More than 180 Westland residents were able to ring in the new year warm and snug in new winter coats, hats, gloves and scarves thanks to a local church and some very generous donors.

The coats — purchased with a substantial donation from local business owner Glenn Shaw Jr. and the Westland Community Foundation — were distributed Dec. 31 to local children at the Lutheran Church of Our Savior in Westland. Hats, scarves and gloves, along with a dictionary to help with schoolwork, were donated by Westland's Warm Hearts, a nonprofit focused on helping children in need.

"All of those receiving the new coats — to a person — were so happy and grateful," said the Rev. Venice C. Douglas, pastor of the church.

The coats followed the Christmas Eve donation of toys and food that helped brighten the holidays for more than 65 Westland families, Douglas said.

According to Lynette Hobyak, a Livonia resident actively involved with the Westland Community Foundation, approximately $10,000 was spent providing toys, gift cards and food vouchers for

LOCALS ENJOY TRIP TO INAUGURATION

Will Govan of New Hudson wasn't planning on attending President Donald Trump's inauguration last week.

But tickets became available at the last minute, so Govan and some family members were on their way to Washington, D.C., to witness the swearing in of the nation's 45th president.

Govan said being able to see multiple generations of presidents and other governing officials in one place was "an honor in and of itself." But getting to see the inauguration and hear the new president speak was great.

"I really appreciated President Trump's inauguration speech, as it really seemed to speak directly to the people," Govan said. "The message was clear: He will be putting America first and working for all the people."

Carol Maynard, a retired teacher from Northville, couldn't get to Washington, D.C., for the ceremony, but did attend an inauguration party sponsored by the Macomb and Oakland Republican parties. (She and a friend did take photos standing next to a cardboard cutout of the new president — "That's as close as we got," she said.)

Maynard called Trump's inaugural address "eloquent" and was glad to hear him address issues such as trade immigration and violence.

"Trump's message is 'America First,'" Maynard said. "He will be the biggest change

Women put government on notice with D.C. march

Matt Jachman

People from the Detroit area joined hundreds of thousands from across the country Saturday in putting a new administration, and the entire Washington, D.C., establishment, on notice.

The Women's March on Washington, which drew a record crowd for an inaugural protest, was more than a reaction to the election of Donald Trump, who was sworn in Friday as president. It was about, participants say, standing up for equality for women and girls, for racial and ethnic groups and immigrants and for gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people.

Yet while individual marchers were motivated by different causes — working for educational opportunity, defending abortion rights, protecting the environment, supporting the Affordable Care Act and more — rejecting many of the things Trump said on the campaign trail, and since winning the presidency, was a unifying theme.

"I find Trump to be a bad example for my sons and a threat to my daughters," said Susan Greenlee, a nurse-midwife from Northville who helped organize a busload of marchers.

"I don't think he's taking us into a more civilized future," but one that is "barbaric" and "rude," Greenlee added.

agent in the history of the United States. He will do just fine if people give him a chance."

Like many locals who actually made the trip to D.C. for the inauguration festivities, Govan said people — even those who oppose Trump — should realize Trump "is the president now ... regardless of your political views. I encourage you to at least give him a chance."

Wayne County Commissioner Terry Marecki was part of a group of some 30 people from Livonia who went down for the many festivities related to the inauguration. They couldn't get tickets to the actual ceremony, but had plenty of fun anyway.

The group hit the GOP party Jan. 19 and then the Michigan ball Friday night.

"We had an awesome time and we thought the entire weekend went well," Marecki said. "There were many protesters, some were peaceful and some were foul and disgusting. There were a ton of people at the festivities."

Which begets the question, what about the controversy over the size of the inauguration crowd? Marecki's reaction was fairly common: "Who cares?"

"I have no idea if Trump had more or less attendees than Obama and, frankly, who (cares)?" Marecki said. "In my opinion, this is another way the press is trying to make Trump less legitimate. I can't imagine there is one Trump supporter out there who cares how big the crowd was."

Marecki believes Trump was elected because he put a voice to the frustrated voters tired of politics as usual.

"We have voted for someone who loves the United States, loves the people of the U.S. and will listen to the people of this county," she said. "During the campaign, he verbalized the frustration many of the voters in this country have felt the past years. There will be many people praying for him and praying he leads this county in the right direction the next four years."

Christine Wofford of Canton is one of them. She met her brother in Washington, D.C., and the pair went to the swearing in, inauguration concert and a ball. She believes Trump will "be a wonderful president" and "have many people praying for his success."

Wofford went to Cathedral of St. Matthew the Apostle, where John F. Kennedy's funeral Mass was held, to light a candle for Trump.

"Being pro-life, I think he's off to a terrific start," Wofford said. "He will be a wonderful president and will have much prayer behind him."

The Michigan Republican Party invited Carole Layne of Livonia to the Michigan gala, which she attended with Troy attorney Jim Williams. Once there, the pair took in a variety of events, including a reception for education secretary nominee Betsy DeVos and parties sponsored by Debbie Dingell and David Trot, plus the Freedom Ball. It was Layne's first time attending a presidential inauguration. She said it was difficult to get around because of security and crowds, but nonetheless it gave her a "sense of pride" to be involved.

She believes Trump will be an effective leader.

"President Trump will, hopefully, live true to his promises and bring back American jobs to our people," Layne said. "I am going to remain optimistic and give support, just as I would to anyone else elected to be our president."

local families.

Both Hobyak and her father Shaw — along with several young family members — helped pass out gifts and food vouchers during a Christmas Eve pizza party at the church. Around 166 children received toys and gift cards, while 67 families received food vouchers, Hobyak said.

"It touches your heart to be able to participate in helping others and it is nice to see younger generations getting involved in helping others, too," Hobyak said.

The opportunity to provide coats to help families combat the freezing temperatures and team with Warm Hearts for cold weather accessories was also rewarding, she said.

The new coats were purchased and delivered to the church — all perfectly sized for the recipient thanks to the hard work of Consuelo Davis, an Inkster resident and member of the church, Douglas said.

Davis was instrumental in organizing the coat project — gathering size information during the Christmas Eve event and even personally delivering some of the coats and gifts that people were not able to pick up on their own, he said.

Davis said her interactions in the community raised her awareness of the needs of young families in the area.

"I knew there were so many people in need. We just all worked hard to make it happen. I thank God for Lynette and Glenn and all of the others," Davis said.

Coach offers thanks

Thank you for all of your support that the wonderful staff at the O&E has provided South Redford and Redford Union Public Schools over the many years of my service. I have decided to retire as of Jan. 27 from South Redford Public Schools. Coaching in the Redford community as a high school and middle school coach for 25 years has blessed my life with the opportunity to mentor and guide young student-athletes.

Many times I have called upon the services of the O&E paper and staff to promote a sports team or educational project that was newsworthy. The staff of the O&E have always gone above and beyond the call of duty to project a positive story and add another pillar to a great community. It has been my pleasure to have such a supportive media outlet to capture the stories that might make a difference in a child's life.

It is time for me to move on and write another chapter of my life. Once more, thank you for providing a professional media outlet for our family of teachers and coaches to tell our story. Working together and coming together, we can make a difference in the growth of our community.

Alternate facts?

Alternative Fact: Alternative (adjective) awl-tur-nuh-tiv. Fact: (noun) fakt.

Definition: 1. A lie. A lie whose sole purpose and intent is to ignore a truth that is embarrassing. 2. A tool designed to further complete the dumbing down of republican America so they don't realize they've been scammed (yet again). 3. An invention of Kellyanne Conway as a way to present a piece of information that seems to have objective reality in anything but truth and honesty.

Example of alternate fact: Trump — "I kept Carrier from sending thousands of jobs to Mexico."

Real fact: Trump pays Carrier 7 million taxpayer dollars to send 1,300 jobs to Mexico and top Carrier executive says that the $7 million will be spent on robots to replace whatever workers are left.

Alternative fact: Trump — "Fiat/Chrysler is bringing back thousands of jobs because of me!"

Real fact: Sorry, comrade, the UAW and FCA negotiated that long ago.

Whether it's the smallest inconsequential thing, like crowd size or something big like your Russian connections, a lie is a lie Trump folks, so when your spokesperson Scotty Nell Hughes states, "There's no such thing as facts anymore," it justifies my position of "Not my president."

What's the point?

Randy Kniebes unlashes his tirade to support his contention that President Obama POTUS exit is a "good sign." Mr. Kniebes is certainly entitled to his opinion, but can not define his own facts to support this contention. Most of his factual dispute with President Obama is simply not true.

First off, Mr. Kniebes contends that "most President Obama's policies were abject failures. Let me remind Mr. Kniebes and his fellow Obama bashers, President Obama was elected and re-elected by substantial plurality of votes of both the electoral college and popular vote.

Fact is, Mr. Kniebes and your fellow Obama bashers, Hillary Clinton won the popular vote by nearly a 3 million-vote margin over Trump.

Kniebes goes on to claim President Obama was not as gracious as President Bush in the transition to President Trump. A remarkable accusation as even Trump has repeatedly maintained through speech, Tweets and in writing how smooth the transition has been and is.

My final thought to Mr. Kniebes, is it not time to retire from demonization of President Obama? He left the presidency. What really is your point.

