote the importance of dog therapy during illness.

"Honeybear is 10 years old - I've had her 10 years. She's my sidekick. She inspired me to sell all natural dog treats," said Conley. "People going through cancer - a lot of them don't have a pet. Maybe they can get a dog or a cat."

Jill Brzezinski Conley

Some temporary adjustments had to be made due to her treatment. When her immune system was weakened by treatment, Conley said Honeybear had to be shaved and she couldn't clean the cat's litter box.

Westland Police Chief Jeff Jedrusik is a friend of Conley's older brother and business partner Steve.

"Jeff sent pictures of Narco - he's a beautiful dog," said Conley, who asked that Narco serve as a mascot for the Barking Bones.

Narco is now being featured on Barking Bones website jillybeansbarkingbones.com. Along with online sales, a chain of six stores in Kentucky will be carrying the all-natural dog treats as well.

"The story and drive behind this company is a very touching story. The Westland Police Department is proud to have our canine Narco be one of their national mascots," said Jedrusik.

"We are very proud of Narco for being an important member of our police force and a symbol for such a good cause," added Westland Mayor William Wild.

Couple loses big-time on 'Extreme Weight Loss'

By Diane Gale Andreassi
Staff Writer

They lost 350 pounds together. Jason and Rachel Cornellier, the first couple featured on ABC's Extreme Weight Loss with Chris Powell, shared their personal triumphs and their vulnerabilities, like Jason taking off his shirt and revealing a large stomach and male breasts or private pitfalls, like a year long separation in 2004 that included Rachel reconnecting with an old boyfriend.

The show aired July 2 and can be seen by going to abc.com and clicking on Extreme Weight Loss.

"We were nervous before it aired, but everything has been fantastic," said Rachel, a stay-at-home mom. "A lot of people have said we are inspiring and they feel it's more of a real episode. They identified with Jason and being a married couple that everything is not always perfect. You work through it and push through."

The South Lyon residents started their pound shedding journey when Rachel went to an audition in February 2012. Jason, a Microsoft solutions architect, was invited to a follow-up audition and they were chosen among the throngs of others who wanted "to get a chance of a lifetime," as Powell says on the show.

"You never get the opportunity and accountability to take a year off of life and focus on that," said Jason, who continued working at his job while maintaining the health regimen at home.

At the start of the weight loss program in April 2012, Rachel weighed 290 pounds, which was more than she weighed when she was pregnant with their 6-year-old twins. She got down to 145 pounds. Jason was 350 pounds in the beginning and dropped to 197 pounds.

Early in the episode, Jason said, he knew he was smart, but he couldn't seem to figure out his weight loss problem.

"We struggled trying to do it before," Jason, now 36, said from his home. "We put our minds to do it and do it together. We did it as a team."

They both took on the cooking chores and "we did anything we could to support each other," he said. "If she needed time to workout I would watch the kids or vice versa. Or, we brought the kids to the gym." They worked out at Hines Park Crossfit in Northville and PKSA Karate in Novi.

Jason and Rachel Cornellier have always focused on nutrition with their twin children, Sam and Sabrina.

During the first three months, the weight came off quickly, which made the times when they seemed to be working just as hard as before, but not losing as quickly, even more frustrating.

"The hardest part was getting through those plateaus and pushing through them," Jason said.

The high school sweethearts — he went to John Glenn in Westland and she attended Ladywood in Livonia — were determined to see this goal through. Rachel, now 35, tells the viewers that one of her biggest motivators to lose weight was that she was often out of breath and tired when she played with their children, Sam and Sabrina. And this, she said, weighed heavy on her heart.

"I get winded real fast," she said during the broadcast. "I feel lazy. I feel like I was a crappy mom, and I'm not a crappy mom."

Now, Jason said, they are "trying to find our new normal. We do a lot more biking and hiking around South Lyon." He even helps with his son's, coach pitch team. "There are a lot of activities we wouldn't do before that we would now."

Their transformation has been nothing but positive for the kids, who Jason said, always ate a healthy diet. "We waited until they went to bed to eat bad," he said.

After the show aired, they got more than 10,000 hits on their Facebook pages, mostly from people saying how inspiring the couple has been during their own weight loss. The Cornelliers decided to launch a blog, ourfamilybalance.com to help others. They are going to focus on nutrition, even though it wasn't discussed much during the two-hour episode.

"It's kind of our way to pay it forward," Jason said.

His best advice is: Exercise is big, but food is 80 percent of weight gain "and sodium is a huge factor in it." People can gain 10 pounds in a short time, because they had food with high salt content, he added.

To keep each other on track, Jason said, they developed a code phrase, "Have you seen a good movie lately?" to politely remind each other that they're doing something to sabotage the weight loss.

"It gets the point across without saying, 'Maybe, you should put the fork down,'" he said.

"It might sound like a cliché, but truly I've been in that really bad place where you feel like you want to give up," Rachel said. "If we could find a way, anyone can. They have to start with small goals. They need to find some belief in themselves."

COC holds its annual Italian Night

Community Opportunity Center will hold its ninth annual Italian Night Monday, July 15, at Eastside Mario's, 31630 Plymouth Road, west of Merriman in Livonia.

This is the ninth year Eastside Mario's has partnered with COC to host the Italian Night fundraiser with all proceeds being used to meet the housing and personal needs of individuals with developmental disabilities who are affiliated with COC.

Anyone who dines at the restaurant 4-8 p.m. on July 15 will be treated to Eastside Mario's celebrated spaghetti, salad and bread for just $10. Drinks, tips and tax are extra. The restaurant will donate the entire $10 to Community Opportunity Center, a nonprofit housing corporation supporting adults with developmental disabilities in Wayne County.

Last year, some 400 diners attended the festive affair raising $5,000 for COC. Some of the wait staff donated tips they earned during the four-hour period, and some diners made direct donations to COC that night.

"We so much enjoy working with the wonderful people at Eastside Mario's who have been so supportive of our cause over the years," said Denise King, executive director of Community Opportunity Center. "Our family members, friends and supporters have a great time each year at this event, and we are pleased to work with Eastside Mario's to bring this event back for the community."

"The wait staff at Eastside Mario's has been very kind and professional in making sure our guests received top service and enjoyed a memorable evening," she added.

The first event was held in 2005 and was so popular that COC and Eastside Mario have repeated the event each July.

In 2006, Eastside Mario's manager Joe Hibbert was honored with an Award of Special Achievement by COC for his leadership in helping stage the now annual Italian Night.

Community Opportunity Center, based in Livonia, is a nonprofit management corporation that provides leadership and oversight to nearly 100 people with developmental disabilities who live among 23 homes and apartment settings in western Wayne County.

Homes and apartments are in Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City, Westland and Redford.

Greenhouse posts video of would-be thieves

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Video of two thieves helping themselves to merchandise from Barson's Greenhouse after hours is posted on the business's Facebook page.

The woman and younger male were captured on the business security video on June 27. Joe Barson, who owns the Westland business with wife Debbie, initially had posted a message, calling on the thieves to return the items or he'd post the video.

A week passed and none of the stolen items were returned, so the video was posted on Facebook and also aired on a local television station.

"Joe first posted the note giving them a week to bring the stuff back. We got all kinds of hits — 28,000," Debbie Barson said. "We got all these hits saying we should show the video, that we were being too nice."

The stolen items included a plastic watering can, a small wooden wishing well, either a bird bath or some pottery, Barson said, and ironically, a Welcome Friends sign.

"I got a kick out of that (sign being stolen). On the video, it's like she is shopping around. It's kind of comical," she said. "It's been a couple of years but once in awhile we would wonder if someone had stolen some mulch."

Over the years, there have been a couple break-ins at the greenhouse located on Merriam and Maplewood — a location that is in Westland but many people think is part of Garden City.

"We've had break-ins where larger tools were stolen — they caught the people in one of them," Barson said. "The cameras are new this year."

Despite the theft, Barson said it could have been worse, if there had been vandalism.

Vandalism

Police were called to a home in the 1400 block of Raymer just before 10:30 p.m. July 3 when a resident reported hearing her front window shatter. She said she looked outside but saw no one.

The officers noted one pane of the window was smashed and a rock was sitting on the exterior window sill.

The damage was estimated at $100.

» On July 4, a resident in the 100 block of Waterbury told police that someone had smashed the driver's side window of her 1998 Oldsmobile Intrigue overnight while it was parked on the street.

Nothing was missing from the vehicle, which the woman said she was in the process of buying from her cousin.

She also told police plenty of fireworks were being discharged in the neighborhood.

» A resident at the West Hampton Condominiums, 7412 Central, told police July 4 that overnight someone had smashed a window and slashed a tire on her 2009 Chevrolet Caprice.

The vehicle is not insured and doesn't have a license plate. The owner said she no longer drives it.

» A Fenton man told police that someone smashed the windshield and a passenger side window on his 2002 Pontiac Grand Prix overnight July 3-4 while the car was parked at the Scotsdale Apartments, 37735 Scotsdale Circle.

» On July 5, a Romulus woman told police that the previous day someone had damaged the driver's door handle and the front bumper on her 2012 Ford Fusion while it was parked at Burlington Coat Factory, 35555 Warren Road.

Larceny

A resident in the 2100 block of Ackley told police July 5 that he had been waiting for delivery of a laptop computer by the U.S. Postal Service. The delivery had been expected about a month earlier.

The resident told police he checked the tracking and found the package had been left without a signature on June 1 but had apparently been stolen from the front porch. The computer was valued at $700.

Larceny

On July 5, a Garden City woman told police that someone had stolen her Nokia cell phone from the restroom at McDonald's, 1677 S.

GARDEN CITY COP CALLS

Attempted robbery

Garden City police are investigating an attempted armed robbery that happened just after midnight June 27 at the McDonald's restaurant at 2205 Middlebelt.

An employee said that a black man about 25-35 years old, wearing a black hoodie, walked up to the drive-through window and said, "Gimme the money." She said that he produced a small, silver handgun.

The employee backed away from the window but didn't give him any money. The man fled but she didn't see him get into a vehicle.

Two customers waiting in the drive-through line observed the activity. The first witness said that he saw the suspect in a 1993 Ford F-150 pickup truck parked lengthwise in the parking stalls south of the restaurant and saw him approach the drive-through window.

