Man charged with murder in wife's shooting death

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

An elderly Westland man has been charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of his wife.

Marvin Jones, 76, is being held without bond after being arraigned in Westland 18th District Court for murder and felony firearm in the death of Sandra Jones, 72.

Westland Police were called Feb. 20 to a home in the 8100 block of Melvin about a woman having been shot.

Jones

When officers arrived, they discovered that Sandra Jones had been shot to death in her bed. Marvin Jones was also in the house. After investigating, officers found that rounds had been fired into the walls and floors throughout the house.

A neighbor called police after seeing Marvin Jones knocking on the door of a nearby house where no one was home. The couple had been married about 57 years.

Marvin Jones was taken into custody at the scene. Several guns were removed from the home as well as other evidence.

Held at the Wayne County Jail, Jones is scheduled for preliminary examination Thursday, March 6, before Judge Mark McConnell.

Roads, sidewalks, Dorsey Center part of planning

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

Roads, sidewalks, water meters and a relocated Dorsey Center — Westland's first strategic planning session covered a lot of topics but still managed to wrap up in the time scheduled.

"I think things went really well. It was a nice kick-off to our strategic series," Westland Mayor William Wild said. "It was well-attended with close to 40 people with the council and some department heads. We kept it short and sweet."

Part of the session was providing status updates on what has been accomplished and presenting some proposals for going forward.

Westland had 211 miles of roads which the city is responsible for maintaining, including seven miles of gravel roads. Under state guidelines for assessing road conditions, 32 miles or 15 percent of city streets are ranked in poor condition, making them candidates for reconstruction.

The largest amount of city streets — 137 miles or 65 percent — are ranked fair, making those streets candidates for major rehabilitation work.

Retired officer writes children's book

By LeAnne Rogers

During his time as a Westland Police officer, Matthew Bobby gave police station tours to a lot of people.

"Everyone loved them — kids and parents — they all loved them," said Bobby, who spent three years working as a school resource officer at Westland John Glenn High School and other local schools.

So Bobby used that experience for his new children's book, Jake's Trip to the Police Station.

"A long time ago, everyone told me I should write a book with all the stories I had with 20 years at the police department," said Bobby, who retired from the department in 2013.

The title character, Jake, is the 10-year-old son of Bobby and his wife April, both lifelong Westland residents. Their daughter Madison, 15, a Westland John Glenn High School student, also makes an appearance in the book.

Bobby's brothers Joe, a Westland Police canine officer, Jeff, a Garden City Police officer, and Mike, who recently retired from the Inkster Police Department, are characters in the book, as are Westland Police retirees Steve Borisch and Mark Engstrom.

Not to be left out, Bobby's horse Taser, trained for police duty, is a character in the book but has the only pseudonym — he's called Cuffs.

Letting kids know

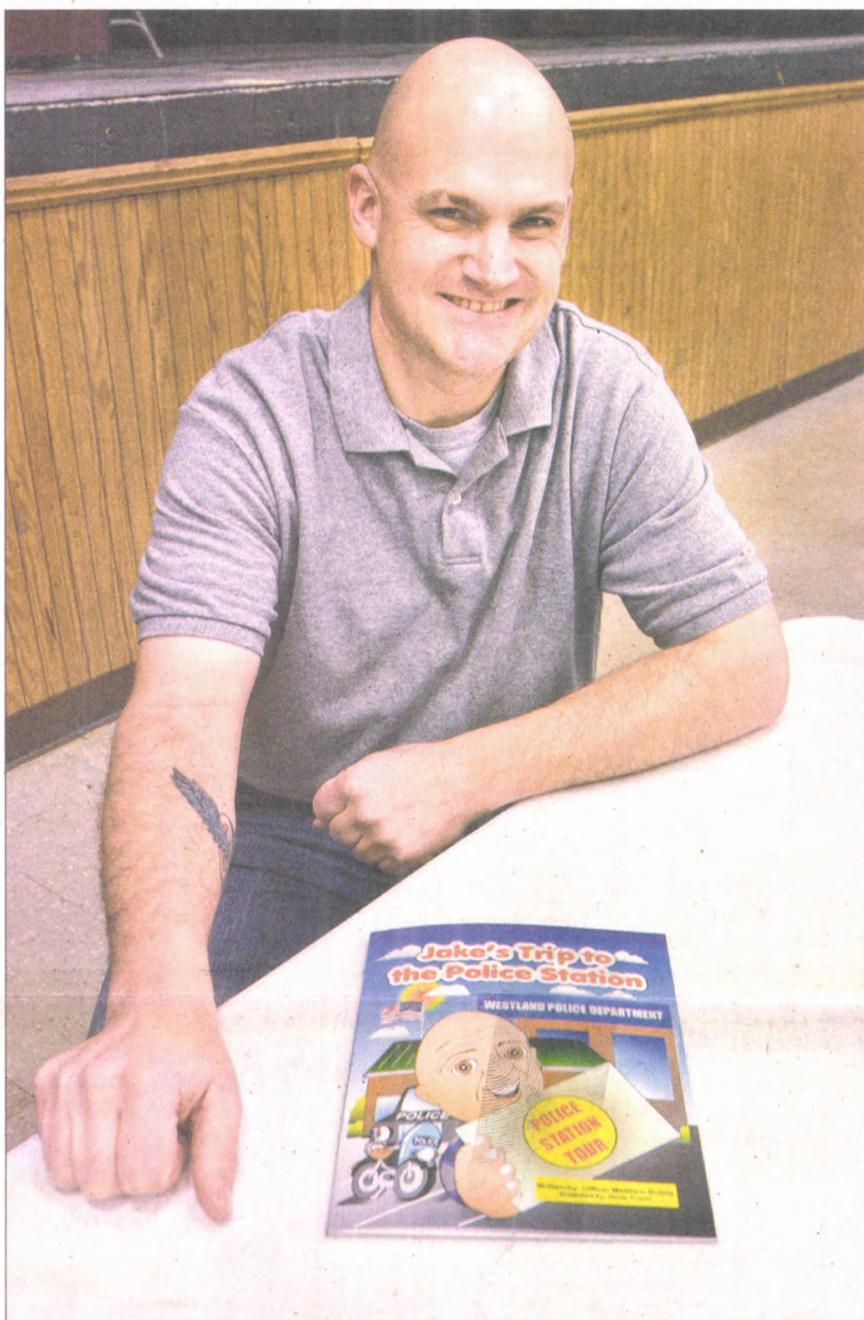

The book is aimed at letting kids know more about what police officers do and also encouraging literacy, Bobby said.

When Bobby was a Westland school resource officer, he said he had a goal of visiting each elementary school class for a safety session.

"I didn't have time to do that. I was busy from the time I came on duty until the time I went home," said Bobby, who handled juvenile investigations and other duties along with time spent at schools. "A lot of schools don't have officers coming through anymore — they don't have the resources."

That prompted Bobby to develop Lawman for Literacy through which he will take his book and a related program on law enforcement into classrooms.

"I talk about crime safety, Internet safety, proper use of 911 and stranger danger," he said. "Once I retired, I thought I have a good idea — they (students) can meet the author which will promote literacy and a positive outlook on police."

The books and related program got a boost thanks to the Wayne-Ford Civic League, which purchased 400 copies of the book for Wayne-Westland schools.

Enthusiastic support

League President Vic Barra was so enthusiastic about the program that he contacted Wayne-Westland Schools Superintendent Greg Baracy and Deputy Superintendent Paul Salah.

"We were invited to meet with all 11 elementary school principals and their staff. It was very well received," said Barra, who was set to deliver copies of the books to the schools last week. "Over the years, I've witnessed the reduction in community funding for police officers to interact with students. This was definitely an opportunity to fill that void."

There are 25 books earmarked for Norwayne youngsters attending a community event at the Dorsey Center on March 29. Bobby will be on hand to talk with the youngsters and autograph their books.

To help promote public safety, Bobby said he plans to write books highlighting firefighters and paramedics.

Jake's Trip to the Police Station is available at cuffspublishing.com.

Council OKs land division for CVS project

By LeAnne Rogers
Staff Writer

A land division that will add property to allow for development of a CVS Pharmacy at Warren Road and Middlebelt has been approved by the Westland City Council.

"This is the last piece of the puzzle," Westland Planning/Building Director Bruce Thompson said.

The 2.52-acre parcel on the northwest corner of the intersection currently has an auto repair facility at the corner, a restaurant along Middlebelt and a credit union along Warren Road. Plans call for demolition of the auto repair business and restaurant to make way for a CVS Pharmacy to be developed.

The credit union will remain but the land division will split off a nearly 15,000-square-foot, L-shaped parcel from the credit union to be added on the east and north of the new development. The existing north and east driveways to the credit union would be split off and added to the CVS property.

"There will be a shared easement agreement between CVS and the credit union," Thompson said.

Each of the remaining parcels would exceed the minimum lot area and width, Thompson added.

» Council also approved division of a 3.38-acre parcel on the east side of Merriman north of Van Born.

The southern part of the parcel has a Speedway gas station while the northern part is being developed with a Family Dollar store. Transfer of .21-acre was sought to correct an error in a previous division and land sale, Thompson said.

Western Wayne leaders talk regional economy

When western Wayne County business and political leaders gathered for the first Western Wayne Business Leadership Banquet last fall, many who attended said they want to maintain the momentum created in promoting the region's attributes.

They'll try to do just that Friday, March 14, when the region's local elected leaders are set to gather for the first Western Wayne Economic Development Workshop at Summit in the Park in Canton. Michigan native Jeffrey Kaczmarek, executive director of the Prince William County Economic Development Department in suburban Washington, D.C., will lead the workshop to advise local elected officials, business leaders and economic development experts on strategies to utilize the I-275 corridor and western Wayne County as an economic engine.

Dan West, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, said Oakland County leaders have "consistently talked up the entire county" when it comes to recruiting new business opportunities. However, West said, "there is more of a provincial voice emerging in western Wayne County" with respective economic development leaders marketing their individual towns.

"Many local business leaders said we could attract more high-profile ventures to western Wayne County when they looked at everything offered by the entire region - low tax rate, close proximity to Metro Airport, central location, convenient freeway and roadways, climbing property values, diverse industries and it is home to a dozen college facilities," West said. "Regardless of where a company locates or expands, our whole area benefits with its employees and visitors shopping, living, dining and recreating in the region."

In the workshop, coordinated by the Conference of Western Wayne and the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Kaczmarek will share his years of economic development expertise gained from his roles at Oakland County, the Michigan Economic Development Corp., suburban Kansas City and now in Prince William County, rated in 2012 as Virginia's fastest-growing county and the nation's third fastest-growing county.

His presentation will take place from 10 a.m. to noon at public meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne Board, a group of the city mayors and township supervisors from 18 western Wayne communities.

Anyone interested in contending can contact West at dwest@livonia.org.

PLANNING

The total price tag for city road projects was estimated at $120 million or $6 million annually over 20 years.

How to pay for these projects would have to be addressed. A voter-approved dedicated road millage may be an option.

Sidewalk repairs

A new sidewalk program aimed at giving people better places to walk and also reduce the city's liability. Over the last six years, the city has paid more than $700,000 in trip and fall claims along with attorney fees.

The city hasn't had an active sidewalk repair program for a decade. It was noted that having an active program would show the city is proactive regarding sidewalks and assist in defending lawsuits. The city would fund handicapped-accessible curb cuts and crosswalks while property owners would be billed for work on their property.

Westland is looking at a citywide water meter replacement program — something that hasn't been done since 1997. Current meters are deteriorating and re-reads of meters are increasing the city's related personnel costs.

In addition, parts for the current meters are no longer available. The city has been looking into a wireless water meter system that would relay readings utilizing cellular telephone towers.

The new meter system is aimed at reducing personnel costs by not needing meter readers, providing more accurate reads and earlier notice of problems, such as leaks.

At a cost of $11 million, the installation of the new meters would be done over two years. Bonds would be sold to fund the project.

A new proposal under discussion is the addition of park rangers at the H2O Zone sprayground in Tattan Park.

"With the new improvements, we would have part-time park rangers to keep it clean and handle pavilion rentals," said Wild, adding there may be an admission charge to the H2O Zone for the first time. "We need to start the conversation now so we would be ready for spring. The same with the sidewalks."

Change in facilities

The current year will see a lot of changes in city facilities. City Hall will be relocating to the renovated former Circuit City building. A new fire station 1 is slated to be open on Central Parkway; a new Farmers Market Pavilion is to be opened in Tattan Park; and the Dorsey Center is likely to move to larger quarters in the former Jefferson Barnes elementary school.

Along with Westland Community Development Department, Wild said the city has gotten some early interest from non-profit groups and agencies to utilize space at an expanded Dorsey Center. That could include the Nankin Transit Authority, Wayne Metropolitan Community Action Agency and Star-fish Family Services. The city is seeking a $572,360 federal Housing and Urban Development Section 108 loan for the project. It's the same funding source used to build the fire station on Annapolis and an addition to the Friendship Center.

"If the HUD loan is approved, we'll take it back to the (Wayne-Westland) board of education to approve a lease," Wild said. "We want to get our ducks in a row first."

The next strategic planning session will be 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday in the city council chambers. The first half of the session will be on unfunded retirement and health care costs.

The second half of the session will focus on the city's sanitation contracts — trash collection and recycling — which expire this year.

"We are using all of the refuse millage. This is the first year we have had to supplement that with general fund dollars," Wild said. "We have to discuss how to move forward."

Advance practice nurses lobby for new state law

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

Members of the Metro Detroit Chapter of the Michigan Council of Nurse Practitioners delivered a message to local lawmakers Friday evening: Pass Senate Bill 2.

The chapter hosted a Meet and Greet Legislative Networking event at the Joy Manor in Westland to garner support for bill, which, if passed, will allow nurse practitioners in the State of Michigan to practice to the full extent of their education, training and experience.

"We're trying to meet with representatives in their districts to let them know what it's about and how it will affect people in their districts," said Nancy George, MICNP president and an associate professor in the College of Nursing at Wayne State University. "One of the things this bill does is differentiate between a registered nurse and an advanced practice registered nurse."

Attending the meeting were seven state representatives: Robert Kosowski, D-Westland; David Knezek, D-Dearborn Heights; Phil Cavanagh, D-Redford; Douglas Geiss, D-Taylor; Dian Slavens, D-Canton; Rudy Hobbs, D-Southfield; and Klint Kesto, R-Commerce Township.

The bill was introduced by State Sen. Mark Jansen, R-Grand Rapids, last year. SB 2 has already passed in the Senate and is before the House's Health Policy Committee. According to George, the bill, if approved, would provide APRNs increased access to patient-centered health care for Michigan residents.

Scope of practice

According to George, in Michigan, APRNs practice under the RN scope of practice. There is nothing in statute that defines the scope of practice for APRNs, which interferes with patient access to quality and affordable healthcare services.