Greenlee and others who went to Washington say the event was exhilarating and awe-inspiring. "It was a wonderful experience for me" as an expression "of solidarity and hope for the future," said Colleen Crossey of Novi, a community volunteer.

"I just didn't really understand how powerful this would be," said Catherine Keyes, a Westland activist who traveled on a chartered bus with more than 50 other marchers. "I got off the bus and I was just literally in tears already."

We talked to several people who marched Saturday. Here are their stories.

'Very powerful experience'

When Deborah Burke, a Detroit native who teaches psychology at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, learned about plans for the march in the days after Trump's victory, "Every cell in my body told me that Schoolcraft needed to send a bus of students," she said.

Burke organized that trip, which left from Schoolcraft with a round-trip fare of $100 per participant. There were students and non-students, men and women and even a family on the bus, she said. Burke traveled with her mother, Ruth Rehberg.

She talked to fellow marchers about why they were making the trip.

"The big umbrella was equality, really, and justice," she said. "Nobody really said that they have a strong dislike for our new president. For my bus, at least, it was not about that."

Burke and Rehberg were too far from the stage to hear the rally speakers, but heard cheering that began with people in front of the stage and traveled in waves through the massive crowd in and around the National Mall.

A participant displays a Donald Trump puppet wearing a "pussyhat" — the hat is a reference to lewd remarks made by Trump — Saturday during the Women's March on Washington.

"You could just feel it and you could hear it and it would just hit you like a blast," she said.

Schoolcraft student Christian Sullivan of Livonia was able to hear the speakers and performers. "Everybody went up there, they told a story about what was important to them," he said. "Everybody was full of energy."

Later, after marching to 12th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, near the White House, Burke and her mother sat in bleachers, set up for Trump's inaugural parade, watching fellow marchers pass.

"It was amazing, just watching all these people," she said. "Just a very powerful experience."

Burke said the march will be a starting point for increased activism. "I think there are going to be so many opportunities moving forward," she said.

'Beyond a Trump thing'

Crossey, who has a background as a social worker, traveled to the capital by car with a friend.

"It was really a moving and inspiring event and it encouraged women to know their power and that they can make a difference in their government and in their lives," she said.

They were close enough to the stage to hear speakers and performers; Crossey said she was particularly inspired by filmmaker Michael Moore, who encouraged participants to contact their elected representatives daily regarding issues of concern.

"I like that he had an action-focused message," Crossey said.

Crossey said she was heartened by the demonstrations held Saturday in cities around the world.

"This went beyond a Trump thing," she said. "This became a demonstration to fight back against the hostile environment for families and for women."

'You must be involved'

Keyes traveled on a bus with longtime friend Julie Harrison of Milford.

"When we heard about this, we just decided, well this is our chance," she said.

Keyes said showing support for women's health care and the protection of the rights of gay, lesbian and bisexual people were prime issues for her. She also wanted stand up for the futures of her three granddaughters, she said.

"I don't have the luxury of being silent, so that's what really motivated me," she said. Her protest sign read, "We rise."

Since the election, Keyes said, she's spoken with friends who were scared and wondered, "Are we going to go backwards?"

"This election has proved that you can no longer be the armchair quarterback ... after the election," she said. "It proves that you must be involved."

Like Crossey, Keyes was inspired by Moore's speech and also by the anti-Trump rap poem performed by actress Ashley Judd.

"Hopefully, they're on notice that we're not taking this lying down," she said.

Though the march was a reaction to Trump's win, Keyes said the movement it has sparked is an inclusive one for anyone concerned about its issues.

"We don't want anybody to feel left behind,"

she said.

'People are watching'

For Jeannine Donigan-Hales, a moment of spontaneity illustrated Saturday's events.

Donigan-Hales and her daughter Madison were exiting the Metro station at Washington's L'Enfant Plaza on Saturday morning, part of a huge crowd on its way to the march, when someone behind them began singing a Woody Guthrie protest hymn.

"All of a sudden, the crowd broke out in 'This Land Is Your Land' and it was all ages and races and genders," said Donigan-Hales, of Farmington. "They were just all singing. It was very moving."

Donigan-Hales, a teacher, said she joined the march because, as a union member and a citizen, "I wanted my voice to be heard." Education, she said, is a primary issue for her.

Madison, a high school sophomore, is sympathetic to the LGBT community and supports marriage equality, her mother said. "She's very compassionate."

The event was "amazing" and "inspiring" for both, Donigan-Hales said.

Donigan-Hales said she and her family respect the peaceful transfer of power to a Trump administration, but that marchers have put the new president on notice. "People want to give him a chance, but he's got to know that people are watching," she said.

Bridges, not walls

Smiles along the march route was the start of building bridges, instead of walls, for Michelle Dillon and her mother, Marianne Campagna.

The pair spotted at least two Trump supporters during the event, Dillon said, identifiable as fans of the president by articles of clothing. They were perhaps observing instead of marching, she said.

"They didn't look happy, but when we walked by them and we smiled, they smiled back," Dillon said. "That might be the start of communication between severely divided people."

Dillon, of Salem Township, and her mother were at the march in support of immigrant rights.

"I don't want them to feel like they're not welcome in the U.S. or that they will be profiled," Dillon said. Campagna, born in China to a German woman and a Chinese man and raised in Brazil, is herself an immigrant.

Dillon also said she marched in reaction to some of the remarks Trump has made about women. "That disrespect, I'm completely against," she said. "I don't think it's something we should ignore."

She was awed, she said, that so many people, motivated by many different issues, made their voices heard.

"I was proud of our country, really proud of our country at that point," she said. "I felt like I was a patriot, because we were able to express ourselves."

Hopgood coffee hours

State Sen. Hoon-Yung Hopgood (D-Taylor) invites members of the community to join him at upcoming coffee hours to discuss state and local issues of concern. Hopgood represents the 6th Senate District, which includes the Wayne County communities of Belleville, Brownstown Township, Flat Rock, Huron Township, Rockwood, Romulus, Sumpter Township, Taylor, Van Buren Township and Westland. The coffee hours provide opportunities for citizens to meet Hopgood and share their thoughts about current events in Lansing and the local community.

The January Coffee Hour is set for 10:30 a.m. Friday, Jan. 27, at the Brownstown Township Center, 21311 Telegraph Road in Brownstown. The February Coffee Hour will take place at noon Monday, Feb. 13, at the September Days Senior Center, 46425 Tyler Road in Van Buren Township.

Camera Club featured

Livonia Arts Commission announces that the Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of the Bob and Janet Bennett Civic Center Library will feature the Greater Detroit Camera Club Council for the month of February.

GDCC is composed of members from the Grosse Pointe Camera Club, Livonia Camera Club, the Motor City Camera Club located in Bloomfield, the Oakland Camera Club located in Waterford, The Photographic Guild located in Southfield, the Seven Ponds Nature Center Camera Club located in Dryden, the Shutterbug Camera Club located in Detroit, the Toledo Camera Club, the West Oakland Camera Club located in New Hudson, and the Windsor Camera Club. These photography clubs meet on different days and different times but share a common interest: photography.

Each club has competitions in their Electronic Imaging Divisions, including Monochrome, Color, Nature and Color Creative (altered reality). They also have competitions in the two Print Divisions: Monochrome and Color. During the year, all of these clubs will compete against each other in all of the digital division as well as print division. All of the winners from each competition go into the GDCC's End-of-the-Year Print and Digital competition.

This month they celebrate with an end-of-the-year banquet and preparation for the February exhibit.

Plymouth AAUW hosts 'Cinderella' at GC High

Joanne Maliszewski
hometownlife.com

When the curtain rises Feb. 2-4 on the Plymouth AAUW's "Cinderella" at Garden City High School, the audience will see a different kind of woman who enchants the prince.

"It's still the Cinderella story, but with a twist to it," said Laurie Kempisty, who with Kathy Kish is directing the annual AAUW play.

What the audience will witness is a, well, sort of modern woman, who not only enchants the prince and fits her foot delicately into the shoe, but one whom the prince sees as needed as the strength to maintain his kingdom — the Land of Petunia. "We try to add some lines from today's world," Kempisty said.

Performances will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 2-3 and 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Feb. 4 at the high school, 6500 Middlebelt, Garden City. Tickets are $6 online at <http://aauw-pcml.org/list.php>

The organization (American Association of University Women) began nationally in 1881 — 1952 in Plymouth — and empowers women and girls through advocacy, education, philanthropy and research. The non-profit organization has more than 170,000 members nationwide and supports 1,000 local branches and 800 college/university partners.

When asked how long the Plymouth AAUW has staged the annual plays, a few thoughts were needed and the closest anyone could come to providing a date was at least 50 years, but maybe even 60.

Of the club, which has more than 80 members, some 25-35 women turn out to audition either as actors or ask to work behind the scenes with costumes, sets, lighting — you name it. Only or obtained by club members, as well.

And "Cinderella" wouldn't be the same without a pumpkin turned royal carriage. The AAUW has a gentleman who volunteers and has created a carriage that is still under wraps. "He redoes everything for us," Kempisty said, referring to the props.

Attendees will also have the opportunity to get up close with the AAUW actors as they come through the audience as part of "Cinderella."

"Cinderella" is one of five plays that the club rotates. Other productions include "Peter Pan," "Snow White," "Alice in Wonderland" and the "Wizard of Oz" — all great fare to interest the Garden City-area kids who attend.