He saw the man pull a handgun from his hoodie. The suspect ran back to his vehicle and left southbound on Middlebelt.

He described the suspect as 6 foot to 6 foot 2, 180 pounds, with hair worn in corn rows.

The second witness who was the driver behind the first witness said that she saw the suspect walk between vehicles and approach the drive-through window. She saw him reach inside his hoodie, but she couldn't tell what he pulled out. He then ran away from the window.

Retail fraud

A woman who sold fireworks in the parking lot of the Kmart store, 29600 Ford, reported June 25 that two potential customers couldn't wait until the tent opened up at 10 a.m. for sales and helped themselves to some fireworks.

She said that two men in a 2003, four-door black Taurus arrived at 8 a.m. but were told they had to wait to purchase fireworks. The men then entered the west side of the tent, grabbing about $1,000 of assorted fireworks as well as two cash registers which were still in their boxes.

"We are just going to help ourselves," they reportedly said to the owner.

The owner told police that she didn't try to stop the men because she wanted to get a good description of the men to give to the police. They went in and out quickly, she said, and left in a vehicle southbound on Middlebelt.

She said that the main suspect was a man about 25 years old, with both arms tattooed. He had circle "plugs" in his earlobes. She said that the other man was about 28 years old.

Property damage

A resident in the 30000 block of Pardo reported June 28 that an unknown suspect caused damage to all four tires of his vehicle that was parked in the parking lot of his apartment.

He said that the sidewalls were cut by an unknown object.

» A woman who lives in the 30000 block of Beechwood reported that someone wrote an obscene word on her left rear car door on June 25.

She said that she had a witness but the police were still waiting to find out additional information at the time of the report.

Theft

The owner of Spectacular Signs, 32659 Ford, reported that after he left his business June 25 to go meet a customer, someone stole items that were stored behind the building.

When he checked his security cameras, he saw a subject load two pieces of a sign and a piece that holds a canopy into a white cargo trailer that was attached to a white minivan.

The suspect, who he did not recognize from a surveillance tape, then drove away eastbound down the alley.

The owner said that the property stolen totaled about $6,500 in value. The sign was about eight feet long with large letters

» The owner of Lee's Auto Service, 6969 Middlebelt, reported at 9 a.m. July 3 that a 1993 Chevy Silverado pickup truck was stolen from the lot.

It reportedly had no license plate and the keys weren't left in the vehicle.

The police officer found no evidence to be processed. The owner reported that the chain link fence on Bridge Street was cut when he opened up his business in the morning.

» The property manager of a vacant home for sale in the 100 block of Central, after checking on the home June 24, reported that about 300 feet of copper plumbing had been stolen. He noticed that a shell of the air conditioner was also taken.

There were no signs of forced entry at the house, according to the report.

» The owner of a barbecue grill located outside a home in the 6700 block of Burnly reported it stolen about 9 a.m. June 26.

There is no fence around the property which is located on the corner of the street so the grill had been in plain view.

GC man goes to Indiana for 90th family reunion

Across America, families gather together on the Fourth of July and share a "Happy Fourth of July," including the Laidig family which celebrated its 90th family reunion in Bremen, Ind.

Among those making the annual trek is David Vera-Burgos of Garden City.

"I take my family every year to share food, fun and fellowship, just like my parents, grandparents and great-grandparents did," said Vera-Burgos. "Only now, there are so many of us that we have to wear name tags, but I enjoy meeting new family members, catching up with old friends, celebrating our family history and our great country."

The Laidig gathering dates back to the 1920s when John and Mary Laidig were raising their 12 children on a farm near Bremen and started throwing an annual family picnic. As those 12 children married and had children of their own, the family continued to grow but came back together every Fourth of July to celebrate our nation's independence.

The family has gathered every year through the Great Depression, World War II, and all of the ups and downs of the last 90 years.

This year, just like in years past, hundreds of Laidigs came from across the United States to gather just like their ancestors did. They prayed together, shared stories of marriages, births and deaths from the past year, enjoyed a potluck meal and good old-fashioned fun.

While the kids play games outside, the adults learned some family history. This year's focus was on marriage, and younger family members learned how the 12 original children of John and Mary Laidig met their spouses, along with some more current love stories.

Aldean Laidig Feldman, 97, the only surviving child of John and Mary Laidig, shared her personal love story. John Laidig, the founding father of the reunion, taught his children to have a strong faith in God, patriotism for our country and focus on the family. These values are passed on from generation to generation.

"We are so blessed to be able to come together as a family each year," said Mary Teeter, one of the family members who organized this year's reunion. "Family is so important. These are the ties that bind us to one another. An annual family reunion is a wonderful experience and I wouldn't miss it for the world."

Teeter travels every year from Ann Arbor to attend the event. This year, she flew in her daughter, Rachel, who now lives in California.

Vera-Burgos is a staunch supporter of family reunions.

"If your family doesn't gather for a reunion now, start the tradition," Vera-Burgos said.

"It's a great way to pass on family values and share history."

How To Get Rid Of Knee Pain Once And For All...Without Drugs, Shots Or Surgery

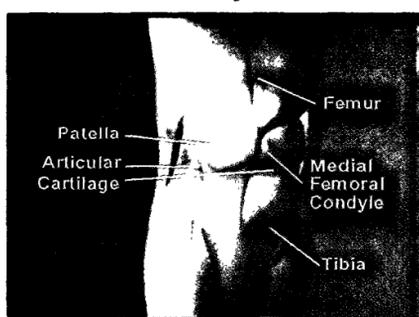

Now, in Livonia, Michigan, one doctor is helping local residents with knee pain live more active, pain-free lives.

Do You Have Any of the Following Conditions?

- Arthritis
- Tendonitis
- Knee Pain
- Bursitis
- Cartilage damage
- Crunching and Popping sounds
- 'Bone-on-bone'

Living with knee pain can feel like a crippling experience. Let's face it, your knees aren't as young as they used to be, and playing with the kids or grandkids isn't any easier either. Maybe your knee pain keeps you from walking short distances or playing golf like you used to. Nothing's worse than feeling great mentally, but physically feeling held back from life because your knee hurts and the pain just won't go away!

My name is Dr. Greg Kramer, owner of Kramer Chiropractic. Since we opened, we've seen many people with knee problems leave the office pain free.

If you're suffering from these conditions, a new breakthrough in medical technology may completely eliminate your pain and help restore normal function to your knees.

Finally, An Option Other Than Drugs or Surgery

Cold Laser therapy has been tested for 40 years, had over 2000 papers published on it, and been shown to aid in damaged tissue regeneration, decrease inflammation, relieve pain and boost the immune system. This means that there is a good chance Cold Laser therapy could be your knee pain solution, allowing you to live a more active lifestyle.

Professional athletes like Tiger Woods and team members of the New England Patriots rely upon Cold Laser therapy to treat their sports related injuries. These guys use Cold Laser for one reason only...

It Promotes Rapid Healing of The Injured Tissues.

Before the FDA would clear Cold Laser for human use, they wanted to see proof that it worked. This led to two landmark studies.

The first study showed that patients who had Cold Laser therapy had 53% better improvement than those who had a placebo. The second study showed patients who used the Laser Therapy had less pain and more range of motion days after treatment. If the Cold Laser can help these patients, it can help you too.

Could This Non-Invasive, Natural Treatment Be The Answer To Your Knee Pain?

For the First 25 Callers Only, I'm running a very special offer where you can find out if you are a candidate for Cold Laser therapy.

What does this offer include? Everything I normally do in my "Knee Pain Evaluation". Just call and here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your problem where I will listen... really listen...to the details of your case.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if arthritis is contributing to your pain.
- A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

The First 25 Callers Only can get everything I've listed here for only $35. The normal price for this type of evaluation including x-rays is $250, save a considerable amount by taking me up on this offer.

Here's what to do now:

Due to the expected demand for this special offer, I urge you to call our office at once. The phone number is 248-615-1533.

Call today and we can get started with your consultation, exam and x-rays as soon as there's an opening in the schedule. Our office is called Kramer Chiropractic and you can find us at 34441 W. Eight Mile Rd., Ste. 116, in Livonia, MI. Tell the receptionist you'd like to come in for the Knee Evaluation.

Sincerely, Greg Kramer, D.C.

P.S. Now you might be wondering...

"Is this safe? Are there any side effects or dangers to this?"

The FDA cleared the first Cold Laser in 2002. This was after their study found 76% improvement in patients with pain. Their only warning - don't shine it in your eyes. Of course at our office, the laser is never anywhere near your eyes and we'll give you a comfortable pair of goggles for safety.

Don't wait and let your knee problems get worse, disabling you for life. Take me up on my offer and call today: 248-615-1533.

My 94 yr. old mother said, "Dr. Kramer helped me get around better with less pain." I noticed a big improvement in her walking after a month of care. - J. Sarns, Livonia, MI

"I was suffering for 12 years with knee pain, I noticed a difference after 1 week of care. Now my knee feels 100% better, I'm off Celebrex, have an increase in energy and a decrease in back pain, hip pain and knee pain." - M. Bennett

"I suffered for 10 years, taking Tyleno 3-5 times a week for pain. After the FIRST session I felt better and now I walk without pain, have increased energy. Dr. Kramer has shown me how to take care of myself." - C. Heiden

'MUD, MUD, GLORIOUS MUD'

Kids, adults wallow away at annual parks event

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

Emily Cunningham already has a plan for next year. She's coming back to the Wayne County Parks' Mud Day and repeat as the Queen of Mud.

Tuesday, the Riverview youngster won the crown as the muddiest girl at the 26th annual Mud Day. She was covered from head to toe in mud with flower, grass and leaf accents provided by her sister Autumn Boyd and cousins Sophia Nikonowicz and Georgia Browning.

"I'm excited, I started getting ready for this when I got here," said Emily of her muddy honor.

"We've been planning it out since last night," added her sister.

Joining her on the Mud Day throne was Victor Epton of Southfield who opted to put his face in the water and lie in the goey muck.

"It feels great to be king," he said. "I think I won because I was really muddy."

A smaller than usual crowds of mud-loving youngsters and adults turned out to romp in the 75-foot by 150-foot mud pit, created by Wayne County Parks crews. Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano was on hand to lead the countdown to the mad dash to the mud.