Nurse practitioners and certified nurse midwives provide primary care throughout the healthcare delivery system and play a critical role in the health professional team. Clinical nurse specialists provide patient care and expert advice in one of several nursing practice specialties related to setting, population, type of care or disease. They engage in health promotion activities to reduce risky behaviors through evidence-based nursing interventions.

SB 2 would bring Public Health Code into alignment with national education and practice standards for three roles of APRN practice. It would:

» Amend Michigan's Public Health Code to create a licensing process for APRNs under the Board of Nursing (BON) and defines the scope of practice for APRNs who are licensed as certified nurse midwives, certified nurse practitioners or clinical nurse specialists-certified.

» Define a limited scope of practice for the three APRN rolls and require that he or she is permitted to practice only within the parameters of their education, training and national certification.

» Allow for full prescriptive authority only within the parameters of their education, training and national certification only if certain conditions are met, including, but not limited to completion of necessary graduate didactic and clinical courses, the possession of a specialty prescriptive certification and controlled substance licenses, and completion of a mentorship agreement with a prescribing provider, if the APRN meets the other two conditions but has been practicing for less than two years.

» Create an APRN Task Force to serve as an advisory body to the Board of Nursing on disciplinary action.

» Require consultation with other health professionals and referral, if the patient's care is outside of the parameters of his or her education, training and national certification.

» Require APRNs to be part of the Michigan Automated Prescription System.

Areas of greatest need

"Currently, APRNs can write prescriptions with the delegation of a physician," George said. "They're tied to where the physicians are, and the areas with the greatest need for medical care aren't where physicians are."

According to brochures being circulated by MICNP, more than 6,500 APRNs provided healthcare to Michigan's citizens in 2010. Implementing the regulatory changes in SB 2 would also increase access to quality health care by increasing the number of APRN providers in Michigan and end practice restrictions interfere with patient access to quality and affordable healthcare services.

MICNP is asking its members to "establish a relationship" with their state representatives and become more involved in pressing for passage of SB 2. The bill is in the second year of a two-year cycle. If it isn't approved this year, it would have to be reintroduced, George said.

"This would have an impact on healthcare in general," George said. "A lot of nurse practitioners take care of the underinsured and the uninsured. This bill would go a long way in taking care of those people."

WESTLAND COP CALLS

Larceny

A resident of the Warris Farms Apartments, 36835 McKinney, told police Feb. 21 that while he was moving out of his apartment someone had stolen two Comcast cable boxes and two DVD players. He said the door had been left unlocked.

Larceny from a vehicle

Overnight Feb. 18, a large screen stereo and a cell phone were reported stolen from an unlocked vehicle parked at the Woodcrest Apartments, 8246 Woodcrest. The stolen items were valued at $600.

The officer noted the driver's door was open and the top hinge appeared to be broken, with pry marks above the door handle.

Larceny

A Troy woman told police Feb. 18 that she was taking her father home from Four Chaplains Nursing Home, 28349 Joy, when she discovered his false teeth and reading glasses were missing. She said he left the dentures in his nightstand drawer and glasses on a table when not in use.

The woman said her father last recalled wearing the dentures at Christmas and doesn't remember when he last saw the glasses. The missing items were valued at $10,500.

Larceny

On Feb. 18, a Westland woman told police that she was trying on shoes at the DEB store, 35685 Warren Road, and left her wallet sitting on the bench. She went across the room and returned to find the wallet, containing $200 was missing.

Vandalism

A Westland man told police Feb. 19 that he was driving eastbound on Glen and stopped at the intersection with Merriman when someone shot his 2005 Dodge Dakota with a BB gun. He said he heard the first two shots hit the rear door while the third shot shattered the window.

Vandalism

On Feb. 22, a resident in the 6300 block of North Farmington Road told police he found a plastic sign pulled off his garage and broken, along with the exterior glass pane on a door wall being shattered.

The resident said he didn't believe the damage was weather-related.

Break-in

Police were called to a home in the 800 block of Forest on Feb. 21 after a break-in was reported. The owner told police that her granddaughter, the granddaughter's boyfriend and their 2-month-old baby live with her.

The baby had to be hospitalized and the parents stayed overnight at the hospital, she told police. Instead of staying home alone, the homeowner said she spent the night with a relative.

The homeowner said she had received a call from the boyfriend who discovered the break-in but couldn't wait for police due to needing to be at work.

A kitchen window was found partially open and the outside glass of a double pane window in a door was shattered.

Reported missing were two flat screen televisions, two DVD players, two gaming systems, a gold necklace, two gold and diamond rings and a jewelry box with unknown jewelry inside.

Traffic obstruction

Police were called to North Newburgh and North Woodbridge Circle on Feb. 20 about an abandoned vehicle without headlights blocking traffic on Newburgh. The officers found the vehicle empty without fresh damage.

The 2004 Pontiac Grand Prix was registered to a Canton man. It was impounded and towed.

Break in

A resident of an apartment at the Newberry Square Apartments, 35241 W. Michigan Ave., told police Feb. 18 that $100 in cash was missing from the kitchen table in her apartment. She said the money was on the table when she left for work at 6:30 a.m. and gone when she came back at 5:30 p.m.

The woman said the apartment was locked and only she and her child have keys.

Stolen vehicle

An Ypsilanti man working at the Ford Motor Company Assembly Plant, 38303 Michigan Ave., told police Feb. 17 that someone had stolen his 1998 Dodge Ram pick-up truck while he was working.

The man said he and his wife both work at the plant and had driven to work together. The woman told police she began getting text message alerts and calls regarding improper charges on her credit cards.

Having left her purse in the truck, the woman went to check and found the truck was missing. The man said the truck, which has a snow plow on the front, had been locked and was paid off. It was valued at $15,000.

Controlled substance

Police were called to Oakwood Annapolis Hospital, 33155 Annapolis, early Feb. 22 after an unknown powdery substance was found under a patient's bed.

A nurse noticed the substance and contacted hospital security. The security officer turned over a small baggy containing white powder that was inside a larger plastic bag. The patient, a Garden City man, denied knowledge of the substance and told police he didn't bring any contraband into the hospital.

The powder tested negative for opiates, cocaine and methamphetamine.

GARDEN CITY COP CALLS

Shoplifting

A Walgreens shopper helped Garden City police track down a 24-year-old Lincoln Park resident who ran from the store at 31415 Ford about 6:30 p.m. Feb. 20 after she allegedly stole several items.

The assistant store manager became suspicious when a woman was in the dog food aisle. The suspect allegedly packed three Walgreens Air Wick candles into her coat.

The assistant manager reportedly stopped the woman at the front door when she observed several "bulges" in her coat and asked the woman to remove the items from her coat.

"I've got nothing," she reportedly said and pushed the assistant manager out of the way as she fled on foot.

A shopper and witness followed the thief until they both arrived in an area in the 31000 block of Krauter, where the suspect reportedly proceeded to hand the customer several items that she allegedly stole.

In the meantime, police acting on a description of the suspect, contacted an apartment dweller on Krauter. The resident said a woman who matched that description had been there but wasn't there now. He said that he didn't know where she went.

When the police entered his apartment, the woman who they were looking for was standing in the living room.

"I gave everything back," she reportedly said to the officer.

The suspect was arrested for retail fraud and assault and battery and was transported to the police station where she was given a preliminary breath test which measured .08, meaning she was legally drunk, police said. She admitted to drinking beer, police said.

She was also advised that she will be considered a trespasser if she enters another Walgreens store again.

Break-in

Garden City police are investigating an alleged break-in about 11 a.m. Feb. 22 at the Laughing Panda Restaurant at 465 N. Inkster Road.

An employee told the investigating officer that someone entered the restaurant through the ventilation system. Reported stolen were the cash register and some cash.

The officer was attempting to find out more details about how the roof was accessed.

Theft

Garden City police were unable to locate a shoplifting suspect who fled the 7-Eleven store at 29331 Warren about 8 p.m. Feb. 22.

A store employee observed a man place two large beer cans in his coat and leave. The employee said she could recognize the man if she saw him again.

Suspended license

Garden City police arrested a 24-year-old Dearborn woman in the Hennepin-Merriman area after the officer reportedly learned that she was driving with a suspended license.

He stopped her for failing to signal a turn.

When checking her background, the officer reportedly found she had an outstanding warrant with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office. She also had no proof of insurance, police said.

Obama touts Canton for manufacturing hub

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

President Barack Obama singled out Canton on Tuesday afternoon as one of four manufacturing and research hubs he said can lead to good-paying jobs and "put America at the forefront of 21st century manufacturing."

Obama formally introduced Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy, among those who traveled to Washington, D.C., to attend an unveiling of Obama's vision to forge manufacturing ties between the public and private sectors.

Obama touted four manufacturing hubs — Canton, Chicago, Raleigh, N.C., and Youngstown, Ohio — as critical to giving the United States a competitive edge against countries such as Germany. He said the latest initiatives can strengthen this country's middle class.

Project leaders have said Canton was chosen for a $148-million manufacturing research institute for lightweight metals that involves a consortium of more than 50 companies, universities and nonprofits across the nation. It will be led by the University of Michigan, Ohio-based manufacturing technology nonprofit EWI and Ohio State University.

Obama said the initiatives he announced Tuesday can help rebuild the nation's middle class and return America to a stronger manufacturing base, much like decades past when "the work was hard but the jobs were good." Already, he said 625,000 jobs have been created over the last four years, leading to what he called "the first sustained manufacturing growth in over 20 years."

'Manufacturing revolution'

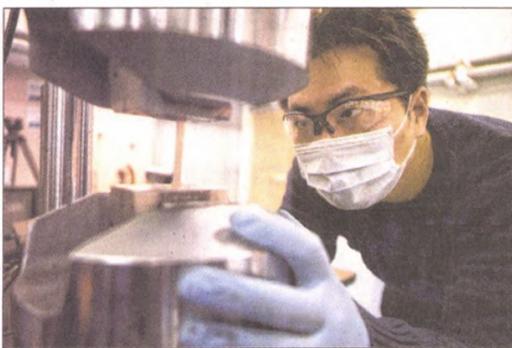

Obama said the new hubs "have the potential to change the way we build things in America" and can "lead to a manufacturing revolution."

Local officials have said Canton seems a logical place for a $148-million manufacturing research institute due to its proximity to Detroit Metro Airport, the I-275 corridor and the University of Michigan. A precise location hasn't been named.

"It's a tremendous opportunity," LaJoy said. "We're just down the road from the University of Michigan. We're close to the hub of manufacturing for the nation, really, with Detroit. This is great for Canton. It's great for the whole area."

Canton was thrust into the national spotlight over the weekend — much to the surprise of township leaders — after the White House and U-M announced the community was chosen for a high-tech institute expected to bring 10,000 jobs to the Midwest.

Canton's choice for the American Lightweight Materials Manufacturing Innovation Institute comes after a Canton marketing plan, unveiled last fall by OHM Advisors, cited Canton as suitable to become a research and develop-

University of Michigan student Jeong-Seop Yoon tests the tensile strength of a piece of aluminum alloy in the S.M. Wu Manufacturing Research Center. U-M President Mary Sue Coleman said in a statement the initiative could help the region build "on its core strengths to become the nation's technology hub for lightweight materials and manufacturing." UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

ment hub for manufacturing and other purposes. The study even hinted at U-M support facilities.

Local officials aren't sure how much tax revenue the facility might mean for Canton, still a growing community with more than 90,100 people.

'Extremely excited'

"We're still waiting to get more information," LaJoy said. "We're extremely excited and we were a little surprised about this opportunity. It's about getting people working."

Project leaders have indicated the institute could open in spring.

"It's a great opportunity for Canton and it proves that Canton is a friendly workplace and environment," township board Trustee John Anthony said. "We have the personnel to handle these types of operations. Canton is looking forward to getting this project off the ground. It's an oppor-portunity for Canton that is well-deserved. We are very pleased."

The federal government is set to invest $70 million over five years with an additional $78 million coming from consortium partners.

Thousands of jobs

The institute is expected to create 10,000 jobs over five years. Its main office will be in Canton with support in Columbus, Ohio.

U-M announced the institute is designed to establish an ecosystem to support the production of advanced lightweight metals. It will enable research and development projects, as well as education and training programs to prepare the workforce. U-M has said the project is expected to have both national and regional impact.

"Through this initiative, our region will build on its core strengths to become the nation's technology hub for lightweight materials and manufacturing," U-M President Mary Sue Coleman said in a statement. "Companies from around the country will come here not only because of our technological capabilities, but also because we have the workforce they need in their efforts to revitalize and transform domestic manufacturing."

U-M said the institute is intended to move cutting-edge lightweight metals out of the research lab and into future cars, trucks, airplanes and ships — both for the commercial and military sectors.

On its website, U-M said the institute's efforts will encompass the entire transportation supply chain, nurturing innovations from conception through design, development and production. It will contract more than $100 million in research and development projects with partner organizations, the university said.

The institute also is expected to educate the next generation of manufacturing operators and engineers by establishing science, technology and engineering curricula for programs in grade school to graduate school.

Most of the 10,000 jobs are expected in the metal stamping, metalworking, machining and casting industries that are dominant in the Midwest. The aim is to add 100 more metal-related engineering professionals each year and 1,000 more skilled trade workers. Within three years, U-M said, the project should offer advanced training to an additional 1,000 current employees per year.

LaJoy and other local leaders said they are eager to learn more about the institute and its impact on Canton. The latest initiative comes as Canton already has embarked on a marketing plan to try to lure new companies.

Carving a niche

Wood workers make time for fun, friends

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Ron Nikolits' eyes moved from the photo of a church in the woods, a country scene, to the wood carving in his hands. The Plymouth Township resident, 77, said, "I've got a lot of wood to take off yet."

He's been working on the church scene for some time at the Plymouth Woodcarvers, an informal group that meets from 9 a.m. to noon each Monday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Newcomers of all ages are welcome at the weekly sessions.

"We kind of do it on a casual basis. Everybody's working on their own project," Nikolits said, setting aside his project for a chat. He's been a wood carver since 2000, after retiring as a Ford Motor Co. engineer.

"Most of the people we have here are retired," Nikolits said. "Just before Christmas, you'll start doing Christmas ornaments and Santas." They also do Easter-related wood carvings.

Participants pay $1.50 for each drop-in session, which goes to the Cultural Center for the room, cleaning and coffee. "So we get our money's worth," Nikolits said. "It's a good deal. Part of my enjoyment is I've got something to do. I enjoy the camaraderie. We teach each other. We help each other."

Instructor was key

On the wall is a plaque with a photo of the group's late instructor, George Hanosh, who died at 79. It reads, "Wood Carver - Teacher - Friend / Enjoyed Helping Others."

On a recent Monday, Jerry Valentine, 76, of Livonia was working on a Kachina doll. Valentine is retired as an engineer from Pilot Industries in Dexter and has been a wood carver about 20 years.