To add more oomph to its traditions, the Plymouth AAUW has also created a night for Boy and Girl Scouts, who attend programs on theater and learn all of its facets either from club members or the Garden City High School Drama Club. For their attendance, the Scouts earn a patch.

While the AAUW once staged the plays in the Plymouth area, Garden City High School officials offered facilities free of charge other than for utilities, such as lighting and sound, the days of the performances.

What really drives club members is that proceeds from the plays are used to provide college scholarships, such as to Schoolcraft College and Madonna University. Plus, members also find that they get new members from those who attend the plays. "We add new people every year," Kish said.

Sharon Belobraidich and Mickey Edell, as the Evil Stepmother and Step-sister Gruesue, have acted in AAUW productions for more than 30 years.

women take the acting roles. Even a woman plays the prince, but with a lower voice.

"This is the highlight of our year," said Kish, now a retired teacher, but who taught in the same building as Kempisty, who continues to work.

What club members love is that, for the most part, everyone has long-standing roles in the whole production. "Every year, someone else directs," Kish said.

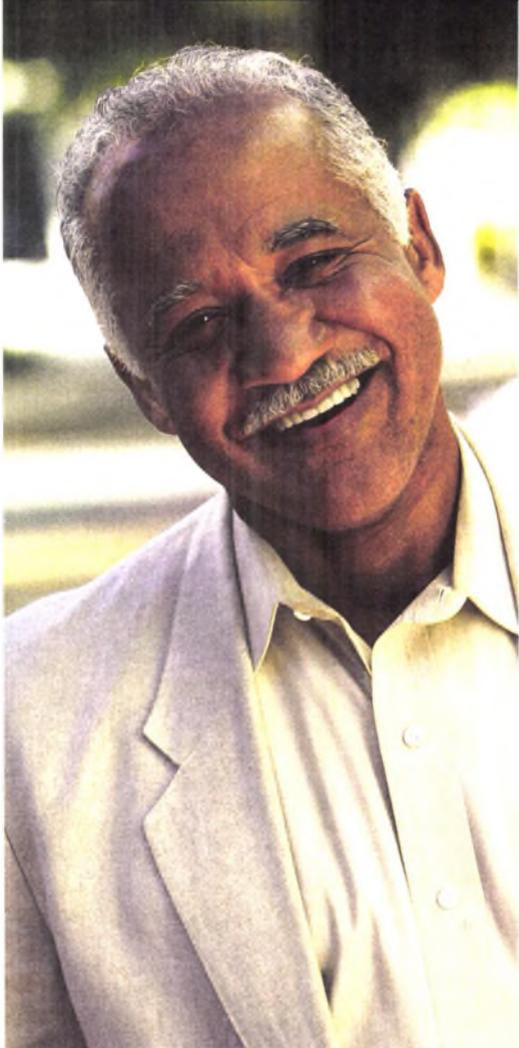

This year it was time for Kish and Kempisty. "This is all volunteer," Kish said. "Everyone is a member of the AAUW."

And each year, the club stages the play at Garden City High School for kids. The effort begins with tryouts and plenty of rehearsal as actors memorize their lines. Costumes are made

Man accused of breaking into Livonia hotel

David Veselenak
hometownlife.com

An 18-year-old man faces criminal charges after police say he broke into a hotel office and stole cash from a safe.

Koehler

Livonia police say Matthew Koehler broke into the office at the Crossland Detroit-Livonia hotel at 11808 Middlebelt the afternoon of Jan. 15. Police allege Koehler, whom police say did not have a home address on file, entered the hotel's business office, which is closed on Sundays, through an unlocked window.

Police allege he found a key to the safe and opened it. Police allege he removed cash before leaving the office. After an investigation, police located and arrested Koehler.

He is charged with breaking-and-entering and larceny in a building. He was arraigned in Livonia's 16th District Court on several charges, including breaking-and-entering and larceny in a building. He was given a $20,000 cash or surety bond. As of Tuesday, Wayne County Jail records show he remained in custody.

He was due to return to court Thursday for a probable cause conference, police said. A preliminary examination is set for Feb. 2. If convicted, he faces up to 10 years in prison.

Hit-and-run accident

A motorist driving near Joy and Donna came into the police station Jan. 18 to report a hit-and-run accident.

The driver said she was going eastbound on Joy just east of Franklin High School when the car in front of her abruptly stopped. She stopped, but said the car behind her did not and hit the rear of her car. She said the car then fled eastbound, losing sight of it.

Purse, laptop stolen

Westland police were called in the early morning hours of Jan. 18 to a residence in the 3500 block of Westland Estates Drive on the report of items taken from a vehicle.

Police say the woman in the area parking lot and she told them her purse and laptop were stolen from the vehicle.

She told police she arrived earlier that morning to pick up her children and went inside, not remembering if she locked the car.

When she came out 15-20 minutes later, she found her laptop and handbag missing from the car. The bag contained her driver's license, social security card and credit cards. No damage was reported.

Vehicle shot with BB gun

A resident who lives in the 2000 block of Venoy came into the police station Jan. 18 to report damage to his vehicle.

The victim said he heard a sound like a BB gun going off when he walked out to his vehicle. When he investigated the vehicle, he found damage to the front side driver fender that was consistent with a BB.

License plate stolen

A resident in the 1200 block of Fairwood came to the police station Monday to report his license plate was stolen.

The resident said he dropped off his van at a Mr. Muffler on South Wayne Road on Jan. 20 to have it worked on. When he picked up the van, he drove it home. He then drove it Sunday night to his work in Detroit and drove it home later. The next morning, he discovered the license plate was hanging by one screw and was not his plate. He said he did not know who would have taken the license plate.

Moped stolen

A resident came to the police station Monday to report his moped was stolen while parked in the 3400 block of Hazelwood.

He said he last saw his moped in the driveway at the home earlier in the night. An hour later, he discovered the moped was gone. He said he had the only set of keys and the vehicle was paid off.

Package taken

A resident in the 7300 block of Wilderness Park came to the police station Friday to report the theft of a package.

He said he received notice from UPS that the package had been delivered Jan. 5. He arrived home later that night and could not locate the package. He contacted UPS, which told him the package had been delivered to the address.

LIVONIA POLICE BRIEFS

ID theft

A resident in the 14900 block of Paderewski came into the police station Monday afternoon to report her identity had been stolen.

She said she was contacted by her employer about unemployment forms filed in her name, even though she was still working. There were no suspects and she did not know who was receiving the benefits.

Attempted larceny from auto reported

Livonia police were called by a resident in the 3000 of St. Martins on the report of individuals trying to access parked cars.

The caller said he saw the suspects trying to open car doors in the area of the 19200 block of Purlingbrook. Police checked the parking lot in the area and discovered a vehicle that appeared to have been rimpaged through. Police spoke to the vehicle's owner, who came and checked on the car to see if anything was missing. He said it did not appear that anything was missing. He said the car was left unlocked because of an issue with some of the door locks.

Theft of cigarettes

Police were called Monday morning to Speedway, 31374 Schoolcraft, on the report of a theft of cigarettes.

The store clerk told police the suspect came in and asked for a pack of cigarettes. He then opened the pack and walked out of the shop without paying for them, telling the clerk to "call the police" when he was told he needed to pay for them. Police located a man who matched the suspect's description along Schoolcraft, near Hubbell. He was stopped and questioned by police, who then arrested him for stealing the pack of cigarettes. He told police he took the cigarettes because he was homeless and didn't have money. He was issued a citation and taken to I-96 and Telegraph and released.

Suspect arrested following theft at Westland JCPenney store

hometownlife.com

Westland police say they have arrested a Lincoln Park man accused in a robbery at a JCPenney store last year.

Rankin

Police say they arrested Mark Rankin, 40, last month on suspicion of stealing from the JCPenney store at the Westland Shopping Center, 35000 Warren. Rankin was a suspect in a theft from the store that took place in May. Police said he then got into a confrontation with a loss prevention employee before fleeing on foot.

Police say Rankin was arrested last month after he was in custody at another agency, which delayed the arrest. He was charged with armed robbery and as a habitual offender Dec. 14. He received a $250,000 cash or surety bond. He remained locked up in the Wayne County Jail as of Monday afternoon.

Rankin has a lengthy criminal background, with several crimes happening all across southeastern Michigan, according to Michigan Department of Corrections online records. Records show Rankin has pleaded in several cases, including breaking and entering a building with intent and larceny in a building, among others.

A final conference in Wayne County Circuit Court is scheduled to take place Feb. 22, with a jury trial scheduled for March 22. If convicted, he faces up to life in prison.

"Thank you to those who shared this post on social media, and those who submitted tips leading to this arrest," Westland police said in a statement. "This would not have been possible without your assistance."

Wayne police seek armed robbery suspect

hometownlife.com

Wayne police say they continue to look for an armed robbery suspect they say injured a pedestrian Monday evening.

Police say the man attacked and injured a 48-year-old Westland woman at about 5:30 p.m. as she walked east on Glenwood near Bancroft. Police say he approached her as she walked with her phone in her hands and told her to give him the phone. She refused several times, including when the suspect tried to grab it out of her hands. She then began punching the man.