"We had it perfect yesterday and the rain came," said Ray Glenn, maintenance supervisor. "It's a little soupier now."

Kellie Laskey of Canton and her husband Brian brought three-year-old Jayla to her first Mud Day. Laskey had seen her playing in the mud a few months ago and thought about Mud Day. After seeing a piece on YouTube, they were convinced they should go.

"We're definitely coming back next year," she said.

Logan Sibel of Redford, and Sarah and Ben Rojewski of Livonia acted like movie stars, posing for the paparazzi. Sarah has been doing Mud Day since she was 4 and her brother was 2, and according to Julie Sibel, it was their mother Nikki Rojewski-Sharples who dragged her into it.

"I don't care what people think, it's fun," said Logan Sibel.

"I love it," added Sarah Sharples.

The last time Mikaela Buresch and Autumn Strong got really muddy was playing soccer. But Tuesday, the two teens admitted they went way beyond game muddy as they sloshed around in the mud pit.

"I feel like a pig," said Strong who was covered from head to toe in mud.

"I feel like I'm in a barn ... and it definitely smells like one," added Buresch who was in similar condition.

The eyes have it for Madison Williams of Romulus.

Michaela Fletcher from Livonia holds Redford-resident Savanna Holland in the wheel barrel race.

Zach Miller gets a mud bath from Gabe Molitor. Both are Livonia residents.

The King of Mud is Victor Epton of Southfield while the Queen is Emily Cunningham of Riverview.

Western Wayne County Hazmat Team technician James Ursitti hoses down Mike Gronau of Garden City.

Kids race in to the mud at the start of the annual event.

Books to get children reading this summer

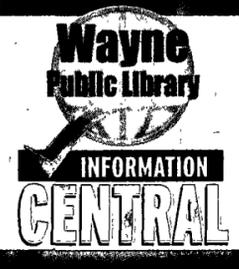

The Summer Reading Program is in full swing at the Wayne Public Library. We have been busy between folks signing up for the reading program and all the activities that we have had. Last week, we had 54 children attend the Tuesday craft program. The first two weeks of storytime have also been quite fun and we are excited for the rest of the scheduled events.

As the children's librarian, I have often discussed the same problem with several parents, this problem is particularly noticeable in the summer as parents are urging children to read for pleasure.

The problem is encouraging boys to read, especially boys ages 10 and up. While parents of girls and boys alike may experience this issue, it seems to be more prevalent in boys.

To assist parents, this article will focus on reading materials that may entice young men to enjoy reading. One important thing to remember is to embrace your child likes and interests. Boys are often intrigued by mysteries, science fiction/fantasy, nonfiction, horror and graphic novels.

Mystery books and series are well-liked. The Hardy Boys (Franklin W. Dixon) are ever popular. There are several incarnations of the Hardy Boys. They are often being reinvented with new generation and series; there is even a graphic novel series.

The Boxcar Children (Gertrude Chandler Warner) series is another famous series that is enjoyed by boys and girls equally. Another series that is sought-after is The Magic Tree House mysteries (Mary Pope Osborne). For those that enjoy a good scare, try Michigan Chillers and American Chillers (both by Michigan native Jonathan Rand). A series that has been wildly popular for many years is the Goosebumps (R.L. Stine) series.

Nonfiction is often intriguing to boys. Boys are interested in reading about cars, trains, trucks, astronomy, bugs and reptiles. Sports fans enjoy reading about the sports they love both the mechanics of the sport and biographies of their favorite players. Those that prefer to escape reality a bit should try the science fiction or fantasy categories. Popular series in these categories are Harry Potter (J.K. Rowling), Artemis Fowl (Eoin Colfer), Percy Jackson & the Olympians (Rick Riordan) and Pendragon (D.J. MacHale).

Many of these science fiction/fantasy selections are in the young adult category vs. juvenile fiction because they are longer and deal with harder topics to comprehend. These would be great for tweens and teens, or to read together. Never assume that your child is too old to be read to, children in their tween or teen years may still enjoy listening to their parents reading to them.

Lastly, graphic novels are extremely popular and more available than ever in the library. Graphic novels are essentially long comic books, they combine pictures and text to create the story. Graphic novels cover a variety of genres, including mysteries and science fiction. Graphic novels are an excellent way to encourage reluctant readers because they are fun and exciting.

The majority of the above suggestions are book series. Series provide a large number of volumes and offer the reader more options once they find something they enjoy. When they finish one title they do not have to hunt for something new.

A few additional tips to encourage reluctant readers include allowing children to choose their own material which gives them a sense of ownership over their reading material and gives them the opportunity to make decisions on their own. Audiobooks are a great way to get them started, to listen to the story alone or to follow along with the novel. For children that struggle with reading, audiobooks can introduce them to material that might be above their reading level but not their comprehension. E-books are another way to encourage reluctant readers that are intrigued by technology.

There is a world of adventure available in books and helping children realize this is a great part of my position. To find the titles listed above or any materials stop by the youth or adult reference desk. The librarians and staff are happy to help. It is not too late to sign up for the Summer Reading Program.

In life, business, keep it simple

Life is complicated, but not every part of it has to be. In fact, we often make things more complicated than necessary. That's why today's note is an important reminder to: Keep It Simple.

In business, it's especially important to avoid overcomplicating processes. Here's a pretty common scenario ...

A process gets put in place, perhaps with the help of an industry "expert." The process is relatively simple. Results improve. The people involved in the process think, "Wow, this simple process is really helping. Let's add these additional steps to make it even better!"

Clarity Newhouse

A SUNNY NOTE

Unfortunately the more complicated process doesn't yield improvement. Instead, results deteriorate and, lo-and-behold, it's time to bring back the expert who tells us to get back to basics and, sure enough, reinstates a more simple - more effective - process.

Every industry has its "basics," those core practices that contribute to success. In our own work, we most likely know what those basics are. The key is to stick with them. Focusing on improvement is good. But watch out, because complicating something is not the same as improving it.

When in doubt - KIS - and have a sunny day!

Clarity

P.S. "Think simple" as my old master used to say - meaning reduce the whole of its parts into the simplest terms, getting back to first principles."

Teamwork moves state forward

I am greatly encouraged by the many positive things happening in our state as we reinvent Michigan.

Joblessness has fallen dramatically - about 40 percent - from its high during the worst of the recession. About 200,000 private sector jobs have been created in Michigan since we hit our low point. Average private sector pay is up. More new businesses are starting and more of them are surviving.

Gov. Rick Snyder

GUEST COLUMN

State government, meanwhile, stands on a stronger financial footing than we have seen in years. Working with my partners in the Legislature, we made some difficult decisions and eliminated a $1.5 billion structural deficit. We have produced balanced budgets three years in a row and have put more than $500 million into the state's rainy day fund, which essentially was at zero just a few years ago.

Creating a new spirit of optimism is a major part of our success. There's a growing recognition that we can all play a part in reinventing our remarkable state.

That spirit is embodied in Pure Michigan Business Connect, a public-private alliance that includes the Michigan Economic Development Corporation, state agencies and large and small Michigan companies and businesses.

Simply put, the program connects Michigan businesses to each other. During the recent Mackinac Policy Conference, we made a significant announcement about the continued success of Pure Michigan Business Connect.

A cornerstone of the program was a commitment from businesses - anchored by Michigan's two largest utility companies, DTE Energy and Consumers Energy - to buy more goods and services from other Michigan companies.

DTE Energy and Consumers Energy began in 2011 with a combined pledge of doing $100 million per year more business with other Michigan companies. Since then, in-state purchases and contracts for the two utilities have grown to more than $1 billion. This has resulted in the creation and attraction of some 3,500 jobs. Now DTE Energy and Consumers Energy have committed to an additional $2 billion in spending with other Michigan-based companies over the next five years.

In recent months, 45 other Michigan organizations have joined the effort, including Ford Motor Co., General Dynamics and Michigan State University. Keep in mind that this program doesn't use taxpayer dollars for incentives. Pure Michigan Business Connect is the key part of the state's economic growth toolkit. Since 2011, the program has grown to more than $8 billion in commitments in sales and loans and pro bono services from Michigan firms.

The Michigan Economic Development Corporation estimates that one job is created for every $200,000 in ongoing procurement dollars spent.

Mom's advice inspires author's sudoku book

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Divyang (Dave) Pandit of Plymouth Township used to find sudoku puzzles difficult. That changed a few years ago with a trip to Houston, Texas, to see his mother, now 91.

Pandit

The retired General Motors engineer took a family trip in the summer of 2008 and began to unravel the sudoku solution code. His mother, Sushilaben Pandit, showed him what sudoku and east Indian folk dance have in common.

In a popular circle dance called "Garba" in the western state of Gujarat, dancers go around and around, with different steps, until the song or music is done. Pandit was surprised to see on that trip that his mom, without English skills and a seventh-grade education, could finish sudoku puzzles.

"It's simple," she told him, comparing the puzzles to the dance steps. "She said, 'I'll show you how. You take the steps and go around and around.'"

The author of Sudoku Puzzles "Guru," which was self-published this year, compared the dance to a stone in India in the center of a circle used for grinding wheat.

Pandit retired from GM in 2008 after nearly 40 years there. He had begun to do sudoku puzzles a couple of years earlier.

"Sudoku starting showing up in quite a few newspapers," said The Detroit News reader, who doesn't do crosswords. "I said, 'Let me try it.'"

With an engineering background, he tried a mathematical approach. "After a couple tries, I couldn't get anywhere," he said. "I said maybe I'm doing something wrong."

That 2008 Houston trip was for his brother's health problems, with the brother now doing well. Pandit was also in London, England, for a family wedding and noted sudoku is in newspapers there and worldwide.

His book's first part has "Guru Methods" of how-to steps. Part 2 has 52 examples of varying difficulty. The cover notes sudoku is the "Rubik's Cube of the 21st Century."

He talked to a Pittsburgh, Pa., publisher about the book, but went the self-publishing route. Pandit, a U.S. citizen who came here in 1968, said, "I'm learning what the e-book is all about." Sudoku Puzzles "Guru" will soon be an e-book.