"I did some stuff when I was a kid, doing model work," he said. The figurine coming to life in his hands is "carving in the round" and he'd progressed well in two weeks.

"To keep busy," Valentine said, noting he's also an artist in oils and acrylics. "I've done watercolor in the past," said Valentine, who also plays the recorder.

Valentine's wife is happy with his projects. "Oh, she loves it. I sometimes think that's why she married me, because of my artwork," he said. "She's waiting for a painting I'm finishing right now."

That's of The Last Supper, a biblical scene Valentine has also carved twice, one taking some 100 hours and the other 160. The Kachina doll he was recently working on will have feathers and a head dress when done.

"I've got a lot of detail work to do on it," he said.

Bob Goodwin, 66, of Plymouth is a new retiree who worked for Ford Motor in finance and human resources. He saw a notice in the parks and recreation brochure and dropped in for the first time Feb. 3.

"I had been involved in wood carving years ago," said Goodwin, who put in 35 years at Ford, as well as military service. "A thing called work got in the way."

Goodwin wore gloves and guards on his hands as he relearned. "These are like training wheels on a bicycle," he said with a smile.

The group is mostly male, with Nikolits noting some women have dropped out when arthritis makes the work too difficult. Carol Dodt, 78, of Westland was representing the women.

"My husband," she said of Bill getting her involved. "He carves. I used to go with him and work on a piece." She's been doing it in earnest about two years and wood burning before that.

Carol Dodt's a homemaker who worked as a medical office assistant as well. "I have made spoons with rope-like handles," she said. "I did a relief carving. That was quite a challenge."

The relief carving had a cabin, trees and fence. "I really enjoyed that," she said. "That was fun to work on. My husband shows me what to do."

Bill Dodt's been carving some 25-30 years and his wife has no problem with sessions with the men. "They help you if you ask them," she said.

"I don't really have that much. Some I give away," she said of her projects. "Some I've got in a box. It gives you a reason to get up and get going in the morning."

'Help each other'

Nikolits said, "We kept the club going" after Hanosh died. "We work as a cooperative. We all help each other. Just general interest in wood working. I find it relaxing and challenging at the same time."

He doesn't have power tools. "Basically all of us do everything by hand. You always have more tools than you need. I find it keeps my fingers limber."

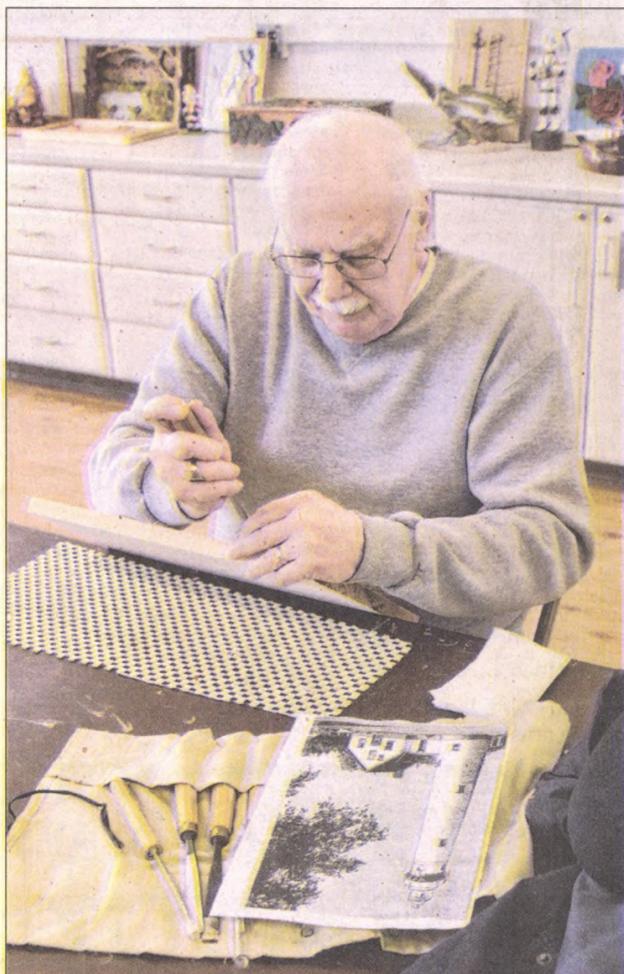

The carvers sometimes travel to learn from experts in seminars. "We like to take beginners and help them get started," Nikolits said of the Cultural Center sessions.

He estimated a start-up cost of $50 and said there are lots of catalogs for ordering tools online. "It's not inexpensive, but it's not overly expensive either," he said.

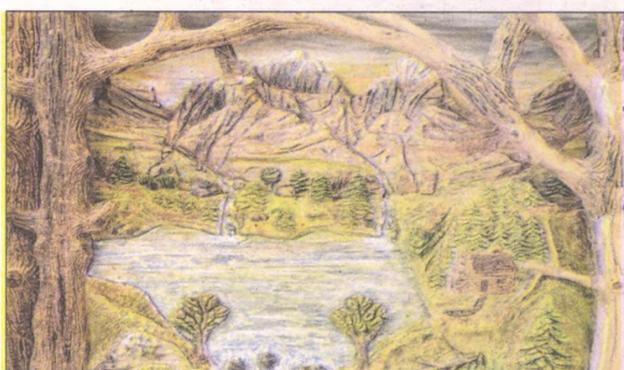

Carvers find bass the most universal wood and least expensive, he said, adding wood adds to the project cost. Some use walnut; pine doesn't work well.

Carol Dodt summed it up aptly: "There are a lot of nice people. That's why I come."

Growth Works lauds those who overcome, give back

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Some might give up on Growth Works clients, but others know better. With help, those clients can become contributors to society.

Growth Works, a nonprofit youth services agency in western Wayne County, recognized volunteers, community members and young people for their efforts over the past year.

Program Recognition awards went to Logan Grissom of Livonia, Dennis Ross of Dearborn Heights and one other, Darick Molisee of Westland, for their achievements and outstanding efforts over the past year.

One honoree is from the new adult outpatient program started in 2013, said Dale Yagiela, Growth Works executive director. "We're really excited about that," Yagiela said. "It's been well-received."

The other two Program Recognition honorees are in community-based services.

Since 1970, the agency's focus has remained services for at-risk youth, helping to change immediate behavior while promoting long-term commitment to responsible choices and building stronger families. Programs include Aftercare & Residential Treatment, Community Intervention & Treatment and the Western Wayne Care Management Organization.

Substance abuse and crime

Yagiela, at Growth Works since 1971, said crime is often associated with drug and alcohol use. He's concerned policy makers don't understand the importance of dealing with substance abuse as it relates to crime.

"We talk a lot about prevention. It's really about early intervention," he said.

At Growth Works, he and colleagues see people in their early 20s who've gone off to college and continued with substance abuse, which wasn't dealt with in their teens. "We have, I think, a real social tolerance to this, too," he said.

Yagiela is concerned about casual attitudes toward marijuana use. "Marijuana is not a gateway drug," he said, although some heroin users have also used marijuana. "It's a problem in and of itself."

Marijuana use leads to degradation of cognitive abilities, he said. "If I talked about medical alcohol, people would think I was crazy," Yagiela said.

He's concerned about a bill in the state Legislature to legalize marijuana edibles and about some parents' casual attitudes related to their own younger years. "I'm concerned that we just can't seem to get this figured out," Yagiela said.

"These kinds of things aren't just youthful adventures," he added. Substance abuse has social costs, he said, and often makes the juvenile justice system and criminal justice system the place substance abusers end up.

He's appreciative of community support for Growth Works, centered in Plymouth-Canton, but also throughout western Wayne. "The community has been very supportive," Yagiela said.

Volunteers David Sculati of Farmington Hills, Bill Ventola of Plymouth and Ann O'Flaherty of Plymouth were recognized for milestone years, 10, 10 and 25, respectively, on the Board of Directors and bringing their expertise to the agency. Northville resident Brian Morrow, deputy chief of the Juvenile Division of Wayne County Prosecutor's office, has been instrumental assisting with Growth Works' CMO clients and the Teen Court program.

Morrow and Alan Kelley of Grosse Pointe Woods, a therapist with Orchards Children's Services who facilitates the Intensive Family Management Program, both received community awards for their efforts aimed at improving the lives of young people.

"He's been very helpful to my staff," Yagiela said of prosecutor Morrow. Yagiela also praised the Conference of Western Wayne.

Kelley took a program and modified it for Growth Works to help parents manage their children better, with staff in the home part time to help resolve conflict and address parenting. "Alan's been really very good at this and has been warmly received by the families he's worked with," Yagiela said.

Awards were presented Thursday, Feb. 20, at Growth Works' 25th annual Recognition & Awards Dinner at the Fox Hills Golf and Banquet Center of Plymouth.

'Hard work'

Yagiela said many other recognition banquets involve a public figure such as an athlete. For Growth Works, the focus is on recognizing those who've overcome obstacles and those who helped them get there.

"This is what all the hard work produced," he said. "People get better, they make progress." There aren't a lot of thanks in such work, Yagiela noted, so the annual dinner is important.

Growth Works is expanding into Washtenaw and Livingston counties, with a drug court in Livingston and Washtenaw for adolescents. There will also be a small residential program in Washtenaw, as well as an intensive outpatient program in Livingston.

The young people at Growth Works aren't often seen as assets, he said. He's proud of those former clients who now serve on his Board of Directors.

Yagiela just had a call from a western Michigan prosecutor's office for a former client applying as an assistant prosecutor. He's also proud of a physician in Texas, a former client, and of those who are now teachers, lawyers, financial planners and other community contributors who were Growth Works clients.

"When you begin looking at the results of this, it's really rewarding," Yagiela said.

New AT&T service provides security, convenience

By Philip Allmen
Staff Writer

Chuck Dierkes sleeps a bit more soundly nowadays. He attributes that to the new security system he had installed at his Milford home.

"I was more comfortable sleeping at night knowing we have something to wake us up," he said.

Dierkes and his wife, Karen, have also made their lives a bit more convenient, thanks to signing up for AT&T's Digital Life service. If you've seen the television commercial, you'll have a general idea of how it works. In the advertising spot, two children meet their parents at a cabin and mention they stopped by the house. The dad checks his cell phone, and with the touch of a button, turns off the water, television and lights, as well as locking the door.

The Dierkeses were among the first subscribers to the Digital Life service when AT&T introduced it to the Detroit market last summer. It's now available in the five-county region around Detroit — Oakland, Wayne, Livingston, Macomb and Washtenaw counties. The service is available to anyone with at least 3G wireless data coverage, said Melisa Bahoora, area regional sales manager.

Different options

The Dierkeses' setup includes most of the options available through AT&T Digital Life, including home security, an automatic exterior door lock, automatic garage door opener, video cameras and light and temperature controls. All can be accessed on a mobile device or desktop computer.

Other automated tasks can include everything from window blinds to water main shutoff to a fresh brew in the morning.

"My personal favorite thing is the personal coffee maker," Bahoora said. "It's set to start at one time every day before work, and later on the weekend."

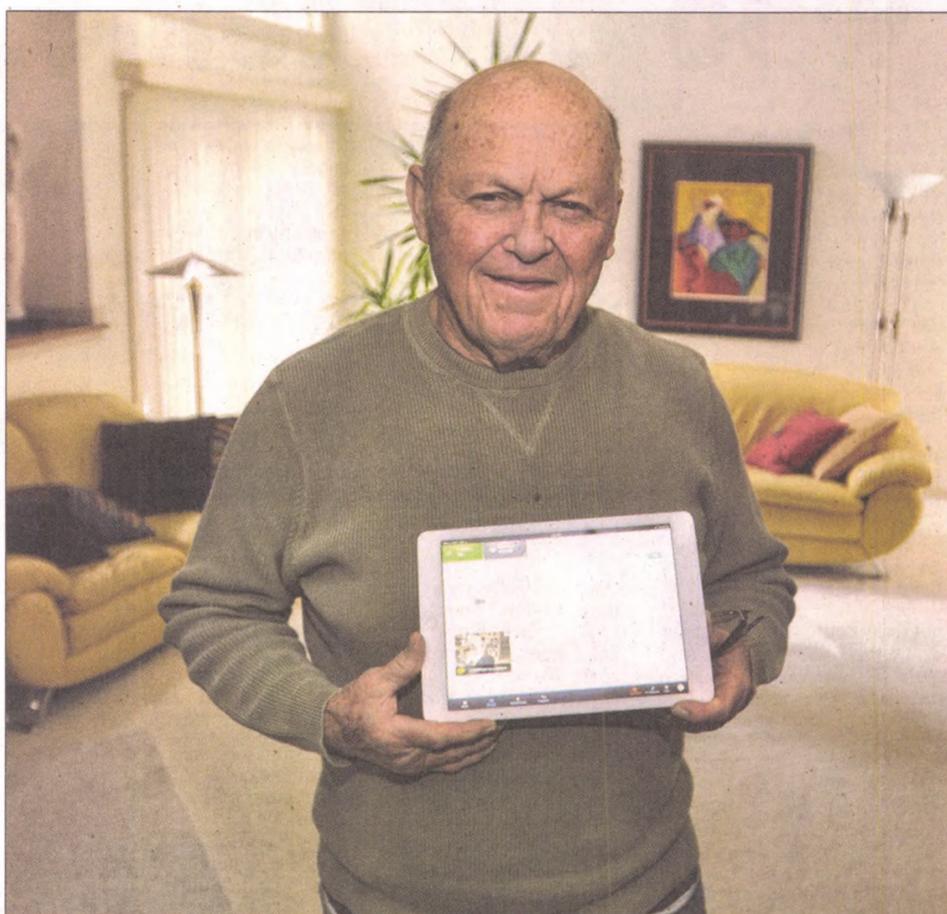

Bahoora said the new service is like "a remote control to your life. It's like the Jetsons-type stuff."

The security system has been the most popular since introducing the program, said Chris Dierkes, an AT&T store manager in Farmington Hills and son of the Milford couple.

"Most people who come in to the store are curious about the program after seeing the commercial," he said. The security system itself, along with the video cameras, are the most popular option. Everything available in the service, he added, can be ordered a la carte, so customers only pay for what they want.

Lighting and appliance controls are hardwired into the electrical system, and installation typically takes about a half of a day.

Chuck Dierkes said he regularly uses all the features he has, particularly the garage door and lighting features, particularly when it's dark out. The controls are programmable, so he can

Systems can make us more efficient

Clarity Patton Newhouse

A SUNNY NOTE

The value of systems has been front of mind lately, so I revisited a landmark book on the subject by business guru Michael E. Gerber, The E-Myth. His advice doesn't just apply to start-ups.

From large businesses to small nonprofits to corporations, it helps to: Think like a franchise. Whether running a business, managing a department or collaborating with others, systems make us more efficient, reduce mistakes and facilitate time for creative thinking. Instead of reinventing the wheel with every project, save time by spending time to systematize.