The man then pulled out a knife and slashed her arm, police said, injuring her and leaving a 2-inch laceration on her left arm. After slashing her, police say the suspect then grabbed the phone and the attached portable battery pack out of her hands and ran off. The woman then got home and had her mother take her to Beaumont Hospital in Wayne, which is where police met her and interviewed her about the incident.

She told them she did not get a good look at her attacker, but described him as a man standing about 6-foot-2, wearing a dark, baggie sweatshirt, light blue jeans and white shoes.

Wayne Police Lt. Ryan Strong said police continue to look for the suspect as of Tuesday afternoon. Anyone with information is encouraged to call Wayne Police Det. Stephan Perez at 734-721-1414 ex. 1506.

WAYNE POLICE REPORTS

ID stolen from Domino's order

A Pennsylvania resident filed a report with the Wayne Police Department Jan. 17 over the fraudulent use of a Domino's Pizza account.

The victim reported that someone fraudulently used the account, which included an order placed on their American Express card.

The order consisted of boneless chicken with hot sauce as well as cioppino and a chicken Caesar salad.

BB gun fired at window

A resident in the 35400 block of Currier filed a report Jan. 16 about damage to a home window.

The resident said it appeared someone used a BB gun three times into the front window of their home.

The BBs went through the first pane of glass but not the second pane.

Wallet taken from rec center

A patron at the HYPE Rec Center, 4635 Howe, filed a police report Jan. 12 over the theft of his wallet from the center.

He said the wallet contained his ID, bank card, cash and possibly his social security card. He said the center has looked into who had taken the items, but had not found out anything. He believes he knew who took the items, and that they have taken items before.

REILLY

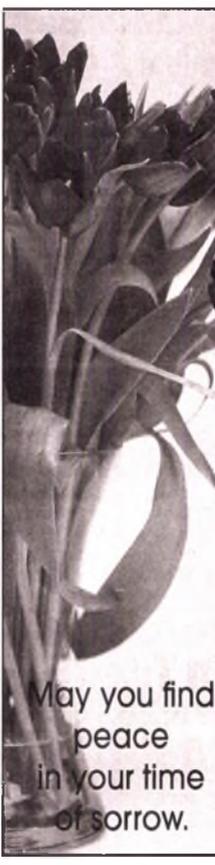

PHILIP 19, passed away at the University of Michigan CS Mott Hospital on January 22, 2017 after a 15 month valiant battle with leukemia. He was a proud 2015 graduate of Detroit Catholic Central High School who was a happy and healthy young man in his first semester of college when he was unexpectedly diagnosed with very high risk acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL) on October 12, 2015. Over the next 15 months he was hospitalized 9 months and experienced unparalleled medical challenges yet he unceasingly fought like a stoic warrior until his death. He is survived by his parents, Glenn and Lisa and his sister AnnMarie. His wake will be held on Friday, January 27 from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. (Rosary at 6 p.m.) at O'Brien Sullivan Funeral Home, 41555 Grand River Ave, Novi, MI 48375. Funeral Mass will occur on Saturday, January 28 at 11 a.m. (Visitation at 10 a.m.) at Detroit Catholic Central High School, 27225 Wixom Rd, Novi, MI 48374. A private interment will be held on a future date. In lieu of flowers, the family asks that contributions be made to Detroit Catholic Central High School where a tuition assistance fund is being established in his name for students in need. TRICK

MARGARET ELIZABETH was born in Detroit to Joseph Frank and Henrietta (Strate) Buhr on January 26, 1921. In 1925 the family moved to Ann Arbor where she attended public schools and graduated from Ann Arbor High School. After graduation, she attended Michigan State and William and Mary. She continued her education by receiving a master's degree from Wayne State University in education. Her father Joseph Frank Buhr founded the Buhr Machine Tool Company. He was an inventor and industrialist. After his death, the family donated the land that would become Buhr Park to the city. Her brother Joseph Frank took over their father's Buhr Machine Tool Company in 1946 which became an international leader in its field. In 1953 the Buhr foundation was founded which funded community needs. Our mother married Charles John Trick on January 30, 1943. She pursued teaching career when she finished college. After substituting from 1950 to 1951, she was hired in a permanent position as a kindergarten teacher at Jefferson School in Wayne Michigan. Many of her students were from disadvantaged families so each year clothes and food would be personally provided by her. Our mother's kindergarten career expanded over 34 years. Because of her commitment and excellence in teaching, she was awarded a special tribute from the Michigan State Legislature on June 8, 1983 to praise her and commend her for her excellence in teaching and her many years of public service. She was an avid bridge player and PTA chairman at her children's schools. Her love for all animals not only included the adoption of many cats but generous contributions to local and national Humane Societies. Together our mother and father were supporters and contributors to the Michigan Athletics and the U of M Hospital. She was a faithful fan of the football program and continued to attend the games until the age of 92 where you could see her doing the famous U of M wave in the stands. Her husband passed away in 2012 just short of their 69th wedding anniversary. She is survived by three children, Holly Pollock, Jacquelyn (Brian) Miller, Jeff (Clare) Trick. She is also survived by her grandchildren, Julie (John) Tulloch, Kelly (Conor) Dunston, Barret (Magan), Kristen and Elizabeth Miller, Sudan (Cindy) Bey, Lauren, Jeffery, Nicholas Trick. Great grandchildren, Oona, Sadie, Braden, Kaylie and Ayla. A memorial service will be held on Thursday, January 26, 2017 at 11:30 a.m. at the Nie Family Funeral Home, Liberty Road Chapel, 3767 W. Liberty Road, Ann Arbor, MI 48103. The family will receive friends from 10:30 a.m. until time of the service. In memory of Margaret, memorial contributions may be made to the Humane Society of Huron Valley or one's local Humane Society. OBSERVERLAND PREVIEW

Fewer top teams going to the mat

Annual Observerland slated for Saturday at Livonia Churchill

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com

With some elite teams not attending Saturday's Observerland Wrestling Tournament at Livonia Churchill, the competition could be more wide open than in previous seasons.

But state powerhouse Novi Detroit Catholic Central — who won in 2016 with its Blue team — is scheduled to bring its White team to the 26th annual tournament, which begins 9 a.m. Saturday in the Churchill gymnasium.

The coveted "spotlight fi-

What: The 26th annual Observerland wrestling tournament.
When: Beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday and continuing until the evening; spotlight finals are slated for 5 p.m.
Where: Livonia Churchill High School gymnasium. The school is located on Newburgh, between Ann Arbor Trail and Joy Road.
Admission: $5 ($3 for students).
Teams: Taking part will be Belleville, Farmington, Farmington Harrison, Garden City, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin (JV), Livonia Stevenson, Lutheran Westland, North Farmington, Northville, Novi, Novi Detroit Catholic Central (White team), Redford Union, Salem and Wayne Memorial.

nals," when the gym lights are turned down and all the attention is on one mat, will begin about 5 p.m.

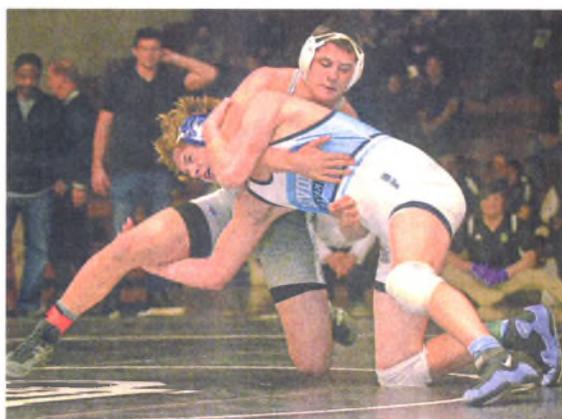

Westland John Glenn won't be there and Livonia Franklin will send only a junior varsity squad as only 15 high schools will be on hand at the Churchill-hosted event.

A key reason for some of the no-shows is about wanting to avoid competitive over-exposure during the regular season, both for wrestlers and teams.

What once was a destination event each season for area teams now is becoming a redundancy, even an afterthought, for some teams.

Spellbinder: Eagles clip RU in 2 OTs

Thurston pulls out 66-65 squeaker over Panthers

Brad Emmons
hometownlife.com

The term "barn burner" might have been an understatement to describe Redford Thurston's 66-65 double-overtime boys basketball victory Tuesday night over host Redford Union.

Before a packed in crowd that had a Cameron Indoor Stadium-like feel to it, the visiting Eagles took home the Redford Township trophy by forcing OT at 50-all after erasing a five-point deficit in the final 46 seconds of regulation.

In the first four-minute extra session, Thurston took a 60-58 lead with only 6.6 seconds left when Matteo Maisano split a pair of free throws. And when RU came down for the final shot, senior guard Eric McCarter was fouled while Junior guard Sarah Tanderys recently set the school's single-game record for 3-pointers.

TANDERYS IS 'TREY' BON

Hard work pays off for Stevenson junior, who sets school mark with nine triples in game

Tim Smith
Hometownlife.com

The moment Sarah Tanderys had worked all summer and fall for was just one sweet jumper away from reality Jan. 10 at South Lyon.

The 16-year-old Tanderys, a junior guard for Livonia Stevenson's varsity girls basketball team, tied the school record for treys earlier in the game's second quarter.

Tanderys had six in the books and sat down for a respite while the Spartans continued to roll.