He noted the word "sudoku" is Japanese for "single digit." He's talked to people in India, the U.S. and England who've all said they have five to seven methods to solve the puzzles. He hadn't heard of anyone with one solution.

Pandit will later split his book into two parts to help keep the cost down. He's looking to recoup what he's invested. Half the sudoku market is age 45 and up, suitable for print. "The e-book would be for the younger generation," he said.

He's grateful for his mother's help, but so far her present has been a box of about 50 books. "Not yet," he said of a special gift. "I just came back from there (Houston)."

Pandit, 68, is married with two sons, two grandchildren and another grandchild due soon. His wife is a University of Detroit journalism graduate working in public relations and was a help in publishing the book.

He was born in Visnagar, Gujarat, India, and earned his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at Gujarat University. After working at a large chemical and plastics manufacturing company in Mumbai, he came to the U.S. for graduate work.

Pandit earned a master's degree in mechanical engineering from Michigan Technological University, along with an M.B.A. from the University of Detroit. His GM career included management roles in engineering, financial and information technology functions. He's lived in Plymouth Township since 1998 and in the Plymouth-Canton community since 1974.

In the six years since his mother shared her insight, Pandit has been working on continuously improving his methods.

In the process of learning and writing the book, he has learned much about himself. It reminded him of other activities of the past that took him out of his comfort zone.

"I am reminded of my past reluctance to read comics from the daily newspapers," he said. "For so many years, the first thing I would discard from a daily newspaper was its funnies section. One day, my son Adarsh, when in his high school years, introduced me to some of the comics he was fond of. Since then, not only do I regularly read many of those comic strips with enjoyment, but I have also introduced some of them to my grandchildren."

Pandit's hope is that his book will have a similar effect on many who are not yet touched by the sudoku puzzle craze. The book is $19.99 plus shipping and handling and is available through SudokuPuzzlesGuru.com and also on Amazon.com.

Fire grant is good deal for Garden City

It was an announcement worthy of a 21-hose salute. The Garden City Fire Department will be able to hire four new firefighters, thanks to a grant through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response Program.

The competitive grant is part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency that helps ensure that fire departments nationwide have the front-line firefighters they need to protect their communities. It's worth almost $750,000. It will provide much needed personnel for the department that, in the face of budget cuts, has "gone above and beyond" in providing for the safety of the community.

Those four new firefighters mean a lot. They will bring the department's compliment to 18 members and allow it meet the five-man minimum required to enter burning building structures. Currently, the department must wait for assistance from another department to meet the requirement.

It is one of two grants the department has landed, thanks to the efforts of Lt. Scott Marinkovich who is proving to be a gifted grant writer. He was able to secure a grant for $350,000, with a 10 percent match, to buy a new fire truck that was dedicated in March. This grant requires no match and no retention of the firefighters after two years.

Together, the two grants represent close to $1 million in equipment and personnel that the cash-strapped city could ill afford to provide the department.

Marinkovich deserves many thanks for taking on the challenges of writing grants for the department. The grant application process is hard and time consuming. The fact that he would take on the task shows his commitment to the community and his fellow firefighters.

The grant is for two years, and we can only hope that the city's economic fortunes will have reversed to the point that the firefighters can remain with the department.

The grants are good news for the city and go a long way toward ensuring the safety of its residents and its fire department. It is truly money well-spent.

Changes make festival a safe one

Organizers of the Westland Summer Festival had to feel they were under the gun to serve up a safe, family friendly event this year. And the committee was able to do just that, thanks to changes in security and admission to the festival grounds this past weekend.

Publicity about huge crowds of young people — suspected gang members — disrupting earlier carnivals, including one sponsored by the Westland Fire Department Safety Committee, had everyone watching the summer festival to see what might happen. Nothing did.

The festival has been a Fourth of July fixture for most of its 43-year history, and while it has had its brush with notoriety several times, the specter of being overrun with gangs of unruly teens forced organizers and the city to come up with a better security plan.

Beefed-up security and implementation of a zero-tolerance policy appears to have prevented any problems, and this year's festival came off without a hitch, which is very good news for the city, the festival committee and the people who attended.

The no-nonsense rules cracked down on loitering or gathering in groups of more than eight, wearing jewelry and clothing deemed inappropriate and activities that could be considered fighting. And people who attended this weekend had to spend at least $10 to gain access to the festival grounds after 5 p.m. It was money that could be used for rides, food and games once they got inside.

Backing it up was a very visible police presence. Westland police, Wayne County Sheriff's deputies, state police, reserve officers from the Dearborn Police Department and private security were there to prevent trouble from happening. Their presence was big enough that one festival goer complained he felt like he was being watched.

The credibility of the committee to put on a good, fun event and ensure the public's safety was at stake. It's unfortunate, but necessary that such steps had to be taken.

With large crowds like those that turnout for the festival fireworks, safety has to be paramount. The fact that it was a safe event speaks volumes about what can be accomplished when everyone is on the same page.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Problems, problems

I want to talk to the citizens of Westland. Mike Kehrer and Mayor Bill Wild, can you follow along? I will try not to use too many big words.

1. The converter unit is used to convert cable feed to the phone lines. Half the cost is paid by the city and the other half by AT&T U-verse. The charge to Westland is the same charge that all cities pay that have U-verse. The feed to all cities is independent. Each city has control of feed hookup to U-verse lines. That is done under the view of the IT (I guess IT stands for inept twit). Make no mistake, the converter unit is OK. They never sent the wrong equipment or bad equipment. That was and is right here in Westland.

2. A few cities had a problem in the beginning, but it was fixed rather quickly. Not Westland. There are 49 cities carried on the Government, Education and Public television channels. If you have AT&T U-verse or know someone who does, check it out. Only one is a mess, Westland. For almost two weeks all you will see is "The video signal is currently unavailable." I know that the hook-up of cable to the converter unit is done in house.

I am not sure, either the people who hooked it up or the elected officials in city hall are dumber than a box of rocks or they were bought out by Comcast and WOW to keep competition out. I tend to believe the latter. I don't know for sure. All I do know is nothing has been done other than BS flowing.

This is an election year, so I ask the citizens of Westland to check it out for themselves and be aware of the BS. Then keep an open mind come November.

When the people of Westland check this problem and use common sense, then make their voices heard to those in city government who seem not to care, maybe then they might suck it up and get off their can and fix it. I don't know. I do know

Do a check-up

If you are planning a road trip this summer, it's important to remember that you shouldn't just put gas in your car and go. A pre-trip vehicle check is the best way to avoid the inconvenience and potential safety hazards of breaking down miles away from home.

By conducting a thorough vehicle inspection, you can determine how road-ready your vehicle is so you can have any problems fixed before hitting the road.

» Check the brake system and make sure the battery connection is clean, tight and corrosion-free.

» Check filters and fluids, including engine oil, antifreeze/coolant, windshield washer and power steering, brake and transmission fluids. Dirty air filters can waste gas and cause the engine to lose power.

» Check the hoses and belts and replace if they become cracked, brittle, frayed, loose or show signs of excessive wear. These are critical to the proper functioning of the electrical system, air conditioning, power steering and the cooling system.

» Check the tires, including tire pressure and tread. Underinflated tires reduce a vehicle's fuel economy and uneven wear indicates a need for wheel alignment. Tires should also be checked for bulges and bald spots.

Following a routine maintenance program, like the Car Care Council's free personalized schedule and e-mail reminder service, can help you drive smart, save money and make informed decisions this summer and throughout the year.

Border fixation

We are just amazed that the U.S. House Republicans remain fixated, paranoid and obsessed with border security of our southern border. Apparently the additional $46 billion in for border security in the Senate-passed immigration reform bill is not enough. Our view is for some U.S. House Republicans, our southern border can never be made secure.

All of this southern border obsession by the House Republicans is all the more amazing when our northern border with Canada is opened. Anybody at anytime and anywhere along our northern border can just walk in.

The House Republican hysteria is all directed along our southern border. Wonder why?

If comprehensive immigration reforms go down to defeat by House Republicans, it may well never occur in our lifetime. This will not be a defeat of President Obama's legacy but rather a defeat for the essence of America and what we are really all about.

GUEST COLUMN

Retirement: Current generation keeps rockin'

Generations ago, retirement was thought of as a time to take it easy — a time of rocking on porch chairs and reminiscing about the good old days.

But that's not the case with the current generation of retirees. In fact, many older people today continue to rock on. Just look at some of the superstars touring and performing concerts this year who are old enough to collect Social Security retirement payments. They're still rocking, but not in chairs.

Bob Dylan is on tour, as he usually is during summer months. Dylan is 71 years old, but with a recent album and new tour dates, you'd never know he was of retirement age.

Neil Young is touring with Crazy Horse to support their new album. The "godfather of grunge" is 67 years young. He's become the "Old Man" he sang about in his Harvest days.

Paul McCartney's current "Out There" tour may more appropriately be called his "Up There" tour. The former Beatle is now age 70.

Willie Nelson is "On the Road Again." The music icon is 79 years old and seems to be on nonstop tour.

Aretha Franklin is 71. Carlos Santana is 65. Carly Simon is 67. Mick Jagger and Keith Richards are both 69, as is Joni Mitchell. Leonard Cohen is 78. B.B. King is 87. They're all still performing their music.

Of course, some of these well-known musicians may not be eligible to receive Social Security benefits. But all of them are of retirement age. So where are their rocking chairs and knitting needles?

It's hard to believe, looking at all of these mature stars, that retirement used to be associated with bridge and shuffleboard. It's not just musicians. In fact, many people decide to put off applying for retirement benefits. And even after they do begin collecting benefits, many "retirees" prefer to keep working — or at least moving and shaking.

Most people know that you can begin collecting early Social Security benefits at age 62, with a reduction in the monthly amount. The full retirement age is gradually going up from 66 for people born between 1943 and 1954, to 67 for people born in 1960 and later. You can delay retirement even further and receive a higher payment when you retire, up until you reach age 70.

And another thing that has changed since the past generation: You can continue to work and still receive retirement benefits.

Learn more about Social Security retirement benefits by reading our publication on the subject at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs.

When you're ready to retire, the best place to apply is from the comfort of your home computer, with some of your favorite music blaring in the background. Begin the process with our Retirement Planner at www.socialsecurity.gov/retirement. Crank up the tunes and start planning before you head out to your next concert.