Got processes? Document them — and have a sunny day!

County exec Ficano details deficit elimination ideas, including wastewater plant plans

By David Veselenak
Staff Writer

Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano said Tuesday that creating a regional authority for the area's water supply is a crucial step for the county, especially with some of the water assets being involved in Detroit's bankruptcy case.

"We don't have this kind of time. The judge has a schedule," he said. "They're going to move quickly as to what happens."

Ficano and other county leaders spoke Tuesday in downtown Detroit regarding his State of the County address, his proposed deficit elimination plan and other topics.

The proposed deficit elimination plan for the county, which faces a $175 million deficit, calls for several moves, including the potential sale of the wastewater treatment plant to a new authority that does not yet exist and has some suburban leaders not yet committing until they see more details.

Ficano said it is his hope such an authority could be created to manage the area's water supply and the facilities in Wayne County. That authority, Ficano said, would have more local representation and control than if it were to be transferred to a private company in the city's bankruptcy case.

"If a private entity gets it, or if it somehow stays with the city of Detroit, the rate payers aren't going to get out of this monopoly," he said. "My contention is it's better that we form an authority and, at that point, we know there's got to be improvements, but the improvements are going to go through an authority where the representatives from Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and Detroit and, in this case, the projection was the state of Michigan, sit on the board and try to make these determinations."

Mark Abbo, the county's chief financial officer,

Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano said a regional water authority is preferable to having the area's water supply and the facilities transferred to a private company in Detroit's bankruptcy case.

cer, said that sale price of the facilities listed in the deficit elimination plan, $121.4 million, could change, but the estimate is a conservative figure and would expect to increase rather than decrease.

That figure was used in the deficit elimination plan as a starting point and could change if the county begins talking about creating the authority with surrounding communities, Abbo said.

"If you look at the formula we're using, that $121.4 million is really just a number to arrive at a zero fund balance as of Sept. 30, 2015," he said. "So it's more or less a placeholder, though we've done evaluations that we could arrive at at least that amount for the facilities."

Ficano's proposed deficit elimination plan calls for a decrease in multipliers in the county's pension program from 2.5 percent to 1.5 percent, which could save almost $2.6 million to the county's general fund; reducing the number of circuit court judges; and a proposed 5-percent wage cut to county employees, which would need to be approved by several of the county's bargaining units.

The plan would need to have approval from the Wayne County Commission and then the state of Michigan before it takes effect.

Wayne County Jail

The issue of the botched jail project next to the courthouse downtown is also a point of contention for the county. A current proposal is to move the jail to the former Mound Road prison in Detroit and have it converted into the county jail.

Ficano said the plan is to move the justice facility - including the jail and courtrooms, if possible - to the site, though the county is looking first at securing a new jail site.

"Our financial nut is one with the jail and that's what we're focusing on," he said. Work on that jail has been halted since it was determined the project was $100 million over budget.

With the move could come other redevelopment that could increase revenue for the county via taxes, Ficano said.

"If you move it to Mound, you'll actually be injecting into the neighborhood," he said. "Suddenly, you have to have restaurants, gas stations, all that kind of stuff that goes together with it. And those are revenue-generating tax-wise, as well."

Drive smart to handle potholes and protect work crews

You know the roads are getting pretty bad when a top news story last Friday was about the 20-plus vehicles that blew out tires and damaged rims hitting a pothole on I-96 at Merriman Road in Livonia.

Our wish for warmer weather has brought on a nightmare we don't normally deal with in February — potholes. We've gone from slipping and sliding on snow-covered streets and freeways to bouncing and dodging the cavernous pits that have opened up on paved and dirt roads. They've turned commutes into bone-jarring, teeth-rattling rides and, in some cases, costly repair bills.

Considering the winter we are having, it should come as no surprise that our roads resemble the surface of the moon. The sudden manifestation has come early this year and predictions are it will only get worse.

Potholes happen when snow and ice melt as part of the seasonal freeze-thaw cycle. Cracks let water get below the pavement, which freezes and forces the pavement to rise. As temperatures rise above freezing, a hole develops below the surface and the pavement breaks, forming a pothole.

There's no escaping potholes. Certainly, they can be cleaned out and filled in with a hot or cold patch but, as the name indicates, it's only a patch. Those repairs don't last and are also affected by the freeze-thaw cycle.

The best way of dealing with potholes is to avoid them, but sometimes that's not possible. The only option is to try to minimize the possibility for damage when you strike one.

Michigan motorists in key urban areas pay between $305 and $536 annually in unnecessary vehicle repairs due to poor roads, according to a January 2014 report by TRIP, a national transportation research group. According to TRIP, bad roads cost Michigan drivers $2.3 billion per year in unnecessary vehicle repairs. If you also factor in additional costs related to congestion and safety, that figure rises to $7.7 billion per year.

The Weather Channel has some tips about dealing with potholes:

» Don't try to "fly" over a pothole by going fast. Most are big enough to do damage even if you're traveling at highway speeds. In fact, the faster your speed, the greater damage the pothole can do.

» Don't tailgate. You have a better chance of dodging the pothole the driver in front of you hit by not riding on his or her bumper.

» Don't brake when hitting a pothole. It's one of the worst things you can do. You want to have the most possible suspension travel over the front wheels when you hit the pothole. That means letting off the brakes the moment before you hit and allowing the car to absorb the blow.

» Be wary of puddles. It may look like water to you, but under that murkiness can be a massive pothole, sometimes large enough to do severe damage to the car.

So how serious are this year's potholes? Last week, Jordan Avgousti @JGoose23 tweeted: "Gonna make an app called Dodge the Potholes. Difficulty levels will be easy, medium, hard, expert and Michigan."

And the Michigan Infrastructure and Transportation Association is again holding its Pothole Pocketbook Contest at justfixtheroads.com/contest. Winners will be announced each week during March and the prizes are up to $500 toward vehicle repair costs.

The contest is open to all Michigan-licensed drivers, age 18 or older, who have endured vehicle repairs caused by bad roads since January 2014. To enter, drivers must submit a photo or scan of their itemized repair bill at justfixtheroads.com/contest, along with the contact information of their mechanic or body shop to verify the repair. Drivers must also submit photos of their vehicle's damage and (if possible) the specific pothole(s) they hit.

MITA is a leading advocate for increased infrastructure funding in Michigan to save lives and money. According to Lance Binoniemi, MITA vice president of government affairs, the state's extreme weather may be breaking up roads and bridges, but so is a continued decline in adequate funding.

"This contest will help to make things easier for a few lucky motorists, but the only real way to reduce the high cost of bad roads for everyone is for the Legislature to invest in our roads and bridges now to save lives and money," he said.

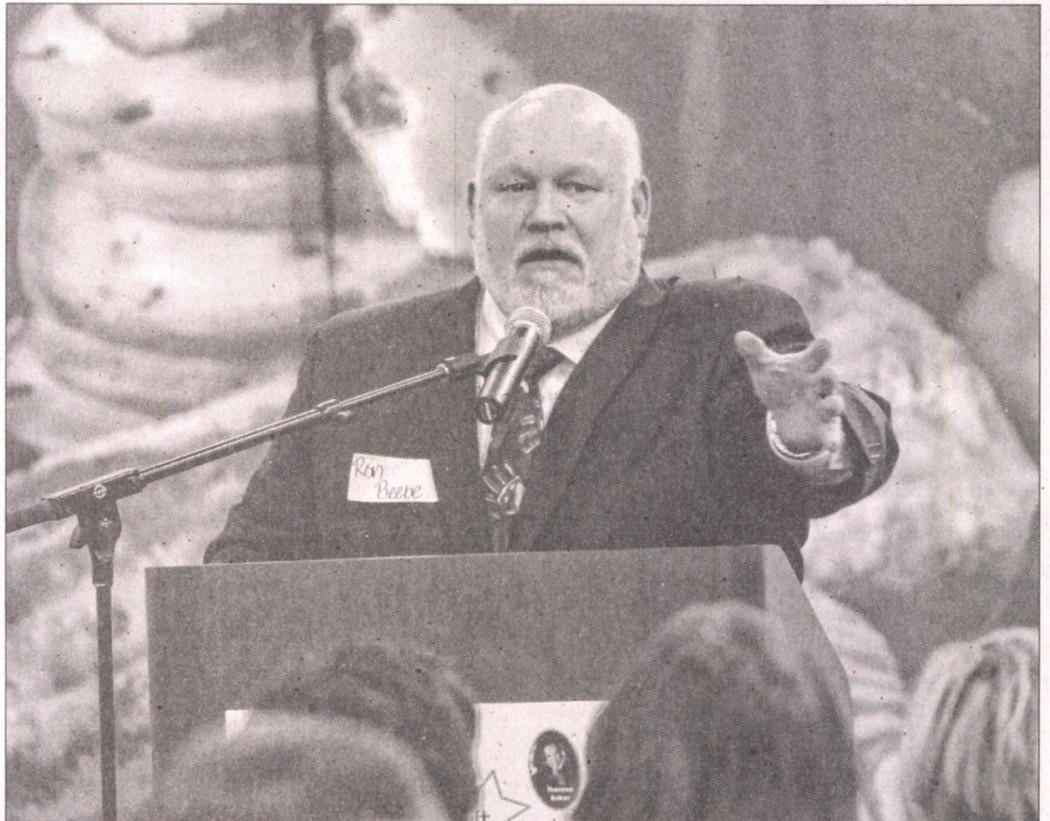

And while you're watching out for potholes, also keep an eye open for work crews who are out there doing the patching. Give them plenty of leeway and slow down. Certainly it might be an aggravation with the traffic congestion they create, but taking a little extra time to get someplace is a whole lot better than a pain in the pocketbook because of flat tires, bent rims and even damage to the suspension.

You can report potholes on state roads to the Michigan Department of Transportation by calling 888-296-4546. However, MDOT only repairs potholes on state trunk lines — freeways with M, I, or U.S. designations like I-94, M-14, U.S.-10. For potholes on routes other than state trunk lines, contact your county or local unit of government.

No science of conservation

Marius the giraffe was killed in the Copenhagen Zoo. His body dismembered. Children were there. Marius was fed to the lions.

The zookeeper said that Marius was genetically inferior. The zookeeper said he was taking up space that a more genetically suitable creature could take.

Marius was a reticulated giraffe. There are less than 5,000 wild reticulated giraffes left. There are about 450 of them kept in zoos. Marius represented .01835 percent of all living reticulated giraffes in the world today — right now.

There are about 7,145,000,000 people in the world. Each one of us represents 0.000000139958012596221 percent of all living human beings in the world today.

I think it might be safely said that there is no science of conservation going on at the Copenhagen Zoo.

I may also extrapolate from their behavior at the zoo which includes the butchery for entertainment followed by the sacrificial feeding of the lions and the terrifying phrases drawn from eugenics used to paint a picture for us to rationalize this barbaric behavior that there is little respect for civilization to be found there and none for human life.

Marius was only a giraffe, one of a species of animals that has been on this earth a very long time. If we consider our role in the world to be that of caretaker being that we consider ourselves to be so much more intelligent than them, well ...

Did you know there's no reliable population figure for giraffes before 1970?

How's that for science?

Where's the savings?

Correct me if I am wrong, but didn't the council choose Robert Muery for manager under the pretext that paying him an additional $35,000 a year to do both jobs, for which he volunteered for in the first place, would save the taxpayers money? Now council wants to negate the savings by hiring an assistant. Factoring in wages, benefits and future pension liabilities, we the taxpayers will be worse off. There goes the savings.

Remember that Muery wanted the extra money pensionable, so he would be looking at a $100,000 annual pension. It was only Dave Fetters' due diligence with a simple calculator that kept that from happening, because he went public with it. You know what that got him.

This council wants to do a lot of new hiring, which will put us right back in the hole, which means a plea for more taxes sometime in the future. They used a fixed term grant to hire more firefighters, knowing that in a few years the funding would end. That means either laying them off when the grant expires, or adding them onto the payroll for another $300,000 hit to the budget, to start.

Either the council was clueless, or they used the grant as a back door method to hire more people.

The police department enforces ordinances, either traffic, noise or whatever. It took me all of 11 seconds to write down my address, followed by hyphen grass or snow. On routine patrol, the officers can do the same regarding vacant homes, turning the list over to city hall for mailing. Rather than paying the wages and benefits for a "Grass Czar," use the money to fix the roads. You take care of what affects the most people first. The other stuff is fluff. But methinks that is what the voters in Garden City like.

CBO boosts ACA

This week's edition of the ongoing GOP drama, "If the data doesn't fit the narrative, misrepresent, mislead or even lie about it" involves conservatives and Republicans gleefully reacting to what was a premature, inaccurate report by some in the media that the CBO's annual report was a right-wing dream come true: Obamacare was proven to be the "job killer" that they knew it to be all along.

Wrong. Subsequent analysis indicates that the CBO report did not say that jobs will be lost at all. Actually according to the CBO report, the ACA will result in workers choosing not to work the full-time equivalent in hours of 2 million jobs. Hence the equivalent in hours of 2 million full-time jobs will be vacated, not eliminated, and will be available for others to work. According to many economists, this will reduce unemployment and have the effect of putting upward pressure on wages since employers will be left in the lurch and anxious to fill vacancies.

Another plus is that analysis of the report predicts that the ACA will provide stimulus to the stagnant economy by allowing the millions who qualify for subsidies to spend some of those dollars otherwise relegated for health care elsewhere, providing added demand for goods and services further improving the employment forecast.

Other disappointments included in the CBO report for Obamacare detractors include a debunking of the claims of skyrocketing premiums, rampant increases in part-time employment, an exploding deficit and a costly taxpayer bailout for insurers, all topics broached as ACA opponents rushed to microphones to comment. According to the report, rather than skyrocket, premiums will continue to rise but at a rate 15 percent lower than previously predicted.

On part-time employment, the CBO concluded that, "there is no compelling evidence that part-time employment has increased as a result of the ACA." The report goes on to destroy the claim about the ACA exploding the deficit stating that Obamacare policies will instead contribute to lower deficits over the next decade. Last, the creation of risk corridors that politicians like Republican Sen. Marco Rubio warned would constitute a massive taxpayer bailout of insurers is predicted by the report to actually cut $8 billion from the deficit as money will actually be refunded to the treasury by insurers.

So what momentarily appeared to be a victory for those opposed to Obamacare turns out to be yet another devastating defeat, but don't expect them to stop shamelessly making the same fraudulent claims or refrain from inventing new ones. After all, the facts don't matter now and likely never did. They are opposed because of Obama.

Raise minimum wage

The GOP talking points concerning President Obama's State of the Union speech were quickly repeated by Fox News, Republican papers and other partisan outlets. This ever-repeated GOP contention that increasing the minimum wage would cost jobs was almost minute-by-minute reporting.

The federal minimum wage was raised from $6.55 per hour to $7.25 per hour in July of 2009. Adjusted for inflation, this should currently be near $15 an hour.