She wanted seven, though.

"I came out of the game and my teammates told me I had six and I needed one more to break it," said the soft-spoken Tanderys before a recent practice. "And then I broke it and I cried. I was very happy."

Oh, by the way, she added two more successful treys in the second half to give her a Stevenson record off nine by the time the game was over.

Her torrid run gave her 31 points to pace her team to a 60-29 victory.

U-D HALL OF FAME

Titan-ic honor on the way for Ex-Franklin pitcher Kaseta

The late Tony Kaseta will be inducted into University of Detroit Hall of Fame

Brad Emmons
hometownlife.com

Former Livonia Franklin High baseball standout Tony Kaseta will be among the newest class of inductees scheduled to go into the University of Detroit Mercy Athletics Hall of Fame during ceremonies this weekend.

The U-D Hall of Fame weekend includes the induction dinner on Saturday, Jan. 28, on campus at the Student Center Ballroom.

All 2017 Hall of Fame inductees will be recognized the following day during the men's basketball game against Wisconsin-Green Bay. (Game time is 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29 at U-D's Calihan Hall.)

Kaseta, who passed away in 2015 at age 62, will be joined by Teresa Emery (softball), Shireese Statin (track and field), Jack Szczepaniuk (track and field) and Mark Sommerfeld (golf), former women's basketball coach and women's athletic coordinator Susan Kruszewski, along with the 2004 Detroit Mercy women's soccer team.

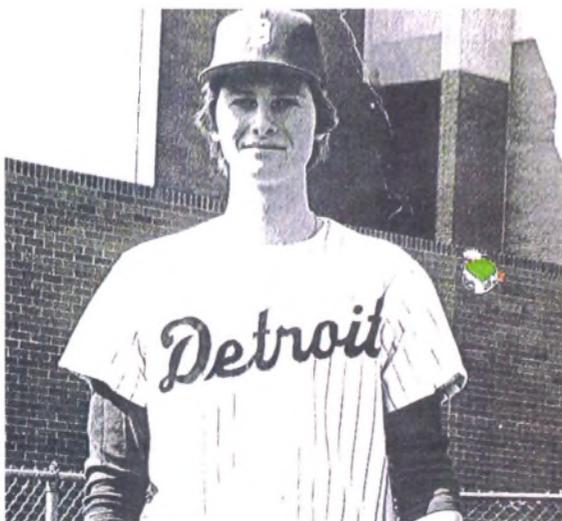

Kaseta, a 1971 Franklin grad, was the ace of the Titan pitching staff during his time and holds the school record with 25 total wins.

He ranks fourth in strikeouts in school history with 218. As a sophomore, he was 9-3 with a 2.29 earned run average allowing just 65 hits with 62 strikeouts in 74.1 innings.

As a senior, he was perfect going 7-0 on the mound and whiffing 59 batters in 56 innings, while helping the Titans to a school-record 36 victories in 1975.

Livonia Stevenson's Sarah Tanderys never quits working on improving her shot.

"My teammates are giving me the ball and I have an open shot I just take what I can," Tanderys said. "If they start falling that's good. But I got to thank them because they were the ones who were behind it as well."

"Going into this year, that was my goal to beat that record. And it happened."

The moment that mattered most for the daughter of Michele and Jeff Tanderys of Livonia came in the seconds before the halftime buzzer sounded.

"It was a fast break and Brie Maas had the ball," Tanderys said. "She was going to drive and she saw me open in the (left) corner."

"I was wide open and it went in. My team all came over and hugged me."

Tanderys added that sharing the moment with her "basketball family" was something to cherish.

"I love my team, being able to play with them every day is great," she said. "I got to thank my coach (Karen Anger) too, because she's been amazing this year."

"She's always pushing me to be my best."

In the zone

The record-breaking 3-ball also was a big deal for Stevenson first-year head coach Anger — who was a standout player at Livonia Churchill and Erskine College (a Division II school in South Carolina) — and for the rest of the Spartans' players.

"It's just a feeling," said Anger, about what it's like for a player to be in such a zone. "You get this feeling as soon as the first few go in you kind of get this head nod, you've got this feeling inside you and the team felt it. So they were feeding her."

"All my girls (Maas, Grace Lamerson, Diane Senkowski) were just drive and dish. They could tell she was feeling it. My bench was huge against South Lyon for her momentum, as well."

"... Every time she shot they (on the bench) all stood up and had their hands in the air for a three and then they just went nuts."

With a smile, Anger then said the Tanderys record meant something special to her for another reason.

"Her mom taught me at Garfield Elementary (in the Livonia district)," said Anger a 2004 Churchill graduate. "And now to see things go full-circle where now I'm her kid's teacher, so to speak, with basketball, it's a cool moment."

Launching pad

It's not too surprising that Sarah Tanderys is a shooting star, so to speak.

She comes from a hoopster family, with both parents having played the sport in high school (her mom at Northville, her dad at Novi) and older brother Chris (a senior at Stevenson) a standout on the 2016-17 varsity boys team.

"We goof around in the driveway," said Sarah, about taking jumpers at home with Chris. "He's a good shooter too."

But don't misunderstand. Sarah is extremely serious when it comes to lining up a shot, letting the ball roll off her fingers and watching its flight en route to the basket.

That's why she worked tirelessly during the off-season at Get Skillz Basketball in Livonia with trainer Jamey Petree.

"It's just to shoot it the same way, not changing my shot, having the same form," she said, about her appetite for non-stop practice.

Eager to work

And that's not all. As soon as Anger was named head coach of the Spartans, Tanderys continuously hit re-dial to find out when she could start working out with the team.

"When I was announced coach, when she was asking 'When are we starting, when can we do stuff?'" Anger said. "Just throughout summer she didn't miss a single day, she worked everything around basketball."

Anger added that she might have nudged Tanderys into improving this season.

"It's the confidence, really," Anger said. "When I told her she needed to start shooting a step or two behind the three she was shaking her head at me, 'No way, it's too far.'"

"I go 'It's not too far, if you start doing it now I promise you come game time in the winter it's going to pay off.'"

"... The shot chart from the South Lyon game is an example of her shooting from well off the three-point line."

And for the rest of this season and her senior year, opponents in the KLAA know who Sarah Tanderys is. That is the flip side to doing something so remarkable.

"The other day I told her, 'Now they've got your number, they know who you are and they know what you can do,'" Anger said. "I told her 'Now you have to start creating other things for yourself, that's what good shooters do.'"

There's no doubt she'll figure it out in the blink of an eye and a fluid roll of the fingers.

BOYS SWIMMING

Rocks fall at Rock Kilgore Invitational

hometownlife.com

Home isn't always where the victories are, as the Salem varsity boys swimming and diving team recently found out.

The Rocks hosted the annual Rock Kilgore Invitational on Jan. 14 at the Charles E. Olson Natatorium, but finished sixth out of six teams with 108 points despite what Salem head coach Brandon Larkins called "plenty of good times and a lot of personal bests."

Taking first place with 290 points was Saline, followed by Northville (239), Zeeland (197), Livonia Stevenson (180), Novi Detroit Catholic Central (153) and Salem.

"This meet really pushed our team and I would say it made us a stronger team," Larkins said. "The boys have realized that they still have half of a season left and they have to work for what they want."

Salem sophomore Eugene Li gave the Rocks something to cheer about. He finished first in a heat of the 200-yard IM with a time of 1:58.41 (a state cut performance).

Earning first for the Shamrocks were Jacob Skwirsk and Conor Brownell, both winning different heats of the 100 butterfly with respective times of 1:00.06 and 57.02.

Stevenson sophomore Benjamin Rojewski won a heat of the 500 freestyle, finishing with a state cut of 4:51.83.

Meanwhile, the Mustangs had plenty of success, both in individual events and relays.

Freshman Craig Maibach (50 free, 24.18), junior Orion Shi (100 free, 53.20), senior Taiyo Ichikawa (500 free, 5:15.83) and freshman Brian Ding (100 breaststroke, 1:08.65) took first in individual events.

Northville also won two heats of the 200 free relay and 400 free relay.

In the 200 free relay, wins were chalked up: Michael Alameddine, Roman Grossi, Connor Hart and Jimmy Huang, 1:40.92; and Shi, Jacob Grimmer, Ding and Ichikawa, 1:36.64.

Taking first in the 400 free relay were: Shi, Arthur Greenlee, Alameddine and Nicholas Mouaikel, 3:36.54; and Gabriel Trevino, Jonathan Kollen, Austin Mills and Connor Robertson, 3:17.21 (state cut).

PCEP Tri-Meet

Meanwhile, Jan. 5, Canton won the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Tri-Meet with 518 points, followed by Salem (494) and Plymouth (335).

Leading the way for the Chiefs with first-place finishes in individual events were junior Daniel Mullen (200 free, 1:45.86; 500 free, 4:54.13), senior Kyle Amick (50 free, 22.78) and junior Tristen Shao (100 back, 57.71).

Canton also captured the 200 and 400 free relays. In the former, Mullen, Amick and juniors Caleb Styles and Derek Goderis won with a time of 1:31.65. The quartet of Mullen, Amick, Goderis and Shao took the top spot in the latter, finishing in 3:20.53.