A short story of strength and acceptance by Nina Thomas, 13, Redford resident are growing fast. They are about 13-feet long and black, just like a ravens. Good bye for now. Bree Tanner.

May 23
 Today some guy bumped into my wings so hard! I screamed. Everyone was looking at me weird. Imagine if they really know. I'd never live through that humiliation. After school I plan to go to a clearing in the woods and fly. I guess it won't be too hard since all I have to do is flap. Since I have full control of my wings, it should be easy.
 Once I got there, I took off my jacket and started to push off the ground. It was amazing! I went higher and higher until I remembered that I didn't know how to stop and come down. Finally, I let out a sigh of relief as I landed. I guess that's enough for today. Sincerely Bree. The next day, as I walked to English class my friend Deana ran up to me. "Hey," said Deana. "Hey", I said without any feeling because I was planning the next time that I was going to fly. "What's wrong? You've been acting weird for a while. Is everything Ok?" Deana asked with concern and suspicion. Suddenly I had an idea. Maybe I could tell her if she promised not to tell anyone. "Wait, I'll show if you, if you promise not to tell anyone".

May 26
 As we reached the woods, I off my jacket and uncurled my wings. I heard her gasp. "Yes, I know. Can you please not tell anyone?" I saw her faintly nod. "Can you fly?" she whispered. "I guess, but not too high. It's only my second time." As I came to the ground she ran up and said, "Wow, I can't believe you have wings. Did you tell your parents?" "No you're the only one". "Wow" she said again, "but you can tell everyone". "They will only think of me as a freak."
 "No they won't" as she said this as two people from my school came and suddenly stopped. I couldn't do anything but say hi, because they already saw me. They just stood there and didn't run away. I slowly walk towards them. The best part is is that they didn't run away! I now know this is the beginning of new acceptance.

The Toledo Zoo covers 74 acres and is home to more than 9,000 animals representing over 800 species. It's one of the world's most complete zoos — it's also a top family destination.

Special exhibits

The zoo has introduced many innovative exhibits. The African Savanna offers a recreation of the plains and jungles of Africa. The Savanna is home to the world-famous Hippoquarium®, the first of its kind in the world.

The Kingdom of the Apes exhibit, Primate Forest, Arctic Encounter® and multi-species Africa! exhibit give visitors an amazing up-close experience while at the same time ensuring the well-being of the animals.

Two special exhibits include "Wild Walkabout: Wonders from Down Under" which brings the natural world of Australia to zoo visitors and the Arctic Encounter®, one of the nation's top polar bear exhibits.

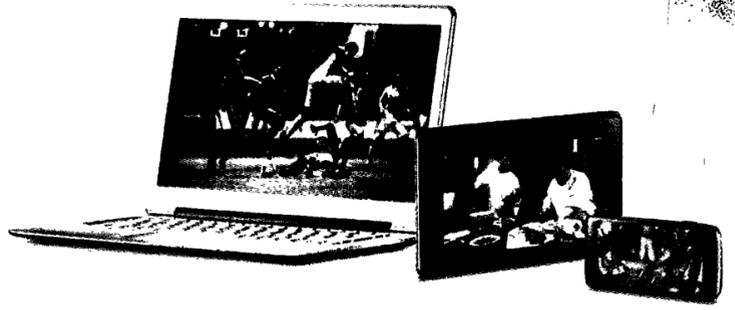

In Arctic Encounter, visitors can see male/female twin cubs born Nov. 21, 2012, and named through a community naming contest. The male cub is Sakari. His name means "sweet" in Inuit language. The female cub (Suka); her name means "fast" in Inuit language.

Polar bears delight

This is the fourth litter of polar bears the Toledo Zoo has had since 2006, said Randi Meyerson, assistant director of animal programs.

"I credit our success to high-quality animal care, the staff's relationship with the animals, the bears' good temperaments and an outstanding facility."

The exhibit, opened in 2000, is one of the top polar bear exhibits in the U.S. It features a 90,000-gallon pool and 6,000-square-foot land exhibit.

Assessing your investment portfolio

The second quarter is completed and investors should be receiving statements any day now. This is a great time of year to review investments and to judge them on how they have performed. This sounds relatively simple but it is not. The question is what do you compare it to?

One of the mistakes that many investors make is they compare their investments to either the Dow Jones Industrial Average or to the S&P 500. Although, this is easy to do it does not give an accurate picture of how an investment has performed.

For example, comparing an emerging market fund to the S&P 500 doesn't provide an accurate picture. The S&P 500 has nothing to do with emerging market funds. When determining how investments have performed it is important to compare apples to apples.

If your fund performs well against similar funds, that's one thing. On the other hand, if your fund has underperformed then it may mean that it's time to look elsewhere.

I don't mean you should judge your investments just over the last six months. Use a reasonable period of time such as two to three years. However, if you see that over the last six months a fund has substantially underperformed when compared to other similar funds, it does pay to examine the situation. Did something change with the fund such as a change in the portfolio manager or did something else occur? If there was a fundamental change it may mean that a change is warranted.

Rick Bloom

Don't be afraid to sell

Investors should never be afraid about selling an investment. Investments have very little, if any, loyalty to investors and thus, investors should have no loyalty to them. Investments are supposed to perform for us and if their performance is subpar when compared to other similar investments, there should be no hesitation in making a change.

Another mistake that investors make is selling underperforming investments without judging those investments against similar investments. This is a mistake and can lead to disastrous results.

An example of this is what happened during the tech boom. Tech funds were performing very well and many investors sold other funds, which were not performing as well, and purchased more technology-based funds.

The result was when technology funds plummeted, those investors took deep losses. Judging your investments against similar investments and maintaining a well-balanced and diversified portfolio is a key to being a successful investor.

It is common when consumers invest new money that they tend to look at what is performing well and invest in those funds. It sounds like a good strategy, however, it doesn't work that way in reality. When you buy high almost always you end up selling low.

Buy low, sell high

Buying high and selling low is a strategy that produces losses.

A much better strategy is when investing new money, look for opportunities to buy quality investments that are temporarily down. Buying low and selling high is a strategy that produces gains.

It would be convenient to put your portfolio on automatic pilot but you cannot. We live in a time where everything changes at an accelerated pace and investment portfolios are no different.

Just like in your home when doing routine maintenance can save you from having to do major repairs, the same thing is true in your portfolio.

Regular maintenance on your portfolio will allow you to be in a better position when you ride the roller coaster of investing.

Good luck.

Scheffer fired as Glenn baseball coach

Ex-Rocket player won 20 games in only season

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

It looked like a match made in heaven when 1991 alumnus Lawrence Scheffer was hired as Westland John Glenn's varsity baseball coach last January.

And despite guiding the Rockets to a 20-12-1 record this past spring and its first 20-win season since 2002, irreconcilable differences between Scheffer and Greg Ambrose, the athletic administrator for both Glenn and Wayne Memorial high schools, the one-year marriage has resulted in a messy divorce.

The deteriorating relationship between the two reached a boiling point on Wednesday, May 29, when Scheffer admitted he used "inappropriate language" in a verbal confrontation with Ambrose prior to Glenn's 5-4 Division 1 predistrict setback to visiting Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

Despite follow-up meetings to try and clear the air with Glenn Principal Dave Ingham, Wayne-Westland Executive Director of Student/Legal Affairs John Albrecht and superintendent of schools Gregory Baracy, Scheffer was given a termination letter by Kelly Bohl, senior executive director for Human Resources.

Scheffer, who runs A&L Landscaping along with his brother, Aaron (an assistant coach), also substitute taught occasionally in the district.

"I wrote them in a 7½-page letter telling them what happened, what led up to this incident," said Scheffer, who played two years of minor league baseball after becoming a catcher at the University of Detroit where he graduated in 1995. "I flat out told them, 'I've been here for 25 years. I made a mistake, I admit it and now I've got to suffer the consequence.'"

DIALING LONG DISTANCE

Redford resident is among world's longest drivers

I pitied the poor golf ball that Thomas Proben locked and loaded Monday afternoon on the four-inch, Taylor Swift-skinny golf tee that he pushed into a plush parcel of earth at Gateway Golf Course in Romulus.

Driving range balls are made to survive repeated poundings, but not the kind the 61-year-old Redford Township resident delivers.

Decked out in a long-sleeved peach-colored cotton dress shirt, black slacks and a patterned black tie, Proben stretched two golf gloves onto his left hand, fastened them tight, then took a couple compact but powerful practice swings. He then stepped up to the ball like Miguel Cabrera steps into the batter's box at Comerica Park.

Like he was ready to do business.

NASA engineers would have marveled at the flight of the ball after Proben uncoiled from his back swing like a hungry cobra. I know I did.

Reaching an apex of over 100 feet, the arrow-straight effort settled onto the middle of the driving range's landing area, roughly 350 to 400 yards away from its launching pad.

And Proben didn't even grunt.

I cringed for a minute as I observed the high-arcing shot, fearing the ball may dent the side of a 747 that was descending toward a runway at nearby Metropolitan Airport.

"I just got out of my car a few minutes ago, so that wasn't my best," Proben apologized, smiling. "I still have to get loose."

Drive for dough

Proben was more than loose during the summer of 2010 when he was crowned the 55-and-over champion at the RE/MAX World Long Driving Championships.

Although relatively modest in size at 5-foot-9 and 175 pounds, he out-drove several of the world's most distinguished big hitters who converged in Mesquite, Nev.

"It's hard to describe that feeling you get when you know you hit it just right," Proben said. "You know that at that moment, all your body parts are working together. It's like putting a nail into the wall. Boom!"

After taking a couple years off while serving as a caregiver for his aging parents, Proben is prepared to dive (or drive) back into international competition next week when he heads to Conneaut Lake, Pa., for a regional round of the World Long Driving Championships.

A top-three finish will likely earn him a return trip to Mesquite, where he can earn up to $70,000 in the three age divisions for which he has qualified. "It's just God-given ability," Proben said, when asked about his Paul Bunyan-esque driving skills. "My brother (Bob) played five years on the PGA Tour, and he's blown away when he sees me hit the ball.