The GOP is completely wrong that raising the minimum wage would cost jobs. The absolute reverse is true. Increasing the wages of the poorest workers would immediately increase jobs. Poor people would immediately spend any increase in the minimum wage, which would increase jobs. They immediately would spend on goods and services, which would increase demand and improve our economy.

Many states have already raised their minimum wage, above the federal level, and have already experienced an increase in jobs.

Raising the minimum wage is the right thing to do and now is the right time to do it.

Building blocks of a stronger labor force

It's beginning to look as though Gov. Rick Snyder is thinking of his time as governor in two main blocks: The first, from taking office in 2011 through this November's vote, has been about restructuring the financial underpinnings of the state — fixing the business tax, getting balanced state budgets adopted on time and so forth.

The second, assuming voters give him another four years, will be about rebuilding Michigan's seriously frayed economic infrastructure. Snyder's emphasis on investing in education is at the core of his budget message. He wants a 6.1 percent increase for public universities, 2.8 percent for elementary and high schools, and another $65 million for his prekindergarten Great Start Readiness Program.

The budget is largely sensible on its face and politically shrewd, since it looks as though spending on schools will be a big part of this year's political argument. The governor's budget proposal is obviously designed to counter claims he's shortchanging education.

Without any doubt, higher education in Michigan has been irresponsibly savaged over the years. Seven straight cuts since 2000, including a 15 percent drop during Snyder's first year, made our state nearly first in the nation at cutting support for colleges.

Phil Power
GUEST COLUMNIST

While it will certainly help if Snyder can get the Legislature to add his requested $76.9 million for higher education, Michigan still should be embarrassed that it spends more on warehousing criminals in state prisons ($2 billion) than on public universities ($1.5 billion).

Along with the increases, the governor is emphasizing university tuition restraint by capping allowable increases at 3.2 percent. (Universities that go over that figure will lose some of their state aid.)

For years, polls have suggested jobs and unemployment are main concerns of Michigan voters. But I've seen some new numbers that suggest public attitudes are changing. Concern about college affordability has been increasing as families begin to realize how much college debt they're run up over the past decade. Keeping the lid on tuition hikes is also good politically — although the universities have a legitimate point that tuition increases over the last decade have been provoked by matching cuts in state support.

The state's early childhood initiative, Great Start, has been a great success on almost all counts. Last year, after Bridge Magazine found that 30,000 poor and vulnerable 4-year-olds eligible for the program couldn't get in because enough slots hadn't been funded, the governor endorsed and the Legislature adopted a $65 million increase.

The Michigan Department of Education eventually calculated that the extra state money resulted in another 16,000 4-year-olds getting a head start toward success in school.

For once, Michigan wound up looking good by leading the nation in increasing support for early childhood programs, and Snyder is keeping up the momentum by fulfilling his pledge for a second round of increases for Great Start. The hope is that this increased funding will eliminate the waiting list, although it is a challenge to reach the poorest and most vulnerable families who need such programs most.

Expanding this program is critically important. Advocates for early childhood and higher education point out that Michigan's economy is helped over the long run by increased state support for what might be called programs to add to our stock of "human capital" — the total of skills and talent in our labor force. Great Start has an excellent record of success in helping kids graduate, go on to post-high school programs and become skilled workers. Our universities are also contributing to Michigan's economic growth, although we need to develop ways to encourage graduates to stay here rather than move out of state.

One idea the governor and the Legislature might want to look at comes from Tennessee, where GOP Gov. Bill Haslam in his budget message last week proposed making free two years of community college or technical school to all students who graduate from high school, without regard to academic credentials or financial need.

"We just need to change the culture of expectations in our state," Haslam told the New York Times. "College is not for everybody, but it has to be for a lot more people than it's been in the past if we're going to have a competitive work force." Tennessee estimates this would cost the state around $34 million each year, paid for by diverting revenue from the state lottery. Since Michigan (population 9.9 million) is bigger than Tennessee (population 6.4 million), such a program here would likely cost more — but not much more.

Business groups have been calling for years for increased support for state universities to provide a stream of workers with degrees. Many in the business community say they could fill immediately something like 60,000 jobs if they could find workers with the required skills.

Without being as radical as those of his Tennessee counterpart, Snyder's budget proposals represent a move in the right direction. Although the Legislature likes the idea of reducing taxes in an election year, here's hoping the governor is able to keep investments in human capital high on the state's priority list.

Brush with cancer has wake-up call effect

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

There's been a lot of cancer in my life lately.

Most of it came coincidentally, that is, it came in various ways at roughly the same time. It started with the biopsy his doctor ordered for my 16-year-old son, Robert. He's had swollen lymph nodes popping up on various parts of his body, including a couple on the back of his head his doctor found particularly, to use his word, "worrisome."

Blood tests ruled out mononucleosis, but didn't really rule out much else. His doctor, being thorough, decided to order a biopsy.

Here's the thing I learned in the last couple of weeks: The word "biopsy" is much scarier when it's being said to you than it is when you hear it applied to others. It's particularly scary when it's followed by words like "non-Hodgkins lymphoma" and "leukemia." I didn't even hear the doctor explain he wanted to "rule those things out" when he was describing his thought process. In fact, for several minutes, I didn't hear anything else, because those words were still blaring in my ears.

At about the same time, stories about cancers in various forms suddenly started popping up in my professional life. There was The Dance Connection, the Canton-based dance studio conducting fundraisers to fight lung cancer, a passion for Melissa McParlane ever since her mother, longtime studio owner Carol Jackson, was diagnosed with the disease in 2010 (Jackson ultimately lost that fight in 2012).

There was Abigail Stonerook, whose passion for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life is contagious. She's the ACS staff partner for the Canton Relay for Life. It's already maybe the biggest one the ACS runs in Michigan, but watch what Stonerook does with it. The bet here: It sets a fundraising record.

And, for the second time in three years, there was Eric Bacynski, a warrior in the fight against children's cancer, asking me to shave my head for the annual St. Baldrick's Foundation fundraiser he organizes every year.

These are stories we cover every year, because they're important causes and because supporting them has become part of the fabric of this community.

But never before (except the year I found out my mentor had breast cancer) have these stories resonated with me the way they did this year. I wrote all three stories during the longest few days of my life — the days after they took the biopsy from the back of Robert's head and before we got the all-clear.

I've written dozens of stories about cancer in my career, listened and nodded sympathetically to folks telling me about the effects the disease has had on their lives. For the couple of hours my son was in the operating and recovery rooms, I thought about those interviews, replayed them in my mind, and wondered how someone would write this one.

Thankfully, it doesn't need to be written. Whatever it is affecting my son, it isn't cancer.

But the story still needs to be written for millions of others. Did you know heart disease is the biggest killer of women in the United States (according to the American Heart Association)? Neither did I. I would have thought it was breast cancer, considering the American Cancer Society estimates some 232,670 women will be diagnosed with it this year, and some 40,000 will die from it.

I'm happy to say there's no cancer in my life or, most importantly, my son's life. We don't have to live with that fear, and I certainly don't pretend to know what it's like for those who do.

And there are millions of them. Doing what I can to help those still fighting the fight is the least I can do.

Shining a light on bullying

Author's adventure story teaches kids how to deal with bullies

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Northville resident and working mom Lori Costew has written a book that's received national acclaim for its lesson against bullying.

Costew won a Silver Medal in the 2013 Readers' Favorite Book Contest in the Pre-Teen category for her novel, Sherpa's Adventure: Saving the Future.

She received the award in a ceremony held at the Miami Book Fair, the largest book fair in the United States.

"This is such a tremendous honor and one that I hope will help shine a light on the topic of bullying as well as the importance of positivity," she said.

This was a big moment for her after a lot of hard work while putting the story together.

Costew, 44, originally from Ohio, moved to Michigan 17 years ago and has lived in Northville the last 14 years. She's a Buckeye married to a Wolverine, which she says, "shows that there can be peace on earth for 364 days a year." They have two children at Amerman Elementary, Troy and Cate.

"The Readers Favorite Award ceremony was held at the Miami Book Fair and I had the opportunity to meet both well-known authors and new authors like myself from around the world. It was an amazing experience — I am still smiling!" she added.

The basis for the novel comes from the many lessons Costew took in while studying modern day bullying of children. "The statistics around bullying are chilling,"

Northville author Lori Costew recently penned a young adult book called "Sherpa's Adventure — Saving the Future." JOHN HEIDER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

she said.

According to Costew, it's estimated that 160,000 children miss school every day due to fear of attack or intimidation by other students, and 35 percent of kids have been threatened online, as reported by the National Education Association.

"This is such a serious issue, yet I found most anti-bullying books are academic or written specifically about bullying," she said.

She said she chose to focus on the sweet spot of wrapping positive messages into a fun adventure story in order appeal to kids.

"Woven throughout the story are tools and techniques to help kids make positive decisions. The reviews online and feedback from voracious readers, reluctant readers, parents, grandparents and educators has been amazing," Costew said. "Yet what is most satisfying are the comments by kids that the story keeps them so engaged that they keep reading. And when they keep reading, they start putting themselves in the characters shoes and realize kids can make a difference and choices impact lives."

The novel is an adventure story about a 16-year-old girl from the 24th century where cars fly and robots clean bedrooms. However, the main character's life changes when she is tasked with stopping an evil dictator, General Aveel, and his transfiguring HuBots from destroying world peace.

The novel has elements of science fiction, time travel and history, "yet it directly addresses challenges kids face today like bullying, making good decisions and being part of something bigger than yourself."

Throughout the story Sherpa writes a manual titled How to Fix History and Save the World, which gives readers tools and techniques how to handle situations and identify making better choices.

"Winning the Readers Favorite Award was such an honor and I hope it will help shine a light on the importance of positivity," Costew said.

KENSINGTON CONFERENCE MEET

Spartan swimmers rise to the occasion

Stevenson edges Northville to repeat as champions

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

It seemed most of the stars were aligned Saturday for the Livonia Stevenson boys swim team. After losing the KLAA Central Division title just a week earlier to Northville, 655.5-608, the Spartans reversed their fortunes at South Lyon East in a big way by repeating as the Kensington Conference champions by a mere margin 4.5 points, 888.5-881. Central Division teams Novi (758.5), South Lyon Unified (615) and Salem (376) took the next three places followed by KLAA South Division squads

Plymouth (305.5), Canton (236), Livonia Churchill (211), Westland John Glenn (188), Wayne Memorial (181.5) and Livonia Franklin (72). "You take the total points, and you take what we won by, it was a miniscule amount really," Stevenson coach Jeff Shoemaker said. "It could go either way. We were behind going in, but not by much. We had to make some things happen. We just kind of pulled together. We certainly didn't do everything right, but we did a lot of things

KLAA BOYS BASKETBALL PLAYOFFS

ROCKETS SOAR TO KENSINGTON CROWN

Everette, Pruitt spark John Glenn by Salem, 56-51

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

The Sochi Olympics provided plenty of golden moments. And the winter of 2014 has also proven to be memorable as well for the Westland John Glenn boys basketball team.

The Rockets, who came in as the KLAA South Division champs, picked up their second title of the season Saturday night by downing host Salem, the Central Division champs, 56-51, for the Kensington Conference championship.

John Glenn, now 14-5 overall, will take on White Lake Lakeland, also 14-5, for the overall Association crown beginning 7 p.m. Thursday at home.

The Rockets' one-two punch of 6-foot-4 senior forward Isaac Everette (26 points) and 6-6 senior forward James Pruitt (10 points, 16 rebounds) proved to be too much for the Rocks, who slipped to 15-4 overall.

But it was a team effort for Glenn, which was able to withstand a late Salem push after leading by as many as 11 points early in the fourth quarter.

"I think it was everybody," Everette said. "Everybody played hard. We all played together, too. Sometimes we play in stretches, but we found a way to win and play hard."

"I was trying to be real aggressive and play my game. That's all I was trying to do. It got a little hairy, we fought through it and conquered."

Glenn, which defeated Salem 65-59 on its home court Dec. 19 when Everette was out with a broken finger, raced to a 21-10 first quarter lead as Everette scored nine points, including a three-pointer. Triples by Mychael Bradley and Mo Foani also helped create the 11-point advantage.

Glenn came out with full-court pressure to start the game and made 8-of-15 first period shots.

"We just try to get some energy going," Glenn coach Dan Young said. "Nothing special, just try and pick up and get some pressure from the start. Just try and get a good start, be aggressive, and not be passive, that's all." Meanwhile, it was not the start Salem envisioned. "Glenn came out of the blocks blazing and they never looked back," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "They led from wire to wire. It was a force. They played tough both ends of the court. They're a big, strong team ... fast. Isaac (Everette) didn't play us the first time and he did a nice job. And Pruitt was tougher than heck inside." Salem cut the lead to 28-22 at halftime, but Glenn outscored the Rocks 16-11 in the third quarter to go up 44-33. Salem shot 15-of-35 from the field through three quarters (42.8 percent) and hung around in the final quarter despite going 9-for-23.

Mike Hoover's basket with 1:28 left in the fourth cut the deficit to 49-45. And the Rocks thought they had possession arrow going their way after forcing a jump ball just three seconds later. But officials ruled Glenn had asked for a timeout prior to the tie-up and Everette nailed six straight free throws to seal the victory.

"They do as good a job as anybody in high school ball," Young said of the Rocks. "They're very well coached and they have a lot of guys who can score. If you deny them, they're going to back-cut. If don't deny them they're going to hit a jumper. They're the best offensive rebounding team we've played against all year. That's why they have a great program."

Salem committed only nine turnovers on the night, but shot only 1-of-7 from the foul line.

"In the game like this we told the kids, 'If you're going to win a game like this you've got to have shots fall,' and we didn't shoot that well tonight," said Brodie, whose team finished 24-of-58 from the floor (41.3 percent). "There was a lid on the bucket up there, but give Glenn credit also. They changed the trajectory of our shots quite a bit, too. We were taking it up, and with Pruitt inside, with Isaac — they're big bodies — it kind of intimidates you. Even if they're not blocking shots, it changes them."

Senior guard Connor Cole paced Salem with 14 points, while junior forward Tyler Brooks added 10. Hoover grabbed a team-best six rebounds.

"It was tough, but we hung in there," Brodie said. "I was proud of the way the kids hung in there. It looked like it could have been a blowout at a time, but we fought back into the game."

Salem will play its regular season finale also Thursday at home against Walled Lake Central.

"We'll try and regroup and use that last (regular season) game as a springboard into the state tournament," Brodie said. "It's a brand new season again. We lost a game late in

Chargers bounce Franklin in pre-regional

Cromie's hat trick sparks Churchill to 3-0 triumph

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Livonia Churchill got plenty of production out of its top line Thursday night to earn a 3-0 victory over rival Livonia Franklin in the opening round of the Division 2 boys hockey pre-regional at Edgar Arena.