Salem won the other relay event, with sophomores Ryo Hirose, Eugene Li, Nathan Budnick and Tom Cousino combining in the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:41.63.

Both Li and Budnick also won a pair of individual events. Li won in the 100 free (47.95) and 100 breast (1:02.12), while Budnick captured the top spot in the 200 IM (2:05.29) and 100 fly (55.74).

Plymouth's lone first-place finisher was senior Jordan Groves in 1-meter diving, with 208.35 points.

"We wrestle a lot of them at the beginning of the year," Rockets head coach Bill Polk said about skipping Observerland this time around. "And then we see every one of them in an individual dual. We see them at Observerland and, a week later, we see them all in the KLAA meet."

"When you're wrestling Observerland and you're wrestling league back-to-back, it just doesn't make any sense."

Tradition is fading

Concurring was Franklin head coach David Chiola, who will use Observerland as a way for junior varsity wrestlers to gain some key experience.

"With county, KLAA and districts, it's just too much of the same teams," Chiola said. "We've asked them (Chargers) to invite other teams, but it looks like the same ones and many aren't even varsity."

"I'm not sure the tournament is necessary anymore, at least not that late in the year."

Also not attending will be Plymouth (winner in 2014) and Canton, although the Salem Rocks will be front and center to represent the Park.

"I see us being middle of the pack this year based on inexperience in the lineup," said Salem head coach Jeremy Henderson, who wrestled for the Rocks at Observerland a decade ago. "I will have a couple guys contend for the finals, but we have a lot of first-year kids in the lineup."

"We graduated 10 seniors last year and a lot of kids are stepping up from JV to varsity, so this is their first year (at Observerland). I want my kids to go out and wrestle tough. If we do that, we can be successful."

Henderson said the KLAA's loss of 10 teams in 2017-18 might turn out to be a positive for the future of the Observerland tourney.

"Ultimately, we go to this tournament because it is what we have always done," Henderson said. "It is tradition, but we might change it in the future unless teams start coming back."

"The KLAA league change might be a good thing for this tournament, it just depends on how the cards fall."

Polk emphasized that, all things being equal, he'd have the Rockets at Churchill on Saturday because he's always valued Observerland.

"I love the Observerland tournament," Polk said. "I've always enjoyed it, it's right down the street from us. Churchill's always done a great job hosting, the spotlight finals, it's a big tournament for the area. So everybody gets into it."

"It's a shame that it's kind of turned into what it's turned into. And it's not necessarily Observerland's fault, it's what's formed around Observerland."

He ultimately accepted a job as a buyer for J.L. Hudson before moving to Atlanta more than 30 years ago. He was involved in the wholesale end of the men's apparel industry at the time of his death.

Former longtime U-D baseball coach Bob Miller has fond memories of Kasetta, who he referred to as "one of my all-time best players."

"Tony had a great arm, he threw hard and he had a good breaking ball," Miller told the Livonia Observer. "Why he never got drafted (by Major League Baseball), I'll never understand."

"On Saturdays, we'd play doubleheaders sometimes against Division II or III teams like Hillsdale. When it was Tony's turn to start, he'd throw the first game and we'd win 10-0 in five innings. I'd go up to him and say, 'Tony, it looks like you haven't even broken a sweat. Do you want to throw the second game, too?' And he'd say, 'Sure.' Then he'd go out and shut them out in the second game as well."

BOYS BASKETBALL

Spartans push pace to top Chargers

Tim Smith
Hometownlife.com

A balanced attack and up-tempo pace proved to be an impressive combination Tuesday for Livonia Stevenson's varsity boys basketball team, earning a 86-65 victory over host Livonia Churchill.

The Spartans (10-1 overall) took control of the crossover contest relatively early, jumping out to a 24-18 edge after one quarter. The Chargers had a solid second quarter to pull to within 37-32 at halftime, but a 28-point third quarter gave Stevenson enough of a push to sustain any Churchill rally attempt.

Four players reached double digits in scoring for Stevenson, led by Ian Knoph (14 points) and Chris Tanderys (13 points). Contributing 12 points was Spencer Eddings while George Ferguson scored 10.

Churchill (2-9) was led by Trajan Stinson (17 points) and Genesis Barnes (16 points), with Evan Cummins adding 12.

"Spencer Eddings played a complete all-around game today," Stevenson assistant coach Chris Haldane said. "Spencer was in the right position almost all game on defense, but he made a huge impact by pushing the pace and running basket to basket on face breaks.

"Spencer beat everybody down the floor three or four times and that really helped open up opportunities for everyone else on the floor. Chris Tanderys was the benefactor of this pushed pace, as he was able to knock down three free pointers as Churchill's defenders scrambled back."

A strong point for the Chargers was the strong work in the paint by Avery Anderson, who Haldane said hurt the Spartans "on the offensive glass."

Warriors stopped

Lutheran Westland senior forward Zach Burk went off for 27 points and nine rebounds Tuesday night, but the Warriors fell short 74-54 to host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

The Warriors dropped to 6-2 overall and 1-2 in the MIAC Red Division with the defeat while the hosts improved to 5-3, 2-1.

In addition to Burk, senior Luke Smith registered 16 points and pulled down seven rebounds for the Warriors while senior Kory Barikmo tallied eight points, six rebounds and five assists. The Warriors were hurt at the free-throw line, making just 52 percent of their attempts (12-23). The teams were tied 16-16 after one frame, but Lutheran Westland trailed 35-31 at halftime and 53-43 after three.

Clarenceville falls

Rickey Scott's 29 points went in vain Tuesday as Livonia Clarenceville (0-12) lost 64-56 in a non-league game against host Novi Franklin Road Christian (2-8).

Scott connected on six 3-pointers, while teammate Armen Andelija added 11 points for the Trojans, who couldn't overcome a 36-18 halftime deficit.

Rahmon Scruggs and Maxwell Holleman paced the victorious Warriors with 22 and 19 points, respectively. Joshua Beck also added a double-double with 13 points and 11 rebounds.

Franklin Road was 24-of-36 from the free throw line (66.6 percent), while Clarenceville was 14-of-21 (66.6 percent).

Salem drops one

Livonia Stevenson scored 25 points in the fourth quarter Friday to pull out a 65-54 win over Salem in a KLAAC Central Division matchup.

Salem (5-6) was led by senior Cameron Grace (19 points, 10 rebounds) and senior Cameron Barden (11 points).

Ian Knoph and Devin Dunn scored 15 points each for the Spartans.

Double OT

Friday's KLAAC South Division boys basketball game between host Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill went a bit longer than usual, double overtime.

But thanks to a 25-point game by Mark Mettie, the Patriots prevailed 74-69.

Scoring 21 points for Franklin (5-5, 1-3) was Keyon Brown while Kemauri Heard chipped in with 11. Johnny Cantrell added nine.

For the Chargers (2-8, 0-5), registering 25 points was Alan Hammett, while Evan Cummins tallied 22. Helping the Churchill cause was Trajan Stinson, with seven points.

Each team enjoyed offensive runs in the first half. The Chargers built a 24-16 lead after one quarter, but Franklin bounced back in the second with a 25-14 edge to make it a 41-38 halftime edge for the Patriots.

The second half was close throughout, ending with the teams deadlocked at 62-62 to send the game to overtime.

GC trips Trojans

Eian Castonguay led a balanced scoring attack with 12 points as Garden City (2-7, 1-3) earned a 62-45 WWAC Red Division triumph Friday at Livonia Clarenceville (0-11, 0-4).

Rickey Scott scored a game-high 16 points for the Trojans, who trailed 28-19 at halftime and 47-33 after three quarters.

Garden City was 13-of-20 from the foul line (65 percent), while Clarenceville was 9-of-17 (52.9 percent).

"It was a nice team win," Cougars head coach Rick Morton said. "We earned our first in the league. We had four guys in double digits."

Eian Castonguay scored 12 points for Garden City, with Cameron Walter (11), Jake Sadowski (10) and Brad Russell (10) providing some offense.

Eagles prevail

Matt Malcolm scored 30 points Friday night to spark Plymouth Christian Academy to a 73-69 win over MIAC Red Division rival Oakland Christian.

Jayme Fadden also had a strong night for the Eagles with 17 points, while Max Okolo chipped in 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Plymouth Christian improved to 7-2 overall and 5-0 in the division, while Oakland Christian dropped to 5-2, 2-2.

hoisting a three-pointer at the top of the key with only 0.09 seconds left on the clock.

McCarter, who led the Panthers with 19 points, calmly swished the first of his two free throws and had the game in his hands if he could make the third.

"It did not look good," said Thurston senior guard Malik Hill, who led the Eagles with a game-high 20 points. "My head was spinning. I couldn't believe it."

Fortunately for the Eagles, McCarter's shot rimmed off forcing a second OT at 30-all.

Hill was clutch in the second OT scoring all of Thurston's six points in the first 1:34 to give the Eagles a 66-62 advantage, but RU refused to fold getting two free throws by McCarter and a triple by Christian Montgomery to close the gap to 66-65.

The Panthers got one more possession with 40 seconds left and worked the ball around, but missing a pair of triples in the waning seconds.

"It was real special, especially for my senior year, I like to take it home... it's hard work," Hill said of the Township trophy. "They have some tough guys. They played very aggressive with us. They just didn't let us run them over and they had a good defense."