PROBEN

"When I practice at the range, people will stop and watch me. They're surprised I'm able to hit it as straight as I do."

Armed with a swing that propels the head of the club up to 146 miles per hour, Proben has driven a ball as far as 440 yards.

He rarely meets a par 4 that isn't reachable in one.

Early success

Proben's gift for hitting golf balls great distances was first unwrapped during his elementary school-aged years in Redford when he would hit balls with his dad.

"The first two years I played — I was probably 10 or 11 — all's we did was go to the driving range," Proben said. "I still remember my first 18-hole regulation round when I was 14. I shot a 93 at a Kiwanis tournament held at Warren Valley."

After excelling at Redford Thurston, Proben played college golf at Eastern Michigan University.

"The first long-driving competitions I won were at MAC (Mid-American Conference) tournaments in 1973 and 1974," he said. "They'd give you three balls to hit on the first tee, and you had to hit them in the fairway. The one I won with in '74 actually plugged into the first green on a 305-yard hole."

The rest of Proben's game isn't too shabby either. He barely missed qualifying for the PGA Tour in the late-70s and still cards scores that can range from 69 to 79 — even though he admits to practicing just "one-tenth" as much as he used to.

Calm and quick

At next week's RE/MAX regional, Proben and approximately 25 competitors will be allotted two minutes and 45 seconds to hit six balls.

"I've been competing so long that I don't really get nervous," he said. "I know I'm going to hit my shot, and if I hit it well, I should win."

He then pushed another ball onto a tee, addressed the ball and pumped it so high and far that it may have shown up as a green blip on an air traffic controller's radar screen at Metro Airport.

ROLLER FIGURE SKATING

Riverside Arena sends 15 to Roller Nationals

Livonia's Ian Heersink captures five gold medals

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Practice does pay dividends, as evidenced by 15 skaters who will compete for Livonia's Riverside Arena in next month's National Roller Figure Skating Championships in Albuquerque, N.M.

The skaters, who train one to three hours per day and four to five days a week, qualified after advancing through the Great Lakes Regional Roller Skating Championships, held last week in West Chester, Ohio.

Livonia's Ian Heersink, competing in the Freshman/Sophomore division, earned gold medals in the A Figures, A Loops, A Combined Figures and Junior World Class Figures. He was also first in the Freshman A Team Dance, along with partner Jade Ross of Livonia.

The 14-year-old Heersink is vying for a position on the Junior World Team, which will compete this November at the World Roller Skating Championships in Taipei City, Taiwan. Meanwhile, Livonia's Ryan Heersink also earned a gold medal in the Elementary B Figures, while teaming up with partner Sofia Cueva of Livonia for a first in the Elementary Team Dance.

Cueva also won a silver medal in the Elementary A Solo Dance, while Livonia's Jillian Heersink placed second in the sophomore A Figures.

The Riverside RASCals Junior Precision Team also captured silver medal.

Team members included Ross, Christine Asai, Ryan and Ian Heersink, Stephanie and Sofia Cueva, all of Livonia; Estella Clark, of Westland, Hanna Denes of Garden City; Kinka Kimfon of Canton; Chloe LaMay of Plymouth; and Tina Stadnik, Andrew and Miranda Esser, all of Northville.

Tina Stadnik also earned a bronze medal in both Elementary A Loops and A Combined Figures. She placed fourth in the Elementary A Figures to qualify for Nationals, while sister Olesya Stadnik picked up a third in the Novice B Solo Dance.

Jillian Heersink won bronze in the Sophomore A Loops and A combined figures, along with a fourth in the Sophomore A Solo Dance to earn a trip to Albuquerque. Ian Heersink added a third in the Freshman A Solo Dance.

The Riverside RASCals Skating Club, coached by certified advanced instructor Lawan Modrich, was established five years ago with five skaters. It has grown to 22 registered competitors this season, with 16 skaters competing at the regional championships. The RASCals Junior Precision team is coached by Modrich and three-time regional medalist Jillian Heersink.

Tomasic's volleyball talent spikes

Stevenson outside hitter makes USA Youth A1 squad

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Katie Tomasic's success on the volleyball court has made her summer itinerary a little more complicated.

The 6-foot All-Stater from Livonia Stevenson, who will be a senior this fall, is among 33 players who have earned a spot in USA Volleyball's Youth A1 National Training Team Program, the second highest USA youth program in the country.

Tomasic, who finished with 510 kills, 214 assist-to-kills and 143 digs as both an outside hitter and setter last fall at Stevenson, earned a spot after a tryout last March in Philadelphia, Pa.

"They have tryouts all over the country, then you find out the results in May," said Tomasic, who has already committed to play in 2015 at Miami of Ohio.

"I thought the tryouts went pretty well, but I didn't really know because there's so many girls around the country trying out. I was at (club) practice, I think, and my mom was sitting up in the stands.

"She had text me, I looked up at her and she was just smiling. I said, 'Like wait, did I make it?' She nodded her head. It was close to my birthday and it was a really good day for me."

Tomasic has played for the Lakeshore region USA Volleyball team for three years and participated in the USA A3 Training Camp last summer. But now her talents have transcended to a national level.

The lone Michigan player listed on the A1 roster representing the Lakeshore region, Tomasic is scheduled to report July 18 at the Fort Lauderdale, Fla. for a five-day camp.

The 33-player roster will then be divided up into three teams which will compete in the USA High Performance Championships, July 23-27. The three A1 teams will play up an age group and compete against 14 other teams at the international junior age group tournament.

Included in the women's international junior tournament field will be seven teams from Canada, another from New Zealand, one from Chile and six USA teams.

"I'm excited to meet girls all over the country and get to represent the U.S.," Tomasic said. "It's exciting."

Tomasic, who led Stevenson to the Division 1 regional finals last year, has kept a busy off season volleyball schedule. She is a fourth-year player with a2 Volleyball Club in Ann Arbor where she played with Stevenson teammates Abigail Whitehead and Amanda Hawkins on the 17-and-under Blue team.

"We did well," Tomasic said. "We definitely had some more successful tournaments than others. But it was a good year overall."

Tomasic will work a youth volleyball camp next week at Miami of Ohio before reporting to the A1 team, which is made up of alternates for the Youth National Team that will compete later this summer in Thailand.

"I've been working really hard on my mental game, being able to stay focused and not get down on myself, as well as my defense," Tomasic said. "I think that's helped me grow as a player this year."

Away from the volleyball courts, Tomasic works as a lifeguard at the Livonia Community Recreation Center.

"I have a flexible schedule," she said. "It works out well. I just try and pick up shifts when I can."

But Tomasic cherishes her free time, even with a packed summer volleyball schedule.

"I've been hanging out with my friends a lot," Tomasic said.

"I don't have that much time this summer going to all the different places. I like going to the movies, hanging out, going to the pool, just trying to be a normal teenager."

Local athletes excel in Senior Olympics

Plymouth swimmer nets 6 medals

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Several Observer-land-area athletes struck gold, silver and bronze at the Michigan Senior Olympics, which were held last month at venues throughout Oakland County.

The event has flourished since its inception in 1979 when just a handful of senior athletes competed. In 2011, approximately 1,100 Michigan residents aged 50 or older participated.

The most prosperous local senior athlete proved to be Plymouth swimmer James Stein, who did a pretty good Michael Phelps impersonation. Stein racked up six medals (three gold and three silver) in the 60-64 age division.

Stein's winning efforts came in the 50-yard freestyle (29.6 seconds), 100 individual medley (1:20.7) and the 50 butterfly, which he won in 38.8 seconds.

Wayne resident Kathryn Stella was a double-gold champion in the 50-54 division.

She won the singles women's badminton title and the top prize in the singles racquetball com-

A pair of Farmington Hills residents - Larry Ortkras and Dennis Kay - earned medals in the golf competition. Ortkras took gold in the 65-69 division while Kay earned a bronze medal in the 70-74 class.

Redford's Thomas Garrett teamed up with Taylor's Roger Beelat to win a silver medal in the 70-74 doubles badminton tournament.

A host of area athletes fared well at the archery venue. Gold-medal winners were Westland's Glenis Collins and Lonnie Collins; Wayne's Glenn Campbell and Canton's William Malinak. Glenis Collins and Campbell broke MSO records for their age groups.

Also medaling in archery were Livonia's Ian Mackenzie (silver) and Westland's Albert Ouellette, who won a bronze medal.

The National Senior Olympics are set for August in Cleveland, Ohio.

Whalers snag two European players in CHL Import Draft

Swedish center drafted at No. 41, Swiss defenseman at No. 113

The Plymouth Whalers selected 18-year-old Swedish center Victor Crus-Rydborg with their first choice (41st overall) Wednesday in the 2013 CHL Import Draft, and they picked up 17-year-old Swiss defenseman Yannick Rathgeb with their final choice (113th overall).

"We're happy with both of the selections," Plymouth assistant general manager Brian Sommari-va said. "We think Victor and Yannick will help us while continuing to develop as players in North America."

The 5-foot-11, 190-pound Crus-Rydborg scored 12 goals with 23 assists for 35 points last season for Linköping U-20 in the Swedish Junior League.

Eliteprospects.com offers the following analysis of Crus-Rydborg, who also was drafted by the New York Islanders in the fifth round of the 2013 NHL Draft:

"Crus-Rydborg is a very smart and skilled playmaker. Impressive hockey sense and passing ability. Stick handles well through heavy traffic and makes room for himself and his teammates. Not a natural goal scorer, but has a good release. Two-way ability is good. Should work on his consistency, acceleration and skating, a bit, although it is not a major concern."

Josh Deitel from Hockey's Future website saw Rathgeb play for Switzerland at the 2012 Four National Cup in Ann Arbor and offers this analysis:

"Rathgeb was not Switzerland's best player in the tournament, but I think he projects to be the best talent who comes off this roster down the line. Played a very smooth, all-around game, rotating between wing and defense on a game-by-game or situation-by-situation basis.

"Was strong on the forecheck, physical along the boards and used his size to his advantage. Made good decisions with the puck in the neutral zone. Backchecked hard and showed good defensive zone awareness. Good skater with an efficient stride, changes directions smoothly and keeps his head on a swivel."