The win puts the Chargers, now 8-16-2 overall, against defending state champion Livonia Stevenson in the pre-regional final beginning at 6:45 p.m. Thursday at Edgar.

Senior C.J. Cromie, a transfer from Franklin, notched a hat trick.

He scored at 3:23 of the first period on a bizarre carom past Franklin netminder Matt Monendo to make it 1-0. Cromie then scored twice in the second period, the first on a power play at 7:19 followed by his third of the night at 15:16.

"C.J. is definitely an energy player," Churchill coach Jason Reynolds said. "He's been one of our top scorers all year long and I know full well he loves to play these games against his former school."

Line mates Drew Puishes and Nick Misiak each assisted on all three goals, and that was more than enough for the Chargers.

"Hats off to Churchill," said Franklin coach Dennis Gagnon, whose team lost two previous meetings to the Chargers, 5-4 and 4-3. "They did the neutral zone trap. We haven't seen that out of them, and that was pretty effective."

Churchill senior goaltender David Turel also did his part, making 22 saves.

"It's been the same story all year long," Gagnon said. "Our guys come to battle, they work their butts off and they compete, compete, compete ... I'm just so darn proud of them."

When Churchill had trouble scoring goals in early December, Reynolds moved Puishes, a senior, to the forward line. "He's actually leading us in points this year," Reynolds said. "It was a lucky gamble on our part. As a defenseman,

MHSAA CLASS A DISTRICT GIRLS BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Stevenson smothers Cougars, 50-31

Wilkinson's 19 points spur first-round tourney victory

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

It's a good thing for Garden City girls basketball players that Livonia Stevenson wasn't defending them around the Gatorade jug Monday night, otherwise it would have been a long, thirsty evening for the Cougars.

Employing the perfect man-to-man defensive scheme to combat Garden City's explosive three-point-shooting arsenal, the Spartans were never threatened during their 50-31 victory in a Class A district opener held on the Cougars' court.

Stevenson improved to 13-8 while advancing to Wednesday's semifinal against Livonia Churchill, which drew a first-round bye. Garden City's season ended with a 12-9 mark.

The Spartans' defense was stickier than Gorilla Glue against the Cougars, who managed to put the ball in the net on just four of their first 49 field-goal attempts.

"We knew they weren't going to have the inside presence compared to some of the teams we've played in our conference, so we told the girls to help out on the drives, but make sure they still got a hand out every single time [Garden City] took a shot," Stevenson coach Jen Knoph said. "We stayed in a man thinking it would limit their shot opportunities. That didn't happen, but at least we forced them to rush some shots."

Generally a dangerous team while hoisting up jumpers from beyond the three-point arc, the Cougars' only successful first-half trey came with four minutes remaining in the second quarter when reserve guard Rachel Spellman banked in a rainbow from the right wing.

"I could tell the girls were excited coming into this game, but they were a little tight, too, which didn't help our shooting," GC coach Michele Tyree said. "Stevenson worked hard on defense. They gave us fits. Our offense just wasn't there tonight."

With three minutes left in the third quarter, Stevenson senior guard Rachel Wilkinson had outscored Garden City's entire team, 15-13.

Wilkinson was splendid throughout the game, finishing with a game-high 19 points. The Cougars had to pick their poison against the sharp-shooting 5-foot-9 guard, who sprinkled a couple three-point shots around a flurry of strong lane-splitting drives.

Wilkinson also snatched three steals and blocked four shots for good measure.

Stevenson forward Charleann Roy, who usually forms a potent senior dynamic duo with Wilkinson, left the game for good with 5:28 remaining in the second quarter after getting poked in the eye.

"She was going to try to come back and play in the second quarter, but her eye kept watering, so she couldn't see well enough," Knoph said.

Picking up the slack in Roy's absence were Amy Freed (seven points, six rebounds, four steals), Abigail Knoph (four points) and Rosemary Morse, who netted four points and six rebounds.

Senior forward Kyra Johnson also played big for the winners, recording eight rebounds and six points.

Spellman led the Cougars in scoring for the first time all season with just six points. GC junior point guard Abby Joseph played well defensively early on against Roy and grabbed 10 rebounds, but she struggled offensively, connecting on just 1-of-16 shots.

The same was true for Cougars junior guard Hannah Vera-Burgos (five points), who struggled through an uncharacteristic 2-for-13 shooting night. Vera-Burgos was stellar on the boards, however, as she hauled down nine missed shots.

Stevenson led 9-0 until GC's Shanyal Pressley's put-back with 23 seconds on the clock accounted for her team's only points of the first quarter.

CLASS A GIRLS BASKETBALL

Glenn tames Belleville in district tourney

Kaira Barnes, Victoria McCloud pace 3-point assault

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn proved to be too good from the perimeter and Belleville had no answer in Monday's Class A district girls basketball opener.

The host Rockets nailed six first-half three-pointers while building a 37-16 advantage and went on to post a convincing 69-47 victory over the Tigers.

Senior guards Kaira Barnes and Victoria McCloud led the way with 21 and 17 points, respectively, while senior forward R'Mani Garrard, a transfer from Inkster, took care of the interior with 12 points and 10 rebounds.

McCloud had three triples,

Barnes two and freshman Arieana Hassan one during the first-half surge.

"Our guard penetration forced them to help, which left some girls out on the perimeter," said Glenn first-year coach Derrick Jordan, whose team improved to 11-10 overall. "We've got shooters on our team. We got to get our confidence up and it's steadily rising."

"We have some girls that can hit those shots all night and tonight they came out and Victoria (McCloud) was able to knock a lot of them down."

Belleville, struggled against Glenn's pressure defense coughing up the ball 24 times on the night. The Tigers made only 4-of-19 first-half shots, while Glenn went 14-of-31.

"I knew they (Glenn) had shooters," said Belleville first-year coach Joe Brodie, who has guided the Tigers to a resurgent 13-8 season. "The scouting report was don't let them shoot, play defense, get hands up on them. We came out flat, uninspired and we weren't guarding anybody."

"We weren't getting to the loose balls and we definitely weren't getting out to their shooters, and they made us pay. It was not a surprise because we knew they could shoot the ball."

The Rockets went on a 15-0 run to start the third quarter to go up 52-16. Belleville, however, made a late fourth quarter push, but couldn't get any closer than 13 points.

Freshman Victoria Perez and junior Paris Lawrence scored 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the Tigers.

"I told them after the first quarter, 'If you look at it, they're not beating you, but you're beating yourselves,'" Brodie said. "You're not playing on defense, you're turning the ball over, giving them easy buckets, giving them layups." But again, if you're going to come out flat and uninspired, and turn the ball over against a team that can get to the basket and make shots like that ... you saw what happened."

Junior Kimah Stribling also chipped in with eight points for the Rockets, who shot 23-of-59 from the field (38.9 percent) and 16-of-32 from the foul line.

"You've got to be able to rebound and you've got to be able to defend," Jordan said. "You've got to be able to help with defense. Those are some of the things we've been working on. We still have a little bit work to do, but tonight the hard work for the girls paid off. I'm real proud of how they played."

The win puts Rockets into Wednesday's district semifinal against an unfamiliar foe in Taylor Truman of the Downriver League. (Game time is 7 p.m. at Glenn.)

"Don't know much about them other than watching their scores, but they seem to be in a lot of games," Jordan said. "But if we do what we did tonight on Wednesday, hopefully they'll have to worry about us."

Wayne's A.D. says girls hoops won't be dropped

0-20 season ends with 69-10 loss to Romulus

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial's girls basketball season ended mercifully in Monday's Class A district opener at Westland John Glenn.

The Zebras, who dressed just six varsity players, were eliminated by Western Wayne Athletic Association Blue Division champion Romulus, 69-10.

Cierra Bond scored 16 points, while sisters JeLani and JesShani Shinn chipped in with eight points apiece as the 17-4 Eagles invoked a running clock to start the second half after leading 41-6 at halftime.

Wayne, which finished 0-20 overall, had three players score, led by Mariah Tolliver with eight points. Adrianna Gonzales added six, while Honia Williams had two.

Wayne, which started the year with 23 players in the program, scrapped its JV team earlier in the season.

"There were a lot of life lessons learned," said second-year Wayne coach Joyce Massey, who is 1-39 in her two seasons as varsity coach.

The former University of Detroit Mercy and UMass player did not speculate on whether she would return next season. Her coaching status seems up in the air.

"We have some work to do," Wayne athletic director Greg Ambrose said. "I can't tell you right now. We'll sit down after the season and talk about it, and go forward from there."

Two of the team's top players, including leading scorer Ashley Bland and Shukeina Willis, were not part of the varsity squad during the second half of the season.

Following their departures, Wayne dropped successive KLAAs South Division games in early February to Plymouth (64-4) and Livonia Churchill (56-6).

"We've had injuries, academic issues and lack of commitment, and stuff, so you take the girls that show up and just try and coach them," Ambrose said. "We haven't had a freshman team in the last couple of years. Same thing, lack of numbers."

Is girls basketball in danger being scrapped at Wayne?

"I wouldn't consider dropping that because we still have girls that are showing up," Ambrose said. "We had six girls, but they're playing their hearts out. Effort is not one of those things you really don't coach so much."

"Their hearts are in it, we just have to teach them how to play the game."

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools district does offer a basketball middle school feeder program.

"We've had some success with that, but we've kind of hit a dry spell the last couple of years," Ambrose said. "We've had girls transfer out. It's a combination of things. There was a girl that started at Wayne, went to Glenn and now she's just finished playing for Romulus, too. It happens a lot."

Alexis Smith (Livonia Franklin) paced the Lady Ocelots with 17 points and seven boards, while Brianna Berberet added 10 points.

Schoolcraft committed 32 turnovers and made just 18-of-52 shots from the floor (34.6 percent).

DISTRICT GIRLS BASKETBALL

Hawks' season comes to screeching halt

Blazers, Clarenceville also fall in Class B tournament

Fresh from capturing a share of the Red Division title in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference last week, Westland Huron Valley Lutheran had high hopes entering Class D district girls basketball play Monday night.

But the Hawks' season ended courtesy of host Novi Franklin Road Christian, a member of the MIAC Blue, 50-36.

Senior Kristen Massey enjoyed a huge night for the Warriors (12-8) finishing with 22 points, 14 rebounds, 10 steals and six assists. She made 9-of-11 free throws. Eighteen of Massey's points came in the second half.

Junior Elise Schmid also chipped in with 10 points.

Huron Valley (14-5), which couldn't overcome an 11-2 first quarter deficit, got 14 points from junior Julie St. John and 10 from senior Sarah Setian.

"We had some good looks at the basket that we missed," said HVL coach Kris Ruth, whose team made only 3-of-9 free throws. "We can out slow in the first quarter, but fought our way back into the game."

Franklin Road out-rebounded us tonight, we let then have way to many second chance shots."

GABRIEL RICHARD 54, LADYWOOD 40: Seniors Kora Dreffs and Emily Hogan tallied 17 points apiece Monday as Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (7-13) dominated host Livonia Ladywood (2-18) in the Class B district opener.

Senior Rachel DeMarco added 10 points for the Irish, who jumped out to a 30-17 halftime lead and led by as many as 21 in the third period.

Freshman Maggie Shirk led Ladywood with 11 points, while junior Amber Rietthiller and sophomore Erika Salakowski each contribute eight.

ARBOR PREP 70, CLARENCEVILLE 10: State-ranked Ypsilanti Arbor Prep (18-3) had 10 different players score Monday en route to a lopsided win over Livonia Clarenceville (9-11) in the Class B district opener at Ladywood.

Sophomore Nastassja Chambers and junior Payton Sims tallied 13 points apiece for the No. 3 Gators, while junior Zakiya Wells added 10.

Senior center Ayanna Buckley, playing her final game, scored eight of the Clarenceville's 10 points on the night.

SEASON PREVIEW

MU softball program changing gears

Abraham returns to the dugout to lead Madonna

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Madonna University women's softball is undergoing somewhat of a make-over.

Gone is 15-year coach Al White, who resigned last May and has returned to the high school ranks (Canton).

Meanwhile, back is NAIA Hall of Fame volleyball coach Jerry Abraham, who coached the Crusaders from 1994-98 while posting a 157-89 record, which included one trip to the NAIA Nationals.

Abraham has an NAIA-best 1,005 career wins as a volleyball coach and he hopes the transition back over to the softball program will piggyback to even more success.

Eleven players return from last year's team that finished 32-18 overall and 11-5 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference.

"We haven't played yet, but we're pretty strong up the middle - short, second and center," Abraham said. "I think we have good, control pitching with girls that can get people out. As long as the bats come around and if we get the pitching ... I'd kind of like to start playing that's for sure."

The Crusaders open their season Friday in Lakeland, Fla. where they'll face Southeastern (Fla.) in a double-header. The scheduled seven-day, 11-game trip also includes stops in Lake Wales and Titusville.

Following indoor workouts, Abraham has decided to go with two pitchers as junior right-hander Bree Crampton (Anchor Bay) will get the nod as the team's number one backed up by freshman right-hander Erin Combs (Imlay City). Crampton went 18-13 last year with a 2.70 earned run average. She struck out 241 in 197 innings.

"I think I've got two talented pitchers ... two starters," Abraham said. "Bree had a good year for them last year. She's improved. She's mixing up her pitches really well, throws hard. We've really tried to work on developing a good rise ball and a screw ball right now."

"Erin Combs is a very talented freshman, very similar as Bree. She throws hard and mixes up her pitches. Both of them excellent location and both have the ability to get strikeouts. They're smart, poised and good athletes."

"I'm happy with them so far. We'll see what happens in the games, then we'll see how happy we're with it."

Senior Kristen Drabek (Monroe Catholic Central), an honorable mention All-WHAC selection, returns to catch after hitting .328 last year.

The infield is led by senior first baseman Erin Mayes (Ida), who made first-team All-Conference after hitting a team-best .331 with seven homers and 40 RBI. She is currently tied for first on the school's career home run list with 19.

Abraham

Mayes

Sophomore Emma Cook (Marysville) returns at second base. She hit .281 with 12 doubles and 30 RBI en route to honorable mention All-WHAC honors.

Freshman Nicole Salloum (Livonia Churchill) takes over at shortstop, while junior Katie Fenech (Northville/Eastern Michigan University) and senior Carlee Meek (White Lake Lakeland) will share the third base duties to start the season.

The outfield appears set with the return of junior right fielder Kasey Trierweiler (Grand Ledge) and junior center fielder Karleigh Creighton (North Farmington), the latter whom hit .304.

Freshman Mykian Kish (Allen Park) will slide into the left field position, while senior Caitlyn Keuvelaar (Essexville-Garber), who hit .273 with 35 RBI last season, will be the designated hitter.

Another returnee is sophomore catcher Hayley Wallace (Davison), while sophomore Jillian Kraatz (Allen Park Inter-City Baptist) is a first-year player.