Malik Walker and Maisano each added 11 points, while Kevin Moore chipped in with nine for the victorious Eagles, who improved to 4-6 overall.

"It ranks right up there, really high," Thurston coach Brian Bates said. "Great game, back and forth. But we dug in when we needed to. We were down five at the end and got the tie, and somehow got to overtime. We finally started to pressure a little bit and rotate."

Bates admitted afterward he had a helpless feeling on the bench watching McCarter go to the line with the game on the line at the end of the first OT.

"I thought he had it," the Thurston coach said. "He made the two and I thought he'd make the third one, but it just rimmed out. It was a gut check and we needed it. We needed a hard-fought game and we needed to come out on top of one."

In addition to McCarter's 19, the Panthers had four other players score in double figures: Jacob Gagon (12), Marcus Evans (11), Montgomery (11) and Amir Huston (11).

RU struggled mightily shooting the ball from the field going 10-of-44 through the first three quarters before making 7-of-13 in the fourth quarter.

But it wasn't the offense, it was the defense, or lack of, according to RU coach Randall Taylor, that led to the Panthers' undoing.

"The defense down the stretch was not great," he said. "Even at the start of the first overtime, you think about it, they just scored easily, scored easily, scored easily without us actually putting in an effort on the defensive end. We don't talk well right now. We don't rotate well. We don't block out. All these things it takes to win and we're not doing it well right now. We're going to make the adjustment to get better, though."

The loss dropped the Panthers to 6-5 overall.

"These last two games have been a challenge on our defense and just guys understanding the importance of playing defense on a high level," Taylor said. "So hopefully after tonight they know. A real emotional game and an emotional loss because we always want to beat them and they always want to beat us."

Free throws were also key in the game with RU going 10-for-18 (55.5 percent), while Thurston was 16-of-27 (59.2 percent).

"The game goes that way," Taylor said. "He (McCarter) hit the first two, fell nicely, then the last one you get an opportunity to hit the last one and it just fell short. We should have gotten it done in the overtime and we didn't, so we'll learn from it and get better."

Hill had seven points through three quarters as Thurston led 34-30, but then he came alive scoring his final 13 points in the fourth quarter and two overtimes.

"I was thinking we've got to win and I've got to take the game over," the senior guard said. "I knew I could do it to take the trophy home."

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Mustangs sting Blazers; Warriors earn victory

Olivia Moore scored 12 points and Uche Ike added eight Tuesday as host Birmingham Marian (7-4, 6-3) rolled to a 45-14 Catholic League Central Division victory over Livonia Ladywood (2-11, 1-9).

The Mustangs led 23-6 at halftime and 27-8 after three quarters before putting it away with an 18-6 fourth quarter run.

Brianne Rogers scored six points for the Blazers.

Warriors clip C'ville

Rachel Bause scored 20 points and pulled down nine rebounds to lead Novi Franklin Road Christian (9-2) to a 53-6 non-league win Tuesday at Livonia Clarenceville (1-10).

Danielle Fusco chipped in with 14 points, 11 steals and three assists for the victorious Warriors, who led 29-5 at halftime and 45-5 after three quarters.

Myla Hoskins-King scored four of Clarenceville's six points.

The Trojans were 1-of-6 from the foul line, while Franklin Road was 14-of-20.

Cougars rout Trojans

On Friday at Garden City, the Cougars built a 30-6 halftime lead and never looked back in a varsity girls basketball matchup.

The Cougars (5-6 overall) were led by Alea Montgomery (14 points), Brittany Radtke (12 points) and Haleigh Maszatics (seven points).

Helping the GC cause with five points each were Kayley Hower and Alex Lele-niewski.

For the Trojans, now 1-9, scoring eight points was Myla Hoskins-King.

Eagles hang on

Plymouth Christian Academy moved into third place in the MIAC with Friday's 46-41 girls basketball triumph over Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

The Eagles (7-3) led 29-21 at halftime and padded that edge to 38-27 after three frames, enough to offset a late rally by the Crusaders.

"We did a great job of moving the ball in our offense," PCA head coach Rod Windle said.

Seniors Taylor Mistele (six points, 10 rebounds) and Aliyah Pries (eight points, five boards) "stood tall in the paint grabbing rebounds and frustrating Lutheran Northwest forwards all night," Windle said.

Lydia Chapel led the Eagles with 10 points while Robin Albert (eight points, eight rebounds) and Harlee Collins (six points) also helped the cause.

Harrison stymied

Farmington Harrison's girls basketball team certainly has been tested in its last two OAA White Division outings. Playing the division's two top teams, the Hawks struggled through tough defeats.

Bloomfield Hills, the undefeated OAA White leader, rolled past Harrison, 61-24 last Friday. Tuesday evening, playing Royal Oak, the only White team which has enjoyed a lead on Bloomfield Hills this season, the Hawks suffered a 48-31 defeat.

The loss left Harrison at 4-5 overall, including a 2-2 OAA White Division record for first-year head coach Shavon Caldwell.

"We've lost two in a row now," Caldwell said. "But I don't think it's anything that's going to suffer for too long," she said. "I think we've bonded together as a team."

COLLEGE GOLF

Spartans duo to golf for Crusaders

Stevenson seniors Maurier, Szabelski thrilled to choose Madonna University

Tim Smith
hometownlife.com

For Livonia Stevenson seniors Madison Maurier and Kristen Szabelski, the choice where to play college golf was as clear as a billowing flag at the end of a short straight-away.

Both have committed to play in 2017-18 at Madonna University, just a couple miles down the road from their high school.

But even more importantly, they are going to a university featuring the academic programs they wanted to pursue.

"Madonna has a remarkable academic program," Maurier said. "So being able to play golf is just an added bonus. College golf was one of the goals for my golf career and I cannot wait to see where Madonna takes me in achieving more."

Concurring was Szabelski,

noting that she received several offers but chose MU over Olivet College in order to earn a degree in forensic science.

"Madonna sealed the deal when they had the program I've been looking for," Szabelski said. "I think I made the right decision and I'm excited for the next four years."

Of course, both student-athletes bring plenty of golfing ability to the Madonna mix.

In the 2016 season, Szabelski registered averages of 41 strokes for nine holes and 83 for 18. Maurier averaged 43 and 86 strokes for nine and 18, respectively.

Szabelski is a three-time all-KLAA performer and Stevenson record holder. She also earned MVP honors two seasons in a row.

"It has always been my dream to play college golf," Szabelski said. "I've been working hard every year and I continue to do so going into college. I've had great coaches to help me along the way and my parents are very supportive."

Stevenson head girls golf coach Curt Hay was at a recent signing ceremony for both Spartans, as were coaches Matt Maurier and Scott Marzolino.

According to Madison Maurier, having the opportunity to attend Madonna and golf for the Crusaders caps a seven-year quest.

"It's been a dream of mine since I was 10 years old to be a college athlete, and now it's possible," she said. "Seven years later I earned my chance to play college golf at Madonna University, and I couldn't be more excited."

"I know I wouldn't have this opportunity without the help of my amazing coaches and my family who have never failed to push me to go out and take some extra swings, whether it's at the range or in the garage."

"The continuous support from them and my Stevenson teammates put me in this position and I couldn't be more thankful."

Several teams from the hometownlife.com coverage area will participate in the prestigious MIHL Prep Hockey Showcase.

The 17th annual Showcase features 40 teams — many top-ranked in their respective divisions — which will play two games during the three-day event. Games are scheduled Feb. 2-4 at the Kennedy Recreation Center in Trenton.

The event attracts scouts from some of the highest levels of hockey, including Junior A and college. The idea is to gain exposure for some of the area's top players and provide highly competitive games between highly regarded teams for fans to enjoy.

Local participating teams include Bloomfield Hills Brother Rice, Novi Catholic Central and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook Kingswood, representing the host MIHL, plus at-large squads Livonia Churchill, Livonia Stevenson, Northville, Novi, Plymouth and Salem. Churchill and Novi are among a group of teams returning to the Showcase after an absence of a few years.

All six teams that played in the MHSAA's three state championship games last year are participating, including Novi Catholic Central and Brighton (Division 1), Romeo and Livonia Stevenson (Division 2) and Hancock and Grand Rapids Catholic Catholic Central's Ethan Ervin (17) and Brother Rice's Joe Gammicchia (4) will lead their respective teams to action in the upcoming MIHL Showcase.

Central (Division 3), Novi CC, Romeo and Hancock are defending state champions.

Scheduled games for hometownlife.com teams include:

CRANBROOK KINGSWOOD: Feb. 3 vs. G.R. Catholic Central (4 p.m. at McNerney's Arena) and Feb. 4 vs. Notre Dame Academy (12:40 p.m. at McNerney's Arena).

BROTHER RICE: Feb. 3 vs. Flint Powers (6 p.m. at McNerney's Arena); Feb. 4 vs. Hancock (10:40 a.m. at McNerney's Arena).

CATHOLIC CENTRAL: Feb. 3 vs. Notre Dame Academy (6:20 p.m. at Teifer Rink); Feb. 4 vs. Novi (7:10 p.m. at McNerney's Arena).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL: Feb. 2 vs. Saginaw Heritage (6 p.m. at McNerney's Arena); Feb. 4 vs. Allen Park (4:30 p.m. at Practice Rink).