NHL DRAFT PICK: Whalers forward Ryan Hartman was a first-round selection of the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Blackhawks in the 2013 NHL draft June 30 at the Prudential Center in Newark, N.J.

Hartman, who grew up a Blackhawks fan in West Dundee, Ill., was the 30th overall pick. He scored 23 goals and had 37 assists for 60 points in 56 games for the Whalers last season.

Along with Whalers teammate Vince Trocheck, Hartman helped the United States win the gold medal in the 2013 World Championship in Ufa, Russia.

COACH

told me to step down. Submit a letter. You can resign or we'll just terminate you. I can't sub in the district because I'm an at-will employee. I'm done. I can't coach there and I can't sub in the building. I'm on the blacklist."

The 40-year-old Scheffer said he tried to address several concerns during the season with Ambrose, but said he became increasingly frustrated.

"We had several bus issues, not contacting the varsity coach for the district drawing - there's a whole list," Scheffer said. "Not being able to start a freshman program when they told me I was able to. There were last minute cancellations, especially with the pre-district game when we could have played on Tuesday. Just not being around at all. It didn't sound like he (Ambrose) was at Wayne either. I don't know what the guy was doing."

"It just took forever with everything this year. I tried to work with him. I did all the scheduling of the make-up games. I knew all the coaches and just called them up myself. Everything was last-minute by texting. Obviously the job is way too big for one person to do at both schools in the district."

Scheffer, a standout player at Glenn who belted 10 home runs his senior year, replaced Dan Danic, who resigned in September of 2012 after going 17-44 (with one district title) in his two seasons as varsity coach. After the internal job posting period lasted for two weeks, Scheffer put in his application after serving as an assistant under Danic.

"When Danic resigned in September, it took them almost to end of January to let me know if I got the job or not," Scheffer said. "They (Wayne-Westland) had it posted in September. I never got an interview. I was informed by Human Resources."

"The only conversation I had (with Ambrose) was at a football game, not a sit-down (meeting) where they asked me what my intentions were with the program or anything like that."

Ambrose, who could not be reached for comment, told the Observer last January that Scheffer "was our top choice obviously."

"He's got a great baseball background," Ambrose continued. "The kids know him, the parents know him."

The Observer has learned that there may be a show of support by parents and players for Scheffer at Monday night's Wayne-Westland school board meeting.

Meanwhile, Scheffer said he hopes to coach high school baseball again. He currently coaches in the Under Armour Baseball Factory national training program, which evaluates and helps high school players get to the collegiate level.

But he felt the Glenn job was his calling.

"It just leaves a sour taste in your mouth after all these years to come back and not being able to give back to the program," he said.

Parkview Baptist Church celebrates golden jubilee

Parkview Baptist Church in Livonia will mark 50 years with a weekend of celebration, July 27-28.

A homecoming picnic from noon to 4 p.m. and a service at 2 p.m., Saturday, July 27, will kick off the Golden Jubilee weekend. Anniversary services on Sunday, July 28, will start with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., followed by a special worship service at 10:30 a.m. and an evening of preaching and praise starting at 6 p.m.

Parkview was founded by a group of Christians from the Livonia area who wanted to build an independent Baptist church that would become a "family church with the family at heart."

They began meeting in homes at first; then in a school gymnasium. Construction on the new church building began in spring 1963 and the church was fully organized and chartered in fall that same year. The Rev. Robert Downing was pastor of the church for its first 14 years, followed by the Rev. Lanny Hasbrook for another 14 years. The Rev. Steven Brown, the current senior pastor, has led the church since 1991.

Over the past 50 years, the church has grown steadily. Its ministries include Parkview Baptist Church for the Deaf and the Reformers Unanimous weekly addiction recovery program, among several other outreach programs. The church also supports 74 missionaries around the globe.

In addition to the anniversary celebration, the church will hold the 37th Annual Old Fashioned Tent Meeting, 7 p.m. nightly from July 21-26.

The church encourages past and current church members, their families and friends to RSVP if they plan to attend an anniversary event.

For more information about the tent meeting or jubilee activities, visit the church website at www.parkviewbaptistministries.com or call the church office at 734-261-6180.

Trains, tape and art come together

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Duck Tape and model trains will show just how entertaining — and artsy — they can be this weekend during their first appearance at the annual Art in the Park in downtown Plymouth.

The Michigan G. Gauge Operations Club (MGGOC) will set up an 85- by 15-foot layout in Kellogg Park and the Duck Tape Rolls Across America Tour will bring its bright green "Duck Bus" to Main and Wing streets.

The two attractions are the newest additions to the three-day fair that features live music, kids' activities, chalk on the walk, a living art mural, free food samples, kids' activities, live music and more than 400 artists with their works on display and for sale.

Gordon G. Perrin, Jr., a MGGOC member, said the organization hopes to gain exposure while operating model trains in Kellogg Park.

"I approached the people at Art in the Park, saying we wanted an opportunity to set the thing up. We know there are a lot of G gauge people in this area and we'd like to let them know there is a membership available in this club," said Perrin, a Plymouth Township resident. "Our reason for existence is to set this up and run it, to educate people about what garden railroads are all about."

The club has approximately 10 active members who operate their own trains — some run in their gardens — and who come together to show the club's portable modular railway layout at public gatherings, such as flea markets and festivals.

The dog bone-shaped layout includes a set of two tracks, sidings and clusters of buildings that depict industry and villages. The club will set it up on a table, but they're also considering placement of a smaller track with train on the

When: 11 a.m.-8 p.m. Friday, July 12; 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday, July 13; 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday, July 14

Where: Downtown Plymouth

Details: In addition to art work by both adults and children, the festival will include chalk murals, free food samples, live music from One Love Reggae Band, children's activities, a display of items made from Duck Tape, outdoor train layout, living art mural, and George Tait: The Living Statue ground. The smaller version would give viewers an idea how garden railroads look and it would make the exhibit more accessible to children.

Train layouts as art

Perrin says the train layout and Art in the Park is a perfect fit because modeling the layout's buildings requires some art skill.

"There is art and craft in this," he said. "You have to understand scale and how to reach that scale. Yeah, you can buy pre-assembled buildings, but you can also make your own."

He's constructing a coal tower for the layout in Kellogg Park that will resemble the tower on the Michigan Central line near Augusta.

"I've got books with dimensions and I've got old photos. I can approximate what it would look like in its hey day," he said. "It was built in the mid-to-late 20s and served steam engines until 1957."

Fairgoers won't have to worry about perfect scale or dimension when they make a craft at the Duck Tape bus at Art in the Park. They'll get a chance to choose their favorite color or pattern to make a Duck Tape bracelet.

"People are awestruck when they realize we have over 200 colors and designs," said Patti Sack, media manager for Duck Tape. "We have a whole section of the bus with different things made with Duck Tape — from a piggy bank to an elaborate necklace to something as simple as a pencil holder. It's really cool. It's a whole wall of inspiration."

"I've seen just about everything and every day something else is shown to me of what people have done with Duck Tape."

Fashionable tape

The touring collection also includes a prom dress that was featured on season 11 of Project Runway, along with a Duck Tape tuxedo. Duck Tape created an annual competition, "Stuck at the Prom," 13 years ago after discovering that fans were creating prom attire from its products.

"It's a scholarship contest and we've given away hundreds of thousands of dollars."

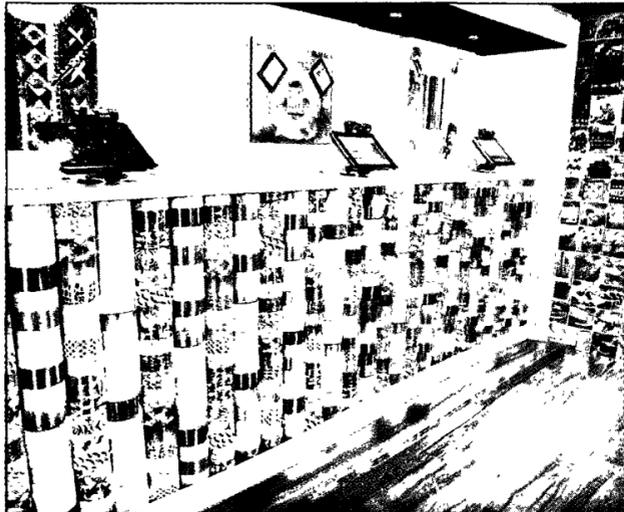

Sack said that although Duck Tape remains a staple in the tool box, it has transitioned from "tool to cool" as fans use it in creative projects.

"This coming weekend we'll feature some of our top designs," she said. "We will have an exclusive that they can only get at the bus tour. You can't find it in any store — Duck Tape featuring Trust E. Duck"

Look for tape with such themes as U of M and Michigan State, cotton candy and dill pickles, owl and cheetahs and glow-in-the-dark, among many other patterns, for sale at Art in the Park.

A train carrying dinosaurs makes its way around a Michigan G. Gauge Operations Club member's garden.

Visitors to Plymouth's Art in the Park will have their choice of colors and designs for a craft project at the Duck Tape bus.

BEAT THE HEAT WITH

FROZEN TREATS

From a sprint through the sprinkler to the first sip of an ice-cold lemonade, there are few things more satisfying than a refreshing cool-down on a hot day. To offer cool sweet relief from the summer heat, McCormick Kitchens has created a new collection of easy-to-make frozen treats in a rainbow of colors and flavors.

"Most people already have all the ingredients they need to make frozen treats right at home," said Mary Beth Harrington of the McCormick Kitchens. "Creating frozen fruit pops and shaved ice is a fun summertime activity for kids and adults alike that can take shape in any flavor and color combination you can imagine. Popular seasonal flavors like cotton candy, strawberry lemonade and blue raspberry will have everyone gathering around the freezer."

Frozen Fruit Pops: These customizable and easy-to-grab snacks are as fun to eat as they are to make. Plus, with nutrient-packed ingredients such as fresh pineapple or strawberries, parents will feel good serving these hand-crafted treats to kids.

» This recipe is as simple as adding fruit and complementary flavors to a blender. Then, pour into Popsicle molds and freeze until set. Have fun with a variety of combinations for everyone in the family. Make Strawberry Lemonade pops with frozen strawberries and lemon extract or explore adult flavors such as Piña Colada by pairing pineapple chunks and juice with coconut extract for a momentary tropical escape.