Freshman newcomers include Bri Giordano and Kayla Rebain, both of Plymouth; Morgan Kaiser and Breanna Keethler, both from Flat Rock; Brianna DeBono, Lapeer West; and Morgan Thompson, Port Huron Northern.

"He (White) brought in some talented freshman kids for the most part," Abraham said. "And mixing with the returning people, it should be a pretty good unit. I'm excited about it."

Junior Bree Crampton, who went 18-13 last year, will toe the mound again for Madonna University. MADONNA SPORTS INFORMATION

While being restricted exclusively to indoor workouts, Abraham has one concern going into the season.

"I think the biggest question mark is going to be speed on the bases," he said. "That's something that we're trying to develop, but it's kind of is what it is. We have some speed, but that's probably the biggest area we need to improve is speed on the bases."

MEN'S COLLEGE HOOPS

Crusaders beaten by WHAC foe N'western

Schoolcraft wins to earn District 10 playoff spot

The Madonna University men's basketball team is literally limping into the postseason.

The Crusaders ended their Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference regular season Saturday with a 70-57 setback at the University of Northwestern Ohio.

MU, which slipped to 19-11 overall and 15-7 in the WHAC (fourth place), suffered its fifth loss in its last eight games.

But the good news was that senior All-America point-guard Bobby Naubert (Livonia Stevenson) returned to the lineup after sitting out the previous game with an injury.

Naubert finished with a team-high 15 points, while Derek Lennen (12), Travis Schuba (11) and Salem's Tyler Stewart (10) all scored in double figures.

Junior center Donald Owens also grabbed 10 rebounds for MU, which trailed 37-33 at the half.

The Crusaders committed 21 turnovers and shot 23-of-52 from the floor (44.2 percent)

Ed Jenkins paced the third-place Racers (21-7, 17-5) with 21 points, while Johnny Elliott added 17. Derrick Tate chipped in with 16 points and 10 boards.

MU the fourth seed, will open WHAC tournament play beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at home in a quarterfinal matchup against fifth-seed Aquinas College (15-15).

SCHOOLCRAFT 81, KIRTLAND 68: Canton's Terrell Sewell scored 20 points, while Andrew Mapley added 13 points and 19 boards Monday to lift host Schoolcraft College (14-13, 7-10) to an MCCA Eastern Conference triumph over Kirtland Community College (6-19, 2-15).

Schoolcraft, which dressed only eight players, also got 18 points and eight rebounds from Olushakin Cole (Livonia Franklin). Schoolcraft shot 52.4 percent from the floor (33-of-63).

Terrence Coles (Redford Thurston) added 15 points, while Devonta Riley collected six assists as sixth-place Schoolcraft secured a berth in the upcoming NJCAA Division II District 10 tournament Tuesday, March 4 on the road against third-place Flint MottCC (22-5, 13-3).

Jack Ocozbek led Kirtland with 22 points, while Collin Craven and Ivan Vukovic added 17 and 11, respectively. The Firebirds, who trailed 36-34 at halftime, shot only 33.3 percent from the field (25-of-75). They were also outrebounded 49-35.

FLINT MOTT 114, SCHOOLCRAFT 68: On Saturday, host Flint Mott Community College (21-5, 12-3) scored 70 points in the paint to romp past Schoolcraft College (13-13, 6-10) in an MCCA Eastern Conference game.

The Bears, who shot a blistering 48-of-81 from the floor (59.3 percent), had four players score at least 20 points including Jamal Reynolds, who also pulled down 12 rebounds. Devin Foster, who dished out 10 assists, along with Marcus Johnson and NJCAA Division II Player of the Week Malik Albert.

Ruston Hayward also came off the bench to add 13 as Mott outscored the Ocelots 67-32 in the second half.

Terrence Coles (Redford Thurston) led Schoolcraft with 28 points and eight rebounds, while Andrew Mapley added 14 points and nine boards. Schoolcraft committed a total of 26 turnovers.

Kanitra, Prasad secure pitching victories for MU

Madonna University ended its four-game weekend baseball swing Sunday in Marion, Ill. by sweeping a double-header from host University of St. Francis, 6-4, and 6-0, at Rend One Park.

The Crusaders, now 6-4 overall, will start their southern road trip Saturday in Auburndale, Fla. with a double-header against Hannibal-La-Grange (Mo.).

Freshman right-hander Mike Kanitra (Livonia Stevenson) picked up his first win as a Crusader going six strong innings in the nightcap. While working out of a fifth-inning jam, Kanitra allowed five hits, walked only one and struck out five.

Reliever Alec Padilla pitched a scoreless seventh to complete the shutout.

Offensively, Shane Dokey went 2-for-4 with two RBI. Donny Holland also added two hits, while Ryan Lech and John Lauro each added an RBI.

Lauro went 2-for-3 with an RBI, while Joel Cooper also knocked in a run for the Crusaders.

BOYS BASKETBALL WRAP

C'ville nipped by Notre Dame Prep

It came down to the wire Tuesday night, but the host Livonia Clarenceville boys basketball team came up short in a 63-62 non-conference loss to Pontiac Notre Dame Prep.

Jermiah Johnson, who scored a team-high 23 points, broke the tie when he split a pair of free throws with only two seconds left as the Irish improved to 7-10 overall.

Alex Stuart chipped in 19 points for Prep, which led 49-38 after three quarters.

Kimani Dooley and Jermell Johnson paced the Trojans (7-13) with 24 points and 19 points, respectively.

Senior Jalen Bryant was also a defensive spark plug for the Trojans, who rallied with a 24-13 scoring surge in the final period.

LUTHERAN WESTLAND 74, LUTHERAN NORTHWEST 69: Nick Flaney scored a game-high 27 points Tuesday as Lutheran High Westland (13-6) outgunned host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (1-16) in a crossover between Michigan Independent Athletic Conference members.

Also scoring in double figures for the Warriors were Brent Croft (17), Cleveland Tarp (12) and Jake Davenport (10).

A.J. Seltz also chipped in with seven assists and 11 rebounds as Lutheran Westland outscored the Crusaders 24-18 in the final period.

Nicholas Grunewald and Jacob Griem scored 17 and 15, respectively, for Northwest. Bryan Mischovich added 14, while Eric Davis had 12.

"This was probably the most complete game we have played all season," Lutheran Westland coach Jim Hoelt said. "Their record does not reflect the kind of team they are. Our guys came ready to play tonight — on both ends of the floor."

PARKWAY 54, HURON VALLEY 45: Senior forward Ryan Schaffer's 26 points and 12 rebounds went in vain Tuesday as Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (7-11, 6-7) fell to host Sterling Heights Parkway Christian (8-10, 8-5) in a MIAC Red Division game.

Derek Dudek led the victorious Eagles, who led 22-13 at halftime, with 18 points. Ryan Stewart chipped in with 12.

The Warriors, who jumped out to a commanding 25-8 first quarter lead, got a team-high 15 points from A.J. Seltz.

Nick Flaney and Brent Croft chipped in with 13 and 11, respectively, while Cleveland Tarp added 10. Jake Davenport also contributed eight points and eight rebounds for the victorious Warriors.

Connor Carr and Michael Roebke scored 17 and 12 for the Saints.

PREP HOCKEY WRAP

Pinckney skates by Livonia Franklin, 4-2

Hayward tallies 5 goals in Ladywood's Metro victory

The boys hockey tournament now looms as Livonia Franklin ended the regular season Saturday at Chelsea's Arctic Coliseum with a 4-2 loss to Pinckney.

Franklin enters Tuesday's Division 2 pre-regional game against rival Livonia Churchill with a 7-17 overall record.

Pinckney (12-12) jumped out to a 1-0 lead at 3:34 of the first period on Michael Salata's power play goal from Mark Janiga and Nolan Lefebvre.

Franklin answered 15 seconds later on a wrap-around goal by Chase Wallis from Austin Russell to make it 1-1 all to end the first.

Franklin took the lead at 2:27 of the second on Trevor Lassaline's goal from Corey Ferrier, but the Pirates answered with back-to-back goals just 30 seconds apart in the same period.

Nick Woodruff tied it at 10:55 from Connor Smith and Cooper

Jenkins scored from Janiga at 11:25 to put Pinckney ahead to stay. Pinckney added an insurance goal with 9:17 remaining in the third on Smith's goal from Salata.

Goalie Nick Lefebvre made 32 saves for Pinckney, while Matt Monendo had 25 saves for Franklin.

"We've been very pleased with our play over the last month and a half," Franklin coach Dennis Gagnon said. "We're getting good quality chances, but just haven't been able to light the lamp as much as we need to."

LADYWOOD 6, WALLED LAKE 1: Katie Hayward scored five goals and added one assist as Livonia Ladywood (6-12-1) scored a Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey League crossover victory Saturday over the Wild (3-10-2) at Plymouth's Arctic Pond.

Hayward, a freshman forward, now has 36 goals and 13 assists on the season.

Jackie Kristofik also collected a goal and two assists for the Blazers, who led 3-1 after two periods before scoring three times in the third.

Samantha Erickson got the win in goal for the Blazers.

On Feb. 18, Hayward notched a hat trick in a 6-4 Division 1 victory over Northville at Livonia's Edgar Arena.

Claire Doyle, Abby Pelon and Kristofik also added goals, while assists went to Kylie Doyle, Colleen Lynch and Pelon for Ladywood.

Grace Healy scored both goals and Emily Comben had two assists for the winless Mustangs (0-16, 0-16).

Erickson got the victory in goal, while Eleni Lianos was in net for Northville.

he was offensive minded. We thought putting him up front gave us a little push up front, a little tenacity, and fortunately is worked out for us."

After being out-shot 11-3 in the first period, Franklin came back to out-shoot the Chargers 19-13 over the final two periods, but couldn't find the back of the net.

"Thirteen (Cromie) was tough, I think he got three," Gagnon said. "We tried to match up and we did, but they had that first fluky goal that went off goalie off the defenseman and in."

The Patriots, who wound up 7-18 in Gagnon's second year, lose six seniors to graduation, but return nine sophomores and four juniors next season.

"We're very happy with the direction Franklin's program is going," Gagnon said. "We definitely want to give thanks to our seniors this year. We laid a lot of concrete last year in the foundation, and the guys this year just poured another couple hundred yards on it."

Churchill, meanwhile, has an uphill climb against 20-5 Stevenson, which won the previous two meetings by identical 8-0 counts.

"I always preach to these guys to take the emotion out of this game," Reynolds said. "Obviously guys know each other on both sides of the bench. They really need to play a consistent game, not worry about who is on the other side. We just need to put a solid game plan together and execute consistently for three periods. That's our best shot."

our division schedule — South Lyon got us — and you wonder how you're going to bounce back, and they did a pretty good job, so hopefully they bounce back."

Bradley, a junior guard, added seven points for Glenn, but it was Everett and the high-climbing Pruitt that made life tough on Salem.

"He's come a long way," Young said of Pruitt. "I'm happy for the kid. He's gotten a lot better. Isaac a very good player and he's a great kid."

"Our guys are good guys. We have good chemistry. They really work for each other. Our white team, which is our second unit, has practiced as good or better than our first team. That's why we continue to get better. We take pride in everybody playing hard and playing well in practice. It's made a difference."

And there is still plenty to play for as Glenn can take home another trophy by winning the Association title Thursday. And after that will be a tough Class A district draw at Belleville, which includes defending state champion Romulus.

"We're going to celebrate tonight," Young said. "We're really happy, but humbled. We've talked all year about being humble and hungry. So we'll just stay being humble and hungry. That's what we've done all year."

PREP BOWLING

Glenn girls aiming high for state finals

Regional champ Rockets also qualify 4 in singles

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn has stamped itself a serious contender for Friday's MHSAA Division 1 girls team bowling title at Sunnybrook Lanes in Sterling Heights.

The Rockets, ranked No. 3 in the state and the KLAA Central Division champs, ran away with last Friday's regional title at Super Bowl in Canton after racking up a total of 3,667 pins.

Novi and Salem were a distant second and third with totals of 3,386 and 2,800, respectively. Wayne Memorial took fifth with a total of 3,213.

Glenn finished with a total of 1,112 in six Baker games, including a high of 202 in the fourth game. The Rockets added a total of 2,764 in the three regular games including a high of 964 in the third game.

Glenn's top scorer on the day was sophomore Emily Dietz, who rolled a 572 three-game series including a high of 201.

Other Glenn scorers included junior Jessica Pate, 533 (191 high game); sophomore Julia Huren, 524 (193 high game); and junior Olivia Cabildo, 498 (190 high game). Ashley Kolb and Shelby Fielding each added 153 games.

After taking first in the team regional on Friday, things got even better for Glenn in the individual regional singles tournament on Saturday as four qualified for the finals at Sunnybrook Lanes.

Glenn's four qualifiers include Cabildo, third place, 1,119 (222 high); Huren, fifth, 1,117 (two 225s); Pate, sixth, 1,170 (213 high); and Dietz, eighth, 1,099 (218 high).

"The girls have worked really hard at improving their game this year and it showed on Saturday when four of our girls made it," said coach

Ralph Cabildo, who guided Glenn to a 15-0 dual-meet record and three tournament titles.

Canton freshman Meghan Macunovich was the regional champion with a six-game total of 1,282, including a high of 255.

Wayne's two top finishers included junior Gabby Charon, who was 14th with a 1,016 (234 high), and sophomore Christina O'Harris, who took 15th with a 1,009 (202 high).

Boys qualifiers

Howell senior Jack Herndel was the individual regional champion with a 1,374 including a high game of 268 at the Super Bowl boys regional.

Wayne, meanwhile, will send two to the individual finals including senior Kody Wojewski, who was third with a 1,248 (220), along with senior Matt Mikulec, who placed fifth with a 1,222 (234 high).

Other finishers for the Zebras included Connor Webber, 17th, 1,136 (203 high); Brandon June, 23rd, 1,097 (226 high); Cody Gilbert, 45th, 995 (238 high); and John Willet, 48th, 983 (205 high).

Glenn's Nick Bell, a junior, garnered the 10th and final regional qualifying berth with a 1,167 including games of 221 and 244.

Other Glenn scorers included Steven Brusseau, 25th, 1,093 (211 high); Mike Russom, 32nd, 1,054 (199 high); Billy Wicker, 40th 1,021 (197 high).

Hutter takes 1st

Livonia Ladywood senior Sabine Hutter was crowned Division 2-Region 11 individual champion Saturday at Oak Lanes in Westland.

Hutter's six-game total of 1,140 was highlighted by a high game of 230.

Teammate Veronica Estigoy, also a senior, also will be headed to this Saturday to Century Lanes in Waterford for the state finals after posting a fifth-place total of 1,057, including a high game of 208.

Ladywood also received a 22nd from Alexandra Morris, who rolled a 923 (173 high game).