LIVONIA STEVENSON: Feb. 3 vs. Hancock (11:50 a.m. at Teifer Rink); Feb. 4 vs. Flint Powers (3:10 p.m. at McNerney's Arena).

NORTHVILLE: Feb. 3 vs. Calumet (9:30 a.m. at McNerney's Arena); Feb. 4 vs. Houghton (10:20 a.m. at Teifer Rink).

PLYMOUTH: Feb. 2 vs. Allen Park (8 p.m. at McNerney's Arena); Feb. 3 vs. Trenton (8 p.m. at McNerney's Arena).

SALEM: Feb. 2 vs. Rochester United (7:20 p.m. at Teifer Rink); Feb. 4 vs. Muskegon Mona Shores (12 p.m. at Practice Rink).

YOUTH BASEBALL

Livonia Franklin is holding camp Feb. 25

hometownlife.com

Livonia Franklin is holding a spring baseball camp for boys or girls in grades 2-6 on Saturday, Feb. 25, at the high school, 31000 Joy Road.

The camp will consist of two sessions focusing on sport-specific skills. Campers must bring a glove, bat and athletic shoes.

From 9-11:30 a.m. coaches will help participants work on hitting, base-running and infield work. Key aspects will include drills on how to take the extra base, hitting for average and proper infield approach.

From noon to 2:15 p.m., the session will focus on defensive work, including pitcher fielding practice, catching drills and outfield approach.

Between morning and afternoon sessions, there will be a supervised lunch in the field house.

The Franklin staff, led by head coach Matt Fournier, has extensive experience at the high school and college levels. Each camper will be assigned to groups according to age and ability and will be instructed on a wide variety of skills.

For more information, contact Fournier at mfournie2@livonia.k12.mi.us or 734-968-0499.

Livonia City Tournament

RU boys bowlers runner-up in County

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

The Redford Union boys bowling team turned in a strong effort Saturday finishing runner-up to Canton in the 12th annual Wayne County Tournament held at Inkster's Cherry Hill Lanes.

The Panthers, coached by David Battistelli and Roy Biggs, reached the elimination round as the seventh seed after games of 1,133, 956 and 934 in traditional match play followed by Baker games of 163, 213, 194 and 161 for a total of 3,754.

RU knocked off second seed Salem in the quarterfinals and third seed Wyandotte in the semifinals to reach the championship match before falling to Canton.

Individually, Brendan Kerkof and Jon Haver posted high games of 267 and 243, respectively, to lead RU.

On Friday, RU improved to 7-1 in the Western Wayne Athletic Conference with a 25.5-4.5 win over Livonia Clarenceville at Cherry Hill Lanes.

The Panthers took the first two Baker games, 239-115 and 211-136, while also winning both regular games, 898-824 and 897-842.

Posting high games for RU were Kerkhoff (232) and Kyle Keating (209).

RU girls 14th

Meanwhile, the Redford Union girls were 14th in the Wayne County Tournament bowling games of 666, 677 and 693 in the traditional format followed by Baker games of 118, 148, 113 and 116 for a 2,531 series.

Brianna Clapham and Alissa Elliott led RU individually with 161 high games each.

On Friday, the RU girls improved to 6-1-1 in the WWAC with a 28-2 win over Clarenceville at Cherry Hill Lanes.

The Panthers won both Baker games, 150-107 and 149-120, along with both regular games, 728-604 and 753-606.

Brianna Clapham paced RU with a 203 high game, while Sara and Lizzie Pigeon each added a 162.

The RU girls and boys teams were set to return to action at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24, to face host Belleville at Lodge Lanes.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Patriots Day: Franklin girls end 32-game losing skid

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

While one Patriots team booked another ticket to another Super Bowl on Sunday, another Patriots team was just more than happy to get a victory on Monday night.

There were lots of happy faces to go around as Livonia Franklin roared out to a 26-5 first quarter lead and never looked back to end a 32-game losing streak dating back to the 2014-15 season with a convincing 57-30 girls basketball victory at Redford Thurston.

Sophomore guards Olivia Napier and Hannah Strasser led Franklin with 17 points and 12 points, respectively. The two combined for 20 first period points staking the Patriots, who came out pressing full court, to the 21-point advantage.

"We really did a lot of good things that we had been working on in practice and it finally came together," said Franklin coach Jim Milican, whose team is 1-10 overall. "We came up with a game plan and did a good job of playing defense and caused some confusion. We got quite a few steals and it led to some easy baskets."

Senior guard Brooke Garbarino contributed 10 points for Franklin, which made 7-of-10 free throws.

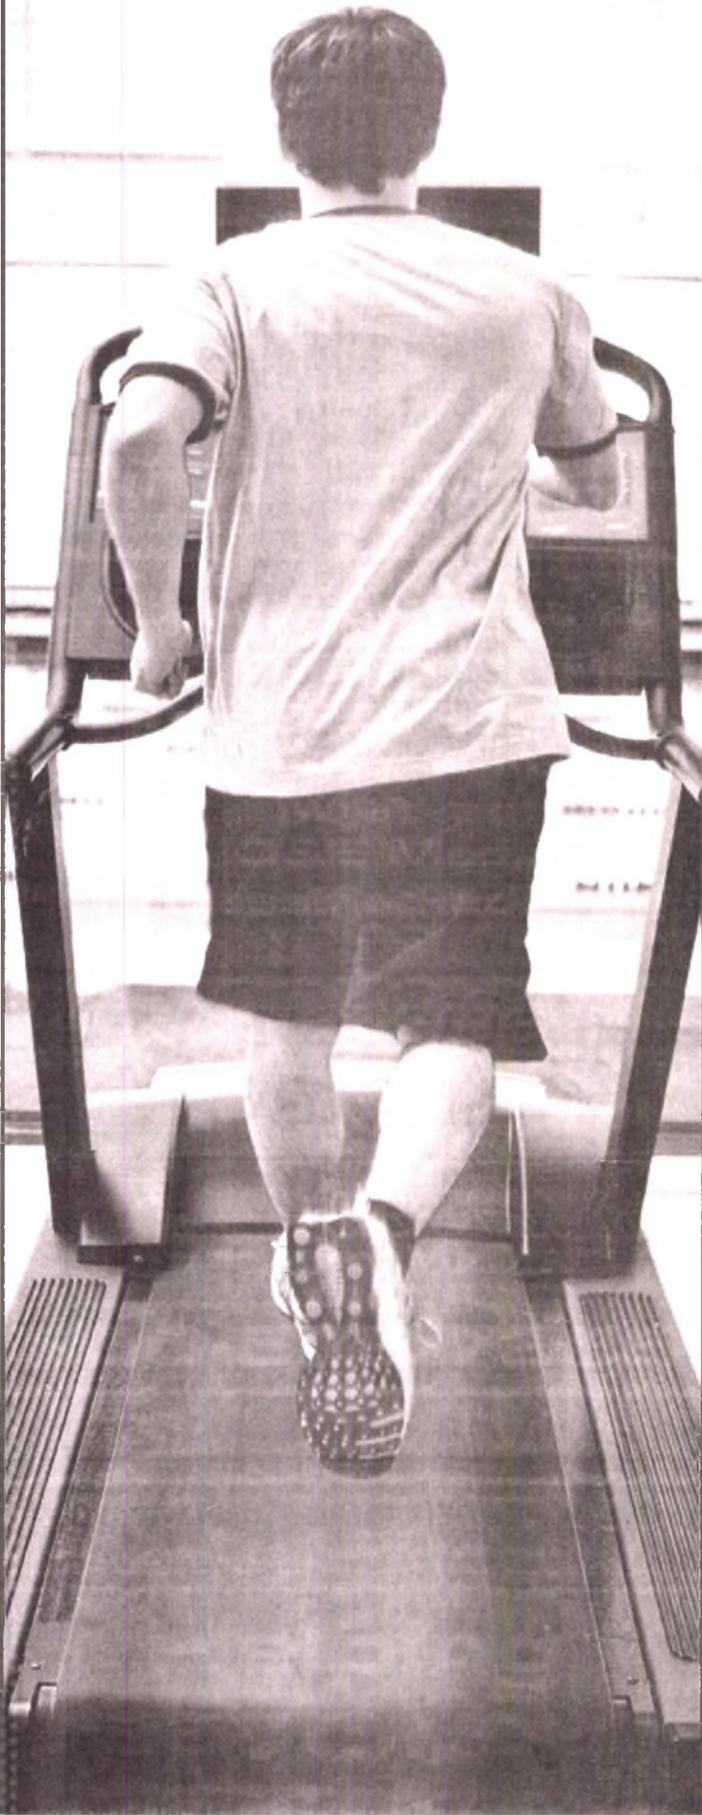

Senior center Sarah Chaney, who helped spearhead the defense, added six points, seven rebounds, four blocks and two steals for the Patriots, who last won in the Class A district semifinals on March 4, 2015 against Garden City, 55-49.

And following a 22-turn-over performance in a loss last Friday at home against Livonia Churchill, the Patriots took better care of the basketball committing just six in the win over Thurston.

Bryanna Burton and Megan Abela paced the Eagles (5-6), who dropped their fourth straight, with 10 and eight points, respectively. Thurston was only 5-of-16 from the foul line (31.2 percent).

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