» Tip: Try using 3- or 4-ounce paper cups if you don't have Popsicle molds. Cover each cup in foil and insert a wooden pop stick through the top to create a handle.

Blend up a little extra and freeze in ice cube trays to give summertime beverages a refreshing flavor twist. For example, combine fresh watermelon with strawberry extract to create watermelon cooler cubes to brighten up sparkling water or clear soda. Raspberry and peach cubes are a simple way to turn ordinary iced tea into unique summer refreshments.

Easy Fruity Shaved Ice: Cool down with a frosty blast from the past that uses five or less ingredients. Shaved ice is perfect anytime. Top it with homemade syrups in inventive flavor combinations. Add a few drops of food color to complement the taste, such as pairing red and yellow food color with orange extract. Or have fun and vary the color to mimic the vibrant shades of summer. Blue food color and raspberry extract make a playful combination.

» Tip: If you don't have a shaved ice maker, crush ice to a snowy texture in your blender or by wrapping a plastic bag of ice in a kitchen towel and smashing it with a rolling pin or mallet. This can be a fun project for kids so long as they have adult supervision.

» Tip: Arrange a DIY shaved ice station at your next summer gathering for a sure-fire crowd pleaser. Fill a large vessel with shaved ice and set out squeeze bottles filled with different flavored syrups so guests can mix and match to their heart's content.

Realtors are encouraged by upward trend in home sales

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Plymouth Realtor Tony Schippa recently had clients for whom he was the buyer's agent. They saw a home that went on the market in the early morning. "Within 24 hours, there were four offers," said Schippa, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Preferred.

"We have a shortage of inventory," said Plymouth resident Schippa, noting those clients didn't get the home and it was the second one they'd been beat out on. Now in the local market, in two-three days for a desirable property there are multiple showings and offers.

"I think you have the economy improving," he said. People who are underwater on a mortgage can now come out ahead "or can at least break even on the homes." Refinancing's an option, and with interest rates climbing some pursue that.

"You still have an incredible interest rate," said Schippa, noting it's about 4 percent. "I think interest rates are going to continue to climb." That makes it more difficult to qualify for a mortgage, said Schippa, a past president of the Greater Metropolitan Association of Realtors.

"So we are seeing lots of improvement." He recently sold a condo to a couple, first-time buyers, who came out paying less than they had for rent. "From start to finish was less than 30 days," he said of that couple's purchase.

Some sellers now bring money "to protect their credit and get the deal done," Schippa said. "We're starting to see an increase in people moving to Michigan for work." He's seen customers in the medical and automotive fields moving here.

Schippa, in the field 12 years, said, "You do have to get off the stick. You have to have your ducks in a row." He even saw a price reduction in less than 10 days for a local home on the market.

"It's just a good time for people to get out there," he concluded.

Agreeing is Gary Reggish, also a past GMAR president and broker-owner of Remerica United Realty of Novi.

"The market has been awesome," said Livonia resident Reggish, also a board member for the Michigan Association of Realtors and its treasurer-elect, as well as a board member for the National Association of Realtors and vice chair of the Major Investor Council Realtor Political Action Committee/NAR. "Things have definitely shifted. You definitely have to move quickly."

"Sellers, get out and sell," Reggish said. "Right now, it's a seller's market. You will generate multiple offers if your house is in decent condition. Houses are flying off the market."

He sees homes selling well above asking price, and some buyers will pay the difference between the appraisal and the agreed upon price.

Reggish cites an improved economy, low interest rates and available homes. "We have a shortage of inventory, so supply is down," he said.

The buyer no longer has an upper hand. "It is no different than picking a number on a roulette wheel," he said of today's buyer. "A buyer has to come in strong."

Reggish has seen more Michigan relocations in the last six months than combined in the last six years. "It has been a real mix of relocation buyers," he said, including auto and related industries, and even energy companies.

The National Association of Realtors also reports encouraging news on home sales nationwide.

Existing-home sales improved in May and remain solidly above a year ago, while the median price continued to rise by double-digit rates from a year earlier, according to the NAR.

Total existing-home sales, which are completed transactions that include single-family homes, townhomes, condominiums and co-ops, rose 4.2 percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.18 million in May from 4.97 million in April, and is 12.9 percent above the 4.59 million-unit pace in May 2012.

Lawrence Yun, NAR chief economist, said the recovery is strengthening and to expect limited housing supplies for the balance of the year in much of the country. "The housing numbers are overwhelmingly positive. However, the number of available homes is unlikely to grow, despite a nice gain in May, unless new home construction ramps up quickly by an additional 50 percent," he said in a statement. "The home price growth is too fast, and only additional supply from new home building can moderate future price growth."

Existing-home sales are at the highest level since November 2009 when the market jumped to 5.44 million as buyers took advantage of tax stimulus. Sales have stayed above year-ago levels for 23 months, while the national median price shows 15 consecutive months of year-over-year increases.

Total housing inventory at the end of May rose 3.3 percent to 2.22 million existing homes available for sale, which represents a 5.1-month supply at the current sales pace, down from 5.2 months in April. Listed inventory is 10.1 percent below a year ago, when there was a 6.5-month supply.

The national median existing-home price for all housing types was $208,000 in May, up 15.4 percent from May 2012. This marks six straight months of double-digit increases and is the strongest price gain since October 2005, which jumped a record 16.6 percent from a year earlier. The last time there were 15 consecutive months of year-over-year price increases was from March 2005 to May 2006.

Distressed homes - foreclosures and short sales - accounted for 18 percent of May sales, unchanged from April, but matching the lowest share since monthly tracking began in October 2008; they were 25 percent in May 2012. Fewer distressed homes, which generally sell at a discount, account for some of the price gain.

Eleven percent of May sales were foreclosures, and 7 percent were short sales. Foreclosures sold for an average discount of 15 percent below market value in May, while short sales were discounted 12 percent.

According to Freddie Mac, the national average commitment rate for a 30-year, conventional, fixed-rate mortgage rose to 3.54 percent in May from 3.45 percent in April; it was 3.80 percent in May 2012.

The median time on market for all homes was 41 days in May, down from 46 days in April, and is 43 percent faster than the 72 days on market in May 2012. Short sales were on the market for a median of 79 days, while foreclosures typically sold in 43 days and non-distressed homes took 39 days.

Forty-five percent of all homes sold in May were on the market for less than a month. The median time on the market is the shortest since monthly tracking began in May 2011; on an annual basis, a separate NAR survey of home buyers and sellers shows the shortest selling time was 4 weeks in both 2004 and 2005.

First-time buyers accounted for 28 percent of purchases in May, compared with 29 percent in April and 34 percent in May 2012.

All-cash sales were at 33 percent of transactions in May, up from 32 percent in April and 28 percent in May 2012. Individual investors, who account for many cash sales, purchased 18 percent of homes in May; they were 19 percent in April and 17 percent in May 2012.

Single-family home sales rose 5.0 percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.60 million in May from 4.38 million in April, and are 12.7 percent higher than the 4.08 million-unit pace in May 2012. The median existing single-family home price was $208,700 in May, up 15.8 percent above a year ago, the strongest increase since October 2005 when it jumped 16.9 percent from a year earlier.

Existing condominium and co-op sales slipped 1.7 percent to an annualized rate of 580,000 units in May from 590,000 in April, but are 13.7 percent above the 510,000-unit level a year ago. The median existing condo price was $202,100 in May, which is 11.8 percent above May 2012.

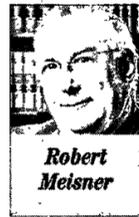

Regionally, existing-home sales in the Northeast rose 1.6 percent to an annual rate of 650,000 in May and are 8.3 percent above May 2012. The median price in the Northeast was $269,600, up 12.3 percent from a year ago. Sales in the Midwest jumped 8.0 percent in May to a pace of 1.21 million, and are 16.3 percent higher than a year ago. The median Midwest price was $159,800, up 8.2 percent from May 2012.

In the South, existing-home sales rose 4.0 percent to an annual level of 2.09 million in May and are 16.1 percent above May 2012. The median price in the South was $183,300, which is 15.0 percent above a year ago.

Owner may have cause on tree damage suit

Q: I own a commercial building and there are branches from a large tree located on adjoining land which hang onto my property. I tried to cut the branches back, but the encroaching branches caused water and ice dams to build up and damage my roofs, walls, and fascia on my building. I have contacted the adjoining land owner who refused to pay for the damage. Do I have any cause of action?

Robert Meisner

A: You may. In a recent decision out of North Dakota, the court recognized that there was a split between the various approaches to resolve the problem. Traditionally, the courts used the "Massachusetts Rule," in which the adjoining land owner is not liable for damages and the neighbor is limited to the sole remedy of self-help in the form of cutting back the offending roots or branches at his own expense. However, the Supreme Court of North Dakota recognized that the Massachusetts Rule is outdated and that a growing number of states have adopted the Hawaii approach. Under the Hawaii Rule, the owner of the tree is liable for harm caused and the harmed neighbor has the right of self-help at the tree owner's expense, if owner fails to fix the problem. In the North Dakota case, the court endorsed the Hawaii Rule as striking the best balance between the land owners — permitting one to grow and nurture trees, but imposing a correlative duty to ensure against harm to the neighbors. It is also stringent enough, the court said, to discourage trivial suits and places the expense of self-help on the party necessitating it. It does not appear that the Michigan appellate courts have specifically addressed this issue. So whether or not you wish to take legal action should be explored with a competent real estate attorney.

Q: I recently read an article about emotional support dogs being an exception to a "no pet" rule in a condominium. What can you say about that?

A: The emotional support animal is the new thing in attempting to get around the no pet restriction. Indeed, an attorney in Florida recently conducted a seminar on how to deal with requests for emotional support animals in which approximately 50 property managers attended. Emotional support dogs are not to be confused with service dogs such as seeing-eye canines, which are defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act, and would clearly be an exception to the no pet rule under the Fair Housing Act. Emotional support dogs may also be protected under the Fair Housing Act, although that needs to be evaluated on a case-by-case basis, and was intended for those individuals experiencing genuine emotional or mental problems. In any event, you should consult with your attorney as to whether or not you have a basis to get a dog.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