Moore garners spot

Livonia Clarenceville freshman Samuel Moore earned the 10th and final qualifying spot at the Division 3-Region 16 individual regional Saturday at Cherry Hill Lanes in Dearborn Heights.

Moore, headed to the state finals this Saturday at Airport Lanes in Jackson, posted a 1,077 total with high games of 214 and 205.

Capac's Ethan Moran was the regional champion with a 1,158, including a 218 high.

Richmond's Payton Dickson was the girls regional champ with a 1,225 including a 255 high game.

Clarenceville's top finisher was Caitlyn Kissandi, who placed 33rd with an 886 (179 high).

right. Towards the end we made a final push and had enough."

Stevenson captured nine of 12 events, led by senior Nick Arakelian, who figured in four first places including individual wins in the 200-yard individual medley (1:49.2) and 100 freestyle (46.48).

Arakelian's most impressive victory came in the 200 IM as he was more than 10 seconds faster than runner-up Joel Bischoff of South Lyon (1:59.7). Arakelian also broke the meet record of 1:51.65 set by Canton's Victor Zhang in 2012.

Arakelian then teamed up with Michael Chen, Alex Lee and Jackson O'Dowd to win the 200 freestyle relay (1:27.28) and also anchored the first-place 400 freestyle relay (3:08.94), which included Jake Goeddeke, Parker Belmore and O'Dowd. Both were meet records.

Stevenson's 400 freestyle relay time was also the second fastest in school history.

"I knew we weren't going to lose any relays," Shoemaker said. "We had a couple of key guys really step up. Northville's team came a long way. They scored 40 in 40 entries and we had 33 out of 40. But we had some nice top-ends, which were pretty good. That's pretty much what sealed the deal."

Goeddeke also edged Northville's Andrew Westphal for a pivotal first in the 50 freestyle with a time 21.61 to 21.85.

"Jake winning the 50 I think turned the tide a little bit," Shoemaker said. "It was kind of back and forth those first few events. That was a big plus for us. That was an eight-point swing because Westphal was first seed and Jake was second."

Meanwhile, O'Dowd

and Matt LaPorte also went one-two in the 200 freestyle with times of 1:44.96 and 1:46.99, respectively. LaPorte (4:44.6) and Grant McNamara (4:54.11) also swept the first two places in the 500 freestyle.

And yet another one-two finish for Stevenson came in the 100 breaststroke led by McNamara (1:00.04) and Tom O'Donohue (1:00.72).

Stevenson opened the meet by capturing the 200 medley relay as Belmore, McNamara, Bielicki and Goeddeke timed a meet record 1:36.20, just clipping the mark of 1:36.25 set last year by the Spartans.

"It was a great swim meet," Northville coach Richie Bennetts said. "Give all the credit to Stevenson. They came up with the big swims when they needed them, and we didn't. They are one of the best teams in the state and they showed it on Saturday when they needed to. Our team fought, but we just couldn't overcome all of the events that they won.

"Jeff (Shoemaker) put his kids where they needed to be and he did a great job again motivating his guys and they came out on top. I'm proud of my team for believing that we could beat a team as good as this. They crushed us three weeks ago in a dual meet by almost 50 points. We could have given up then, but we kept fighting. We threw everything we had at them, but in the end they were just too good."

Novi's Tanner Vincent was a double winner taking the 100 butterfly (52.46) and 100 backstroke (52.81).

The 1-meter diving title was decided between two Ethans — Schmidt of South Lyon edging Burke of Churchill, 389.50-381.50.

Celebrate Irish culture at two musical events

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Fiddler Mick Gavin of Redford will give you two big reasons to love Irish music next month.

He and his band, Crossroads Ceili, will perform, along with pipers, dancers, singers and guest musicians at a Doctors Without Borders extravaganza Saturday, March 1, in Redford, and later this month, at his 30th annual St. Patrick's Irish Fest, in Westland.

Harpist Siobahan McKinney, singer Katie Else and flutist and penny whistle player Colleen Shanks will open the fundraiser at 5 p.m. It runs to midnight at the Ancient Order of Hibernians Hall, 25300 Five Mile, Redford. Admission is a donation at the door, with checks made out to Doctors Without Borders.

"I thought it would be lovely to have the three young ladies perform," Gavin said. "I think we'll have a lot of seniors coming in at 5 p.m. to have a corned beef sandwich, a beer, coffee or tea, to hear an hour of traditional folk songs, tunes on harp, flute and penny whistle." The menu also will include hamburgers, hot dogs and a cash bar and performers will play throughout the evening.

Gavin started the annual Doctors Without Borders fundraiser five years ago in response to the earthquake in Haiti.

Local musicians and dancers will perform at the Doctors Without Borders fundraiser, March 1 in Redford.

"We raised quite a lot of money at that time, $8,000 or $9,000. I had a lot of musicians and dancers with me, a lot of guys from Ireland. We said let's do it again. It would be a nice thing to have a benefit again. And the parents of the youngsters I teach really enjoy it. They like that their children are involved in something like that. They think it's a worthy event."

"I make sure they (students) get up and play (during the benefit) even if it's only one tune."

Continuous music

Performers this year also include Anne McCallum Set-Dancers, Terrence Bradley Highland Pipers, Frank Kennedy, Ray Maguire, Colin Paige, Michael Gavin, Steve Agacinski, The Chambers Family, Suzanne Camino, Marty Somberg, Conor O'Neills Session group, Ardan Academy of Irish Dance, Mike Houston, Brendan McNulty, Craig Wagner, Nicolas Brown, and the MacNeil Family Cape Breton Band.

Paddy Homan, originally from Ireland and now from Chicago, Ill., is the special guest tenor.

"Paddy is quite a character. He's a social worker, and he spent time in the priesthood, too. He is devoted to the elderly. A part of his job is visiting the elderly who live alone. He sings a song for them and tells a story. Paddy is always telling stories. I think he can't help it," Gavin said. "He has two CDs to his credit and he sings Danny Boy in Gaelic, which is a rare version and he sings it in English."

St. Patrick's Day show

Many of the local performers, including Gavin's Crossroads Ceili, will play both the fundraiser and St. Patrick's Day event, which will run from 3 p.m. to midnight Sunday, March 16, the day before St. Patrick's Day, at Hellenic Cultural Center, 36375 Joy Road, Westland. It's the first time the group won't perform on the holiday.

"Sunday is more suitable for families, for mom and dad and grandparents and the kids to come out. The parade is that day — it starts at noon — and it will be over by 2 p.m. We'll have food and entertainment ready by 3 p.m.," said Gavin, referring to the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Detroit.

The Irish Fest is a family-oriented event that will include food and beverages for purchase in addition to continuous music. Admission is $10, with children admitted free.

"We have people come from as far away as Flint, and Downriver and Ann Arbor," Gavin said. "We put in a big dance floor and we have a big party. Everybody has a good time and people can bring their children."

LOVE YOUR HEART WITH LEAN PORK

According to Chef Judson Allen, a “Next Food Network Star” finalist and chef who has maintained a 150-pound weight loss, Americans can take care of their hearts without sacrificing their favorite foods.

For chef Allen, those favorite foods include fried pork, greens and cornbread — a meal he remembers enjoying with his family on Sunday nights. “Just like so many people across the country, there are certain meals that I just don’t want to give up,” said Allen. “When I decided to create a healthier version of that dish, I used pork tenderloin, which is certified as heart-healthy by the American Heart Association, and so flavorful and versatile enough to include in any generational recipe.”

For a complete meal that everyone will love, serve chef

Allen’s BBQ Roasted Pork Tenderloin Stuffed with Braised Collard Greens & Caramelized Onions with cornbread and a salad on the side. Or try other healthful pork dishes, such as Mexicali Pork Chops or Cajun Pork Pinwheels. And remember, for a tender eating experience, cook pork loin roasts, chops and tenderloins to an internal temperature between 145°F (medium rare), followed by a three-minute rest and 160°F (medium), using a digital thermometer to ensure an accurate reading.

BBQ ROASTED PORK TENDERLOIN STUFFED WITH BRAISED COLLARD GREENS & CARAMELIZED ONIONS

Yield: 4-5 servings

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 cup onion, chopped
- ¼ cup red bell pepper, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon sea salt to taste
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- 1 cup low-sodium chicken stock
- ½ cup stout beer or 1 cup low-sodium chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 pound collard greens, washed and cut
- 1 tablespoon no-fat cream cheese
- 1 teaspoon hot sauce
- 1 pound pork tenderloin
- 1 ½ cups any jarred BBQ sauce
- Toothpicks

In heavy pot, add oil and onions and cook over medium heat until caramelized. Add red peppers, garlic, sea salt and black pepper. Cook for about 2 minutes. Add chicken stock, beer, vinegar and honey and bring liquid to a boil. Add greens to liquid. Cook for about 45 minutes to an hour or until tender. Remove pot from heat and drain remaining liquid. Add cream cheese and hot sauce and stir. While greens cook, prepare pork tenderloin. Butterfly your pork tenderloin by cutting a slit down middle. Do not cut through pork. Cover pork with plastic wrap; pound with flat side of meat mallet until about ½-inch thick, starting from middle and working outward. Discard plastic wrap. Spread collard green mixture over tenderloin and tightly roll. Secure seams with toothpicks. Place pork in baking dish and brush liberally with BBQ sauce. Bake in 350°F preheated oven for 25-30 minutes or until internal temperature of pork has reached 145°F. Let pork rest for 5 minutes and then slice and serve.

CAJUN PORK PINWHEELS

Prep time: 20 minutes
Cook time: 45 minutes
Servings: 6

- 2 pork tenderloins, 1 pound each
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 cup red bell pepper, finely chopped
- ½ cup onion, finely chopped
- ½ cup celery, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon fennel seed, crushed
- 1 to 3 teaspoons lemon pepper

Using sharp knife, cut lengthwise slit down center of 1 pork tenderloin almost to, but not through, bottom of tenderloin. Open tenderloin so it lies flat; cover with plastic wrap. Working from the center to edges, lightly pound tenderloin with flat side of meat mallet or rolling pin until about ¼ inch thick; remove plastic wrap. Repeat with remaining tenderloin. Heat oven to 325 degrees F. Heat oil in large skillet over medium heat. Add red bell pepper, onion, celery, thyme, garlic salt, red pepper and paprika; cook about 5 minutes or until vegetables are tender; stirring frequently. Spread vegetable mixture evenly over each flattened tenderloin to within 1 inch of edges. Starting with shortest side, roll up; secure edges of each roll with toothpicks or tie each with string. In small bowl, combine fennel seed and lemon-pepper; press mixture onto top and sides of each tenderloin roll. Place rolls seam-side down on rack in shallow pan. Roast for about 45 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 160 degrees F. Let rolls stand 5 minutes. Remove toothpicks or string; slice.

COMMERCIAL INVESTORS 'CAUTIOUSLY OPTIMISTIC'

Commercial real estate investments are expected to produce generally solid returns in 2014, according to the authors of Expectations & Market Realities in Real Estate 2014—The Future Unfolds, an annual forecast report released by Real Estate Research Corporation (RERC), Deloitte, and the National Association of Realtors.

The three organizations have drawn on their respective capabilities to examine the economy, capital markets, and commercial real estate property markets; thoroughly assess and analyze existing research; and offer an objective outlook for commercial real estate for 2014 and beyond. Findings indicate that although uncertainties remain, the economy is expected to continue to grow slowly and improve modestly in 2014. Capital is flush, and commercial real estate investment has expanded to the secondary and tertiary markets. In addition, the report carefully analyzes and offers a research-based assessment of the office, industrial, apartment, retail, and hotel property sectors. The report also provides an outlook for the three most likely economic and investment scenarios for 2014 and beyond.

"We have seen steady if slow progress since the commercial real estate market collapsed in second quarter 2008, and as the future unfolds, we expect that the positive returns for commercial real estate will continue," stated Kenneth Riggs Jr., president and CEO of RERC. "The value increase from the trough is now about 30 percent, just slightly less than the value lost during the past six years. Although returns are likely to be positive in 2014, we forecast them to be a little lower than in 2013, but still a very reasonable approximate average of 8.75 percent."

"The stabilization that we have seen in the commercial real estate markets during the past year has added greatly to the 'cautiously optimistic' outlook we have for the year ahead," said Matthew

Kimmel, principal and U.S. real estate sector leader for Deloitte Transactions and Business Analytics LLP. "Overall, we see the potential for moderate and continued growth in the volume of commercial property transactions and in property prices."

The commercial real estate recovery is expected to continue throughout 2014, based on slightly stronger economic growth, noted Lawrence Yun, Ph.D., NAR chief economist. "We anticipate the economy to grow at an annual rate of approximately 2.6 percent, with about 2.2 million jobs to be added in 2014. More jobs mean increased demand for office, retail, apartment, and other commercial real estate sectors," noted Yun.

Expectations & Market Realities in Real Estate 2014—The Future Unfolds can be obtained electronically at www.rerc.com, www.realtor.org/prodser.nsf/Research and www.deloitte.com.

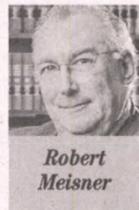

Slip and fall case facts vary

Q: We listed our home with a real estate company and allowed it to have an open house. We left the house key with the broker who asked us not to be present at the open house. A potential buyer who came to the open house, slipped in our driveway. When we left, the sun was shining and the driveway was completely clear of snow. The buyer is threatening to sue us and our broker. Do you think they have a case?

A: While each case depends upon its facts, in a similar case that was decided by the Michigan Court of Appeals, the suit against the owners was dismissed because they were not in possession of the property at the time of the accident, but the listing broker was held liable because he was in control of the property at the time and was responsible for the buyer's protection. The court in that case noted that the sellers had taken reasonable measures to clear the snow from the driveway and sidewalk, and then turned over possession and control of the premises to the broker. You should check with your attorney as each case has to be considered on its individual facts.

Q: Can you tell me what my real estate agent's obligations to me are?

A: There are six general common law fiduciary duties that a real estate agent owes to his or her client. They are: Obedience – following your lawful instructions. Loyalty – agent must act only in your best interests. Disclosure – agent must tell you all relevant facts about the property or sale. Confidentiality – agent must keep your confidences. Accountability – agent must be accountable for your possessions, such as keys, money, important papers. Reasonable care and skill – agent must act competently. These are in addition to any other specific duties spelled out in the agreement you sign with your agent.

NOTICE TO BRIGHT HOUSE NETWORKS CABLE CUSTOMERS
This notice is to inform our Bright House Networks customers of upcoming changes to their cable programming lineup.
From time to time our agreements with cable channels and television stations come up for renewal. While we do not anticipate any loss or disruption of service, regulations require us to notify you of the possibility of losing programming. Therefore, please be advised that our agreements with NCI Center for Health, NCI Network, and YouToo remain in effect on a month-to-month basis, but we may have to cease carriage in all formats if our authority to continue is withheld. SUDOKU

9x9 Sudoku grid with some numbers filled in.

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
